GTC Host To State Home Ec. Meet Today

Home Economics Club delegates from 12 state colleges met at Georgia Teachers College Friday and Saturday for the annual state college home economics workshop.

Delegates are expected from GSCW, South Georgia, Valdosta State, North Georgia, Martha Berry, University of Georgia, Abraham Baldwin, Armstrong Junior, Bessie Tift, Young Harris, West Georgia, and Middle Georgia.

Principal speakers for the two-day convention will be Dr. Jessie Mize, president of the Georgia Home Economics Association, and Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of GTC. The program also includes special committee reports and numerous conferences.

Registration is in East Hall from 12:45 to 1:45 Friday afternoon with the first general session scheduled in Cone Hall recreation room at 2 p. m. Dr. Mize speaks to the general group at that time on "College Club Relationships." Dr. Henderson will address the group at a dinner meeting at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen at 7 p. m.

At a business meeting Saturday shortly before the noon adjournment, the convention will elect a candidate for national president. Student officers serving the state group now are Marilyn Middleton, GSCW, president; Tillie Marlowe, Martha Berry College, first vice-president; Carolyn Milner, University of Georgia, second vice president; Janis Miller, GTC, secretary; Theldon Atkins, Martha Berry College, treasurer; and Mildred Sparks, University of Georgia, reporter. Faculty adviser is Miss Gladys Gilbert, GSCW. President of the GTC host club is Beverly Perkins. Ann Harrison and Jewel Hart are vice presidents. Careen Hatcher is secretary, Sara Ann Jordan is treasurer, Betty Parker is parliamentarian, and Janice Miller is reporter.

The visiting students will stay in East Hall.

Assembly Will Be Held Wed; Mon. is Holiday

There will be no assembly period Monday, Dean Paul F. Carroll reminded students today.

The regular assembly period has been moved up to Wednesday at the same time for a special address by Dr. William H. Kilpatrick, professor of education emeritus at Teachers College, Columbia University.

Those activities scheduled Wednesday at the 10-10:30 period will take place Monday at the same time, Dean Carroll said.

Dr. Henderson Named to Head Methodist Fund

President Zach S. Henderson has been named chairman of the publicity committee for the newly-formed building council for the Statesboro Methodist Church. Nine other men are assigned to his committee which is to publicize the plans for the church's big building program. Already pledged in the building fund is $260,000. The building council is now busy considering plans for the new sanctuary and church school building.

Student Council Notes: Suggestions Paying Off

By MICKIE WEBB

The Georgia Teachers College Student Council held its bi-monthly meeting on Monday night. President John Tootle repeated his invitation to the student body to attend the meetings.

The meetings are being held in Mr. Powell's old office for this year only.

Freshman elections will be held on Wednesday, November 9.

Election Weakness

Recent elections for upper-classmen officers with their extra run-offs uncovered glaring weaknesses in the school election rules. Voting rules will be revised before the freshman election is held.

The two new freshman members of the Student Council to be elected on November 9, will be formally invested in office in a ceremony held at the home of President Henderson.

The orientation group of Mrs. Guardia and Mr. Homick voted for the Student Council panel to repeat their appearances in their classes.

Suggestion Box

The suggestion box was opened and the following signed suggestions were read; the first one was passed and the others were referred to committees:

1. The freshman boys may remove their Rat caps during assembly.

2. Teachers are keeping students so late that they miss their next classes.

3. 10:40 is the starting time for class. This seems to be confusing to new teachers.

4. Please have toothpicks on the dining hall tables.

Bobby Richards was appointed chairman of the social committee to replace John Tootle.

This concluded another successful meeting of the Student Council.

Concert Series

Opens January 24

The Statesboro Community Concert Association today announced the completion of its annual membership campaign and a three-program series for the season.

Mrs. J. Curtis Lane, association president, said last week's annual membership drive was a "sell-out success" and she expressed appreciation to all senior classes. Wednesday, Nov. 9, those in the area who helped make the campaign successful.

She also revealed that Wesley Dalton, a noted tenor, will nounce that there will be an open the series in Statesboro revision made in the procedures on January 24, with a concert of electing class officers for the at McCroan Auditorium at coming years, due to the number of run-offs this year.

Cardell, Webb, Harper Chosen; Frosh Date Set

Elections for class officers officially ended last Friday, October 14, with the second runoff of the election series. The complete results of this polling are as follows:

Bob Cardell won over Etta Ann Akins for vice president, and Chester Webb defeated Nancy McIntosh to become the treasurer of the senior class.

All three candidates nominated for the office of secretary of the sophomore class were in the running until Mary Jane Harper won over Virginia Sikes and Beverly Perkins in this third election.

Students are again commended for their interest and participation in the campaign and elections. There is much to look forward to in future elections.

It is hoped that the freshman class having had time to acquaint themselves with the procedures of election and with the members of their class, will display as much enthusiasm and participation in their election as the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. Wednesday, Nov. 9, has been set as the tentative date for this election.

The Student Council anticipates that there will be an open the series in Statesboro revision made in the procedures on January 24, with a concert of electing class officers for the at McCroan Auditorium at coming years, due to the number of run-offs this year.

Education Staff Assists in Study

The staff of the Emanuel County Institute in Swainsboro, has invited the staff of the education division of Georgia Teachers College to cooperate with them in a thorough study of the testing procedures that a modern high school should employ, according to an announcement by Dr. J. D. Park, division head, this week.

The teachers in Swainsboro expect to set up a program of in-service education to last over a period of a full year or more and will investigate all aspects of testing. They expect to eventually arrive at a decision as to an adequate testing and guidance program for the school which will provide staff members with the information needed about each student to improve the learning program in the school.

Such in-service education programs have recently been approved by the state department of education as means whereby teachers may renew their certificates. Under present regulations, a teacher in Georgia schools must return to college for a term once every five years to brush up on new ideas about teaching. Otherwise, their certificates expire and may not be renewed. This regulation has been instituted to insure the continued growth of teachers on the job.

It has been recognized that in-service education programs centered around real problems faced by the teachers in a given school situation constitute a practical basis for growth if the program can result in improvement of the local school's program.

It is expected that numerous such programs may arise in various school systems throughout the state in the near future, and a number of staff members of GTC may be involved in the program eventually.

BSU Students Attend Confab

On October 28-30, the members of the Baptist Student Union will attend the State BSU convention held in Milledgeville, Georgia.

The representatives from GTC's dormitories will be: West Hall, Jane Jackson; East Hall, Diana Bair; Lewis Hall, Lois Hammond or Lawanna Tillman; Sanford Hall, Stanley Brobston; and Cone Hall, Gene Meadows.

DR. W. H. KILPATRICK

Will Speak On Changes Seen In Education

Dr. William H. Kilpatrick, professor emeritus of education at Teachers College of Columbia University and world-renowned educator, will be the guest of Georgia Teachers College for four days next week for a series of special lectures to students and faculty.

He arrives by plane from New York City in Savannah Tuesday evening and begins his series of appearances at a special assembly program in GTC's McCroan Auditorium Wednesday at 10 a. m. He will speak then on "Changes I Have Seen in Education."

Wednesday afternoon, at a time to be announced later, he will speak before a joint meeting of the college faculty and the Bulloch county teachers.

Speaks to Faculty

Two dinner meetings have been arranged during the week for Dr. Kilpatrick. Thursday night at 7, he will be the guest of honor at the annual fall social of the faculty at the luncheon of the Marvin Pittman School. His subjects will be "The Place of Subject Matter in Curriculums of Teachers Colleges." Friday night at 7, he will address the college advisory council at a dinner meeting at the home of President and Mrs. Zach S. Henderson.

From 10 a. m. to noon Thursday he will be in conference with the college faculty, and Thursday afternoon at 3:30 he will speak at a meeting of GTC education seniors who are scheduled for practice teaching during the winter and spring quarters. Friday at 9:45 a. m., he meets with the college education foundation classes to speak on "The Purpose of the School in Our Kind of Society and the Job of the Teacher."

Saturday at 10 a. m. he meets at Marvin Pittman. The Pittman faculty and off-campus supervisors will also be present at this meeting.

Outstanding Georgia Educator

Dr. Kilpatrick is a native of White Plains, Ga. He received his education at Mercer University, Johns Hopkins, and Columbia. He began his teaching career in the public schools of Georgia in 1897 and was later to become a member of the Mercer faculty. From 1903 to 1905 he was acting president of Mercer. From Mercer, he went to Columbia University in 1909 to become one of the outstanding members of the education faculty of Teachers College. He was made professor emeritus in 1938.

Married Pupils Swell Facilities

The 34 married students who live here at Georgia Teachers College are in a class all by themselves and there is a long waiting list of others who want to join them. In fact there is such a shortage of apartments that many couples are having to live in Statesboro and three married men are having to live in Cone Hall with their wives at home.

Seven of the couples live in Anderson Hall with either the husbands or wives or both working for degrees. The rest live in the former veteran's apartments and most of them have families.

They have different ways of receiving money for their educations. Some of them are veterans, a few are supporting themselves and some have parents backing them up. Three wives are here with their children while their husbands are working elsewhere.

It is becoming more and more common nowadays for married couples to attend college together, and the length of the waiting list for available apartments proves GTC is no exception.

Of Schine And Circumstance . . .

Saw a one-inch story in a newspaper the other day to this effect: "Cpl. G. David Schine will be discharged this week. He has served as a military policeman at Fort Richardson, Alaska."

The name Schine stirs up many memories of early summer, 1954. Such things as "Mr. chairman, point of order," the utterly complete lack of knowledge on the part of the Secretary of Army in regard to anything to do with his position; the bulldog face and obvious honesty of Ray Jenkins of Tennessee—but above all the many wasted man hours of the congressmen's time, and the millions of dollars spent in television and radio broadcasts of the "trial."

At the end of the hearing neither side had really proved much, but the then Pvt. Schine was considered to be a privileged soldier, a serviceman who had been the pet of a senator, a coddled young boy who had been granted favors that none else had received.

The second baseman on the New York Yankees in the World Series a couple of weeks ago was Pvt. Billy Martin. This Pvt. Martin was on "leave" from Camp Carson Colorado, a leave which was to end on September 28. At the last minute it was extended to include the World Series. Then he was discharged in 30 minutes (it takes everybody else a week) and permitted to go to Hawaii and Japan with the rest of the civilian Yankees.

On television the other night Ed Sullivan had as his guest Wes Santee, the former great Kansas miler who has posted a 4:00.5 mile among other accomplishments. In the course of the interview "Smiley" asked the lieutenant what his plans were for the future. "Lt." Santee remarked (as casually as if he were Elsa Maxwell) "Well, Ed, I'm leaving for New Zealand in a few weeks to run in some feature races."

Why Your Books Cost So Much . . .

The high cost of textbooks has been a widely discussed issue on this campus. Most of the students on campus cannot understand why the cost is so high. This article is an attempt to clarify the matter. The first fact to be observed is the large increase in the publishers' expenses. The cost of labor, machinery, and paper has increased tremendously in the last few years. This has necessitated a substantial increase in the publisher's finished product, which happens to be textbooks. The next and most important fact to be observed is the amount of profit the school book stores make. After checking into the matter I find it is very little. Officially a 20 per cent profit is allowed, but after mailing expenses are paid out of this profit, very little is left. It seems that new textbooks, along with new cars, TV sets, radios, and pogosticks have gone up and aren't coming down for a while. The only explanation we can offer is that high prices seem to be one of the trends of the times. One suggestion we have for those who have to buy new books is to take care of them and not abuse them so that they may be sold for a reasonably good price at the used book store. Those students who wish to keep books for future teaching references should be encouraged to lend these out to other students. Of course students who borrow books should take good care of them and return them promptly upon completion of the course.

As is stated on the editorial page of this paper "lower book prices" is one of our objectives. We would still like to see this objective accomplished, but unless there is a sudden decrease in the expenses of textbook publishers it does not seem likely in the near future.

Times have changed since June, 1954, when Pvt. Schine was a deep-dish, vat-dyed heel for being excused at 5 p. m. and going into New York City for committee work.

Rat Squeals

By PHIL YARBROUGH

I think I'm dead . . . rat night . . . freezing . . . muddy . . . freezing . . . wet . . . freezing . . . sleepy . . . freezing . . . cold, too. But we had fun! And we do love our sophomore brothers! They even let us use their very own chisels to chip off the ice. They're sweet kids. At last "Operation Artic" is over. Amen!

There were a whole heap of mammas that had some sho 'nuff happy young'uns when we stumbled, fell, and crawled back into dear old Sanford Hall at 2:03 a. m. Tuesday. Talk about cold!!! That's the first time I've ever slept on a blanket and under a mattress.

No doubt all of you spectators enjoyed the display of our musical talent. Yours truly had the opportunity of leading one selection. O blissful joy! Eighty-five male voices accompanied by an orchestra of chattering teeth. Mine sounded like the drums.

But one of our little games even topped our singing. (Singing?) Oh well, anyway, this game was our baseball game. We had coaches, too...our sophomore brothers again. They taught us how to slide into freezing mud with nothing on but our BVDs. Might be valuable experience one day. I'll try to describe it for you.

To begin with, each of us had the opportunity to slide into "base." Our alert sophomore brothers sensed at once that something was wrong. But what was it? Oh well, we'd do it again. So we did. And hal-leluiah!! They figured out what it was. We had mud on us! But we didn't have to worry. They'd get it off for us. They had a nice big hose. (More blissful joy.)

If . . . no. I better not. But, as King James II said to Bill Haley on Halloween's birthday, I'm going back to the wagon boys, this rat hat's killing me. See you next week.

DR. PARK IS

ROTARY SPEAKER

Dr. J. D. Park, chairman of the division of education and in charge of the GTC teacher training program, was speaker Monday at the regular weekly meeting of the Statesboro Rotary Club.

Letter To The Editor

TO THE EDITOR:

In September a bulletin was issued to the women students by the Dean of Women on "The Appropriateness of Dress." This bulletin states:

"Traditional feminine attire—dresses, skirts, and blouses or sweaters—is appropriate for appearance in public places. These public places include classrooms, dining hall, administration building, library, dormitory lounges and parlors, Little Store, the campus." What this really means is that we are only allowed to wear sport clothes in our rooms. However, we can wear them to the Little Store at night during our break.

Since this is a democratic school, we feel that the girls should be entitled to a discussion on the subject and perhaps a vote should be taken. After all, part of the education at school is to learn to make proper decisions for ourselves, and we are not even being allowed to decide what we should wear on campus.

We would like to know the reason why we are not allowed to wear slacks to the Little Store on Saturdays. Perhaps the dean would say that the reason is obvious, but to us the reason is very vague. We can see no harm in wearing slacks or jeans to the Little Store Saturday mornings since it is the one day of the week that the girls can relax.

THANKS,
Two Juniors.

Rat Squeaks

By KAY MINCHEW

Squeaks are getting louder all the time. The rats have had a very easy time of it so far. That is, the cooperating rats are having it easy, but the sophomores are clamping it down on the others.

We are really proud of our "rat" basketball team. Things are going to start popping around the third of December and there is going to be a rush after some rat players. The sophomores will be stealing our cheese if we don't watch out.

The night the sophomore boys were supposed to run the freshmenboys was quite a disappointment for the female rats. Almost all the girls were gathered in a front room of West Hall and waited patiently for their arrival. Such a let-down! No one showed up on front campus that even looked like part of a track team.

Maybe there will be less old maids from our freshman class of gals. Everyone seems to be doing quite well with the upperclassmen. If you just look around you can pair off the rats with a junior or senior. One rat hat and one crew cut. Strictly collegiate!

If you were wondering what all the nice music was about the other night just ask any freshman girl. Maybe it was a music club or maybe they made the rats do it but it was really beautiful. Some boys were singing out in front of West Hall about 10:30 and we would like some more of it any time.

Monday night there was quite a commotion going on on the campus. About 12:30 there was such a loud noise down in front of West Hall that all the girls were aroused from bed. Much to our satisfaction the male rats were galloping around out in the 'brrr' cold weather. We all got up and crawled to the window half asleep to peek out and observe the activities. My, such fun! I believe they enjoyed it as much as the sophomores. Everyone was certainly a good sport about it. We (the girls) are awaiting our visit with much anxiety and, of course, a little fear.

Here is hoping that this next week will be quite eventful and much fun. See ya'll next time.

By MICKIE WEBB

I have some very interesting news this week. It seems the boys were highly insulted last week about bermudas. I received a letter from someone and I'm sure that you will all enjoy it:

Dear Mickey:

In last week's issue of the George-Anne I noticed that you were wondering why the males of this campus will not or have not worn bermuda shorts. Coming to their defense I would like to mention that several were "modeled" during the summer sessions. After all, summer is the proper time to wear shorts and not fall.

(Speaking for males only.) I was very much surprised to notice that people did not make fun of boys wearing bermudas. Maybe they saw where the comfort came in and a new fad also.

Well, hope I have cast a little light on the summer school angle. Until next summer and bermudas, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
"A Man of Comfort"

P.S. A few of those bermuda-wearing boys are on campus this fall. Try and find them.

I'll have to admit that was some letter, and I certainly think whoever our man of comfort is should have signed his name.

I certainly do wish some of those bermuda-wearing boys would come out in the open now—after all, summer isn't the only time to wear them. They make beautiful flannel bermudas. Let us see them. Enough about bermudas.

Bangle bracelets are very good for girls now. Quite a few of our girls have been sporting these lovely bracelets.

Velveteen dresses and skirts are so nice for dress. Pretty for a special date.

Tunic! In case you are wondering what that word means it is a very fashionable dress for the tall girl. Many of these have been seen on the campus. Though a 1920 style, it is coming back.

I'm sure you have all seen the very pretty plaid of tweed wool skirts and jersey blouses to match with a trim of the skirt material. These are for dress or class.

I'm sure everyone knows what the fad was for our freshman boys Monday night.

So long till next week... and if you know of any fashion news let me know and if you have any comments good or bad about this article please let me know. Just be kind enough to sign your name please.

Fall Calendar Is Announced

The socials planned for the fall quarter of 1955 have really gone over with a big bang so far.

Attend these things and always remember the good times you had at school.

October 22 — Lewis Hall dance (Combo).

October 29 — Street dance (home economics and industrial arts; orchestra).

November 5 — Sock hop — Sanford Hall (Combo).

November 12 — Sadie Hawkins dance (WRA and T-Club).

November 19 — Starlight ball — Art Club (orchestra).

December 3 — Dance after opening basketball game — Student Council (Combo).

December 10 — Faculty formal (orchestra).

Mose Stands In With The Cone Boys

By BRITT FAYSSOUX

"To know him is to love him" seems like a trite statement; it has been used so much this day and time. But no words could better express the feeling the boys in Cone Hall have for Mose Bass.

Held In Esteem

Mose is one of the most satisfyingly real characters I have ever met. He is both an institution and a tradition on the GTC campus. Probably no better example of the high esteem in which he is held could be offered than the dedication of last year's "Reflector" to him. I believe this is considered among the high honors given on this campus.

Mose began his work here at GTC some 21 years ago and since that time his round, beaming face has become known to every boy who has ever come to this institution. His official duty is that of janitor, but his actual labors far exceed this circumscribed job.

From 6:30 to 7:00 every morning Mose pays a personal visit to each boy and wakes him with a hearty gravel voiced "Time to get up, baby." "Gotta go get that breakfast." There is no doubt in my mind that at least half of the boys in Cone would not only miss breakfast but classes too, if it were not for this daily visit from Mose.

Example of Treatment

I am fortunate in having for my roommate one of Mose's favorites. His is Alton Dews; better known to Mose and me as "Roller." Just how or why Mose chose this handle I don't know, but it seems to fit. Alton, alias "Roller," is treated as if he were one of Mose's very own children. Each morning Mose inquires about his health and asked if he has had a good night's rest. The other day friend Alton was in need of a haircut. Mose graciously supplied the 50 cents.

GOOD OLD DAYS

Lewis Hall Mom Recalls GTC Of Past Years

By ELLEN BRANDON

If you tried to picture yourself as a student here back in 1926, chances are you probably wouldn't recognize either yourself or the campus; but we have one faculty member who does remember what things were like then. She is Mrs. Jeanette McCorkle, house-mother of Lewis Hall.

Mrs. McCorkle attended what was then called Georgia Normal School and which offered three years of high school and two of college. There were 80 students and 20 faculty members including office help and house-mothers.

There were four buildings, East and West Hall, neither with a third floor; the Ad Building, and Anderson Hall, with one unpaved road leading up to the Ad Building. The Little Store and the campus barbershop were in the old side entrance to the dining hall.

Speaking of dining, food was served family style at tables of eight to 10 students, whose names were drawn for seating arrangements, and one faculty member. No boy and girl who went together were allowed to sit together; but they were allowed to date—two Sunday afternoons a month.

For other social activities there were five clubs, the Stephens Library Society, the Whistler Art Club, the Education Club, Glee Club, and the Oglethorpe Literary Society.

There was no problem of dress, at least not for the girls. They wore uniforms, navy skirts nine inches from the floor, white middie blouses and black cotton hose. If they played basketball they wore black satin bloomers and white middie blouses.

1926 was also the first year the Reflector was published so if you venture over to the library you can probably see some examples of college life back in the good (?) old days.

Annual Needs Summer Snaps From Students

The Reflector staff would like snapshots to use in the Reflector. Without snapshots we cannot give you our best work. At the present pictures of summer activities are needed. The following activities are especially wanted: students working at camps, students in summer school, and students traveling to sundry places, attending summer encampments of National Guard or Reserve Units.

If you have snapshots of activities that have happened this quarter, they will also be appreciated. As other events occur during the quarter, pictures should be presented.

We ask that all snapshots given to us be clear or they cannot be used. Please give them to Harriet Woodward or Lewis Strickland.

Thanks,
Lewis W. Strickland.

In the minds of the boys of Cone Hall, a GTC without Mose would be unthinkable. So here is a great big salute to "Mose baby" from all the boys in Cone.

Approved by Mose Bass.

Campus Column

By JOANNE HILL

If I hadn't had an eye witness with me recently, I would have sworn my eyes were deceiving me. Just as we were entering the main gate, one of the "dignitaries" of the faculty was swinging on the revolving gate. Wonder what this campus is coming to?

It looks like old man winter has finally arrived. I surely hope he's here to stay this time.

The freshman boys can rest easily for a while now. I betcha' it'll be a good long while before anything as exciting as Monday night was, happens to them again. And say, that serenading was real George. I'm still wondering where they got all the mud. I don't remember it raining Monday night!

Something else is new. For the first time the House Council members of the three girls' dormitories were installed at a candlelight service. The ceremony was performed Wednesday night at 10:30 in McCroan Auditorium. Dean Duncan presided over the program and installed the girls.

The accounting class had a visitor Tuesday. One of the campus strays, (dogs, I'm speaking of), was making an honest effort to further his knowledge.

At least we know the low-down on some of the people on this campus. Yep! After assembly Monday, we sorta have an idea of what's what around here. It was rather interesting to find out those things though. I only have one comment to make about the program. To all those who say they aren't going to complete their schooling here—"Shame on you!"

In case you're wondering why all the new faces are on campus this weekend, it's the results of the home economics workshop. The girls are visiting from other colleges over the state. And somewhere along the way, I've heard it said that all of you boys are going to really get your chance at meeting them. You're all invited to a dance in the Cone Hall recreation room Saturday night, October 22. Sorry, girls—no females except home economics majors are allowed!

I've also heard that the "T" Club and the WRA's are cooking up a big affair for one Saturday night in November. I'm very anxious to hear the details, cause from the tidbits I've gathered so far, it's gonna be loads of fun! I hate not to tell you about it. I know the suspense is probably killing you! But you'll know before too long.

East Hall is suffering another catastrophe. Mary Hender is the victim this time. She has lost her watch. She thinks it might have been lost up town, but just in case you see a white gold ladies' watch running around, how about returning it to her?

Have you been keeping track of Bob Dixon's football predictions? If you haven't, you should! After all, he's a pretty good football predictor.

Say! Why don't you people break down and give me some news to go in "your" column. Anytime you have something of interest or something you'd like to have in the paper, just look me up. After all, this column is for you and it would be much better if I could get more news from all of you! How about it?

Masquers production, "Stage Door," seems to be shaping up real well! Looks like they're going to have another hit on their hands.

Have you been making use of the suggestion box the Student Council has put up? Anyway here's your chance to make known what you don't like and your suggestions on how to improve matters. Just don't forget to sign your name to your suggestions.

This is it for the week! Till next Friday—don't overwork those poor little heads!

See you then.

Largest Choir In History Begins Practice

Dr. Ronald J. Neil, chairman of the division of music and director of the Philharmonic Choir has announced the group's membership for 1955-56. Eighty-three students have been chosen to sing in the largest choir in the history of the college. The first rehearsal was held Tuesday, October 4, in the music building and they will continue to be held every Tuesday and Thursday nights. Members are as follows:

BAND NEWS

Well, instead of the band's making much music last Monday it changed and tried to see how many hamburgers and hot-dogs it could do away with in one evening.

Between Mr. King and Mel it looked dubious as to whether the rest of us would eat or starve. Never say die though; they came through and a once magnanimous array of food disappeared as quickly as it had appeared.

After that display of nearly 50 gluttonous appetites, everyone gathered round for charades and an evening filled with hoarse laughter (we all had colds).

About 7:30 the aggregation assembled itself and trudged back to face muchly needed homework.

Our sincere thanks go to the Kings and the Hooleys for being wonderful chaperones and to all those who helped make our party such a gala affair. Thank you.

Officers were elected for the college band as follows:

President, Mel Seidel; vice president, S. B. Campbell; secretary, Mickey Gignilliat, senior representative, Cathy Holt; junior representative, Deward Welchel; sophomore representative, Stanley Brobston; freshmen representatives, Ruth Odom and Don Nation Priestly.

G.T.C. Football Contest!

Win $10.00 Cash!

Pick The Winners !

Pick all winners and receive $10.00 cash. If no one gets all the winners, the person naming the most winners will receive $5.00 in cash from the George-Anne. In case of ties among contestants, the prize is equally divided.

1. In each ad on this page you will find two college teams scheduled to play football this week. Check the teams you think will win. Tie games count against you unless you mark them ties.
2. Mail or bring your entry sheet to the George-Anne, located in the Public Relations Office, not later than Friday noon of each week. Letters postmarked on or before this time will be accepted.
3. Members of the George-Anne staff are not eligible to win.

On The Sideline

By BOB DIXON

It seems that football has been the major topic around GTC among sports-minded people for the past several weeks. Everyone, including yours truly, seems to be giving their opinions on why GTC doesn't have a football team. I believe that all of the discussions on football have boiled down to the same question and that is, could GTC support a football team?

Thousands of football fans throughout South Georgia have supported junior college and high school football teams for years, so why wouldn't they support a good college team that is within driving distance of their homes?

I don't believe that we could support a team that would be equal to major college teams such as Georgia and Tech, but with all the small four-year colleges in the surrounding states we wouldn't have to worry about larger schools.

I agree that we wouldn't have a natural rival to begin with, but I don't believe that our basketball team had a natural rival during their first year of playing. Any team outside of the state of Georgia should make a good rival.

If you are interested in GTC fielding a football team for collegiate competition against small four-year colleges, why don't you write the editor of the George-Anne stating your interest. It takes a lot of interest before you can see any results.

It seems that the freshmen are really taking the intramural football league very seriously. They were seen running around the circle early Tuesday morning dressed in nothing but tennis shoes and shorts. I guess that they were just trying to get in condition for the touch football games.

Well it happened just as coach Bobby Dodd said it would. If you remember before the season started Dodd made the remark that Tech didn't have a team good enough to go undefeated and it looks as if he was right. Tech battled Auburn down to the wire last Saturday to find themselves behind 14 to 12. This first loss for the Engineers dropped them from their 5th place in national rankings to 12th. This big victory for Auburn moved them up to 8th place in national rankings. The University of Michigan was again voted the No. 1 team in the nation.

The Georgia Bulldogs saw their offense move in a big way for the first time this season as they downed helpless Florida State 47 to 14.

It seems that upsets came by the dozens in the football world last week. Coach Clements and his football class even missed a few predictions. I missed 5 out of 20 last week, giving me a total of 46 correct, 9 wrong, and 3 ties for the season.

Here are the winners for this week as I see them.

PHILHARMONIC CHOIR

The Philharmonic Choir under the direction of Dr. Ronald J. Neil began practice last week for their annual tour. Some of the compositions are: The Halls of Ivy, The Curtains of Night, Requiem, Fantasy on "Wareham," Heavenly Light, Oklahoma, The Lord's Prayer, Even Me, Old Abram Brown, Preludes to Eternity, and The Ballad of Davy Crockett. Miss Cathy Holt, senior from Albany, is accompanist.

The choir has the largest membership this year than at any time during its history. Total enrollment is 84.

EN MELODIE

En Melodie met last Tuesday night. They discussed plans for making money to make the club a national music sorority. The first project is to sell hot dogs in the dorms beginning Tuesday night with the assistance of Phi Mu Alpha.

Clements Discloses Plans For Admission To New Gym

By LOWELL RUSSELL

Coach J. I. Clements, named new business manager for Georgia Teachers College sports in 1955-56, asks for co-operation from entire student body to keep our activities on a sportsmanship basis.

He adds that on opening night the new gym will have enough seats in it to seat 1,900. Of these, the students will have the choice seats reserved for them. These will include all of the lower section on the east side and the first and last sections on the west side. All these are on the floor scale.

The public will be seated in the balcony sections and also in the four middle sections on the floor scale of the west side.

The band will be seated in the lower end of either the east or west side.

Will Use Passes

There will be a change in the admission of students this year. Each student will come to the gym at a date to be set and pick up his book of student passes. This book will carry five passes for the first five home games. The student will have one pass torn out for each game that he attends.

After Christmas the students will receive a new book of passes for the remaining ten games.

It is pointed out that each student will be checked very carefully at the entrance. This is to stop any slipping in that is attempted. It is known that in the past, students gave their ID cards to their friends in order to get them into the games.

Proceeds for Scholarships
Coach Clements points out that it is every student's responsibility to be fair with himself as well as his school in order to have good sportsmanship at GTC. After all, this money does go into the scholarship fund.

The assistant basketball coach and head baseball coach at Georgia Teachers College is J. I. Clements Jr., a native of Ray City, Ga. He graduated from high school there in 1937 and was an outstanding athlete. As a college athlete at Norman College under Coach J. B. Searce, 1940-41, Clements was an all-state basketball and baseball star.

In 1943-44 he served as assistant coach under Mr. Searce at North Georgia College. After service in the army paratroopers from 1944-46, Coach Clements completed work on his MA at Eastern Kentucky, and then followed his former coach to Georgia Teachers to become his right-hand man and assistant professor of health and education.

In 1949 he was appointed baseball coach here. In 1950, he became coach of the first freshman basketball team to represent the college. Later he coached the "B" basketball squad.

GTC Renames Same Officers For New Year

The annual Georgia Intercollegiate Conference was held this past Saturday in Atlanta, Georgia. Many important things were discussed.

The conference adopted the baseball to be used in the league this coming season. It will be the McGregor Co. "Goldsmith 98." Lets hope our boys can lose a couple for them.

The same slate of officers was retained for this coming season. They were: President, Roger Williams North Georgia; Executive Secretary, J. B. Searce GTC; publicity director, Joe Axelson GTC.

The schedule was arranged among the colleges participating in this conference. The schedule will be published in this paper sometime in the near future.

The colleges that are included in this conference other than GTC are Piedmont, Valdosta North Georgia, and Oglethorpe. GTC won the conference championship last year.

GTC Students To Be Eligible For Fed. Exams

The first Federal-Service Entrance Examination opened today to college seniors and college graduates who want a career in the Federal service. Applicants have until November 18 to file the first written test to be given December 10 in more than 1,000 localities, including many college campuses, Philip Young, chairman of the U. S. Civil Service Commission announced.

Tests for this area will be given in Savannah and Statesboro.

The new program, unique in Federal history, will be permanent and continuous, with examinations planned periodically as Federal personnel needs require it.

Job offers can be made by Federal agencies to persons passing the examination once their names become available on the lists of eligibles which the Civil Service Commission will set up early next year. Appointments follow graduation. The opportunities will be in many fields, including administrative, personnel, technical, and professional.

Applications forms have already been made available at

Pittman Parsons Proud Parents

The newest resident of Collegeboro made his appearance at 7 p.m. on Wednesday night. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Parsons are the new parents of a 6 and one half pound boy born at Bulloch County Hospital.

Rumor has it that the parents had planned to furnish their 2 and one half year old son Bill with a sister hence no boy's names were ready. Roger, the basketball coach at Pittman high, and a former GTC cage ace, says they'll come up with a name shortly.

Unofficial Facts Collected During Assembly Meet

In the unofficial survey conducted by President Zach S. Henderson in assembly Monday it was revealed that 65 of GTC's enrollment this year are sons or daughters of former GTC students.

One hundred and twenty-two students here now either have at this time or have had at some previous time brothers or sisters enrolled here. Dr. Henderson's impromptu questions also revealed that three are now on campus 30 students with brothers or sisters presently enrolled.

One hundred and eleven students are transfers from junior colleges while 57 of our students have changed over from senior colleges.

According to the survey 17 students expect to go into some phase of fulltime christian service after graduation.

college placement offices or may be obtained from the nearest Commission office.

Government representatives will visit most campuses before November 18 to explain the new program in detail. College placement offices will be given full information concerning the representatives' visit.

Searce Issues Call for Frosh, Varsity Players

Coach J. B. Searce Jr., has issued the call for candidates for both the varsity and freshman basketball teams.

All students interested in playing on either the varsity or freshman squads this year should report to the new gymnasium on Thursday, October 27, at 3:30 p. m.

The Thursday meeting will be dedicated to completing eligibility forms and publicity questionnaires, and the taking of uniform sizes.

On Friday, October 28, the coaches will issue equipment and Monday, October 31 will be picture-making day.

Coach Searce has extended an invitation to any students or Statesboro citizens who wish to take pictures of the 1955-56 Professors, to show up at 3:30 p. m. on Monday, October 31. In addition to any private picturemaking, the official publicity pictures will be made.

Women Agree Campus Girls Need WRA

By SANDY HANSON

Now hear this; Now hear this! Two women on the GTC campus agree on the same subject. The subject just happens to be "Do you thing Georgia Teachers College should have a WRA" (Woman's Recreation Association)? The two women are Margaret Stanion and Nita Graham and they think it is a pretty good idea.

After a square dance planned for November 12, membership into the Woman's Recreation Association is open to all girls interested.

So women if you feel the least bit athletic come November 12, then you will have a chance to have a lot of fun under the leadership of Miss Stanion and Miss Graham.

Dr. Knowlton Makes Trip, Visits New Mexican Indians

Dr. Clark Knowlton, a member of the GTC social science department, recently made a trip to the Indian Pueblo in San Ildefonso, New Mexico. The Pueblo lies about 22 miles northwest of Santa Fe, New Mexico, near the atomic plant at Los Alamos.

Dr. Knowlton, a native of Salt Lake City, Utah, has long been interested in the Indians of the Southwest. He considers San Ildefonso Indians one of the most interesting of the group and has visited them many times before.

Makes Cultural Advance

Dr. Knowlton states that the inhabitants of San Ildefonso are very friendly to white men in contrast with many other Indian groups in the Southwest which are not. One outstanding feature of this group is a cultural and artistic renaissance which they have gone through. This renaissance began some years back when an archeological expedition was removing ancient pottery from some old buried ruins near San Ildefonso. An Indian woman, named Maria, became interested in this project. The beauty of the pottery impressed her and when she was told that her ancestors had done this craftwork, she immediately began trying to reproduce some of the patterns.

Makes Fine Pottery

After experimenting for some months she was able to produce pottery just as beautiful as that from the ruins. She taught the other women of the tribe this craft and the San Ildefonso Indians became famous for their pottery.

The standard of living of the San Ildefonso Indians was greatly increased due to the wide demand for their craftwork. A number of the men have become outstanding Indian painters. Many of the Indians work at Los Alamos. They are found to be superior workers because of their skill, deftness, and patience gained from craftwork.

Through the making of pottery and practice of the other ancient crafts, they have regained some measure of self-respect and independence which most of the Indian tribes of the Southwest have lost.

Nebraska Prof. Challenges Man To Give Service

The George-Anne is now a member of the Inter-collegiate Press, and from time to time, space permitting, will carry items of interest to the GTC students from the I.P. Bulletin.

LINCOLN, Neb., (I.P.)—The temptation to learn comes most often in an atmosphere where the motive of service follows a recognition of human values, declares Chancellor A. Leland Forrest of Nebraska Wesleyan University. Excerpts from his paper, titled "On the Temptations to Be a Scholar," follow:

It seems to me that our society has need now for persons who consider their college training, their opportunities to learn, not as commodities to be put upon the market and sold to the highest bidder, but as great trusts to be used in serving helping lifting society about us. The concept of service as a social responsibility on the part of an educated man must come to us with a fresh impact.

I think it is a good business as well as good philosophy, for a person to look for the fields that need some contribution simply because society has gaps which severely need filling. We need persons entertaining the teaching profession, business, the ministry, the law, and other fields who are willing to give their services wherever people need those particular fields of service. We need to see someone who will carry the concern for society, who wants to give to the generations following us a rich heritage.

There are so many jobs that need doing. The world has never had greater opportunities. My call to you is to use your opportunities to be creative, noble, and useful.

There is a political arena to be entered, and you can enter it with the best of service. There is the field of teaching, with the opportunity to guide the minds and thoughts of the generations of American children. These are the calls that are before you. What you do with yourself is entirely up to you.

'Stage Door' Rehearsals in Progress

GTC Reflector Staff is Named

Work on the 1956 Reflector is now underway according to Lewis W. Strickland, editor. Approximately 80 per cent of the student pictures have been completed. Those who have not had their individual pictures made will be one more opportunity in the near future. Plans are now being made for the club pictures and the class officers' pictures to be taken.

Faculty pictures will be made when the club pictures are being made.

The staff has been named and will meet within the next week or two to begin work. The staff is made up of the following people in the positions given: Lewis W. Strickland, editor; Gene Meadows, business manager; Punky Allen and Babs Wisenbaker, advertising staff; Harriet Woodard, associate editor; John Tootle, literary editor; Sue Whaley, Class editor; Carolyn Pierce, Joanne Hill, Carolyn Bourne, Edith Smith, Joye Bacon, Libby Ann Martin, and Elizabeth South, assistants to the class editor; Robert Allen, club editor; Nancy McIntosh and Frances Belle McGirt, assistants; and Bob Dixon and Phil Yarbrough, sports.

Billy Dennard will head the snapshot department with the following assistants: Haywood Boyd, Ralph Walton, Betty Kemp, Wilma Jones, and Major Battle. Bob Byrd and Mickie Webb are art co-editors and will be assisted by Carol Thomas

Home Ec Club Meets; Elects Five Delegates

The Home Economics Club held its regular meeting Monday night, October 17.

The new members of the club were initiated. The girls wore black skirts and white blouses, and a candlelight service was used. Beverly Perkins, president of the club, read the duties and responsibilities to the initiates.

State workshop of the Georgia Home Economics Association College Clubs will be held on our campus October 21-22.

and Maralon Westbrook. Typists are Mary Jane Harper, Sonora Brooker, and Anne Reed.

Others comprising the staff are Geraldine Todd, Dot Yearwood, Shirley Rountree, Betty Altman, Ellen Blizzard, Edward Abercrombie, Bobby Spell, Curtis Walker, Sylvia Gurganus, Cecile Woodard, Star Woodard, Joan Lindsey, Diana Bair, Pat Fletcher, Gwen Lanier, Mary Nan Lee, and Lucy Melton.

Students should pay attention to the bulletin boards for notices of schedules of pictures to be made in the future for the Reflector. Promptness in meeting appointments is essential to the success of the year book and will insure an early delivery of the books to you.

'Miss Ela' Admits Her Age; Denies She Taught Keats

"Why, I've been teaching so many years nobody would believe it," was GTC's assistant English professor's reply when she was asked how long she had been at the job of developing students' minds.

Miss Johnson has taught in grammar schools both in Georgia and in Alabama; high school in Bowdon, Georgia, and at Bowdon State College, which combined with three other colleges and is now West Georgia College located in Carrollton.

This is her ninth year at GTC. One day, while teaching the use of the apostrophe with people's names, she ran into a problem. Even though she had explained to the class until she was "blue" in the face that the sir name Keats should be K-e-a-t-s', one boy insisted that the correct way was K-e-a-t's. Finally when the boy saw he was getting nowhere with his argument he said, "Oh well, you probably knew the guy anyway."

No Particular Hobby

Miss Johnson has no particular hobby; but after all her papers are graded, she delights in reading a historical novel and listening to good music.

Both her BS and MA degrees were received at Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee. She also attended Harvard University for a summer.

MISS ELA JOHNSON

The majority of Miss Johnson's summers are spent in traveling. She has recently visited California, Canada, and Mexico.

Having taught so many years "nobody would believe it" and having traveled so much, "our" Miss Ela Johnson is well known and well liked by her many friends and students.

Walton Named PBYF Prexy

Ralph Walton, junior from Vidalia, was named president of the Primitive Baptist Youth Fellowship at their meeting October 5.

Elected to serve with Walton were Carolyn Wilson, Statesboro, 1st vice president; Barbara Barkhalter, Glennville, 2nd vice president; Jane Richardson, Statesboro, secretary-treasurer; Sara Francis Driggers, Stilson, chorister; and Jenny Faye Morgan, Metter, pianist.

The PBYF meets each second and fourth Wednesday at 6:30 in the music-business building with meetings open to guests.

Frances Poe Wesley Sec.

Frances "Siste" Poe was named secretary of Wesley Foundation, replacing Rochelle Woodward who didn't return to school this year, in a meeting held Tuesday night.

Also during the meeting Ruth Sutton Odum was named pianist for the organization and Ann Frier was made World Christian Community chairman.

Mary Jo Hodges was named social chairman for this year at the meeting. This rounded out the slate of officers for the year.

Wesley Foundation is a fellowship organization of the Methodist Church.
