Off-Campus Presentation Set For Masquers Production

Masquers will give an off-campus presentation of "The Merchant of Venice" at the Regional Arts Festival in Savannah Saturday afternoon, March 3, according to an announcement by Miss Dorothy Few, play director.

Miss Few has already made plans to take the cast to Savannah for presentation which will be presented arena style at the Savannah Little Theatre auditorium in conjunction with the regional art committee.

The general chairman of the festival stated earlier that this year more emphasis would be placed on the cultural arts of the area, and that spotlighted along with school art exhibits would be exhibitions of drama, music, and ballet.

Logical Choice

Since the GTC Masquers were already at work staging their production of "Merchant" and since the arena staging will require no scenery, the choice of their presenting the play for the conference was a logical one.

Regular rehearsals are in progress as Masquers prepares for this performance along with the three earlier presentations in McCroan Auditorium February 27, 28, and 29. These performances also will be presented arena style with the arena being established on the stage.

Since the audience will sit on all sides of the actors, and since there will be room for only a limited number of seats, all tickets will be sold on a reserved, first-come-first-served basis. Tickets will be on sale next week in the lobby of the administration building, and all students are urged to purchase their tickets early for the performance best suiting their plans. No tickets will be available for sale at the door during the performances.

Masquer committees are making the Elizabethan costumes that provide a colorful addition to the play.

Classroom Plans Await Approval

Preliminary plans for the new classroom building were received from the architect last week by President Henderson. The drawing is posted on the bulletin board in the ad. building.

Dr. Henderson explained that the plans are initial efforts and that some changes may be made before the final plans are approved.

The 300-foot long building, housing the science, home economics, and business education divisions will stretch between the present music education building and the little store and will extend from near the rear of East Hall across the campus almost down to the back street directly in front of the house occupied by Dr. Marshall Hamilton. The building will front toward the music-business building, and will cost approximately $700,000. When construction is started, the back campus street immediately back of the ad. building will be permanently closed.

Last Home Game Of Season To Be Observed As Senior Night

Bus Available To Mercer Game

A big crowd of GTC student rooters at the GTC-Mercer game in Macon on Monday night was the prospect today with the announcement that bus transportation will be available.

Students, men or women, wanting to attend the game are required to sign up for it and pay in advance the transportation fee of $1.30 in the office of the dean of women by noon Monday.

Comptroller Don McDougald said space will be available for about 90 students and that the seats will be taken on a first-come-first-served basis. The GTC bus and two Bulloch County buses are available to make the trip.

The $1.30 fee covers the round trip fare but does not include the price of admission to the game. Student ticket price is expected to be about 50 cents.

According to the arrangements made, supper will be served at 4:15 to those going to the game, and the busses will leave shortly after 4:30.

Men students, of course, may go by car to Macon, but no women will be allowed to go in cars, Dean Helen Duncan pointed out.

Alumni Plan Campus Chapel

A committee to study the development of a program to finance and build an alumni chapel on campus for use by all religious organizations developed from the annual meeting of the GTC Alumni Association.

Two other committees were also formed. One was concerning the ways and means of establishing a graduate program at GTC; and the other, to establish an honorary membership in the Alumni Association.

The board of directors approved a letter of commendation to GTC President Zach S.

Webb Eyed by Olympic Team

Chester Webb has received an invitation to try out for the 1956 Olympic basketball team.

A. C. (Dutch) Lonborg, athletic director at the University of Kansas and in charge of player procurement for the Olympic team, announced this week that try outs will be conducted in New York City from March 26-31.

Lonborg said that Webb would have to sign a statement of his willingness to remain an amateur until the games are held in Melbourne, Australia, in November.

At least two professional teams have indicated their intention to choose Webb in the annual player draft.

Four Players Close Careers

Tomorrow will mark four Georgia Teachers basketball players' last home appearance of their college careers.

It has been officially designated as Senior Night by Athletic Director J. B. Searce.

The opponent will be Piedmont College in the last regularly-scheduled home game of the season.

Four players, Chester Webb of Elberton; Wesley (Buddy) Ward, Harlan, Ky.; Jim Harley, Perry; and Emory Clements, Irwinville; will be making their last appearance on the home floor.

A group of Statesboro townspeople have expressed their intention to hold a banquet in honor of Webb after the season ends. A tentative date of April 10 has been set, with Furman Bisher of the Atlanta CONSTITUTION as the probable speaker. Webb is the only Georgia college player ever to make an All-American first team.

Webb and Ward are currently earning their fourth varsity letters. Harley has three and Clements two. Clements also earned one at the University of Georgia, and Harley played one season at Brewton Parker.

Air Conditioning To Cool Offices And the Library

Things will be cooler around Collegeboro this summer—at least in some places on the campus.

The college is this week advertising for bids on an air-conditioning job for the library, according to Don McDougald, comptroller. The project is to cost approximately $20,000 and will require about 40 tons of air conditioning equipment.

Mr. McDougald announced also that approval has been granted for the air conditioning of the offices on the first floor of the administration building.

Both projects are to be completed by warm weather time.

Dining Hall Solution Effective If Students Desire Solution

It has finally happened! At last a GEORGE-ANNE editor is in a position where he feels he can truthfully say "This is the last editorial on the Dining Hall situation." This sounds unbelievable, judging from the frequency with which this subject has appeared in the paper. Yet the situation has at last reached the point where this statement is more than just wishful thinking.

Early this week, President Henderson and Dean Carroll met with a representative group of students to discuss a possible solution to the problems developing around the dining hall.

In our opinion, the solution seized upon for action is as good a one as could be feasible under existing conditions.

As most students know, after the House Council meetings last night, a new method of entering the dining hall will become effective Monday night. The back door will again be used, and students will be issued numbered discs as they form a line at the door. These discs must be turned in at the serving table in consecutive order. That is, number 30 will not eat before number 16, etc.

It is hoped and firmly believed that this system will eliminate the pushing and shoving, since no one will be served unless he is in correct order.

Students are urged to comply with this plan and form a single line without the congestion around the door that has been evident in the past.

Persons not complying, in our opinion, are not mature enough to be called college students and should be denied the privilege of eating in the dining hall and living on campus. Such action must be taken if some individuals persist in disobeying the rules of common courtesy.

It's about time students stopped acting like kids and demonstrated to the world that they are ready to accept their place as mature and responsible citizens. This must be done here and now if it is to be done at all.

Let's make a special effort to comply with this new plan and make it work. It will if YOU want it to.

Webb Receives Another 'First' Honor

Chester Webb has established another Georgia "first" by becoming the only college player ever to be named to the Atlanta CONSTITUTION All-State basketball team four years in a row.

This last achievement in a long line of achievements should be welcomed by GTC students in the same light as others, since this is one more bit of publicity for a great ball player and for the school.

Everyone has been aware of the part Chester has played in getting

Band Scores 'Victory at GTC' Monday

If there was any doubt as to whether this year's concert band is an "improved" one, this doubt should have been allayed by their fine performance in Monday's assembly.

Never in the past few years has a GTC band presented such an enjoyable assembly program, with the quality of music on such a professional level. If this performance is any proof of the quality of music presented by the band in off-campus con-state-wide recognition for Georgia Teachers College in the last four years, but this year especially, the realization should be greater. Tomorrow night is the last regularly scheduled home court appearance for Chester and three of his teammates. With the approach of this final date, students should stop to consider just what the team, and especially Chester, have contributed to college life.

Awareness of this contribution should be made evident at tomorrow's game, by strong student tribute to the graduating seniors for a job well done.

certs, then the band members have firm justification for feeling proud of their efforts.

More than this, the student body can entertain a feeling of pride in the knowledge that when the band represents the college off campus, the representation will be admirably conducted. The GEORGE-ANNE staff congratulates the definitely "improved" band, and wishes them continued success in their remaining performances.

Homecoming Has Only One Drawback

Homecoming has come and gone, and the general consensus of opinion is that the celebration this year is among the most successful ever staged at GTC.

The Beauty Revue initiated the weekend activities in such manner that dared complaints to be voiced.

Saturday morning's activities moved smoothly with constructive measures developing from the alumni meeting.

Even the weather cleared up in preparation for the Parade of Floats, which showed a fine spirit of cooperation among various campus organizations.

Only one thing was degrading to the college in all the festivities that took place. The topic in mind should have been obvious to anyone viewing the parade.

The Statesboro High School band was presented in its best light with shining new uniforms; the band from Jeff Davis High School was presented in its best light with shining new uniforms; but what about the GTC band? Was it presented in its best light? Maybe not, but it was presented in its best uniforms.

Yes, those worn and faded, mismatched and outdated uniforms were the best face that could be presented by the college band.

When will we wake up to the fact that no matter how "improved" a band is in quality of music, it is just not a band to be remembered with pride unless it looks the part of a proud organization. Only new uniforms can give the band this look of pride.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We have read with increasing amusement the agonized cries of Mr. Fayssoux regarding freedom of the press.

To such people, the printed word seems deified and infallible—in other words, above and not subject to the law.

We admit this emotional appeal for one of our basic freedoms tears at the heart-strings, just as it is intended to do. The Hursts and Garisons are casually mentioned as exceptions to the rule, while newspapers bear the brunt of the burden of man's progress to Utopia. However, we believe this Utopia has been somewhat distorted by the profit factor. Yellow journalists, professional race agitators, and professional South haters are interested in sales—not truth or enlightenment.

News is interpreted to fit the cause. Like for instance, mob violence—Tech's mob were martyrs in the crusade, whereas the mob of the University of Alabama were uncivilized infidels.

Newspapers scream that Georgia's trivial Libel Law violates the Constitution while they ignore or condone the flagrant violation of the Federal Constitution by the Supreme Court wherein they attempted to legislate by decree.

It is the apex of weird idealism to think newspapers are guided by morals—and equally as ridiculous to reason that the libel should be allowed to apologize and have more than one chance, whereas the arsonist or murderer has only one chance. This evil should be regulated at its source for the good of society just as other profit making corporations.

We believe most of these impassioned outbursts have been vain attempts at sensationalism by the pedants. It seems to be a mark of culture and enlightened gentility these days to meekly accept the dictates of the printed word regardless of the source.

We do not argue on the constitutionality of the Georgia Libel Law. However, we believe all irresponsible newspapers should be regulated more stringently by applicable laws. We do not believe newspapers should be allowed to stand behind the sanctuary of the shibboleth of freedom of speech and willfully distort truths. This is an inexcusable abuse of this sacred privilege. Our sentiments are expressed by these words of a Georgia publisher: "I am not afraid to defend myself in any court, anywhere, anytime, for I print the truth in my paper."

ON THE NAACP

By BRITT FAYSSOUX

Every minority group that feels it is in an inferior position (although it may not be) develops an organization to fight for equality. The most important of these organizations in the United States today is the NAACP. Ironically enough it was founded by a group of white people.

The NAACP has become anathema in the South, and not without good reason. It is intensely dedicated to the attainment of complete social equality for the American Negro. This is to be accomplished at any cost.

The cry goes out: equality for the Negro! Caution and good sense are to be thrown to the wind. It matters not if both Negro and white are harmed. The purpose of the NAACP must be accomplished as quickly as possible for the good of humanity.

This is a familiar line. Where have we heard it before? It is the same line used by the Facists and Communists. Whenever it has been used before democracy has been weakened, and that is what is happening today. Democracy and national unity will suffer because of the extremist actions taken by the NAACP.

We see the same violent techniques of the Facists and Communies being used: the big lie, misrepresentation of facts and malicious propaganda.

The organization is well organized with a well trained staff of lawyers, journalists, and field workers. These people are as fanatically dedicated to their cause as any Facist has ever been.

They are thoroughly convinced that any means justifies the end. The recent case of Atherine Lucy at the University of Alabama is an example. School authorities at the university were convinced that to maintain peace and order the girl should withdraw from school. With reckless abandon the NAACP demanded that she remain in school, although it might endanger both her life and the life of others. Their reasoning: If she remains without trouble we win a victory and if she's harmed we gain a martyr. Either one will do, it's for the cause. They fail to realize that this type victory will be a hollow meaningless one where no one is really the winner.

What the NAACP doesn't seem to realize is that their techniques are self-defeating. They are driving all Southerners into violent opposition to their cause.

The most unfortunate aspect of the whole thing is that in the end both innocent Negroes and whites will suffer.

Inquiring Reporter

By ELLEN BLIZZARD

Homecoming is over now, and we have just the scars of hard work and the memories seeing old friends again, plus seeing the college in an entirely new light. Curious to know just how one of the biggest weekends affects people I have asked a number what Homecoming meant to them or how they enjoyed Homecoming.

James Jones—I thought it was very nice. It was the best one I have ever seen. I think we should have more floats. Though Homecoming was very good, there could still be more participation. Also, the hour extension for the girls resulted in having a larger crowd remain to the end of the dance and made it more fun.

Sue Whaley—Homecoming was a wonderful weekend, when I could forget for a while about studying that needed to be done! Besides, it was so good to see old friends and have fun with former classmates.

Vandora Lanier—I think that more people should take part in Homecoming events, especially those taking place in the daytime. It was an enjoyable event and probably would have been better if more alumni had been present. The active clubs did a wonderful job.

Virginia Smith—I thought it was wonderful. It was a lot of hard work getting ready for it; but after it was over, we could look back and say that it was worth it because more students stayed on campus this weekend and participated in activities. Everyone showed a lot of good sportsmanship.

Beverly Peavy—I think the weekend was spectacular. It was a very interesting weekend. The Art Club should be commended on the fine job they did on the Beauty Revue.

Gene Rachels—I think the activities were wonderful. I really enjoyed it. I believe the dance was one of the finest activities we had. They were all real good.

Dick Lipscomb—Being a newcomer to this campus, it meant only an extra full weekend of social events. I was impressed with the way the majority of people helped to make it the success it seemed to be.

Guy Thompson—Homecoming to me was a wonderful experience. I was surprised at the number of students who stayed over to help make "Homecoming Day, 1956," an experience to be remembered. I think after the terrific ball game Saturday night, the number of students staying on campus for Homecoming will be even larger next year.

Martha Tinker—This year's Homecoming was to me much better than last year's maybe because I was more a part of the activities and I really was more interested in it and in GTC than I was last year. I felt proud to be a part of everything—the Beauty Revue, the game, and the dance; and I believe if we could keep more of the Homecoming spirit all year, we'd go a long way towards making GTC like we all keep hoping it could be.

Shaw Chorale Plays to Full Audience Wed.

The world famous Robert Shaw Chorale and Concert Orchestra held a packed house spellbound Wednesday night in McCroan Auditorium.

The clear, vibrant tone quality of the group and the delicate point of balance of the over-all sound made this concert a rare delight.

Under their dynamic conductor, Robert Shaw, the group opened their program with Mozart's "Requiem Mass in D Minor" for solo quartet, chorus and orchestra. The deeply religious atmosphere was effectively painted from quiet Requiem aeternam, "Rest eternal grant unto them," to the majestic sanctus, "Holy, Lord God of Hosts." One of the most impressive examples of the blending of chorus and orchestra in the Requiem was in the Confutatis, "When the damned... to piercing flames was sent."

The Echo Song

The second portion of the program began with the bell-like effects of "The Echo Song" by Orlando di Lasso. In this charming piece, the music seemed to be bouncing airily from hill to hill by the perfect control of the chorus.

Also outstanding in this group were "Christ Rising Again" by Byrd, in which the soft beauty seemed to blossom into happiness; and "Fa Una Canzona," by Vecchi, a lilting Italian song about love and music.

The fourth section included the colorful baritone singing of Demy Trevor in "The Lark" by Copland; and the irresistible Gershwin music in a scene from "Porgy and Bess." This latter piece was one of the most popular on the program and featured a number of soloists from the chorus.

Novelty Numbers Enjoyed

As encores, the group performed Brahms' Liebeslieder Waltzes, and a number of novelty numbers which everyone enjoyed.

Speaking to some of the music classes earlier in the day, Mr. Shaw revealed that his organization works on the theory of a balanced tonal projection as a group, creating one perfect sound. In order to achieve a complete oneness of tone, he arranged his chorus in quartets of soprano, contralto, tenor, and base, instead of the usual grouping of all of each voice in one group. Another practice towards this aim is the requirement that all members of the group perform from a full score

BOB BELTON, sadder but wiser . . .

Bold Statement About Cigar Gets Belton in Hot Water

"Never make a bold statement unless you're sure you will never have to go through with it," is the philosophy Bob Belton is handing out these days.

There are a lot of humorous things that happen on trips the basketball team take; but needless to say, the best joke of all ended in the above picture at Homecoming.

Have you ever heard of a game called "Rhythms"? It is a game in which a group of people sit and make rhythm with their hands while calling certain names such as cars, soap, states, etc.

The particular game in which Belton lost his pride happened on the trip up to Newberry and Erskine. The category in which the incident happened was rather than having only their own parts before them.

In the performance, Mr. Shaw had two Hi-Fi speakers connected to the piano and organ and placed in the back on either side of the stage. This allowed the chorus to hear the accompaniment all around them instead of only from one direction. It also gave the audience a more balanced effect.

cigars. Buster Cartee said "Blue Ribbon Cigars" and Bob challenged him, saying that he did not believe there was such a brand. Belton could not stop there; he had to go and say that if there were such a brand, he would smoke it at the homecoming game on the bench. Little did he know there was such a brand of cigars and that he would end up smoking it.

To make sure that Belton got his cigar, Buster said, "I will call home and tell them to send me a box." Neither of them knew that before we got home, we were going to run up on a box of Blue Ribbon Cigars.

This happened in Augusta. We stopped at a truck stop and we had no sooner walked in the door when we saw a big box of "that kind" of cigars. Coach Scarce immediately bought three of them and told Bob that he was going to smoke one of them on Saturday night and start running laps on Monday.

Well, that's the end of the story and when we went on the trip to Florida this past week a funny thing happened. Everytime the category cigars came up, Bob Belton was always first to sing out "Blue Ribbon."

Janice Mayers Is Crowned Miss TC for 1956

Janice Mayers, 18-year-old freshman beauty from Brunswick stepped from a huge blue shell to be crowned "Miss TC of 1956" in the 10th annual Beauty Revue, held here February 10.

Escorted by Emory Clements, Miss Mayers waltzed off with top honors in the Art Club's beauty revue production, "Pearls of the Sea." She was crowned by Diana Bair, last year's queen, marking this as the second straight year for a freshman to win the honor.

The new queen has long blond curly hair and big blue eyes. She is 5'5" tall, weighs 122 pounds, and has vital statistics of 35-24-35.

Alumni Judges

Wearing a dress she designed herself, Miss Mayers floated on stage to be judged on general appearance, poise, stage presence, and personality, with a possible rating of 1-5 in each class. The three judges, Dan Biggers, William Pharis, and Mrs. Reba Barnes, were all alumni members who had been on hand for beauty revues of several years ago.

Also rated in the top five contestants were: Shirley Rountree, who came in second; Martha Tinker, third place; Cathy Holt, fourth place; and Mary Tippins, fifth place.

The Art Club presented each of the five finalists with a bouquet of white carnations and chrysanthemums attached to a spray of dried seaweed covered with silver glitter. Miss GTC was also given a silver charm bracelet bearing a medallion inscribed "Miss TC—1956."

Winner's Dress

Miss TC's dress was made of white nylon tulle, with 2-inch ruffles covering the full length skirt. The strapless bodice had insets of white lace on the top, with pink satin petal effects along the bust line. The pink satin idea was repeated in two wide panels in the skirt. She wore long white gloves, and as a finishing touch, pinned a gold good-luck charm from her escort inside the dress.

Miss Mayers is not new to GTC audiences, having made her debut here last quarter in the Masquer's production of "Stage Door." Among her other interests are swimming, horseback riding and poetry. She is taking a two-year business course at Georgia Teachers College.

The theme of the Beauty Revue, "Pearls of the Sea" was most effectively carried out in the settings of the three scenes: "Sand and the Surf," "Beneath the Sea," and "Pearls of the Sea." Gail Costin, master of ceremonies, read a script written especially for the occasion by Carlton Humphrey.

Risers, Chairs Assist Aud. In Keeping Pace

Keeping pace with the growth that is advancing all over campus, the McCroan auditorium stage has been permanently equipped with risers and a set of 60 steel folding chairs.

The chairs were obtained several weeks ago, but the risers, GTC's first, arrived Wednesday afternoon, just in time to be set up for the Robert Shaw Chorale performance.

Built at a cost of over $600, the new risers will be used principally for musical organizations, and for arena style dramatic productions. This addition not only allows the audience to see more, but gives greater sound projections to any group.

The risers were built in 15 sections on three levels, and were designed to fit the concert band. Eighty musicians with instruments can now be seated.

Chemistry And Sports Are Hanner's Favorites

By JO ANN PARKER

For William S. Hanner's inquisitive mind and love for people, a combination of sports and chemistry is the perfect solution.

Although born in Conway, Arkansas, the GTC professor attended Union University in Tennessee, where his love for sports found him going out for football, basketball, and track.

He took time out to spend two and one-half years in the Navy, then returned to school. After receiving his BS degree from Union University, he played professional baseball for two years in the Kitty League of Tennessee. Following this, he taught high school at Jackson, Tennessee, where he coached. Later he became coach at Bethel College in McKenney, Tennessee. Returning to school once more, Mr. Hanner was granted his MS degree from Peabody College in Tennessee in 1930.

The fall of that year brought the instructor to Georgia Teachers College for the first time, where he became assistant professor of chemistry. Later, when the college was set up under the University system, he became head of the science department.

Although he knew little about the state before coming to GTC, he found it to be the very spot in the United States that suited him exactly, for several reasons. First, he found that all the talk about Georgia peaches was true, especially about one particular teacher here. They got married and raised a son, bringing us up to date, where we find Mr. Hanner the proud grandpa of a four-month-old baby boy.

Likes People

The Professor also likes Georgia because of its hospitable people, the varied and beautiful types of land found here, and because of the pleasant climate. He is especially fond of GTC because of its "substantial growth" and the "spirit of democracy" found here.

Miracles never cease. Our "TC" men are finally coming out in Bermudas! If you were at supper last week you undoubtedly saw two of our men in this attire (how could you have missed them?). The color... red plaid!! If you didn't see them you certainly missed something. Here's hoping more of our men will come out in Bermudas.

There is still a slight nip in the air but the idea of spring fashions is beginning to show already. Many of our women students have been wearing Italian T-shirts over their wool skirts. Believe it or not, it is really a good fashion note.

Have you noticed the shoe advertisements in the papers lately? Well, just in case you haven't, it seems that decorations on shoes are on the backs. It seems that when a shoe designer designs shoes he doesn't think of how it will look on a size five foot but a seven, seven and a half, or eight. So if your feet are seven, seven and a half, or eight don't feel at all bad because it's your foot that is the average size, not the usual size five, five and a half, or six.

Dusters are definitely oriental this coming spring. Straight lines with Chinese splits up the sides! I think everyone is trying

Head of the GTC science department, Mr. Hanner first became interested in chemistry because of what he terms the "Philosophy of Nature." This theory holds that "The forces of nature are always striving to create a system which works toward harmony, balance, precision, semetry, and rhythm." He realized early in life that this balance was part of everyone's health, happiness, and future progress, and that the entire group was based on the principles of chemistry.

Sportsman

Mr. Hanner's chief interests outside of chemistry include sports and salt-water boating and fishing. As chairman of the GTC Faculty Athletic Committee, his wide knowledge of sports is put to good use in helping formulate policies for the various teams. With boating first choice among his hobbies, and salt-water fishing running a close second, we are not surprised to find that Mr. Hanner spends many weekends at his seacoast cottage, a few miles from Crescent, Georgia.

BACHELORS WIN

Last Sunday afternoon our campus bachelors took a tour of Savannah at the expense of the Jewish Educational Alliance 75-66. Billy Hobbs and Jim Long shared the spotlight for our locals with 17 points each. Palefski was high for the JEA with 22.

There are a few earring tips: Dangling earrings should be worn with long hair and small earrings worn with short hair. It seems that clamp earrings are definitely putting the "screw-on type" out of style. That's all for this week.

Henderson Says Homecoming Most Successful

GTC officials feel that last week's Homecoming program was one of the most successful ever held on the campus.

President Henderson was pleased with the whole week-end of activities, he said, and Dr. Georgia B. Watson, the overall program planner for Homecoming, says she feels it was a big success.

The Beauty Revue Friday night played to a standing-room-only crowd as did the Mercer-GTC basketball contest Saturday night. Possibly one of the biggest crowds of all times attended the alumni dance Saturday night in the old gym.

After getting off to a windy start, the Saturday afternoon parade was held without mishap, showing off 14 colorful floats.

ANNIVERSARY. Coach J. B. Scarce celebrates his 300th basketball coaching victory by cutting a cake with 300 candles. Helping him celebrate are starters Garland Campbell, Bo Warren, Doug Corry, Chester Webb, and Don Wallen. The victory came at the expense of Rollins Monday night.

Saturday night, Piedmont will bring to our campus the "Pride of North Georgia" in the form of Maxie Skinner. Skinner, who is sixth in the nation in scoring, scored 46 points a few weeks ago when Piedmont upset GTC at Demorest. Coach Searce has worked the team hard this week and has come up with a special defense for Mr. Skinner. Searce says, "If Skinner scores 30 points against us Saturday night, he will have worked for every one of them. Frankly, I don't think that he will get that many."

The Cheerleaders did a fine job at the Mercer game, as they have been doing all year long. Some people think that leading cheers is easy but our cheerleaders put a lot of time into practicing yells and when it comes time for a game, they give all they have. We have the cheerleaders and now all that we need is some students that will open their mouth and cheer.

Last Sunday, on our way to Rollins, we passed through a town in Georgia that had a big sign advertising to people that they were entering the nation's number 1 speed trap. You guessed it—Ludowici—as you might already know, that is the home of Bo Warren. Bo said, "Ludowici is the only town in the United States that has the city limit signs back to back."

The grapevine has it that if Coach Clements does not find a lefty to help out with the pitching, he may have to call on outfielder Dave Esmonde for mound duties. My opinion is that if Dave can throw strikes as well from the mound as he does from the outfield, then he will be all right.

Too bad Coach Searce was not able to be with the team at Rollins Monday night. He picked up his 300th college coaching win with some fine assistance from Ralph Cartee Jr. Coach Searce was called back to Statesboro Sunday night because his wife underwent an emergency operation. Buster Cartee took charge of the team and did an excellent job of directing the Professors to their 16th victory in 22 starts. Cartee's coaching record now stands at one win and no losses.

The basketball team spent Monday morning in the orange grove of "Doc" O'Brien. Mr. O'Brien is the owner of a drug store in Winter Park, Fla., and is a graduate of Georgia Teachers College. Each year, when the team goes down to play Rollins, he invites them out to his grove and tells them to "pick all they want."

The Veterans' basketball team is still undefeated in the Statesboro League. Their latest victory came Tuesday night, when Brooklet fell 55-51. The Vets, who are defending champions, are a chinch to capture the title again this year.

Are you thinking of becoming a basketball official? If you have the following attributes, you will be the best in the business. Are you a man with—speed of Man O' War to keep up with the pace of modern basketball; the brains of Einstein to absorb all the intentions of the rules committee; the skin of a crocodile to take the riding that you will get from the crowd and bench; the diplomacy of Cordell Hull to keep everyone happy.

DOES HUMP CAMPBELL have long arms? Does Doc Green like to eat? Campbell (No. 23) is caught in the act of tipping in a basket against Mercer despite the efforts of Mercer's Cary Moore (No. 12). GTC's Don Wallen (No. 11) looks on.

Dunkel System Will Determine Tourney Field

The Dick Dunkel rating system will determine the tourney field to compete here on March 2-3 for the right to represent Georgia and Florida at Kansas City March 2-17.

Tonight's play will be the last which will apply toward the Dunkel ratings to be published on February 20.

Ratings of Monday, February 13 follow:
GEORGIA TEACHERS ..... 55.2
Stetson ..... 50.7
Rollins ..... 38.2
Mercer ..... 38.1
Tampa ..... 32.8
Florida Southern ..... 31.3
Piedmont ..... 28.9

The accuracy of these ratings is sometimes unbelievable. On February 13, the day these ratings were published, GTC defeated Rollins 93-76, exactly 17 points as the rating predicted.

If the present rankings remain the same, GTC would play Mercer and Stetson would face Rollins in the first round on March 2.

Chester Webb Is All-State Choice

Chester Webb has been named to the All-State Basketball team for the fourth consecutive year, according to an announcement yesterday from Furman Bisher, sports editor of the Atlanta CONSTITUTION. The announcement came in the form of a telegram sent to Joe Axelson, GTC athletic publicity director.

The telegram stated: "I take great pleasure in informing you that Chester Webb has become the first player ever selected to the Atlanta CONSTITUTION'S All-State basketball team four years in a row by our board of coaches. Please congratulate him, Coach J. B. Searce, and the Georgia Teachers College student body and confer upon him officially this honor at the game with Piedmont Saturday evening."

"At the same time I delegate you to make official announcement of the selection of Maxie Skinner of Piedmont to the All-State team again and to extend to him our congratulations. Certificates will be mailed to both players at a later date."

Intramural Play Features Fast Pace and Close Games

The final two games of last week's intramural play were postponed until Thursday afternoon and evening. In the daylight affair, the junior Purple team came out victorious over a freshman Green five 78-45. The freshman team failed to have five players available and played throughout the contest with borrowed men from the junior squad. Marvin Vanover led the victors with 24, while Norman Sutton and Sonny Stephens shared honors with 12 each for the losing cause.

Purple: Vanover 24, Myers 18, Davis 16, Lee 12, King, Cates, Meadows and Walton 2.

Night play exhibited a close contest with the sophomore Reds struggling to the front 56-53 over a much improved freshman White team. Coach Lowell Russell was high for the winners with 20 points. While Sonny Godfrey led his losing Whites with 18 points.

Reds: Russell 20, Wilkes 13, Highsmith 8, Rainey, Johnson 4, Woods 3, Hancock, Dixon 2.

Whites: Godfrey 18, Clark 15, Hodges 12, Flournoy 4, Thomas, Jenkins 2.

Play resumed Monday afternoon with the Sophomore Blues winning out over the junior Golds 59-54. This game was a tight one with the lead changing hands thrice. Sonny Reddish was high for the sophomore five while Franklin Smith topped the losers.

Blue: Reddish 24, Collins 11, Jackson, Carerett 10, Thomas, Brantley 2.

Gold: Smith 12, Denham 10, Brooks, Mathis, Ward 8, Carrett 6, King 2.

MAXIE SKINNER, Piedmont's high scoring ace will be the main headache of Searce and company tomorrow night. Ranked sixth among small college scorers, Skinner was one big factor in his team's upset victory over the Profs early this season.

VET'S CORNER

By BODIE BOATRIGHT

In case you vets haven't heard, you will not have to have your Georgia drivers license changed of re-issued. But if you are married, it will cost you money. The old Nag's license will cost you 50 cents. (Whether or not she is worth it is left to your discretion.)

And here's a word for the rich. Veterans' benefits are tax free, so don't include these in your income tax returns. I heard a professor say the other day that vets' subsistence payments were a good example of federal aid to education. Personally I like to phrase "payment on account" better than "aid."

I'd like to hand out a few words of praise to some of the fellows who were responsible for our excellent float in the Homecoming parade. Charles Lindsay deserves special mention, along with Sammy Powell, Larry Hyde, Bob Fuqua, and Yogi Reeves. Well done Yogi! Now you can get back to more serious matters. Incidentally, I'd cut the deck everytime. You can't trust anyone these days.

And while we are handing out bouquets, here's a special one to Al Norman for introducing the theme of our float and supplying us with all the necessary information. And here's to the fellows on the float—Larry Hyde, Gene Rachels, Johnny King, etc. Also, the girls, Dale Warnock and Martha Evans. You gals added the finishing touches, and how!

At our regular meeting we definitely set the date of the oyster roast for Friday night, February 24, at Marsh's pond. The cost is 50 cents stag and one dollar drag—which is very reasonable when considering the cost of purchasing and preparing said oysters. Oh yes, the names of all girls living on campus that have been invited MUST be turned in to either Bob Fuqua or Lewis Strickland at least FOUR days before the function in order that they may clear with the powers that be. Only those vets who have made a complete or partial payment of their dues will be invited to attend.

A new constitution was drawn up by the Vets Club and adopted at our last meeting.

There is one particular clause in it that is of interest to all of us. " . . . And a person who is absent from three consecutive meetings is subject to dismissal upon the recommendation of three-fourths of the members of the club."

I fully endorse this clause. It was not entered into the constitution in a spirit of Coercion, but rather in an attempt to stimulate the interest of the individual members. I am sure we all realize that the spirit and initiative of the composite group is reflected in the spirit and initiative of each individual member. I think we have in Bob Fuqua the finest most capable leader on this campus. We have potentially the strongest club by far on this campus. I think we owe Bob and the club our wholehearted support.

All of the above has been approved by Mose Bass, who is ex-officio member of all committees and departments in the club.

GTC Graduate On Maneuver

Pvt. James R. Mock, 1954 graduate from Colquitt, is taking part in the Army's Alaskan "Exercise Moose Horn" in the Big Delta area, 165 miles from the Arctic Circle.

During the four - week maneuver, several thousand troops will receive practical training in tactical operations and cross-country movement under simulated combat conditions. Winter temperatures in the region drop to about 50 degrees below zero.

Private Mock is regularly assigned to Company H of the 71st Infantry Division's 53rd Regiment at Fort Richardson, Alaska.

Mock entered the army in August 1954 and completed basic training at Camp Gordon.

The 23-year-old soldier was graduated from Georgia Teachers College in 1954. His wife, Linda, is with him in Alaska.

Senior Night

Coach Searce will present each player with an engraved trophy between halves of the Piedmont game.

The game will match the nation's No. 2 scorer against the No. 6 scorer among small colleges. Webb is second in the country this week with 30.8 points per game, and Piedmont's Maxie Skinner is sixth with a 28.2 average.

Piedmont upset the Profs on January 23, 95 to 92 as Webb scored 47 points to Skinner's

Coach Alton (I ain't sayin' nothin') Dews, able mentor of the GTC Vets Club athletic team, teaches fundamentals to one of the Vet's stars, James Moore, before a big contest. Coach Dews says that with his coaching and Moore's determination, he might have a basketball player on his hands. Question now: What to do with him, since the pride of Cone Hall has no experience coaching real players. No matter, for the Vet's Club seems to be winning despite the coaching.

Professors Attend Meet

Dean Paul F. Carroll and Dr. J. D. Park are in Chicago this week attending the annual convention of the National Association of College Presidents, Deans, and Administrative Personnel.

Dr. Park will return this weekend, and Dean Carroll will be back in his office Tuesday after stopping off in Indiana for a visit with his brother who is a member of the English faculty at Purdue University.

IA Teachers Will Be Here

Industrial arts teachers from the first district will be special guests on the campus Saturday and special guests at the Piedmont game Saturday night.

They will be here for a special conference on "The Application of Design to Industrial Arts Projects."

The clinic is being sponsored by the First District Industrial Arts Association.

46 in a fantastic scoring duel.

Webb holds every individual scoring record in the school's history, and at his present rate will reset several new ones. Through 20 games this season he has 615 points, and 2,293 for his career.

Plans Made For Music Festival

The music department of Georgia Teachers College is making plans to play host to the annual Region Five Music Festival to be held March 1-2.

Sponsored by the Georgia Education Association, the festival will include woodwind solos and ensembles, elementary and high school piano solos, brass and percussion solos and ensembles, vocal solos and ensembles, glee clubs, bands, twirling performances, and elementary singing and folk dancing.

Jack Broucek, chairman of the festival, revealed that some 4,252 entries have already registered for the affair. Thirty-four counties will be represented in the competition for ratings during the two days.

This was really a fine weekend, wasn't it? I couldn't begin to write all the names of the visitors, ex-students and graduates of GTC that were on campus this weekend.

The ball game was just tops. At the beginning of the game I was sorta worried, but as usual, the Professors pulled through. February 18 will end the games at home for the Profs. They have really played some fine ball and have brought their fans many hours of entertainment.

Ruth Bennett, Avonell Morris, Pat Harkleroad, Sue West and Jimmy White spent the weekend at South Georgia College where they attended the Valentine Dance.

The friends and students of Miss Ella Johnson are very sorry that she broke her wrist. I do believe she is the first person I have seen that can make a sling look pretty by pinning a camellia on it.

That was a fine chapel program the band put on Monday. "Rhapsody in Blue" featuring Mr. Broucek, was one of the most beautiful things I have ever heard. Our hats are off for you, Mr. Bro.

I think that a student center would be one of the best things that could ever happen to this campus. Last Friday I visited on a college campus that had a beautiful student center. It was a place where all the students could get together and dance, play ping-pong, study and just enjoy each other's company. I think that a student center would promote a closer relationship between students; or at least we might have a place that half of us could get in at one time.

On February 3, Collen LaFavor became the bride of Hugh Fleming in Avera. They spent their honeymoon at St. Simons Island. Those attending the wedding from GTC were Janice Miller, Billie Jane Foss and Carlene Usry.

Have a nice weekend and let's all attend our last home ball game. Be seeing ya.
