Danforth Graduate Fellowships to be Awarded

Inquiries about the Danforth Graduate Fellowships, to be awarded by the Danforth Foundation of St. Louis, Missouri in April 1979, are invited, according to the local campus representative, Roger K. Warlick, Head Department of History and Political Science, Victor Hall.

The Fellowships are open to all qualified persons who have serious interest in careers of teaching in colleges and universities, and who plan to study for a Ph.D. in any field of study common to the undergraduate liberal arts curriculum in the United States.

Approximately 60-65 Fellowships will be awarded to college seniors who are nominated by Baccalaureate Liaison Officers. Another 40-45 awards will be made to Ph.D. graduate students, nominated by Postbaccalaureate Liaison Officers.

Applicants for the baccalaureate awards must be college seniors and may not have undertaken graduate level programs of study. The deadline to seek information about the campus nomination process is Friday, September 29, 1978.

The Foundation is currently making a special effort to bring qualified persons from racial and ethnic minorities into the profession of teaching. In recent years through vigorous recruitment of qualified persons, the number of Blacks, Mexican-Americans, Native Americans and Puerto Ricans in this fellowship program has been dramatically increased.

The Danforth Graduate Fellowship is a one-year award but is normally renewable until completion of the advanced degree or for a maximum of four years of graduate study.

Fellowship stipends are based on individual need, but they will not exceed $2,500 for single Fellows, and for married Fellows with no children. Fellows who are married, or are "head of household", with one child, received up to $3,500. There are dependency allowances for additional children. The Fellowship also covers tuition and fees up to $4,000 annually.

The Danforth Foundation, established in 1927, is a national, educational, philanthropic organization, dedicated to enhancing the humane dimensions of life. Activities of the Foundation traditionally have emphasized the theme of improving the quality of teaching and learning.

Currently, the Danforth Foundation serves the following areas: higher education primarily through sponsorship of programs administered by the Staff, precollegiate education through grant-making and program activities, and urban education in metropolitan St. Louis through grant-making and program activities.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Danforth, who established the Foundation, along with their daughter and son, Dorothy Danforth Compton and Donald Danforth, maintained active leadership roles in the affairs of the Foundation throughout their lifetimes. Family members continue to be involved in Foundation activities through participation on the Board of Trustees.

Inkwell Staff Positions Available

Since the end of the 1977-78 school year, the Inkwell has lost members of its staff. As a result several positions on the newspaper are now open to the students on campus. As an incentive to these students to take responsible positions on the Inkwell, a system of scholarships will be awarded.

The positions open and scholarships are:

The two staff writers will be general reporters and writers on assigned stories.

These positions are open to any qualified students at A.S.C. Applications will be accepted at the Student Activities Office of the Memorial College Center through October 6.

Devastation Expected At ASC

The College Union Board will present the first dance of the 1979 school year on September 30th in the Memorial College Center. Providing entertainment for the dance will be Devastation. Devastation is an eight member, high energy band playing top 40, disco, and rock. They have recently played at several schools in the southeast and received very favorable reviews. The dance will begin at 9 p.m. and admission is only $1 for ASC students with validated I.D.s ($2 for non-students or students without I.D.s). Devastation has never performed at ASC before, so everyone is urged to come out to the dance and listen to what all the other schools are raving about.

Kinder & Backus: On to Greener Pastures

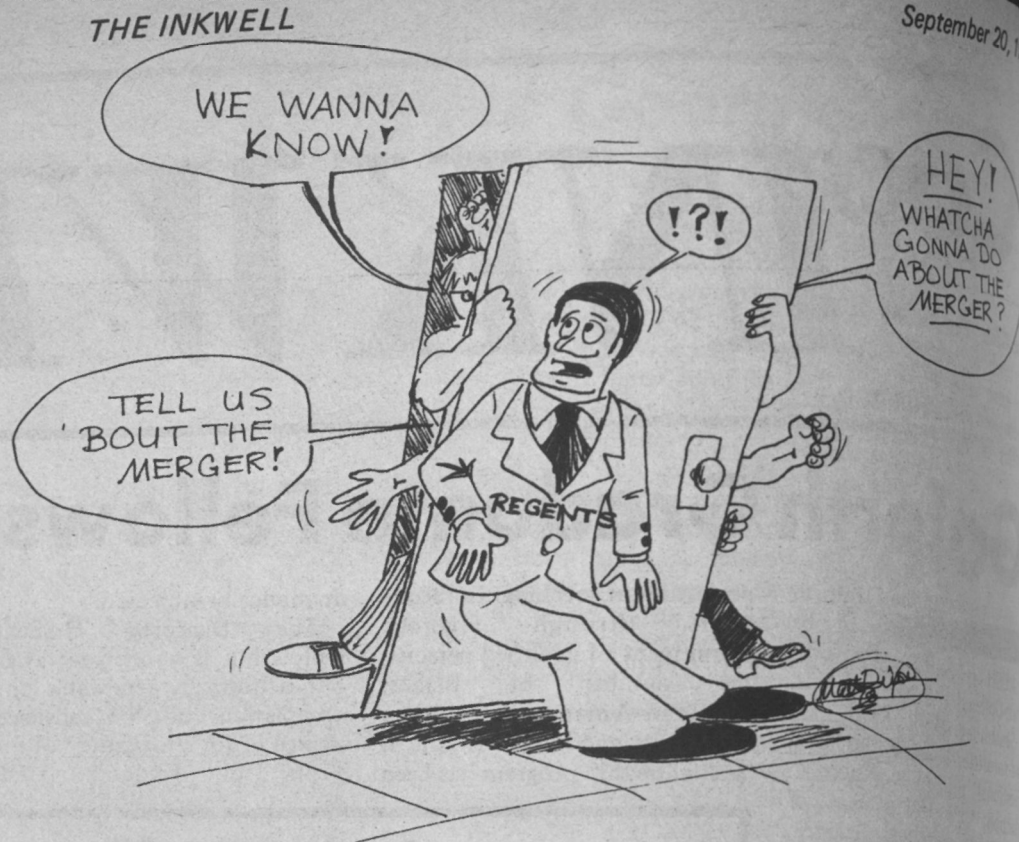

Fall quarter is always a great time to see ole familiar faces, however, two of the regulars in the athletic department will be gone but not forgotten. For Coaches Kinder and Backus, its on to greener pastures in their respective coaching fields. Although both coaches will be taking a substantial step up the coaching ladder, a common feeling of regret and fondness was expressed during their resignations.

For Coach Kinder, Armstrong was a natural haven. As a young athlete from Morris Harvey College, he came to Armstrong in 1970 and built the foundation for a successful baseball program. Completing his doctorate during his tenure, the mild mannered coach was most noted for his even temperment, compassion for others and love of the game. Opportunity knocked at Bridgewater College and as of September 1, he has assumed the responsibilities of department head athletic director, and head baseball coach.

Coach Backus will leave Armstrong much the same way he arrived - with unlimited opportunity and a great reputation. Assuming an assistant coaching position at Division I Ohio University, Backus will be greatly missed by the current athletes, that he personally recruited for service to Armstrong State College. In his duties with the Pirates varsity, he was the man that kept the spirits high and the positive attitudes at a peak.

The athletes, student body, faculty, and friends of the college cannot adequately express their appreciation to these young men for their unselfish contributions. They will be held in high esteem and always be considered pioneers in our athletic programs regardless of where their progressing careers may take them.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor

Writing this letter in the middle of August, I can only speculate about student reaction to the banning of Susan Clarke's piercing documentary "A Portrait of Jason" by the administration of Armstrong State. I can only guess that the Inkwell will run an editorial and there will be heard cries of exasperation over the fact that the administration of this school is censoring artwork that the elected members of the Union Board chose to bring to this campus. The problem is not only that we the students of Armstrong State are not considered fit to decide what artwork we want shown on our campus with our activity funds, but that the subsequent outcry to this banning is exactly what the administration wants to achieve.

After the administrative veto of the Union Board's decision to show the film, I as a member of the film and video committee and as an individual, personally appealed to the proponents of the veto (executed by Al Harris) Dean of Student Affairs Joe Buck and President Henry Ashmore. What was the reason for banning our film? Both men told me that the major reason involved the touchy situation between Armstrong State and Savannah State over the HEW desegregation issue. Both Doctors Buck and Ashmore believe that "A Portrait of Jason", a documentary involving conversations with a black homosexual prostitute named Jason Holliday, will cause a turmoil. Both Ashmore and Buck told me that the black population at Armstrong would not be represented in the showing of this film and that black administrators and student body of Savannah State would construe Armstrong showing a film with a black homosexual in it as a plot to undermine the image of blacks and hence jeopardize the black students affected by the actions of the Board of Regents and the HEW.

To drag a fine arts film out of the students activities and pull it into the arena of merger or separation politics is totally ridiculous. Both Joe Buck and Henry Ashmore are aware of this. But censorship is not ridiculous, it is an outrage, and that is exactly what the administration wants; an outrage. As president of Savannah's predominantly white college, Henry Ashmore has been over the years, accused by many different factions of racism as has been the administration of the school. I am not judging Dr. Ashmore's racial attitudes. I do however take issue with the administration, knowing the publicity that banning a film will bring, banning "A Portrait of Jason" to show everyone that they are not racist. Banning a film that has a black homosexual prostitute in it does not show anyone that you are not racist. Because banning "A Portrait of Jason", a film that sympathizes with all oppressed people by revealing how a man is painfully ostracised from society because of his blackness and his homosexuality, will only make the administration look ridiculous.

In conclusion, I feel no matter what the reason, there is no excuse for censorship of art. Even though the issue of pornography might come up, it does not apply to this documentary interview. Censorship disgusts me, frustrates me and frightens me. To have such censorship at the institute of learning which I attend is intolerable. Because of this, fall quarter will be my last quarter at Armstrong State. Continuing my education in an atmosphere of censorship is out of the question.

Sincerely,
John Curran

Letter to the Board of Regents

The politics of a college which is of the size of Armstrong State or Savannah State may seem to be of little consequence to policy makers. Unfortunately, those people who study or work at these two institutions feel quite differently. Feelings concerning issues such as the current desegregation program can run especially high.

Granted, a sufficient amount of time must, of necessity, be allocated for the study of such a program in order to avoid any decision which might cause undue hardship for the parties involved. Having a sufficient amount of time, however, should not be confused with actions which might more correctly be called dragging one's feet. Of course, this is not the place for rash accusations to be leveled against anyone involved in formulating policy for desegregation but it does seem rather odd that after so many public hearings in Savannah and after several meetings of the Board of Regents in Atlanta concerning the desegregation issue or duplication of program issue on whatever the issue now is, there has been no definitive action whatsoever taken to resolve the problem with the possible exception of the decision to decide.

Now, it is a fact known far and wide that college students, having to devote as much time as they must to the development of their collective genius, cannot possibly lay claim at the same time to being founts of wisdom on the scale of those who would direct them in the course of their education. At the same time, however, it must be remembered that existence in the rarefield atmosphere of total awareness is a heady brew indeed. One must be constantly on guard against the debilitating effects of such an existence. It would seem that someone in Atlanta has let his guard down.

Should the students, those wanderers in the vale of ignorance, send forth to call to the mighty ones in Atlanta in an effort to discover their master plan for Savannah? Surely a message from those Olympian heights would show the lowly students which path to choose to resolve local problems.

In all fairness, gentlemen, there does indeed seem to be a definite lack of action on someone's part insofar as making a decision on the situation in Savannah is concerned. It appears that the maxim, 'the only thing worse than a wrong decision is no decision at all,' definitely applies to this case. To leave thousands of students in

Non-Game Fare Well A novel approach to raising money for non-game and threatened and endangered species is bulging the coffers of the Colorado state treasury. This is the first year that the state's taxpayers have been offered the option of donating one, five or ten dollars of their state income tax refund to wildlife programs. Proceeds collected so far this year amount of more than $339,000 - "way beyond our imaginations," according to the wildlife division's public relations director Peter Hannson. The money is paid to the state treasurer, then parceled out for non-game programs by legislative authorization.

Yellow Journals? Research into alternatives to the use of wood in paper making has produced a quality yellow newsprint from a fiber plant. The plant, called kenaf, is harvested in Guatemala and Thailand for use in rope and cloth. The team of researchers at the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Northern Regional Research Center of Peoria, IL says it thinks kenaf could be grown as a cash crop in the southeastern U.S. if a strain can be developed to resist the root-knot nematode, a worm that devours kenaf roots. To show that kenaf could replace much of the wood used in paper manufacturing, the researchers convinced the publisher of the Peoria Journal Star to run an issue of the daily on Kenaf paper. Except for its yellowish color, the kenaf newsprint was nearly identical to commercial newsprint in opacity and quality.

Fossil Discovery Sets Us Back Discovery of the bony, fossil remains of a primitive, jawless fish sets us all back a little older. A U.S. Geological Survey paleontologist, Dr. John E. Repetski, made the find in northeastern Wyoming. The fossil dates back to about 510 million years ago, extending the age of the earliest known fossils of vertebrate animals by about 40 million years, according to Dr. Repetski. Given the name Anatolepis, the early fish probably swam in the warm waters of ancient tropical and subtropical seas. X-ray analysis showed that the plates have a bony composition, strong evidence that Anatolepis was a vertebrate.

Unlucky Day Turns Lucky

Friday the 13th has, in the past, been thought of as an unlucky day. The ASC Union Board's Special Events Committee says this year its going to change all that. Armstrong is in for a real treat on October 13th. The Edmunds and Curley comedy team returns for two performances during the day at 11:30 A.M. and 12:30 P.M. The performances will be held on the patio between the two student centers. The comedy team appeared here in 1976 and was a big success. During the past six years Edmunds and Curley have become the number one comedy team on campuses around the nation. Although they have appeared on nationwide television shows such as Mike Douglas, Merv Griffin, and Johnny Carson they prefer college audiences. One of their top routines has Curley as a pilot and Edmonds as a co-pilot for a small airlines. Another in daytime soap operas with commercials. Sound effects is another specialty of the team and this adds to their already funny skits. Be sure not to miss comedy on the patio starring Edmunds and Curley. Both shows are free to students so there is no excuse to miss them. See you there.

the dark concerning a question of this magnitude is not only unfair, it is foolish.

Gentlemen, the Armstrong-Savannah State question is one which will not disappear of its own volition. The problem here in Savannah is one which requires decisions which may very well be popular only in the long run. Wisdom dictates avoidance of stopgap actions which would accomplish nothing other than the aggravation of an already running sore. For all our sakes, gentlemen, make a decision.

ON CAMPUS

Quiz Bowl

By D. Brown

During the week of October 23 the ASC Union Board's Special Events Committee will be sponsoring this year's Quiz Bowl. They are hoping for at least eight teams with at least six people per team. Four people to compete per team plus two extras. After about three days of brain racking battle, the winning team will be picked. The M.C. of this meeting of the minds will be Dr. R. Strozier of our English Department. The success of this year's Quiz Bowl depends on the students at Armstrong. Spectators as well as contestants are needed to make the Bowl work. The opening matches will be held on October 23 from 1:30 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. The second round quarter finals will be held on October 24 from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. The finals will be held on October 25 from 1:30 p.m. to 3:00 p.m. The winning team will receive a trophy and go on to compete against other schools. Teams may sign up starting September 25 till October 13 at 12 noon. The sign up sheet will be at Al Harris' office in the M.C.C. building. For those of you who don't know Al, it is the Office of Student Activities. We expect to see all the Greeks turning out and hope the other organizations on campus will also take an active part in this year's Bowl.

Registration For Admissions Test

Those planning to take one or more of the admission tests required by graduate and professional schools are advised to register for the tests immediately. A disruption in mail service could prevent those who delay from being registered for the early fall administrations. Regular Registration Deadlines for the examinations are:

Law School Admission Text (LSAT) Sept. 14; Graduate Management Admission Text (GMAT) Sept. 21; Graduate Record Examination (GRE) Sept. 28.

Late Registration Deadlines generally are one week later than the Regular Registration Deadlines.

Alumni Assoc. Purchases Van

Members of the Armstrong State College Alumni Association Friday presented to ASC President Henry Ashmore a 15-seat van to be used by all college departments for transporting students.

The Dodge Sportsman van, purchased by the Alumni Association with the assistance of the Armstrong College Commission, is painted in the maroon and gold colors of the college and features both the college and Alumni Association seals.

The vehicle will be utilized for numerous purposes, Ashmore said, including transporting members of athletic teams to games played off the ASC campus, by other college departments planning student field trips, and by members of various ASC music groups presenting concerts off campus.

The keys to the van were officially presented to Ashmore by Louis Reisman, president of the Alumni Association, and by Joseph Muller, chairman of the Armstrong Alumni Association Endowment Fund and member of the Alumni Association Board of Directors.

"We (Alumni Association members) knew the college needed a utilitarian vehicle," Reisman said, "and so we decided to purchase one that could be used by students who would be participating in various college activities."

Haunted House

by D. Brown

Well its almost that time of the year again and we will all be up with unusual clothes and wearing fancy make-up. No its not anohter Copa Savannah dance, its Halloween. This year Halloween will be celebrated at Armstrong on October 27 instead of October 31. A horror film festival will be presented with films suitable for children, excluding The Exorcist. This year's adult horror film will be The Exorcist coming through the films and video committee. This year we would really like to make Halloween a big, fulfilled day on campus. So to add to the mood of Halloween Alpha Gamma Delta has agreed to recreate their famous haunted house full of monsters and tricks. Alpha Gamma plans this years haunted house to be the best one yet. The Special Events Committee has offered its assistance and funds to help Alpha Gamma in any way they can. The haunted house will be set up in the faculty meeting and dining room. The only entrance to the movie will be through the haunted house so plan to come a little early.
