Dean Carroll Announces Wednesday's Schedule; Back to School November 28

Dr. Little to Talk To Administrators

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Little attended the Georgia Association of School Administrators in Atlanta on Friday and Saturday.

He addressed the group as chairman of Education Division, of the Georgia Teachers College and spoke on "Planning for Effective Attendance Areas."

Dr. Little stressed that the two biggest factors to consider in planning satisfactory attendance areas are the optimum size of school units and travel distance involved. He closed the address by saying, "I think the biggest contributing factors to an inadequate system of education in Georgia are (1) the hundreds of small schools that cannot possibly operate efficiently, (2) the poorly managed and poorly operated busses in the state, and (3) the lack of community participation in school planning."

Dr. and Mrs. Little were guests of President Blake R. Van Leer and President Emeritus M. L. Brittain at the Georgia Tech-South Carolina football game on Saturday afternoon.

The schedule for Wednesday's classes, according to Dean Carroll, is:

11:00 classes from 8 to 9 a.m.
12:00 classes from 9 to 10 a.m.
10:00 classes from 10-11 a.m.
2:00 classes from 11 to 12 a.m., and 3:00 classes from 12 to 1 o'clock.

A fee of $2.00 will be charged all persons cutting classes on Wednesday or Monday. Classes will resume regular schedule on Monday morning.

IRC Talent Show Thursday, Dec. 1

The annual IRC talent show will be held Thursday night, December 1. As no other issue of the George-Anne will come out before that date, please watch the bulletin boards for any information concerning the show. All clubs are working on programs, skits, recitals, etc., to be featured in the show. Prizes will be given the winners.

8 TC Seniors Are Named In 1949-50 'Who's Who' In American Colleges

Thanksgiving

Let us not forget the spirit of the Thanksgiving season when we go home for a few days rest from our studies. Let us remember to be thankful that we are Americans and are free to live in a land where we can truly say that we are thankful. The George - Anne staff wishes for each of you a very happy Thanksgiving season. There will be no issue of the George-Anne next week as our staff and our publisher are taking a Thanksgiving rest also.

Faculty Members Attend Meeting

Several of our faculty attended the fifteenth annual meeting of the Southern Historical Association in Williamsburg, Va., last week. Attending were: Dr. and Mrs. Alexander, Miss Newton, Dr. Beylen, and Mr. and Mrs. Averitt.

Mrs. Herbert Weaver, wife of a former faculty member, was elected to the board of directors. Dr. and Mrs. Jake Ward, former T.C. president, and Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Weaver, former head of the Social Science Department, were also there.

Pittman Speaks On Founders' Day

Dr. Marvin S. Pittman, president emeritus and director of extension at Georgia Teachers College, delivered the Founder's Day address on program of the Lincoln Consolidated Training School of Michigan State College.

Dr. Pittman was director of teacher training at the Normal College at Ypsilanti, Mich., before accepting the presidency of Teachers College here in 1934. He is credited with having planned the Lincoln project, a consolidation of 13 one-teacher schools, while he was head of the rural education department of the Normal College.

POP Fraternity Be Discussed Here

George A. Wagner, national president of Pi Omega Pi, national business education fraternity, will be on the campus this afternoon to discuss and answer questions concerning the organization of the fraternity on our campus. All business students and business faculty members should watch the bulletin board today to find out the exact time Mr. Wagner will be here.

Student Council Get New Records

The Student Council is going to buy some new records for the activity hour. The activity hour heretofore has been a big success.

Another service rendered by the Student Council is the restoration of good syrup to the dining hall. The lunch situation in the dining hall is being checked now also.

Eight seniors have been accepted for recognition in the 1949-50 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

The students recognized in 600 colleges and universities, are nominated by their respective schools. The junior and senior classes and faculty were instructed to make their selections on the basis of scholarship; cooperation and leadership in academic and extra-curricular activities; citizenship and service to the school; promise of future usefulness to business and society. Each student accepted by the organization will be awarded a certificate of recognition, presented at graduation.

Those students selected and their activities are JACK W. BRADY, navy veteran from Waycross is majoring in physical education and minoring in history. While here, Jack has been active in the following activities: As president of Sanford Hall, member of the student Council, corresponding secretary of the IRC. He worked with the Statesboro Athletic Department, and has participated in three years of intramural athletics. Jack plans to coach when he finishes in December.

MASON CARTER CLEMENTS, a marine veteran from Ray City, is majoring in physical education and minoring in business. He is a transfer student from Cumberland College in Kentucky. Since coming to TC he has lettered for three years in baseball. He is president of the senior class and T Club, business manager of the Reflector, and a member of the executive board of the Officials Association. Mason plans to go to Columbia University for a masters degree in School Administration.

JOHN LANE KELLY, of Savannah, is best known on the campus as editor of the 1950 Reflector. He is a Navy veteran and former Savannah policeman. Kelly was editor of The George-Anne last spring, and belongs to the Veterans Club and IRC. He is majoring in Social Science and plans to enter the teaching profession.

RAYMON DOUGLAS MOORE, of Juniper, is a transfer student from Young Harris. He is a member of Mu Sigma, Men's Chorus, Student Group of American Guild of the Philharmonic Choir for two years, played in the Concert Band, and belonged to the Vesper Choir last year; is in the dance orchestra, vice-president of the Wesley Foundation and S.C.A. He is student assistant to the music department. Music and math are his major and minor, and he plans to teach.

BOBBY CAROL QUICK of Midville has been active as a member of the Philharmonic Choir, YWCA council, English Club, WAA, The George-Anne and Reflector staff, house council serving as president of East and vice - president of Lewis, vice-president of the SCA and BSU, treasurer of the BSU, secretary of Masquers and Alpha Psi Omega, member of the Student Council, and editor of the '49-50 T Book. She completes work in English and Library Science in December and plans to teach.

LOLA LANIER ROBBINS from Sylvania, is majoring in English and minoring in Library Science, but plans to go into social work or journalism. Lola is best known as editor of The George-Anne. She has worked with the WAA, is vice-president of the English Club, a member of the Wesley Foundation Council, a creative writer, member of Masquers and has done work on The George-Anne all of the three years she has been here. She is serving as student assistant to the Public Relations Department.

MARTHA LOUISA TOOTLE, from Reidsville, has won scholastic honors twice since coming to T.C. She has served as associate editor of The George-Anne, treasurer of her freshman class, president of the Science Club, on Lewis Hall House Council, has worked with the Philharmonic Choir, W.A.A., Y.W.C.A., and Wesley Foundation. She won an athletic "T" for participation in W.A.A. intramural sports her sophomore year. She plans to teach.

AL WILLIAMS, president of the present Student Council, is from Pulaski, and has served in the maritime service. He has lettered in baseball for four years, is a member of the "T" Club, president.

JUST REHEARSING

"EE-EEK!" CRIED the girl in the green sweater, "A penguin bit me!" The boy in front of her, froze, then whirled and dived for her. With one hand clamped on her mouth, he made frantic motions to the scowling figure in the wheelchair. "When first the star of Bethlehem," he began again in a droning voice.

"Cut!" cried Miss Aaron, and all action ceased except for the little girl in the green sweater, who rubbed her nose ruefully. "I don't think," she cried, trying to control her laughter, "that you, Mr. Westcott, would grab her like that. Just put your hand over her mouth."

Such are the situations we get into at a Masquers rehearsal of their big fall production, "The Man Who Came To Dinner." Like when "Professor Metz" comes rushing in and says gleefully, "First let me kiss my leetle magpie!" and immediately they go into something resembling a shag; which isn't exactly right for a dignified character like the professor. Other interesting things occur such as when the "Jefferson Special" turns out to be a coke, compliments of Miss Aaron.

A lot of work goes into rehearsal, as everyone can testify, but a lot of fun comes out of them, too. It is more than just upsetting to try over and over to say, "Sandy, Sandy," in exactly the right tone when there are 25 people sitting there watching your every move. But when the old gentleman who you are supposed to have a "crush" on, looks up at you from the corners of his eyes to say, "Miss Stanley, haven't we met somewhere before?" it is more of a struggle to keep from laughing than to look "thrilled to the core."

There are moments of lightness, too, such as the time "Beverly" sits down at the piano to sing, and ad libs, "Since my accompanist is not present, I think I shall have to forego the song."

Of course, we have a lot to learn, such as keeping quiet backstage, speaking louder and more distinctly, saying "wahnt" for "want," and pretending that it's actually a book or picture we see before our eyes and not just blank space. And when "Lorraine" looks boredly down at her sweater and dungarees to say indifferently, "This gown? Oh, I just threw on anything at all," those aren't sounds of a murder being committed. It's someone choking to keep from laughing.

These are only a few of the many rollicking good times, all impromptu, that we in Masquers enjoy. Of course, there's always the serious business of the play at hand and the old spectre of "Shall I be too scared to talk on opening night," bobs up to haunt us every once in a while. But on the whole, rehearsing a play, in Masquers at least, isn't the deadly serious, very tiring job that many people think it to be.

ORIGIN OF THANKSGIVING

By MAX HILL

THANKSGIVING originated after the Pilgrims from England landed on American soil. In November of the same year the Pilgrims realized that they had been blessed, and decided among themselves that they should set aside a day of Thanksgiving unto Him who had guided them safely on their voyage, and who had provided for and taken care of them after they had become settled.

They then decided to ask the Indians, with whom they had made friends, to join them in the celebration. Although some were wild and ignorant, the Indians were willing to help in every way that they could.

On the day which they set aside for their occasion they prepared a wonderful feast. It was not as our Thanksgiving dinners are today, but consisted of wild game that had been provided by the Indians and some of the whites. They also ate some of the crops which they had learned to grow.

The Pilgrims took Thanksgiving more seriously and reverently than we take it today. It was not just a holiday for them, for they worked and toiled to prepare their feast. They offered up their thanks to the Lord they knew had watched over them constantly. They had a strong faith and believed in Him.

Today we seem to have forgotten the real meaning of Thanksgiving and have drifted away from Christ. We have much more to be thankful for than the Pilgrims had. We are supplied with so many conveniences and pleasures that we have forgotten to stop and offer up our thanks. Christ, not only gives us happiness, faith and love, but He provides us with strength, courage, and health. These are just a few of the many blessings He provides for us.

I hope and pray that we will turn to Him, and show Him how much we appreciate His blessings which he provides for us daily.

THAT HOMEY FEELING

I DON'T KNOW whether you've ever stopped to think or not—but we have some swell people on our campus. I'm not speaking particularly of any one group—just all of us. The one thing I like so much about US is that we get along with one another; at least most of us do. We are just one big, happy family, where everyone knows everyone else, if not by name—by face, or maybe even by walk. It is really a privilege to live on a campus where your classmates and teachers acknowledge the sound of your steps in the hall with "Good morning, how're ya?" or, when they bump into you on the campus or co-op, they stop to say, "I beg your pardon" or "I'm awfully sorry—Say, do you remember Bill" and start a conversation right there.

And does it give a feeling of satisfaction for your teacher to call you by your first name and ask you if you're still having trouble with another teacher's course. Interest. That is the answer—interest in your fellowman. Sometimes I think that is one of the biggest spokes in the wheel of life. Of course, we all know, a large school could offer a greater variety of courses than T.C., but a large school could never be as homey.

If you run into one of your classmates this afternoon and he doesn't speak to you or show a little interest in your rug collection or a new pair of suspenders, tell him he's making The George-Anne editor out a lie, and then write me and let me know about it. Then I'll have to retract a lot of statements that seem to good to be true, but are true on our campus.

Tons and Tons Of Dirty Clothes

Have you ever had a dream like this: Tons and tons of dirty clothes (your own) towering over you, and no facilities whatever to wash them in. If you've never had this dream then you aren't a typical T.C. student. But this dream isn't a dream; it's a reality.

Sheets, towels, and bedspreads are sent to the laundry. Then this problem remains: how, when, and where things like blouses, shirts, etc., be washed? You have no choice. The clothes have to be washed if and when you can find time to wash them.

It would be to the college's advantage if they would install Bendix washing machines in the dormitories. The initial cost of the machines would soon be paid, because the students would be glad to pay to use them.

Why can't the administration investigate the possibilities of purchasing Bendix washing machines and having them installed in the dormitories? They could rest assured that this action would be commended by the students.

Letter to Editor

Dear Editor,

After writing the letter last week concerning compulsory chapel attendance, I investigated the possibility of having chapel just once a week.

Acting upon the editor's suggestion, I talked to a member of the Student Council. This member told me that the Student Council had been working for several years to get chapel cut to once a week. But to no avail! The administration evidently has some purpose behind having chapel twice each week, but this purpose isn't readily evident. If the administration would tell the student body why they have to attend chapel twice a week, maybe the student morale could be raised.

If the students were required to attend chapel only once a week, they would be much more interested in the program. I daresay there would be fewer cuts in chapel.

I think the administration should try to find out the sentiment of the students by having them vote on how often they should have chapel.

I am sure the administration overlooked the students' viewpoint in making this rule. I am sure that when they discover exactly how the students feel they will be quick to rectify this mistake.

A STUDENT.

Some More Odds:

Proof that newspapermen have more under their hats than a soiled shirt and a liquored breath is that four-fifths of all successful authors had early newspaper training.

The odds are more than 100 to 1 that you use 10 words one-fourth of the time: the, and, to, you, of, be, in, we, have, it. Without them you could hardly talk at all. The odds are also 100 to 1 that 300 words make up three-quarters of all the words you speak and write.

BORED WITH IT ALL?

HAVE YOU EVER wished you were someone else, or somewhere else? Ever wished you had never set foot on T.C.'s campus? Ever wanted to crawl under a building and just die? Sure you have, or you aren't normal. We all have strange desires at times even to the point of wishing we had never been born.

When you get in that mood why not knock on a friend's door and if he doesn't invite you in, just go on in anyhow. (He'll get used to the idea after a while.) Then get yourself involved in a card game or a really intelligent conversation and forget your troubles. If it is right after supper when you are "down in the dumps" grab you a girl... or a man, and wander down to the gym and take part in the dancing and other recreation that takes place during the activity hour.

Of course, I would mention some amusements we have on the campus before I suggest various types of recreation afforded at the Skate-R-Bowl. Sometimes it is hard to find someone else who wants to skate or bowl at the same time you may get in the mood. Or maybe some of you never get in the mood because you don't know how and are afraid to try something new. Those of us who frequent the Skate-R-Bowl can readily tell you that you are missing some of the best things in the recreation field if you have never tried to skate or bowl. Of course, it's hard to get up the courage to learn to skate when so many old veterans are watching, but everyone makes mistakes at the skating rink and everyone laughs at everyone else. That is one reason it is so much fun. You might suffer a few bruises and knots but you'll admit you never had a better time in your life... that is, if you're able to walk home and sit down the next day. Bowling is just as much fun; and too, there is a place to dance and play shuffleboard at the Skate-r-bowl. You may think I am advertising manager for Mr. Foss, the owner, but it has been whispered around that he might let us have a student night with reduced rates if enough students show interest in his establishment. Let's wander out to the Skate-r-bowl, which is really our next-door neighbor, and see for ourselves what fine, wholesome recreation and entertainment is offered.

EVIL COMPANY

By JAMES MARTIN

ON EVERY college or university campus in the U.S.A., a very small group of misguided and unfortunate persons are suggesting to freshmen that the way to be collegiate is hang around beer joints, haunt cheap dome dumps, neck in cars, act like dowdies, and spend leisure hours in trivial activities.

Is use the words "misguided" and "unfortunate" purposely and with intention. The self-appointed guides and counselors are misguided because they have failed to catch the significance of the college experience and do not appreciate the difference between the fine things of life and the questionable things of life. They have failed to realize that the college man is the picked man who has been carefully selected, after a long succession of tests and checks, to be given the opportunity of having membership in a group of the best in the human family. They have not yet caught the spark that sets fire to a man's feelings of responsibility to his fellowmen and to the causes of uprightness and courageous leadership. They are strangers within a flock who lack sensitivity to excellence and, therefore, continue to perform on an activity level separated from the recognized patterns of campus life.

They are unfortunate because they have muffed their opportunities and their chances. One of the great tragedies in any individual's life is that of failure to accept offerings of great value because of ignorance, carelessness or laziness.

A Laugh Won't Hurt

"That does it. Now I've heard everything," exclaimed a telephone company service representative as she replaced the telephone on its base recently.

She had called a customer in the course of business; when a young boy answered, she repeated the called number for verification.

The youngster replied in dignified tones, "Yes, this is Niagara

1234. And for whom doth the bell toll?"

He had had just about enough of his wife's extravagance, and her latest acquisition in the millinery line made him hopping mad.

"Where," he thundered, "do you think I'm going to get the money to pay for it?"

"Dear," cooed the little woman, "you know I'm not inquisitive."

GOALS

In an interview with Mason Clements, president of the T Club, last week our attention was called to the constitution of the "T" which is signed and endorsed by the administration. ALL HIGH SCHOOL LETTERS MUST NOT BE WORN AFTER THANKSGIVING HOLIDAYS. This sports department encourages all students to remove these letters over the holidays.

On December 2 the Blue Tide will have its first varsity basketball game of the year. The Tide will play the Parris Island Marines in the local gym. The following night the Tide will be host to the Alabama Teachers of Livingston.

VARSITY, VETS SCRIMMAGE

Last week the varsity basketball team held an afternoon scrimmage with the strong T.C. Vets. The varsity looked good in spots but did not show the finish that we had expected of them.

Coach Searce commented on the scrimmage and was enthused over the progress of Tip Gamble and Clyde Little. He also stressed the fact to the squad that only five men can start the game, and that some of the boys were not showing the hustle that they should.

Considering the lack of practice and conditioning, the Vets still showed up good in their part of the scrimmage. Rodgers, Croley and Robinson seemed to be the hot men of the day. Most of the other boys looked good, but, as yet, have not reached their stride.

The busiest man on the campus seems to be Coach Sam Peden, of Lab High School. Coach Peden not only teaches P.E. at Lab School, but also coaches the boys' and girls' basketball teams, the Vets' basketball teams, and helps in the coaching of the Blue Tide varsity.

Intramural Sports

In the last game of the regular season, Phillips' team finally won a ball game from the winless Trojans. Phillips' first touchdown of the season came up when Bland threw to Parker, who had outrun the defense and went into pay dirt untouched. There was no more scoring until the final play of the game, when Bland intercepted a pass and ran it all the way back from across the midfield stripe for the marker.

Phillips' Team: Wynn, Wrens, Sweat, Jenkins, Bland, Fletcher. Trojans: Swicord, Jackson, Anderson, Taylor, Woodrum, Lambert, Newton, Rhoden.

Peacock started in the playoffs with a 6 to 0 win over a fighting Edwards team. Joe Musselwhite, the hero of the game, intercepted a pass and calmly lugged the pigskin over half the field for the only score of the game.

Edwards' Team: Edwards, E. Edwards, C. Guiterrez, Talleferro, Overstreet, Williams, Carpenter, Ferris.

Art Club Open To New Members

The Art Club has been organized and is underway. Plans for coming events have been formulated. Projects, namely any form of art work desired — drawings, soap-carvings, posters, handwork, designs, needlework, etc., must be submitted by all new members and pledges on Monday, November 20. The Christmas-party-Installation-Initiation will be held December 5. It's all set up.

But don't get us wrong! We still want more new members. The Art Club, as we have tried to stress, is for those interested in art in any of its forms—not limited to art minors or "artists."

The regular bi-monthly meeting of Alpha Rho Tau was held last Monday night, November 14, and the next meeting will be held November 28.

Sarratt Is Editor of Naval Stores Mag.

Bill Sarratt, former editor of The George-Anne, is now full-fledged editor of The Naval Stores Review, a trade publication. In a letter received by the editor from Bill recently, he stated that Anne Moore's story on Dr. Herty and the T.C. pines was one of the most successful stories the NSR has run in years.

CREATIVE WRITING

AT HIGH TIDE

by Edith Carpenter

I went down, the waves to ride,
At high tide, at high tide,
I went down at high tide,
To ride the surging sea.

The tide swept out, the wind did blow,
At high tide, at high tide,
The wind did blow at high tide,
The did blow on me!

The boat it rocked, the waves they rolled,
At high tide, at high tide,
The boat it rocked at high tide,
Across the racing sea.

The boat did turn, the boat did sink,
At high tide, at high tide,
The boat did sink at high tide,
And drowned poor, poor me!

BSUers Attend Convention

Tuesday night, November 15, BSU Student Secretary John Swint and 13 BSU'ers attended the State Baptist Convention in Augusta. The group left Tuesday afternoon on the church bus and returned that night after taking part on the program.

Their part consisted of being introduced to the representatives of other Georgia Baptist organizations and moving to the front of the auditorium singing "I'd Rather Have Jesus." As the BSU representatives reached the front they turned to face the audience which rose and joined in to make the highlight of the convention.

Organ Guild Goes

To Savannah Meet

Members of the T.C. Student Chapter of the American Guild of Organists will be in Savannah tonight to attend the annual supper meeting of the Savannah Chapter of the A.G.O.

Following the supper and business meeting, members and guests will attend a pipe organ recital in the sanctuary of the Lutheran Church of the Ascension given by Dr. Wilbur H. Rowland, F.A.G.O., formerly head of the music department at Shorter College, and now head of the organ department at Wesleyan Conservatory.

Attending the meeting and recital are: Archie Nesmith, Jackie Knight, Martha Driskell, Mary Brannen, Billy Moore, Douglas Moore, and Professor Broucek.

Have You Heard?

What significance there is in the "dime-one" that Anne T. wears on her fourth finger, left hand?

Why Ila and Mila found so much enjoyment looking through the telescope in Physical Science I. Could be that Sanford Hall was the direction that they were looking.

That you don't have to know the language or so Angie and Albin have proved.

Peggy Jo loves to dance with Gerd, the new German transfer. Smooth sailing, Gerd.

Why Harry N. is so worried about being blackmailed?

About the conversation carried on by a group of boys on the campus. "Everything on this campus needs rebuilding but the girls and they need retraining."

Why Jimmy and Jean were so anxious to cross the stateline when on a recent trip to Augusta and N. Augusta.

Any new "knock-knocks?" If so, please submit them to Maxine C., who needs some new answers.

Why M. E. P. was chasing ole Parrish this afternoon?

Alethia and Ronald seem to have quite a case of late: at least I think that was stardust I saw in Alethia's eyes.

About the big turnout to the vets' first basketball game. We're behind you, Vets.

That Carol H. was seen talking with some big handsome fellow on West Hall porch the other afternoon.

POEM TO APPEAR IN COLLEGE ANTHOLOGY

The Women's Athletic Association of 14 colleges compose the GAFCW.

Miss Upshaw, an assistant professor of Health and Physical Education has been an advisor for the WAA at GTC since she became a member of the faculty in 1947. She holds a BS degree in Physical Education from West Virginia Teachers College, Concord, W. Va., and she has continued graduate study at George Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Upshaw's home is in Marietta, Ga.

Club Finds Skills In Cooking Salable

"Um-m-m! Those are the best tarts I have ever eaten," is being heard throughout the ad building these days. In a matter of a few hours the good news spread and the AAUW asked for an order of 125 pumpkin tarts to serve at their Benefit Bridge held Wednesday. Such a request called forth concentrated effort so that, before 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning a number of Home Ec Club members gathered in the Foods Lab in assembly-line formation; and with more or less adapt manipulations, equipment and food supplies were converted into tasty wares in the course of a couple of hours.

The club believes every girl should acquire real skill in the arts of homemaking, and as a result they are demonstrating the fact in a variety of projects.

college men and women of America, representing every state in the nation. Selections were made from thousands of poems submitted.

"Rippling Waters" appeared in the October 26 edition of The George-Anne.
