STRIKING MINERS TO VOTE:

Coal miners voted Monday on a proposed contract that would end one of the longest strikes in U.S. history. Some are optimistic the 10-month strike against The Pittston Coal Group will end and that they will be back at work soon. Up to 1,900 miners are on strike but the United Mine Workers says about 4,000 are eligible to vote because laid-off miners also are affected by the contract.

W.VA. LEAKS CAUSE SCARE:

An unreported leak Feb. 2 of methyl isocyanate — the same chemical that killed 3,500 people in Bhopal, India — and a leak last week of toxic muriatic acid has neighbors questioning their safety. A strip of 12 plants known as Chemical Valley provides the economic base for Kanawha County in West Virginia.

REAGAN WRAPS UP TESTIMONY:

Former President Ronald Reagan finished two days of videotaped testimony in Los Angeles Saturday for John Poindexter's Iran-Contra trial. The tapes will be released after editing to avoid revealing national security secrets. Poindexter, Reagan's ex-national security adviser, faces five felony charges stemming from the arms-for-hostages scheme, but claims Reagan authorized the activities.

FROGS ARE GETTING SCARCER:

The populations of amphibians are mysteriously declining around the world. Scientists in Irvine, Calif., are trying to solve this biological mystery. Their worst fear: amphibians may be our first warning of ecological doom.

TRADE DEFICIT HITS 5-YEAR LOW:

The U.S. trade deficit narrowed to $108.58 billion last year — the smallest yearly imbalance since 1984, the government reported. The 8.4 percent decline in the annual deficit, down from $118.53 billion in 1988, represented a sharp slowing in the pace of improvement. The deficit dropped 22.1 percent in 1988.

STATES MAY LOSE ELECTION CLOUT:

Iowa and New Hampshire, small states that have had a big say in selecting presidential candidates, may be cut down to size in 1992. The California Senate votes Thursday on moving its presidential primary from June to the first Tuesday in March — two weeks after Iowa's caucus and one week after New Hampshire's primary.

STORMS A RELIEF FOR CROPS:

Weekend storms that brought heavy rain or snow to the Southeast and California spared crops from deadly cold. Farmers, especially in the South, are on edge because premature growth, stimulated by the recent warm spell, could cause severe crop damage if wintry weather returns. In California, a storm dumped up to six feet of snow in the Sierras but brought only rainfall to growing regions.

BABY TO BE USED TO HELP SISTER:

Mary Ayala, 43, is having a baby to try to save her teen-age daughter's life — a plan that has raised questions and controversy. Mary and Abe Ayala are expecting the child in April. Their 17-year-old daughter, Anissa, has leukemia. A compatible bone-marrow donor is her only chance for life. The baby will give Anissa a 70 to 80 percent chance of survival.

DOUGLAS TO FIGHT HOLYFIELD:

Heavyweight champion James "Buster" Douglas plans to fight Evander Holyfield in September, according to his manager John Johnson. No site, date or purse figures have been agreed upon. Johnson wants the fight in September so Douglas can cash in on endorsements. Holyfield's promoter, Dan Duva, prefers June.

G-A takes four awards in GCPA contest

By YOLANDA WALLACE
Features Editor

For three days last week, the George-Anne staff rubbed elbows with the best college journalists in the state, occasionally coming in ahead of the competition in a show that was stolen by the reporting staff of Georgia State University.

At the 62nd annual Georgia Press Institute competition held Thursday through Saturday in Athens on the University of Georgia campus, the George-Anne won four awards in the senior college competition, resulting in a first, a second, and two third-place finishes in the 1989 Georgia College Press Association (GCPA) Better Newspaper Contest.

During the awards ceremony conducted Friday by GCPA Vice President Mark Smith, the George-Anne, GSC's official college paper, received the top honor in the Best Campus Community Service-Features category, beating out second-place Georgia Tech's The Technique and third-place Georgia State's The Signal.

The panel which selected the winning entrants said that the George-Anne's features section far outdistanced those of its competitors. Whereas other college papers seek to meet the needs, expectations, and desires of its advertisers, administrations, and community readers, the panel said, the George-

Anne seeks to direct its stories at and meet only the needs of the students and faculty at GSC.

In the Best Campus Community Service-Editorial Excellence category, the George-Anne finished second to The Signal, but ahead of the third-place Technique.

The George-Anne finished third in the General Advertising Excellence category behind UGA's first-place The Red and Black and the second-place Technique. The George-Anne also finished third in the General Excellence category behind first-place Georgia State and second-place Georgia Tech.

The Signal topped 13 total prizes, eight firsts, four seconds, and a third.

In the general categories, the Atlanta-based paper beat the competition in General Excellence, Best Campus Community Service-News, Best Campus Community Service-Sports Coverage, Best Campus Community Service-Editorial Excellence, Layout and Design Excellence, and General Photography Excellence.

In the individual categories, The Signal staff finished first twice. Reporter D. W. Pine won Best News Article Based on Interpretive or Investigative Reporting, beating out fellow staffer Hank Ernest. A David Glueck photo was selected Best Photograph-News.

The Signal finished second in the voting for the Improvement

Award, Best News Article Based on Objective Reporting, and Best Editorial or Editorial Series. The paper came in third in the category the George-Anne won: Best Campus Community Service-Features.

No awards were presented in the Best Photograph-Sports category because, said Smith, the entrants "were lost by a major daily newspaper in the state. And it's not in Athens. That's all I'm going to say."

Staffers at the Atlanta Constitution were in charge of the judging.

In the junior college competition, Floyd College's Six Mile Post and Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College's The Stallion were the big winners, earning 14 and 11 awards respectively.

By SHARON SMITH
Staff Writer

The 42nd annual Miss GSC Pageant was held Saturday night in McCroan Auditorium, and when it was all over, the crown had stayed in the family.

Pamela Stevens, sister of Miss GSC 1989 Dawn Stevens, was crowned the new Miss GSC in the pageant, which saw 16 contestants compete for the top honor.

The four runners up were: Elaine Collins, fourth; Wendy Ward, third; Darla Gryder, second; and Kara Martin, first.

Tony Kemp introduced the Mistress of Ceremonies, Natalie Hendrix. Ms. Hendrix is a graduate of GSC and is currently a news anchor at WJCL-22 in Savannah.

All 16 contestants participated in a dance to "New York, New York," which was choreographed by Kim Reed. During the dance, Dawn Stevens came out on stage and participated, then was carried off by the "Downtown" dancers.

Hendrix introduced the judges, who were Maryline Blackburn, Walter Holwell, Eddie Corbit, Burt McCord, and Brenda Smith.

As the contestants prepared for the swimsuit competition, the Miss Georgia Superstars, which consists of eight girls, performed a medley from the

"Miami Sound Track."

The contestants were judged on poise, intelligence and talent. The interview counted 30% of the total score, while the swimsuit and evening gown counted 15% each, and the talent 40%.

Before the talent competition got underway, Dawn Stevens performed a tap dance to "Flying Home."

The talents of the contestants ranged from piano playing to singing to tap dancing to a jazz/baton routine. One of the contestants did sign language to Barbara Streisand's song "Somewhere."

During the evening gown competition, each contestant told about herself, who was sponsoring her and proceeded down the runway.

The reigning queens, Miss Warner Robbins, Miss Bulloch County, Miss Emanuel County, Miss Savannah, Miss Augusta, and Miss Southern Coastal Empire were recognized.

Dawn Stevens took her final walk and then the Miss Congeniality Award and the swimsuit and talent awards were given out. The Miss Congeniality Award was presented to Gryder, who was also the winner of the swimsuit competition. Gryder was sponsored by Kappa Delta.

The winner of the talent competition was Pamela Stevens. She was sponsored by the Phi Mu sorority pledge class.

For being crowned Miss GSC, Stevens receives a $1,000 scholarship, a crown, roses, a trophy and four gift certificates from various merchants within the area.

Subject to Change wins contest

By KEVIN HUDSON
Staff Writer

A band from Statesboro has won the 1990 Bandonium contest in Savannah. Subject to Change, a progressive group comprised primarily of GSC students, won three awards at the show including the Best Band Award.

Of the approximately 30 bands who sent in entries to the contest, eight were chosen to appear last Saturday for the preliminary competition at noon. After all the bands had had their chance on stage, the four finalists were announced by Virgil Thompson, a DJ with radio station I-95. They were Versa-Vice (the winners of the contest for the past two years) Subject to Change, Checkpoint Charlie, and City of Lindas.

After a three-hour break, the auditorium began to fill-up with approximately 700 to 1000 students and fans. The first band to play was Subject to Change. Lead singer Andy Tison, along with Brack Haynes, guitar; Tim Trzeciak, bass; and Brandon Cash on drums, played a blend of high- and low-tempo songs that was sure to please the judges as well as the fans.

When the other finalists had played, Thompson returned with the winners' names. Each of the five judges from such companies as Electra Records in Atlanta, and Fantazia Productions in Florida had rated the bands on a scale of one to ten in each of five categories: originality, stage presence, vocal quality, instrumental quality, and song content.

The first award, Most Original Band, was given to City of Lindas. The Best Instrumental Performance Award went to Checkpoint Charlie, while Subject to Change received the Best New Group Award. City of Lindas was then announced as the second-place winner, and Subject to Change was presented with the first place trophy, $500 cash, and ten hours of recording time at Reel Time Recording Studios in Savannah.

The Bandonium contest was sponsored by I-95 radio, Rock Me Productions, Rody's Music, and P. Mazo Sound Company.

"I'm glad to get some recognition for Statesboro bands," commented Haynes. "There's an unusually wide range of talent over here." All the band members seemed surprised that they had won, especially Tison, who sat in the back on the auditorium waiting to see which of the other bands would win the awards. They had decided to enter the competition just for fun, and "Tim got the tape in a couple of hours before the deadline," said Haynes.

Subject to Change may be seen this Friday when they appear at the Museum of Arts & Sciences in Macon. There, they will be competing against bands such as The Ellen James Society, and The Cereal Killers. The February 23 show will begin at 8:00 p.m.

Special Supplement Inside Today's Edition

Miscellany, Georgia Southern's Magazing of the Arts, has prepared a 32 page special edition which highlights the world of art and literature on campus during the 1960s.

The edition, edited by students Ira Dove and Melissa Lukehart, recalls the campus art scene in the '60s with reprints of poetry, short stories, and theatrical vignettes. The edition also features interviews with some of the campus faculty and staff who were here during the '60s as well as essays by some of those individuals.

GSC and Union Camp sponsor TETI

George-Anne staff reports

This summer teachers will be able to study how the state's natural resources become part of its economy through products and jobs when Union Camp funds, for the 19th consecutive year, the Teachers Environment and Technology Institute (TETI) at GSC.

More than 450 teachers have participated in the summer workshop since TETI's inception, and 25 scholarships are being offered for this year's June 11-July 6 session.

The intensive indoor-outdoor course is open to all teachers at all grade levels and disciplines. The institute calls on consultants from government, industry, science, and education as visiting lecturers for classroom studies and on field trips.

The teachers will visit sites ranging from natural areas and tree nurseries to water treatment plants and paper mills. Among the topics covered during the four weeks are forest economics, hazardous waste disposal, geology, wildlife conservation, and energy.

Teachers keep diaries of their daily activities, and the institute ends with a display of exhibits developed by the participants on some aspect of their summer experience.

The purpose of the course is to allow teachers to integrate into their classroom teaching new perspectives on Georgia's resources and man's use of them.

Scholarship applications are available from GSC's Division of Continuing Education, Landrum Box 8124 or by calling 681-5555.

Two-week art classes offered

GSC News Service

GSC is taking applications for three intensive, two-week long courses in art that can be applied toward the Master of Fine Arts, the Master of Education, or an undergraduate degree.

Two of the courses, Painting, and History of American Art in Washington, D.C., will be offered on the GSC campus. Drawing for the Artist/Teacher will be taught at Armstrong State College in Savannah.

The History of American Art, Art 595-795, will meet 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays from July 9-20. The first week will be spent reviewing American art, including painting, sculpting, and architecture from the colonial days to the present in a classroom setting.

The second week the class will move to Washington, D.C. to tour major art collections at the National Gallery of Art, the Smithsonian Museum, the Corcoran Museum, and the Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden.

Travel and lodging for the Washington trip will cost about $250.

No previous knowledge of art history is required, and enrollment is limited.

Painting, Art 450-650, meets 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays from June 18-29 at GSC, and is offered for those with some art background. A still life will be provided for beginners, while advanced painters are also invited to join the class and can work in the style and medium of their choice.

Art 794, Drawing for the Artist/Teacher, will be taught at Armstrong State in Savannah July 9-20. The course will address the art educator's need for continued professional development as an artist and teacher. Students will work in both traditional and experimental drawing methods that will be examined for potential application in classroom instruction.

Cycling club formed

By MATT MAYBERRY
Staff Writer

Southern Cyclists, a group described by President Will Wattles as "a better social lubricant than alcohol," has formed to promote safe and sociable cycling in Bulloch County. The first meeting will be held today at the recreation center on Fair Road.

"Our club offers something for everyone, literally," said Connie Schenk, an instructor in GSC's recreation and leisure services department.

There are four levels of expertise in the club, ranging from I Dog to IV Dog—new cyclists to strong, experienced cyclists who can maintain a moving average faster than 15 mph and can ride 70 miles.

Southern Cyclists plans to schedule a ride every day. Said Schenk, "We have people with mountain bikes, as well as road bikes; long rides and short rides, fast rides and slow rides, and rides to a Saturday breakfast!"

Wattles, an assistant professor in the psychology department, emphasizes the recreational pleasure of cycling. "Yesterday, in our ride, we watched two red horses chase each other around a brilliant green field."

Bicycling is second only to swimming as the most popular sport in America. For more information on Southern Cyclists, contact Will Wattles at 681-5580 LB 8041, or contact Connie Schenk at 681-5462, LB 8077.

Comedy competition coming to campus

Special to the George-Anne

Certs Mints is searching for the funniest college student in America and is coming to GSC to find the school's #1 class clown. On March 5 at 7 p.m., Certs Mints will host the U.S. College Comedy Competition at Sarah's Coffeehouse, an event that is guaranteed to make you laugh until you drop your books!

So, if you've always dreamed of being the laughing stock on campus, here's your chance. All full and part-time students who want to enter should prepare a clean but hilarious three-minute comedy routine and come to the contest site one hour early to sign up.

And even if you don't compete, come by just for the laughs and the free Certs Mints. Certs Mints is sponsoring the competition at 80 universities across the country.

The competition will be hosted by a professional comedian who will crown the lucky winner "Funniest Student at GSC." A videotape of the winner's performance will be reviewed by Jerry Seinfeld, the national judge, who will select the four national semifinalists. Seinfeld, who has appeared numerous times on Showtime and HBO, is widely considered to be one of America's most amusing comedians.

The U.S. College Comedy Competition will certainly be funny, but the prizes won't be something to laugh at. The semifinalists will receive a trip for two to Daytona Beach during spring break to compete in the Finals Competition on March 22. The Finals Competition will be hosted by Seinfeld, who will select the "Funniest Student in America."

The winner will then fly to New York City to perform at a famous comedy club, and maybe even become "discovered."

The contest is produced by U.S. Concepts, a New York-based company that specializes in young adult marketing and promotions.

Today's Announcements

George-Anne staff reports

—Dreamgirls tickets for faculty and general public will be on sale today and tomorrow at the box office in McCroan Auditorium. Tickets will be sold from 1-5 p.m. The one-time only performance, sponsored by the Campus Life Enrichment Committee (CLEC), will take place tomorrow, Wednesday, Feb. 21, at 8 p.m.

—There will be a general student recital tomorrow at 1 p.m. in Foy Recital Hall. Admission is free with GSC ID.

—As part of the Faculty Recital Series, trumpeter William Schmid and pianist Michael Braz will perform at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 22 in Foy Recital Hall. Admission is free with GSC ID.

—The GSC Chorus will perform Tuesday, Feb. 27, at 8 p.m. in Foy Recital Hall. Admission is free with GSC ID.

—Four tutor counselors are wanted for the GSC Upward Bound Summer Program. Upward Bound is a program designed to motivate and prepare high school students for post-secondary education. Applicants must 1) have achieved college sophomore status, or better, by May 1990; 2) have a 2.30 or better GPA; 3) be available daily from June 11 through July 31, 1990 (no summer school, please); 4) be committed to working with young people; 5) be conscientious and dedicated. Salary is $1,350 ($900 plus room/board). applications will be accepted through March 26, 1990. If interested, apply at the Upward Bound office in the lower level of Williams Center or write to Landrum Box 8071 or call 681-5458.

—Recognized as one of the most prestigious collegiate writing contests in the country, the Rolling Stone College Journalism Competition is increasing the cash prizes of the contest from $1,000 to $2,500 for each winning entry. Smith Corona Corporation, cosponsor of the contest for the fifth consecutive year, will contribute a PWP 7000 Laptop word processor to each winning student.

Student journalists can enter the competition in any of three categories: General Reporting (any subject), Entertainment Reporting (profiles and news features on music, film, sports, and personalities), and Essays & Criticism (analytical, evaluative or interpretive compositions on any subject, including reviews).

All entries must have been published in a college or university publication between April 1, 1989 and April 1, 1990. Deadline for receiving entries is June 1, 1990. Each entrant must have been a full- or part-time student in an accredited university or college during the school year in which his or her entry was published.

If you have any questions about the contest, contact Contest Coordinator John Jordan at (212) 350-1221. Every entry has an equal chance to win.

Hats off to de Klerk

For the past 27 years the symbol of South African blacks' struggle for equality, Nelson Mandela, has been in prison for his crusade against white-minority rule of the nation. Last Sunday Mandela was set free.

South African President F.W. de Klerk and United States President George Bush both believe that Mandela's release is a significant step for the nation away from apartheid.

In addition to freeing Mandela, de Klerk stunned the world when he lifted a 30 year ban of the African National Congress last February 2. These actions create a feeling of hope for the embattled and suppressed black majority of South Africa; hope that one day, via negotiation, they will have their say in the way their country is run.

We at The George-Anne salute F.W. de Klerk for his bold steps toward reforming and unifying South Africa; however, we feel the need to address the fact that although these actions are impressive, they alone cannot resolve the situation of apartheid in South Africa.

In the capital city of Pretoria, where hundreds of right wingers reside, Mandela and de Klerk have become quite unpopular targets for death threats from Nazi sympathizers. These right wingers have vowed to overthrow de Klerk's government and murder both he and Mandela. We feel that more attention should be paid to this situation, for, as it does not affect GSC directly, it affects the entire world in terms of unity and the dream for world peace.

We at The George-Anne salute and sympathize with the suppressed majority in South Africa for their strife to liberate themselves of selfish, racist minority rule.

SGA wishes to thank all people who helped in the February 8 Red Cross blood drive. 238 units of blood were collected, making the drive a great success. In addition to all SGA senators who helped, we wish to thank Alpha Phi Omega fraternity for all their assistance. It would not have been a success without their much needed help. SGA also thanks Savannah's Z-102 and GSC's own WVGS for helping to get the word out for us.

Earth Day's Can Drive is still in full swing. Thank you to those organizations involved in this effort, and everyone else is encouraged to participate. Remember, pick-up time is every Monday from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Johnson Hall parking lot.

Finally, but most importantly, SGA representatives just returned from the Student Advisory Council's Conference which was held at Southern Tech in Marietta, Georgia. At this conference, students from all colleges and universities in the state gathered to propose amendments to the Board of Regents' current policies. SGA President Sean Schuur, Vice Presidents Scott Hickman and Allen Sanders, and Senator Mahmoud Boland worked to propose amendments concerning environmental issues, special consideration for foreign students who wish to list English as their second language, and changes in the current drop-ad policies. Out of seven total amendments that were adopted by the council, these three proposed by representatives of GSC were all passed by SAC to be presented to the Board of Regents. Congratulations to the outstanding efforts of our representatives!

Good luck to all students as this quarter quickly winds down. SGA extends its best wishes to you and invites all interested students to attend our next regular meeting Tuesday, February 20, at 6:00 p.m. in room 221 in the Hollis Building.

Beginning of brotherhood

From The Editor's Desk Clint Rushing

boarded a plane to Chicago the day after I was graduated from high school.

When I arrived in Chicago I was taken off of the plane and immediately thrust into an intense study session of music and drill charts, marching style and maneuvering. After seven hours of studying, physical exercise, and endless runs through our show, we were dismissed.

The corps arranged for me to live in an apartment in the suburbs of Chicago (Rosemont) with 10 other guys from the corps. At first the situation seemed a bit crowded but after the first week or so out of the 12 weeks scheduled, we all became good friends.

When we weren't touring the States we practiced our show at the Triton Junior College football stadium, which is about ten miles from Rosemont. We'd wake up and go to practice at 9 a.m. and usually get home around midnight. A 13-hour rehearsal was not uncommon with the Cavaliers.

After the first two weeks of 12 hours of practice per day, we were ready for our first tour. Drum corps, tour the United States and Canada all summer each year competing in a different city each night against other corps from other cities. Tour life is by far the most exciting and intriguing lifestyle I've ever been in contact with. I had to learn to sleep on a bus, eat what I was served when it was served, and live without too much contact with the outside world. Not that we were discouraged from it, it's just the fact that on tour no one has time to read a newspaper, and of course there are no televisions, so it's very easy to lose track of what is happening in the world. Drum corps simply is a world unto itself.

Tour life goes like this: The Cavaliers (as most all other corps do) travel in a caravan of four buses owned by the corps, an equipment semi and trailer, and a cook vehicle. We arrived at the city where the show was to be held the night before. We woke up at 7 a.m. every morning, ran three miles in block (Marine) formation, ate breakfast, and went to practice. We would practice all morning, have an hour off for lunch, and then go back to practice until 6 p.m. or so. After the afternoon session we took showers, ate dinner, and dressed for the night's performance. After the show we'd change into regular clothes, eat a snack (literally a midnight snack) get on our buses, and travel through the night to the next city. Sleeping on a tour bus is exhausting to say the least. Somehow I got used to it, and always managed to get enough sleep between the late night bus rides and the few hours down time we got when we arrived. So where did we sleep when we weren't on the bus? On gymnasium floors in sleeping bags of course. Sound comfortable? Well, it's all any corps can afford with the budgets they're on. The budget allows for gas, food, insurance, general supplies, and anything else imaginable, but does not leave much for hotel expenses. Believe me, I got used to hard gym floors, and even took a liking to them after a while.

The performance aspect of a drum corps is by far the most exciting. Words simply cannot accurately capture the emotion felt in a performance; one has to experience it for himself to be able to understand the feeling. As I dressed for each performance it was my personal responsibility (as it was everyone else's) to psych myself up for a flawless performance. Concentration was absolutely essential. When we were all dressed in our uniforms, warmed up, and briefed on who the judges would be that night and what they would be looking for in our show, we marched silently to the entrance of whatever stadium the show was in that particular night. As we stood at attention, our instructor, a better word is our lifeblood, Jeff Fiedler, rambled off instructions, informational comments about the audience, the judges, the field, the stadium, and ourselves. He took it upon himself to psych the corps up before each show. And I'll never be able to forget the incredible sense of self confidence and pride Jeff taught me and the rest of the corps. Just before we were to perform we'd huddle

Death Watch for editor

Dear (condemned) editor,

Barely one year has passed since the late Ayatollah Kohmeini issued his death threat against Salman Rushdie and what do you know, we here at Georgia Southern are in our second week of the Clint Rushing death watch. It seems that Mr. Rushing has dove head first in the theological and essentially fundamental morass of GSC's moral majority by asserting his first amendment right to free speech. Clint you should be ashamed! You know that by using your brain you asserted un-godlike views such as freedom of choice, as is quoted Marcus A. Toole, "blasphemous." How can you live with yourself? Now it seems that there is no hope for your lost soul old boy. Hey man, I don't think Jimmy Swaggart could even help you this far along the line. However, if I may make a few suggestions there still may be hope for your eternal soul (and you know we're all really interested in it). My first suggestion Clint, would be, without hesitation, to stop reading ungodly (what does that word mean anyway?) works the likes of Plato, Salinger, and Vonnegut. These works can only lead you to the path of free thought; and we all know that's bad. Secondly Clint, stop writing your "crass, presumptuous, and wrong" editorial columns with their "perverted" views. Instead you should think about the countless thousands here at GSC who look to your editorial column twice a week for moral strength and guidance. I dare not venture a guess as to the many thousands you have indirectly led to the path of damnation because of your freely expressed opinions. But hey! At least you won't be lonely down there. Finally Clint, why don't you just stick your head in the sand like Mr. Toole and Mr. Moser have done.

Their simpleton solutions will surely lead you to the path of salvation if not to imminent brain decay. Unfortunately, I think you're too late Clint. Free speech is OK to a certain point. But, when it comes to theological and moral matters free speech has no place. There are but two founts where moral wisdom and knowledge flow and they are the minds of Mr. Toole and Mrs. Moser. They obviously seem to have a grip on the whole issue of what is right and what is wrong. For example, starving children in sub-Saharan Africa will certainly face an eternity of damnation because they were too busy trying to survive instead of trying to memorize quotes from a book. Whereas, experts on Biblical quotes such as Jerry Falwell and Pat Robertson can expect an eternity of loving bliss. Yeah right! And, this can be proven through quotes from a book. How convenient! So you see Clint, you really shouldn't be expressing your opinions about your god you should be expressing your opinions about their god. Your god is "agreeable" while their god is more than likely going to condemn you to hell. Your god gave you a free will their's gave them a dreaded sense of fear. Your god holds to your point of view while their god holds to their point of view (WOW!). If it were up to me Clint, I'd stick to your god and risk eternal hell fire (but then again they call me Mr. Vegas). After all, would you want to hang out with those two for any extended period of time? One more point. Don't you find it a tad ironic that both your name and Salman Rushdie's name are so closely connected? But, unlike Mr. Rushdie who lives in seclusion in Great Britain, aren't you hiding out in Portal until your death sentence is lifted? Hang in there Clint and quit playing those DEVO LP's backward!!!!

Committee defended

Dear Editor,

A clarification of Ronald L. Robertson's letter, "Response to Solomon" is in order here and now: Mr. Robertson, who may speak as an officer of Alpha Phi Alpha, is NOT a member of the GSC Black Awareness Committee, and the contents of his letter do not reflect the opinions of the committee. We disavow any ties with flippancy that can include such statements as, "I might not like your religion or notions on different subjects, but I will listen to you with an open mind." Clearly, our committee steers well wide of such self-contradiction.

That the ideologies of the Judaic, Islamic, and Christian worlds have been made manifest throughout the world's history is already evident. But America, while not immune to cultural, ethnic and religious strifes, makes available the First Amendment privilege of free speech, and it is in the spirit of this liberty that the GSC Black Awareness Committee moves to generate its annual program. Our objectives do not include the imposition of any ideological mindset, and in our purpose we must, of necessity, embrace cultural and historical matters that have included injustice, conflict, and oppression. We do NOT, however, think it our mission to in any way perpetuate these antagonisms, nor do we believe that accurate awareness will necessarily breed further hostility.

That Mr. Solomon's response to Conrad X. Muhammed's appearance here included sentiments that Mr. Muhammed, as a Muslim and devotee of Louis Farrakhan, was not appropriately in the spirit of Dr. King's works is a point worthy of consideration, but not a point overlooked by the committee in selecting Mr. Muhammed. Mr. Solomon's

Letter policy

All letters to the editor are subject to standard editing policies for taste, libel, etc. The editor reserves the right to reject any letter. There is no word limit on letters and are published on a first come, first served basis. Letters should address certain issues and not attack individuals. All letters MUST BE SIGNED. The letter writer may request to remain anonymous. However, it will be the editor's decision whether or not to print the name.

response to Mr. Muhammed was founded in, we think, a sincere effort to have voiced a legitimate concern, and as such, we find it a meaningful response. It is noteworthy that Mr. Solomon did not purport to speak for the committee.

That Mr. Robertson chose, in his response to Mr. Solomon's letter, a tactic of argument ad hominem and personal insistence that Mr. Solomon "...be the bigger man and not downplay someone else because his religion differs from yours" is unfortunate and utterly exclusive of this committee's spirit, method and objective. And again, while Mr. Robertson is certainly at liberty to voice himself, let it be clearly known that he is not speaking for the Black Awareness Committee.

As a final note, the GSC community should know that the philosophy of this committee stands in principle against any oppression, repression or suppression of individual liberties. That some tenets of religious and political ideology come into conflict is inescapable, but it seems unlikely that these conflicts will ever breathe hope in the absence of an open forum for discussion and debate. We hope that in our activities we help provide such a forum, and we rely upon a community and audience not given to prejudice or narrow ideology. Consequently, we welcome participation in Black Awareness Month events by any member of the GSC community, and we condone response from the community, even urge it. Still, Mr. Robertson went beyond accuracy in claiming membership in this committee.

Gwen Thomas (40) sets up for a free throw. Thomas had 16 points in the Lady Eagles 84-62 victory over the Lady Knights of Central Florida. The Lady Eagles are now 16-9.

By PAUL FLOECKHER
Assistant Sports Editor

Coming off a 15-point win over Georgia State and a 37-point destruction of Mercer, the GSC Lady Eagles continued their strong conference play with an 84-62 victory over the Central Florida Lady Knights Saturday in Hanner Fieldhouse.

The Lady Eagles improved to 16-9 overall and 8-2 in the New South Women's Athletic Conference with just two games remaining before the March 1-3 NSWAC Tournament in Miami.

For the fourth time in the last five games, Tracy Wilson led the GSC scoring attack. The 6-1 forward picked up two early fouls and sat out most of the first half, but poured in 15 second-half points to finish with a game-high 19.

UCF entered the contest leading the NSWAC in free throw percentage (69.7%), but the Lady Eagles beat them at their own game. GSC scorched the nets on 71% (20-28) shooting from the free throw line. In the second half alone, the Lady Eagles took 20 trips to the charity stripe. Meanwhile the Lady Knights shot only 11 free throws, hitting seven (64%).

The first half action gave no indication that the game would be a 22-point GSC runaway. UCF led for most of the first half and, after a jumper by Natalie Howard, opened a 24-18 advantage with 6:10 left.

However, GSC awoke shortly before halftime. Deb Blackshear's two free throws ignited an 8-2 run over the next two minutes that tied the score at 26-26.

After the teams exchanged baskets, GSC scored seven unanswered points on a lay up by Trina Simmons, an 18-footer by Blackshear, and a free throw and a lay up by Gwen Thomas to move ahead 35-28.

While Wilson was on the sidelines during the first half, Simmons and Thomas picked up the slack with 10 points each. Simmons missed just one of six attempts from the field and Thomas scored seven points in the final three minutes to help GSC open a nine-point lead.

Thomas and Simmons finished the night with 16 and 12 points, respectively.

Although the Lady Eagles led 39-30 at halftime, they weren't about to let up. In GSC's last meeting with UCF (January 29 in Orlando), the Lady Eagles held a 44-33 halftime lead, but found themselves trailing 82-81 with four seconds left. Simmons' lay up at the horn saved GSC from an upset, 83-82.

In Saturday's win, Wilson hit a free throw and a turn around jumper in the first 50 seconds of the second half to put GSC up 42-30. A basket by Yolanda Rhodes brought UCF within 10 at 42-32, but the Lady Knights never cut the lead to single digits.

GSC turned the game into a laughter with an 11-2 run that broke open a 73-48 lead with 6:17 remaining. Wilson was a force during the spurt, scoring seven points on two field goals and three free throws.

Blackshear joined Wilson, Thomas and Simmons in double figures with 10. Stephanie Christmas added eight off the bench and Vet

Cooper rebounded from an 0-8 first half to score seven.

Unless GSC and UCF meet in the conference tournament next month, Saturday's win will go in the books as the last conference meeting between the two schools. UCF is leaving the NSWAC after this year to join the American South Conference. The University of Miami will replace UCF in the NSWAC.

GSC certainly will miss the Lady Knights. GSC leads the series 12-1 with UCF's only win coming on January 25, 1986. The Lady Eagles have taken the last nine meetings and all six in Hanner.

Centenary avenges 1st loss to Eagles with blow out 104-87

By PAUL FLOECKHER
Assistant Sports Editor

In the latest chapter of their Jekyll and Hyde season, the GSC Lady Eagles blew an opportunity to take over second place in the Trans America Athletic Conference, falling 104-87 to the Centenary Gents Thursday in Shreveport, La.

After reeling off eight straight wins, the Eagles now have lost three of their last four games by an average margin of 13 points.

The Gents became the first squad to score 100 points against a Frank Kerns-coached GSC team. Not since a 106-83 loss to Stetson during the 1980-81 season had the Eagles allowed an opponent to hit the century mark.

Almost lost in the blowout was a great performance by GSC's Mike Curry. On top of scoring a career-high 21 points and tying a career high with 15 rebounds, he scored the 1,000th point of his career early in the contest.

Curry converted a three-point play at the 15:59 mark of the first half to hit the magic number. The 6-5 senior from Augusta is the 25th GSC player to reach the 1,000-point plateau.

GSC led 21-17 with 11:25 left in the first half after a bucket by Cal Ferguson, but Centenary ran off 12 unanswered points over the next 2:16 to take a 29-21 lead. Five different Gents scored during the run, with Tyrone Coleman and John Buckwalter each hitting a three-pointer.

The Eagles trimmed the deficit to three, 34-31, on a three-pointer by Charlton Young, but they pulled no closer the rest of the night. Patrick Greer, responded to Young's trey with a three-pointer of his own, then Marro Hawkins added a basket to push the Centenary lead back to eight.

Centenary's pressure defense forced GSC into 22 turnovers, including a crucial one right before halftime. Trailing 52-41 and looking for the last shot of the half, the Eagles instead gave away the ball on an errant pass. The turnover resulted in a Blaine Russell basket that put the Gents up by 13 at the break.

"We played a very poor game," Kerns said. "A lot of our players are not quick enough or tough enough to handle that type of pressure."

Curry began the second half with two free throws, but the Gents answered with a 6-2 run. A Larry Robinson jumper closed out the spurt that put GSC down 60-45.

Robinson, the TAAC's leading scorer, was held to "only" 16 points. However, he made up for his unusually low scoring output with a strong rebounding effort, leading Centenary with 10 boards.

Byron Steward's free throw with 1:21 left gave the Gents their biggest lead at 100-80. Forty seconds later Russell nailed a three-pointer, the last of seven for Centenary, to match the 20-point bulge, 103-83.

One of GSC's few bright spots was Young, who scored a career-high 18 points. Ben Pierce, apparently beginning to snap out of a recent scoring slump, added 14.

Steward led Centenary with 23 points, followed by Greer's 20.

The Eagles, 15-8 overall and 9-3 in the TAAC, will conclude their home schedule this week with conference games against Georgia State Thursday and Mercer Saturday. A sweep would wrap up a 9-2 home mark for the 1989-90 Eagles.

The GSC Lady Eagle swim team swept two dual meets in the past week, defeating the College of Charleston 125-80 and Augusta College 61-30, marking their sixth consecutive victory.

On Saturday, Feb. 10, Jackie Davis, Keri Maschio, and Terri Comeau took first place finishes to lead GSC over Charleston. Davis led things off for the Lady Aqua Eagles by capturing the 800 Freestyle (9:57.21). Comeau won the 200 Freestyle (2:14.80), Maschio took the 50 Freestyle (:28.49) and Stacey Scheible won the 200 Individual Medley (2:31.02) to put GSC on top, 62-25 after five events.

Paula Smith captured one of her two diving rounds, the one meter, to place the ladies in command, 71-25, after six events.

After the Lady Cougars captured the 100 Butterfly, GSC took five of the final six events. Maschio and Comeau won their second events of the afternoon, Maschio in the 100 Freestyle (1:02.31) and Comeau in the 400 Freestyle (4:45.19). Amanda Hall took the 100 Backstroke (1:12.30) and Smith won the three meter springboard.

After 11 events, the Lady Eagles led 125-52. Head coach Scott

Farmer decided to exhibition the final two events, allowing the Lady Cougars to pick up 28 points for the 125-80 final and make the meet look a little more respectable. Davis took her second first place finish (100 Breaststroke - 1:24.88), and the Lady Cougars captured only their second event of the day, the 200m Freestyle Relay.

On Wednesday, Feb. 14, the Lady Eagles did not take Valentine's Day into consideration as they tuned up for the swimming and diving championships by blasting Augusta College 61-30 at Hanner Natatorium.

Amanda Hall took two first place finishes, the 50 yard Freestyle (:26.31) and the 100 yard Backstroke (1:05.99) to help lead the Lady Eagles to their sixth consecutive victory dual meet victory. GSC has not lost a dual meet since they were defeated by the Furman Lady Paladins on Nov. 4, 122.5-102.5.

The Lady Eagles jumped to a 61-5 lead by winning the opening eight events. Individual winners included Karen Welles in the 200 yard Freestyle (2:07.03), Terri Comeau in the 200 yard Individual Medley (2:17.09), Keri Maschio in the 100 yard Butterfly (1:02.18), and Suzie Hicks in the 100 yard Freestyle (:59.20).

GSC set their third Hanner Natatorium record when the relay squad of Vickie Haklin, Jackie Davis, Angela Serina, and Hicks won the 200 yard Medley in 2:01.59, breaking the old mark of 2:04.88, set on Jan. 14, 1989 by Armstrong State.

GSC, now 6-2, exhibitioned the final four events, after taking a 61-5 lead, of which the Lady Eagles won two.

The Lady Eagles will now prepare for the Swimming and Diving Federation Championships in Atlanta, Feb. 22-24.

The men's team did not fare as well against Charleston as the team dropped three of the final four events enabling the Cougars to force a 120-120 tie Saturday in Charleston.

Charleston took four of the first six events, but still trailed the Eagles, 60-50. GSC took first place in the 200 Medley Relay and Andy Bristow captured the 200 yard Individual Medley (2:19.38).

Shane Davis took first place in the 100 yard Butterfly to put the Eagles up 72-57. But, the lead was short lived as the Cougars captured the next three events to tie the meet at 93-93. Charleston then took the lead for the first time when they captured the three meter springboard to lead 104-100, with two events remaining.

Mark Brown captured the 100 yard Breaststroke (1:10.47) to put GSC in front 114-109, but the Cougars picked up 11 points by winning the 200 yard Freestyle Relay to force the 120-120 deadlock. There is no tie breaking system in swimming competition.

The Eagles end the regular season at 3-3-1 and will now set its sights on the Swimming and Diving Championships in Atlanta, Feb. 22-24.
