Ground breaking to be Saturday

GSC's new stadium site is finally announced

By JULIE WILKES
 Asst. News Editor

After nearly two years of anticipation, the drama unfolded last Thursday as Athletic Director David "Bucky" Wagner announced the location of GSC's new football stadium.

The new facility will be located on a 55.7 acre site at the intersection of Chandler and Lanier roads. Originally, the stadium was to be located at the intersection of Perimeter and Old Register roads.

Ground breaking ceremonies will be held this Saturday, April 30, at 12:30 p.m. Participating in the ceremonies will be GSC President Dale Lick, Southern Booster President Morris Lupton, Head Football Coach Erk Russell, Wagner, and M.C. Anderson. Owner of a construction company in Savannah, Anderson donated $250,000 toward the construction of the stadium during halftime of a game this past fall quarter.

Also expected to be in attendance at the event is the GSC football team and coaching staff, the GSC Booster Board, along with numerous other dignitaries.

Initially, seating capacity for the stadium will be 20,000. Included will be parking facilities for some 4,000 automobiles. The stadium will be built with the potential to be enlarged to 60,000 capacity.

The cost for the entire project is estimated between three and $4.5 million. The project is scheduled for completion by August of 1984 in time for the '84 football season.

"We are delighted that the means have been raised by the Southern Boosters for the purchase of the stadium site," said Lick. The construction of this stadium will add tremendous excitement to GSC football and the GSC campus. This endeavor will add great interest and excitement to our entire community."

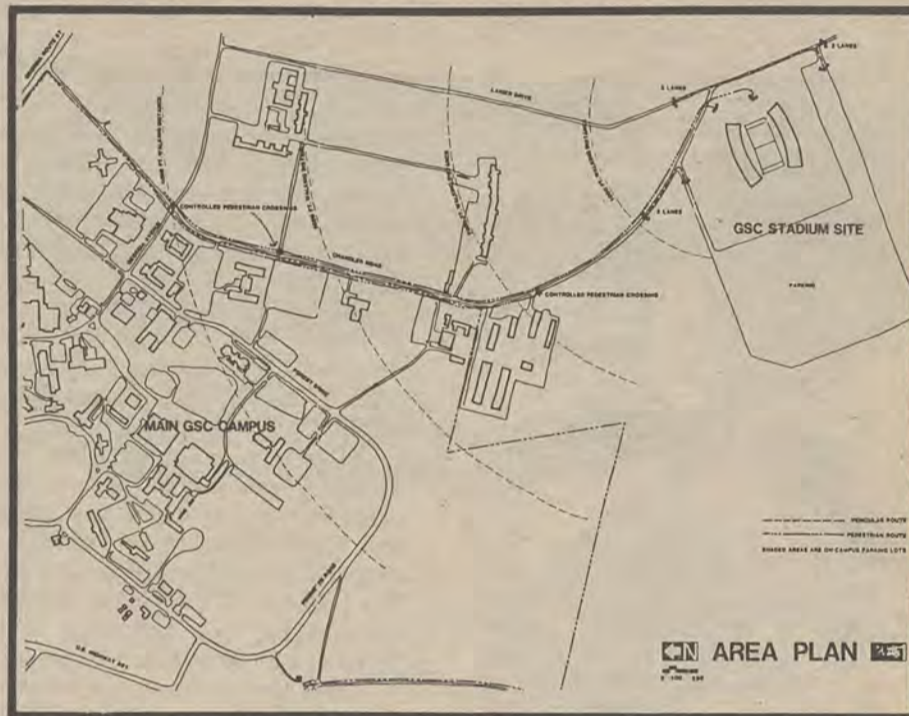

Russell said the stadium is a must in reviving football at GSC after a 41 year absence. "It'll mean everything to our program," said Russell. "We've got to have it if we're going to realize our goal of being a Division I-AA school by 1984."

The coach also believes that the new stadium will be a big boost in GSC's recruiting status. "People will realize we're real serious about having a football program here," said Russell.

The Stadium Committee believes that their site selection, approximately a quarter of a mile from the campus, is the best possible one. Said Wagner, "The new stadium site is an improvement over our campus site because it expands the campus, is within walking distance of campus dormitories, and is more suited to our construction plans."

Apply for positions now

The Media Committee is presently accepting application for the positions of editor, managing editor, news editor, and business manager of The George-Anne; Editor of the Miscellany; Editor, Associate Editor of The Reflector, and station manager, music director and news director of WVGS.

Student wishing to be considered for staff positions should submit a letter listing their qualifications to the chairman of the Media Committee, Paul Kleinginna at LB 8041 by May 2.

The chairman will then send copies of the letters to the other members of the committee. Applicants will then present themselves to the committee Thursday, May 19 at 5 p.m. in MPP 166.

The new staff will be elected at this meeting and will begin their duties summer quarter or fall quarter.

Greek Week winners

By MARION ELROD
 News Writer

Greek Week encouraged a competitive spirit between the fraternities and sororities but because of rain early Saturday morning, the Saturday games were cancelled.

The weather allowed everything to go as scheduled at the beginning of the week. The activities and winners of each event are as follows: Golf was won by Kappa Sigma. Sigma Chi took second place and Kappa Alpha took third.

The weightlifting competition was won by Kappa Sigma with Alpha Tau Omega and Sigma Chi placing second and third, respectively.

In the bike race Sigma Nu won first, Sigma Chi won second, and Alpha Tau Omega took third place. The sororities placing in the same event were Alpha Delta Pi, first, Alpha Gamma Delta, second, and Chi Omega, third.

Winners of the badminton competition were Delta Chi, first and Sigma Chi, second.

McCroan Auditorium needs new lighting board

GREG BRETT
 News Writer

GSC needs a new lighting board for McCroan Auditorium. "It's just worn out," says Director of Theater Dr. Richard Johnson.

A request for $5,000 has been submitted to the Student Activities Budget Committee in an effort to raise an estimated $12,000. However, as of the present, comment or approval has not been given by the committee. Comment is expected in early May and hopefully, approval will come later in the quarter.

In addition to that $5,000, a $3,000 donation has been secured by the National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega. The compilation of these separate sums would bring GSC that much closer to the much-needed lighting board.

The need for this new board should not be confused with "unnecessary GSC expenditure." The new board would benefit everyone.

The auditorium's stage lighting and facilities are not only used by GSC theatrics. Such programs as the Miss GSC Pageant made use of the facilities, not to mention the Campus Enrichment Program, SUB and area high schools. Those facilities are post-due for upgrading.

The lighting board was purchased in the mid 60's from a company then located in Great Britain. It carried a ten year trouble-free expectancy. According to Johnson, GSC has squeezed 15 years out of the board. This was made possible by constant repair.

Johnson estimated past repair costs to fall somewhere between $300 and $700, depending on the size and amount of the repairs. Parts are not being manufactured anymore, so repair has become increasingly more and more difficult. In fact, it seems that repair possibilities have been exhausted.

"It's beyond salvaging...we're down to about two-thirds of it's capacity," explained Johnson. Says instructor and play-director Don Gaughf, "The time is limited; it could go any time."

Bids for the new board have not been secured, but investigation of brand names, capability and company guarantee is taking place.

Newsbriefs

Liabile for conduct | New tryout proposal

A Canadian College is trying to control off campus behavior of its students. Beginning next fall, those registering at Queen's University in Kingston, Ontario, will have to sign a code of conduct making them liable for any form of behavior that reflects badly on the school. Penalties include suspension, expulsion or fines of up to $1,000.

Cheerleaders would be selected by judges, not elected by students, under a University of Mississippi proposal. A judge selection process would be more fair to minorities, UM officials say. To be implemented, the new process must be approved by the Student Senate, and the administration.

A Pizza eating contest was held Wednesday at Sweetheart Circle.

Fraternity winners of that event included Sigma Nu, first, Sigma Chi, second, and Pi Kappa Phi, third. The sorority winners were Kappa Delta, first, Chi Omega, second, and Delta Zeta, third.

Tennis competition was held Thursday with Pi Kappa Phi and Zeta Tau Alpha placing first. Kappa Sigma and Kappa Delta placed second.

A swimming meet was held Thursday evening in Hanner. First place was won by Alpha Tau Omega and Kappa Delta. Second place was captured by Kappa Sigma and Zeta Tau Alpha. Third place winners were Sigma Nu and then a tie between Chi Omega and Delta Zeta.

A tug of war competition was held Friday afternoon at Oxford field. Sigma Nu and Chi Omega won first place. Alpha Tau Omega and Delta Zeta came in second.

On Friday night the fraternities and sororities gathered in Hanner Fieldhouse to compete in various events. Greek sing was the first competition of the evening. The fraternities and sororities prepared a medley of songs to be judged by faculty members. The winners of this event were Alpha Tau Omega and Chi Omega.

Greek God and Goddess were announced on Friday night. Each fraternity and sorority selected a male and female to represent them. The representatives dressed in Greek style and were judged on creativity

Masquers' last performance deals with ideals and values

"It's not stylistic, not Shakespearean, not in any way larger than life," said theater instructor Don Gaughf of the Masquers final performance this year, "The Sign in Sidney Brustein's Window."

Performances will run May 4-7 beginning nightly at 8:15 in McCroan. Tickets will be on sale at the box office for $3.50; however, students with ID may attend for 50 cents.

The play is "about a man struggling desperately with his own values," Gaughf said. Sidney Brustein is an ordinary man who is educated and very aware of the world. The cause of his problems in life stem from his awareness and education.

According to Gaughf, it displays "the age old struggle between pragmatism and idealism." It suggests "the fate of the American intellectual," Gaughf says which is that there is "no place in America for the idealist."

The play, set in the early 1960's in Greenwich Village, includes a variety of characters and is "for mature audiences."

"This play shows the Masquers' acting ability as much as any play we've ever done," he said.

and appearance. Winners of the event were Todd Pardon representing Phi Mu sorority and Wendy Stafford representing Sigma Chi fraternity.

The last competition that was announced Friday night was Greek man and woman. Each fraternity selected one outstanding member from their organization who had contributed their time and service to the Greek system and GSC. Contestants had to write an essay about what being Greek means to them and they also had an interview with the judges. Winners of this award were Jeff Jernigan, representing Alpha Tau Omega, and Terri Smiley, representing Zeta Tau Alpha.

Trophies were awarded to first place winners of each event. Had everything gone as planned, there would have been a large trophy given to the fraternity and sorority placing first after the games on Saturday. Because of heavy rain the games were cancelled and the two trophies for that day were not awarded.

Food Services getting tough on food fights

By ANDREA HUNNICUTT
News Writer

SGA may soon submit a proposal to Food Services requesting that Landrum close as early as 5:30 on Friday nights. This proposal has been considered as a possible solution to preventing food fights. "SGA has decided to launch a publicity campaign to try to curb the problem. If this doesn't work we will resort to plan B, which is to close Landrum early," said SGA president Jody Usry.

Usry called this a "student problem" and said that students should become involved in its prevention.

Many students don't consider this "tradition" a problem. "If students are caught, they are brought before the Judicial Board," said John Nolen, dean of student affairs.

One student was recently brought before the Judicial Board with several charges, the last being starting a food fight, and was suspended.

Beginning a food fight "is a violation of a major regulation of the college," Nolen said.

The administration and faculty believe that the students who disapprove of this kind of action should show their disapproval.

Bill May, director of Food Services, said he feels that "peer pressure" may be the key to solving the problem.

After the incident involving President Lick and the visitor to GSC, administrators and faculty members became "unsympathetic" with the students, May said.

The Faculty Senate had previously considered closing Landrum early, however, they concluded that such action would unnecessarily punish innocent students.

They decided that they should go to students in leadership positions and request their help.

Of the proposal to close Landrum early, Usry said, "It is my opinion that students who aren't involved would rather Landrum close early than have food thrown upon them"

Usry referred to the problem as one "related to local social events."

Residence Hall Week

By JEFF ALEXANDER
News Writer

The Residence Hall Association and the central housing staff will sponsor the first annual Residence Hall Week, May 2-6.

The purpose of this week will be to focus the entire college community's attention on the 17 residence halls and to allow the current residents to sign up for dorm space fall quarter.

The activities will officially begin Monday night at 8 p.m. with the annual Residence Hall Talent show. The talent show will be held in Foy Auditorium and will feature talent from most of the GSC residence halls.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the winners.

Tuesday will bring an open house from 1-3 p.m. This will be an opportunity for selected faculty members to see the residence hall facilities. The tour will include Anderson, Veazey, Winburn and Sanford.

Also scheduled for Tuesday is the skating party at the Statesboro Skate Inn. From 8-11 p.m. residence hall students who have an activity card will be admitted free with a 75¢ charge for skate rental.

The official day to sign up for fall housing will be Wednesday from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. under the tent at Landrum. The pre-registration for fall housing will give current residents priority for spaces next fall, according to Louise Screws, assistant director of housing.

Residence Hall Staff Appreciation Day will be observed Thursday in the Alumni House. A drop-in reception will be held for all night monitors, resident assistants, residence hall directors, custodians and invited guests.

Thursday and Friday will be wrap-up days for housing sign-up. Students who missed the registration on Wednesday will need to sign up in the housing office between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Residence hall councils and staff members will be planning special events for their individual dorms all week.

Editorial views expressed in The George-Anne are not necessarily those of the Georgia Southern College administration or faculty. Signed columns are solely the viewpoint of the writer.

New stadium site is great

We at The George-Anne would like to thank the GSC administration for their outstanding selection of a site for the new stadium. By having the stadium located near the southeast end of the campus, the administration has opened up a whole new area for growth of the college.

Hopefully, by the start of the 1984 campaign, the GSC gridsters will be playing in a beautiful 20,000 seat arena. This new development will greatly enhance GSC. Many thanks should go to all the loyal fans, alumni and supporters who contributed generously to the construction of our upcoming stadium.

Also, many thanks go to Erk Russell who began the impossible dream with his arrival in Statesboro over two years ago. His hard work and persistence has led to unbounded success already in revitalizing a sport that had been absent from GSC for some 41 years. The stadium project is just one more example Russell's intention to make GSC a power to be reckoned with.

This could be a big step to our school gaining some national recognition in NCAA sports. With a superb coaching staff, in all sports, maybe someday we will get that respect our institution deserves.

Potholes are a menace

Students who drive on the GSC campus are beginning to find it hard to dodge all of the potholes in the middle of the road.

One especially bad area is at the intersection of Georgia Avenue and Chandler Road. Every time it rains, three new potholes appear to menace drivers. Although some sort of repair job is done, it is always just enough to hold until the next rain.

Whether it is the school's or the city's responsibility is not important. There are other potholes that are clearly the school's responsibility. The point is that Statesboro drivers don't appreciate dodging holes.

Maybe we should all get bumper cars, dodge holes and have a great old time. At Six Flags, it's called Dodge City—very appropriate!

Small favors; big smiles

Many students who parked on campus last week found that their windshields had been cleaned.

One day last week, the Baptist Student Union washed the windshields of cars in different parking lots and left notes saying "BSU washed your windshield because we appreciate you. Have a nice day!"

Acts of kindness are sometimes hard to find on the GSC campus. Students are so busy that it's often hard to find time for other people.

It is little things like this that make us forget about a bad grade, a fight with a roommate, or a rubber check. Remember, small favors make big smiles!

We need commitment

By DAVID COBIA

"I want you, I need you, but there ain't no way I'm ever going to love you; now don't be sad—'cause two out of three ain't bad." The lyrics to a song, or a sign of the times?

Our society shares with the songwriter a shameful lack of the quality that is so obviously missing in the preceding lyrics: commitment. If the 70's were the "me generation," the tag for children of the 80's will doubtless be apathy. If you don't believe me, just look around you—the evidence abounds.

If the 70's were the "me generation," the tag for the children of the 80's will doubtless be apathy.

In recent years, the divorce rate of our culture has skyrocketed so that now one out of every two marriages is doomed to failure, because couples don't want to be committed. Americans who so highly regard their freedom and scream as soon as one of their rights are violated are so committed to their system of government that barely 50 percent of them turn out on election day. Churches today are filled to the brim, yet how many members are really committed to their cause?

However, we can't simply shove the blame off on the "establishment," for we as students are also perpetuating the trend. Consider the lifestyle of many GSC students: Scheduling a week around the best parties coming up, pretending that sex involves nothing more than a mutual willingness for pleasure, doing just enough to get by in classes, cheating on tests—the list goes on and on.

That is not to say that there are no conscientious students out there; there are in fact many. Not is it to imply that I am not guilty—I've cut classes, written thirty minute papers, and stayed out late with the best of them. I have observed, however, a few things that may help us understand why this lack of commitment is so widespread, and understanding a problem is the first step in its solution.

To begin with, it is important to note that we live in a relative society. America was begun on the basis of a Judeo-Christian value system, yet evidence of this influence have all but disappeared. As a result, people in today's society have no basis for making judgements, and the judgements that are made rest on what seems to be best at the moment. How can we be committed to long term goals when their very essence will change before the goals are reached?

Secondly, we live in an instant culture. We have instant bankers, instamatic cameras, instant coffee, fast food, quick marriages and faster divorces. How many times have you stood in front of a microwave at Sarah's and complained about how slow it was? Commitment to something takes time, and students today are not willing to wait.

Last and perhaps most importantly, most of us aren't willing to pay the price to conquer apathy. Sacrifice is a key ingredient of commitment, or as athletes put it, "no pain, no gain." Staying up that extra hour to study for a test may not seem that important now, but when something really important comes along the discipline you've developed can be invaluable.

College students are one of the most influential groups of people in any society.

College students are one of the most influential groups of people in any society. As a force for change, we have the potential to be very important. But with that privilege comes responsibility. Our generation should be known for the positive changes we bring about, not for our apathy. However, that kind of a reputation will take commitment.

The GEORGE-ANNE LETTERS

Check-cashing not so difficult

DEAR EDITOR:

As an employee of the Accounting Department of GSC, I must clear up some misconceptions regarding our check cashing policy and our green fee procedures at registration. I am not acting as an official spokesman for this department but as an employee, I feel we are being portrayed in an unfair manner. The letter from Brian Larson and the "humor" piece by Jim Morris are based purely on emotional factors and as such, are not supported by logical reasoning.

In regard to Brian Larson's letter on check cashing policies at this institution, it is my understanding that he attempted to cash a personal check after the prescribed cut-off date. If Mr. Larson had asked, he would clearly understand our purpose in having a cut-off date for cashing personal checks. Not only is it a policy of the Board of Regents but the policy is necessitated by the high percentage of "bad" checks returned to the college. The cut-off date gives the check sufficient time to clear the bank and if returned because of "insufficient funds," this department can notify the student before the end of the quarter. This policy is designed to give the student and the college the most equitable treatment possible. Without such a policy, the student with a returned check at the end of the quarter could find himself without a timcard and with a hold placed on his records at the start of the following quarter.

As we know, the green fee section of registration can be less than enjoyable. After a harrowing time in the gym, it is always frustrating to have to stand in line for what seems like hours to pay a fine which may be unfounded. I have been on both sides of the fence because I work behind the green fee desk at registration. Mr. Morris' "humor" is basically a reflection of his own ignorance of the whole green fee process. When a department has to handle almost two thousand students in only 10 hours, it becomes impossible to check out every fine on a personalized format. It is therefore the responsibility of the student in question to clear his fines. Mr. Morris obviously does not realize the stress and strain placed on the green fee workers as they attempt to clear this many students. I am not saying we are perfect and that we don't make mistakes, but I do ask the readers to place themselves in our shoes. We try to be as helpful and understanding as possible and if many students remember, we have been considerate in the payment of fees or fines when the individual was short of funds.

I conclude by saying that the staff and workers in GSC's accounting department are the best ever. We are not the cruel taskmasters Mr. Morris and Mr. Larson portray. We are merely people trying to do a job which will benefit the students and the college with the best possible results.

Jerry E. Jones

We can't please everybody

DEAR EDITOR:

I am an At-Large Student Senator and also a fraternity brother of Richard Lane's. I believe the way in which The George-Anne handled the SGA elections and SGA election's in general was very shabby.

In your April 14th issue, you did not even bother to interview Richard when you explained the happenings of the first election. Richard still won without The George-Anne's help, and I realize that J. Snypp was your endorsed candidate, but Richard was made out to look like a liar and cheat and did not get a chance to defend himself in print.

April 21 is the last day in which At-Large Student Senator applications would be received. I just happened to notice this when reading the want ads of your newspaper. The Student Senate means a great deal to me and also to many other people, but how can people know about us if you tuck us into a tiny space marked "Miscellaneous?"

Athletics or academics

Although the Reagan administration recently announced that the United States is slowly recovering from a recession, money is still scarce. With times being as slow as they are, it's hard to launch any new project, especially a college football team.

Students at GSC must pay a $70-per-quarter health, athletic and activity fee. Few students require $70 worth of medical or health care each quarter, and all students don't participate in $70 worth of extra activities each quarter. So, most of the money must be going to the new GSC Eagle football team, although other varsity teams may receive some of the funds.

I feel that $70 is entirely too much. I don't know exactly how much of this fee goes to the football team, but I don't participate in any of the sports and I don't attend any of the football games. Money could be required for better causes at our school, such as improving dormitories, buying new books for our library and getting proper heating and cooling in our classrooms.

Few books, if any, were bought for the GSC library this year because authorities said we couldn't afford them. Yet, we can afford to start a new football team.

And the classrooms this past winter were especially bad. In the privacy of one's own home or dorm room, one can bundle up and make use of a portable heater to keep warm. But students can hardly carry portable heaters to their classes. When students sit in class and shiver, it is very hard for them to concentrate on a lecture. You shake so hard you can't even read the board. This is especially true on Monday mornings after the heat has been off over the weekend. And wearing layers upon capable of improving their recent journalistic endeavors. I believe something should be done.

layers of clothing makes one so stiff that he cannot move to take notes.

I realize that the GSC Eagles are a new team, and that it will take time to become a winner. But I don't think I should have to pay so much now for something I will not be here to enjoy later.

I don't hate football; I actually enjoy it. But I do not agree that we should have to pay $70 a quarter for a football team that I have neither the time nor the desire to watch. I do not mind paying higher fees, if I am able to benefit from them.

Many people work on weekends, and are unable to attend the games. For these people, that $70 could buy an awful lot of groceries or gas.

There are more than $6,800 students at GSC, each one paying a $70 health, activity and athletic fee per quarter. This means that students are paying approximately $490,000 a quarter, mostly for the privilege of watching about 10 football games a year. These same students are living in dumpy dorms and attending freezing classrooms with poor lighting.

This is just one example of money-waste evident here, and the fee is scheduled to go up next year. I think the GSC big-wigs need to rethink the priorities of what our money is spent on.

The long arm of the law

By LESLIE B. MANN
Features Writer

If you have had your car towed by Campus Security in the past few months and are wondering how long it will be before they once again ignore your makeshift parking places, you can quit waiting. Campus Security will continue to rigidly enforce the parking regulations in the Traffic-Parking Regulations booklet.

Every student who registered his car received a complete booklet of all the rules and regulations he needed to know to park safely, courteously and free of tickets on the GSC campus. Any student who ignores these regulations, and who ignores the parking tickets he receives as a result, can expect to "ignore" a $25 towing charge and a bill for all of his forgotten tickets.

If any student decides to try to beat the system by not registering his car but still parks on campus, he too can plan on that $25 tow charge because Campus Security will enforce and maintain the traffic regulations and safety of this campus.

Many students wonder how Campus Security could ever catch his dodging the vehicle registration requirement, and often Security does have trouble tracking down these students. However, seven students during winter quarter have been surprised to walk to their cars after class and find them either already towed away or in the process of being towed.

Most of the cars towed were unregistered and had been issued repeated tickets for this violation. Also impounded are those cars with various other ticketed violations that have been ignored by students.

Once a car has been impounded, in order for it to be released, the student must pay the balance of the accumulated tickets, the car must be registered if it is not already, and the tow charge must be paid. The student's registration card and transcript are held until all tickets are paid.

For those students who argue that it was necessary to park illegally in order to be on time to class, Campus Security can only advise that the students use available parking places and avoid congested areas. No allowances will be made for such excuses.

The grass area near Landrum Center has been utilized much of late by students and it is not a designated parking area. No one has been authorized to park on the grass the there will be strict enforcement of the rule.

Security suggests the parking lot at Hanner Fieldhouse for students in a hurry who do not wish to receive tickets for illegal parking when they can't find legal parking places.

For students in a hurry who don't mind an occasional ticket, Security suggests prompt payment of the tickets unless you don't mind having your car towed.

Kirbylene Stephens, president's secretary, has been on the job for the past 28 years.

Meet Kirbylene Stephens

By DOUGLAS RUMLEY
Features Writer

"I've done a little of everything," said Kirbylene Stephens, the president's secretary. "At first, I was in charge of student workers, housing, out-going and inter-campus faculty mail, registration, financial aid and tickets at the basketball games."

In the past 28 years GSC has had five presidents, and Stephens has been secretary to all of them. When she started the job, the college had 742 students and 42 on the faculty. Now there are a multitude of people that do what Stephens used to do.

Today, with the help of five students and another full-time secretary, she assists the president in any capacity. Her office is involved in secretarial functions but also works in other areas. These include interpreting organizational policy, processing confidential matters and general public relations.

"We are sometimes the only contact people have with the college," Stephens said, so it is important to make everyone feel welcome. "People often want to see the president, but she has to send them to some other person who can deal with the problem at hand. Despite this, she said, "At no time do I take it upon myself to tell anyone the president can't see him."

Stephens said that she has never encountered any major problems doing her job. She believes the reason is because the men she has worked for are so "top-notch."

"I like everything about my job from eight in the morning to 10 or eleven o'clock at night," Stephens said. Although it can be frustrating, the thing she enjoys most about her job is working on the president's schedule.

One of her specific duties is to make travel arrangements for the president. To do this, she has to make a lot of phone calls. She has made several friends on the telephone although she has never met most of them in person.

To Stephens, her career is her life. She began working at the college as a student assistant in the controller's office. After graduation, she taught school in Screven County for three months. She had signed a contract to teach in Folkston when Dr. Zach Henderson, president of the college, called to offer her the job as his secretary. "I took the job without even asking how much it paid," she said.

Stephens has seen a lot of students come and go. She has been here during conservative times as well as times of unrest. After dealing with students for so many years, she has become one of their greatest advocates. She believes Southern students are special and always have been, but she really likes the changes she has seen in the past couple of years. "I love the guys with haircuts, and the girls are dressing better too," she said.

"Our students always have been great," she said. The best exemplification of this occurred after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, according to Stephens. There was a memorial service that day and a candlelight vigil that night in Sweetheart Circle. "It was superb. Everything the students did that night was right."

Steve Harris, GSC student wins battle against cancer

By PEGGY KREINEST
Features Writer

Most of us can't imagine having cancer, because we automatically associate it with death, but there are those people who have won the battle against cancer.

Steve Harris, a 25-year-old political science major, contracted seminoma, or testicular cancer, last May. The first thing he thought was, "I'm dying." Eighty percent of the time, seminoma is curable and complete recovery usually follows. Harris is an example of this miracle.

"There was one time when I felt like I was dying," he said. During his 79-day stay in the hospital he got an infection which caused his blood pressure to go up and down. One day he was walking to the bathroom and suddenly passed out due to the lack of blood to his brain. He fell and was so weak he couldn't get up. "I thought that was it, but I didn't want to go yet because I had too much to do."

Harris was at an all-time low then, but came back. He found strength through friends. "They are the ones that write, visit and care because they want to and not because they're expected to," he said. "I couldn't have done it without them."

Along with his friends, Harris attributes the love of life as another reason for his recovery. Also the fear of death and the rate of curing this cancer helped him pull through. "I still have a lot of undone things such as college and relationships," he added.

Today, Harris is back at GSC, and back at WVGS. Harley Davison, his radio name, finds "meaning through the music he plays." This year as a tribute to Harley, Russell Dewey, faculty adviser, founded an award,

"The Harley Davison Outstanding D.J. Award." All D.J.'s vote on their favorite announcer and the winner receives an old, broken-down radio clock "with three inches of scum on the top." The award "is great; it embodies the spirit of the station," Harris said.

Harris doesn't feel like this has changed his life, although he does feel he appreciates it more. He is still trying to pick up the pieces and go on. He is headed to paralegal school in Atlanta after graduation.

Steve "Harley Davidson" Harris spins tunes at WVGS.

Regents Test

By ANNE DeCRESCENZO
Features Writer

GSC students who took the Regents' Test for the first time winter quarter 1983 averaged 83-percent passing on the reading section and 55-percent on the essay section.

The overall passing averages, which include students who retook either one or both sections, are 70-percent for the reading section and 47-percent for the essay.

Thirty-two-percent of students who took both English 151 and English 152 at GSC failed the test, while 68-percent of students who took either one or both of the English courses at another college failed.

Out of 189 fall quarter failures, only 18-percent had passed both English 151 and English 152 at GSC.

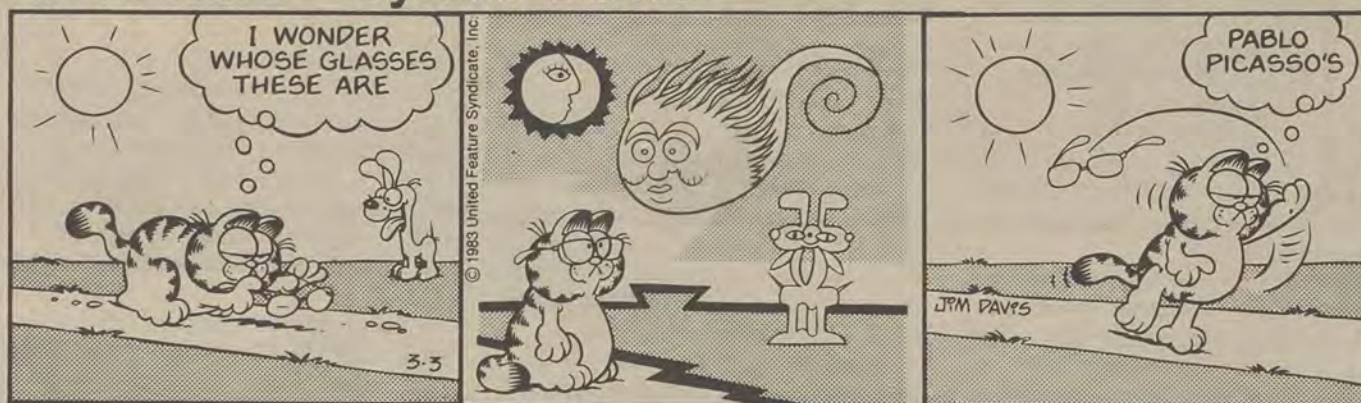

Completed tests are sent to Atlanta, shuffled, and redistributed to grading centers in the state. GSC is a grading center, and its coordinator is Barbara Bitter. Bitter is also on the state committee which meets every quarter to review the tests.

Three separate readers judge the essays for sentence structure, organization, and grammar. The papers are identified only by Social Security numbers, and each reader doesn't know what score the other two readers gave the essay. Two out of three readers must pass an essay for the student to meet requirements.

Volunteers are welcome to sign up for the short courses specifically designed to assist students in meeting the reading and writing requirements for the Regents' Test. They are Writing Practice for the Regents' Exam and Reading Practice for the Regents' Exam.

Also offered are English 099 and Reading 090. These are remedial courses designed to help students strengthen their deficiencies in writing and reading, and students are not permitted to take the Regents' Test during the quarter they are enrolled in these courses.

"Studio Three" on the air in Statesboro

By TOMMY D. WILSON
Features Writer

The idea started in a walk-in closet. It grew into a show that is aired weekly on a major Statesboro radio station. Garr Williams, the driving force behind the operation, says the show could go nationwide.

The student run radio program is called "Studio Three." GSC students Garr Williams, Kendra Kasha and Nelson Wilkerson produce the show that airs on WMCD-FM 100 every Sunday at 5:30 p.m.

According to Williams, "Studio Three" is targeted for the 14 to 30 year-old age group and has something to say.

"The show focuses on typical situations and problems that the young people have today, such as friends, school and boyfriend-girlfriend problems," said Williams.

"Studio Three," sponsored by the Wesley Foundation takes a Christian approach in dealing with these problems and Williams says, "It makes handling them a lot easier."

"Many people view God as this ominous being ready to strike them down if they do anything wrong. I think "Studio Three" helps them understand that that isn't the way it is at all and that dealing with your situation using God's word isn't as hard as you think," said Williams.

But "Studio Three" isn't all talk. The program plays current chart records by such artists, as the Alan Parson Project and Kenny Loggins, and features a different "rock 'n roll" contemporary Christian artist every week.

The polished and professional sound of "Studio Three" is not just by chance. Williams was a disc-jockey at Savannah's FM 95 for four years while Wilkerson utilized his talent at Savannah's WAEV 97.

Williams says he is striving for the show to be syndicated (like the more popular "Power Line" radio program) and to reach such areas as Atlanta, Athens, Columbus and Macon.

"Studio Three" has come a long way since being called "Higher Power" and taping its shows in a downstairs walk-in closet at the Wesley Foundation. And with the one-to-one approach it uses and the enthusiasm its three producers put into the show, it could possibly be much more than just another radio show out of Statesboro.

Kendra Kashka, Nelson Wilkerson, Garr Williams, producers of "Studio Three."

Also on Saturday May 14th CR/I will hold it's first Triathlon (swim, bike, run). Minimum number of participants—16, maximum number of participants—48. Must provide helmet for bike race portion. Entry deadline—Thursday, May 5th.

For the bikers (cyclists) there will be a "Devil Take The Hindmost" bike race around sweetheart circle on Wednesday, May 18th. Helmets are required. Entry deadline is Monday, May 15th.

And for those Music and Theatrical types there will be—the first annual Air Guitar Contest held on Tuesday, May 24th. Students will perform their favorite music on stage in the limelight. Entry deadline is Tuesday, May 17th.

On April 19, the Ft. Stewart volleyball team defeated the GSC intramural champions, The Pros, by sweeping three straight games in a best of five match.

The Pros were not totally eclipsed by the more experienced Ft. Stewart team who had an undated regular season. The scores of the games were 15-11, 15-11, 15-10.

The volleyball match was part three of a "fantastic four" series of competition between Ft. Stewart and GSC. Earlier the men's and women's bowling was taken by Ft. Stewart while men's basketball was won by GSC's intramural champ, Book Nook. Ladies basketball was won by Ft. Stewart. The remaining sport to be played is softball which will be played at the GSC Sports Complex, May 31.

GSC Cagers look to repeat with new talent

GSC's head basketball coach Frank Kerns announced seven signees for the 1983-84 roster. The new signees are James Anderson, a 6-5, 210 guard from Greenville, S.C., Quinzel Chestnut, a 6-6, 190 pound forward from Philadelphia, Steve Jesup, a 6-8, 225 pound post player out of Charlotte, N.C., Ron Jefferson, a 6-0, 165 pound guard from Jacksonville, Florida, Tracy Miles, a 6-8 forward from Kinley, N.C., Bill Roundtree, a 6-9, 215 pound post player from Denver and Greg Stafford, the only freshman recruited, a 6-5, 200 pounder from Claxton.

"Thus far we've had an outstanding recruiting year," Kerns said. Mike Backus headed up our recruiting and did a super job. Once the players we signed have the opportunity to play together, we could be a good team by mid-season."

According to Backus, the recruits are "a good step in improving the program." "We competed against some top notch schools and won. I'm thrilled with that," Backus said.

Anderson, from Santa Fe Junior College, was voted Florida College player of the year, and led his league in scoring. GSC beat out the University of Florida, and South Florida to get Anderson.

Chestnut, out of Gloucester Junior College, played on one of the top 15 JUCO teams in the country. The Eagles won over Georgia State and E. Kentucky for the forward.

Jessup attended Lees-McCrae, and GSC competed with Mercer, Virginia Tech, W. Kentucky and E. Tennessee State for the 6-8 big man.

Jefferson is the badly-needed point guard the Eagles need. From Florida J.C., the Jacksonville native decided on GSC over hometown Jacksonville and South Florida.

Miles was the "most sought after fourth. The Seminoles added two more runs that inning and one more in the sixth.

The Eagles went to Savannah Friday and lost to the Armstrong State Pirates 4-1.

However, the Eagles won 3-1 against South Carolina Gamecocks in Columbia Sunday.

A scheduled two-game series was changed as the Saturday night game was rained out forcing a double-header to be played Sunday. The first game was called after five innings and the second was cancelled due to rain.

Dave Pregon hit a home run in the second and Jeff Petzoldt homered in the third to put the Eagles up 2-0.

The Gamecocks cut the lead to one as John Sullivan doubled in Jim St. Laurent in the fourth.

A sacrifice fly by Abner scored another run in the fifth before the game was called.

Senior Scott Schaefer picked up the win by getting a double play with a potentially winning run at the plate.

"We're starting to get into the groove," said Schaefer after the game, "we're really looking forward to the (TAAC) tournament this year," he said.

player in that school's (Chowan J.C.) history," said Backus. He was heavily recruited by Virginia Commonwealth, Old Dominion, Richmond, South Florida and Wake Forest.

Roundtree, played for Amarillo

J.C., one of the top 10 teams in the country, and came to GSC over Northern Arizona.

Finally, local standout Greg Stafford was inked. "He is undoubtedly the best high school player in the area," Backus said.

Junior College transfer, Bill Roundtree inks pact with GSC. The 6'9" center should help replace the departing Reggie Fears and David Wright.

The women's tennis team fell to the College of Charleston, 1-8 on April 10. Even though Coach George Shriver said his team played poorly, they lost to a well established team. College of Charleston is the number one NAIA team in the country and they have soundly beaten the number two team, Gilford.

The women overcame the wind and cold weather in Columbus last week to bring home a victory over Columbus College, 7-2.

Singles winners for GSC were number three Christy Colmer over Denise Saliba 6-1, 6-0; number four Margaret Faughnan defeated Monica Mendez 6-2, 6-1 and number six Sandy Smith defeated Debbie Bost 6-1, 6-0.

Doubles winners were number one McCurry-Fountain defeated Bagwell-Burke 8-5; number two phillips-Faughnan defeated O-Hallaron-Saliba 8-5 and number three Colmer-Smith defeated Mendez-Bost 6-2, 6-0.

The women, standing with a 7-7 seasonal record, await the challenge of Valdosta and Furman to close the '83 season.

Intramurals planning a busy week

By DEE MARET
Sports Editor

Campus Recreation/Intramurals has plans for two big events during the upcoming week. The Dale Lick Run is scheduled for May 4, and an Intramural Qualifier Softball Tournament will be held this weekend at the Sports Complex and the Statesboro Recreation Department.

The Dale Lick Run will begin in front of Landrum at 5:30 p.m. The first runners will only run the one mile fun run, but immediately after the finish of that race the 3.1 mile (5000 meter) run will commence.

Divisions will be separated into male student, female student, male faculty/staff, and female faculty/staff. T-shirts will be awarded to the first 100 finishers in each division of the one mile and the 3.1 mile races.

The entry fee is $3.50 per person, and all participants must have signed a waiver release before entering the competition. Greek points will be awarded.

April 29-May 1, all interested regular season Intramural softball teams may participate in the "Qualifier" softball tournament. The double-elimination tourney will include 24 mens teams and eight womens teams. Only regular league season teams may enter, and everyone on the roster must have played in at least one regular season game prior to the tournament.

GSC student officials will be used, and regular season rules will be in effect. The first-place men's and women's teams receive pre-paid entry to the state's Marietta Tournament, three hotel rooms per team for two nights, and a gas stipend for the trip.

For more information contact the tourney director, Mike Miller, at 681-5261.

Oklahoma St. claims Schenkel Invitational

By DEBORAH HALL
Sports Writer

The 1983 Chris Schenkel Intercollegiate Invitational was held this past weekend, April 22-24 at the Forest Heights Country Club in Statesboro.

Eighteen teams competed in the tournament this year and the Oklahoma State Cowboys retained their title as the champion of the Schenkel for the fourth straight year with team totals of 862.

Bily Booe sinks a long putt in Schenkel tourney.

Ohio State came in second with only a one stroke deficit at 863. Wake Forest followed with 866 and Georgia was fourth with 869. LSU came in fifth with a 872 total, followed by GSC with a team total score of 873. North Carolina State took seventh place with 876, followed by Clemson with 878. Florida State had a total of 884 for ninth and Tennessee rounded out the top ten with 885.

Other final scores included Alabama—886, Auburn—887, North Carolina—891, Mississippi and South Carolina tied at 892, Florida—897, and East Tennessee State tied at 908.

Individual honors went to the Cowboys Tommy Moore, who fired a sizzling 210 for the tourney.

GSC had the low score for the final round of the tournament with a 290. Tripp Kuhlke led the team with a one-under-a-par, 215, shooting 72-72-71. Gene Sauers followed with one over par, 217 with rounds of 72-73-72.

David Usry came in third with 72-74-74, and Billy Booe followed with 73-75-73. Steve Smart shot 81-77-77.

"The whole team played great. David Usry played super for a freshman playing in the Schenkel for his third tournament," said Coach Doug Gordin.

Gordin was very pleased with the turn out, since this was the best finish GSC has had in the tournament in a couple of years. Kuhlke tied for fifth on the leader board. He had a great tournament to end up his last Schenkel, according to Gordin.

"Hopefully now since we came in sixth, they'll seed us higher than 14th for the Schenkel next year," said Gordin.

The weather was not the greatest with over a four hour delay during Saturday's round, and heavy winds on Sunday.

But, the weather didn't stop the Cowboys from their fourth consecutive Schenkel title.

By Dee Maret

I don't know if we should give credit to Joe Torre, or to Chief Noc-A-Homa's war dance, but the Atlanta Braves are playing superb baseball, especially in the confines of 521 Capital Avenue.

At press time, "American's Team" had a perfect 9-0 record at home, after a three game sweep over the weekend. I guess nearly everybody deserves a little of the plaudits, but don't forget about the late Bill Lucas who nurtured a great number of the current Braves.

Dale Murphy, Glenn Hubbard, Rafael Ramirez, Rick Camp, Terry Harper, Biff Pocoroba, and a host of others all should give Lucas a tip of the hat each time they walk out of the dugout.

Sure, Teddy has broken out the pocketbook, and signed Claudell Washington, Terry Forster and Pete Falcone. But the majority of the Braves are home-grown, and that makes the wins that much sweeter.

The Braves have come long way since the days of the Rod Gilbreaths and Earl Williams. I used to feel sorry for Milo Hamilton. I even felt worse for people like Lum Harris or Dave Bristol. They might as well have played themselves, instead of sending players like "Sugar Bear" Blanks out onto the diamond.

Doesn't feel good to watch a game, and know, more than likely the Braves will pull it out? When Mr. Atlanta, Phil Niekro, has the worst ERA on the team, then things have got to be pretty good.

And even when the big bats, Horner, Chambliss, et al, don't come through, the tribe's bullpen tandem of Steve Bedroaian and Gene Garber can be counted upon to keep the opponents off the basepaths.

I can't see anyone else in the NL West overtaking the reigning champs. The Braves have got all the guns—pitching, hitting and defense. The depth is possibly the best in the league, with Bob Watson, Jerry Royster and maybe the best all-around athlete on the team, Terry Harper anxious for playing time.

Yea, it looks like a fun summer in Atlanta. And the fat boy, Bob Horner, just might be toting the National League MVP award when it's all over.

* * * * *

Another Atlanta team, the Hawks, also had a good year, They lost a tough three-game series to Larry Bird and the Celtics, and they did it without Eddie Johnson. But, Danny Roundfield just might be the best forward in the NBA. The 6'8 star from Central Michigan totally dominated the Celtics big men over the weekend.

Eagles await tourney

By RICHARD POLLETTE
Sports Writer

The Florida State Seminoles completed their four game sweep of GSC by downing the Eagles 16-4 and 8-1 in Tallahassee last week, April 19-20.

The Eagles had a bad day Monday as three pitchers gave up 14 hits, 13 walks, one balk and hit a batter.

After holding the Seminoles scoreless for two and two-thirds innings, freshman pitcher Billy Brooks gave up four straight walks for one run, then balked in another run making the score 2-1.

FSU pounded the Eagles with two runs apiece in the next three innings, three in the seventh and five more in the eighth.

The Eagles got three more runs in the game, the first coming in the sixth as Greg McMullen scored off a single by Jeff Petzolt. Greg McMullen provided the second run by walking the bases loaded in the seventh. GSC's final run came in the ninth as Ben Abner lined a two-out double then scored on an error by FSU's third baseman Danny Griffin.

GSC's pitching ace Phil Dale could fare no better against the Seminoles in the second game. He gave up a two-RBI double to shortstop by Jody Reed, allowed Mark Barineau to steal home, then balked in another run to make the score 4-0 in the second inning.

The Eagles got their only run of the ballgame in the third as Jeff Petzolt scored on a fielder's choice by Alan Balcomb, making the score 4-1.

FSU's Mike Yastrzemski got that run back with a home run in the
