STATESBORO, GA. – Former Eagle and Colorado Rockies minor leaguer Sam Howard has received a non-roster invitation to Major League Spring Training in preparation for the 2017 season. Howard enters his fourth season as a professional after finishing the 2016 campaign with a 3.35 ERA over 27 appearances at the Advanced-A and AA levels. Howard is among a list of seven former Georgia Southern student-athletes playing professional baseball.

Howard opened the season by working 11 games and posting a 4-3 record with the Modesto Nuts at the Advanced-A California League. He earned a promotion on June 9th, moving cross-country to play for the Hartford Yard Goats of the AA Eastern League. He posted a 5-6 record with a 3.99 ERA in 90.1 innings with Hartford. He reported to the Colorado Rockies' Spring Training in Scottsdale, Arizona on Sunday, February 12th.

Chris Beck is the other former Georgia Southern Baseball student-athlete heading to Spring Training this week. Beck is on the Chicago White Sox active roster entering the 2017 campaign after closing out the 2016 season with the big club. Beck went 2-2 in 2016 over 25.1 innings with 20 strikeouts.

Georgia Southern's list of former players in professional baseball also includes Jason Richman (Rangers), Victor Roache (Brewers), Aaron Mizell (Astros), Eric Alonzo (Angels), and Josh Wirsu (Cardinals).

Georgia Southern returns starters at seven of the eight fielding positions and a full stable of pitchers from the 2016 season. The Eagles capped a 36-24 campaign in 2016 by reaching the Championship Game of the Sun Belt Championships, falling one win shy of a berth in the NCAA Tournament.

The Eagles open the 2017 season with their first eight games at home, including visits from Georgia, Georgia Tech, College of Charleston and Middle Tennessee. Georgia Southern kicks off the season with a three-game set against Middle Tennessee starting on February 17th.

Those teams earn the top seeds for the 2017 Sun Belt Baseball Championships which will be held on the campus of Georgia Southern University at J.I. Clements Stadium. The tournament runs May 23-28. For more information, visit SunBeltSports.org.
