Council proposes changes concerning women's rules

By SARA FOUNTAIN
News Editor

The Legislative Council of WSGA submitted three recommendations for changes in women's privileges last week to the administration concerning intervisitation, women's sign-out procedures, and a standard room search procedure; all these have been rejected.

Intervisitation

WSGA recommends that all women students be allowed to visit approved off-campus housing units with approval of the supervisor from 8 a.m. to 12 midnight on week nights and 8 a.m. to 1 a.m. on Friday and Saturday.

The present intervisitation rule does not allow freshmen or sophomore women to visit men's apartments. That rule also allows intervisitation only from 7 p.m. to midnight.

Women's Sign-Out

WSGA also recommended a new sign-out procedure which would use an "In" box and an "Out" box to designate whether a woman was out of the dorm. Women signing out of the dorm would merely record the date and check Late Permit (if they chose to use one) and place their card in the "Out" box. Women would not be required to record the name of their date, their destination, or the time leaving or returning to the dorm. Upon returning to the dorm, the card would be removed from the "Out" box and placed in the "In" box.

Room Search

A standard system of room search was recommended which requires that at least one

SAGC recommends Who's Who changes

Two major changes in the selection of students for Who's Who in American Colleges were stated this week in an SAGC recommendation to the Honors Committee of the college.

The recommendation calls for changes in the structure of the Who's Who Committee and a re-evaluation of the activity point criteria, according to Sandra Hartness, president of the SAGC.

In 1968 the Who's Who Committee consisted of a faculty member from each division, the Director of Student Activities, the Dean of Students, the Dean of Women, the Dean of Men, a faculty member appointed chairman of the committee by the president of the college and the president of the Student Congress.

The SAGC, in recommending a change, felt that more than one student should be present on the committee. A new committee would consist of a faculty member, appointed chairman by the president of the college, the Director of Student Activities, the president of the SAGC, the president of the senior class, one representative from each of the seven major governing councils, the Dean of Women and the Dean of Men.

The recommendation also states that the committee does not have the power to vote unless two-thirds of the members are present. The chairman, the Director of Student Activities, and the president of the SAGC must be present for the committee to function.

A new activity point system was recommended in order to correct inequities which occurred during last year's elections. "The point total will weigh heavily but will not be the final determining factor...there is no way to construct a definite black and white point system," stated Miss Hartness.

The approved recommendation was returned by the Honors Committee Wednesday, Feb. 26.

Nominations for Who's Who will be taken in the SAGC office and the office of the Director of Student Activities at the beginning of spring quarter. A nomination for Who's Who be made by any junior or senior student, stated Miss Hartness.

'FUNNY GIRL' comes to McCroan March 25

By DR. J. W. BROUCEK
Professor of Music

One of America's all-time-favorite musical hits, "FUNNY GIRL", will set the local theatre scene ablaze on Tuesday, March 25, when James Hatcher's sparkling production comes to the stage of McCroan Auditorium for one performance in the course of its current season-long coast-to-coast tour.

Isobel Lennart's heart-warming story of Fanny Brice, an ugly duckling from New York's Lower East Side who, through grit, guts, and an abundance of talent, made the Broadway big-time the hard way to become one of America's show-business immortals, boasts an award-winning score by composer Jule Styne and lyricist Bob Merrill.

The show marks the first collaboration between Styne and Merrill and is a genuinely distinguished collection of spiningling ballads, hilarious comedy numbers, and period pieces that convey perfectly the spirit and atmosphere of the theatre of the fabulous Fanny Brice.

It opened on Broadway in 1964 and played for more than three years to capacity audiences. Its hit songs boast a greater percentage of show-stopping numbers than any

Fraternity and sorority join to aid local Red Cross Fund

Phi Delta Theta fraternity and Phi Mu sorority joined the Bulloch County Red Cross Association to solicit donations in the Statesboro area for the local Red Cross Fund.

The week of March 3-7 has been set aside by the two groups for their drive in which they hope to reach the goal of $5000.00, according to Philip Mays, junior marketing major from Jacksonville, Fla. and chairman of the student Red Cross Committee.

Monday through Wednesday, March 3-5, the drive will be centered in the city of Statesboro and surrounding areas. At this time, the Blitch Street Community Center's Youth Council will be working with the group.

Following on Thursday and Friday, March 6 and 7, solicitations will be made at business establishments and industries.

The campus will be the focal point of all Red Cross collections on Wednesday, March 5. Other campus organizations will also be taking part in the drive on this day. A trophy will be awarded to the group which collects the most money during the college drive.

Members of Phi Delta colony and Phi Mu have attended weekly meetings of many of Statesboro's civic clubs, informing the groups of the upcoming drive and asking for their support. Also, an extensive publicity drive has been developed.

College debate team wins in FSU tourney

The college debate team successfully competed with thirty other colleges and universities at the Florida State University Invitational Debate Tournament in Tallahassee recently. Georgia Southern compiled the third highest mark of all the participating institutions, defeating such schools as Clemson University, Catawba, Georgia State, Rhode Island University, Stetson University, Fort Valley State, University of North Carolina, University of South Florida, and Florida State University.

other musical of recent Broadway vintage, including the famed "Hello, Dolly!" Leading tunes include "People," "Don't Rain on My Parade," "You Are Woman," "Sadie, Sadie," "The Music That Makes Me Dance," and "I'm the Greatest Star."

Since March 25 is the first day of classes for the spring quarter, ticket distribution for FUNNY GIRL will begin on March 10 for students. This will give students an opportunity to get their tickets before and during the examination period. Tickets will still be available after spring holidays providing any seats remain. Tickets are free for students and all that is required is that students present their ID card at the office of the department of music in the Foy Building between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

The long-running New York musical hit, FUNNY GIRL, with a top-drawer performing cast and pit orchestra will be one of the highlights of this year's presentations of the Campus Life Enrichment Committee.

from Swainsboro, and Peggy Godbee, a sophomore from Newington, received an award as one of only six superior negative teams because of their record of five wins and only one loss. The affirmative team, composed of Margaret Fox, a freshman from Warner Robins, and Rusty Rice, freshman from Lilburn, had a record of four wins and two losses, a record bested by only four affirmative teams. Alternates Paul Glass, a sophomore from Greensboro, and Jeanne Putnam, a sophomore from St. Petersburg, Va., participated in one debate each and were undefeated.

The Debate Club has accepted an invitation to participate in the Citadel Invitational Tournament on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 28-March 1. It will be the first experience for the local debaters in a "Switch-sides" tournament in which they will be required alternately to uphold both sides of the question, "Resolved: That the executive control of United States foreign policy should be significantly curtailed."

Committee will edit 'Eagle Eye'

Plans are now being made for the 1969-70 (Eagle Eye), according to Shelton Evans, Director of Student Activities. The (Eagle Eye) is an informative booklet which helps orient new students and serves as a reference book for old students.

Evans said that there would be no drastic changes made in the format of the booklet, and the only changes will be updating the rules for both men and women students. He also said that a committee has been appointed by the SAGC to edit the (Eagle Eye).

Jones proposes methods for selecting traffic judges

By MIKE SMITH
Staff Writer

At the Feb. 20 meeting of SAGC, Don Jones, traffic court committee chairman, proposed three methods for the selection of traffic judges. Jones reported that a traffic court could go into effect by spring quarter if the SAGC would pass it.

Jones presented three methods of selection for the justices of the student traffic court. One method specified a campus wide election; the second method would be appointment by the SAGC; the third method is a self-perpetuating method. Jones suggests that the self-perpetuating be used in favor of the other methods to select the judges. The first three judges would be selected by the present traffic court committee. Next year's judges would be elected from three nominees named by the judges in office and any other students who wished to run for the court. These candidates will be screened and elected by the SAGC.

The term of office will be for one year. It was suggested that the justices might serve staggered terms so that there will always be an experienced member on the court. Also suggested was that if this court was passed that the SAGC constitution be amended to this fact.

These proposals were passed by a roll call vote of the SAGC and the final draft is scheduled to be voted on at the next meeting of the SAGC.

Golden Eagle Band to make six-day tour

The Golden Eagle Band began touring cities of south Georgia and northern Florida Thursday, Feb. 27 and will continue through Tuesday, March 5, according to Mr. Warren C. Fields, director of the band.

Fields announced that 53 students will perform with the band while on the six-day tour. These students represent five states and one foreign country and are enrolled in some 17 different major courses of study.

The tour opened with a concert at Mark A. Smith High School in Macon on Thursday, Feb. 27, and will include concerts at Hawkinsville High, Cairo High, and Pulaski Elementary School on Friday, Feb. 28; Fletcher Senior High in Jacksonville, Fla. and South Georgia College in Douglas on Sunday, March 2; and Glynn Academy in Brunswick and Groves High School in Savannah on Monday, March 3. The group will return to Statesboro for their final concert on Tuesday evening, March 4.

While on tour, the band will present a varied program of music designed to appeal to everyone. Included on the program will be: "American Overture for Band," "Prelude and Fugue," excerpts from "Sebastien Ballet," selections from "Man of La Mancha," "Begin the Beguine," and "Emblem of Unity March."

Associate conductor of the band, Thomas M. Stidham, will also accompany the group while on tour and will perform a trombone solo, "Morceau Symphonique," at each performance.

School officials attend meeting

Dr. John O. Eidson, president of the college; Dr. Starr Miller, dean of the school of education; Dr. John Boole, chairman of the division of science and mathematics; Dr. Donald Hawk, director of student teaching; and Mr. Aubrey Pafford, principal of the Marvin Pittman Laboratory School are currently attending the annual conference of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education being held in Chicago, Feb. 26-March 1.

Drs. Eidson, Miller, and Boole are serving as institutional representatives, while Hawk and Pafford will be participating on the programs of two conferences which are meeting in conjunction with the AACTE meeting.

Hawk has been asked to serve as master of ceremonies for the Feb. 28th luncheon of the National Association of Student Teaching.

Research officer leads discussion

Theodore Abell, Region IV Director of Research for the U.S. Office of Education, visited the campus Wednesday, Feb. 26, to discuss "Small Project Research" with interested members of the faculty and staff. He gave specific help and directions to those wishing to submit a proposal for consideration.

On the following day, Thursday, Feb. 27, Abell served with Dr. Ray Carpenter, professor of psychology and anthropology at Penn State University; and Dr. Bob Anderson, vice-president for research at the University of Georgia, at a research workshop held in the Williams Center.

Lightsey is director of the Research Project which involves five area schools, Middle Georgia College, Armstrong State College, Savannah State College, and Georgia Southern, and Augusta College.

Traveling Exhibition on display March 3-8

The Traveling Art Exhibition of Student Work from the University of Georgia will be displayed in the Foy gallery from March 3 through March 8.

The work of nineteen University of Georgia art students in this collection represents several media including woodcuts, polymer intaglio, photography, silk screens, charcoal drawings, and lithographs.

This is the sixth exhibition of the 1968-69 series to be displayed in the Foy gallery. This collection of paintings and prints was made available through the cooperation of the University's Art Department and its Center for Continuing Education.

The Howard Woody Sculpture Exhibition is also on display in the gallery until March 12. The gallery is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Director announces 'Homecoming Concert'

The "Golden Eagle" Band will present a "Homecoming Concert" in the Recital Hall of the Foy Fine Arts Building on March 5. This campus concert will climax a five-day tour by the members of the band which will take them to several points in south Georgia and north Florida.

Conductor Warren C. Fields and Associate Conductor Thomas M. Stidham announced that 53 students will perform with the band while on tour. The large repertoire of numbers, designed to appeal to a variety of tastes, will include such works as Excerpts from Sebastian Ballet by Gian Carlo Menotti, American Overture for Band by Joseph Willcox Jenkins, Selections from Man of La Mancha, Begin the Beguine,

Seniors to order caps and gowns

Graduating seniors may be measured for their caps and gowns anytime between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. daily in the Williams Center Office.

Mrs. Benson of the Center Staff will be taking measurements until March 15. The cost of renting caps and gowns is covered by student activities fees.

Graduation invitations will be sold during the month of May at the Landrum Center Bookstore. Mr. Paul Barrett is in charge of graduation invitations.

Fourteen frosh form study group

Fourteen freshman music majors have been selected to form a special study group in "Freshmen Music Theory", according to Dr. Ronald J. Neil, chairman of the division of Fine Arts.

The group was selected on the basis of tests administered since last September in the areas of music fundamentals, sight-singing, ear training, keyboard harmony, and written harmony. The special will meet for advanced work in the above areas in addition to some directed individual study in music theory. The music program will continue throughout the current academic year.

that the college would not know where students live in college approved housing were not imposed on off-campus students. This objection is invalid since all students are required to give their place of residence and "clear housing" at the time when they register each quarter. But, in any event, most students would give their address to a college official just as most employees would an employer. It seems almost natural that the school should know where one lives and there are certain times when it is advantageous for one's address to be known, (i.e. family emergencies, etc.)

At the present growth rate, the college will be unable to provide housing for a larger percentage of the enrollment each year. Campus facilities house 1030 students and adjacent off-campus private dorms provide rooms for another 950 persons. This means that fewer than 2000 of the approximately 4500 students can be accommodated in these dorms.

Since dormitories are expensive to construct and maintain and none are presently under construction, liberal revision and change in the current policy of student housing is necessary to all private housing facilities to be used in alleviating the obvious unfairness of the present system.

Dr. Forton holds concert in Foy

Dr. Charles Forton, assistant professor of French presented an organ recital in the college's Foy Fine Arts Recital Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 25, at 8:15 p.m.

Forton, who recently recorded an album for RCA Victor, is one of the most accomplished organists in the country. He was an honor graduate at Lemmens Institute at Malines, Belgium where he was a student of world renowned organ virtuoso, Flor Peeters. Additionally, Forton received his "Licencie Es Philosophie et Lettres" from the University of Louvain.

Tax increase

During his speech to the Georgia Collegiate Press Association in Athens, Ga., Feb. 22, Governor Lester Maddox stated that the newspapers of this state could "make or break" his proposed one percent sales tax hike now before the General Assembly. In doing our part to "make" this bill a reality we endorse the Governor's program.

In consideration of the bill, we must discuss what advantages it will have. Governor Maddox states that the funds raised will be used as grants to urban areas in the state and to benefit education. The need for this tax money is evident. The federal government cannot be counted on to help with urban problems and education at a level required by today's demands. If we are to prevent our cities from falling into the desperate conditions of such northern cities as Chicago and New York and also try to catch up in the quality of education then these funds are needed immediately.

Why is a sale tax hike better than a rise in income taxes or a local option sales tax?

First, the sales tax would effect all of the people of our state on an equal basis. True, it would also hurt those least able to pay but it would also affect those most able to pay at the same time. If an income tax hike were passed then the middle class citizen, those persons who already bear the brunt of the tax burden, would be most effected. It would be true that the lower income brackets would not have to pay but neither would the wealthy who charistically pay a disproportional small share of the tax burden. We feel that those who already bear the major tax load should not be saddled with another.

In considering a local option sales tax, it is evident that those cities that need money most would not benefit as much as a small town such as Statesboro. Or consider paying a possible seven percent local sales tax here in Bulloch County. It is possible.

Stifled incentive

Catastrophe has overtaken the conscientious student! No longer will he be given credit for that extra bit of effort. Neither will sheer intellect be recognized. Why? The Board of Regents of our state has settled upon the idea of establishing a 4.0 grading system for all colleges and universities in Georgia. Consequently, a person with an 89 average will receive a B just like the person with an 80 average. Someone with a 100 average will receive the same A one with a 90 average will receive. This is truly unjust, and it will certainly stifle much incentive. To the average student, there is little excitement in working for an 89 or a 99 when he is only going to get credit for an 80 or a 90. Can the Board of Regents not be persuaded to reconsider its action?

The George - Anne supported a uniform institution system in the Feb. 14 issue.

WSGA proposals

The three proposals submitted last week by the Legislative Council of WSGA to the administration reflect a mature concern with the present ultra-conservative women's rules.

The intervisitation recommendation would eliminate many of the infractions of the present rule. Freshmen and sophomore women would also be allowed to visit men's apartments which should have been provided for in the first intervisitation rule.

A new sign-out rule is long overdue. This recommendation would update the present sign-out policy to the standards of other colleges which have found this new procedure to be successful. Women should not be required to give the name of their date or their destination unless they so desire. It is no naive assumption that few women actually go to the places they sign out for on their date cards.

The standard room search procedure would protect the persons conducting the search. If a woman misses something from her room after a search she could easily accuse the searchers unless she were present during the search.

The George-Anne regrets that these proposals have been rejected.

Maddox petitions press to support tax revision

Governor Lester G. Maddox, invading the academic community of Athens, Ga. as he addressed collegiate editors from 23 Georgia college and university newspapers, showed that he could "overcome" an adverse audience to expound his and Virginia's views on Georgia politics.

BOND

The governor, assuring everyone that everything is "pickrick" in Georgia, extended his hand in good faith to some students who seemed disrespectful. One student noticed the governor's outstretched hand and offered him a college meal ticket to be punched. The governor politely ignored his adversary. Not only did the governor ignore the undertone and impoliteness, he delivered his speech with the greatest of success.

Maddox urged support for the tax revision and responsible journalism. He told the audience of 150 that "the proposal (a 1% sales tax increase) is a good one. It is adequate. It is fair. And it is necessary to insure our state and our people continued progress and prosperity. But, in many instances, so much has been written about the battle between Lester Maddox and the General Assembly that the issues, themselves, have been all but completely ignored."

Maddox then explained that it is impossible for him to reach every voter in the state, but the press in Georgia could fulfill this duty. The governor stated, "You can explain how local governments must have more money and that if this one cent in sales tax is not collected and returned to cities, counties and local school systems, the already overburdened property owners in this state eventually will have to cough up at least an additional $150 million annually."

Turning away from his tax issue, Maddox discussed the press in America and its necessity in a free nation. The governor who is often critical of the newspaper explained, "My criticisms are not intended to destroy, but to improve, the governments' messenger to the people."

Maddox was addressing Lou Erickson, the Atlanta Journal cartoonist who has done many unfavorable caricatures of the governor, when he said, "Mr. Erickson often draws me with rather large ears, large glasses and a round tummy. I believe that my ears are symbolic of the fact that I can hear the voices of little Georgians as well as powerful interest. My glasses are symbolic of the fact that I have great insight into Georgia's problems and my round tummy is symbolic that I have the guts to carry out my programs for all Georgians."

Whether the governor hears the little voices, sees the pressing problems or has guts is a decision each voter must make by his own observations. But, the black students from Morehouse College were the first to stand in ovation of the governor.

proposed motion of housing policy

At the Feb. 7 meeting of the Student Association of Governing Councils the following motion was proposed and passed: "That all junior and senior students under 21 years of age with parental permission and all students 21 years of age and older be allowed to live in unsupervised off-campus apartments."

The motion was made into a formal recommendation and was submitted to the seven councils which compose the governing group; the recommendation received the approval of five of the seven councils. They are the WSGA, Panhellenic Council, Interfraternity Council, Professional Interfraternity Council and the Departmental and Interest Council. The two councils which have not voted on the recommendation are the Men's Governing Council and the Recognition Council.

The motion for open housing is a progressive one for our seemingly antiquated housing regulations that require all students under 23 years of age or without one year of active duty with the armed forces to live in "college-approved" housing.

The fear that "open housing" would virtually empty the college dormitories can be quickly dismissed when one realizes the number of students who desire to live on campus for reasons of proximity, convenience, and finances.

Some of the first persons to object to the proposal for "open housing" were several apartment owners who said they would not rent to students if the off-campus housing was not coordinated by the college. Certainly owners with this attitude are in the minority.

Open housing would benefit the individual owners by placing apartment rentals on a really competitive basis where all units could be available, not just 175 units which are now approved by the college.

Another objection raised to the open housing proposal is

Dear Editor:

What constitutes news? As a former George-Anne editor and as a Publications Committee member, I had been under the impression that news is a report of current or future events. Your issue of Feb. 21 makes me wonder if my concept is "old-fashioned."

Page one carries only one article that is "live" news, with one more article debatable. The remainder of page one is "dead" news, some of it as much as one week dead. Yet the campus event that is current and future for this issue—Masquers' production of Finian's Rainbow—is buried on page five. Why?

Are we such an impressionable, culture-hungry college that a lecture by a nationally prominent man such as Roger Mudd three days before your publication warrants a front-page five-column spread? Or are we such a culturally deprived and unappreciative college that a popular and successful dramatic production scheduled for two nights after your publication date warrants nothing better than fifth page coverage?

Your editorial commentary and Southern Scribbles cartoon criticisms of the deplorable condition of McCroan Auditorium have been commendable. But might I interject the idea that even the finest, most modern facilities are wasted upon a group that does not use them.

Your issue of February 21 does little to report "news" forcefully or to encourage cultural growth at GSC.

Editor's note:

Copies of the following letter were sent to the Traffic Control Committee, Campus Security Chief and the George-Anne Editor. The letter concerns the traffic hazards in the Herty-Hollis faculty parking area.

Dear Sir:

Student use of the Faculty Parking area between the Herty and Hollis Buildings is creating an increasingly dangerous and hazardous situation. First, the parking of student cars in the lot eliminates faculty spaces which forces faculty to park in unmarked spaces and increases congestion, decreases maneuverability and increases the possibility (and occurrence?) of accidents. Second, the "taxi service" use of the lot creates the greatest potential safety hazard. The increased number of cars speeding through the lot, pausing briefly to deposit a rider, creates some congestion, but the worst bottlenecks are created by those students who "park" in traffic lanes to offer a ride to a friend getting out of class. The problem is intensified on days with unusually inclement weather.

The design of the traffic flow into, within, and out of the Faculty Parking area contributes additional confusion to the situation and needs attention.

I offer the following suggestions for steps which might be taken to reduce the hazards within the area. The first action ought to be to improve the pattern of traffic flow by: (1) providing for a separate entrance and exit and (2) using arrows to indicate traffic flow within the lot.

Mysterious 'student group' threatens government office

Dear Editor:

The following letter was slipped under the door of the SAGC office Tuesday a.m., Feb. 25:

Editor's Note:

The following letter is published without change.

Dear SAGC Executive Committee

We just want to know what in the hell yal'l are trying to do. I think, along with about 390 other Jrs. that this is a great injustice to our President, Mr. Lee Gieredux. Furthermore, I would like, along with my friends, to see S.A.G.C. disbanded. The executive committee is nothing but a bunch of power hungry radicals. Please don't laugh, because we are dead serious. If something isn't done to keep Lee in office, your office may suddenly be in a "Hell of a Mess." We do not want to do this, but you are forcing us to do so. A member of the Senior Class has told us that it would be perfectly alright to do so, if yal'l don't change your decision. We are sick of seeing the executive committee trying to run the school. WHAT IN THE HELL DO YOU THINK YOU ARE???? You can be sure that you, nor any of your friends, will ever be elected to any office again.

But remember, by Thursday, yal'l had better do something constructive, oor your office will be in SHAMBBLES. WE MEAN IT...

Sincerely,
A COMMITTEE OF ABOUT '25

of Ga. Southern)

Educator attends English meeting

Roy F. Powell, assistant professor of English, attended the Southeastern Regional Conference on English, Feb. 21 and 22, in Atlanta, Ga.

The conference, sponsored by the National Council of Teachers of English and the Conference on College Composition and Communication, was highlighted with an address by Dr. James M. McCrimmon, author and member of the department of English at Florida State University. Dr. McCrimmon's text, Writing With A Purpose, is the most widely used English text in America and for five years was the freshman English text here.

In addition, lectures and panel discussions were held to review the traditional methods of teaching English and how the approach to teaching English can be improved.

Over 250 educators attended the meeting from the Southeast region.

I hesitate in publishing such a childish threat, but I believe that the student body should be informed of the type of opposition their student government has incurred as a result of its efforts in enforcing the constitution of the GSC student government.

I have worked for the welfare of my fellow students for several years now and I sincerely believe the students on this campus to be much too responsible to tolerate this type of threat.

The SAGC has worked ardently to establish a functioning traffic appeals court, a teacher evaluation system, 24 hr. phone service to mention a few.

We expect disagreement, but we are awed that a group of college students would stoop to such a ridiculous and barbaric measure as implied in the above letter.

Eagles face Albany State Monday night in District 25 NAIA playoffs

The Eagles of Georgia Southern College have finished as the number one team in the NAIA District 25, according to the Carr ratings, and will host the District 25 Tournament on March 3 and 4. The tournament winner will go on to represent the District in the NAIA Championship in Kansas City on March 10.

The other three teams in the tournament are Albany State College of Albany, Georgia, Berry College of Rome, Georgia, and Valdosta State College of Valdosta, Georgia.

Georgia Southern presently has a record of 17-6 after beating Valdosta State 87-78 in a home match on Monday night. This was the second time the Eagles have beaten the other tournament team this season, the first occasion being early in the season when the Eagles won 86-84 at Valdosta.

Valdosta is the number three team in the District 25 (Berry is number two) with a record of 16-9 following its loss to the Eagles.

Berry comes into the tournament with a record of 23-7. The Eagles have played neither Berry nor Albany State this season. Albany has a 22-4 record.

The tournament will be held in Southern's Hanner Gym. Berry will meet Valdosta at 7 p.m. and Georgia Southern will play Albany at 9 p.m. in the opening round Monday night. The play-offs, both championship and consolation, will be held March 4, the consolation game at 7 p.m. and the championship game at 9 p.m.

Eagles roll over Valdosta State College Rebels 87-78

The Eagles rallied from a 9-1 deficit, at the start, to hand Valdosta State a 87-78 setback in the final regular season game in Hanner Gym last Monday night. The win pushed Southern's slate to 17-6 (going into last night's game with Mercer) and left Valdosta's record at 16-9.

Four Eagles charged into double figures and John Norman and Savannah's Roger Moore did the damage on the backboards to assure the victory. Guard John Helm poured in 23 points, including a perfect 9-9 night at the foul line, and Moore followed with 20. Norman tossed in 18, and Dave Westerfield added 13.

Norman, who kept GSC in the running with deadly shooting early in the game, yanked down 22 rebounds and Roger Moore grabbed 18 as GSC out rebounded Valdosta College, 55-25.

Two hot-shooting Rebels shared game honors in the scoring department. Pete Smith and Dorsey both poured in 24 points, Paul O'Brien added 11 and John Trimmell had 10.

GSC hit a sizzling 52 per cent from the floor, and Valdosta connected on 44 percent of its shots.

GSC was outshot from the field, 33-29, but the Eagles made the most of their shots from the charity line, hitting 29 of them. Valdosta got only 17 shots from the stripe, and was good on 12 of them.

Valdosta State rolled off a 9-1 lead with 7:33 left in the first half, but less than two minutes later Georgia Southern pulled into an 11-11 deadlock.

A free throw by Norman put GSC in front 12-11, with 15:22 left, and with 13:21 remaining Valdosta's Smith hit a jumper to take the Rebels to their final lead of the night at, 17-16.

After the GSC took a five point lead and maintained the advantage until the final minute spurt. It was 43-36 in favor of Southern at the half.

Coming into the final 10 minutes of play, GSC moved in front seven, and extended the margin to eight before Valdosta regained the scoring touch long enough to narrow the gap to five again.

In the final three minutes of play GSC slowed the game and took advantage of the charity stripe, hitting eight times to extend the margin to 10 points.

Baby Eagles close season

The junior varsity, in playing its best game of the year, ended the season on a winning note by soundly defeating a good Brewton-Parker quintet 105-88 on Monday, Feb. 24. The Baby Eagles led 52-42 at halftime and coasted home in the second half.

Employing a full court zone press with a high degree of efficiency, the JV's repeatedly forced Brewton-Parker into costly turnovers and the result was a second straight game in which the JV's went over the century mark.

Tommy Bond (22 points) and Danny Gordon (20 points) led the balanced scoring attack. Jim Palmer with 23 points and Hoke Brantley with 15 points paced the Baron's attack.

Coach Johnson praised the efforts of his players and agreed that it was the best game of the season for his gang. "Bond and Gordon had fine games and Ron Gwin came off the bench and had a terrific game (four of five from the field and eight for eight at the line for a total of 16 points). Also, Phil Wysong played well when Gibbons and Melton both had to go to the bench with four fouls. Wysong has played for two years (non-scholarshipped) and really enjoys the game and always gives his best in practice and in games."

Everything considered, the JV's had a pretty good year. Their schedule was probably the toughest ever played by the Baby Eagles. Losses to Brunswick and South Georgia hurt the overall record (9-8) but the JV's played well against South Carolina, Georgia and the Citadel. Also, Charles Gibbons missed four games and the junior varsity was not the same without "Big Charlie".

Congratulations, JV's.
GSC (105) — Gibbons 16, Melton 6, Gordon 20, Pinkston 1, Bond 22, Bergbom 14, Gwin 16, Moseley 6, Wysong 4.
BPC (88) — Palmer 23, Hooks 12, Brantley 15, Sigmon 2, Wood 17, Tucker 4, Russell 10, Krimborg 2, Correy 1, Hudelson 2.

Gymnasts stomp Georgia finish season undefeated

In their final dual meet of the season, Georgia Southern's gymnastic team easily defeated the University of Georgia Bulldogs, 147.3 to 108.9, finishing the regular season with a perfect 9-0 slate. It is the first time any Eagle gymnastics team has gone undefeated, although Southern has never had a losing season.

GSC won every event in coasting to a 40 point stomp, and individually took first in all events except parallel bars. Bill Godwin won free-exercise, Terry Nelson took side horse honors, Bill Tollefson finished first on rings, Dan Warbuton won vaulting and Tony Blasko hit his best high bar routine this year to take the event. Hank Rogers of Georgia took the honors on parallel bars.

Considering the youth of Georgia Southern's squad, the undefeated season was quite an accomplishment. With only two sophomores, Blasko and Godwin, GSC's spirit and determination carried them to some close wins. The victories over Northeastern Louisiana and David Lipscomb were by only one point.

On March 8th, Lipscomb will be out for revenge at the GGA Championships in Atlanta.

Last year Southern took the team title and this year the competition will be much tougher. It will serve as an excellent final tune-up for the NAIA Championships to be held on March 21 and 22.

J.V.'s romp over all-stars

The Georgia Southern junior varsity easily defeated the Statesboro All-Star team at Hanner Gym February 18. The final score was 111-67 but Coach Johnson had to hold his troops in rein to keep the score from really getting ridiculous.

The JV's hit a sizzling 66 percent of their field goal attempts in the first half and enjoyed the best shooting in a game this year. For the game, the JV's hit 53 of 93 attempts for 57 percent.

GSC (111)—Gibbons 9, Melton 8, Bergbom 10, Bond 11, Pinkston 15, Gordon 10, Moseley 13, Gwin 10, Jackson 13, Wysong 4, Jones 8.

All-Stars (67)—Blizzard 11, Oglesby 2, Williams 12, Vickery 2, Steele 2, Eatman 4, Pye 18, Akins 4, Thomas 7, Hershey 3, Nevils 2.

Westerfield earns spot in District 25 All-Stars

Dave Westerfield, captain of the Georgia Southern Eagles basketball team, has been selected for the NAIA District 25 All-Star team of 1969.

Westerfield, from Evansville, Indiana, has played starting guard for the Eagles the last years since coming to Georgia Southern from Abraham Baldwin Junior College.

The 5-11, 165 pound senior has averaged 14.2 points a game this season, with most of his shots coming from a very neat, well-controlled jump shot he executes from well outside the circle. He has a percentage of 43 from the field and a high 82 from the free throw line.

Roger Moore, the Eagles 6-6 sophomore center from Savannah, Georgia, also received votes but did not make the team. Moore is leading the Eagles in points with a 16.5 average, and in rebounds with a 13.4 average.

The All-Star team is: Doug Price (Berry College), Pete Smith (Valdosta State College), Judd Roberts (Mercer University), John Napier (Tampa College) and Westerfield.

The District 25 Coach of the Year is Valdosta State's Jim Melvin.

Eagles hand Atlantic Christian 91-82 loss

By MIKE CLARK
Sports Editor

Southern's Eagles pulled off a mild upset as they defeated Atlantic Christian College 91-82 on Friday, February 21. Winning for the first time at Atlantic Christian, the Eagles ran their slate to an impressive 16-6. Also, it was only the second time this season that Southern put back-to-back wins on the road. Southern defeated Wilmington College the night before.

Things did not look too bright for the Eagles at first as Atlantic Christian took an early seven point lead. However, Southern captured the lead halfway through the opening half on Gene Brown's two point conversion and never trailed again.

The Eagles led at the half 41-33.

Atlantic Christian, who like Southern was fighting for a post-season tournament berth, made one serious threat in the second half. With 8:12 left the Bulldogs pulled to within one point of the Eagles, but ran out of gas and Southern had its third win in a row.

Southern shot 46 percent from the floor and for the first time in quite a spell scored more field goals and free throws than the opponent.

Atlantic Christian had the game's high scorer in Clyde Stallsmith. Stallsmith hit on 17 field goals and eight charity tosses for a total of 42 points. Joe Jeffcoat and James Jones had 13 and 11 points in a losing cause.

As so many times during the course of the season, Southern had a well balanced scoring attack. Pacing Southern was John Norman with 26 points. John Helm netted 20, Phil Sisk scored 13 and Steve Buckler added 10.

In defeating Atlantic Christian, Southern became the first team to hold the Bulldogs to only 82 points.

Southern leads in the series with the Bulldogs 5-2.

GYM SHORTS

By HUTCH DVORAK

With our first undefeated dual meet season in gymnastics behind us, we are looking ahead to the NAIA Nationals. Our 9-0 record was truly a team effort with many people responsible for our success.

Speaking for the coaching staff and the team, I would like to thank J. I. Clements, Athletic Director, the "Southerners" band led by John Shumans who did a fantastic job at the meets, all the girl flashers and the KA pledges who helped us set up the equipment. Also, our managers, Glenn Jones, Byron Pierce and Joe Williams helped out greatly at the scorers table, and a special thanks to Ed Brown who did such an apt job of announcing for us and made things run so smoothly.

Most of all we thank President Eidson, Vice-President Duncan, GSC students, faculty and all of our fans who made the home meets worthwhile.

Your courtesy and enthusiasm were the high points of our dual meets and we hope you will give us your continued support as we go to the Nationals.
