Operation Identification

GEORGIA SOUTHERN COLLEGE

New Program Aids In Theft Control

Landrum Center will be the scene of Operation Identification sponsored by Lambda Alpha Epsilon fraternity and the Statesboro Police Department on May 7 and 8.

Operation Identification is a program which involves the engraving of articles for the purpose of identification. The item will be labeled with the owner's Social Security Number and a special control number, engraved to the right of the Social Security Number. These numbers provide a fast means for tracing the original owner.

One of the major problems of law enforcement agencies today is tracing the owner of a stolen item. With Operation Identification, the owner can be traced within a matter of minutes. Also, engraving of this type usually helps to prevent theft. Thieves and fences tend to shy away from marked property. The decal which is received acts as a deterrent against theft, too.

Another advantage of the program is that the number may be traced from almost any locality. For example, say your bike is stolen and taken to South Carolina. If the bike is picked up in Charleston, the law enforcement agency there could check the computer for the code number of the owner. The bike could then be returned to its rightful owner.

Bill Pearce, who is the program chairman representing Lambda Alpha Epsilon, said "Essentially what we're trying to do, is to help the student to get his item back. It only takes three minutes to have an article engraved."

"I'm not saying that a bike won't be stolen," said Paul Herrick of the Statesboro Crime Prevention Department, "but if it is, there is a 90 per cent chance of getting it back."

Operation Identification will be open to all students, faculty and staff. It is provided as a public service by the Lambda Alpha Epsilon fraternity and the Statesboro Police Department. Any article will be engraved — bikes, T.V.'s, calculators, turntables, etc.

Campus Security will also receive a list of all control numbers.

If you cannot attend the program May 7 and 8, then you may follow the procedure below:

(1) An organization (or individual) wishing to participate in the program receives an assigned block of control numbers from the Statesboro Police Department.

(2) The organization is given the correct amount of control sheets for the numbers assigned at the beginning of the project.

Minimum qualifications for the positions follow.

Applicants who pass a preliminary screening will be notified by mail. They will be told when and where they are to appear before the committee for final consideration. The committee will announce its decisions as soon as possible following this meeting.

Students in doubt about their qualifications for one of the openings, but who wish to be considered, are encouraged to apply anyway.

Faculty Favors Bargaining Together

According to a recent survey, 87 per cent of the faculty responding to the survey voted in favor of some form of collective bargaining for the faculty, said Dr. G. Lane Van Tassell, Assistant Professor of Political Science. Van Tassell is the president of the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP), the group conducting the survey.

The survey was sent to all faculty members; 120 responded. Of these, 105 voted in favor of some kind of collective bargaining for teachers; 13 were opposed; and

2 voted "don't know."

Of those in favor of collective bargaining, 97 approved of having the AAUP as the bargaining agent. The other eight preferred "another agent."

Collective bargaining is a process whereby employees negotiate with employers through an agent on such issues as wages, working conditions, and rules. This is the principle behind unions.

It is currently against the law for public employees, including college and university faculty, to bargain collectively in Georgia, Van Tassell said. However, there is legislation pending at the national level which, if passes, would override the state law.

The AAUP is not a union, Van Tassell said. Rather it is an organization which serves college faculty by defending teachers against unjust termination, encouraging quality teaching, and so forth. The AAUP, then, is not a collective bargaining agent, but is a potential agent should collective bargaining become a reality.

There are about 50 AAUP members on the GSC campus.

Van Tassell said that in recent years teachers' unease about the economy has risen. There is a slackening budget for colleges in general and for faculty in particular. In recent years, almost all faculty have had decreases in real income, Van Tassell said, since raises have been less than the rise in cost of living.

WVGS

Full Power Achieved

by Craig Shapiro
G-A Staff Writer

"This is WVGS in Statesboro, beginning our broadcast day."

The day referred to is April 21, and the 3:45 p.m. broadcast by station manager Gary Robertson culminated several years of hard work and preparation by GSC students and administration, as WVGS-FM began its' first day of full power broadcasting.

In an official statement, GSC President Dr. Pope Duncan said, "It is a milestone at Southern, and one that will be remembered for a long time. We begin small with 10 watts, but only the future knows what the station may become."

Robertson explained the status of the station following the new development, "We are currently on a program test authority. Pending further action by the Federal Communications Commission, we will be fully licensed to the University System of Georgia Board of Regents, hopefully by December."

The authority to begin full power program tests came in an April 2 telegram from Wallace E. Johnson, the regional chief engineer of the FCC, and will give the station a broadcasting range of 10-12 miles.

One drawback from the new test authority was the number of D.J.s was cut when the station went on full power. Only fully licensed FCC operators are allowed to broadcast now, which leaves only eight to fill WVGS's 20 hour broadcasting day.

"The 'voice of Georgia Southern' will continue to serve both an internal and external function. Internally, it will provide an opportunity for students to work in the broadcasting realm of journalism, programming, and public relations," Robertson added.

"Among the external objectives will be to provide a public radio service that is cultural, educational, and informative to the college and community."

It was also noted that the station would serve as an instrument of communication for GSC faculty, students and administration.

The format of the station will not change, but several specials that were delayed because of the shorter range, will now be aired. Among them are a live James Taylor-Joni Mitchell concert, an interview with John McLaughlin (of Mahavishnu fame), and on May 1, a Norwegian music festival.

New Administration Begins Work; CCC Plans Campus Bulletin Boards

This week in the CCC, the major change will be the going out of the old officers and the coming in of the newly elected officers (May 1st). In an interview with Jody Hunter, outgoing Coordinator of Auxiliary Affairs, Hunter stated, "The new administration of the CCC has high hopes of causing changes not only within the organization, but in the college itself."

A new project, currently being worked on is the plan to construct four outdoor bulletin boards. The bulletin board project is to provide students with a process of communication other than just the radio station and the George-Anne. Also it will provide instant information concerning functions and activities on campus.

The bulletin boards will be two-sided, with lighting and a small shingle roof. A large bulletin board will be located near Landrum Center, and smaller ones at Newton building, by the Williams Center, the gym, and between Veazy and Hendricks Halls. Any recognized campus organization can put items up on the boards.

Judicial Board Nominees Sought

Nominations are currently being accepted for the four posts open on the College Judicial Board for the academic year 1975-76. Students may nominate either themselves or another student for membership on the board.

The rules of appointment in the College Judicial Board Constitution require that nominations be solicited from the faculty and student body and that all nominees be screened by the present College Judicial Board. The present College Judicial Board will prepare a list of twelve nominees for appointment to the College Judicial Board by the Central Coordinating Committee.

All regularly enrolled students who have completed at least 15 hours of academic credit at Georgia Southern are eligible for appointment provided they meet the following criteria: (1) They must not have a disciplinary record for the last three quarters of college attendance, (2) They must have cumulative grade point average of 2.0 or better, (3) They must not hold the top executive office in any other campus organization, (4) They must be full time students, (5) They must be planning to attend Georgia Southern for the entire academic year.

If a student would like to nominate someone, they should submit the name (s) to the chairman of College Judicial Board, Dr. James D. Orr, Jr. before Tuesday, May 6. All nominations should include: (1) Full name of nominees, (2) address and telephone number of nominees, (3) A paragraph stating the reasons the person being nominated will be effective as a member of the College Judicial Board. All nominations must be signed by the person making the nomination. A complete description of the procedures for appointing members to the College Judicial Board may be found on page 94 of the Eagle Eye, the student handbook. Nomination forms may be secured from the Dean of Students Office or nominations may be made on any letter size paper.

Nominations must be submitted before Tuesday, May 6, to:

Applications for all standing committees of the CCC will be opened Thursday, April 24. There are 17 committees with 8 paying and 44 non-paying positions to be filled.

The applicants will be interviewed by the CCC for the respective positions.

The committees are:

1. Student Personnel Advisory Council
2. Campus Life Enrichment
3. College Union Board
4. Health Services
5. Honors Committee
6. Lecture Series
7. Religious Activities
8. Scholarships and Loans
9. Athletics
10. Publications
11. Student Activities Budget
12. Traffic Court
13. Safety Committee
14. Academic Advisory Council
15. Continuing Education
16. Library

Applications can be picked up in the CCC office for a two week period beginning April 24 and culminating May 16. The interviewing process will begin after the deadline.

With the exception of the College Union Board (CUB) the chairman of each committee is a part of the administration. Of these committees, the CUB is probably the most important because it has the most money and is responsible for all entertainment on Campus.

Placement Services Office Student Placement Available

The Student Part-time Placement Service at Georgia Southern College is currently providing skilled part-time employees for the local job market.

Placement of the students to work mornings, afternoons, or evenings, in four hour periods, is prevalent and is being requested by more and more employers, according to the GSC Placement Services Office.

The Off-Campus Housing booklet will have the same format as before but will be larger and will have some tips on safety and fire prevention Employers desiring to use these services should contact Gordon Alston in the Student Placement Office at Georgia Southern (681-5600, Extension 5400). Employers requesting part-time employees should provide this office with all pertinent information relative to the job, such as skills needed, hours required to work, Georgia Driver's License or tools required for the job. There is no charge to the student or the employer for these services.

Action-Reaction: Campus Opinion

Question: What is your reaction to Greek Week?

William Gresham

William Gresham, Junior, Economics - I think it screws up a lot of spirit and gives a lot of people something to do during spring quarter. There's nothing wrong with it.

Jodelle Davison, Freshman, Public Relations - I think in all that it's a good chance for the Greeks to participate together in activities that prove we're working together as an organization for the good of all students.

JoDelle Davidson

Mike Walker, Junior, Political Science - I think the purpose of Greek Week is to unify all the Greeks on campus. But I also feel that the major problem we have now with the way it's organized is that it's too competitive and tends to stratify the fraternities and sororities instead of unifying them. All in all, it was a good week.

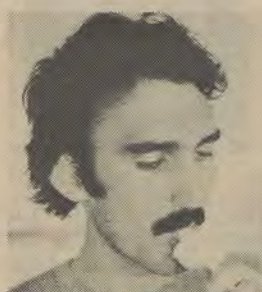

Rope Roberts, Senior, Secondary Education - Being that I'm student teaching, I don't hear much about what's going on on campus. Therefore, I don't know much about Greek Week. I guess it's okay if they want to do that; it's fine, but it's not for me.

Mike Walker

Mary Rodgers, Graduate Student, Art Education - I think it's fine for the Greeks, but it's really dangerous for everyone else. It's been necessary to watch out for drunk drivers and drunk bodies and drunk everything else.

Robert Stone, Freshman, Accounting - It's a lot of fun; but it needs a lot of organization, especially in the Greek Games on Saturday. It also needs more qualified judges.

Dr. Bill Spieth, Department of Physical Education, participated in the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation National Convention held in Atlantic City, New Jersey, March 14-18. Dr. Spieth presented a paper entitled "An Investigation of Two Pitching Conditions as Determinants for Developing Fundamental Skills of Baseball" to the Research Section. The study dealt with the feasibility of using a surrogate pitcher rather than a regular pitcher in the "Mite League Division" of Little League Baseball in order to increase the possibility of developing the basic fundamental skills needed in playing baseball.

Dr. Keith Hartberg, Associate Professor of Biology at Georgia Southern College, has been reelected to the Board of Directors of the Biological Research Institute of America (BRIA).

Hartberg was also named Managing Director of the organization's "Mosquito Biology Project."

BRIA is a scientific, education, research organization designed to initiate, coordinate and support various research projects in the field of biology. Especially significant are projects pertaining to ecology and insects and plants.

The organization is unique since it is the first cooperative to serve the field of biology. BRIA enlists the aid of many individuals and pools the resulting resources into a research program that is extensive in nature and one that benefits all the members.

Hartberg, who joined the Georgia Southern faculty in 1970, is one of the leading authorities in the field of mosquito research.

Cry Rape!

G-A Comments On...

Williams Cafeteria

If you eat meals on campus, you've probably wondered why Williams Cafeteria is closed this quarter. C.R. Pound, Director of Food Services explained, "One of the main reasons for the closing of Williams is to be better able to serve students without continued meal price increase."

Two more reasons for the shut-down:

1. Not enough students are being served to feasibly operate both dining halls at an economical level.
2. The ending of the operational costs of Williams will make up shortages that developed because of increased wholesale food prices.

Pound continued, "One of the main challenges of Food Services is to economically serve the student and keep him happy, also. By increasing the range of serving time for meals we hope we are meeting this challenge. What we're trying to do is to serve the student as best we can and with few inconveniences to the student," said Pound.

This office has been informed that some changes in the snack bar are being discussed at this time; but the rumor that it will be moved to the cafeteria is only one of several plans under consideration. According to Mr. Pound, nothing can be done with the room until after summer quarter since Masquers already has spoken for the space for their annual summer theatre.

It's good to hear that Food Services is still striving to keep down the costs to all of us broke students.

20-year-old Joan Little, of Washington, N.C., is crying rape. She has admitted to killing Clarence Thomas Allgood, a white jailer in Beaufort County, by 11 stabbings with an ice pick. But Ms. Little is pleading self-defence against attempted sexual assault.

The state of North Carolina sees the story differently, of course. It claims the truth of the matter is that Ms. Little lured the jailer into her cell on the pretense of engaging in sexual intercourse with him, but really with the intent to murder.

The purpose here is not to either defend or accuse Ms. Little. It is merely to point out that what may have happened to this North Carolina girl, can happen to any woman in this country. In fact, millions are, indeed, confronted with rape annually.

Karen Galloway, who is defending Ms. Little, said, "Joan Little is no Angela Davis. She is an average girl who was forced into a situation that a lot of average women get forced into. What makes her special is the way in which she responded."

But what is even more alarming than the high number of females who are raped, is the inadequate way in which these women are protected by the law.

Social mores condemn the raped woman to a much greater extent than the rapist. This is shown in the fact that the FBI estimates only one-sixth of all legal rapes are even reported. Studies indicate that of this fraction, only one-tenth of the arrested rapers are convicted.

During trial, if the woman admits to ever having had sexual intercourse with even one man not her husband, her case is more than likely lost. Recently California and New York passed laws stating that the woman's past history can not be used against her, but the remaining 48 states have no such provisions.

It doesn't take much to convince a court that a woman was fair game for rape or 'asking for it.' For instance, a neighbor's testimony to the fact that the allegedly raped woman had ever had men leaving or entering her house late at night, is in many circumstances, enough to reassure the jury that the case in question wasn't really rape at all.

This is what all raped American women face when attempting to obtain justice. But Joan Little faces far more. First, of all, she engaged in self-defence (she says) which resulted in death of the man she claims was attacking her.

Secondly, Ms. Little is a black woman living in a strong Ku Klux Klan area. Interracial rape is far from a new phenomenon in the south. "New Times" says for 300 years southern rape has been "Perpetrated by white men against black women, an act of dominance and superiority; by black men against white women, an act of ultimate rebellion."

Ersking Caldwell's Trouble In July, an expose of southern law and injustice concerning inter-racial rape, includes scenes of white deputies arresting black women on minor charges, for the purpose of engaging in sexual intercourse with them in the jail cells. It isn't considered outrageous by Caldwell's small-town Georgia community in the least, but merely a fact of life.

Have circumstances really changed so much since the 1930's when Caldwell exposed the above? And how is the American woman's injustice to be corrected? The only avenue seems to be the banding together of women to fight for equal protection under the law. Joan Little said recently, "Maybe now the people will realize, that now's the time to fight."

With summer fast approaching, more and more students will be bringing their bikes to school for transportation or simply for fun. And more and more of these bikes are going to be stolen. Stolen and gone forever unless you as a bike owner take a few simple precautions against such an event occurring.

The Statesboro Police Department and Lambda Alpha Epsilon are doing something about this. Their Operation Identification will give owners a 90% chance of having their bikes returned in case of theft.

We support these organizations in their efforts to make GSC a safer place to own things. We suggest that you take advantage of their offer so you won't be left empty handed if your bike is ripped-off next.

Record Review

Steely Dan Poetry, A Lyrical Problem

Steely Dan - Katy Lied - ABC Records
Record Courtesy of Sound Advice Windsor Village

Steely Dan's most recent effort, Katy Lied, combines solid musicianship, clean, crisp production and infectious melodies resulting in their most pleasing album since Can't Buy A Thrill, their first L.P.

The departure of lead and steel guitarist Jeff Baxter (who is now with the Doobie Brothers) has caused no noticeable effect on the band. Taking this event in stride, the group has assembled an impressive variety of studio musicians to fill out their sound.

The music itself? The best tunes of Katy Lied are the pop-rockers, which are generally more engaging than Steely Dan's ballads. "Black Friday" is a powerful opening cut containing a searing electric guitar lead, rhythmic organ and bass driving the song toward conclusion, with tight vocal harmonies floating above the instruments.

"Bad Sneakers" and "Rose Darling" are two more rockers of the same formula: melodies you'll remember after the song is over, a catchy guitar riff and neat choral harmonies. "Dr. Wu" is the centerpiece of this album, musically, with the best lead vocals, piano, and synthesizer work, and a gutty sax break in the middle.

While musically attractive, "Dr. Wu" is also the focus of the main problem with Katy Lied: the lyrics. While occasionally poignant and clever, the majority of songwriter Donald Fagan's lyrics are banal and ambiguous. Steely Dan's musicians deserve to play behind better poetry than:

Throw out your gold teeth
And see how they roll
The answer they reveal
Life is unreal.

The rest of the album contains ultimately pleasing material including a smooth and jazzy "Everyone's Gone To the Movies," and "Chain Lightning," a grinding tune spaced with a tasteful blues guitar line.

Katy Lied is highly recommended for those who want the best of the latest American medium rock music, with one qualification: the album shines musically but lacks consequential lyrics.

Greek Week Celebrated

The week of Monday, April 21 through Saturday, April 26 was one of excitement and frenzy for sororities and fraternities as they banded together for friendly competition in Greek Week.

The festivities began Monday with each sorority and fraternity collecting donations for the Cancer Drive.

Monday night a Greek Goddess contest was held in old Hanner Gym. The winner was Vickie Post, a freshman, representing Kappa Alpha. First runner-up was Neicie Matthews representing Zeta Tau Alpha and Cindy Cook representing Sigma Phi Epsilon was the second place winner.

Tuesday, a golf tournament was held in Claxton for all the fraternities. Kappa Sigma received first place with Sigma Chi and Alpha Tau Omega receiving second and third place respectively.

A bowling tournament for the sororities was held in the Skater-Bowl Tuesday. Zeta Tau Alpha captured first place with Phi Mu and Delta Zeta falling in second and third place.

Wednesday was "Jersey Day" which required that all Greeks wear their respective jerseys.

An intersorority and interfraternity softball game was played that afternoon in Sweetheart Circle. To give the girls a fair chance the rules required that the guys bat with the opposite hand.

Hanner Pool was the site for a swim meet Thursday afternoon. The meet was composed of relays, the breast and back stroke, free style and a medley relay which was a combination of all the strokes. For the sororities Zeta Tau Alpha placed first, Alpha Delta Pi and Delta Zeta placed second and third. Sigma Chi placed first, Kappa Sigma second, and Alpha Tau Omega third for the fraternities.

Friday, the Intramural Field was the site for a tug-of-war over the creek. In this event Kappa Delta placed first while Delta Zeta and Alpha Xi Delta came in second and third respectively. For the fraternities, Sigma Pi placed first and Phi Delta Theta and Kappa Sigma grabbed second and third places.

Friday night in the old Hanner Gym the fraternities and sororities competed in a Greek Sing. Each organization was given five minutes to sing one general song, one Greek related song, and one song of any other type. This competition was judged on organization, sound, and appearance. In this event Alpha Delta Pi placed first and Zeta Tau Alpha second; there was no third place. For the fraternities, Alpha Tau Omega took first place with Sigma Chi and Kappa Sigma coming in second and third.

Saturday morning at 11:30 all the Greeks met in the Landrum Center parking Lot and formed a parade to the intramural field, where the games began at 1:00. The games included a sack race, a three-legged race, an egg toss, a crab walk, and a bat race. The games were the same for both fraternities and sororities with the exception of a chariot race for fraternities.

The week culminated with a dance Saturday night at the Ball where trophies were given to the winners of over-all Greek Week. Music was provided by Buford from Augusta. For the sororities, Zeta Tau Alpha captured first place while Delta Zeta and Alpha Delta Pi tied for second. Kappa Sigma walked away with first place and Sigma Chi and Alpha Tau Omega placed second and third.

The success of Greek Week was made possible by the Greek Week Committee whose chairmen are Lyn Stephenson representing Phi Mu and Doug Vanorsdale representing Sigma Nu.

G-A Profiles Pollinger On Projects And Politics

As vice-president of the Central Coordinating Committee Darryl Pollinger's paramount responsibility will be to develop a better rapport with the students and CCC and with the CCC and faculty.

It is Darryl's presumption that the students do not feel part of the student government.

"I don't think apathy is merely a lack of interest. I think a lot of it is due to the fact that the students are not informed enough; interaction with students and the CCC will help a lot."

"The students I have spoken to are not satisfied with what the student government is doing for them mainly because they aren't aware of the actions of the CCC. If they were aware they would be more interested. I feel that the major part of apathy would be taken care of if the students were better aware of what student government could do for them."

"We are planning a few projects that will bring us closer to students and explain better what we are doing for them."

"We are going to be talking with people in dormitories to find out what they would like to see in student government and what they believe we should be doing. Basically, we just want to explain what we are trying to do; the idea is to let the students know what the CCC is about."

"Once the new CCC officers are organized, I hope we can have open meetings along with radio spots on WVGS to explain to students the activities of the CCC."

Speaking on other significant intentions of the CCC and the vice-presidency, Pollinger said,

"The CCC is going to run a survey to find out how students think the activity fee should be used. We wish that all students asked to participate do so with honesty and sincerity. This will mean a great deal to how the activity fee is funded."

"As vice-president it is my responsibility to assist the President with his duties and take care of office procedures and the operation of the office itself."

"In line with this, I think one of the big problems of the CCC is that the responsibilities and duties of each officer is not explicitly defined. After I take office I intend to define the responsibilities more explicitly."

Southern Comfort

By Michael Thompson
G-A Features Editor

The existence of racial prejudice in a fraternity here was alluded to by this columnist a few months ago. I had thought in my naivete at the time that perhaps that was only an isolated incident, not reflecting the presence of any systematic discrimination on the part of Georgia Southern's social organizations. Maybe I was wrong.

It did not occur to me that any of the genteel young ladies who belong to sororities would be capable of bigotry. Yet I have been told by a friend of mine that there might perhaps be at least a touch of religious prejudice in certain of their delicate blue veins. My friend is Jewish. It seems she has discovered that some sororities here only admit "Christian" young ladies. Obviously this excludes my friend. Or anyone else with a non-Christian background.

I don't believe I understand the social organization very well. I didn't think they were supposed to be cliques, least of all religious cliques. As I understand it, they are generally supposed to "promote true friendships." Why then should they seem to promote group prejudices instead?

And more importantly, will anything be done about it if they do? Or will this example of discrimination be as easily ignored as the last? I'm cynical enough to think so. But I'm not knowledgeable enough to know why. Is the fault in the Greek system or in individuals within its framework?

Are social organizations such that they promote an elite unity at the expense of openmindedness and true interrelationships? Does the Greek system actually create more barriers than it breaks down?

If this is even partially true and there are at least a few indications that it is, then it's time for the Greek system to take a long honest look at itself. Else out of blindness to whatever faults it might contain it destroys itself and loses all. Cowboy

Eagle Baseball Action

The GSC Eagles had a rough time on their road trip last week, losing five out of six games. They lost both games of a double-header to Mercer of Macon, 3-1 and 2-1. John Tudor was the loser in the first game, giving him his first loss on the year. His record is now 4-1. Tudor went 9 innings, giving up 3 runs on 5 hits and 4 strike-outs. The only run for GSC came in the second inning when Curtis Fisher lead off with a walk and later scored on a single by Ray Boyer.

In the second game Pete Manos was the losing pitcher, bringing his record to 9-3. The only Eagle run came in the first on a solo home run by lead-off batter Benjie Moore. This was Moore's third home run of the year. The Eagles got only three other hits in the game.

GSC split a double-header with Columbus College, taking the first game 9-7 and dropping the second 9-8. Bob Gerdes was the winning pitcher in the first game raising his record to 5-4. He worked 8 1/3 innings, allowed 7 runs on 7 hits, struck out 7 and walked 8. Barry Beck appeared in relief in the last of the ninth inning. GSC got 9 runs on 9 hits.

Barry Beck was the losing pitcher in the second game when he relieved starter Scott Sundermeier in the sixth. The game went only seven innings because the field was not equipped with lights. Southern got 8 runs on 13 hits. Ray Boyer hit this third home run of the season in the third inning with no one on base.

Barry Beck lost his second game of the week 9-0 against South Carolina, on Friday. He worked 5 innings allowing 8 runs on 10 hits. Beck's record is now 4-5 on the season. Scott Sundermeier entered the game in relief and allowed one run. The Eagles got no runs on 3 hits and 2 South Carolina errors. Benjie Moore had a 22 consecutive game hitting streak broken in this game.

South Carolina won their fourth game of the year from GSC by a score of 2-1 on Saturday. Pete Manos was the losing pitcher, putting his record at 9-4. He pitched the full game, allowing 2 runs on 8 hits. The Eagles got their only run of the game in the third inning when Steve Garcia led off with a double and Mike Moore singled him in. South Carolina tied the game in the fifth with a lead-off home run. They brought the winning run across in the bottom of the ninth with two outs, on a walk and back-to-back singles.

The Valdosta State Blazers came to Southern for a double-header Sunday, but the second game was rained out. John Tudor (5-1) picked up the win as GSC won the first game 9-1. Tudor worked 9 innings giving up 1 run on 9 hits and striking-out 8. The Eagles scored 9 runs on 10 hits, three of which went for extra bases. Mike Moore went 3-4 at the plate, with a double and a triple. Benjie Moore, Larry Howser, Carl Gardner, and Mike Moore each added a stolen base to CSC's new stolen base record. The record now stands at 105. The final run for the Eagles came in the eighth inning when Tom Kuzniacki hit a solo home run well over the left field fence.

This was Kuzniacki's first home run of the year and his first as an Eagle.

Eagles Take Schenkel Honors

by YANK

The college golf scene shifted stage to Forest Heights Country Club near Statesboro last weekend as twenty-one schools participated in the Chris Schenkel Invitational. The University of Florida captured the team championship with a total of 1059, edging top ranked Wake Forest by two shots. The Wolfpack from NC State finished third (1079), and our own Eagles, from Georgia Southern, finished fourth (1080). East Tennessee State finished with a total of 1082 to round out the top five teams.

The individual championship proved to be just as exciting. Andy Bean of Fla. took the honors with a 199 total. This low score was helped by a record setting 63 posted during the second round. Phil Hancock, also of Fla., finished second with a ships. They were in eighth place after the second round and passed four teams during the third to take home the fourth position. This came about by solid performances from all of the players. Besides the Alexander heroics, Ken Kreiger (216), Greg Wolfe (218), Gary Duren (221), Bill Mitchell (222), and Joey Kaney (224), performed well for the Eagles. Credit is also due to the head coach, Ron Roberts. As a result of their high finish, Southern will be ranked as one of the top ten golf teams in America.

three round score of 202. Buddy Alexander of Georgia Southern, finished third with rounds of 69, 70, and a final round of 64. Alexander's fine play guaranteed GSC a team placing for the tournament.

GSC Eagle tennis team - (Kneeling) Co-captains Chuck Cicchese and Oliver Scott; (Standing, L-R) David Marsh, Danny Gladman, Bunner Smith, Bill Charles, Peter Holl, Kerry Myrick, Jerry Riggins.

Men's tennis has been shining bright on the GSC campus this spring.

With top talent in all positions, the Eagles have claimed big wins over top teams. The favorite win of the season was over an outstanding Wake Forest team.

Southern made a fine appearance at the Georgia Intercollegiate Championships last weekend at the University of Georgia. The Eagles placed second in the state. UGA took the top position and Georgia Tech placed third.

Things look very bright for next year's tennis program. Southern has signed up two new players that are sure to help produce another fine season.

Georgia plans to go to the University of Ga. next year and enter the school of pharmacy there. "I had fun being with the team. It was good experience. GSC could use a few more tennis courts. There seems to be a huge overload of people wanting to use the facilities."

Bill Charles - A 20 year-old junior from Lakeland, Fla., Bill has done well on the courts this spring. Bill is majoring in business management and plans to go into some type of business. During spare time, he enjoys bass fishing. Bill commented on the financial needs of the tennis team: "The tennis program doesn't have the funds that it needs. We've been invited to several out of town tournaments. However, lack of funds has kept us from going on the trips. Hopefully the team will be able to get more funds in the future."

David Marsh - A 19 year-old freshman from Dunwoody, Ga., David has been an important part of the Georgia Southern team this year. The recreation major plans to play professional tennis and then teach tennis.

Chuck Cicchese - Chuck, a 22 year-old senior from Hollywood, Florida, has been playing impressive tennis this season. The recreation major, who transferred from Miami-Dade North, plans to play tennis professionally before a career as a tennis instructor or recreation supervisor. Cicchese had this comment on the GSC tennis program: "GSC could have a great tennis program, however, there doesn't seem to be enough money. I think the season went fairly well. We should have won a couple of matches that we lost. Next year should be a good year for the tennis program."

Bunner Smith - A 20 year-old recreation major, Bunner has been providing plenty of fast action on the courts this spring. From Sarasota, Fla., he plans to enter into a recreational career, preferably as a teaching pro at a club.

"The GSC team has the potential to develop into one of the top teams in the South. Outstanding sports are important for bringing students to this school."

Roger Nelson - A 21 year-old Chemistry major from Wadsworth, Ohio, Roger has learned much this year and is looking forward to action next year. He wants to enter graduate school after his senior year here.

"The season has been very productive. I have learned a lot from the other players. The team should be quite strong next year."

Danny Gladman - Danny, a sophomore from Lakeland, Florida, has been a definite stronghold for the men's team this season. He is a 20 year-old recreation major here at Southern. Danny plans to teach tennis after his college action on the courts. Danny is a member of ATO fraternity.

Peter Holl - Peter, a freshman from Cologne, West Germany, has been leading the Eagle netters this season. His fast, dynamic play and outgoing personality have made him a favorite on the courts as well as the GSC campus. Peter has quite a resume of tennis accomplishments. Holl enjoys soccer in his spare time. After his tennis career, he plans to return to Cologne to coach.

Oliver Scott - a 21-year old senior from Jesup, Georgia, Scott has been a crowd pleaser at GSC this season. He is a business major, and he plans to give tennis lessons at a country club in Florida before starting a career in the business world.

"I think we've had a good year overall during this season. We lost a couple of matches that could have easily gone either way. Rain has kept us from playing some easy teams that would have helped our season record."

Kerry Myrick - A 19 year-old freshman from Macon, Georgia, Kerry is looking forward to a lot of court action next year. The business major enjoys fishing, swimming and bicycling.

"I'm looking forward to playing three more years. I think we've had a good season. The University of Georgia is coming to Southern next year. That says a good deal about our team."

Jerry Riggins - Jerry, a 21 year-old junior, has had a good year on the tennis team. The pharmacy major from Jesup,

Nancy Bateman, Norah McGraw, Pam Long (not pictured).

This year's tennis season for the Lady Eagles will conclude May 9-11 at UGA as the team has a chance to iron out all the frustrating points of the season and to take one last swing at chosen opponents.

Following long hours of dedicated practice during fall and winter quarters, the Lady Eagles discovered that the tiring work was not in vain.

A fairly young team, the Lady Eagles have worked hard together this season and created a very successful season's record.

The team is now looking toward the tough competition of this year's state intercollegiate match in Athens. The ladies are hungry for the honors that will be given at this tournament.

Coach Connors expressed the ladies' attitude going into this tournament: "The seven young ladies on the tennis team ladder have mentally put the words 'dedication and determination' in capital letters. It has been a season full of learning and sacrificing. It will be a pleasure to watch these ladies as they represent Georgia Southern at the University of Georgia."

Beth Warren - This year's first string single's player, Beth has played exceptional tennis all season long. A childhood education major, she plans to teach primary school. The 20-year-old blonde from Smyrna, Ga., enjoys scuba diving, backpacking and poetry.

"I think we'll need some strong new players on next year's team to add to this year's program. I'm glad that most of us will be able to play together again next year. All of us get along well. Competition in women's athletics is getting tougher. This tougher competition is forcing our team to play its best. Tennis is a good sport. It teaches you how to cope with yourself both mentally and physically. A tennis player learns a lot about self control."

Pam Long - A 20-year-old junior from Morgantown, Ga., Pam has seen plenty of action this year on the courts. She fills the number two singles position and plays first string doubles. A PE Major, she plans to coach women's basketball and tennis on the high school level. Pam enjoys fishing, swimming, and working with children.

"Women's sports at Southern seem to be going slow. I guess it's the funds. We've had a good year this year, so, the future should be looking a little brighter."

Nancy Bateman - Nineteen-year old Nancy is a biology major here at Southern. Her home is in Richmond, Va. Besides playing tennis, Nancy enjoys camping, backpacking, and surfing. A true nature lover, she plans to go into the field of wildlife research.

"I think we've done well this year even though we are a young team. We've had some stiff competition this season."

Norah McGraw - 20 year-old sophomore from Newnan, Ga., Norah has played strong, consistent tennis this season. She is majoring in exceptional child and plans to work in the area of behavior disorder among children. Norah also enjoys playing the guitar and swimming.

"I've enjoyed playing here at Southern for the last two years. We're really excited about the state meet for women's tennis which will be held in Athens."

Vickie Johnson - 20-year-old sophomore from Statesboro, Vickie enjoys tennis and also spends a lot of time doing volunteer work. Planning to be a nurse, Vickie has gotten much practical experience working at the High Hope Center for retarded children.

"I've enjoyed getting to know the girls on the tennis team. Playing tennis here has been a good experience for me."

Sue Edwards - a 19-year-old sophomore from Atlanta, Sue has been a strong and determined player this season. She plans to teach high school after college. Horseback-riding and sports in general take up much of Sue's time.

"This year has been an important learning experience for me. I think this knowledge will help my performance on the courts next year."

Joan Gory - a 22 year-old senior at GSC, Joan has been playing well this year. An English major from Macon, she enjoys swimming, bicycling, and water skiing. Joan is a member of the Delta Zeta sorority.

Kappa Alpha Celebrates 8th Annual Old South

Since the conception of Delta Theta Chapter in 1968, OLD SOUTH has been one of its grandest traditions. KA chapters throughout the nation have celebrated their annual OLD SOUTH festivities since it was initiated back in 1920 at the University of Oklahoma.

In keeping with this tradition of all Kappa Alphas we sincerely hope that no person is offended by the displaying of different aspects of our heritage, for we do not intend to offend. We feel that the right to display one's heritage should not be denied to anyone. A very reputable author once wrote about Robert E. Lee, "It is inconceivable that Lee, if he were alive today, would advocate resistance to national authority or in any way abet social turmoil or racial hatred. Certainly he would staunchly oppose the use of the Confederate flag to cloak sordid causes and shield unworthy persons. To him the Confederate flag was a symbol of suffering, gallantry, and heroism of the highest and noblest sort. He would be infuriated by the sight of self-seeking demagogues and wrong thinking agents of bigotry, hatred, and violence wrapping themselves in this revered emblem in an effort to acquire respectability and enhance their influence."

Convivium

On January 19 of each year, Robert Edward Lee's birthday, our active and alumni chapters meet at banquets, smokers, or balls to celebrate what is termed "The Convivium."

Although December 21, 1865, is accepted as the founding date, the time for these celebrations was changed by the convention in 1929 to honor Lee and the founding of the Order on one occasion. Delta Theta Chapter celebrated convivium this year with a banquet at the Holiday Inn with Brother Clarence Clay, former President of KA at the University of Ga., (Gamma Chapter), delivering many inspiring thoughts to the memory of Robert E. Lee.

History of KA Order

Kappa Alpha Order was born at Washington College, now Washington and Lee University, in Lexington, Va., on December 21, 1865, as Phi Kappa Chi Fraternity. It was conceived in the heart and mind of James Ward Wood of Lost River, West Va., then a student at Washington College. At that time, he was sworn in binding association together in lasting friendship, "by mutual pledge of faith and loyalty" to three fellow students. Wood, along with William Nelson Scott and Stanhope McClellan Scott of Lexington Va., and William Archibald Walsh of Richmond, Va., has been venterated as one of the four founders of the Order. Kappa Alpha Order is southern in origin, but is not sectional. The Order is southern in a significant sense wherein its essential teachings are for its members to cherish the ideal character and attributes of the true gentleman of which General Robert Edward Lee was the near perfect expression.

Robert E. Lee was never a member of the Kappa Alpha Order but members of the Order take pride in the fact that the first chapter house was frequently visited by him. He showed pride in this new group of men. On January 19th, of each year, each chapter celebrates the order's Convivium, the birthday of their spiritual founder, General R. E. Lee of Old Virginia.

Delta Theta Chapter at Ga. Southern College became the ninety-fourth chapter on March 29, 1968. The Order at the present is still growing and now has an active chapter roll of 96. In addition to active chapters, various areas have alumni chapters across the nation. A local alumni chapter is being planned and organized and should be in full swing by next fall.

The brothers of Delta Theta have discovered that Kappa Alpha Order is not just another college fraternity, it is a way of life, a philosophy of living. Its influence cannot be weighed, measured, or analysed; but, for its members, there is nothing more substantial, nothing more real, than the vows they have taken, the precepts which have become a part of their very souls, the strong bands of brotherhood which have been among their dearest and most cherished blessings.

General Robert Edward Lee General Lee is a man who can be viewed only in heroic proportions. Even his better biographies tend to be multi-volume works, approached by only the most careful and painstaking historians.

Kappa Alpha's spiritual father, moreover, was a living symbol of the world for which he fought. His cause met defeat yet General Lee went on above defeat, towering over his own enemies and surviving with a stoic calm the adversities of the early post war years. Most men are capable of dealing with victory, only a chosen few have ever risen above defeat. General Lee towered over defeat as he did over all of life.

Lee was the last and greatest of the Old South's chivalric age that lived and fought "pour Dieu et les Dames."

Distinguished Alumni

Through the years the National Order has recognized some of our brothers throughout the nation as being distinguished alumni. A brief list of these would include:

J. Edgar Hoover, FBI, Pat Boone, movie star, Tommy

Nobis, football star, Ben Crenshaw, professional golfer, Leon Jaworski, Watergate prosecutor, Carl Albert, Speaker of the House of Representatives, Sonny Jergensen, professional football player, Dean Rusk, former Secretary of State, Clard Clifford, former Secretary of Defense, Admiral Richard E. Byrd, Deceased Antarctic Explorer, Gen. George C. Marshall, Deceased Secretary of State, General of the Armies, Noble Peace Prize, and General George S. Patton, Deceased W. W. II Army Commander.

It is difficult to define greatness, but we can recognize a great man when we see one Lee was great in mind. He was great in heart. He was great in will-power. He was great in character. His greatness is seen in the universality of his appeal and in the great men who have gained their inspiration from his example. It is the glory of Kappa Alpha that it was kindled its torches at his fire for over a century, and will continue to kindle them by his flame through all the coming years, with God's help.
