Spring into Data!

February 10, 2020

Share the love by planning, preparing, and sharing your research data! Springtime is a great time to learn how.

- Love Data Week, Feb. 10-14

This Love Data Week, attend the Libraries' CTE workshop, Making Data Bearable 4-5pm, Feb. 12; Cone 2029 (Statesboro) / Solms 207 (Armstrong).

Research and publication can add undue anxiety to the already stressful roles of university faculty. Join a team of specialist librarians as we walk you through the intricacies of research marketplace analysis, data management, and identity management. Together, we will develop a foundational knowledge of resources and services available to support all faculty researchers.

Also, this spring learn more about endangered data, fair use, and fair dealing:

- Fair Use/Fair Dealing Week, Feb. 24-28
- Endangered Data Week, Feb. 25-Mar.1

For more about the University Libraries' Scholarly Communications resources and services, see our Scholarly Communications guide and
