Busy Weekend Includes Dance And Big Game

GTC students and visitors to the campus should get their money's worth this weekend, with one of the biggest basketball games of the season and a dance with music by the GTC combo set for tomorrow night.

Kentucky Wesleyan, a new opponent on the Professors' lineup this season, promises to satisfy even the most critical sports fan. The Kentucky five have played a giant-killer role all season, and their latest victory was at the expense of powerful Western Kentucky, 70 to 66 last week.

After the game, the English Club and the GEORGE-ANNE staff join together to present a dance featuring the college combo. This dance will be open to the public free of charge.

Three transfers from the University of Kentucky, Linville Puckett, Bill Bibb, and Logan Gipe, have added strength to the Wesleyan Panthers making them one of the most feared teams in the South.

Puckett stands 6'1", Bibb is 6'4", and Gipe stands 6'3". Besides these three standouts, the Panthers boast 6'4½" Joe Roop, who last year was selected on the Helms Foundation All-American team. Roop tossed in an average of 19 points for the Panthers last year.

Parade, Exhibits Promise to Be The Best Ever

The float titles and dormitory displays which have been turned in so far are most intriguing, everything from song titles to Mr. Searcey multiplying rabbits. The Mercer Bear is pictured in every position ranging from a bed to a cage.

The clubs used their unlimited possibilities when no general theme was announced and have come up with everything from U. S. Army service to school and from world fellowship through education. Anything goes—humorous or serious. Probably one of the more interesting things to watch for is to see what Cone Hall does to Davy Crockett. The sky is the limit.

Dr. Watson states that although all the clubs have not as yet turned in their themes; from the way things are shaping up now, this promises to be by far the best parade ever.

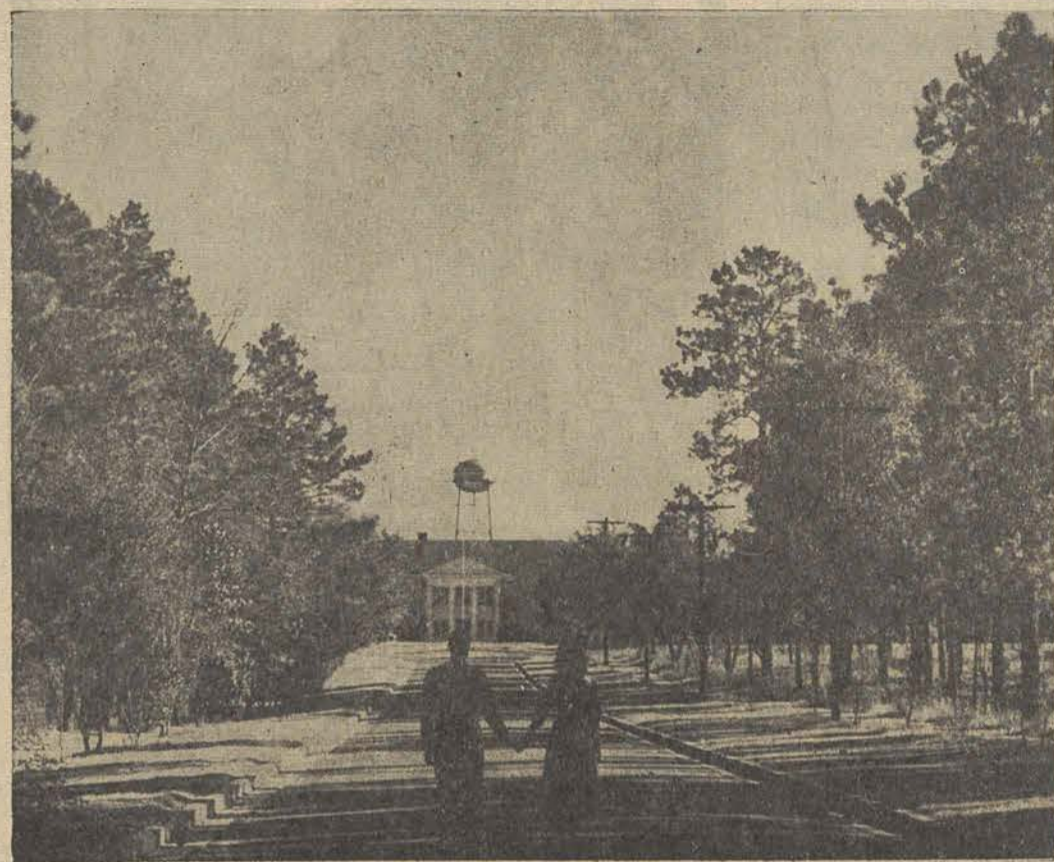

The judges for the floats and dormitory displays will be announced later.

New Telephones Were Installed

According to a revised list of college telephone numbers released this week from the president's office, the service has been extended to six additional administrative offices, and one division.

The alumni office, the correspondence secretary (Mrs. Jean Coleman), the dean of women, the maintenance department, the public relations office, and the business education division may now be reached by telephone.

The numbers of the new phones have been included in a revised listing which has been distributed to the offices having phones.

"NOTHING CONSTANT BUT CHANGE" surely applies to Georgia Teachers College. Only a few years ago there was no "Sweetheart circle"; the road ran straight up to the Administration Building with no heart-shaped drive around by the dorms. Come to think of it, there were no Lewis, Sanford, and Cone Halls. Changes are still taking place continuously. Note the street-widening project; the tendency for all new buildings to be constructed at the back of the campus; and the closing of the old Pembroke highway, to name a few recent changes. In a few years the campus will be the same only in the fact that the circle will still remain. The road running behind West Hall and the Ad. Building is doomed to be closed sometime in the near future.

Meth. Students To be Host To State Director

The Wesley Foundation will be host to their state director, Rev. Sam Laird, this weekend.

Rev. Laird will arrive in Statesboro Saturday afternoon and will be here until Tuesday morning. While in Statesboro, he will stay in the Methodist parsonage.

On Sunday morning, Rev. Laird will meet with the Wesley Foundation Sunday school class and give a report on the national Methodist student Conference held recently in Indiana.

Sunday evening the Wesley Foundation will be in charge of evening worship service at 7:30. The group will provide the special music, ushers, prayers, and leader for the service. Rev. Laird will give the message for the evening.

On Monday, Rev. Laird will meet with various committees from the Wesley Foundation. He will eat in the college dining hall Monday evening with some of the students and then attend the council meeting at 8:15.

While he is here, plans will be made for additional funds for the local organization, and a Methodist student center will be discussed.

Next Assembly Tues., Not Wed.

Next Monday's assembly will not be held Wednesday or Friday, but Tuesday, according to an announcement by President Henderson.

If you're not already too confused to get the meeting time straight, assembly next week will be held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock in McCroan Auditorium.

Things will get back to normal, according to the administration, as soon as the special events are over. After next week assembly will be held at the regular time each Monday for the duration of the quarter.

In case you can remember.

Girls Get Break

Released this week from the Dean of Women's office is this notice: On Friday night of Homecoming there will be a one hour extension of the time limit to be in making it possible for freshmen and sophomore women to come in at 12 o'clock and juniors and seniors at 1 a. m. Saturday night, all women may come in the dormitories at 1 a. m. This is done in an effort to encourage students to remain at the Homecoming Dance until 12 p. m.

Regional Meet Here Tomorrow

The state regional meeting of the GEA Department of Classroom Teachers will meet here tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

The morning meeting will consist of a symposium presided over by Dr. J. D. Park,

Faculty Attends Georgia Meet

Four GTC faculty members attended the ninth annual conference on teacher education held at the University of Georgia January 18-20. Those who attended were Dr. James D. Park, chairman of the division of education and director of teacher training; Dr. Marshall Hamilton, associate professor of education; Shelby Monroe, associate professor of education; and Paul F. Carroll, dean.

The theme for the conference was "Improving Teaching through Cooperative Study." The main speaker of the conference was Dr. Florence B. Stratameyer, professor of education, Columbia University.

On Friday morning, Dean Carroll served as moderator of a panel discussion.

head of the education department. The symposium will concern communication between school and home and other community institutions.

Georgia Law Requires Testing On Georgia And U.S. Constitution

The law of Georgia requires that every person who receives a degree from a state-supported college must have passed an examination on the constitutions of Georgia and the United States. Any student entering any unit of the University System after June 1, 1954, must also pass an examination on the history of Georgia and the United States. These requirements may be met by passing examinations offered each quarter or by receiving a passing grade in certain courses. These courses are:

United States Constitution—science 321 or history 305.

United States Constitution and history—History 305 and 306.

Georgia Constitution—Political Science 322 or History 301.

Georgia Constitution and history—History 403, History 301.

All requirements — History 201.

Examinations will be held each quarter the week following mid-term reports, and each summer quarter at announced times.

The dates for the examinations this quarter are February 6 for the Georgia History and Georgia Constitution tests and February 7 for the U. S. History and U. S. Constitution exam.

The examination will be given in room 30 of the administration building at 3:30 p. m. by Dr. Jack Averitt.

The required fee is $2 for the administration of the examination at undesignated times.

A "Matinee Dance-Movie" plan for tripling GTC's social activities with events taking place each Wednesday, Friday, and Saturday nights was announced this week by the social committee.

Beginning Wednesday night at 6:30 one hour will be set aside each Wednesday for a record dance in the old gym. Students with or without dates will come to the dance and pay an admissions charge of 10 cents for the hour's entertainment.

Proceeds for these dances will be used to rent some of the better Hollywood films to be shown each Friday night in the auditorium. No admission charge will be made for this activity. Also, proceeds will be used to restock the record supply used at the evening meals in the dining hall.

Girls attending these matinee dances will not be charged with a night out, according to Dean Helen Duncan. Since the period set aside for the dance conflicts with the girls' study hour, Miss Duncan states that the girls may make their own decision as to whether they will spend the time at the dance or in study hall. All girls who wish to attend have permission to be excused from study period.

Plans for the matinee dance have been under consideration of the social committee for some time in an effort to provide GTC students with a more rounded slate of social activities.

John Tootle, chairman of the social committee, states that the plan is a solution to the absence of weekday activities, and will also provide funds for purchasing needed materials to keep other activities functioning.

Friday night movies will include some of the best Hollywood films, and "A Star is Born" and "Battlecry" have already been ordered for showing in the next few weeks. This standard of excellence will be maintained throughout in the selection of movies.

Ric Mandes, co-chairman of the social committee, urges students to support this plan and to attend the dances each week. He stresses the fact that students are not required to attend with a date, especially since girls will not be charged with a night out if they attend the dance.

"For this plan to be successful," he states, "every student will have to support it. I don't think this will be a matter of obligation, since students attending should have the time of their lives."

Tootle and Mandes will coordinate joint activity plan, and committees have been established to carry out the business end of the plan.

Records for the dances will be selected by Cathy Holt, Billie Kinchen, and Ellen Blizzard.

Movie selections will be made by Joan Lindsey, Jeff Davis, Cathy Holt, Shirley Rountree, and Carlton Humphrey.

Britt Fayssoux, Carlton Humphrey, and Ellen Blizzard will handle publicity for the activities.

Herbert Houston, Shirley Rountree, Pat Henderson, Joan Lindsey, Gene Meadows, Harriet Woodard, and Jeff Davis will act as hosts and hostesses for the dance, organize activities at the dances, and keep the activities moving at a steady pace for the full hour.

Matinee Dance-Movie Plan Must Have Student Support

Beginning next week, an innovation in the way of campus activities will be introduced by the social committee. This is a "Matinee Dance-Movie" plan which will triple weekly student activities along the social line.

As now established, each Wednesday from 6:30 to 7:30 will be set aside for a record dance in the old gym. An admission charge of 10 cents per person will be charged for those attending the dance. The proceeds from these dances will be used to rent movies to be shown every Friday night in the auditorium, and to buy new records for the dining hall.

This plan is under the direction of the social committee, but more than that, it is the long-nurtured brain-child of our Student Council president. It is the result of many hours of thought and planning in an effort to give GTC students a more rounded social calendar of weekly entertainment.

Only one thing can lead to the failure of this idea—lack of student response! The GEORGE-ANNE staff feels that this is the best action taken in some time toward improving GTC's social life; all students are urged to support these dances and movies when possible. To be a success, the plan needs every student behind it.

Every student can make an effort to spare a dime each week, and the benefits reaped from the money spent will far surpass its physical value.

The staff urges each student to "get hep" and show the social committee they are willing to go along with plans for improving the GTC social slate.

Mere Discourtesy Doesn't Cover the Action

How it happened isn't important. That it did happen is important...

Saturday night, in the interest of keeping alive the GTC reputation of being the "friendly campus," the social committee planned a dance after the basketball game and announced that the dance was open to the public.

The public came; and obviously some of the visitors didn't believe in "friendliness." Or maybe they just never have heart of it.

Midway the dance, someone decided to prove that he was a great big man. As usual when a kid gets this into his head, the only way to prove this fact is to disregard society and attempt to fight anyone who tries to persuade him to the contrary. As usual, the affair ended with the sensible people sacrificing their entertainment and closing up shop so that no more trouble would develop.

This "he-man" visitor was a Statesboro boy, and some of his Statesboro friends followed his example to the complete disruption of the dance.

It is extremely important that we at GTC stay on friendly terms with the people of Statesboro. It is to our interest as well as theirs. But how far do we have to go to stay on friendly terms?

Such actions as were displayed by our Statesboro visitors Saturday night have overflowed the bounds of mere discourtesy, and have entered the realm of a lack of common decency. Some action should be taken to exclude such persons from attending college activities, even if it becomes necessary to require everyone to show his identification card before being admitted into the gym.

Thirsty Editor Tests PE Free Enterprise

Last week's GEORGE-ANNE carried a letter to the editor criticizing the PE department for "spreading three Cokes over five cups and charging 10 cents for each."

At the basketball game Saturday night, members of the GEORGE-ANNE staff bought Cokes and observed while others were buying them. The editors cannot speak for the actions of the PE department at previous contests, but Saturday night they discovered that what the author of the letter called "honest-to-goodness free enterprise" was just that—HONEST!

Workers were observed filling cups and the bottles were drained to the last drop—one complete Coke to each cup. The staff sincerely hopes that the author of the letter also was present and observed this form of free enterprise.

Salaries Will Determine Future of Teaching

By BRITT FAYSSOUX

The wages of teachers have always been too low; everybody knows that periodically efforts are made to raise the salaries, and of late these attempts have been crowned with noteworthy success in the case of several of our states. But there is still small risk, apparently, of the profession of teachers being overpaid.

There is a vital shortage of teachers at every level in America today. From the elementary school right on up to our institutions of higher learning, teachers are becoming harder to employ. The reason is obvious—inadequate wages. Individuals who have been trained to teach and would like very much to make teaching a career find it is practically impossible to support a family on the wages they would earn as a teacher. Other fields are only too glad to employ these people because the education they have received gives them the ability to master other types of work quickly and proficiently.

Fortunately, the United States does have a hard core of dedicated individuals who have seen the need of a well-educated America and have selflessly given themselves to the task. These individuals are the unsung heroes that fight a never-ending battle against the indifference and apathy of the general public toward the education of their children.

Some progress has been made in raising the pay of our teachers, but there is a definite need for higher wages in the teaching field.

We can only hope that our state and national authorities will recognize and act on this need in the near future.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

"YA, KNOW - IT WORRIES ME WHAT SOME OF THESE CRAZY KIDS WILL DO FOR A GRADE."

Dear Editor:

May I have a moment to comment on the last edition of the GEORGE-ANNE. My comment is not one of criticism but one of compliment. It is a compliment to you and your able staff for producing such an interesting paper last week.

Often when I read the GEORGE-ANNE I find news that I have already heard about or read about on bulletins, but last week's edition gave new highlights to this week's activities. The lay-out was good, very good in fact. The front page attracted attention. There were many articles that were new and different. Some that I particularly enjoyed were the Freshman's Creed, the art department, our foreign student, and many, many others.

I hope that the last issue will be the inspiration for future editions. Keep up the good work.

Sincerely,
BOB SPELL

Sixteen Hours

"Some people say a man is made outa mud;

A college man's made with coffee for blood;
Coffee for blood and a fact fuzzed head,
Sleepless eyes and the sitter's spread.

Chorus

Ya carry sixteen hours,
An' what the heck for?
A hound dog's smarter and a plumber makes more
Saint Peter, I'm sorry but I can't come till
I've dragged my soul through the sheep skin mill.

Had a hole in my head since I was a pup:
Gotta get a diploma to stuff it up;
Every sixteen hours that I get through
The administration says 'Bully for you!'

Chorus

When you see me comin', well, have no fears.
All the muscle I got is between my ears;
A few more hours and I'll have my fill...
If the Devil don't get me then the draft board will!"

Dear Editor:

A thing which has puzzled me much is that our campus never has any outstanding personalities appear here.

Robert Frost, one of America's best poets, has recently completed a visit on the University of Georgia campus where he discussed his works with the students. He is currently appearing at Wesleyan College and also visits on the Angas Scott campus annually.

If other schools can have these visitors why can't GTC? We are a teachers College, where the teachers of tomorrow are trained. These teachers which we send forth are to guide the youth of our state and nation in achieving a rightful place in the American society. How can they guide them in the attainment of the cultural side of life when they, the leaders, are denied this opportunity to gain the benefits of such appearances themselves?

I realize that we could hardly obtain a visitor this year, but why couldn't the administration begin plans for such a visit each year from now on.
INTERESTED STUDENT.

The Lord and I

Elder Charles C. Carrin, speaker of Religious Emphasis Week told the GTC student body Wednesday that today is the most important time in their lives, that they must gain a vision and work toward it.

Elder Carrin told them they must take a better inventory and better stock of themselves. Elder Carrin, using as his text, Proverbs 29:18, "Where there is no vision, people perish," stated that "there has never been a sensible person born in the world with all his facilities who has not had a vision. Had there not been a vision of equality for men, there would not have been an America."

"What is your vision? How far-reaching does it go? What does it include? How long will it last?" were some of the questions which were proposed that students ask themselves.

"Tomorrow, without a vision, might as well not come." The students ought to have a vision—worthwhile, usable, eternal—something that benefits the spiritual man. The present is the time to decide what the vision will be. They have a vision of great things, not selfishly, but God-fearingly.

Elder Carrin reminded the students that their success in life will not come in dollars and cents, nor can it be measured in terms of gold. It must be the fulfillment of their vision which must include Christ.

Inquiring Reporter

By ELLEN BLIZZARD

I have tried to put a finger on why people enter GTC and what they like about it, what they look forward to doing, what they like to remember. And after listening to the answers I received, I must admit I'm in agreement with everyone of them and believe you will be too. But decide for yourself.

POKEY MARRIOTT—I like the friends that you make and the knowledge you acquire and share with them.

ED BROWN—One thing I like is the association with the people here, being friendly and making friends. I think that a person who misses dorm life misses half of college life.

SISTIE POE—The one thing that I have enjoyed most is the band. I believe the music program adds a lot to the school.

GINGER MORRISON—The one thing that stands out to me is the friendliness of everyone, not only the girls but also the boys.

SAM ROGERS—I like the friendly attitude of the students and faculty here. I like the idea of everybody knowing everyone else and being friendly, even to a new student who is having a hard time finding his way around.

DIANA BAIR—The friendly spirit. When I think of GTC after I leave here it will be to think of the friends I made and the good times I had with them.

JIMMY FORD—I like the beginning of the year when everyone is coming back and greeting old friends and making new ones. I also like and look forward to the change from winter to spring when the days are sunny again and people's attitudes brighten—then the close of school.

CECIL WOODARD—I like to think of the friends you make and the activities you continue in college that you were especially interested in in high school and dances on campus when the whole school gets together for fun and spirited conversation.

TAB SMITH—One thing I like is the amount of consideration that the members of the faculty show to the students.

GLADYS BROWN—I like the friendly atmosphere and the school spirit that exists. I also look forward to watching some good basketball games each year.

BOB CARDELL—I like best the informality found here, no particular things that must be done, no tedious responsibilities.

GLORIA BRAND—I like the sportsmanship and the spirit shown at the ballgames. I feel more loyal to this team than any other that I have come in contact with.

HERBERT HOUSTON—I like the friendliness of students toward each other and the regular friendly atmosphere of the campus, the students and faculty. I like, too, the wonderful physical education department. I think it is fine.

RALPH SPURLOCK—I like the opportunity I have had to hunt and fish here. Everybody in Georgia is just good old people and make you feel at home.

Dates and Plans Set For GTC to Play Host to Confab

The Future Business Leaders of America Club of GTC will play host to about 150 representatives from FBLA clubs of the various high schools and colleges throughout the state of Georgia as the 1956 State FBLA Convention gets underway April 6 and 7 on GTC's campus.

This convention will begin early Friday afternoon, April 6, with registration and a social in the Cone Hall recreation room, and will be followed up by a business meeting. Friday night there will be a banquet in the dining hall with President Zack S. Henderson delivering the welcoming address. Following the banquet there will be a dance and floor show for the entertainment of the delegates.

Saturday morning there will be a tour of the campus in which the students will be shown all the points of major interest on GTC's campus. Immediately after the tour, there will be a meeting at which the clubs being represented will be judged on their scrapbooks, merit points earned, and a view of the various clubs' activities. Also at this meeting, the delegates will elect a king and queen of the convention who will reign for the year of 1956-57.

To see that all of these activities are to be carried through, committees have been set up to take care of each activity. These committees include the reception, program, food, housing, registration, refreshment, entertainment, publicity correspondence, and receiving committees. The members of the FBLA Club of GTC hope to make this convention one of the outstanding events on campus for this year, and from the way things are shaping up, it will be.

Prexy's Proxy

Kampus Kapers Keep Keen Kirby Kicking

By JANE JACKSON

She's President Henderson's secretary. She likes to read, likes movies, likes tennis, enjoys her work in the Baptist Church, and has a special interest in furniture. She's the founder of the newest club on campus. She's Miss Kirbylene Stephens, of course.

Kirbylene was born in Toombsboro, Georgia on October 28, 1932, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby N. Stephens.

A few years went by and in 1949 she graduated from Waycross High School. The years 1949 and 1950 were busy ones for her. She attended the Waycross Vocational School in the day and went to the University of Georgia Off-Campus Center at night. Going to school day and night is more than most anybody can stand, so in October, 1950 Kirby started to work at Walker-Hood Furniture Company, where her special interest in furniture originated, but at night she still continued her study.

Entered GTC

Finally in September, 1952, she entered Georgia Teachers College as a second quarter sophomore having completed one year and one quarter of college work in Waycross.

All of us well know the many many clubs and activities on campus.

Kirby was in them all! (Poor thing).

FBLA collected dues from her for three years, and the English Club had her membership for two years in which she served as secretary and treasurer. She was a member of SCA for three years and was vice president her junior and senior years. She was a member of Masquers her sophomore and junior years, president of Lewis Hall her senior year, member of the interdorm council her senior year, on the Reflector staff junior and senior years, member of the BSU three years, and served on the BSU council her junior year. Kirby was a member of FTA two years and was "veep" her senior year.

Besides these extra-curricular activities, Kirby had to study, of course. How she found time is beyond me, but she did because in March of 1955 she finished her work here at GTC with a major in business education and a minor in English. From March until June, Kirby taught at Screven County High School in Sylvania.

You'd think she would be glad to be rid of so many responsibilities and would be happy to settle down to her one responsible job now! But not Kirbylene! Besides her day's work of answering the phone, taking dictation, greeting people, sending out faculty notices, handling almost all the college mail, which comes through the president's office, and handling student workers' application and rating cards, she's director of housing for the Vet apartments, Anderson Hall; and, in the absence of the Dean of Men, she handles men dormitory assignments.

Does all this occupy Kirby's time? Yes, but she's still not satisfied, so in what little spare time she calls her own, she has "brainstorms"!

Her Brainchild

Thinking back over her days as a student assistant in the education division and the comptroller's office, and how much she enjoyed her work, she remembered, too, that lost feeling she had when she first started work in there. She wondered if other people were as much "in the dark" as she had been and then she remembered that several student assistants had mentioned to her that they didn't know what was expected of them. She remembered too, seeing several hundred letters come through the office typed and spaced incorrectly. That did it! Something had to be done!

As she sat there thinking, "IT" hit her. Why not have a student workers' club? That was a good idea! Kirby really began thinking then, and in a little while she had it all figured out.

The name of GTC's newest club is Pi Beta Lambda, Greek letters meaning Power Behind the Lectern. That means where would the teachers be without their student assistants? Every club has to have a constitution so Kirby got a committee and Pi Beta Lambda was given a constitution. The purposes of the club are:

1. Improve the standards of performance by student assistants.
2. To foster greater appreciation of the contributions made by student assistants.
3. To establish in students a feeling of pride in the knowledge that they are helping defray the expenses of their college education.

All student assistants employed by the college are eligible for membership in this organization.

A slate of officers was elected and after Christmas the club had its first meeting. Kirby said, "Phi Beta Lambda is still in the beginning stages, but we hope to have it well underway by next year, and who knows maybe someday we can introduce it to other colleges and it will become a national club like most of the others on campus." Suppose Kirbylene hadn't come to GTC?

Hi Fi Recording 'Jet Age' Strikes Music Building

By JO ANN PARKER

The Georgia Teachers College music department is fast becoming a full fledged member of the "Jet age" in sound by way of its newly acquired Hi Fi recording and broadcasting unit.

The department's high fidelity outfit is complete with tape recorder and microphones, all connected to a central control panel in a special recording booth.

The college has built the recording booth in the music building's recital hall. From this booth, a music staff, or specially trained students, can record piano, voice, or choir music directly in the recital hall. Band performances can be recorded from the band rehearsal hall by remote control through the central control board.

A setup of this type allows rehearsal to be recorded for playback later. In these playbacks, students and teachers can check mistakes and sections of music that need working on. This creates better over-all music organizations.

Permanent records can be made on tape of student performances from the freshman year on up. These records can then be referred to when the student graduates and requests a recommendation for a job.

The tapes have one more prominent use, that of broadcasting. Under an old system, the college music groups broadcasted programs direct to the radio station by means of a microphone hooked up to a telephone. The new method of recording the programs on tape, then sending them to the station makes better recordings and allows sections, or even entire programs to be repeated if necessary in order to get a better performance.

At present, only one microphone can be used at a time, however, the department plans to have a mixer panel in use soon, that will allow use of two microphones at once. This will create a more balanced tone effect in ensemble work. Plans also include purchase of two speakers to be used to create a stereophonic sound effect. This is the same effect achieved in cinemascope movies.

The equipment is the same type as is used in professional radio and TV stations and records with an amazing degree of accuracy. As an example when the microphone was first purchased last year it was put backstage, behind closed curtains in the auditorium. When the recorder was turned on, it picked up a conversation of people talking in the balcony. The set is not entirely complete at present, but is expected to be so in about two weeks. At time of completion the cost will have reached a little over $1,000.

Henderson Visits Four Schools

President Henderson is to be in Warner Robbins, Hawkinsville, Fitzgerald, and Cordele on January 26-27. This trip is in connection with "college day" programs in these schools.

Mary E. Sherman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Sherman, of Augusta, and a 1952 graduate of GTC recently arrived in Nurnberg, Germany, for assignment as a service club director with the Army's Special Services staff in Europe. Special Service workers provide entertainment and recreation for armed forces personnel. (U. S. Army Photo.)

Miss Bolton Has Ideas for Roads And Car Space

Miss Ruth Bolton, associate professor of home economics, has a few ideas of improving the campus roads and parking space not only by widening and cutting but by naming them. How would it sound to call the campus circle Sweetheart Lane? The road in front of Cone Hall and the new gym, Sophie Johnson Drive; the drive in front of President Henderson's house Collegeboro Ave.; the road around Marvin Pittman School, Doogwood Drive? Miss Bolton thinks if a road were cut between Sanford and Cone Hall and parking lots were put behind Cone for the boys' cars, it would solve the traffic problem considerably. She suggests this road be called Cleo Drive. Foodland Road would be a good name for a road cut from Dogwood Drive to Collegeboro Ave. on out to the Pembroke Road. Miss Bolton's ideas sound very good.

Alexander Home After D. C. Trip

Dr. Thomas B. Alexander, on leave of absence from the social science faculty, is in Statesboro after a trip to Washington, D. C. to gather data for his research project on the Whigs in America.

After a two weeks' visit, Dr. Alexander plans to go to Chapel Hill, North Carolina, to continue his research.

A 1955 winner of a Guggenheim Fellowship, Dr. Alexander has undertaken an extensive examination of the "persistence of the principles of American Whigs of 1860-1900."

His study will take him into most of the eastern states and probably as far west as California.

Future Teachers Are Urged to Study Science

By DON ABBOTT

Among the student teachers from Georgia Teachers College during the spring quarter of the school year, 1955-56, there will appear two practice teachers in the field of science. They will be among scores of practice teachers of other fields, history, political science, elementary education, English, music, business, home economics, industrial arts, physical education and other majors offered on this campus.

Nothing New

This is not a new problem. Many of us in school now feel and have felt the effects of it.

In the high schools today many teachers, proficient in some other field, are being forced to teach science because no one else can be found. Leaving personalities and individual talent out of the discussion these people cannot hope or be expected to turn out students qualified to do college work in science.

This is the way I came to school. I recall that many of my classmates faced the same problem and I believe new students still do.

Courses Too Hard

I have heard many students express the opinion that science courses are too hard and with this conviction, they do everything in their power to get out of them. The original assumption here is incorrect. The courses, comparatively, are no harder than other courses. The reaction to the original assumption is correct. After all, why jeopardize time, money, and record for something you don't need to graduate.

Preparation is the important thing, and for this you need teachers. It is with this in mind that science fairs, conventions, etc. are presented. The objective is simple; to create interest and discover talent at the high school and grammar school level where something can be done to insure their interest and capabilities in the future.

Science Fair

This year a science fair will be held on campus of GTC, March 23-24.

It will be the annual First District Science Fair. High school and grammar school exhibits will be entered. Counties participating will be: Burke, Bryan, Screven, Effingham, Emanuel, Liberty, Jenkins, Chatham, Treutlen, Bulloch, Tattnall, McIntosh, Evans, Long, Candler, Montgomery, and Toombs.

Wednesday night representatives from these counties met in an effort to organize and plan.

Promise of Success

The spirit and enthusiasm displayed there gave promise of an excellent fair as well as indirectly registering the over all consciousness of the dire need from which the fair arises.

The Science Club, working in conjunction with Teachers and administrators in hope that the fair will be an excellent one, entreat you, the student body, to become cognizant of the problem, participate as time allows in the fair, and through your support behind this effort prevent others from being in the same dilemma you and I found ourselves in.

Blue Team Is Getting Blues

The FBLA drive is becoming "red hot"! The red team headed by Joel Cooper was leading the Blue team, headed by Aubrey Lee by 23 to 17 at the last meeting on January 16.

The loser of this mad race will have to take care of all the arrangements for the FBLA Valentine party which will be February 10.

The race is NOT over, however, the Blue team still has another week to drag in more members.

May the best team win!

HYDE and SEEK

By LARRY HYDE

George-Anne Sports Editor

Enough was said last week about the officials therefore all that I want to say about the GTC-Belmont Abbey battle is that the referees sure missed seeing a good basketball game.

* * * *

Statistics released by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau show that GTC is second in the nation in team offense with an average of 93.9 points per game. West Virginia Tech is the leader with 105.2 points per game. In the individual scoring, Chester Webb is tied for fourth with an average of 30.8 per game, and is 12th in the nation at the free throw line. He has made 139 out of 166 attempts for a percentage of .837.

* * * *

For the quarter just past, the basketball team had a grade ratio of 3.7, or in other words a strong B-minus. The average grade ratio for the whole school was only 3.01. Buddy Ward, the senior guard from Harlan, Ky., was the top man on the squad with a perfect 6-point, followed by Doug Corry and Ralph Spurlock with identical 4.7's.

* * * *

Should you be one that wants a new name for Georgia Teachers College, try these for size. Hofstra (NY), Defiance (Ohio), Quinnipiac (Wash.), Susquehanna (Pa.), Muskingum (Ohio), Coe (Iowa), Albion (Mich), Slippery Rock (Pa.).

* * * *

There are 746 of us enrolled at Georgia Teachers College this quarter but how many of that 746 realize what a good basketball team we have. The game tomorrow night with Kentucky Wesleyan is a BIG one for GTC. The boys from the Blue Grass State receive two first place votes each week in the national basketball poll and it would really be a feather in our cap if we could knock them off. You, the GTC student, can have a part in this by filling that student section and yelling like you have never yelled before. Let's show the team that we are behind them 100 per cent.

Belmont Abbey Falls 85-74 Piedmont Edges Profs 95-92

Georgia Teachers College pulled out a thrilling 85-74 victory here Saturday over Belmont Abbey, but the margin doesn't come close to telling the story of the ball game.

The game was tied 11 times throughout the contest, and with 3:30 remaining the score was 73-72 in favor of Belmont Abbey.

Bo Warren, the Ludowici guard, had his best night of the year for the Profs, hitting for 24 points, many of them on long jump shots in the second half.

Garland Campbell scored 15 points in the first half but had to sit out most of the second half with four personals. He ended with 17 points for the night.

In the end it was the tenacious defense by GTC which didn't allow the Belmont Abbey guards to set up patterns, that spelled the difference. On January 10 Belmont Abbey defeated Georgia Teachers, 92 to 69.

Piedmont College defeated Georgia Teachers College 95-92, for the first time since 1933 Monday in a basketball game that highlighted a scoring duel between the Teachers' Chester Webb and Piedmont's Maxie Skinner.

Skinner raised Piedmont from a 13-point deficit late in the game with a point-making surge that netted him 46 points for the night. Webb hit for 47 to equal a school record he established last year, also against Piedmont.

Garland Campbell scored 13 points and Don Wallen 12 and were the only GTC players other than Webb to hit in the double figures.

Century Mark Hit Twice By Frosh

The Baby Profs, recovering from defeats by Jacksonville Junior College and Camp Stewart, jolted the lads from Norman Park by the score of 105-69. Howard "Paso" Walls and Walker Cook led the Frosh with 37 to 24 points respectively, while John Daniels scored 20 points for the losers.

GTC Frosh vs. Armstrong
After starting slow, then finishing like a house on fire, the Baby Profs walloped the Geeches from Armstrong 102 to 74. Howard Walls led the attack with 22 points closely followed by Ralph Berryhill with 21 points. During the first 10 minutes, the Baby Profs found difficulty hitting the hoop, and trailed 20-18, but then wore the Geeches out and led at the half by 48-29. It was all Blue in the second half with the Frosh outscoring them by 54 to 53 and going past the century mark for the second game in a row.

Keys for Old Gym Available To GTC Students

Keys for admittance to the old gym and to the switchbox in the gym have been made available to any student desiring to use the gym for recreation, according to an announcement by Donald McDougald, comptroller.

Mr. McDougald states that he has had a key made for the switch room and will leave this key placed in the gym so that students may get the gym lighted without having to break or pick the locks as has been the case in the past.

He also states that he will check with Coach Parsons of the Pittman School to obtain a key for the side door of the gym. This key will be left hanging on the outside so that students may use it to get into the gym.

Basketball 'Bachelors' Beat Hinesville Athletic Club Team

Georgia Teachers College's newest basketball team, the "Bachelors," scored an impressive 85 to 74 victory over the Hinesville Athletic Club Wednesday night.

The "Bachelors," a group of GTC students, are coached by Marvin Vanover. Vanover was a letter-winner with the GTC varsity before entering service in 1951.

The game with Hinesville was the opening game for the "Bachelors" and they showed the fans what kind of basketball to expect in the future. They play an exciting brand of ball and every member of the squad is a potential high scorer.

Toby Fountain, a former Piedmont College standout and coach of the Hinesville team, was the losers' leading scorer with 25 points. Strickland tossed in 23 points for a losing cause.

For the local quintet, Marvin Vanover had 20 points and played an outstanding game on the backboards. Billy Hobbs had 17, Cliff Johnson 15, and Jim Long 12, for the victors.

"Bachelors": Ford 7, Hobbs 17, Vanover 20, Long 12, Johnson 15, Denham 6, Griffin 8.

Hinesville: Anderson 2, Delargy 2, Shuman 4, Brewer *, Fountain 25, Dasher 12, Strickland 23.

Statesboro High Team Success

The Blue Devils of Statesboro High School are enjoying a rather prosperous season thus far this year. Beginning with their invasion of Glennville, Metter, Sylvania and have lost to Southeast Bulloch, Portal and split with Jesup.

The highlight of their season thus far was their upset win over Blackshear two weeks ago.

Statesboro High claim victories over Glennville, Metter, Alma, Hazelhurst, Pembroke, Hinesville, Metter, Sylvania and have lost to Southeast Bulloch, Portal and split with Jesup.

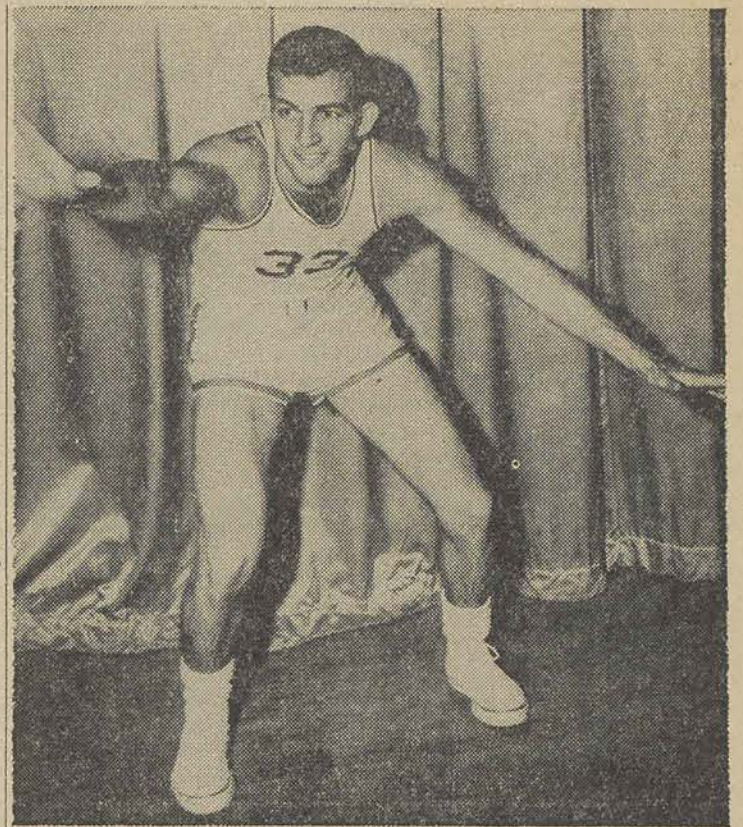

The highlight of their season thus far was their upset win over Blackshear two weeks ago.

GTC Freshmen Meet Bullpups

The miracle has finally happened! GTC has managed to break the thick ice separating them from the University of Georgia athletic teams.

The Professor Frosh will meet the Bullpups in a cage contest February 1 at Tenille, Georgia, in a polio benefit game.

This is the first regularly scheduled athletic event between the two schools since the 1935 season when the professors defeated the Bulldogs.

LINVILLE (THE BUCKET) PUCKETT, one of the scoring leaders for the Kentucky Wesleyan Panthers, prepares for his outing against the Profs tomorrow night. Pucket is one of the Panthers' three All-American candidates.

Win First Intramural Games

The 1956 intramural basketball league got off to a fast start Wednesday with the Sophomore "Blues" beating the Sophomore "Reds" by a score of 61-43 in the opening game.

The contest was well played and was close up until the third quarter. At this time, the "Blues" scored 12 points while holding the "Reds" to a single basket and the "Reds" were never able to close the gap.

Dave Esmond and Norman Griffin led the "Blues" in scoring with 16 and 14 points, respectively.

Jimmy Wilks scored 11 points and played an outstanding game on rebounds for the losers.

BLUES: Esmond 16, Baston 4, Green 2, Brantley, Readdish 4, Collins 10, Griffin 14, Alewine 11.

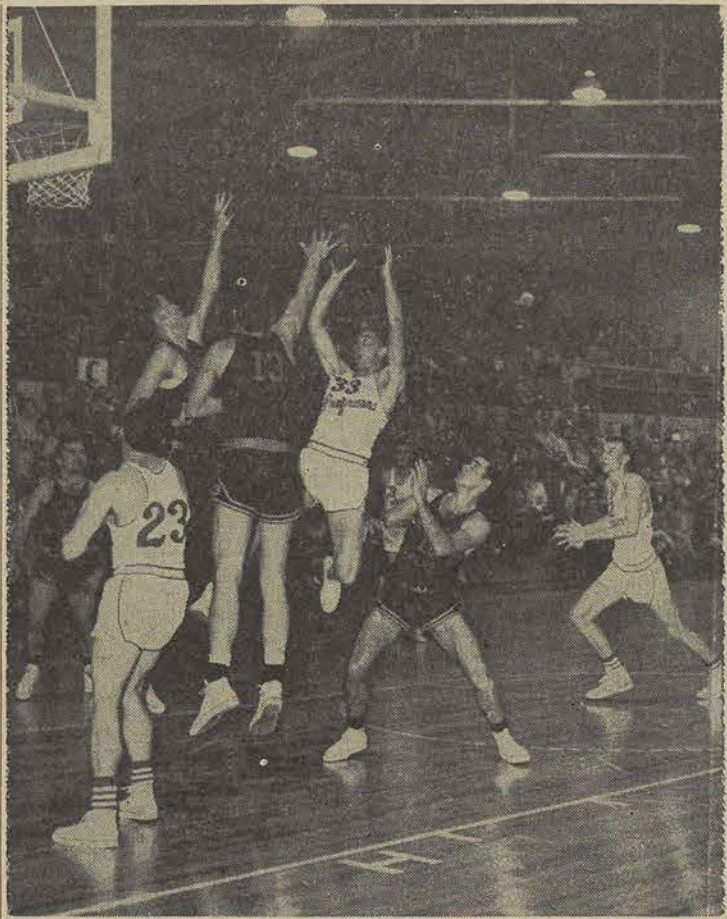

REDS: Woods 9, Russell 7, Hancock, Sanders, Dixon,

Rainey 2, Wilks 11, Highsmith 5, Johnson 5.

Greens 57—Whites 44
In the second game the freshmen "Greens" beat the freshman "Whites" 57-44 in a loosely played contest.

After a very rugged first half in which the "Greens" ran up a 28 to 16 halftime score the "Whites" came back in the third quarter to pull within eight points of the "Greens." The "Greens" then pulled away to win by 13 points.

Jim Long and Ed Brown led the "Greens" with 27 and 18 points respectively. Sonny Godfrey led the "Whites" with 17 points.

DOUG CORRY drives hard toward the basket in last Saturday night's game against the Florida State Seminoles. Corry, plagued with injuries for the last few games, managed to score 8 points in the Profs victory over the Seminoles.

VET'S CORNER

By BODIE BOATRIGHT

As you Vets probably know General Matthew B. Ridgeway, former Chief of Staff of the United States Army, in the January 21, 1956 issue of the "Saturday Evening Post" began a series of six articles. He reveals how he was forced to submit to pressure and make his professional military views conform to the views of higher authority whose attention was focused not on national security but on political consideration and the advantages to be gained in the field of domestic politics by a drastic reduction in military expenditures.

General Ridgeway was bullied into silence by the threat of Secretary of Defense Wilson that any dissenting opinion on his part would not be good for him in the eyes of President Eisenhower, who was himself an old soldier. Wilson is another of the species of animals in the President's cabinet who does not know how to keep his mouth shut when propriety and common sense would command that he do so.

Chief qualifications to his job lies in the fact that he was head of a big business corporation that generously aided the Eisenhower effort other ways than morally in 1952. Of course, he has used good tactics in the past in formulating a "defense" of the General Motors treasury against Walter Reuther and the CIO, but this strategy would hardly qualify him to criticize and ignore judgement and advice of one of the greatest professional military men in the history of the U. S. Army.

Maintained Statue

The honesty and integrity of Ridgeway cannot be questioned. He has maintained his statue when brought face to face with the ogre of dishonest politics. He was further humiliated when the President stated that the military budget for 1955 was unanimously recommended by the joint Chiefs of Staff. This, to me, is an inexcusable untruth on the part of the President.

Art Festival Will Be Scheduled In Sav. March 2-4

Savannah will be host this year to the fourth annual Regional Art Conference which will take on a new name and a new flavor in southeast Georgia, according to Miss Emma Moore. Chatham county art supervisor and chairman for the conference.

The conference, to be known this year as the Arts Festival, is tentatively scheduled March 2-4. The regional conferences were formerly held at GTC.

Since special emphasis is being placed this year on more selectivity in art exhibits, Miss Moore said, the festival promises to be "a rather exciting adventure."

On display will be art work of high school and elementary school students and their teachers from the schools of the region. The general chairman points out that more emphasis is being placed on the cultural arts of the area and that spotlighted along with are exhibits will be music, drama, and ballet presentations.

A speaker and a schedule of demonstrations and discussions are being arranged on the program, final details of which will be announced later along with the meeting places in Savannah, Miss Moore said.

A number of Savannah civic music and ballet groups, the Telfair Art School and Museum, Armstrong Junior College, the public departments of Georgia Teachers College are among those contributing to the program planning.

The chairman said the March date is only tentatively set and that full announcement will be made later. She said the area schools would be notified in plenty of time to prepare their work exhibit.

Eastland over my shoulders prevent my commenting further upon this. It will be to General Ridgeway's everlasting glory that he did not alter his judgement (As far back as 1949, Pentagon circles referred to him as "the brain.") to conform to the "businessman's" administration.

The die hard Democrats need not adopt a "holier than thou" attitude. Refer back to the post World War II period and the great Johnson economy wave under President Truman, a confused ex-haberdasher who was and is totally unqualified in any field unless it be machine politics.

Police Action

Truman headed the administration that fired Denfield, and whose policy led to the Korean police action which wrecked 140,000 young American bodies and uprooted millions more. The overall stupid policy of these post World War II administrators has cost us over one billion people and 23 countries lost to the Communists.

In the dramatic words of Ralph McGill now "a tortured man, fearful of his nation's security, can speak." You, Vets, here on the campus should find these articles interesting.

As you read of the struggle between our professional soldiers and our professional politicians, ask yourself the questions: "Where will our next Pusan perimeter be? Will it be at the Mississippi River, or the Appalachian Mountains?" And, "How many times more will I be called out for police action?"

GTC is Host To Art Confab

Members of a special study committee on art education in Georgia arrived at Georgia Teachers College Thursday evening, January 26, for a two-day conference to last through Saturday.

The group was invited to the GTC versus Quantic Marines basketball game on Thursday evening. They were then extended an invitation to a social hour at the home of Dean and Mrs. Paul Carroll.

On Friday, the committee began the day with a brief meeting in the Ad Building, then went to the industrial arts building to observe classes and work being done there. Following this, observations were arranged for the committee to view art guidance and instruction in the Marvin Pittman School. This gave the group a chance to study elementary art work supervised entirely by the classroom Teachers.

Examinations of teaching methods and of art work done by pre-school children was made available in the Georgia Teachers College Nursery School.

At 10:30 a. m. another meeting was held, followed by a visit to the art department. Here they watched students work on posters for the coming Beauty Revue, among other things.

After lunch, conferences were held by the group to discuss various aspects of the study being conducted.

A meeting will be held Friday evening at 7:30 p. m. at the home of Miss Roxie Remy, at 4 Preetorius street. The final portion of the committee's visit will come with a meeting on Saturday at 9 a. m. in the East Hall Lounge.

Broucek Again Directs Many Music Clinics

Jack Broucek, assistant professor of music at Georgia Teachers College conducted piano clinics in Griffin and Cartersville on January 14 and 21. Sponsored by the Georgia Music Educators Association and the State Department of Education, the clinics are the second and third to be directed by Mr. Broucek this year.

In each case, Mr. Broucek's music clinic included divisions in band, chorus, elementary school music, and piano. Each division was under the supervision of some outstanding person in that field.

A few students who had exhibited a high degree of musicianship were selected from each school in that district to perform in a demonstration group. Such a group was conducted in each division to acquaint the teachers with new methods and materials for use in their classes.

The clinics are an annual affair in preparation for the regional music festivals held every year. Each region is comprised of two districts and includes hundreds of young musicians who come to perform in these festivals. Mr. Broucek has been asked to judge the piano divisions of regional music festivals to be held at Douglas and Gainesville in February. On the 21st of this month he will direct another piano clinic. Set up under the same plan as the three previous ones, this clinic will be held at Cartersville, Georgia.

Brigham Young Selects Knowlton For Spokesman

Dr. Clark S. Knowlton, a member of the GTC social science department, has been selected to represent the president of Brigham Young University at the inauguration of the new president of the University of Florida February 16-17.

Dr. Knowlton is a graduate of Brigham Young and a close friend of the BYU president. College presidents from all over the United States are invited and if they cannot attend the ceremony, they may send a personal delegate to represent them.

Brigham Young is located in Utah, and the president of the University felt that it would be best for one of his former students in close proximity to Florida to represent him.

Faculty Group To Career Day

Dr. Georgia Watson will be the representative at "career day" programs next Thursday and Friday at Moultrie, Cairo, and Albany. And on the same days Dean Carroll will represent GTC at Hapeville, College Park, and Russell.

Roy F. Powell will attend the "career day" program at Thomas, Lavonia, and Elberton, Feb. 6-7-8, and Miss Viola Perry will catch the program in Augusta February 10.

"Career day" programs make it possible for college representatives to interview high school seniors. As many as 60-75 colleges in this and nearby states send representatives to the programs scheduled above.

DON FLANDERS, senior music major, was featured today in a tympani solo, "Tympendium" at the regular assembly period at Statesboro High during the GTC band's performance at the school.

Girls Asked Not To Invite Guests

Due to the crowded conditions in the various dormitories, women students are urged not to invite overnight guests in their respective halls. Of course, if no other accommodations can be made, the hostess of the guest is requested to notify the House Director at once and make plans together for the visit of the guest.

As all students know, linens are not provided for guests by either the college or the house director. Any women students who will not be on campus Homecoming weekend and are willing to have their rooms used are urged to leave their names with their house director.

Campus Column

By STAR WOODARD

This is Religious Emphasis Week and many inspirational activities are planned. I hope all of us are taking advantage of the opportunities, even if it does mean giving up a few extra winks in the morning.

The campus expresses its deepest sympathy to Mickey Webb on the death of her father.

In years to come, I shall think back on my college days at GTC many, many times but I know that there is one thing that shall put a lump in my throat no matter how many times it enters my mind and that is the spotlight placed on our flag with the band playing "The Star Spangled Banner" at the beginning of every basketball game. This is really a beautiful thing and I hope it becomes a tradition on the GTC campus.

Mary Jane Harper, Ludie Langham, "Dum-Dum" Usry, and Ann Johnson were the guests of Punky Allen over the weekend.

Puns Anyone?

Someone was talking about the movie "Lady Godiva" in East Hall parlor the other night and "Bo" Warren turned to his Shirley and said, "the only reason I can think of her doing that was because she wanted to ride 'bare back'." That's a pretty good one, "Bo."

Barbara McAfee visited Betty Watson in the large city of Metter last weekend and she declared she was completely lost in that metropolis.

All I want to know is where did they conjure that color of yellow they are using to paint the inside of the Ad Building? Oh, well, we can say one thing about the color—it's very different and I bet we have the only Ad Building in the country painted that shade.

The Saturday night game was a thriller, but we had to up and lose the one Monday night by only three points.

Lost Student?

Say, Teasley, where did you spend the weekend or should I say with whom did you spend the weekend? Glad you had a fine time, but don't make it a habit or we'll lose you to the University of Georgia, sure as shootin'!

There is a rumor floating around campus that the combo dance this Saturday night is going to be a good one, so how about let's all go to see if there's any truth in it.

See ya later, Alligator!

Dr. Park Heads Study Committee

Dr. J. D. Park, director of teacher education, will head a special committee of educators studying the ten-point education program of the Georgia State Chamber of Commerce.

This particular program is aimed at doing something about the teacher supply situation in the state, and this special committee of Georgia educators is to determine whether the desired results are being obtained.

The Chamber of Commerce embarked upon the program as a long-range plan to encourage college graduates to enter the teaching profession and high school graduates to enter schools and colleges offering teacher training.

The initial phase of the state chamber's program is the naming of outstanding teachers in each local community to be honored at public ceremony.
