GTC Gains New Group On Faculty

Fourteen new faculty and staff members completed their first week at GTC today.

Thirteen are replacements filling vacancies occurring at the end of summer school, and one is an addition in the business education division. Ten of the replacements are members of the regular faculty while the other three are part of the administrative staff.

Hayden Carmichael, a native of Harris, Ky., succeeds Dr. John Erickson in the industrial education department. He came here from Fairmont State College in West Virginia where he taught industrial arts for the past eight years. He holds the bachelor degree from Morehead State College in Kentucky, and his master's from Stout Institute, Menomonit, Wisconsin.

Business Ed. Changes

Miss Jane Martin, Atlanta, succeeds Mrs. Ione Wells in the business education division. Miss Martin is a graduate of the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia. She taught last year at South Cobb School at Austell, Ga. In addition to her teaching experience, Miss Martin has worked 4 years as medical and industrial secretary.

Added to the business education division faculty is Mrs. Pat Darley, a 1950 business education graduate of GTC. She is well known around the campus as the former secretary in the office of dean of women and guidance and counseling.

Three replacements provide practically a new faculty in the biology and physics departments of the science division. Tully Pennington, who left here two years ago to do graduate work at Florida State University, returned to his regular work in biology, succeeding Harold Steele. Dr. John Allen Boole Jr., a native of Exmore, Va., joins the science division succeeding Dr. Don Caplenor.

Navy Veteran

A navy veteran, he earned his doctorate degree this summer at the University of North Carolina. From 1951-54 he held a teaching fellowship there. He did his bachelor's work at the University of Virginia and earned his master's degree at VPI.

Fred A. Wallace, a native of Pennsylvania, succeeds Dr. Leland L. Wilson in physics. A commercial photographer as well as teacher, Mr. Wallace holds bachelor's and master's degrees in engineering from the University of Florida. He has taught in several Florida high school systems, at Orlando Junior College, at Appalachian State Teachers College, and at Emory University. Last year he operated a commercial photography business in Jacksonville.

Social Science Changes

Robert David Ward joins the social science faculty as a replacement for Dr. Thomas B. Alexander who is away this year on a Guggenheim Scholarship. Mr. Ward, a native of Montevallo, Ala., holds AB and BS degrees from Auburn and since 1951 has been working on his doctorate at the University of North Carolina. His doctoral study is on Universal Military Training in the United States. In 1952-53 and again in 1954-55, Mr. Ward taught social studies classes at UNC while he was a teaching fellow there. Dr. Weaver, Deepwater, Mo., earned his doctorate degree last March at Colorado State College of Education, Greeley, Col. He did his bachelor's study at Kansas Wesleyan University and his master's work at Colorado State College of Education.

Increase Noted In the Number Of Elem. Majors

Students are rising to meet the increasing demand of teachers of elementary education as shown by the total enrollment of 146 majors in this field. Of this total, approximately 50 are freshmen and transfer students.

The first meeting of the Georgia Teachers College branch of the Association for Childhood Education will be held in room seven at the Marvin Pittman School Wednesday, October 5, at 3:45 p. m. All students majoring in elementary education and anyone interested in working with children from two to 12 years of age are urged to attend. Shirley Scott is president of the club; Pat McCorkle and Libby Ann Martin are in charge of the program.

Miss Bertha Freeman will attend the meeting of the Georgia Committee of the Southern Association's Cooperative Study in Elementary Education of the fifth district GEA and hold a state executive board meeting of the ACE in Atlanta Saturday, October 8 at 10 a. m.

Dr. Henderson Busy Speaker

President Zach S. Henderson spoke Monday night, September 23 at Swainsboro to the Emanuel County Methodist Men's Meeting.

Future speaking engagements are: October 9, Hampsteads Memorial Methodist Church in Columbus, October 16 at the Hill Crest Heights Methodist Church on Laymen's Day, at Warner Robins Methodist Church for homecoming October 30.

Council Sets Weekly Fete

The GTC Student Council for the 1955-56 school year will meet each Monday night at 7 p. m., with all meetings open to the student body according to John Tootle president.

Meeting will be held in the Social science seminar room, and all students wishing to make suggestions or criticism to the council are urged to do so.

Tootle states that a suggestion box will be placed outside the dining hall for those who have any written suggestions to make. It is requested that all suggestions be signed by the contributor.

Harriet Woodward and Clarence Miller have been appointed as new members of the student council in compliance with the council constitution which states that "When a Member at large is unable to serve the person who received the next highest number of votes will serve." The two new members replace Lorene Brown and Larry Evans who did not return to GTC this year.

The present student council is now composed of: John Tootle, senior, pres. Bobby Richards, jr., vice-pres. Cathy Holt, sr., sec.

Dean Paul F. Carroll is the student council advisor.

Elections will be held within the next six weeks to elect two freshmen members to the council, according to the constitution.

TC Enrollment Up 28 Percent With 744 For Fall Quarter

IT'S STRICTLY ROUTINE WITH ME—Says June Kennedy. Dr. Francis Smiley of Savannah is shown administering the coup de grace to Miss Kennedy, and despite the wailings and gnashing (pronounced as in gnu—no gnus is good gnus) of teeth generally at the annual affair, there really can't be much to it. Right freshmen?

An incomplete enrollment of 744 students has given Georgia Teachers College a 28 per cent increase over last year's final fall quarter figure of 584 with still a week to go before the deadline for late registration Monday, October 3.

Mrs. McDougald In Auto Wreck

Mrs. Betty McDougald, wife of Georgia Teachers College comptroller, was involved in an automobile accident in Statesboro yesterday morning at 9:30.

The accident occurred at the corner of Broad and Grady streets. A pickup truck hit the McDougald's late model car on the right side and almost completely demolished it.

Mrs. McDougald was admitted to the hospital and remained overnight for observation. At present it is not believed that any serious injuries were incurred.

Dean Paul F. Carroll said that the increase in enrollment had swelled classes to such a point in a number of cases that extra sections had to be added. He said also that a number of new courses had been added and that certain changes in the curriculum were necessary because of the increased enrollment.

Today's incomplete figure represents an increase of 160 students over last fall quarter. Breakdown according to classes is 286 freshmen, 178 sophomores, 149 juniors, and 131 seniors, according to Miss Viola Perry, registrar.

Creates Problems

The record-breaking enrollment has created several major problems. It has been necessary to "double up" in some of the girls' residence halls, and the overflow of students is temporarily housed in Anderson Hall, formerly reserved for married students, and the home economics home management house.

Third floor of Sanford Hall has been reopened to handle the influx of men students, so the housing problem for men is not critical.

Enrollment figures show a total of 382 women and 362 men, a difference of only 20 more women, a closer ratio between men and women than has been recorded in a number of years. At no time in the history of the college has men outnumbered women.

Larger Than Expected

College officials report that the increased enrollment was expected as a part of the general expansion of institutions of higher learning over the entire country. However, they point out, they figured on an increase of about 20 per cent, so the 28 per cent increase was high above the anticipated figure for the year.

Crowded classroom conditions indicate immediate need of a new classroom building, plans of which are already in progress, with actual construction expected in the near future, according to President Zach S. Henderson. The new building will be located between the library and East Hall, according to present plans.

Expect 1,000 Soon

An enrollment of close to 1,000 students is anticipated within the next three years, according to college officials. The prospect of this increase makes plans for a new women's dormitory mandatory, since the increase this year has already swelled over the normal capacity for the women's dormitories. With the two large men's dorms available, housing for men is of no immediate concern.

Allen Named Masquers Head

Bob Allen has been named president of Masquers, GTC dramatics organization, for the coming year.

Elected to serve with Allen are Shirley Rountree, vice president; Diana Bair, secretary; George Morrell, treasurer; Lewis Strickland, business manager; and Ellen Blizzard, scrapbook chairman.

Allen says that he expects a good year for Masquers since so much enthusiasm has been shown by the members.

Statesboro's Dignitaries Welcome New Students

The mayor of Statesboro and the ministers of the churches of the area officially welcomed Georgia Teachers College students to Statesboro Monday in the first assembly program of the school year.

President Zach S. Henderson presented Mayor W. A. (Bill) Bowen who greeted the students in behalf of what he termed "the best town in the world."

Dr. Henderson then introduced representatives of the area churches. Dr. Leslie Williams acted as chairman for the group to issue special invitations to the students. Most of the churches had special receptions on a denominational basis for the college students last Tuesday night.

Other ministers introduced were Fr. Charles Hughes, Catholic; Rev. John Pridgen, Presbyterian; Rev. W. J. Erwin, Methodist; Rev. Robert E. H. Peoples, Episcopal; and Rev. Joe Grooms, Calvary Baptist. Dr. Williams is pastor of the Statesboro Baptist Church.

The faculty and administrative staff members were also on stage and were presented to the student body. Special music was supplied by Joel Cooper, baritone, who sang "Invictus."

Assembly is scheduled each Monday at 10 a. m. in McCroan Auditorium and students are required to attend. Special programs are arranged each week.

GTC Election Plans Slated

Election of sophomore, junior, and senior class officers for the coming school year is scheduled for Friday, October 7th, according to an announcement by the student council.

Candidates for offices of the three upper classes will be nominated at special meetings to be held this Monday after assembly. Whether to elect three or four officers—a separate or combined office of secretary and treasurer—always optional to each class—will also be decided at the Monday meeting.

In case of a tie in Friday's election, run-offs will be arranged as early as possible the following week.

Regents Approve New Classroom Building

Program For Frosh Begins

The first week of freshman orientation—including the various testing sessions—is past and the regular business of fully acquainting the new students with GTC is underway.

As Dr. Georgia B. Watson, director of counseling and guidance points out, the major objective of orientation is to help the new students learn about the college facilities set up for him.

Although the so-called orientation program in most schools and colleges is taken care of during the first week or so of the new term, GTC has taken a new step in extending the classes throughout the fall quarter. She pointed out that this method is setting a new trend among colleges. Tried here for the first time last fall, the new system proved quite successful.

Classes are scheduled from 10 to 10:30 a. m. and meet three times each week for the first four weeks, twice weekly for the next four, and once a week for the last three weeks.

The special value of the elongated plan, Dr. Watson declared, is that "contact is maintained with the new student throughout his first quarter here."

New Year For Pittman School

The Marvin Pittman School ended the first month of its new school year this week with a final enrollment of 425, Principal J. A. Pafford reported yesterday.

The total figure, which includes 25 in kindergarten and 31 in the senior class, is about the same as last year, he said. There were three new faces on the faculty. (See story on page 1).

No U.S. Vips

By CARLTON HUMPHREY

"Look" Magazine, in its recent issue, ran an article entitled "The World's 100 Most Important People." To this list of VIP's the United States contributed one-third of the total, which reflects the position of the United States in the world today.

In fields of politics, economics, religion, literature, the United States dominated the list. In fact, this was true of all fields of human endeavor except one—EDUCATION!

No U. S. Educators?

The list of important educators made the United States conspicuous by its complete absence! In a country containing more institutions of learning than any other in the world, not one man was found a leader in today's quest for knowledge.

How is it possible that a nation of such prominence in international affairs can be lacking in the one field that is a prerequisite to all other achievement? What has happened to the John Dewey's of our past? Are we lost in the non-essentials of education to the neglect of the important phases of the subject? These and more questions are necessarily of interest to any thinking individual, and more specifically, to all persons who plan to make education their vocation.

During the past years, the big "bogey-man" in the United States has been juvenile delinquency. At present almost one-third of all arrests made in this country are of youngsters under the age of 21. Thousands of books and articles have been written on the subject, causing more talk than any other one problem in recent years.

Delinquency at Fault

Could it be remotely possible that this widespread eruption of juvenile delinquency is due in some measure to the lack of constructive thinking in our educational circles?

This question was posed for thought in the "Look" article, and it appeared that the author was of the belief that there is a positive correlation between the lack of outstanding educational thought and juvenile delinquency.

Maybe the time has come for our leaders in education to stop putting all emphasis on the current "Johnny can read, Johnny can't read" dispute and others of the same worth and get down to some serious thinking into the more grave problem of introducing some new and profound ideas into modern educational practices.

Prominence Won't Last

The United States cannot long occupy its place of prominence in the world if it fails to place one educator on the list of VIP's in the world, especially when the list is tabulated by one of our own citizens with no thought of propaganda involved.

Maybe we who intend to take our places in the educational circles of tomorrow can help solve this dilemma and put the United States back into prominence if we will exert a little effort and THINK!

Letters To The Editor

Editor
GEORGE-ANNE

For the past few quarters the problem of long lines at the dining hall has become worse. This quarter it has reached a point where a remedy is drastically needed. Too much time must be spent waiting around before the dining hall opens. It seems to me that the dining hall should be opened sooner especially at breakfast and at supper. There's too much pushing when the doors do open and too much line breaking on the part of a few people who chatter their way from friend to friend but only toward the front of the line. Of course, I realize there is no method of eliminating the line breaking except making those

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

by Dick Bibler

Welcome Freshman!

Welcome, freshmen, to Georgia Teachers College! For you, this should be an especially significant year, the year you finished high school and entered college. It should be a year of new experiences and new relationships and above all, a year of growth and maturity.

It is the hope and desire of the faculty that each of you will find here the stimulation and challenge you need to further your development in all phases of your thinking and behavior.

The development of your mental and other resources is largely the result of conscious effort on your part to attain some worthy and desirable goals set for yourself. First of all, therefore, you must decide what you want from your college experiences. This you must do for yourself. Then, you should avail yourself of all the resources here to accomplish your purpose.

Individuals get from a situation in proportion to their contributions to it. May each of you make the constructive contribution to campus living of which you are capable and thus insure for your class and yourself a memorable year of achievement.

Sincerely,
PAUL CARROLL, Dean.

The New Cave

This, the first issue of the 1955-56 GEORGE-ANNE, gives rise to the new location in the old gymnasium.

We, the staff, pay our last respects to the "Cave," the birthplace of the GEORGE-ANNE in 1927. We had very little space in which to work, but we leave many memories, both pleasant and unpleasant, to the cobwebs and mosquitoes.

We remember the long hours that we spent each week to give our fellow students a paper. Not to speak of the huge mosquitoes, "Percival," the largest cockroach of all time, and in general, everything.

The GEORGE-ANNE is now housed in the old offices of Coach J. B. Searce Jr. in the old gym. It is much nicer to work in rooms that are painted, good lighting, and less mosquitoes.

Thus we leave "Ye Ole Cave" to begin a new year in a new place and we are anxiously waiting to see what new turns up in the room located downstairs in the administration building labeled "Ye Ole Cave."

EDITOR'S NOTE: All letters to the editor are welcomed and all will be considered for publication. The GEORGE-ANNE staff reserves the right to edit these letters due to a limited amount of space available in the paper.

Names of contributors are withheld upon request of the contributor. All letters are welcome but it is asked that they be limited to a total of 250 words.

Rat Squeaks

By NELLA SHEPPARD

Things really began buzzing around the campus of GTC, especially West Hall, Sunday, September 18. All that could be seen were girls! girls! and more girls!

Of course there were a few people realize they are adults (or are they?). I hope something can be done to make our meals a joy instead of a chore!

—SENIOR STUDENT.

boys scattered here and there around Sanford Hall. After everything was settled and the newly arrived students were just about sure of a place to hit the sack when 10:30 rolled around, it didn't take the occupants of Sanford long to find their way across campus to West Hall. Everybody became acquainted with everybody and so said goodbye to Mom and Dad for the first time for more than a week or two's visit away from home.

Monday was a bright and cheerful day for freshmen—their day at college. It was a day long awaited for by most

Inquiring Reporter

By BUCKY TARPLEY

People have asked, "Why doesn't Georgia Teachers College offer a graduate program?"

The school is big enough but would the graduates of GTC come back here for their graduate work or would they go to another school, perhaps one that is well known for their graduate program.

This reporter has taken it on himself to inquire of some of the seniors as to how they felt about a graduate school at GTC. The question I asked was:

"If Georgia Teachers College offered a graduate program in the fall quarter of 1956, would you enroll, or would you teach for a few years and then come back to GTC for your graduate work, or would you go to another graduate school elsewhere in the state?"

Heyward Gnnann, Waynesboro: "I'm for a graduate course being set up here, and most probably would come back to GTC for my graduate work if the army would leave me alone." John Tootle, Glennville: "If it was offered here at GTC I would get it right here and be tickled to do so."

Bob Sears, Sasser: "No, I would prefer to go to some other school in order to broaden my philosophy." Jean Watson, Dublin: "I would come back next September and start on my graduate program. By then I would have taught school for several months and be ready for my graduate work." Carol Thomas, Waycross: "I would like to go and teach for a few years and then I'd come back to GTC." Betty Horne, Mt. Vernon: "Right now, I believe I'd go ahead and teach for a while. I really don't know what I'd do after that."

of the students. As soon as 5 o'clock came and time for their first dinner on campus together, a "long blue line" was formed outside the dining hall. It was the beginning of initiation for the freshmen "Rats" and their right-hand buddies—the "Rat" Caps.

The most favored question now is, "When is the Big Day?" With such a fine group of good sports, with their wit and humor, it couldn't help but be a day of fun and a day long to be remembered.

Our Enrollment Challenge . . .

The big news at GEORGIA TEACHERS COLLEGE this week is the tremendous enrollment increase.

Including late registrants, the total will probably reach 750 by the cutoff date. This is not a record—in the fall of 1949 the total was 766—but it is a very significant figure when one realizes how few veterans are here now.

Those students who were here last year have immediately noticed the changes. The additional 165 students have overtaxed dormitories, post office and dining hall facilities, parking lots and the narrow streets.

What it means is this—750 students are attending a 600 capacity campus. With the exception of the new gymnasium, nothing is changed. A classroom-laboratory building has been approved, and a student union and girl's dormitory are very badly needed.

However, these three buildings are from two to five years away. The girl's dormitory situation is going to demand the use of private homes as annexes long before five years. Every educational survey predicts a sharp rise in college attendance through 1960. Florida State University at Tallahassee has experienced an enrollment increase from 5,000 to 10,000 students in just two years.

An adjustment in attitudes is necessary—a tolerant appreciation of our growing pains combined with a progressive eagerness to move ahead to the larger enrollment and campus which will permit a wider choice of courses and instructors.

Welcome Newcomers . . .

Each September when the new freshman class enters GTC the welcome mat is thrown out. During the following weeks every effort is made to make the new students a part of GTC life. In all the activity it is often forgotten that there are new members on the faculty. Their period of adjustment is no less difficult than that of entering freshmen. Methods and ways of life at GTC are new to them. They haven't time to worry over their problems because of their work load. However, in all the confusion, they haven't been forgotten.

A campus, to be a good campus, depends upon its students but active faculty members are necessary to make it complete. The sooner the new members of the faculty become a part of the social and academic life of the campus, the greater will be the benefit to the GTC campus.

The GEORGE-ANNE welcomes the new faculty members and hopes that their adjustment to the friendly campus will be made quickly.

Campus Column

By JOANNE HILL

I'm sure there's no need to remind everyone that September's here again! No, it's quite evident that "the" month has arrived. And if you want to be contrary and not believe what I write—just take a gander at all those blue hats that have become the latest "fad" around GTC. Yep, all those "hats" should be proof enough for anyone!

And oh yes! We of the GEORGE-ANNE staff would like to extend a cordial "Hello" and "Welcome" to all freshmen and newcomers. All of you "old" students don't feel like we aren't proud to see you back too! We certainly are. There's nothing that can take the place of a familiar face and smile—even if some of us aren't the best looking things in the world, the sight is still comforting. I'm just kidding of course?

You know, I think the bug stayed extra busy this summer. I'm speaking of the engagement bug, naturally. If you think the college is crowded now, I'd suggest that you hang around a few years (not at GTC all this time, of course). 1975 looks like it might be real crowded.

One thing is for sure! The ole Sweetheart Campus was really jumping last Wednesday night. The freshman class is well stocked with good talent. Yep, even Basin street doesn't have anything on us now.

How about the chow line these days? Doesn't it just kill ya? You don't have to answer that, I agree wholeheartedly that I'd be glad sometimes to take an 'ole cold tater and wait.

I feel sure that most everyone will agree that some of the freshman girls really do deserve to be commended for putting up with their crowded living conditions. It takes three girls with a lot of backbone to share a room as small as those in West Hall.

Say—I've heard it said that the new gym is truly a thing of beauty. The Profs always did make a good showing, but I can hardly wait to see the show they put on when they hit the new hardwood this season.

I was about to forget a very important factor. What is it? Why the GEORGE-ANNE has a new home. Instead of being cramped in the old "Cave" we have a nice, spacy workroom in the old gym.

It seems that a certain someone made a bobble when he was introducing himself to his fellow classmates the other day. He made out just fine until he slipped and said he lived in Lewis Hall. Seems that when he returned to his dorm, someone had a welcome home sign on his door. Don't feel bad, falla, it happens to the best of us. Anyway, it just goes to show what the beginning of school can do for you.

Among the many new faces on campus are those of the new faculty members. We welcome all of them and hope they all have nerves of steel—they'll need it to survive all of these robust students. Right?

Something new has been added. Of course it's to the GEORGE-ANNE. Bob Dixon is adding football predictions to his sports column. Let's see how good he is at this game!

And surely you've noticed the difference in the size of the paper. Much better, don't you think?

This is it for the first edition. See ya' next Friday!

Do GTC Redheads Earn Their Name of 'Hotheads'

One of the features we have noted at GTC during freshman week is the unusual number of redheads, both male and female, now residing on campus.

Remembering the old adage concerning redheads and their fiery tempers we viewed with some apprehension our coming year as a college. Fearful of an uproar at any moment, we checked the facts and tried to prove this saying. In our observation we interviewed a number of the "flames" on the campus. This is what they had to say about their plight:

Sue Ansley: "Redheads have sweet dispositions. That's just an old saying."

DuWard Whelchel: "They aren't as high-strung as other folks."

Juanette Ellington: "Redheads can be mean when they have to be."

Bonnilyn Mixon: "Redheads are just like other people as far as temper is concerned. That old saying is just a lotta bull."

Eulita Carter: "Redheads are like volcanoes—they don't explode very often."

Bob Priestley, the husband of a redhead had this to say: "In my wife's case, she's more even-tempered than I. I fly off the handle more often than she does."

Two of the redheads on our faculty also gave us their views on the subject:

Jane Martin: "I think that redheads are as even-tempered as anyone else."

Betty Sue Rountree: "Frankly, I don't think they're as hot-tempered as most people."

From other sources, but less quotable, we come to the conclusion that redheads are more easily angered than brunettes or blondes. Because they are so often considered fiery tempered they work twice as hard to disprove this theory and are on most occasions even-tempered souls. Let's take a lesson from the "hotheads," face our problems, and do something about them.

GTC Gains-George-Anne Member Of Press Club

During World War II Dr. Weaver was a B-29 gunner. From 1950-55 he was college teacher and supervisor of the campus school at Nebraska State Teachers College, Wayne, Neb.

Three replacements joined the faculty of Marvin Pittman School. Miss Isabelle Cabiness, Maxey, Ga., succeeds Mrs. Mary Owen Bruce as kindergarten teacher. Miss Cabiness is a graduate of the University of Georgia and has taught there in the nursery school. She also has taught in the Fort Benning children's school. Mrs. Leola B. Hardy, who taught last year at Metter, joined the faculty succeeding Miss Ruth Lee in English, math, and social studies. Fred Beverly, principal of Nashville Schools for the past two years, succeeds Miss Elizabeth Kessler in English and math.

Lewis Gets New Mom
Joining the administrative staff as director of Lewis Hall was Mrs. Jeanette McCorkle of Vidalia. She replaces Mrs. Florine Myers who retired at the end of summer school. Miss Penny Allen, Statesboro, is now assistant dietitian, replacing Miss Annie Thompson, who also retired at the end of the summer.

Miss Kirbylene Stephens, Waycross, is the new secretary in the president's office. A 1955 business education graduate, she replaces Miss Tommie Jean Corbett who resigned at the end of the summer to enter graduate school at Emory University.

U. S. Marines To Offer Bars

The Marine Corps officer procurement officer has announced that applications are now being accepted from students who desire to earn a commission in the Marine Corps while completing college.

Freshmen, sophomores and juniors, pursuing a course of study other than pre-medical, pre-dental, theology, pharmacy or music, are being selected for the PLATOON LEADERS CLASS. Law school students are also eligible.

All training is conducted during two six-week summer classes. Candidates receive $160 as pay for the class and $200 for the second class. Uniforms, food and travel allowances are also furnished. Members of the PLATOON LEADERS CLASS are deferred from induction. Commissions are tendered upon graduation from college.

Seniors May Apply

Seniors and graduates may apply for the officer candidate course or the aviation officer candidate course. Commissions are tendered to candidates who successfully complete a ten-week training class after graduation from college. Aviation OCC graduates are assigned to flight training immediately after being commissioned. Mid-term graduates are now being enrolled for classes convening in January and March 1956.

Ground officers are assigned to the Officer's Basic School for five additional months of instruction. Many officers then receive specialist training in various fields including infantry, artillery, tracked vehicles, supply, engineering and others.

Train at Quantico

Training for all programs is conducted at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia. Successful candidates are appointed to commissioned rank in the U. S. Marine Corps Reserve and must agree to serve on active duty for three years.

Anyone interested may see or write to Captain F. R. Hittinger, Jr., officer procurement officer, Room 573, Peachtree-Seventh Building N. E., Atlanta, Ga.

'Up - To - Date'

By MICKIE WEBB

Here we are again, back for another year of classes and activities and also back for another year of fashions.

It's Bermudas everywhere, girls and boys! We don't seem to have boys wearing them; well, at least I haven't seen them. The boys may not approve but the girls really are showing their knees—what am I saying—"not" approve—I should say—the boys really seem to like this new fad. I wonder if we'll be seeing many knee socks this year. They really are wearing them in some places.

Suede is Popular

It's going to be suede jackets everywhere this year—in every color for both boys and girls. The boys especially are going in for the blues and greens. Very nice! Let's not let the gentlemen get ahead of us, girls.

Here's a tip on sweater fashions: the long waisted sweater will be a must in our wardrobe for dress, class and sports. There are found in orlon or wool and in every color.

Italian Sportswear

The magazines have been showing the new Italian look in sports wear. We have the Italian slacks that are fitted around the ankles and the Italian "T" shirts. These shirts have a "split" neck opening and some have a draw-string waist. These are wonderful for wearing around the dorm.

Box suits are stealing the show in fashions this year. Some have plaid jackets and solid skirts and some with solid colored jacket and skirt. These are very pretty.

Colored suede shoes are making a debut this year. They are really going places on the fashion list as well as on our daily schedule.

Pink is the Color

While we are on the subject of colors—did you notice in some of the college issues of magazines where they would have pink shoes, pink hose, pink skirt, pink sweater and pink lipstick? Here's hoping I never actually see any of you dressed as such—but I'll let you know if I do.

So long, see you next week!

A GEORGIA FIRST

Georgia has the largest undrained swamp land in the United States, the Okefenokee Swamp, near Waycross. The region is prolific in unusual vegetation and is the habitat of many species of wild life.

GTC Baptists Enjoy Social

GTC Baptist students and faculty members were entertained by the First Baptist Church at the home of Will H. Woodcock last Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Sue Kirby, music and education director of the Baptist Church, directed the recreation for the evening. The group enjoyed a singspiration led by Stanley Brobston and Dale Turner.

After the blessing by Dr. Leslie S. Williams, the women of the church served a picnic supper to the group.

Questionnaire For Freshmen

In orientation classes earlier this week, freshmen filled out a long questionnaire checking their reasons for choosing to attend GTC.

Although they didn't know it, they were participating in a five-state survey recommended by the American College Public Relations Association, an organization which is trying to determine the factors involved in a student's choice of school. Freshmen in six other colleges in Georgia, and in schools and colleges in Florida, Alabama, South Carolina, and Tennessee filled out the same questionnaire.

A similar survey conducted here last year revealed that most students choose GTC because of its good recommendation from graduates, former students, and friends of the college.

The results of this year's survey will be released in November by the office of public relations.

Senior Girls Get New Mom At Lewis Hall

Through the portals of Lewis Hall, the so-called dignified dormitory, now passes a most charming house director. Yes, you guessed it. She is Mrs. Clifford McCorkle of Vidalia, Georgia, who combines fashion, sincerity, and vivacity in such a manner as to make her a "household favorite" of Lewis Hall girls.

Mrs. McCorkle attended our Alma Mater, GTC. She has two sons, one of whom is married and lives in Chamblee. The other is a freshman at South Georgia College. Although there is not much spare time in the life of a house director, her favorite hobby is cooking.

Mrs. McCorkle told the reporter that most of her life has been spent in being a homemaker. The girls of Lewis Hall feel she is doing an excellent job being a homemaker for 70 of them.

as the new students were greeted in the receiving line.

Miss Helen Duncan, dean of women, was in charge of the program.

Changes Made In the Dept. Of Social Science

For the information of our new students Dr. Thomas Alexander, the chairman of the social science division of GTC, is on leave of absence for this school year. He is doing historical research under a Guggenheim Fellowship.

Dr. Jack Averitt is temporarily replacing Dr. Alexander as division chairman and the vacancy made by his absence is being filled temporarily by Mr. Robert Davis Ward, who has come to us from the University of North Carolina.

The research work that Dr. Alexander is doing is on the influence of the members of the Whig party on American politics after the party was dissolved in 1860. To get this information he is having to identify the men who called themselves Whigs from 1840 to 1860.

Working on Whigs

Dr. Alexander has the benefit of the work of Dr. Don Robinson who had identified several thousand Whigs. Dr. Robinson had to give up the work after he was made State Historian of Tennessee. Dr. Alexander, himself, has already identified about three thousand Whigs and he has been working only a few weeks.

The bulk of his immediate information is coming from micro-film which was made by Dr. Robinson. To get facts Dr. Alexander will travel to different parts of the United States. He will work in the Library of Congress in Washington, D. C., at the New York Public Library, at Harvard University, the University of North Carolina, the University of Texas, Louisiana State University and other centers of historical information.

He will try to get most of the research done this year although he has no way of knowing when his work will be completed.

Auburn Grad.

Mr. Ward is married and has one child. He was born in Montevallo, Alabama and attended high school there. He received his BS from Auburn in 1950 and his MS from there in 1951. From 1951 until 1955 he has been at the University of North Carolina working on his doctorate. The research for this has been completed and all that he lacks now for the degree is the writing of the dissertation which will be a Study of Universal Military Training in the United States.

During the two years of 1952-53 and 1954-55 he taught a course at the University of North Carolina which is similar to the social studies course here. During the intervening year of 1953-54 he was on a teaching fellowship there which enabled him to do research on his degree.

We welcome Mr. Ward to our campus and wish him a successful year.

New Ph. D. for GTC

Of further interest in the social science department is the awarding of the degree of doctor in the field of sociology to Clark S. Knowlton, associate professor in the social science department at GTC. His dissertation was finished in June of this year and the degree was awarded by the department of sociology of Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee.

His work concerned the immigration movement of the Syrians and Lebanese to Sao Paulo, Brazil and their movement upward through the social and economic structure of the city as well as their spatial

Business Department Adds New Courses

Mr. Homic, head of the business division, said today that the division had added three new courses, and were making improvements in the machines course by acquiring new machinery. Mr. Homic further stated that the business division had received 83 new students this quarter.

Two of the three new courses offered are intermediate accounting, and the other one is income tax accounting. The reason for these additional courses, said Mr. Homic, is to give business education students a stronger background in accounting so that they would be able to teach with better understanding the course, and to enable the two-year business students to have a better background for future employment.

The business division has acquired two new transcribers to be used in the machines course, and they anticipate getting two new calculators before the end of this quarter. Mr. Homic said that the machines course was overcrowded and that these machines would enable the course to have more students at one time.

There have come to the business division 83 new students. 78 of these students are freshmen, and five of them are transfers. The total enrollment in the business division is now 150 majors.

Ex GTC Editor Heads Ga. Paper

Remer Tyson, former editor of The George Anne, is the fall quarter editor of the Red and Black, student weekly at the University of Georgia.

Tyson transferred from GTC at the end of his sophomore year here and is now a senior in the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism at Athens.

He was the GEORGE-ANNE editor during the full year of 1953-54. The previous year he served the paper as business manager, and during his high school days at Lab. High, he edited the LITTLE GEORGE-ANNE.

movement through the various neighborhoods.

The information for this work was gathered while in Brazil in 1950-51 on a research grant from Vanderbilt. Congratulations Dr. Knowlton!

English Dept. Adds Course

A new course has been added in the English department this fall. The course, Chaucer, is being taught for the first time since World War II by Dr. Fielding D. Russell, chairman of the division of languages; with an enrollment of 11.

This new course will give students an opportunity to study the language, culture, economy, and living conditions in England during the Fourteenth Century. The student appreciates the literature more when he is able to read it as written.

Wordsworth has described Chaucer and his works very aptly in these lines:

"... He listeneth to the lark, Whose song comes with the sunshine through the dark Of painted glass in leaden lattace bound; He listeneth and he laugheth at the sound, Then he writeth a book like any clerk. He is the poet of the dawn, who wrote The Canterbury Tale's, and his old age Made beautiful with song; and as I read I hear the crowing cock, I hear the note Of lark and linnet, and from every page Rise odors of ploughed field or flowery mead."

Eight freshmen were exempted from English 102, the first freshman English course, because of the high grades they made on English tests during Freshman Week.

Those freshmen exempted were Ellan Brandon, Decatur; Linda Lee Hardie, Gordon; Joyce Ann Kirkland, Vidalia; Lucy Melton, Statesboro; Ruth Sutton Odom, Sardis; Jo Ann Parker, Macon; Sandra Tindol, Metter; and Sandra Linda Wiggins, Edison.

Methodists Entertained

The Georgia Teachers College Methodist students were entertained Tuesday, September 27, at L. T. Martin Pond with a picnic given in their honor.

The members of the Woman's Society of Christian Service prepared a very tasty meal for them after which they were welcomed to attend the services of the Methodist Church by the Rev. W. J. Erwin.

After singing and eating around a campfire Roger Brown, president of the Wesley Foundation extended an invitation to all the picnickers to join the club. He explained that the Wesley Foundation was for all Methodist students and it met every Sunday night.

Former TC Cage Stars Assume New Duties

On The Sideline

By BOB DIXON

When a dream is brought to reality it is sometimes greater than it was anticipated to be. This could be true of the new physical education building which is receiving its finishing touches with the hope that it will be completed within the next three weeks.

The bleachers, which will accommodate seating capacity of 2,200 plus, are in the process of being put together. These bleachers are modern in every respect. When not in use they can be pushed back against the wall where they will take only 2½ feet of space. This will give plenty of space for the badminton courts. Hand ball courts are also being installed to help make those PE activity classes more interesting.

The new dryer room will be one of the most useful rooms to the PE department. Now girls don't get the wrong idea about this room because it's not used for drying your hair. This room will be used for the drying of athletic uniforms. The uniforms will be placed on hangers and hung in the dryer room for the night. The electric dryer will have them ready for practice the following day. I'll bet that most football coaches would practice through a down pour of rain if they had a dryer room.

New Rec. Room

I have a feeling that the recreational room will be a popular hangout especially with those afternoon daters. Ping pong tables and many other games are going to be installed. Dances will also be held in the recreational room. The recreational room will be open to all students every afternoon until 5:30 p. m.

Although most of the major work has been completed there still remains a few minor details, such as the installing of 280 lockers to be accomplished before the gym can be utilized. One of the biggest improvements in the new gym will be the locker system. A new system called the basket system will be used by all students taking a PE activity course this year. This is the same system that a lot of YMCA and YWCA's have been using. Every student taking an activity course must purchase a combination lock and towel from the "Little Store." Every student will be assigned a basket with a given number in which he will keep his PE uniform. A clean towel will be checked out to every student as he turns his old one in.

IM FOOTBALL BEGINS

Plans are now being made for the Intramural football program to start in two weeks. It will be a two hand touch game with eight players on each team. The freshman boys will have to field three teams because of their large enrollment. The upper classes will field one team each making a total of six teams. Before anyone decides that touch football is a game for sissies I suggest that he take part in one.

I will now look into my magic crystal ball and predict the outcome of this week's major football games.

Did You Know?

Jake Hines earned 16 varsity letters at GTC from 1931 to 1935. Presently in business in Statesboro, Hines also played infield for Savannah in the South Atlantic League. The award letters were four each in football, basketball, track and baseball.

***

GTC's two longest winning streaks were both ended by Florida schools. The 1949-1950 team won 20 in a row before losing 94-74 to the University of Tampa in the District 25 NAIA playoff finals. The 1954-1955 squad had a 14-game string snapped by Florida State, also in the playoff finals, 91 to 83.

***

GTC set what is believed to be a new college baseball scoring record last spring when they scored a 14-9 win over Amherst, and 24-4 and 31-5 victories over Erskine on consecutive days. The 69 runs is one more than Fresno State scored in three games in 1954.

***

One of Babe Ruth's last exhibitions came against GTC in 1935. Playing for the Boston Braves against the Professors in Savannah, the Babe hit a home run in his only time at bat as the pros mauled the collegians 15 to 1.

***

GTC's new gymnasium will be dedicated on Dec. 8, 1955, in a game against Wofford College. The new building is equipped with a four-sided electrical scoreboard, believed to be the only one in a college gymnasium in the south.

***

GTC sponsored football teams from 1930 to 1941 when the sport was abandoned because of World War II. The 1930 season opened with a loss to South Georgia and the 1941 season closed with a win over South Georgia, both by 6 to 0 scores.

***

Although GTC no longer fields a football team, the Professors played the opening game in the University of Miami's $320,000 football stadium, now called the Orange Bowl, on October 1, 1937. Miami won 40 to 0.

IRC to change Joining Rules

The IRC, International Relations Club, is making plans to become affiliated with the national organization of the IRC. From this new association the local chapter hopes to present a better and more useful organization for the students on the campus who are interested in international relations.

Membership in the IRC will be by recommendation of the professor in the social science department. Also it will be restricted to social science and history majors who maintain a B. average in the field.

Webb Gets Cage Honor

Another honor has been received by Chester Webb, Georgia Teachers College senior basketball center.

The Converse Rubber Company yearbook, out this week, has named Webb as honorable mention All-American.

Edited by Chuck Taylor, former All-American himself and considered the foremost basketball editor in the nation, the Converse yearbook covers all colleges in the country, both major and minor.

Last April Webb was selected on the Helms Foundation All-American team. He scored 792 points last season, giving him 1,657 for his three-year career at GTC.

Howard (Bo) Warren, GTC junior guard from Ludowici, also was mentioned in the yearbook. His scoring total of 498 last year ranked in the top 100 scorers in the country.

GTC's newly appointed freshman coach, Scotty Perkins, also came in for a mention. Last spring Perkins scored 43 points in a single game to set a new scoring record for Worldwide Air Force tournament play.

Perkins played at GTC during 1948-1951 era and set all new school scoring records. All have since been reset by Webb.

Bob Allen, president of the IRC, states that several projects will be undertaken and that a whole day will be dedicated to international relations later on in the year. "As the

LIVE SHOW

Clements is On 'Sports Review'

Statesboro radio station WWNS has a new sports program on the air and two Georgia Teachers people are the announcers.

The Sports Review, heard six nights a week on 1240 kilocycles at 6 p.m. features sportscaster Joe Axelson, who is being assisted by J. I. Clements Jr.

The show features the sports news from both the local scene and around the nation. WWNS is serviced by a United Press teletype, and since the show is done "live," the listeners in the WWNS area are being treated to the most up-to-date sports news available.

Axelson was manager of an Armed Forces Radio Service in Alaska for 18 months, and has civilian experience with three stations in the states.

Clements has never worked with radio before, but the way his football predictions are coming true he's expecting a call from one or more networks any day. In two weeks his high school and college pronostications have proved to be almost 90 per cent correct.

The two enliven their shows two or three times a week with local interviews. As basketball season nears, GTC students can expect to hear from Professor basketball players and coaches.

Buster Cartee Scotty Perkins Named to Jobs

GTC now has on campus this quarter two people who have helped make GTC's basketball fame. They are Buster Cartee and Scotty Perkins who began at GTC in the fall of 1949.

Perkins came from Cumberland University in Tennessee where he spent his freshman and sophomore years. He played under Coach J. B. Searce, who was coaching there at that time. He made his first appearance at GTC his junior year in college.

Played at GTC 1949-51

Perkins played two years of basketball at GTC before his eligibility ran out and then joined the Air Force in 1951. During his tenure in service he was stationed at Keesler Air Force Base.

Perkins participated in three Air Force world wide tournaments. In these tournaments eleven teams from all over the world competed. His team placed fifth, fourth, and third respectively, and he holds the individual scoring record for one game with 43 points.

Returns to GTC

Perkins was offered the chance to play with the Peoria Caterpillars in the AAU Conference. Rather than do this he decided to return to GTC to finish his college degree since he lacks only a few courses.

Perkins is now coaching the freshman team here at GTC, but is undecided about his future plans.

Buster Cartee came to GTC from Morehead State Teachers College in Kentucky. While at GTC he played basketball and accomplished much for the GTC team. Cartee was called away in 1951 because of the illness of his father.

Cartee Named Trainer

Cartee married Miss Norma Swann of Wrens, Georgia, whom he met while attending GTC. While living in Wrens Cartee became co-owner of an automobile agency, but gave that up in order to return to school to finish his degree in physical education.

Cartee will be trainer for all sports while here at GTC and will assist in the coaching of the freshman basketball team.

Fizz Ed Notes

During fall quarter there will be 10 physical education activity classes, each meeting three times a week. Coach J. B. Searce and Coach J. I. Clements conduct the boys' classes. The girls are taught by Miss Margaret Stanion and Miss Nita Graham. Both boys and girls will play badminton for a six-week period during the quarter; the other six weeks the girls will play volleyball while the boys participate in speedball.

All physical education classes are being taught in the new gym. This is a distinct advantage for those who are now taking physical education activities.

Tentative plans for the intramural football league were announced today by Coach J. I. Clements. The plans now call for a six-team league, one team each from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes. The president of each class would be asked to appoint someone to organize a team from their class. If the number of boys interested in intramural football exceed the number of teams, additional teams would be added.

The Marvin Pittman students—like the GTC enrollment—are required to take complete physical examinations each year. These were completed at the health cottage Wednesday.

Convincing enough were the long, long registration lines.

'Rats' Can Keep GTC Says Aut On Campus

I'll bet you think an ant's life is dull and monotonous. That just proves you don't know much about us.

You may recall the story of the ant and the grasshopper. Well, that particular ant just happened to be none other than my aunt ant. I'll never forget the way she worked all summer without ceasing, to get enough food for the rest of us for the coming winter months. Why, I shudder from my feelers all the way down to my tail to think what might have happened to us if she had not looked into the future a little.

Right after that terrible winter I began to realize that if I didn't do something with my life I might end up like the stupid, thoughtless grasshopper that didn't plan ahead for winter.

Heads for GTC

Since the nearest school of higher learning from my ant hill was Georgia Teachers College, I decided to begin my education as soon as possible. Some of my buddies had told me about some of the good bites they had gotten on the GTC campus, so with great anticipation I scurried along.

The first thing I bumped into was a "Rat," not only one

"Rat," but lots of them with odd looking blue things on their top side. Frankly, they all looked scared and bewildered, so I decided to leave them alone. Besides, the gnats were pretty well taking care of them. I saw some dogs and cats running around on campus and I must admit I did get a few good nibbles out of them.

With the clanging of bells and the scurry of feet I decided to follow some of the racket. I managed to climb some stairs and wedge myself between a crack in the floor of a large brick building right in the middle of everything. I don't know what was up in front of the room harping away about some subject or another, but I do know that it just "wasn't human" because I heard some of the terrified "Rats" say so.

After making the rounds of my buildings, I ended up in a little white building back of everything. Creeping down a narrow hall I looked into a room filled with long tables and funny looking eye glasses. Upon closer observation I saw "Stingey," my dearest buddy, lying under one of those eye-glasses. Why he was stone cold dead and a scientific looking man was drawing him on the board. Right then and there I decided that GTC was strictly for the "Rats."

Now You Can Really Complain

A suggestion box, hopefully provided by Student Council seeking constructive suggestions for general GTC campus life improvement, is to be set up at the old oak tree between the dining room and the Ad. Building.

John Tootle, Student Council president, in making the announcement said that the council is interested in serious and constructive suggestions. The one reservation is that the suggestions must be signed.

'Stage Door'

Tryouts Fixed By Masquers

"Stage Door," a three-act comedy by Edna Ferber and Mark Conneley has been selected as the fall quarter dramatic presentation by Masquers, Georgia Teachers College's thespian group, according to an announcement by Miss Dorothy Few, play director.

Tryouts to determine members of the 32-person cast will be held October 3, 4, and 5, backstage in the auditorium. Miss Few asks that all freshmen interested in acting as well as all old students report for these preliminary tryouts.

It will be necessary for many new students to turn out for the dramatic production this quarter due to the extremely large cast required for production. Miss Few states that this play provides a fine opportunity for students to gain acting experience, and that as many new people as possible will be needed.

Backstage Workers Needed

Bob Allen, Masquers president, requests that any student interested in backstage work or publicity work on the production attend the first Masquers meeting Monday night at 7 o'clock.

"Construction of scenery, publicity, and advanced ticket sales will begin soon," states Allen, "and many openings in the backstage department are available. Any student desiring to learn more about backstage mechanics of a production and wanting to enter into the fellowship of a campus club working for a goal should accept a backstage position if he doesn't want to accept an acting role in the production."

By Established Authors

Miss Few is extremely enthusiastic about the production of "Stage Door." She says that "Stage Door" is a worthy achievement by its authors, both of whom are established playwrights of note. Mark Conneley is the author of "Beggars on Horseback," and the playwright-novelist Ferber has given us such creations as "Showboat," "So Big," and "Giant."

"Stage Door," which enjoyed a long and successful run on Broadway was last year turned into a television hit that added to its prestige as one of the better stage plays.

Athletic Tour For Nov. Set

The athletic department is planning a new experiment in public relations for the month of November.

Plans call for a "poster tour" throughout the First Congressional District, with members of the athletic department visiting the various civic organizations.

Those planning to make the tour include athletic director and basketball coach, J. B. Searce Jr., athletic business manager J. I. Clements Jr., sports publicist Joe Axelson, and basketball captain Chester Webb.

Purpose of the tour is to acquaint the business and professional men and women of this area with the college.

33 Seniors Off To Practice

Thirty-three students, all seniors in the GTC education division have left for practice teaching assignments in six schools in this area, according to Dr. Marshall Hamilton, associate professor of education.

Fall quarter student teaching will be done in Claxton, Glenville, Brunswick, Hazlehurst, Sylvania, and Savannah, as well as the GTC laboratory school on campus. Student teaching is conducted under the supervision of regular classroom teachers, as requirements for a degree in Elementary or secondary education.

Of the 33 student teachers, 10 will teach in the elementary grades with the remaining 23 teaching in the secondary grades. The Schools, student assignments, and subject taught are:

Claxton: Jean Watson and Margaret Parker, first grade; Gloria Averitt, business education.

Glenville: Josh Durden, industrial arts, and Bobbie Jean Warren, English.

"Extensive repairs are being made on the Georgia Teachers College library and other buildings are due for repairs this coming year," reports B. E. Taylor, superintendent of building and grounds.

The library is being cleaned and corking is being put into the joints and seams thus making it waterproof.

At present, grading is going on beside the new gym for a parking lot that will accommodate 2,500 cars. The old Pembroke road will be closed and filled in. On this site, a new intramural football field will be added.

Mr. Taylor, who has been at Georgia Teachers College for the past eight years, points out that the approximate cost of the upkeep of the buildings and grounds is $6,000 to $8,000 a month. This includes the wages of the maids and janitors.

While most of the students go to school only nine months a year, Mr. Taylor and his men work all year. This past summer, Sanford Hall and the veterans apartments were repaired and painted.

This coming year will see new fire doors in the Ad. Building and a new door and steps on the east end of the Ad. Building. The dining hall is to be refinished as soon as the work in the library is completed.

Animals Are Coming Soon

The King Brothers Circus comes to town Thursday, October 13.

According to Mr. J. B. Searce Jr., publicity chairman and a vice president of the Statesboro Lions Club—the sponsoring organization—a large number of students are expected to see the show.

Mr. Searce explained that the student not only has the opportunity of seeing a good circus but also of contributing to a worthwhile Statesboro cause. The Lions Club will receive 50 per cent of the proceeds of all advance ticket sales and will use the money in the club's work with young people of the area who are blind or have sight deficiencies.

The Professor coach urged students to buy their tickets in advance, however, since the Lions share only in the advance ticket sales. Tickets may be purchased for one dollar from any member of the Lions Club.
