The Marshall Tucker Band will appear in concert March 5 at Hanner.

Marshall Tucker Band Coming Wednesday

Since 1969, when The Allman Brothers Band became the first original blues and boogie band in the South, there have been several additions to the list. Among these are the Marshall Tucker Band and Grinder Switch, appearing March 5 at the Hanner Fieldhouse.

The Marshall Tucker Band, one of the South's biggest blues rock groups, is based in Spartanburg, South Carolina. The group features Tommy Caldwell, bass guitarist and vocalist; Toy Caldwell, lead, steel guitar, and vocals; George McCorkle, rhythm guitar; Doug Gray, lead vocals and percussion; Paul Riddle drums, and percussion; and Jerry Eubanks, alto sax, flute, and vocals.

Lead guitarist Toy Caldwell explains, "When we formed this band, we said, 'Man, let's quit doing all this copy music and try to be a little more original about it all. Let's play what we want to play.' " Their determination to "go for broke" and devote all of their efforts towards the success of the band has placed the group in the spotlight of national prominence.

Marshall Tucker was thrust into national prominence with their first album The Marshall Tucker Band. The followup album, A New Life, did quite well on the national charts. With the production of the second album, the group was reviewed as "the best new band to come out of the South" and "ready for headliner status." Their latest album Where We All Belong combines a dynamic live performance and superbly smooth studio tracks.

Commenting on the success of The Marshall Tucker Band, Toy Caldwell says, "We sold this band through our own gigs. We went out there and played our asses off."

Grinder Switch, composed of four Floridians, is based in the "Southern Capital of Boogie," Macon, Georgia. Their music rests on a bedrock foundation of

Model UN Fund Short Of 1975 Goal - Student Activity Budget Provides Aid

This year, Georgia Southern College will participate in the National Model United Nations held in New York City. Involvement in the NMUN is a function of the GSC Political Science Department, and Dr. Lane Van Tassell is in charge of the event for the fourth consecutive year.

"The NMUN exists to give college students an inside view of what takes place in the United Nations. Any student who participates in this event cannot help but benefit from the experience," stated Dr. Van Tassell, "This year GSC is sending a delegation of students who applied last October. Since that date they have been spending their time researching their assigned country and becoming familiar with domestic issues. This year our assigned country is Uganda. We (the delegation) originally wanted to represent two countries-the other being Jamaica. But the lack of funds this year made it impossible.

"The fund raising has proved difficult-especially this year. Competition for the charity dollar is keen. But the CCC did lend its support by donating $450; and the Student Activities Budget Committee has offered to match every dollar we make, up to $500. At this time we are approximately $500 short of our goal. One of last year's delegates sent in a donation for this year's group, and his example has been followed by others. Any help we can get will be greatly appreciated."

This year's 1975 delegation is made up of eleven GSC students. They, along with 1200 college age student from the United States and 32 other countries, will meet in New York City the week of April 21-27. The students will act as ambassadors from their assigned country and will be familiar with the country's political, social, and economic issues. During the conference, resolutions are debated and voted upon within the formal structures of the United Nations. Some of the major committees to be organized and their interests are as follows:

- 1.) The Political Committee (Strengthening International Peace and Security, Peacekeeping, and Indian Ocean as Zone of Peace)
- 2.) Social Humanitation and Cultural (Refugees, Apartheid, and Status of Women)
- 3.) Legal Committees (Terrorism and Law of the Sea)
- 4.) Conference on Multinational Corporations
- 5.) World Disarmament Conference
- 6.) Special Session of the GA on Raw Materials.
- 7.) Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions
- 8.) Committee of 24 on Decolonization

Proceeds Go To Clements Stadium

Globetrotters To Kick Off Fund Campaign

Meadowlark Lemon will bring his internationally known Harlem Globetrotters to Georgia Southern on Thursday, March 13, at 8:00 p.m. to mark the full-scale kickoff for the J.I. Clements Memorial Stadium Fund Campaign.

The basketball magicians will bring their act to the Hanner Fieldhouse under the auspices of the Georgia Southern Foundation, with all college proceeds from the performance going to the J.I. Clements Memorial Stadium drive.

"This is truly a great way to kick off the major gifts campaign for the stadium," explained Lehman Franklin, Jr., Campaign Chairman of the J.I. Clements Memorial Stadium Drive. "It's the beginning of two great goals for the drive. First, it will provide the means to perpetuate the memory of J.I. Clements, whose work and dedication to Georgia Southern and the community built the Eagle athletic program into a place of national prominence. And secondly, it will develop a first-class facility for one of the nation's great intercollegiate baseball programs."

Franklin also stated that the Globetrotters' appearance would be only the beginning of the major gifts campaign, which would result in funding for the new baseball stadium at Georgia Southern.

"We're planning for March 13 to be a great night at Georgia Southern," Franklin continued. "And we hope folks from throughout southeast Georgia will journey to Statesboro to see the Harlem Globetrotters and support this campaign to complete this marvelous structure in the memory of J.I. Clements. It will be a tremendous program and will help make the dream of the stadium a reality."

Ticket prices for the Globetrotters' performance are $5.00 for all chairback seats, $4.00 for all sideline bleacher seats, and $3.00 for all end zone seats. Tickets may be ordered by telephone or mail beginning Monday, February 24. Phone orders will be taken at 681-5600, ext. 551 while mail orders should be sent to Tickets, Harlem Globetrotters, Box 8124, Georgia Southern College, Statesboro, Georgia.

Tickets will go on sale beginning Thursday, February 27, at the GSC Public Services—Continuing Education Building and at the main office and branches of the Bulloch County and Sea Island Banks.

Action-Reaction: Campus Opinion

Jim Epley

QUESTION: What is your opinion of the tuition hike?

Jim Epley (Junior-Psychology)
They said 15 percent raise isn't substantial and won't hurt the students. But I'm not sure if the Board of Regents would consider the same increase in their income-tax or insurance. They wouldn't consider that a small increase, they'd rate it substantial. If that percentage increase wouldn't affect them, then it wouldn't us. But I don't think it works that way.

Ruth Settles

I don't think it's necessary. I pay out-of-state. I don't see that the extra $17 is going to make any differences for the school. My father is in the army, and my out-of-state fee will increase.

Susan Cox

Mike Jones (Junior-Elementary Education)
The way everything else is going up, I guess it can only be expected. I paid $1000 to go out of state, so to me it's not much. It is cheap as hell to go to school here. But if everyone keeps raising prices a little bit here, a little bit there, where will it end?

Dan Bouknight

Ruth Settles (Freshman-Art)
If expenses go up, I don't see how they can avoid it. I had a scholarship to another school, and it was still cheaper to go here. I think quality of education is the same. I like it better here than at the school I could have gone to.

Mike Jones

Dan Bouknight (Senior-Geology)
Every year I've been here it's gone up. I expect it, but don't like it. It's expected.

Vally Sharpe

Vally Sharpe (Sophomore-Math)
It was probably necessary. $17 is not that much of hike, but anything more would work a hardship on a lot of people. Why not tuition, everything else is going up?

Need A Job? That's A Joke

I heard a good joke the other day. It seems this guy who had just graduated from college with a degree in — uh — well, I can't remember the degree, but it doesn't matter anyway — went to this big company's personnel department. He walked in, approached the receptionist and asked to see the man in charge of hiring. After a short wait, the former student was ushered into a plush office and took a seat.

"What can I do for you?" the company man asked.

"I'd like to apply for a job," he replied matter-of-factly.

The personnel director laughed.

Unless a great miracle is performed in the job market between now and June, those of us who walk across the stage in Hanner Fieldhouse to take that hard won diploma, may as well have spent four years in the Foreign Legion.

Members of the George-Anne were in attendance this past weekend at a convention of all staffs of college newspapers in Georgia. Part of the program that we participated in was a panel discussion with members of the Georgia Press Association, namely people involved with newspapers in the state. The topic for our discussion was, in part, the job market for future journalists. Although the senior members of the panel did a commendable job of hiding it, the truth, as always, will out and it became evident to all of us there that there is no longer any such thing as a job market.

Being on a college campus, makes the situation all the more evident to use since everybody seems to be looking for a job. One girl I know will finish here in March with a degree in Social Work. Right now, here only lead on a job is with a house painter. Another student with a degree in art is currently employed as a maintenance worker (a glorified janitor) in a nearby factory. There is even one guy I know who looked so long for a job without results that he joined the army.

My intent is not to degrade the importance of a college education since I feel that the entire education we receive in the college community is one that cannot be replaced by any amount of working experience. Yet the drastic situation still exists.

And June 7, about 1,000 people will leave Georgia Southern College in search of work they each feel will be rewarding to them mentally as well as financially.

Yes, times are hard. The country is fast nearing the depression stage in economics. But personally, I can take any amount of poverty, rather than be imprisoned in a job which I abhor and which brings me no mental or spiritual joy.

G-A Comments On...

Vandalism

In an incident called "isolated" by Chief Harold Howell of campus security, the window shield and back window were broken from a student's car which was parked on Perimeter Road, last night.

Scott Williams, a freshman here at GSC, stated to security officers that he parked the automobile on the edge of Perimeter Road after having engine trouble and that he did not know of the alleged vandalism until security officers, routinely examining the abandoned vehicle, observed the damage and contacted him, the person to whom the car was registered.

In a recent issue of the George-Anne, a page two news article applauded the fact that vandalism was on the decrease at GSC. At that time, Larry Davis, director of housing, stated that most of the destruction of property occurs in the dormitories and that even the incidence of this type was declining since the end of the Vietnam conflict and resulting the rise of student calibre.

Other campus say that theft is down and that most of the present damage is done by accident. But there are still those "isolated incidents" which give the whole school a bad name. There are still those few students who feel that they can get their "kicks" at the expense of others, whether it be individual students or the student body as a whole.

CCC Offers Prestige, Experience, Headache

As this paper goes to press, very few students have signed up to run for Central Co-ordinating Committee (CCC) offices. Unless at least a few people show up by tomorrow, Friday, February 28, to run, next year could be a very bleak one indeed for the CCC.

Signs now posted on campus urging students to sign the nominations sheet do an accurate job of summing up an officer's position by proclaiming "Money, Prestige, Experience, Headache."

Holding an office in student government is probably one of the most advantageous extra-curricula activities in which a student can engage. Without meaning to sound mercenary, it must be admitted that when one is out into the 'real world' and applying for a job, it can never hurt to have one's transcripts record that he played an active part in student affairs.

Working with the CCC is an excellent way to gain the same type of experience that is acquired through an internship program, without even having to leave campus. (Not to mention to fact that all CCC offices are paying positions....)

And while the jobs are not all glamour and do entail a good deal of hard work (the CCC admits that offices promote not only prestige, but the

Student Gripes

About G-A Gripes

Dear Ms. Editor:

Gripe! Gripe! Gripe! Is that all editors of the G-A can do? Never a sweet lip for anything once in a while?

In Ms. Cotten's editorial on the GSC lakes, graceful pines, and building expansions, the only thing she could say was negative. The library is "monstrous," the lake is "spoiled," while everything WAS "graceful," "mellow," and "sacred." Come on, Cotten, quit acting like a bunny-tail about the whole thing!

The old library is crowded. It's not as completely facilitated as a college library should be. I'm sure the new one will be more roomy, have the conveniences of a good library, and will provide a more comfortable place to study, read, or whatever. That is, if local newspapers have not lied.

Most humans will appreciate this library.

As for your "air of the environment...that grabs your souls and makes you want to confide your secrets to the earth," baby, you sure breathe some weird kind of air! None of your aesthetic qualities are going to be destroyed. If you feel they are because a few changes around a pond are being made, go downstairs from your office and talk to one of the counselors.

Are you one who enjoys resting your feet and relaxing around the lake? If so, I suppose you claim responsibility for littering in and around the water? Bottles, cans, wrappers, paper, food, and other forms of trash are constantly being raked out of the water and from your squatting areas. Should you feel the need to litter, throw down dollar bills. Then we won't have to worry about paying people to pick up your garbage.

This new park ain't gonna be all that bad, sweetheart. I'd lay money that just as many people

(or more) will enjoy the modern Eden as did the old one. I believe it will be a very pleasing spot with an appetizing environment. But if you really detest this campus improvement, and consider your "Thoreau-like reverie" destroyed, I guess you'll have to creep into the corner of your closet and pick your nose and whimper.

All my love,
Hubert Knauff

CUB Announces New Office Hours

Dear Editor:

As many students know, there has been a change made in the structure of the College Union Board. Hopefully, a knowledge of some of the details of this new framework will encourage more student-faculty feedback and participation, as well as some awareness of the scope of CUB-sponsored activities and an understanding of some of the problems that the board must deal with.

We would like very much for students to come by the CUB office (upstairs Williams Center, Room 106) or call (ext. 442) with any questions, suggestions, comments, or complaints. All members of the board are now keeping office hours, and most questions can be answered by any of these members. However, CUB members have now been assigned to specialize in certain areas, so any student interested in a particular activity can refer to the following schedules of assignments and office hours:

Activity areas and specialists—Video-tape program—Johnny Pride and Larry Mitchell
Coffeehouses—Melissa Rice and Chan Harward, Tournaments—Susan Simpson and Gloria Cahoon

Art Exhibits—Susan Simpson and Chan Harward

Special Programs (such as dinner theater)—Susan Simpson and Carole Kirkland

Educated Athlete - Here To Stay

by Marsha Conner
Women's Tennis Coach

I have often heard that athletics housed an area for people with strong bodies and weak minds. This ancient and untrue myth simply does not apply to the majority of today's athletes. One, as a former collegiate athlete, I know that good athletes must develop superb mental abilities to benefit properly from any physical abilities. Second, coaches seek players who can become as much a part of the teaching process as the learning process. The day of the educated athlete is here to stay.

Working with women's athletic programs, it is challenging to witness teams which strive to maintain high scholastic achievements, solid and mature characters, and to promote good sportsmanship in competition. Female athletes tend to carry many of the traditional "female characteristics" into their world of competition. The quest for answers to many questions, the aspiring curiosity, the supposed sixth sense, the unending commitment and dedication, and the awesome why's are just apart of coaching the ladies. It is for reasons such as these that women's athletics offers such strong rewards. Coaches are challenged to think deep and quick, and to produce adequate, justifiable reasons for most actions. For example, if an athlete is injured, he or she needs to understand the cause of the injury, the procedures to curtail the seriousness of the injury, and the reasons for a good rehabilitation program related to the injury. When a strategy is called during competition, it is important that the athlete not only be able to perfect a specific technique, but to understand the options available to each member of the team.

Most females will not have collegiate athletics and move into professional ranks at the present stage. Therefore, our athletic programs for women must be designed to offer experiences and rewards which will produce deeper insight and meet the challenges of life's situations. A physically healthy female, a competent thinking female, and a wise competitive female can only be assets to helping our country maintain its strength and position in world affairs. Athletic participation can help achieve these goals. President Ford recently upheld the need for athletics as a building block of a solid and strong society.

Next time you witness an athlete practicing and working out, male or female, bet that his or her mind is working just as hard as their body. If he or she is a really good athlete, you'll win your bet every time. There has to be more in order to win than a sweaty brow and tired muscles.

Unwanted Hair Can Be Removed Permanently!

One of the greatest blemishes to feminine loveliness is hair which grows where beauty decrees no hair should grow. If you are one of the many women who suffer the embarrassment of beauty-blemishing hair, whether it is on your face, arms, legs or body; then electrolysis is for you. Find out the facts! ## 'Godspell' Wins Admiration Despite Apparent Flaws

"Godspell," a musical based on the gospel according to St. Matthew, was presented by the Savannah Experimental Theatre in the Foy Recital Hall last Saturday night.

On the whole, the performance could be rated as fair. The inhibited stage movement of a few actors, as well as the over-exuberance of others to the point of not being able to hear lines, were detrimental factors.

Another point not in their favor occurred during the beginning of the show. The actors were giving religious philosophies of such people as Socrates, Martin Luther, and Nietzsche, with the names of the philosophers printed in small letters on their shirts. However, if you did not know what was going on, or were not on the front row, the meaning was lost. During the intermission, the mood of the play was broken by the over-done silliness of the actors yelling at one another, and doing stunts.

Otherwise the performance was enjoyable. The enthusiasm and funny ad-libbing won the audience's admiration. The emotion packed ending, when the followers were telling "Jesus" goodbye, was especially well-done.

"Godspell" is the first production to be taken "on the road" by the Savannah Company. As most of the actors are 17, the travelling is limited to the weekends. They will be performing at Ft. Stewart, Hunter AFB, and St. Simon's.

Michael Bodziner, who played Jesus, is Jewish. He says that "Godspell" has led him to explore Christianity from an educational point of view. "This show is taken from the individual's interpretation - you don't have to see my character as Jesus, just as a great teacher." After an enthusiastic standing ovation, Bodziner said, "Some nights are more fun to do than others, and this one meant a lot to me." The others, though, said that they had received a standing ovation every night but one.

Duo Has Own Genre

Don Cooper and John Silver performed at last week's Mississippi John's Coffeehouse in Williams Center.

The duo's sound was a combination of folk, folk rock, rhythm and blues, and country.

"Without hybrid guitars (amplified acoustic guitars), we achieve our own sound... and I love it!" Silver said.

"It's like our own genre," Cooper said, "We can't really be fit into folk music or country."

Cooper and Silver have been performing together for only about a month now, although they have known each other for years and have performed on their own. They started jamming at a party after one of Cooper's performances in Ohio, liked their sound, and decided to go it together. Both sing, play, and write their music.

Each song was rich in imagery and made the audience feel the emotion being expressed. One song especially enjoyed by the sparse audience was a Latin-rhythm song entitled "My Image Has Come." It was written when Cooper was thinking he would have to give up playing his guitar after his finger got chewed up in a dog fight. The song had no accompaniment with a lot of rhythmic clapping.

A brother of another color?

A number of weeks ago a black student attended a smoker sponsored by one of the fraternities here hoping to receive a bid. I have been told that he was a friend of several members of this particular fraternity. His desire to pledge then was understandable. His failure to receive a bid is not.

I realize that I am treading rocky ground at this point since it is impossible to prove that racial prejudice was the deciding factor, unless those who voted for rejection were to admit it openly. It is my belief that it was, however, having spoken with one of two members of the fraternity who resigned positions as a result of that meeting. If I am right and unless God intervenes it falls to one to damn the guilty. It is not my concern who they are but that they are.

Should you suspect that I am attacking this or any fraternity's system or actions let me correct you. I am not. Despite the fact that I personally have no interest at all in the Greek system, I have no argument with those who do. Bigots of any kind disgust me, however.

These particular individuals (those who could not accept a "brother" of another color, merely because he was another color) not only damaged the reputation of the Greek system and their own brothers by their pathetic attitude, but possibly destroyed the respect that one black student once held for members of another race.

That alone may not seem very important to some. But it is the contagious inability of certain persons to accept others on an individual basis that creates all group prejudices, racial or otherwise. Fraternities will never really be true brotherhoods it seems until they recognize all men as brothers.

GSC Baseball Season To Open March 2

"You might say that our team is strongest in two categories—team speed and pitching. We have probably as much speed as any college team in the nation, and our pitching staff may be one of the best around."

Those were the words of 1973 NCAA Baseball Coach-of-the-Year and head baseball coach at Georgia Southern, Ron Polk, as he reflected some thoughts on the upcoming baseball season.

The Eagles face a demanding 61-game schedule beginning March 2 in Statesboro against West Virginia Tech. Once again Georgia Southern will face some of the best competition in the nation, including perennial District Three powers South Carolina, Florida State, and Jacksonville.

Polk's Eagles lost 10 members from last year's 47-14 squad, and he doesn't see how the offensive punch of a year ago can be duplicated.

"We just don't have the power we had last year," said Polk. "In fact, I doubt that we'll hit 10 home runs all season. I think we have a good college offensive ball club, with better-than-average hitting, but our team speed and pitching will probably overshadow our offense."

"If we get on base, we'll win ball games because of our ability to steal bases; if not, we'll have to depend on our pitching to keep us in the games," he added.

When Polk mentions offensive power, he has every right to do so. For the past two seasons, the Eagles have been one of the most explosive offensive teams in the nation. In 1973 when Georgia Southern finished sixth in the College World Series, the Eagles sported a team batting average of .310. In 1974 they neared the .300 mark with an impressive .294 team average.

Led by All-American Jim Morrison, seven Georgia Southern regulars topped the .290 mark in 1974.

The pitching statistics were equally impressive, as Eagle pitchers combined for an outstanding 2.23 team earned run average. Sparked by Pete Manos' 1.25, seven Georgia Southern pitchers finished the season with earned run averages under 3.00.

On Sunday the GSC baseball team will open its 1975 season with a double-header at home against West Virginia Tech. Coach Polk's outlook for the season is "very optimistic. The recent bad weather has at times presented a problem with practice schedules, but everything points to a banner season, with good pitching depth and excellent team speed."

When asked about the line-up for the opener, Polk said, "It all depends on whether West Virginia Tech start a right-or-left-handed pitcher. There have been equal performance at many positions, and there is good depth at all positions. We'll go with whoever is hot at the time. Pete Manos (9-3 pitching last year) will start the first game. Bob Gerdes (7-4) will start the second game of the double-header, and Barry Beck (8-3) will pitch in Monday's game."

There are 13 returnees from last year's 47-14 team. The other returning pitchers are senior Ronnie Morris (1-0) and junior Jack VanDerSluis (5-0). The Eagles have four new pitchers, all of whom are juniors. They are left-handers John Tudor and Scott Sundermeier, and right-handers Richard Hudson and Steve Perry. All the veteran pitchers are right-handers.

Catching for the Eagles are senior Veterans Bobby Salter (who batted .251 last year), and Frank Ryan (.286), junior veteran Roger Miller (.143) and freshman Tom Kuzniaki, who is the only freshman to make the '75 Eagles squad.

At first base will be Rocky Weicht, a veteran junior who saw no action last year due to injuries, and junior Curtis Fisher. At second base there will be junior Mike Moore (.213), who played in only 18 games last year because of injuries, and junior Benjie Moore. The team has three shortstops; veteran senior Rich Toth (.271), and juniors Pete Pasquarosa and Larry Howser. On third base are two new players, Chris Royer and Tom Kitchman.

The Eagle outfield will consist of senior Steve Garcia (.298), who was last year's designated hitter; sophomore Jamie Ivins (.271); and juniors Carl Gardener and Ray Boyer.

Coach Polk had this to say about the new players. "Offensively I have seen much improvement in all of newcomers. The lack of outside practice leaves some doubts about timing, but I think the team will get the job done better than I originally thought."

Some of the players had varying thoughts on the season. Pitcher Bob Gerdes said, "I think we'll have a tremendous year. A team is only as good as its pitching staff, and we would be stronger if we could get outside."

Shortstop Rich Toth said, "Potentially we are a better team than last year's team, which was a good one."

The 1975 season? We'll have to wait and see.

Intramural Championship Tonight

The Men's Intramural Championship Basketball game will be played tonight prior to the Georgia Southern-Jacksonville game at 5:30. At deadline time, seven of the eight teams who were in the playoffs were known. This includes the winner and runner-up from the four leagues.

In League A the winner was the Green Machine with a perfect slate of 9 wins. The runner-up is the Afro-American team which finished 8-1. Their loss was to the Green Machine 44-43.

From League B the FuFu Dogs emerged as champs with a 7-1 record. Spic-N-Span was also 7-1 but were defeated by the FuFu Dogs for the top spot.

League C had Coastal States as its top team with either the Pro-Kids or Phi Epsilon Kappa for second. Their game Monday night decided the runner-up spot.

And in League D, it was Sigma Chi who took it all with a 10-0 record. Runner-up Phi Delta Theta was 8-1 before their scheduled game with Sigma Phi Epsilon Monday. Regardless of the outcome, they finished second by defeating Kappa Sigma, who was tied with them.

Let's Talk Sports

Just let me say a word or two about this week's events at Georgia Southern. The basketball season will be ending March 3 in Birmingham, Alabama with Georgia Southern taking on Samford University. The Eagles will play their last home game March 1 against Old Dominion, one of the top-rated college division teams in the nation. Prior to that game, Georgia Southern will face powerful Jacksonville University in the Hanner Fieldhouse February 27.

John Vail, John Baker and Jim Clark will be playing their last games in Eagle uniforms in those games, and I think they deserve your support.

The men's and women's tennis teams open with home matches today and tomorrow. The women face Florida State today, and the men play host to Valdosta State tomorrow. Both matches will begin at 2:00 p.m.

The baseball season will begin Sunday at 1:00 p.m. as the Eagles play West Virginia Tech in a doubleheader at Eagle Field.

Be sure to try and catch some or all of these events. It will be well worth your time to see some of Georgia Southern's fine athletes in action.

Let me also congratulate Linda Crowder and her staff for a job well done in hosting the state women's collegiate basketball tournament. And congratulations go out to the Lady Eagle basketball team for their good showing in the tournament and a generally excellent showing all season long.

Don't forget the athletic events upcoming this week. Until later...

Yours in sports,
Marty Fischer

Steve Norman, GSC Gymnast, Looking For Silver Lining

Steve Norman, a top all-around performer and a familiar face on the Georgia Southern gymnastics squad for the past three years, has been red-shirted for the 1974-

Steve Norman

75 season.

It comes as a result of a sprained wrist and dislocated thumb injury he incurred at the Peachstate Invitational in mid-December.

"You can't take a person of Steve's ability away from a team and not hurt it," said coach Ron Oertley. "I've always seen great potential in him; probably more than Steve himself. As a result of his performance at the Invitational, in which he scored in the nine's in four of six events, he indicated to me that he was ready to reach a higher level of achievement than he had ever attained before."

After finding out the severity of the injury, Oertley and Norman decided that it would be best for Norman to be red-shirted for this season and use it as an extensive training period.

Watching his teammates compete without him has been a

GSC Golf Team Opens At Seminole Invitational

Coach Ron Roberts will unveil his 1975 Georgia Southern golf team this weekend at the Sixth Annual Seminole Invitational Golf Classic in Tallahassee, Fla. The tournament will start on Friday morning, Feb. 28, and continue through Sunday, March 2, at the Florida State University golf course.

In addition to Southern, other top teams competing in the tournament include Alabama, L.S.U., Georgia, Florida, and Auburn.

The Eagles' strength this season will lie in their overall team depth. However, it won't show this early in the season, according to Roberts. "Since they'll only be taking the top four scores in this tournament, I don't think this will be a good test of our depth. Later in the season, when they count the scores of the top five, that's when it will show."

"We've been getting good consistency from our top six men right now," continued Roberts. "And we only lost one man from last year's squad."

Three new faces appear in the top six this year for GSC. They are junior college transfers Gary Durem and Greg Wolff. Al Fortney is the only freshman in the group.

Seniors Buddy Alexander and Bill Mitchell and sophomore Ken Krieger are the returning veterans from last year's team that went as high as fourth in the rankings before slipping back to eighth before the NCAA finals.

After 18 qualifying rounds, the difference between the number one and number six man is less than one stroke. That is definitely a good indication of the Eagles' strength.

After this weekend's tournament, Georgia Southern will travel to Pinehurst, N.C., for the Pinehurst Invitational next weekend.

Eagles To Host JU Tonight; Netters Face Blazers Tomorrow

The Georgia Southern basketball squad will complete its 1974-75 season this week, while the men's tennis team opens its season.

Coach Larry Chapman's

basketball Eagles will try to get back on the winning track as they host always-tough Jacksonville University Thursday night in the Hanner Fieldhouse beginning at 7:30 p.m. The Eagles will close out their home schedule Saturday night when they face Old Dominion. Monday they face the season.

Samford University in Birmingham, Alabama to close out

Joe Blankenbaker's netters open their regular season tomorrow against Valdosta State at the tennis courts, beginning at 2 p.m.

7 wrong reasons for having a baby:

1. "You're married a year now. When are you going to give us grandchildren?"

2. "You want to have a kid, Evelyn? All right, we'll have a kid. Maybe that'll patch things up."

3. "Why knock myself out working when I can have a baby?"

4. "I bet my parents would send us money if we had a baby..."

5. "Heh-heh, hey Frankie, what are you and Margie waiting for?"

6. "We only want two kids. But if we don't have a boy we'll keep trying!"

7. "Sure I want babies. What else is a woman for?"

Photos by Leonard Nones

These are just seven of the many wrong reasons for having a baby. There's only one right reason: because you really want one.

And the right time is when you want one. When the baby can be a welcome addition, not an accidental burden.

Unfortunately lots of people who think they know how to go about birth planning don't. (Research statistics show that more than half the pregnancies each year are accidental!)

That's not having babies for wrong reasons.

That's just being wrong.
