SCOUTING THE PANTHERS (Twitter - @GSU_WBB)

The Eagles and Panthers will be meeting for the 43rd time in women's basketball.

Georgia Southern holds a 24-18 advantage over the Panthers. The two teams met earlier this season in Statesboro and a strong second half by the Panthers led them to defeat Georgia Southern, 54-58. Last season, GS and GSU split the home-and-home regular-season series with each team winning on the road.

Georgia State is coached by seventh-year head coach Sharon Baldwin-Tener. Baldwin-Tener, who has been a collegiate head coach for 18 years, is 72-129 in Atlanta and 270-264 during her career.

Georgia State enters Saturday's game after dropping both contests last weekend against Arkansas State and Little Rock. The Panthers have lost three of their last four contests. As a team, the Panthers average 62.0 points per game, but they allow 64.4 points to their opposition. Georgia State averages 38.4 rebounds per game, while their opponents average 37.3 per game. The Panthers force turnovers from their opponents an average of 17.8 times per game, but turn the ball over 18.5 themselves.

Georgia State's freshman guard Jada Lewis is the only player averaging double-digit points per game with 11.4. Lewis has played in all 28 games for the Panthers with a 41.0% (119-290) percentage from field goal range, and a 38.2% (29-76) average from beyond the three point line. Four Panthers besides Lewis average above eight points per game, Tiffany Holston (9.7), Madison Newby (9.3), Makeba Ponder (8.6) and Astaja Tyghter (8.0). Holston leads the team from below with an average of 8.7 rebounds per outing.
