Dr. Propst Leaves Armstrong

H. Dean Propst, a native of Hickory, N.C., has been named vice chancellor for academic development for the University System of Georgia, effective August 1.

Dr. Propst was serving as vice president and dean of faculty at Armstrong State College in Savannah at the time of his appointment.

Dr. Propst, now chief academic affairs staff member in Georgia's University System, works from the Board of Regents Office in Atlanta.

The appointment was announced by Dr. Vernon Crawford, acting chancellor of the University System.

"Dr. Propst has a broad and rich background in academic affairs, both as a teacher and as an administrator," Dr. Crawford said. "His knowledge of what constitutes a sound, relevant program for a wide range of educational needs of the people of Georgia is a most timely asset.

"The University System is in the early stage of a productivity review of all academic programs everywhere in the System. Dr. Propst will provide leadership to continue the work, in close cooperation with presidents and other appropriate people of the universities and colleges," Dr. Crawford said.

Among Dr. Propst's other responsibilities will be to review and evaluate administrative and faculty appointments, of recommendations for promotion and tenure of faculty members, and of proposals for new academic programs of all University System institutions.

Dr. Propst became associated with Armstrong State College in 1969 as dean of the college. He became vice president and dean of faculty in 1976. He also has been professor of English since 1969.

Dr. Propst, 45, was graduated from the North Carolina public schools and received the Bachelor of Arts degree in English from Wake Forest College. He was awarded fellowships by the Carnegie Foundation and the Ford Foundation to pursue graduate studies in American Literature at Peabody College, where he received the M.A. and Ph.D. degrees. He has taught in the Vandalia, Ohio public schools, at Wake Forest College, and at Radford College where he was also head of the Department of English.

He has served as chairman of several accreditation of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools.

He is a member of the American Association of University Administrators, the Bull Street Baptist Church in Savannah, and the Savannah-West Rotary Club.

Inkwell Staff Positions Available

Each year, at this time, the Inkwell hires a new staff for the new academic year. The paper always has a great need for creative people and this year is no exception.

The positions open are assistant editor, (2) staff writers, business manager, and staff photographer. These positions are paid standard salaries on a quarterly basis. Members of the staff are expected to meet all deadlines and be present at all staff meetings. Failure to meet the responsibilities of the position a staff member holds may result in fines at the discretion of the editor.

Anyone who would like to work on the paper or submit articles on an infrequent basis may do so by contacting the acting editor, or new editor, as the case may be. Not all members of the Inkwell Staff are paid due to the size of the paper's budget. Contributing staff members have often gained valuable experience and gone on to hold many of the paid positions as they became available.

Persons interested in working on the staff as a paid or contributing staff member should contact "Acting" Editor John Oppor or Al Harris in the Student Activities Office as soon as possible to fill out an application form. Applicants for paid positions should be able to show some leadership experience as well as experience working with publications.

The first staff meeting will be Friday, October 5th at 12:30. Everyone interested is urged to attend.

DEVASTATION

Now Is The Time

by Leesa Bohler

SGA President

January has traditionally been considered the official beginning of every year. January 1st has been the day that Americans resolve to do better with numerous New Year's Resolutions. But for me, September has always seemed like the real beginning of each year. Every September, the new school year starts, the weather begins to change, and I make resolutions like "This quarter I'm really going to study and make better grades!" September seems like a more logical time to make New Year's Resolutions than January.

As the 1979-80 school year begins at Armstrong, I would like to challenge the students on this campus to join me in making a New Year's Resolution. The Resolution is to become more involved in at least one activity at Armstrong aside from the classroom and studying. There are so many co-curricular activities for students at Armstrong that I cannot begin to name them all.

However, one of the most important activities on campus is the Student Government Association. And there are some vacancies in the Senate that will need to be filled in the October 15th and 16th Elections. The time to sign up to run for SGA office is NOW! The College Union Board, which is the programming and entertainment body on this campus, is currently looking for committee members for the FilmsVideo, Lecture, DanceConcert, Fine Arts, and Special Events Committees. The CUB Calendar is already filled with activities for Fall Quarter students.

Other opportunities for involvement include the campus newspaper, the Inkwell, which is in need of writers, reporters, and staff members. Fall Rush for the 4 Fraternities and 3 Sororities will soon be in full swing along with the membership drives for the many other clubs at Armstrong. The Intramural Program will kick-off with Football Season next weekend. And Students are also needed to serve on the Student Faculty Committees such as the Curriculum, Athletic, Student Activity Committees, etc.

Heard enough? The place to start if you are interested in any of the above activities is the Student Activities Office in Memorial College Center. Director of Student Activities Al Harris can put you in contact with the right person for any activity on campus.

And by the way, a New Year's Resolution in September is not like a January Resolution that can be easily broken. Once you get involved, a September Resolution is hard to break!

From Annuals To Pool Tables

by John Oppen

The Student Senate has added several new touches to the MCC Cafeteria.

Due to the inability of the Geechee, (Annual), Staff to complete last year's book on time, the Student Government Association decided to suspend funding $10,000 for a yearbook during the 79-80 school year. The $10,000 was returned to the Student Senate's reserve account for use on other projects.

During one of its many meetings this summer, the Student Senate voted to appropriate money for a new game room in what was the Video Beam Room. The new game room will contain 2 professional pool tables as well as several electronic games. All ASC Students may use the new facilities and, in the case of the pool tables, a small fee will be charged. A set of regulations was drawn up by special committee in order to safeguard the costly new equipment. All students will be expected to act accordingly or risk being barred from further use of the game room facilities.

Combined with the game room, the Student Senate also appropriated funds to renovate a section of the cafeteria for use as a new Video Tape Room. The SGA and College Union Board have been hard at work all summer and the new facilities should receive constant use by students.

New Medical Records Technology Program

By Linda Wittish

A two-year program in Medical Records Technology will be offered for the first time fall quarter at Armstrong State College.

The new program will be the only medical records technology degree program in Georgia and one of the few two-year programs in the country, according to Dr. James Repella, Dean of the School of Human Services, under which the new program falls.

The new program was approved by the Board of Regents of the University System earlier this summer, and funding was approved this week. The program has been in the planning stages for more than two years, Dean Repella said, and local medical records directors have been instrumental in the planning process.

Medical records is a growing field and the demand for qualified technologists is "tremendous," Dean Repella said. Demand for the new program has come from both students and local hospital administrators, he said.

Accurate and accessible medical records are critical not only for patient care, but also in settlement of insurance claims and litigations.

Enrollment in the new program is limited, Dean Repella said, but a minimum number of students will be needed to begin the course offerings.

To be admitted to the program, students must first be admitted to Armstrong and must have a minimum score of 750 on the SAT (with a minimum of 350 verbal and 350 math) or have a 2.0 grade point average in appropriate college work.

Dean Repella said he feels that many students will come from among those persons already working in medical records departments who wish to upgrade their degrees.

For more information about the new program, persons should call the School of Human Services at Armstrong at 927-5254.

New Director

Margaret Morrison, who began her career teaching high school physical education, has been named director of the computer center at Armstrong State College.

With her appointment, which became official July 17, Ms. Morrison became the only woman director of a computer center within the University System of Georgia at a four-year college.

Ms. Morrison was born in Waycross but grew up in Savannah. She graduated from Armstrong Junior College (at its former site in downtown Savannah) in 1951. She graduated from Georgia College in Milledgeville with a degree in physical education. After teaching physical education, math and history at Griffin High School, she decided to return to college for a master's degree.

She received her master's in education from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. After teaching physical education in Knoxville high school, she returned to the University of Tennessee under a work scholarship in computer sciences.

She continued to work at the computing center at the university until she returned to Georgia to teach mathematics at a high school in DeKalb County.

She joined the Armstrong staff in January, 1978, as an analyst programmer at the college's computer center.

About the switch from physical education to computers, Ms. Morrison said "I have just always enjoyed puzzles. Math was never particularly easy for me, but I work things out simply and logically."

Armstrong's computer is connected to the main computers at the University of Georgia.

Ms. Morrison said her department is responsible for processing pre-registration forms, class schedules, class roles, grade reports and alumni records. In addition, the computing center performs statistical analyses and accounting procedures.

Ms. Morrison said she has "lots of projects in mind for the future" at the computing center including taking on some business office functions which are now done manually.

"It's just fascinating to be able to tell a computer what to do," she said.

Chaos A Success

A record number of freshmen have attended orientation and pre-registered for fall quarter at Armstrong State College.

More than 330 entering freshmen attended the five CHAOS (Communication, Help, Advisement, Orientation and Service) sessions at Armstrong this summer, according to Dr. Joe Buck, Dean of Students Affairs.

The 332 students is the largest group of freshmen to pre-register at Armstrong in many years, Dr. Buck said.

"We're thrilled over the response to CHAOS," he said, "and we're looking forward to having these new students with us fall quarter."

The CHAOS sessions, held on Fridays during July and August, ran one-half day and gave incoming freshmen a chance to meet and talk about their college plans. The sessions were planned and run by Armstrong students.

Students who served as CHAOS leaders this summer included: John Blanton, Lynnda Broussard, Danny Brown, Mitzi Campbell, Donna Crabtree, Rita Deal, Andrea Etersque, Gerry Long, Vic M. Long, Bert Mobley, Fran Owens, Ann Pinckney, and Catherine Smith.

1979 CHAOS Leaders land after helping a record number of freshmen make the Big Jump.

Applications For Who's Who Available

Applications for Who's Who Among American Colleges and Universities are now available in the Student Activities Office. Only seniors or students who will complete graduation requirements prior to December 31, 1980 will be considered.

In addition to completing the Who's Who application all applicants will be required to attend one of three scheduled interviews with the Student Activities Committee. The Committee selects 10 to 15 students annually in recognition of outstanding academic performance and contributions to the college community. All applications must be completed and returned to the Student Activities Office by 5:00 p.m. on October 12, 1979.

National Teacher Exam To Be Given

Students completing teacher preparation programs and advanced degree candidates in specific fields may take the National Teacher Examinations on any of three different dates.

Educational Testing Service, the non-profit, educational organization that administers this testing program, has announced that the testing dates will be Nov. 10, 1979, Feb. 16, 1980, and July 19, 1980 at test centers throughout the United States, including Armstrong State College.

Results of the NTE are considered by many large school districts as one of several factors in the selection of new teachers and used by several states for the credentialing of teachers or licensing of advanced candidates.

On each full day of testing, registrants may take the Common Examinations, which measure their professional preparation and general education background, and/or an Area Examination that measures their mastery of the subject they expect to teach.

Prospective registrants should contact the school systems in which they seek employment, their colleges, or appropriate educational association for advice about which examinations to take and when to take them.

Senate Resolutions

The Senate of the Student Government Association (SGA) at Armstrong State College Thursday night passed three resolutions dealing with community and college issues.

The Student Senate, composed of elected representatives of each of the college's departments, approved resolutions urging increased energy conservation; supporting an ordinance before Savannah City Council to control the shipment of nuclear materials through the Port of Savannah; and asking for expanded hours of operation at the ASC library.

Copies of the resolutions were forwarded to the ASC administration, according to Al Harris, Director of Student Activities.

SGA Elections

October 15th and 16th, Monday and Tuesday, have been set as the date for the Student Government Elections. This Fall Election is held annually to elect the Freshman Senators for the school year. However, this year the election will also include the election of Education Department Senators to allow the transfer students from Savannah State a chance to run for office. There are also various other department seats vacant in the Senate. Contact the Student Activities Office for more information.

The dates to file to run for office are Monday-Friday, October 1st-5th from 9:00 am to 5:00 pm. Candidates should file in the Student Activities Office in Memorial College Center. The Campaigns will be run from October 8 - 12th with the elections on the following Monday and Tuesday. More on the election in the next edition of the Inkwell.

Regents Exam; Juniors/Seniors Granted Stay

July '79 implementation of revised Regents Exam policy has been postponed at least until January 1, 1980. The item delaying the new policy affects students who have earned 105 quarter hours without satisfactorily completing the Regents' Exam. Under the revised policy the students would be unable to enroll for credit courses in any school in the University System of Georgia until such time as they had passed the Regents' Examination, and examination to validate college sophomore basic writing and reading skills. The entire text of the revised Board of Regents Policy on the Regents' Testing Program appears in the Armstrong State College 1979-80 Bulletin and is summarized on the 1979-80 Regents' Exam flyers.

During the 1979 Fall Quarter the entire Regents' Testing Program policy will be reconsidered with the possibility of amending the policy as follows: "These revised procedures shall be followed by all students effective July 1, 1979. 'All students' is defined to mean all students entering University System institutions for the first time after July 1, 1979. Further, all students including transfers will be included by July 1, 1981."

As additional information becomes available from the Board of Regents, it will be published in the Inkwell.

20 Worst Football Teams of 1979;80

Just in time to inject a note of reality into alumni hopes for a winning football season, Penthouse magazine's October issue identifies what sports writer Lawrence Linderman calls "The Penthouse 20 Worst Football Teams of 1979-80."

These teams are not obscure teachers colleges; they are, or have been, potential rivals of the best. But all have fallen on hard times in recent years, and Linderman sees little hope for the football season soon upon us.

The list:

1. Northwestern. Its 0-10-1 record set last year "figures to be even worse in 1979." Says the magazine: "Northwestern's major problems are offense and defense, in both of which they are deficient."

2. Wake Forest. Last season's 1-10 record may turn out to be better than 1979's likely outcome. "Wake Forest may well lose every time out in 1979, including its curtain raiser against unheralded Appalachian State."

3. University of Texas, El Paso. UTEP has won only one game per season since 1975, "and they won't do any better this time around. UTEP's gridiron specialty is the equal-opportunity defense, which allows opponents to score five touchdowns a game without regard to race, creed, color or talent."

4. Vanderbilt. Finishing 2-9 last year, "this fall Vanderbilt will again be atrocious and nothing new that head coach George MacIntyre can say or do will help the Commodores escape what seems to be paramount possession of last place in the Southeastern Conference."

5. Idaho. Last year's 2-9 record isn't likely to be much better this year, but Penthouse concedes that the team might be able to give us less than the 36 points per game it yielded in 1978.

6. Texas Christian University. "Defense will again be the Froggies' short suit, but the same can be said of their offense." Look for another 2-9 season this year.

7. Virginia. After 1979's 2-9 record, Linderman says: "I look for the Cavaliers to beat James Madison this year. . . And that's about it."

8. Columbia. "The doormat of the Ivy League" in 1979 after last year's 3-5-1 season. Graduations have made the outlook look dimmer.

9. Oregon State. This school had a winning season -- in 1970. Last year's record was 3-6-1 and 1979 looks like the ninth consecutive losing season.

10. West Virginia. Another losing season after 1978's 2-9 record, but there is hope: the state legislature has approved a $20 million new stadium, and "high school athletes always have an edifice complex. The Mountaineers will begin getting their share of blue-chip players quite soon and should show marked improvement within the next couple of years."

11. Rice. Rice's record for the last three seasons is 3-29. This year, says the magazine, "the Rice defense will again give up twice as many points as the offense can score, which is why the Owls can be expected to check in with a record that will approximate last season's 2-9 performance."

12. Army. The once-mighty football school hasn't been able to attract top high school players, many of whom don't find four years in the Army after graduation an enticing prospect. The loss of eight starting seniors from the '78 season won't help Army either. (Navy, incidentally, is not on the Worst 20 list.)

13. Illinois. Last year's 1-9-2 record foreshadows this year's results. Failure to take to the air with the forward pass was to blame last year, and likely will be again in '79.

14. Boston College. "Hollywood producers could do worse than to study Boston College's 1978 football season for possible adaptation as a movie," Penthouse says. Head coach Ed Chlebek was fired last year -- but rehired after his players pleaded that he be given a second chance. After last year's 0-11 record, Boston College "will improve, although not dramatically."

15. Kansas. "The Jayhawks are a decent enough college team, but unfortunately they're playing in a murderously tough conference." Last year's 1-10 record may be a taste of the current season as well.

16. Syracuse. Once the symbol of Eastern football power, the school of Jim Brown, Ernie Davis, Floyd Little and Larry Csonka, the Orangemen have fallen on hard times. This year, "the Orange will be mostly black and blue."

17. San Diego State. Used to winning seasons, this school found introduction to the Western Athletic Conference last year a sobering experience. For '79, "the team has been so depleted by graduations that its chances of finishing near .500 seem very remote."

18. Tulane. The Green Wave's last winning season was in 1973, and the next isn't likely to be this year. "One reason for Tulane's protracted decline is its somewhat steady offense," the magazine says. On the other hand, "the defense won't be able to stop a sneeze."

19. Washington State. Despite the services of the nation's "finest collegiate quarterback," WSU last year had a 3-6-1 record. "Since Washington State was the PAC Ten's easiest team to push around last season, look for their conference foes to really stick it to the Cougars this season."

20. Memphis State. Last year the Tigers were 4-7, their first losing season since coach Richard Williamson took over in 1975, "and this fall will seem like a replay of 1978. It's easy to diagnose what ails the Tigers: their defense has as much muscle as Bianca Jagger."

John Ford's Stagecoach is one of the most popular westerns of all time. John Wayne skyrocketed to stardom with this portrayal of the Ringo Kid, a notorious gunman who joins a half dozen very different passengers on the Overland stage, making a dangerous journey across hostile Indian territory. Thomas Mitchell won an Oscar for his performance as a drunken doctor in this exciting and deeply affecting motion picture, highlighted by what is still probably the greatest western chase ever filmed. Andy Devine, John Carradine, and Tim Holt co-star.

HANG 'EM HIGH

Clint Eastwood Inger Stevens Ed Begley

The ever-popular plainsman and spaghetti western star, Clint Eastwood (The Good, The Bad and The Ugly) returns in this gritty drama about an innocent man who narrowly escapes hanging, and sets out to track down the men responsible for strapping him up. Armstrong Summer 1979 presented on August 8 through 11 a satisfying production of Enid Blyton's comedy Chalk Garden. The play had its first professional production in New York in 1955, and it has since received critical acclaim as an outstanding modern sophisticated comedy. A Review of Literature carried the following notice: "a great while a new play comes along that lives in the heart and human will: a play that is extremely without the formalizing rhythm of farce, that is with the exaggeration of farce. Such a play is The Chalk Garden."

THE STORY: After years in prison, Miss Madrigal (Karen Karp) answers an advertisement placed by eccentric Mrs. St. Maugham (Peg Wagner) - less for the purpose of finding a governess for her year-old granddaughter Laurel (Terry Hamaker) than for the pleasure of seeing what will come of it. Mrs. St. Maugham's household is as unsuited to proper development of the granddaughter as her chalk garden is for growing. Laurel's playmate is the household manservant (Barry Kemper), who was sent to prison for being a conscientious objector. Madrigal, hired by Laurel's mother, Olivia (Doreen Stapleton), is due to succeed in creating both a more appropriate atmosphere for Laurel and better conditions in the garden. A crisis occurs when a guest for luncheon turns out to be the judge (Bill Easterling) who sentenced Madrigal; she is no longer remembered. But Madrigal has done her job well, and Laurel is willing to return to her mother. Madrigal remains in the garden - companion to Mrs. St. Maugham.

Water-Armstrong opens its 1979-80 season with production of The Chalk Garden, an amusing and oddly interesting play. Production dates are November 14 through 17, and enrollment for the fall quarter-main-stage production scheduled for Wednesday evening, September 30, September 30, September 30.

Armstrong Summer 1979 presented on August 8 through 11 a satisfying production of Enid Bagnold's comedy The Chalk Garden. The play had its first professional production in New York in 1955, and received critical acclaim as an outstanding modern sophisticated comedy. Review of Literature carried the following notice: "a great while a new play comes along that lives in the heart and human will: a play that is extremely without the formalizing rhythm of verse, that is with the exaggeration of farce. Such a play is The Chalk Garden."

THE STORY: After years in prison, Miss Madrigal (Karen Karp) answers an advertisement placed by eccentric Mrs. St. Maugham (Peg Wagner) - less for the purpose of finding a governess for her 15-year-old granddaughter Laurel (Terry Hamaker) than for the pleasure of seeing what will come of it. Mrs. St. Maugham's household is as unsuited to the proper development of the granddaughter as her chalk garden is for flowers. Laurel's playmate is the household manservant (Barry Kemper), who was once sent to prison for being a conscientious objector. Madrigal, hired by Laurel's mother, Olivia (Doreen Stapleton), is determined to succeed in creating both a more appropriate atmosphere for Laurel and better conditions in the garden. A crisis occurs when a guest for luncheon turns out to be the judge (Bill Easterling) who sentenced Madrigal; she can no longer remain in the house. But Madrigal has done her work well, and Laurel is willing to return to her mother. Madrigal remains in the garden - companion to Mrs. St. Maugham.

Theater-Armstrong opens its 1979-80 season with the production of The Chalk Garden, a funny and oddly interesting play, The Confidant. Production dates are November 14 through 17. Tickets are $10 and enrollment for the fall quarter main-stage production is scheduled for Wednesday evening at 7:30, September 13. Tickets are $10.

SIGI Coming

SIGI (pronounced Siggie) is neither "hazardous to your health" nor referent to Sigmund Freud. SIGI is the System of Interactive Guidance and Information, an innovative application of the computer to the career selection process. SIGI has been operational approximately two years at the University of Georgia, Georgia Tech, and Georgia College, and soon will be at Armstrong State College. Armstrong students will be able to engage in dialogue with the computer to examine values, identify and explore career options, obtain and use relevant occupational information, and make decisions about the BIG question: "What to do with their lives." No prior experience with computer terminal operation or computer programming is necessary to operate SIGI.

Although SIGI's arrival date is still uncertain, late fall or early winter appears reasonable time for its installation at the Counseling and Placement Office. The importance of the event to the Armstrong student body will merit at least an Open House which is to be announced

Intramural Outlook

Fall '79 promises to be an exciting season as Flag Football headlines the list of intramural sports. Once again, action has been scheduled for Sunday afternoons and hopefully a record number of participants will compete.

Those students who formally attended ASC but are now attending SSC as part of the program exchange and plan to graduate from ASC by August 1980, ARE eligible to compete in intramural sports at ASC provided they pay the activities fee at SSC.

Other sports filling out the 1979 intramural agenda include bowling, cross country, badminton, and pillo polo. Teams are forming now. Interested persons may sign up with Coach Bedwell in the Intramural Department.

Social Work Program

With the end of summer quarter, the joint Armstrong State College-Savannah State College social work program will move onto the Armstrong campus from the present Henry Street School field center.

According to Dr. Neil B. Satterfield, director of the program, the social work program (which falls under Armstrong's School of Human Services) will be housed in the old student center beginning fall quarter.

Dr. Satterfield said he came to Armstrong in 1969 for the purpose of developing courses in social work. By the 1970-71 school year, the Board of Regents had approved a social work curriculum leading to the Bachelor of Arts degree. A federal grant the following year allowed the program to move off-campus to a field center on 67th Street.

About 1974, the program became a joint venture with Savannah State and the field center was moved to the east end of the Henry Street School which was being used as a neighborhood center.

Dr. Satterfield said the high cost of renovating the existing classrooms at the field center and the additional travel required for teaching faculty were among the reasons for the move back to the Armstrong campus.

Dr. Satterfield said the joint ASC-SSC program is the only social work program in Southeast Georgia.

He said students can complete their "core course" requirements at either school and then split major course requirements between the two institutions.

Dr. Satterfield said graduates of the program have no problems finding employment with about 80 percent remaining in the Coastal Empire area. Many graduates go on for advanced degrees.

He said graduates find jobs with agencies such as the Department of Family and Childrens Service, Comprehensive Mental Health, Georgia Regional Hospital, Economic Opportunity Authority, community centers, Chatham Association for Retarded Citizens, United Way and church related social programs.
