Objectives for Today

★ Identify ways to respond to a common reading initiative
★ Learn about a strategic program to build community
★ Understand how zines can be used to inform information literacy
NYU Reads

First ever, university wide initiative to read the same book that builds on first year reading programs.
High Impact Practice
★ Building Community
★ Shared Experience
★ Ease the Transition to College
★ Deepening Engagement with the Reading Process
★ Library Research

★ Community Zine
Does your library collect or use zines?
Zine, pronounced “zeen,” is...

...short for fanzine or magazine, it is a D(o) I(t) Y(ourself) self-publication, usually made on paper and reproduced with a photocopier or printer. Zine creators are motivated by a desire to share knowledge or experiences.

- Barnard Zine Library, Zine Basics
Zines are trendy!
“First ever” Community authored NYU Zine in the Library that engages community in a meaningful, organized, and coordinated program for the entire community
This project invites anyone from the NYU Community to submit creative work based on four selected themes from Tara Westover’s Educated. Submissions can be Artsy, Literary, DIY, or “Anything Goes” as long as it can fit on a half sheet of paper. The completed Zine will be catalogued in the library as part of the University Archives (and copies will be distributed during Spring, 2020). Be a part of NYU History by contributing to the first-ever NYU Reads: Community Zine!

Hey NYU, show us your creativity! Beginning now through November 22, 2019 we will be organizing the NYU Reads: Community Zine. This project invites anyone from the NYU Community to submit creative work based on four selected themes from Tara Westover’s Educated. Submissions can be Art, Story, DIY, or “Anything Goes” as long as it can fit on a half sheet of paper. Submission Guidelines are outlined in this zine. The completed Zine will be catalogued in the library as part of the University Archives. Be a part of NYU History by contributing to the first-ever NYU Reads: Community Zine!

GUIDELINES

Every two weeks during the semester, there will be a different selected theme related to Educated, by Tara Westover. Community members are encouraged to contribute zine submissions based on the current theme. All contributions should be submitted no later than Friday, November 22, 2019.

Theme #1: Transformative Power of Storytelling
September 23rd – October 4th

Theme #2: Self-Invention
October 18th – November 4th

Theme #3: Belonging
November 15th – December 1st

Submissions should be no larger than 5.5” x 8.5” portrait sized sheet (like a page of this document)

If you want to be credited for your submission, include your name, NYU School, and class year (if applicable). Unidentified entries will be marked as anonymous.

Unfortunately, paper submissions cannot be returned.

Atrium Tabling

Provided supplies and instructions throughout the semester to encourage the community to make submissions through a dropbox or email.
Workshops

★ History of Zines

In support of NYU Reads, join librarians from NYU Libraries in a workshop that will cover a quick history of zines and then a tutorial on how to make an easy one page zine. Attendees will be encouraged to make their zines regarding themes addressed in the book, Educated by Tara Westover such as: the power of education, storytelling, self-invention, and belonging. All supplies will be provided.

★ Zine Making Studio

In support of NYU Reads, NYU Libraries will be accepting submissions for a collaborative zine throughout the semester that will be included in the University Archive and will be distributed in the spring semester. More information on contributing can be found on this zine or by visiting the submission station located on the first floor of Bobst Library by the Reference Room. If you’re interested in submitting a page or two to the collaborative zine, but don’t know where to start, or you just want to come hangout with some others who are also interested in getting crafty and creative while making zines, drop into the library to work on a contribution. All supplies will be provided.
By submitting content to the NYU Reads Community Zine, you agree to let the Division of Libraries at NYU reuse, remix, and repurpose your submission for this zine and any associated marketing. This could include social media, sharing across the University, and other promotional endeavors.

All other rights belong to you, including your original intellectual ownership of your submission.

We want zine contributors to feel safe participating in the collaborative NYU Reads Community Zine. The following code of contribution is declared: this zine is about community, about respect, and about considerate participation. NYU Libraries respects the multiple identities of its contributors and the variety of contributions that will be submitted. We are sensitive to issues of, among other things, race, class, gender, sexuality, physical disability, and mental/emotional health. The NYU Division of Libraries reserves the right to refuse any submission that overtly challenges the safety of the project and its contributors.

Submissions (and any questions) accepted in paper in the Bobst Reference Room and via email at nyureads-lib@nyu.edu
Dear Mr. Mullin:

On behalf of the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, I am thrilled to tell you that you have been accepted to the Master of Arts in Asian American Studies, beginning in the fall 2023 semester. Congratulations on this achievement!

To officially accept the offer, you must (1) reply to our “Accept/Decline” email, read the GAAS Candidate Enrollment Conditions of Award document, and return the signed original. Please note that your enrollment deposit in the amount of $250 (U.S.) is required and may be paid by credit card or electronic check when completing the “Accept/Decline” email. This deposit is non-refundable and will be applied as a credit against your first term’s tuition. The GAAS Candidate Enrollment Conditions of Award document contains important details about the application process.

Again, congratulations on your many accomplishments. All of us here in the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences look forward to meeting you and wish you the best of luck.
Classroom Applications

How can the NYU Reads Zine be used in future first year library instruction?
Framework for Information Literacy

- First year experience program in the College of Arts & Sciences visit the Library each fall.
- Undergraduate & Instructional Services designs a scalable instruction session to orient students to the Library.
- Zine can be used in future sessions to introduce various concepts of the Framework that use the common reader as shared experience.

★ Authority is Constructed and Contextual
★ Information Creation as a Process
★ Information Has Value
