Eagles fall eight minutes short of miracle in Tallahassee

By Jim Christian

Everyone has heard the story of David and Goliath. But for 51 minutes and 32 seconds last Saturday, 59,109 football fans were witness to it.

The sixth-ranked Division I-AA GSC Eagles came within 8:28 of beating the sixth-ranked Division I-A Florida State Seminoles, threatening to pull off the upset of the season and earn the biggest win in the team's brief history. Indeed, more important than both of National Championship games.

"If we had won, it would have been worth more than both of the national championships," Eagle Head Coach

Erk Russell said. "But 28-10 isn't worth a hoot."

Maybe more than that. The Eagles left the field following the game to a standing ovation from 4,000-plus proud fans who made the trip from Statesboro.

Besides the obvious impact on the fans, that the Eagles simply outplayed a team such as the Seminoles for the majority of the game was earth-shattering news in its own right. Consider

• GSC held the ball 34:06 to FSU's 25:49.

• The Seminoles were outgained on the ground 171 to 115. Three Eagles— QB Raymond Gross, FB Joe Ross, and SB Kyle Miller—rushed for more yards than did Seminole Heisman Trophy candidate Sammy Smith. Smith had 30 yards in comparison with his 217-yard effort the previous week against Tulane.

• GSC and FSU both had 17 first downs. FSU was held without a first down for all three of its possessions in the third quarter and had 12 yards of total offense in the period.

• The Eagles recorded two sacks in the game, both by DE Darren Alford. FSU had none.

In addition to the stats, GSC had a number of intangibles in its favor.

For the majority of the game, FSU's contingent of more than 55,000 homecoming fans sat in stunned silence. In comparison, 4,000 Eagle supporters reveled loudly in the miracle-in-the-making.

James "Wildman" Carter, sidelined because of bone chips in his ankle, catalyzed much of the cheering with a wave of his crutches.

If the Eagles did not win the game, they certainly won the respect of the Seminoles. "That was an excellent football team," FSU linebacker Felton Hayes said, "They came to play, and we really had to work at it."

Which is more than anyone would have guessed prior to the game. "To think that we could not play our subs

A 10-7 score in favor of GSC in the fourth quarter seemed almost unbelievable to the 4,000 that made the trip from Statesboro.

UGA President Knapp wants more information on proposal.

Knapp is undecided on university proposal

by Jim Christian
News Editor

Based on information he has received, University of Georgia President Charles Knapp has not decided whether he opposes or supports the regional university proposal submitted by GSC and six other southeast Georgia institutions, UGA spokesman Steve Frankel said recently.

Frankel said Knapp is not against the plan per se, but is more concerned with protecting UGA's interests.

Knapp would not be in favor of the plan if it diminished funds available to UGA or duplicated UGA's programs, Frankel said.

"President Knapp was charged by the Board of Regents to work for the University of Georgia and his primary concern is to get the funds we need to reach the goals established for UGA," Frankel said.

Knapp is a member of the Board of Regents planning committee that has considered the construction of a south Georgia university, but the idea of a regional institution is quite new, he said.

Knapp would rather the regents attend to UGA's existing needs as well as those of the state's senior colleges before creating a new university, Frankel said. "The concept of a regional university would need an awful lot of planning and discussion before the plan is fulfilled," he said.

In fact, the time element is mentioned as an integral part of the proposal. A six year frame is mentioned for implementation of all aspects of the proposal, and indications are that it could take longer.

"In terms of establishing a reputation as a major academic institution—depending on the standards one uses in defining a university—it will take quite a long time," GSC President Nick Henry said.

The presidents of GSC, Armstrong State College, Savannah State College, Brunswick College, East Georgia College, and the Director of the Skidaway Marine Institute submitted a second version of the proposal Sept. 6.

Board of Regents spokesman Michael Baxter said the proposal is not final because the regents have had little time to study it and make their recommendations.

The current plan is adopted from the one submitted last August, incorporating a cut from a requested $18 million to $12 million spent over six years for implementation of the proposal.

"A regional university is an idea that has been explored for a while, and this proposal will be looked at as part of the long-term planning of the University system," Baxter said.

Alligator caught in GSC lake

by Cathy McNamara
Editor

With a fishing rod and a floating crawdad plug, GSC freshman Will Harrell apparently got more than he bargained for his third week of college when he cast his line into the smaller of GSC's two lakes and reeled in an alligator late last Monday night.

While fishing with five other GSC students by the library, Harrell caught the three-and-a-half-foot legend said to have inhabited the lake since it was a foot long.

"A Campus Security officer said he saw him when he was about 12 inches long," said Harrell. "Now, he's as long as your arm."

Upon discovery of the snapping gator, the students immediately informed the Department of Public Safety.

"It's been spotted quite a few times," said Captain Sidney Deal. "Fish and Game were going to come down and catch him but apparently somebody caught it last night on a fishing hook."

Public Safety informed the Fish

$350,000 computer system aids GSC's growing needs

by Cathy McNamara
Editor

GSC has plans to implement an additional $350,000 computer system to hold a steady growing circuit of student-related information and provide the college with 15 times as much capacity and more capability.

The new system, which will accompany the college's three Texas Instruments 990 computers, will ease processing and collecting of student information, provide a larger capacity for registration and drop/add and open the door to a network system on the campus and other campuses.

"We've been on capacity and trying to do too much with the TI 990s for two or three years," said Ken Williams, director of Computer Services. "The new system has more memory, processing and a tremendous growth capacity."

"We could support many more users with a new computer system because we'd have a much more powerful computer. Today, when we register students, we have to stop everything not related to registration and then only do as much as the system can hold—now, instead of 17 computer terminals at drop/add there will be 25 or 30."

The college has already confirmed their request for a new software package and student information system called the "Banner System" with the Systems and Computer Technology Corporation. The one computer system holds 32 million bytes of information compared to each of the TI's 1.5 million capacity.

Williams said the system offers a "degree audit" feature not available to GSC with the TI computer system. The feature allows the registrar's office to determine what courses each student lacks for graduation in a more efficient manner. The information will be more accessible and available to teachers.

The new software is compatible with hardware of the Digital Equipment Corporation and IBM, from which the college will receive bids next month.

"We're going to bid for hardware with IBM and DEC," said Williams. "At the moment, DEC has more versatility with their new series that can also go well beyond the capability of the IBM equivalent series."

New student I.D.s to be issued as a result

by Robert Winton
Staff Writer

Student identification cards compatible with GSC's new $350,000 computer system will be issued sometime next year, Auxiliary Service Director Larry Davis said.

As part of the system, 256 terminals will be installed around campus to make it easier for students to get in and out of stores. "We don't want and the students don't want to wait in lines at all," Davis said. "They want to be moved out and on their way."

The present system, the OSCRA, uses a self-developed cash card that is limited in its use, he said. The new Digital 3500 Fax machines are designed to give the students more flexibility.

"This system is the absolute latest, and will give the student more power to use the card in more places," Davis said.

One such place is the College Union presently under construction on Georgia Avenue. Thirty-two registers will be installed for the new bookstore for quicker service and the computers will be present in the three new stores in the union, he said.

Davis also said the terminals will also be installed at the Landrum Center, In-The-Pines, at Sarah's Place, and the Deck Shoppe for total use.

The card will be different in some aspects, but will retain the same basic design. It will have the bar stripe as the present ones do, but the cards will have different print and a magnetic strip similar to those on credit cards, he said.

Davis said the strip will make it easier to run the card through the computer, thus making transactions faster and lines shorter.

Thorton Rose, a Cashier at Sarah's, said she was excited about the new system. "I'm really interested in the new system. It sounds easier on the cashier than the system we have now," she said.

Coed assaulted

By Cathy McNamara
Editor

A female GSC student was allegedly assaulted by a armed young, black male wearing a ski mask in her Sanford apartment on campus October 2, according to Campus Police.

After answering a knock at her door, the student was apparently held at gunpoint and threatened for money.

"He came into the room, threatened her and told her he was there to get money," said Sharon Fell of GSC's Public Relations Office. "She said she didn't have any money and she didn't but he took her through the apartment."

According to Campus Police, the student was physically unharmed. Criminal investigators Bob NeSmith and Mike Russell of Campus Police are conducting interviews in connection with the incident.

Greenpeacer stresses importance of peaceful protest

by Jim Christian
News Editor

"Bearing witness" to the world's environmental and ecological problems through "direct nonviolent confrontation" has allowed Greenpeace to win several battles, but it still has a long way to go to win the war against man's violations against nature, Greenpeace activist Chris Childs said at GSC's Conference Center last night.

Childs said the international ecological activism group, most famous for images of Greenpeaceers in an inflatable raft set between a whaling ship's harpoon and the mammal in its sights, has gained victories in numerous areas.

Included in this category are an international whaling moratorium, the near-elimination of commercial harp seal hunting, and the passing of the Marine Mammal Protection Act to limit dolphin killing by tuna companies in the United States.

However, Childs said the group is still working for legislation to eliminate such environmental problems as nuclear weapons testing, acid rain, and dioxin produced as a result of the bleaching process of paper products.

Greenpeace is known for its drastic forms of protest, such as those against whaling ships, worldwide. Citing sit-ins at nuclear test sites, banners hung from 1,100-foot smokestacks, and plugging of sewage-spewing pipes, Childs said "dramatization works."

"It is not the goal of Greenpeace to actually stop every event we protest," he stressed, "but rather to make the world aware that these things go on."

The organization accomplishes this through media exposure. "Very early on, we started filming our protests," Childs said.

Additionally, filming of their exploits serves a second purpose in the form of a dubious sort of protection. "The whalers know if they hit one of our inflatable boats with a harpoon and injure a Greenpeaceer, we can have the film to the media within hours," he said.

The Greenpeace cause became known worldwide in 1985 when its flagship Rainbow Warrior was sunk by the French government in a New Zealand harbor in response to the group's actions against nuclear testing in the Marshall Islands.

JUST WHAT IS BREAKFAST?

Remember mom always saying, "Eat your breakfast, get your books and get to school?" There's a good reason. She was concerned about your health and how well you did each day.

If you make excuses not to eat breakfast, you are passing up a chance to each a nutrient-rich meal that is low in calories. Not just that, as one student put it, "You're walking backwards."

What happens to your body when you don't eat breakfast? At night while you are sleeping, your metabolic rate slows down, and you don't burn as many calories. Breakfast is one way of waking up your body and telling the metabolic rate to get going again. If you don't eat breakfast, your whole system is slower.

Most research indicates that people who miss breakfast have trouble concentrating, work less efficiently in the late morning, and lack energy in the afternoon. Are you one of these?

One of the easiest ways to get the nutrients and energy you need in the mornings is by eating cereal. By selecting your cereal carefully, you can eat a breakfast that is high in calcium and iron and low in sodium, fat, calories and cholesterol. Oatmeal is an excellent choice.

One more word on breakfast. A good breakfast is not a Snickers and a Diet Coke at 10:00 in the morning when you suddenly feel that the day is going on without you.

Now, be on your way to class. Drop the Snickers and Diet Coke. Get a good breakfast and be better prepared for the test. If you feel better, you probably will do better.

Grad seminar offers juniors, seniors peek at future

GSC News Service

Georgia Southern juniors and seniors, as well as those from throughout southeast Georgia, can look into graduate programs at any of Georgia's public colleges and universities when GSC hosts a statewide Graduate Opportunities Seminar Monday.

Representatives from university system graduate schools throughout Georgia will be on campus to counsel students from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Williams Center. Information on testing, financial aid, admission requirements, and other areas will be available.

The seminar is one of five sponsored by the University System around the state to put minority and other students in touch with graduate programs and increase minority enrollment in graduate schools.

Joining GSC as hosts for the seminar are Armstrong State College and Savannah State College.

Students from campus organizations will serve as hosts and hostesses throughout the day and refreshments will be available for those who attend.

Potter to perform tonight

GSC News Service

World-renowned Japanese potter and artist Soei Obiya will show his craft at the GSC Museum tonight at seven as part of the ongoing Japanfest exhibit.

Obiya, born in Fukuoka, Japan in 1923, creates hand-made vases, cups, and bowls in a style he calls "new Japanese pottery." He has designed his own methods for making pottery and porcelain, and the tools needed to utilize these methods.

He will demonstrate the techniques of making pottery, and will lecture on his career and philosophy.

His presentation, made possible through the office of the Japanese Consulate General of Atlanta, is free and open to the public.

Hollywood grabs for the gold, guns, glory, gore, guts and garbage in "Young 'Dumb' Guns"

When I first saw this "film", I was nauseated and disgusted. After talking to various GSC students who had viewed this Western and enjoyed it, I went again to see this tale of vengeance, blood and gore with an open mind ready to give "Young Guns" a second chance. I hated it even more and was mostly repulsed that I had laid down another $4.75 for this celloid piece of crap.

The film stars the new "brat pack" of mostly the sons of Martin Sheen (Emilio Estevez and Charlie Sheen), the son of Donald Sutherland (Keifer), Lou Diamond (Baila-La-la-Bamba) Phillips, Dermot Mulroney and Casey Siemaszko. You would think that with all these acting genes floating around, the movie might have been worth-while. Not so hot-battered-popcorn breath!

This tale is supposedly based on the life and times of William H. Bonney, better known as 'Billy the Kid' and the notorious James Gang of western lore. Loosely based on facts, 'Dumb Guns', is a thinly veiled excuse to demonstrate, in graphic living color, the end result of gunshot wounds, stabbings and violent death. The gang is a rowdy bunch of nare-do-well youths taken in by a kindly British rancher named Mr. Tunstil (played by Terence Stamp) who trains these 'Regulators' to be killers and gentlemen at the same time. After Tunstil's untimely, unnatural and gruesome death, Emilio and the guys seek vengeance throughout the rest of this cinematic adventure.

While the bullets fly from Estevez's prolific gun, Keifer Sutherland (Lost Boys) romances an Oriental prostitute, looks sensitive and writes terrible poetry. Sutherland is just awful and should stick to playing the heavy in his future features. Charlie Sheen (Wall Street, The Wraith) appears for a mere thirty minutes of the movie and mumbles in a warped western accent. Lou Diamond Phillips plays Chivez, an Indian/Mexican loafer that wields both a knife and a vat of the psychoactive drug 'peyote' with equal conviction. There are just too many characters and too little plot to go around.

There are numerous 'cameo' appearances including shorts scenes with Brian Keith as 'Buck-Shot Roberts' who has "killed more people than small pox" and John Wayne's son, Patrick, as the famous gun-fighter Pat Garrett. These scenes are so disjointed and confusing, I cannot help but believe that a good portion of their contributions lie on the floor of the some editing room as extensive revisions of the movie must have been done.

Jack Palance (from TV's 'Believe It or Not!'), the favorite creepy actor of stage and screen, looks more dead than alive and plays the bad guy--a certain Mr. Dolan who leers, yells and generally makes life miserable for the heroes until he meets his deserved and equally graphic end.

Along the way, 'Billy' takes a break from shooting innocent people in the head to state that "you have to test yourself everyday, otherwise you get slow and they kill you." Well Emilio, you have apparently gotten 'slow' in the head along with your cronies to even consider making this piece of trash. The other critics have already joyfully joined me in crucifying "Young Guns" as one of the worst movies of the year.

I was insulted by the banality and stupidity of this film and accordingly I will give the Sheen brothers, the Wayne boy, Sutherland's offspring and the rest a one-half star rating (1/2☆). Please do not go and spend your money on this inane spectacle, it only will encourage the filmmakers to insult us once again.

On deck at the college cinema, "A Fish called Wanda" starring the best from Monty Python and my personal favorite Jamie Lee Curtis.

oath of office. These are such promises, and the discordant clanging of their unrealistic nature fills my ears with despair.

Balancing the budget... social reform... increased health and social benefits... etc. etc.... These are the blanks that creakily support the teetering platform of the Democratic Party. All these programs sound good, but these ambitious ideas translate into one and only one stark fact: higher and higher taxes that we, as the American taxpayers of the future and the present, will have to absorb to offset the pipe dreams of the short-sighted Democratic Party. This is what a vote for Dukakis will mean in the grand scene of political maneuvering.

A vote for George Bush will mean something entirely different. The vice president does not promise what he cannot deliver. A Bush administration will promote the kind of responsible, realistic programs and legislation based in the firm root of reality and responsibility.

Williams said the college's long-term goal is to harbor a fully networkable program.

With his years of experience behind him and the knowledge of the political maneuvering of Washington, Bush will be able to step in and accomplish much while the Democrats would still be floundering for years in the unfamiliar shark-infested waters of diplomacy and government.

Mr. Bush's foreign policies will insure political stability and relative peace in this world so rocked with the violence of the extremist policies of the demented and corrupt. A strong defensive posture by a Bush administration will guarantee that the dogs of terrorism, religious extremism and warped communism will be kept at bay. Bush has the strength, the ability, the leadership, the experience and the savvy to do the most difficult and important job in the world.

Bush is my man in the next election. I like his firm, level headed approach to his job that I see so lacking in the wavering and impulsive Dukakis. I tremble at the thought of another Democratic administration taking the reigns of control after the fiasco of the Carter administration. I will sleep safe and sound in my bed at night knowing that the Republican Party will be guiding the country as it has so successfully over the last eight years.

The Democrats have accused Bush of wrapping himself up in the flag to counter their barbs of ridiculous accusation. Fine, wrap me up in that shroud also, George, for I am an American and am happy with the way my country has progressed over the last two administrations. Call me conservative, militaristic, insensitive or anything else you can dream up. I stand by Bush as the man I want leading our nation through the next four years.

What I don't need is a Democratic administration implementing lousy, unrealistic programs while promising the stars and plunging our country into the turmoil that will accompany the introduction of a political platform based on fallacy and dreamy notions. I prefer a soundly constructed structure built on a foundation of experience, trust and vast ability.

garbage printed in Statesboro before we take off to battle FSU that stays in our minds. It wouldn't have hurt to have seen printed "you can do it men" instead of "don't get hurt and make sure you get the $125,000."

After the game, I'm sure there were remarks about how "the column really fired the team up. Boy! I'm glad I wrote it!" Nobody needs to hear about all the negatives and disadvantages because they are probably already known. It's the positives and advantages that makes people work harder.

"We didn't come down here for just a paycheck. We came down here to beat them. I guess they thought all they had to do was show up. They were wrong," said defensive tackle Charlie Waller who doesn't sound like he was looking for money.

Sure, we got some people hurt. Joe Ross broke his hand, Terry Young hurt his leg and Raymond Gross's ankle didn't get any better either, but they could have gotten hurt against Newberry just as easily.

We played well because we wanted to prove we could play with Division 1-A teams. We weren't going to coast through the game for the money. We weren't going to keep our starters out of the game, so they wouldn't get injured. We weren't going to listen to what we read in our home newspapers. WE WANTED TO WIN! We believed we could win, our fans believed we could win, and we will always believe we can win!

No matter who we play in the future, there will always be a chance for victory because..... they put their pants on the same way we do.

"Just for kicks" - Soccer Eagles win two, but lose second TAAC game -

Staff reports

The Georgia Southern soccer Eagles picked up a pair of non-conference wins last week, but dropped a Tran America Athletic Conference (TAAC) game at Stetson last Saturday to run its season record to 8-4 and 0-2 in the TAAC.

On Tuesday, Oct. 4, Jan Andreason, a freshman mid-fielder from Holbaek, Denmark, scored two goals to lead the Eagles to a 5-0 victory over visiting South Carolina-Aiken. Sophomore John Regan returned from an injury and scored his first goal since the season opener. Javier Monne, a senior from Barcelona, Spain, and sophomore Scott DeAmbrose also added goals against the Pacers. The Eagles outshot USC-Aiken 19-3.

Although the Eagles dropped a conference game, head coach John Rafter was pleased.

"We moved the ball real well, better than we have all year," Rafter said. "I thought (goalkeeper Nathan Carey) had a great game; in fact, that's the best I have seen him play. This was the best game GSC has had to date."

On Sunday, Oct. 9, the Eagles finished their Florida road swing and came away with a 4-0 win against Eckerd College. Junior Darryl Watson contributed two goals while sophomore Brian Thomas and DeAmbrose accounted for other GSC scores.

Sean Connelly, a sophomore defender, joined the Eagles disabled list with a severely sprained ankle incurred during the match against Stetson.

GSC will spend this week on the road with contests at Mercer on Oct. 12, Winthrop on Oct. 15, and Davidson on Oct. 16.

NOTE: The GSC soccer Eagles are undefeated at home with a 5-0 record. Their next home is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 22 at 4 p.m. against Lander College. Come support your Eagles!!

Last year's defending national 1-AA champion, Northeast Louisiana University, will roll their Indian express into Paulson Stadium to face the Eagles this Saturday in the first home game since September 2 against Newberry. The Eagles lost 26-17 to Northeast last year in Monroe, La.

The Indians, under the seven year reign of head coach Pat Collins, are 55-31 and were 13-2 in 1987 and consensus national champions after losing out the Thundering Herd of Marshall University 43-42 in the Mini Dome of Pocatello, Idaho.

Northeast plays in the Southland Conference and plays a basic one back pro-set offense with a 4-2-5 defense. Their schedule is crammed with the elite of the Division 1-AA's best western teams including North Texas University and Sam Houston State.

Last year, the Indians scored 16 points in the second quarter to pull ahead of the Eagles 19-3 by halftime. Using a balanced attack of passing

NLU's slogan is belied by the 3-3 record coming into Saturday's game

(186 yards) and rushing (132 yards). Northeast was able to spoil Raymond Gross' first start as a collegiate quarterback. The loss to the Louisiana Indians was the second divisional defeat for the Eagles and the first back-to-back 1-AA series of losses since 1984.

In the game, tailback Joe Ross was held to 59 total yards rushing to mark his second lowest output of the entire season. Quarterback Gross was 9-29 passing and had three big interceptions to pace the sputtering GSC attack. The second half proved to be a little better as the Eagles were able to score touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters on a seven yard run by Frankie Johnson and a 50-yard pass from Gross to Tony Belser.

The big hero for the Indians was field goal kicker Tony Garcia who connected for four first half field goals and one extra-point to account for one half of the NLU scoring. Tim Foley, the Eagle all-star kicker was able to connect with only one of three field-goal attempts in a losing effort.

So far this season, the Indians are 3-3 with losses to Stephen F. Austin (20-3), highly ranked McNeese State (23-0) and to number one ranked North Texas State (26-23); their wins have come over Nicholls State (22-6), Southwest Texas (29-27) and Arkansas State (16-13).

Northeast, one of the most potent offenses in the country last year, have been struggling through the beginning of this season. The Indians have been averaging only 276.2 yards per game in offense and only 158.2 yards per game passing. Indian quarterback Walter Phythian has completed 59-138 passes in five games, has four touchdowns and a whopping six interceptions. NLU tailback Tommy Minvielle leads the team with 183 yards rushing (36.6 yards per game) to surpass quarterback Phythian with 285 yards rushing, but the Indian leader has 144 yards in losses for 141 rushing yards total.

The Eagles will be looking to even the series as last year's game was the first time these two teams have met. Northeast Louisiana will be looking to stop the Eagle's virtually unbeatable streak of winning home game wins since the second game of the 1985 season when the Eagles suffered their only Paulson Stadium loss to Middle Tennessee State 35-10.

Southern earns respect of FSU

by Terry Harvin
Sports Editor

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — GSC rocked the boats of Florida State's homecoming floats for 51 minutes before the Seminoles realized it was not a bad dream and woke up to score three touchdowns in the last nine minutes to outlast the Eagles, 28-10, last Saturday afternoon at Doak Campbell Stadium.

"We didn't come down here for just a paycheck," remarked Eagles' defensive lineman Charlie Waller. "I guess they thought all they had to do was show up. They were wrong." This is the first action Waller has seen this season due to a knee injury incurred in August. The Eagles received an estimated $125,000 for being the Seminoles' homecoming opponents. GSC, ranked sixth in Division 1-AA, fell to 3-2, while the sixth ranked Division 1-A Seminoles improve their record to 5-1.

The game that was supposed to be a rout, ended up as survival for the overconfident 'Noles. "We thought we were going to win before we hit the field," commented FSU tailback Sammie Smith. "I don't think that will happen any more. It boils down to the fact they wanted the game more than us for three quarters." The Eagles' defense held Smith, a pre-

Defensively, GSC was led by defensive back Rodney Oglesby with five tackles and two interceptions and defensive end Darren Alford with five tackles, two assists and two sacks. Free safety Randall Boone finished with an impressive five tackles, and linebacker Darrell Hendrix followed with four.

was the total domination over the 'Noles' offense in the third quarter. FSU's offense could only manage to collect 12 total yards and the Eagle defense did not give up a first down to the 'Noles' throughout the entire 15 minutes.

FSU scored first on a nine yard pass to Lawrence Dawsey from quarterback Chip Furgeson in the first quarter. The touchdown was set up by a 39-yard birthday present of a pass to wideout Ron Lewis from Furgeson. The pass was tipped twice by Eagle defenders before landing in Lewis' waiting hands.

GSC made the score 7-3 in the third quarter with a 28-yard fieldgoal by Mike Dowis, which was the result of a key interception of an FSU pass by Oglesby at the Seminole 30.

Trailing 7-3 at the beginning of the fourth quarter, the Eagle offense went to work with quarterback Raymond Gross hitting flanker Franky Johnson on a 22-yard pass reception. The Eagles used six plays to drive 57 yards, and a Gary Miller 22 yard gallop gave GSC their first lead in the game, 10-7. Miller replaced starter Joe Ross, who left the game at end of the second quarter with a broken hand after gaining 40 yards rushing.

The Eagles savored their lead for approximately six and a half minutes in the fourth quarter, until the Seminoles' Furgeson and Lewis went to work. An 80-yard drive by the 'Noles' led to a 16-yard grab by Lewis from Furgeson giving them the lead for

Soccer Eagles remain unbeaten at home

GSC soccer player points out Goodyear Blimp circling Eagle Field.

by Edd Cunningham
Sports Writer

Be it ever so humble, there's no place like home, especially for the GSC Soccer Eagles. After a disheartening loss to rival Georgia State in Atlanta earlier this week, the Eagles rebounded by blasting USC-Aiken in Statesboro 5-0. A second half explosion resulting in four goals for GSC destroyed the usually tough USC-Aiken squad. The victory increased the Eagles home record to 5-0 and their overall record to 7-3.

The first half was rather quiet until forward John Regan eased a shot into the open USC-Aiken goal from a pass by midfielder Kevin Connelly with under three minutes remaining in the half. The shot gave GSC the only score they would need. But, seemingly unsatisfied, four more Eagles scored in the second half to give the home team another victory in a rout. Javier Monne scored his first goal of the season as did Scott DeAmbrose, who scored on a beautifully executed penalty kick. GSC's main threat of the afternoon was Jan Andreason, who scored two goals to lead an attack that featured a good offensive showing by Regan, who added an assist to go along with his first half score. GSC outshot the visitors 19-3.

Along with the offensive fireworks, GSC added excellent defense to record their fourth shutout. Nathan Carey had a fine day at goalkeeper with two saves and a shutout to his credit. The Eagles continually pressed USC-Aiken and made a good offense their best defense.

This next week finds Coach Rafter's squad travelling south to Florida to face Eckerd College and TAAC powerhouse Stetson in an important road trip for the Eagles. Although Southern has been impressive at home, they must be able to win games in the Eastern TAAC in order to be champions.

Netters win first match in four sets

by Edd Cunningham
Sports writer

The Lady Netters of GSC won their first games of the season in a triple match involving Paine College of Augusta and Armstrong State College in Statesboro last Wednesday. In the days first match, the Lady Lions of Paine College overpowered GSC, but the Lady Eagles, coached by J. B. Claiborne, defeated the Lady Pirates of Armstrong State in the final match of the day to give GSC their first match win on the young season.

GSC was simply out matched by the taller and more experienced Paine College team. (Paine had played the equivalent of 13 matches prior to the match with GSC.) The Lady Lions won by scores of 15-4, 15-9, and 15-4 and at times intimidated the Lady Eagles with loud team talk and the ever present "AAH-Ace" chant from service aces against GSC. The Lady Eagles did show some courage by scoring nine points in the second game of the match. Tracey Kelly, Dee Cardell, and Pamela Grosch were the leaders for GSC.

Cross Country

by Al Allnoch
Sports Writer

The GSC men's cross country team registered a convincing win Oct. 4 at the Georgia Southern Invitational with the first perfect score in the school's history, easily outdistancing Mercer, Paine College, Augusta College and Armstrong State College.

GSC runners, led by Eric Evans' winning time of 17:01, made up the top five finishers of the 3.1 mile race. Mike Grubbs (17:30) finished second, Mark Herndon (17:45) third, David Steinfeld (18:14) came in fourth, and Kevin Larrimore (18:18) was fifth. "The course was slow, but we all ran really well," Evans said.

Grubbs, GSC's number two runner, was pleased with his finish after the heat got the best of him in the Samford Invitational. "I came off a rough week in Birmingham (Ala.), and I needed to do well today. I am very pleased with my time, and we're all happy about recording Georgia Southern's first sweep in history."

The Lady Eagles cruised to an overall second place finish in the women's meet, consisting of Mercer, Savannah State, Augusta College and Paine College. GSC's Alicea Hewes finished first overall with a time of 21:02. Jackie Davis finished a close second at 21:23 and Monica Evans was sixth at 23:05. Evans is also a member of the Lady Eagles basketball squad and Davis is on the Eagles' swim team.

Last Saturday, the Eagle runners traveled to Atlanta to participate in the Georgia Intercollegiate Championships (4 miles) hosted by Emory. The Eagles finished in 8th place of the 15 teams competing. Eric Evans led all GSC runners with a 29th-place finish at 21:51. Finishing 39th was Mike Grubbs at 22:33.

The next action for the men will be in Charleston, S.C. at The Citadel Invitational next Saturday (Oct. 15).

HOW TO SPOT THE NOID® ON YOUR CAMPUS.

Beware. The Noid, that bizarre character that yuks pizzas, is out there somewhere on campus. He could be disguised as anyone. A major jock. Psych teach. Bonehead. Even your big rival's mascot. But most likely he's delivering pizzas for those other dudes cause he likes to trash 'em out—make the crust soggy, splatter sauce all around the box and toss on the wrong ingredients—before he overrights it to the wrong place so it'll be good and cold when you get it. Don't get juiced. Give Domino's Pizza a ring and some serious pizza—hot, fresh, made to your order with the best ingredients—will be at your pad in 30 minutes or less. We know how to avoid the Noid.

A photographic essay on the Republican convention

George Bush and Dan Quayle with wives bask in the glow of post-nomination at the close of the 1988 Republican convention.

Young Republican setting out American flags, striving to make convention run smoothly.

American Excess

by Elizabeth Tilley
Features Writer

Where can I use my American Express?

You know, that card you should never leave home without, the little piece of plastic that is accepted by thousands of stores throughout the country and abroad?

Yeah, right... Everywhere, that is, except at GSC and other Statesboro locations frequented by GSC students.

I really have problems understanding this because:

1. I go to my classes and what do I see? American Express applications on bulletin boards and other such prominent places. They are everywhere!

2. When I bought my books at Landrum, the over priced tomes of knowledge were placed in a bag inscribed with "GSC Bookstore," or something like that, on one side and a gaudy picture of an American Express card on the other.

3. Every time I make a purchase at Landrum or The Warehouse, the bags are full of ads, junk and... yes, you guessed it, an American Express application.

When asked if these fine merchandise distributors accepted the "Don't leave home without it" card, the cheerful and perky cashiers reply, "No, we only take MasterCard and Visa."

I thought to myself, "Self... I can't leave home without it... why have it?" As I tear, fold and mutilate my card, the words of the obnoxious Visa commercials come to mind... "Visa goes everywhere you want to go."

Georgia Southern, a college of adventure... Remember to bring lots of money, a thirst for beer, a bicycle and leave your American Express. For a Georgia Southern degree take four years, and they don't take American Express...

G-A photographer Matt Stanley took these shots on assignment for the L.A. Times

"Bad" student wins trip

By Vicki M. Gibson
Guest Writer

While GSC senior, Jocelyn Chisolm might not consider herself to be particularly "bad", she may have changed her mind after winning a trip to New York City to see Michael "Old one glove" Jackson in concert and get to meet this rock star in person.

Our heroine and MTV's Downtown Julie Brown

Jocelyn won her trip from the Record Bar at Shannon Mall in Atlanta. "I just filled out an entry blank while I was there with a friend. It was really no big deal," Jocelyn smugly stated.

The result of her small effort was a phone call informing Miss Chisolm that she was a winner of a round trip plane ticket to New York, two tickets for Jackson's "Bad" tour concert, $200 in spending money and a pre-concert visit by the illusive Jackson himself.

Last Tuesday, accompanied by her girl friend Toni Mosley, Jocelyn winged her way to New York. After settling in to their hotel room, the lucky pair were escorted by limousine to the Meadowlands Arena in the opulent style of the incredibly rich.

At the arena, the breathless girls met Jackson. "He was gracious, but a little shy," remarked Jocelyn after her adventure. However, she stressed that they were greeted with a smile and he seemed eager to please his adoring fans.

They were allowed to pose for pictures with Michael, but only his personal photographer was allowed to take the shots. The photographs will be mailed in the next few weeks to Jocelyn. However, MTV's video disc jockey (Downtown) Julie Brown was more than happy to pose for a picture with both Jocelyn, Toni and the other contest winners.

Once again Michael Jackson explodes in fiery brilliance

Jackson is out on the road promoting his new album "Bad" and his show had all the trappings of the extravaganza that fans have come to expect from this dancing and singing sensation as the stage literally exploded with lights, fire and the energy that this legendary performer has made his hallmark.

Upon her return to the normality of Statesboro, the understated Jocelyn observed, "It was great and beyond compare. I would not trade this experience for anything. Michael is wonderful and I just feel so lucky to have been able to see him and getting to go to New York."

New dining in the 'Boro

By Clint Rushing
Features Writer

In Statesboro, one common problem people face is choosing a restaurant in which to while away a few hours and enjoy a reasonable meal. This small burg is riddled with fast-food emporiums, but sometimes people need a break from the burger, pizza, sub-sandwich routine. So when the need arises for dining out in a place with a relaxing atmosphere, where do the local folks go?

One of the finest eating establishments in Statesboro lies right here on the GSC campus, and the 'Boro simply has not discovered this "gold mine" yet. The Educated Palate provides our community with fine dining for reasonable prices while keeping a low profile here on the Southern campus.

Upon entering the Palate, customers are greeted with a smile from the attractive hostess. The eye-catching carpeting is appealing to the eye of those so bored with the usual, boring, brown tile floors of fast-food heaven.

Try the Hawaiian Chicken for a gastronomic vacation for the fare of Burgerland.

Among the new restaurants in town is Julian's Oyster Bar, located adjacent to R.J.'s Steakery on Highway 301. Julian's is mainly a seafood restaurant serving such appetizers as Oysters Rockefeller and Escargot au Champignon. Among the most popular entrees served are the Snapper Julian and the Sauteed Flounder Meuniere. These dishes are quite appealing to the old taste buds.

Julian's boasts a long list of fine dinner wines, house vintages and champagnes to compliment the marvelous seafood dishes. For the landlubbers, Julian's also serves Filet Mignon and various other steaks prepared to perfection. A great new addition to the food business in Statesboro, Julian's provides the city with a tastefully elegant place to dine.

Berardi's, located in the Statesboro Inn on South Main street is open evenings Wednesday through Saturday and offers Statesboro exactly what it has been looking for. A pleasing romantic place to dine in an idealistic location, Berardi's offers the best French and classic Italian cuisine in southeast Georgia. John Berardi, CEC (Certified Executive Chef), bases his menu on what is fresh at the market, so the entrees are subject to change daily.

But whatever is on the menu, rest assured your palate will sing the praises of Chef Berardi's tantalizing offerings. Berardi's is currently waiting for its license to serve alcohol, and as soon as it comes, expect the best in fine wines to enhance your evening. The atmosphere is state-of-the-art romance, and expect the small dining room to make an impression on your date or loved one. Berardi's is simply fine dining at its best.

So, Statesboro is not such a bad place to go out on a date or for a elegant dinner after all. With these new establishments in town, people should have no trouble finding a nice place to eat; the problem will be in deciding at which to dine.

Intoxicated

By Cynthia Riley
Features Writer

The party was in full swing when I arrived. The music was loud, and the liquor flowed as freely as Eagle Creek after a thundershower. After a few cups of Hunch-punch, I was in full-swing also and took a moment to observe the swaying landscape of humanity in front of me. It's hilarious to watch the staggering drunks in action.

When guys are intoxicated, they will hit on the ugliest girl like flies on two-day old bread. This, by the way, was a great night for it as the soiree was filled with the hounds of the campus in full bay. Oooowooo! This really cute guy was making his moves on a girl who was trying to extract something from her left nostril without being seen. The saddest part of this spectacle was that she turned him down flat.

I missed the best part of the party since I was busy trying to remove my head from a toilet where I was donating the contents of my stomach in a fond salute to the Porcelain Goddess. I swore a sacred oath to the pink lavatory that I would never, never drink again. Unfortunately, this silent repository heard these words again and again through-out the night.

Anyway, back to the best part... My roommate convinced my staggering boy friend that she was probably the best ear piercer in the entire world, if not the most experienced in the universe. The weird part was that she proposed to utilize an ice-pick to make the puncture.

Everyone held their collective breath in anticipation (Except me, who was busy elsewhere praying. See above paragraph) as the operation went on. From the pictures taken by my camera, I could see that the love of my life was feeling no pain. The next morning was a different story.

Needless to say, if you ever feel the need to party in a certain room of the Budget Inn, you will notice that the large stain on the carpet matches the bathroom's facilities. My head is just beginning to stop pounding, and the doctors have pronounced that my boy friend will make a complete recovery. I'll never drink again... at least until next week.

Netters

In the final match of the day, Southern overcame their earlier difficulties to defeat the Lady Pirates of Armstrong State 3-1 in games.

The Lady Netters of GSC won by scores of 15-10, 13-15, 15-8, and 15-7.

GSC was led by Kelly, Jill Eisel, Cardell, and former GSC Women's Basketball great Regina Days in the contest. GSC played on somewhat even terms with the Lady Pirates and came away with an important confidence building win on the evening.

Although GSC's record is 1-2, the season is still very young, and improvement from the Lady Eagles should show in the coming weeks. Southern will play a rematch against Paine in Augusta on Oct. 8, before playing in the Jacksonville University Tournament on the weekend of Oct. 14-15.

good at 14-10. The two subsequent scores that followed revealed the realities of Division 1-A against Division 1-AA, giving FSU the advantage in depth to GSC's short supply of quality personnel.

The GSC offense was led by full-back Miller with 65 yards and one touchdown, and Gross with 59 yards. Gross also completed seven passes for 97 yards.

Even though GSC suffered a loss, they earned the respect and confidence they need to finish the remainder of the season successfully. The Eagles will host the defending Division 1-AA National Champions Northeast Louisiana Indians this Saturday in Allen E. Paulson Stadium at 1 p.m.
