Comparing the Number of Alcohol Violations: GS and other Georgia Universities Part One

Liquor Law Arrests 2020-2022
By: Vanessa Countryman

Georgia Southern University, Statesboro Campus, has more Liquor Law arrests in 2021 and 2022 than Georgia State, Georgia Institute of Technology and Kennesaw State University combined, according to Clery Reports. The Clery Act is a law that requires colleges and universities to annually report their most recent three years of campus crime policy and statistics.

These years combined: Georgia Southern University had 105 arrests total from 2020-2022.

- Georgia State University: 38
- Georgia Tech: 1
- Kennesaw State University: 42
- UGA: 193

Total Enrollment:

- Ga Southern Fall 2022 (Statesboro Campus)- 17,738
- Georgia State (according to their most recent factbook Fall 2021) – 52,347
- Georgia Tech Fall 2022- 45,296
- Kennesaw Fall 2022- 42,983

“The numbers reported for Clery are only incidents that occur on what is defined as campus property,” said Laura McCullough, Chief of Georgia Southern University Police. “Most of the student body in large metropolitan areas such as Atlanta do not live in an area that is reported to Clery, as it is not considered ‘on campus.’”

However, here is how many students live in student housing:

- Georgia Southern Fall 2022 (Statesboro)- 4,475
- Georgia State Fall 2021 (Atlanta Campus) – 5,013
- Georgia Tech Fall 2022 – 8,805
- Kennesaw Fall (Kennesaw Campus) 2022- Numbers not available; but, according to their website, “More than 5,200 students live in eight distinctive residential communities in Kennesaw and Marietta.”

Chief McCullough was informed about these numbers and she did not wish to make any additional comments.
