GSC Begins Quarter With Record Enrollment, 2319

A new summer quarter enrollment record has been set according to figures released by Lloyd Joyner, registrar. As of June 24, 2319 students had registered for classes to be held during the eight-week summer session. This broke the old record of 2281 established last year. Classes officially began Friday, June 13.

Students seeking graduate credit represented the largest classification for the quarter with 571 listed in this category. Junior year students were the second largest group with 529, followed by freshmen with 509.

Sophomore students represented by a total of 337, while 305 students were classified as seniors, and 68 students were "unclassified."

Final exams for the 1969 summer quarter are scheduled for August 14-18, with summer commencement exercises to be held August 19.

The Masquers have announced the casts for "Romulus" and "The Miser," the two productions of their summer theater. The plays are to run alternate nights starting July 31. For details of the productions and cast selection see the Second Front.

Los Indios Tabajaras, two famed Brazilian guitarists, are scheduled to appear in the Foy Fine Arts Recital Hall, July 23. This is the first time the CLEC has sponsored a program during summer quarter. See this on page 3.

Brown, Lariscy, Melton Win Class Presidencies

Senior Rusty Brown, junior Joe Lariscy, and sophomore Steve Melton won the presidency of their respective classes in the elections held May 29, 1969.

In the senior class Rusty Brown with 155 votes defeated Jim McBrayer with 63 votes and Larry Waters with 26 votes for the office of president.

For the vice-presidency Miss Jackie Rieser with 116 votes defeated John Bartlett with 45 votes and Peter Hughes with 38 votes.

Linda Calhoun beat James Bryan 151-51 for the office of senior class secretary-treasurer.

Joe Lariscy with 96 votes and Robert Kight with 79 votes were forced into a run-off because Jim Wheeler's 28 votes kept either candidate from receiving a majority of the total votes cast. The run-off election on June 2, gave Lariscy the office as he defeated Kight 105-86 for the junior class presidency.

Dewey Holland was re-elected to the office of vice-president by defeating Tom Davis 128-73.

Gaye Lynn Blackwell with 109 votes was elected secretary-treasurer of the junior class by beating Jim Bailey with 51 votes and Bob Wilcox with 40 votes.

Steve Melton defeated Dale Warren 189-173 for the sophomore presidency.

Steve Bishop was elected sophomore vice-president as he defeated Nancy Mulherin 249-117.

Mary Sue Fowler won the office of secretary-treasurer with 197 votes compared to Nancy Moore's 104 and Linda Reeve's 61 votes.

These newly elected officers will serve a full year term beginning next fall quarter.

NOTICE

Classes will resume July 7th (instead of July 5th as mistakenly carried in the Summer Bulletin) after the July 4th holiday.

Anne Veal Participates In Science Program

Miss Anne Veal, a junior psychology major from Sandersville, Ga. has been selected one of eight southeastern regional participants in the National Science Foundation Summer Undergraduate Research Participation Program at Florida State University, according to Dr. Georgelle Thomas, assistant professor of psychology.

The National Science Foundation has provided funds for the summer program, which will support ten weeks, June 10-August 10, a full-time research in the university psychology department. The program is meant to give promising undergraduates an opportunity for intensive research in the setting of an established laboratory.

Miss Veal will be assigned to the laboratory of a faculty member in the FSU department of psychology. Prior to the beginning of the summer program, each student and his/her faculty advisor will be brought to the Tallahassee campus for discussion of the student's proposed project and to receive other pertinent information.

Sigma Phi Epsilon recently conducted their annual "Sig Ep Collection" for the Houston County Speech School in Warner Robins and more than doubled their goal by collecting over one thousand dollars.

This was the second consecutive year that the brothers have solicited funds for the Houston County Schools. Last year in their initial drive, Sig Ep collected over three thousand dollars. All funds have been turned over to Mrs. Margaret Spence, director of the school.

The Houston County Speech School works with children afflicted with speech and hearing defects.

Eidson Names Pollak Development Director

James S. Pollak, a 1962 alumnus of this college, has been appointed Director of Development for Georgia Southern, by Dr. John O. Eidson, president. Pollak's appointment becomes effective in August, 1969.

A former editor of the George Anne, Pollak was a very active student leader at the college while studying for his B.S. degree which he received in 1962. From 1962 to 1964, he was enrolled in the Wharton Graduate Division of the University of Pennsylvania where he received his Master of Business Administration degree.

In 1964 he was employed by the Colgate-Palmolive Company and in 1965 joined the U.S. Naval Reserve. He was later commissioned as Ensign upon graduating from the Officer Candidate School, Newport, Rhode Island.

Pollak's military service ran until April, 1968. One month later he joined the Marketing Department of the R.T. French Company where he is still employed.

In commenting on Pollak's appointment to the Georgia Southern administration, Dr. Eidson said that he was pleased to have a person of Pollak's qualities to begin such a program that will include fund raising and development for the college.

This program will be a part of the recently established College Relations Department at GSC.

Social Science Division Institutes Committee

A Student Advisory Committee to the Division of Social Science has been recently formed according to Dr. Georgia B. Watson, division chairman.

The committee was organized as a communication channel between the division and students. The committee's membership is composed of two undergraduate students from each of the departments of history, psychology, sociology, and political science, and two graduate students.

The first committee meeting was devoted to the discussion of the possibility of the expansion of degree programs, curriculum changes, improving the use of classroom facilities, strengthening advisement programs, and the use of audio visual aids.

The committee members include: Cheryl Pence and James F. Hayes, political science; Robert L. Johnston and Cecilia A. Cochran, psychology; Nancy C. Collier and Charlie D. Hill, sociology; Carol Yvonne Smith and Linda A. Gottfried, history; Sue Gillis and Richard Pfund, graduate history students.

HEW Approves Final Grant

Appropriations for the third and final year of an educational research grant have been approved by the U.S. Office of Education of the Health, Education & Welfare Department, according to Dr. Ralph Lightsey, associate professor of education and director of the study. Approximately $74,000 made up the final allotment.

The purpose of the three-day study is research development in professional education. Five Georgia colleges have participated in the program: Savannah State College, Armstrong State College, Middle Georgia College, Augusta College and Georgia Southern. The grant is used to build interest in educational research and to support the colleges' faculty efforts in research.

Areas covered in the program are admissions, curriculum, testing and measurement, new teaching media and communications.

The original grant, composed of Federal and local money, was for $257,000.

Hughes Receives Finance Award

Henry A. Hughes, a senior finance major from Rentz, Ga., has been named the 1969 recipient of Wall Street Journal Award. The Award consists of a specially designed silver model and a year's subscription to "The Wall Street Journal."

Each year, the Wall Street Journal Award is made to the outstanding graduate in finance, as selected by the finance department faculty.

Career Clinic Opens For Youth

A "Career Clinic" for interested school youth in the area will be offered here this summer, according to Dr. William L. Hitchcock, professor of education.

School counselors will be available to work with students on vocational and educational concerns between June 24 and August 2. Students who apply for admission to the clinic will be assigned a counselor, with their periods and amount of attendance determined at this time.

The clinic is being made available free of charge to all interested students as a part of the Counselor Education Program. Application can be made at the student's school or through Dr. Hitchcock or Dr. Kemp Mabry.

Berquist Performs Lab Research

Eugene Berquist, assistant professor of biology, has been awarded a Research Participation for this summer at the Savannah River Laboratory at Aiken, S.C. The fellowship is being made by Oakridge Associated Universities.

While at the laboratory, Berquist will be associated with the lab's radiological sciences division. Research in this area will involve vegetation in nuclear reactor cooling water.

Pittman Holds Summer Session

The Marvin Pittman Laboratory School is offering a summer school program for high school students, according to J.A. Pafford, principal. The eight week session will continue through August 6. Classes begin at 7:30 a.m. for three hours of instruction per day.

Course offerings are in the areas of mathematics, science, English, history, and typewriting. Specific subjects largely depend on requests from the students. Courses are offered in the following areas: Algebra I and II, Biology, English-history, and Typewriting I and II. Teaching staff will come from the regular Marvin Pittman faculty and the School of Education.

Full unit credit will be awarded to those students who successfully complete the requirements of the course.

recreation has added four new faculty members. They are: Dr. Tom L. Paul, associate professor of recreation; Dr. Albert R. Elliot, assistant professor of education; Gordon Earl Floyd, assistant professor; and David J. Patton, instructor.

Three new additions were made to the division of fine arts, including Robert G. Johnson, assistant professor of art; Dr. Robert G. Mayer, associate professor of music; and Kenneth Paul Jones, assistant professor of music.

Dr. William Huss was named professor of industrial education, in the division of industrial technology.

CLEC PROGRAM

Los Indios Tabajaras To Appear July 23

The Campus Life Enrichment Committee (CLEC) will present Los Indios Tabajaras, a pair of classical guitarists, Wednesday, July 23, at 8:15 in the Foy Fine Arts Recital Hall.

According to Dr. Jack W. Broucek, CLEC chairman, this is the first time in the history of the enrichment series that a program has been presented during the summer session.

Los Indios Tabajaras, famous Brazilian classical musicians, have become noted for their various personal appearances and recordings on the RCA Victor label. The admission for the GSC concert is $2 for the general public, $1 for faculty and staff at the college, and free to students with ID cards.

Broucek also announced that five programs have been sent for the regular 1969-70 CLEC series, beginning with a concert by the Preservation

Hall Jazz Band on October 29. Other events in the series include "Your Own Thing" January 12, Alvin Ailey American Dance Theatre February 19, Whit/Lo Singers March 6, and Marcia Baldwin of the Metropolitan Opera Company April 20.

Dr. Cate Publishes Literary Works

Dr. Hollis Cate, professor of English, has had two of his works published in literary journals this quarter.

A poem by Cate, entitled "The Learning Place or On the Teaching of Remedial English at Sixth Period," appeared in the May, 1969 edition of the College English Association's Critic.

Another of Cate's works, an article called "The Initial Publication of George Eliot's Novels in America," has been published in the Spring, 1969 printing of the Ball State University (Muncie, Ind.) magazine, the Forum. In this article Cate describes the problems encountered by George Eliot and other foreign novelists when dealing with American printers.

Cate, who received his A.B. degree from Presbyterian College and his M.Ed. and Ph.D. from the University of Georgia, has had several other of his literary works published in various magazines, including the Xavier University Studies and American Notes and Queries.

Cheerleaders Attend

ICF Annual Workshop

Scores of high school cheerleaders from the southeastern area are attending the first session of the Annual Cheerleaders workshop sponsored by the International Cheerleading Foundation, Inc. The first workshop was scheduled for the last week in June, with the second workshop slated for the first week in June. Technical assistance and leadership will be provided by representatives of the ICF.

The camp will split into two six-day sessions in order to handle the large number of entrants who have enrolled. The first session will end June 27, and the dates for the second session are set for June 28-July 3. Over 200 high school cheerleaders from Georgia and the surrounding states attended the Foundation's camp held here last year. At least that many students are expected to attend this year's camp.

A number of the country's top collegiate cheerleaders, trained by the non-profit ICF, will provide the instruction. Included among these nationally known professional teachers are: Traci Anderson, Miss Cheerleader USA 1969, and Richard Bernstein, yell leader at UCLA.

The ICF conducts similar workshops on 36 college campuses in more than 30 states each year.

Mrs. Jean Farr (center) president of the Statesboro Music club, presents a five hundred dollar check to Dr. John Edison (right) for the beginning of an annual Music Scholarship for the GSC Music Dept. The check will begin an annual fund raising project for money to be used in the music department for the support of student study in that area. Dr. William McKenney, professor of Education, and immediate past-president of the Music Club looks on.

Monday, July 1, The Masquers are holding a special meeting backstage for all interested persons wanting to work on costumes and props. The meeting will start at 7:00 p.m.

Miscellany To Reappear In July

MISCELLANY, the campus literary magazine, will make its debut in late July, according to Roy Powell, faculty advisor for the magazine.

Contract difficulties delayed the printing of the magazine from its original spring quarter deadline. Mr. Powell emphasized that the publication is only delayed and that final editing is now under way.

MISCELLANY was last published during the spring quarter of 1964.

Home Ec. Members Visit Boston

Seven members of the Home Economics Division are in Boston, Mass., attending the 60th annual meeting of the American Home Economics Association, June 22-27. Susan Jones, assistant professor of home economics, has been appointed a voting delegate to represent Georgia at the Assembly of Delegates.

Other faculty and students attending the meeting are Margaret Pipkin and Gwen Poole, majors in the home economics division and officers in the student member section of the AHEA; Dr. Betty Lane, chairman of the home economics division and a member of the Student Member National Advisory Committee; and Carol Johns, Gloria C. Dell and Linda Manke, all attending the college this summer.

Nation Council Appoints Russell

Dr. Fielding Russell, chairman of the Division of Languages, has been appointed a regional judge for the National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Awards Program for 1969. Judging committees, composed of teachers of English from both college and high school will evaluate the writing skills and literary awareness of over 7,500 selected high school students.

The Achievement Awards Program attempts to grant recognition to high school seniors for excellence in English. Finalists are announced in late November and are recommended for scholarship aid to all colleges and universities in the United States.

The NCTE is a professional nonprofit organization of English teachers whose membership and subscribers now include more than 135,000 teachers from primary grades to graduate school.

Taylor Sponsors Workshop

Final plans have been completed for a two-day "On Campus" yearbook workshop to be held on the campus, August 18-19. Representatives of Taylor Publishing Company, publisher of yearbooks, will compose the instructional staff at the workshop.

A broad program of instruction and practical work has been planned for the two-day session. The program will include: planning the yearbook, new trends and techniques in layout, photojournalism, photography, and special effects. This workshop will afford yearbook staffs a unique opportunity to plan and design next year's yearbook under competent supervision before the rush of school activities.

High school and college yearbook staffs from throughout south Georgia have been invited to attend the workshop.

Spurgeon Speaks At West Georgia

Dr. Patrick Spurgeon, professor of English, will be a lecturer in linguistics this summer at West Georgia College, at Carrollton, Ga. Dr. Woodrow Powell, professor of English, will be a Renaissance Scholar at a summer program jointly sponsored by Duke and the University of North Carolina. Richard Keighley, instructor of English, will accompany a four week tour of art museums in Europe, sponsored by Art Department.

Radio Club Elects New Officers

The Georgia Southern Area Amateur Radio Club recently held its organizational meeting on campus and elected officers for the coming year. Those elected are: Dr. David Ward, professor of history, president; Dr. Parker Bishop, assistant professor of physics, treasurer; and Dr. Larry Price, associate professor of finance and management, secretary.

The local club is open to all interested parties in the Statesboro area, with no college affiliation required. Recently, club members received an award of merit from the International Amateur Radio Union, an international organization of radio societies, for their work in establishing radio communications with amateur stations in each of the world's six continents.

More recently, the club traveled to Magnolia Springs State Park near Millen where they took part in the Georgia State Radio Contest.

Golfers Capture Sixth At NAIA Championship

The Eagle golf team placed sixth out of a field of 33 teams in the NAIA National Championship Tournament held June 10-13 at Fort Worth, Texas.

Coach Paul Carr's Eagles rounded the 6416 yard, par 71 links of the Meadow Brook Country Club in 1239 strokes, finishing sixth behind winner Texas Wesleyan's 1192 total. Wesleyan took advantage of playing the tourney on their home course to capture the NAIA national title.

Scores for the 72 hole tournament were derived by totaling the best four scores every day by each team. Five men from each team could participate. Leading the way for the Eagles was Brooks Simmons who had a total of 304. Simmons, who missed being named to the All-America team by only four strokes, was 16th among the more than 160 golfers in the tournament.

Other golfers included Eddie Register (312), Stan Czerno (313), Phil Yonge

(322) and Steve Barker (325). Perhaps the biggest surprise of the tournament for the Eagles was the performance of Yonge. According to Coach Carr, "Phil only played in three matches for us this season, but did a fine job in the nationals. I was real pleased with his performance."

The Eagles earned the right to play in the national tourney by winning the District 25 tournament held in Macon. In that match the Eagles were five strokes under par as a team for 36 holes.

BOB AND JIM RISI

Brothers Participate In Tennis Tournament

Two Eagle tennis players participated in the NAIA National Tennis Championships, June 10-14, in Kansas City, Missouri.

Bob and Jim Risi, a pair of brothers who reside in Springfield, Illinois, represented the college in both singles and doubles in the tournament that drew teams from some 35 colleges and universities in the nation.

Bob Risi, who plays the number one singles position for Coach Frank Ramsey's Eagle team, drew a bye in the first round, then went on to beat a netter from East New Mexico State, 6-2, 8-6, before bowing to a player from tournament winner Redland (California) University, 7-5, 6-3, in the third round.

Jim Risi, the Eagles' number two singles player, also advanced into the second round via a bye, but was there defeated by a Little Rock University player, 6-4, 6-3.

In doubles the Eagle duo again started with a bye, then defeated another pair of doubles playing brothers, these from Arkansas AM&I, 6-1, 6-4. The Arkansas brothers were considered by many coaches as the "best unseeded team in the tourney." The Risis were downed in their next match, 6-1, 7-5, by a team from East Texas State comprised of the number two seeded singles player in the tournament and his partner.

The Risis, both freshmen, will return to the Eagle team next season along with a host of other lettermen. Coach Ramsey lost only one man through graduation this year.

Southeastern Camp Attracts 90 Boys

The second seven day session of the Southeastern Basketball Camp was held here from June 15-21, for boys age 11-18, under the direction of J.E. Rowe, assistant basketball coach at GSC.

Over 90 boys from areas all over the state of Georgia attended the session. The first session of the camp, held June 8-14, attracted 92 interested players.

The basketball camp, which featured several college and high school coaches as instructors, was designed to give every boy individual instruction in the fundamentals of the game, with special attention being given to faults. Instruction was given in all phases of the game of basketball, including team offense and defense, individual offense and defense, fast break, dribbling, teamwork, e'c.

The camp had the use of many of the latest developments in sports teaching, including video taping equipment, rebounding machines, dribble glasses, smaller size basketball goals, and others.

According to Coach Rowe, the camp served a dual purpose: "All we are trying to do is help make these young men better basketball players and promote the game of basketball in the state of Georgia. Of course another advantage of this camp is to help us in our recruiting of students here at Georgia Southern College."
