

Georgia Southern University

Georgia Southern Commons

---

The George-Anne

---

9-19-2005

The George-Anne

Georgia Southern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/george-anne>

---

Recommended Citation

Georgia Southern University, "The George-Anne" (2005). The George-Anne. 1884.
<https://digitalcommons.georgiasouthern.edu/george-anne/1884>

This newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by Georgia Southern Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The George-Anne by an authorized administrator of Georgia Southern Commons. For more information, please contact digitalcommons@georgiasouthern.edu.

THE GEORGE-ANNE DAILY

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 2005

Michael Kim/ASSOCIATED PRESS

MTV News and Roc-A-Fella Records are reporting that Kanye West, Fantasia, Common and Keyshia Cole will perform at Georgia Southern Monday, Nov. 19.

Kanye Southbound

West to headline Nov. 19 concert at Paulson Stadium Fantasia, Common and Keyshia Cole to be featured

By Adam Crisp
Managing editor

Grammy award winner Kanye West is set to rock Paulson Stadium Nov. 19.

A press release, posted Sept. 14 on Roc-A-Fella Records' Web site, announced the performance as well as 47 others included in West's "Touch the Sky" tour.

West's three-month tour steps off Oct. 11 in Miami and, according to the Web site, will feature special guests Fantasia, Keyshia Cole and Common.

The Statesboro showing will be the second big-name act to visit GSU in the last year. In April, the band 3 Doors Down drew 7,500 fans to the 18,000-seat stadium.

While MTV News, Rolling Stone magazine and VH1 are all reporting that Statesboro will be included in West's tour, GSU officials aren't yet confirming the performance.

Stephen Ward, the school's spokesman, said Sunday contracts for the show have not yet been signed. He said the concert would be a partnership between Eagle Entertainment, Student Government and the university.

Attendees at the 3 Doors Down concert, with headliners Breaking Benjamin and Silvertide, paid $20 per ticket for students and $30 for outsiders. Ticket prices for the Kanye West concert were not yet available Sunday night.

Students greeted the news of West's performance with jubilation.

"I think his appeal is universal—all types and groups will be there," said student Jamaal Shepard. "I'm pretty sure he'll draw a much larger crowd. He touches a huge crowd. His music is listened to by a larger group of people—much larger than 3 Doors Down."

In 2004, West was nominated for 10 Grammys for his multi-platinum debut album, "The College Dropout." He walked away with three Grammys including "Best Rap Song" for his controversial hit "Jesus Walks."

Fantasia Barrino, the 2004 American Idol winner, released her first album, "Free Yourself," in Nov. 2004. It debuted at number eight on the Billboard music charts selling 240,000 copies in its first week. Just two months after its release, it sold over one million copies and went platinum.

Common debuted in 1992 with the single "Take It EZ." He issued his first album under his new name in 1997.

Since then, Common raised his profile with several notable guest spots over the next couple of years; he appeared on Pete Rock's "Soul Survivor," plus two watermark albums of the new progressive hip-hop movement, Mos Def and Talib Kweli's "Black Star" and the Roots' "Things Fall Apart."

Keyshia Cole is a relative newcomer compared to Fantasia and Common. She has recently made waves with a successful single, "I see CONCERT, page 5

Statesboro Georgia Southern Symphony will perform with renowned violinist Kelemen

Sept. 27 concert to benefit Hurricane Katrina victims

GSU News Service

The Statesboro-Georgia Southern Symphony will open its 2005-2006 season with the Masterworks I Concert, which will feature world-renowned violinist Barnabas Kelemen.

The winner of the Gold Medal at the 2002 International Violin Competition of Indianapolis, Kelemen will appear with the Symphony on Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 8 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center (PAC).

The performance has been dubbed "The Concert For Katrina." The Symphony will donate $2.50 from every ticket sold to the relief effort for the victims of Hurricane Katrina.

Kelemen has established himself as one of the leading violinists of his generation. With a repertoire than spans from early baroque to contemporary music, he performs on a 1683 Ex-Gingold Stradivari violin and Tourte bow, which are on loan to him for winning the Indianapolis violin competition.

A native of Hungary, Kelemen makes regular appearances as a concerto soloist, recitalist and chamber musician at many of the world's major musical venues and festivals. He has performed with numerous orchestras and toured extensively throughout Europe, North America and South America as well as in parts of Africa and Asia.

Kelemen has collaborated with conductors and artists such as Lorin see KELEMEN, page 5

Barnabas Kelemen

Wind knocked out of their wings

Eagles fall on the road against Wofford, 21-17

By Renaldo Stover
Sports editor

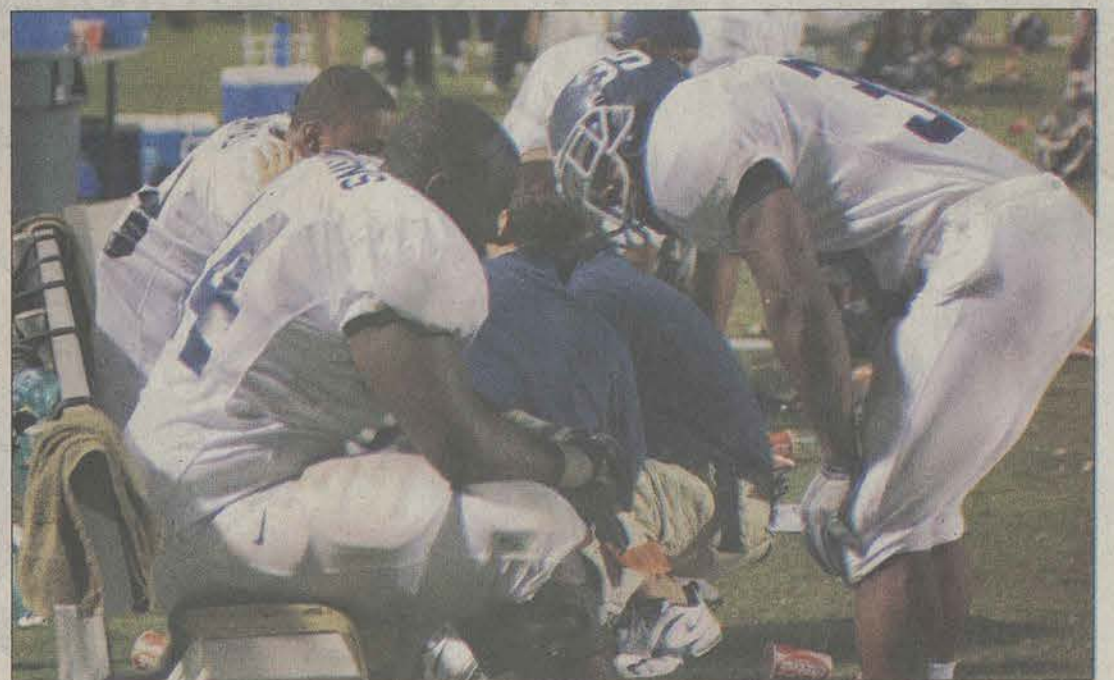

SPARTANBURG, S.C. — Heading into Saturday's game against Wofford (2-1), head coach Mike Sewak and the Eagles were looking to rebound after a tough loss at home one week ago against McNeese State. Wofford had other plans though, outscoring the Eagles 14-3 in the second half on their way to a 21-17 victory.

"Our expectations are high, we don't expect to just score 17 points," Sewak said.

The Terriers practically beat the Eagles at their own game, racking up 354 yards rushing on the night. The 300-plus yards rushing was the most allowed by a GSU defense since Nov. 4, 2000, a span of 59 games.

After winning the coin toss and deferring until the second half, the GSU defense forced Wofford to punt after three plays resulted in only six yards.

The Eagles would take advantage of their great field position and strong running by the offense and move the ball 32 yards in four plays, with the latter being an 11-yard touchdown run by Lyon Jefferson, his first career rushing touchdown.

Bryan Metcalf/STAFF

GSU fullback Brandon Andrews is consoled by a teammate near the end of Saturday's upset against Wofford.

On Wofford's second possession of the game, they were able to use over five minutes of game clock thanks to a 12-play drive that ended in a four-yard, Michael Hobbs touchdown run, tying the game 7-7.

GSU had a chance to put additional points on the scoreboard in the first quarter after Dedrick Bynum blocked a Wofford punt. The Eagles recovered the ball at the opponent's 32-yard line and worked down to the five-yard line before a fumble ended the drive four plays later.

Wofford appeared to be on their way to taking the lead following the mishap, but a holding call against them stalled the drive, and on fourth and four, a Jason Collier pass into the end zone was ruled incomplete.

The Eagles appeared back on track as they took the ball and marched 78 yards downfield. The drive was highlighted by a 28-yard reception by Raja Andrews which gave the Eagles first and goal from the four-yard line. The first half scoring was capped off three plays later when Jayson Foster slipped into the end zone from one-yard out giving the Eagles a one touchdown lead at the half.

The Eagles came out after the half looking to extend the lead to two touchdowns but on the second play, GSU suffered another fumble. Wofford would capitalize on this mistake and rush the ball three straight times finally finding the end zone on a one-yard, Josh Collier run.

see FOOTBALL, page 7

INSIDE

Couch potato record

A New Yorker has broken the couch potato record by watching TV for a full 69 hours and 48 minutes. He surpassed the previous record of 50 hours 7 minutes. | Only in America 3

Campus .....	2	Classifieds .....	6
National .....	3	Sports .....	7
Opinion .....	4	Variety .....	8
News .....	5

WEATHER
High: 97 | Low: 70
Mostly sunny

Volume 78 • Number 280

AP Photo

A college student does a flip during dance practice.

Flip-a-thon for diabetes

GSU News Service

The second annual America's Finest Gymnastics sponsors a Flip-a-thon to support American Diabetes Association and the American Red Cross.

Every Monday in September, the Flip-a-thon will raise money for Hurricane Katrina efforts. Children of all ages make donations to flip, with proceeds going to those organizations. Walk-ins are welcome and there will be coaches standing by to greet them.

Children wishing to participate may come any time between 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. and all contributions, no matter how big or small, are appreciated. Suggested donations are $10 for tots and preschool, $15 for beginners and $20 for team members.

On Oct. 10, participants will take part in the Statesboro Fair Parade.

Examples of flips include cartwheels, handstands, forward rolls, walking on hands, splits, and handstands. More advanced techniques and flips on uneven bars and balance beams are sure to impress the audience.

Last year's Flip-a-thon raised $700 for American Diabetes Association. This year the proceeds will be split with the American Red Cross.

Event organizers Cheryl Smallwood and Kristy Glen are interested in supporting diabetes cause because it has touched their lives in the gymnastics family. "We recently lost a parent of one of our students who was only 41 years old," said Smallwood. "This disease is far more serious than people understand," said Glen. "We just want to do our part for diabetes and also for the Red Cross, both organizations do great work."

SGA REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

SGA inducts new members

Discuss Eagle Village parking and campus contributions

By Tori Ivey
Staff Writer

Student Government Association met last Wednesday with Mary Woods, assistant director of the Ronald E. McNair Program, voted in new SGA senators, and also discussed committee reports on adjusted GPAs, raising money for Katrina victims and the still incomplete Eagle Village parking lot.

It was announced that the Eagle Village parking lot was once again given the 10-day finishing date.

"Eagle Village's parking lot is not able to be paved due to wetness," said VP of Auxiliary Affairs Ashley Scruggs. "They invested in $40,000 worth of cement block to move it along."

University Housing has allowed students to park on half of the new parking lot since last Saturday.

President Shri Davis praised campus for their efforts to raise money for victims of Hurricane Katrina. She said the dunking booth that was set up as a fundraiser last Saturday was a success.

"We raised a lot of money and all of it will go to the Katrina victims," she said.

Davis mentioned that there will be a SGA clothing drive for Katrina victims on September 22 in the Russell Union from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Kate Daniel, vice president of finance, informed the senate that the One Million Challenge will be accepting donations of any kind that can benefit Katrina victims, other than clothing, until the end of September. Every organization on campus was asked to raise 2,500 cans in order to meet the one million mark.

Special Photo

Twelve new members were voted in during Wednesday's SGA meeting.

One outstanding topic of the meeting was the question of doing away with adjusted GPA. Davis asked the SGA senators what they thought about doing away with the adjusted GPA after the fall semester of 2006 since it usually confuses students and does not average into the cumulative GPA.

Many of the senators wanted to keep it because they would rather send their adjusted averages to their parents. It will be discussed again at the next meeting.

Mary Woods spoke on opportunities the McNair Program offers to students. Both SGA President Davis and VP of Auxiliary Affairs Ashley Scruggs were McNair Scholars. "The McNair Program helps students to get prepared for grad school mostly," said Woods. "It also helps with the preparation of entrance exams and research that comes with an internship."

This summer, the McNair Program has 18 spots available and several requirements.

Students must be a first generation college student, at 150 percent poverty level salary income, or in a professoriate. The student must also be underrepresented in their Ph.D field and already have 60 credit hours completed.

"We are looking for the top-notch students who want a Ph.D and to give back to the community," said Woods.

During pass the gavel, senators take turns making announcements, and 'Dare to Declare' was announced for Sept. 29. It is a time when undeclared students are encouraged to find a major that fits their interests and skills.

Twelve new senators were voted into SGA, including freshman seats filled by James Martin, Kelsey Grubbs, Brittani Ford, Crystal Mulin and Tim Davis; a graduate seat filled by Moniquea Stanley; an IT seat filled by Maria Gates; education seats filled by Haley Athan and Nicole Nagy; CLASS seats filled by Clay Turner, Leah Lewis, and Clarissa Crawford.

CALENDAR

Monday, September 19

7 p.m. and 9 p.m.
Irish Folk Music Night with Celtic folk musician Harry O'Donoghue
French Quarter Café

Tuesday, September 20

6 p.m. - 9 p.m.
American Red Cross Child/Infant CPR
Chapter office
Call 764-4468 to register.

7 p.m. and 9 p.m.
Irish Folk Music Night with Celtic folk musician Harry O'Donoghue
French Quarter Café

Wednesday, September 21

6-9 p.m.
American Red Cross Standard First Aid
Chapter office
Call 764-4468 to register.

8 p.m.
"Mr. and Mrs. Smith"
Russell Union Theater

2 p.m.
Yigal Levy, Israeli Educator for the Savannah Federation will be speaking on "Disengagement on the Gaza Strip"
Forest Drive Bldg. Room 1233

POLICE BEAT

09-14-2005

- William K. Berry, 19, of Excaliber Court, Statesboro, was charged with underage drinking.
- Richard Smith Jr., 18, of Sanford Hall, was charged with theft by taking and theft of a motor vehicle.
- Andre Terrell Weaver, 19, of Shirley Court, Macon, Ga., was charged with theft by taking.
- A Kennedy Hall resident reported receiving harassing phone calls.
- A textbook was taken from Brannen Hall.
- A tire was cut on a vehicle at Southern Pines.
- Several Xbox games were taken from Sanford Hall.

09-15-2005

- Thomas James Hennigan Jr., 17, of Olliff Hall, was charged with DUI, failure to maintain lane, open-container violation and possession of a false I.D.
- Brett Patrick Pierce, 18, of Eagle Village, was charged with underage drinking and obstruction of an officer.
- Someone scratched the right door and quarter panel of a vehicle in the Russell Union commuter parking lot.
- Officers issued one traffic citation and two traffic warnings, investigated two traffic accidents, assisted two motorists and two sick persons, and responded to one fire alarm.

Information for the Police Beat is compiled from university and Statesboro police incident and arrest reports, which are public record. Not all arrests lead to convictions; the court system determines guilt or innocence.

Eagle

inkjet & toner

Next to Big Lots in Statesboro Square
503 Northside Dr. E.
489-1320
Mon-Fri • 9am - 6pm
Sat • 10am - 2pm

Come to Statesboro's ONLY discount inkjet and toner supplier

NEVER PAY FULL PRICE FOR PRINTER INK AGAIN

HP, Lexmark, Brother, Epson, Canon, Xerox, Dell & Sharp Cartridges	Get your ink cartridges REFILLED And Save Up To 50%!
Prices Lower than anyone in town GUARANTEED!	I Buy Empties!

10% off with a school i.d.

Financial consultant to visit campus

GSU News Service

Peter Bielagus, "Young America's financial coach," is coming to campus on Tuesday, Sept. 20 and Wednesday, Sept. 21. He will make four presentations in the Union Ballroom, speak to three BUSA 1105 classes and hold "office hours" in Russell Union. Bielagus' visit is sponsored by First Year Experience, the College of Business Administration and the Parents' Association.

Bielagus got firsthand experience with financing and budgeting money for his own education when he was in college, slipping into credit card debt by $5,000 his freshman year. Bielagus wrote Getting Loaded: A Complete Personal Finance Guide for Students and Young Professionals to keep students informed of their financial options.

Bielagus speaks at college campuses across the nation. He tells how most students have mistakes on their credit report that are not their fault and teaches them how to fix the errors. He encourages students to learn the correct number of credit cards to have and to learn how to get rid of credit cards without damaging credit ratings.

Bielagus says over 50 percent of college students have a below average credit report. He also said that for every day a college student waits to start investing, they must work an extra week before retirement.

Enter to win a Free iPod Shuffle or a Gnatty T-shirt from THE GEORGE-ANNE DAILY

Covering the Campus Like a Swarm of Gnats

George-Anne Daily
Southern Reflector • Miscellany

Please enter me in the drawing for a Free iPod Shuffle or a Gnatty T-Shirt from The George-Anne Daily. I can enter by using this form or by printing "iPod Drawing" on a 4x6 inch piece of paper (you must include your name, address, phone and email address) and mailing it to G-A Daily, P.O. Box 8001, Statesboro, GA 30460 or by hand delivering it to the G-A Daily, Room 2023 Williams Center. The drawing will be held and winners will be announced Friday, Sept. 30.

Name _____
Address _____
Email _____ Phone _____

Circle T-Shirt size: M L XL XXL ( ) Yes ( ) No

You may use my email address to contact me periodically with brief messages and links to news about Georgia Southern as reported in the George-Anne Daily and other Student Media units. I understand that I may discontinue these emails at any time. I understand that Student Media will not disclose my email address to any other group or organization.

HERE'S LARK HYLTON! GSU STUDENT AND A DIET CENTER SUCCESS STORY!

Lark has lost almost 60 lbs. at the Statesboro Diet Center and is looking wonderful. Her weight loss success has even inspired her Mother in Atlanta to go on the Diet Center program. Of her Diet Center experience, Lark says, "Not only have I lost the weight but I've gained self confidence & strenght."

If you need to lose some weight, call DIET CENTER at 489-8377 for your FREE consultation.

Lose 6 to 10 lbs. in 2 weeks
Now save $20.00 when you start

Diet Center
408 S. Zetterower Ave.
Statesboro, Ga. 30458
912-489-8377

ONLY IN AMERICA
Stories by The Associated Press

Adults can relive teen testing angst

1 TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Think you're as smart as your teenager? Beginning Wednesday, you can find out. State officials will put an old edition of the Florida Comprehensive Assessment Test online so people can see what it's like to be in 10th grade.

If you don't know much about history, don't know much biology, you might still do well. The test measures ability in reading and math. The questions were from the 2004 exam, and most likely won't be seen on any test again any time soon.

State education officials said Friday the test will be on the department's Web site. People can download or print the test and take it like students would, then get the answer key to see what they got right and wrong. "It will satisfy curiosity, probably, more than anything else," said Education Commissioner John Winn.

Man breaks 'couch potato' record

2 NEW YORK — Couch potato, thy name is Suresh. Suresh Joachim broke the Guinness world record for the longest time spent watching TV. He finished Friday with 69 hours and 48 minutes.

After passing the previous record of 50 hours and 7 minutes Thursday, Joachim continued until shortly after 7 a.m. Friday morning (EDT).

Joachim did his TV viewing in the lobby of WABC-TV as part of the "Guinness World Record Breaker Week" on the syndicated "Live With Regis and Kelly."

Sitting on a brown leather couch, he watched nothing but ABC shows.

"I'm going to be a little tired of watching TV after this," Joachim told The Associated Press by phone during a brief break.

Rules for the couch potato honor, as stipulated by Guinness, allow for a 5-minute break every hour and a 15-minute break every 8 hours. The viewer must otherwise be constantly looking at the screen.

The hardest part, Joachim said on "Regis and Kelly," was "I couldn't watch the people" — the many, waving passers-by on the street outside the ABC studio.

Joachim, who lives in Toronto but hails from Sri Lanka, now holds more than 16 Guinness records, including the longest duration balancing on one foot (76 hours, 40 minutes) and bowling for 100 hours. He does it, he says, to raise awareness of suffering children.

Sky-diving grandmother, 85, keeps promise

3 KEARNEY, Neb. — Keeping a promise to her grandson that she would parachute when she turns 85, Thelma Tillery did just that.

"When you step out on that little step, man, that's when it really hits you," Tillery said after successfully landing in Kearney, Nebraska.

She jumped tandem-style at a Kearney Municipal Airport sky-diving center, Kearney Hub newspaper reported.

"Everything worked, and I hit the ground running," Tillery said. "And that's about as good as you can get, I guess."

So good, in fact, she recommends the experience.

"Anyone who is curious about it and would like to do it ... should go ahead and do it," she said. "I'd do it again — not tomorrow — but it's not something I would hesitate to do again."

THE BIG STORY
Afghanistan holds landmark elections amid fears of violence

By Amir Shah
 Associated Press Writer

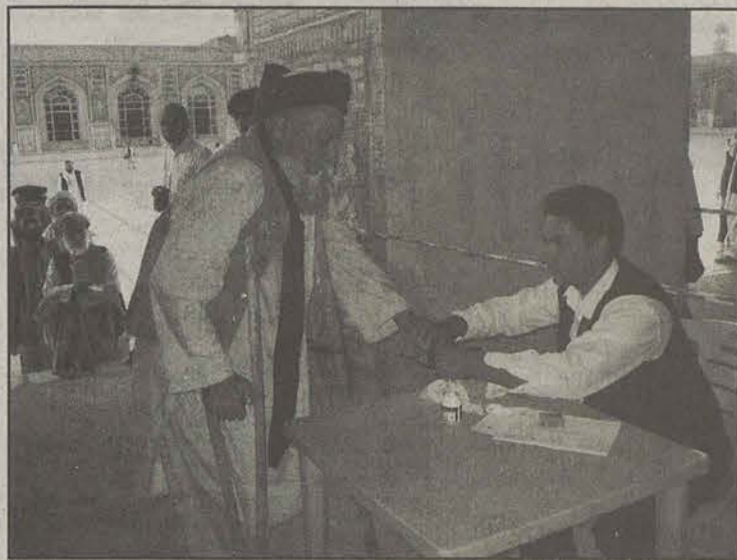

KABUL, Afghanistan — Afghans went to the polls Sunday to elect a new legislature, hoping to bolster a fragile democracy after a quarter-century of war and sideline the Taliban militants who fought to undermine the vote.

"Today is a magnificent day for Afghanistan," said Ali Safar, 62, who was standing in line to vote in the capital, Kabul. "We want dignity, we want stability and peace. Thirty years of war and poverty is enough."

Some 12.4 million Afghans were registered to vote at more than 6,000 polling stations, guarded by some 100,000 Afghan police and soldiers and 30,000 foreign troops.

The Taliban called for a boycott of the elections, but said they would not attack civilians heading to the polls. A wave of assaults in the 48 hours leading up to the vote left nine militants and three policemen dead.

Security forces said they thwarted four rebel bombings, including an attempt to blow up a massive dam.

AP Photo/Farydoon Pooya
 An Afghan man who lost his leg during the war against the Russians votes in a polling station in Jami Mosque in Herat, western Afghanistan.

The vote was seen as the last formal step toward democracy on a path set out after a U.S.-led force drove the Taliban from power in 2001, when they refused to hand over al-Qaida leader Osama bin Laden following the Sept. 11 attacks.

Presidential elections last October saw Hamid Karzai affirmed as the nation's leader.

Many people hoped the legislative polls would marginalize the insurgents and end a spiral of violence that started in 1979 when Soviet troops invaded, before a devastating civil war and the oppressive rule of the hard-line Taliban.

Top U.N. envoy Jean Arnault said militants had failed to disrupt preparations for the polls.

Plans advancing for world's first face transplant

By Marilynn Marchione
 Associated Press

CLEVELAND — In the next few weeks, five men and seven women will secretly visit the Cleveland Clinic to interview for the chance to have a radical operation that's never been tried anywhere in the world.

They will smile, raise their eyebrows, close their eyes, open their mouths. Dr. Maria Siemionow will study their cheekbones, lips and noses. She will ask what they hope to gain and what they most fear.

Then she will ask, "Are you afraid that you will look like another person?"

Because whoever she chooses will endure the ultimate identity crisis.

Siemionow wants to attempt a face transplant.

This is no extreme TV makeover. It is a medical frontier being explored by a doctor who wants the public to understand what she is trying to do.

It is this: to give people horribly disfigured by burns, accidents or other tragedies a chance at a new life. Today's best treatments still leave many of them with freakish, scar-tissue masks that don't look or move like natural skin.

Her critics say the operation is way too risky for something that is not a matter of life or death.

Ultimately, it comes to this: a hospital, doctor and patient willing to try it.

The first two are now in place. The third is expected to be shortly.

Siemionow assembled a large team and worked with LifeBanc, the organ procurement agency she expects will help obtain a face.

She wants a clear-cut first case. No children because risks are too great. No cancer patients because anti-rejection drugs raise the risk of recurrence. "Someone's got to push the envelope," he said. "In retrospect, we'll know whether it should be done."

Quick, what's new

IN GEORGIA

Fulton jail hundreds over proposed limit

ATLANTA — The Fulton County Jail on Friday was more than 800 inmates over a proposed federal agreement to ease overcrowding, with no immediate solution to fix the problem in sight. The jail and two annexes held 3,087 inmates, and 74 inmates were housed in leased cells at the Alpharetta City Jail. A proposed consent agreement calls for a maximum of 2,250 in the main jail and 300 in the two annexes.

THE NATION

Two dead in Chicago train derailment

CHICAGO — A commuter train derailed on Chicago's South Side, killing at least two people and injuring more than 80, some of them critically.

The double-decker Metra train was traveling Saturday from Joliet to Chicago when the locomotive and its five cars jumped the tracks about 5 miles south of downtown, authorities said.

Both victims were women, a 22-year-old who died on the train and a 30-year-old pronounced dead later at a hospital.

THE WORLD

Gunmen kill member of Iraqi parliament

BAGHDAD, Iraq — Insurgents killed a Kurdish member of the Iraqi parliament, his brother and the driver of his car and wounded a second lawmaker in an ambush on their convoy north of Baghdad, police and officials said Sunday.

Faris Nasir Hussein, a member of the Patriotic Union of Kurdistan party, was killed in the attack Saturday night, along with his brother and their driver.

Leadership 101 Series

Coordinated by INSPIRE and the Center for Student Leadership Development

The Leadership 101 Series is designed for Student Organization Officers and for students who have an interest in holding a leadership position within an organization. This series is an excellent way for student organizations to train their next leaders.

Requirements:

All leadership sessions are open to all students. If you attend a total of 9 hours of workshop in two semesters you will earn a Leadership Certificate.

Workshop Schedule

All workshops will take place from 5:30 p.m. — 6:30 p.m. in Russell Union Room 2084

Sept. 20 - Goal Setting
 Guest Speaker Curtis Erwin with University Housing

Oct. 4 - The Art of Delegation
Oct. 25 - Effective Communication
Nov. 8 - Your Role as a Leader

Healthy volunteers needed for Streptococcal Prevention In Non-pregnant Women (SPIN) Study

Group B Streptococcus is the most common cause of life-threatening infections in newborns. In pregnant women, GBS can cause bladder and womb infections. The most prevalent diseases caused by GBS in non-pregnant women are blood infections and pneumonia. GBS also causes illness in the elderly and individuals with other diseases, such as diabetes and liver disease.

Dr. Daron Ferris and his colleagues at the Medical College of Georgia are testing the effectiveness of a vaccine to prevent GBS type III bacteria in the reproductive tract. Participants must be:

- Women age 18-40
- Not pregnant or nursing
- Sexually active in the last four months
- More than one year since tetanus immunization

In addition to receiving a free physical and pelvic exam during enrollment, qualified participants will be compensated for their time. All study visits will take place at Medical College of Georgia Student Health Services.

For more information, please contact:

Lynn Allmond, R.N., N.P.
 Nurse Practitioner

Angela Richardson, C.C.R.C.
 Research Project Manager

Sarah Keister
 Project Coordinator

Toll Free: 877- 643-1414

OPINION

THE GEORGE-ANNE DAILY EDITORIAL BOARD

LUKE HEARN, EXECUTIVE EDITOR
ADAM CRISP, MANAGING EDITOR FOR NEWS
MORGAN MARSH, MANAGING EDITOR FOR OPERATIONS
RACHEL WEEKS, NEWS EDITOR

LaVene Bell-Koepke, Photo manager
Grayson Hoffman, Asst. photo manager
Miguel Fuller, Variety editor
Bert Noble, Deputy managing editor

Chad Bishop, Sports editor
Rinaldo Stover, Sports editor
Casey Altman, Assistant news editor
Anne McGuire, Copy editor

"Let me put it to you bluntly. In a changing world, we want more people to have control over your own life."

- George W. Bush
Annandale, Va., Aug. 9, 2004

OUR VIEW

How to stay out of The Police Beat

AT ISSUE: Staying out of The Police Beat is pretty simple if you just use your brain

Page two each day includes a very popular feature of the paper called The Police Beat. It is heavily read according to students, with many people looking to see who was caught doing what on and around the GSU campus.

If you look at today's Police Beat, you will see numerous entries from the Campus Police Department dealing with students being charged with what are inevitably preventable crimes (aren't they all?). So here are some tips on keeping your name out of The Police Beat:

•Don't drink if you're not 21 or older. As easy as it may be to obtain an inebriating beverage around town, it's not smart if you're not of age.

•Don't drink and drive! Regardless of age, this is way un-cool! Driving drunk is the epitome of stupidity, and the consequences of doing this, if not deadly, are lots of money, lots of time in different mandated programs and lots of times having to bum rides from friends. In the event that you find yourself unable to drive due to alcohol in your system, call a sober friend, call a taxi or walk. With this, we bring up our next point.

•If you do decide to walk in the event that you are unable to drive due to intoxication, do so calmly. The Police Beat has entries all the time that include the charge "public drunkenness" and this is usually because, when trying to be responsible and walk instead of driving, said drunk decides to piss in the middle of the sidewalk, or get into a fight with the stop sign. In the event you feel that you will be too drunk to walk home, call a taxi or have someone do it for you.

•Don't steal things. This is something that should have been banged into everyone's head before they left kindergarten, but people still insist on taking other peoples' things. This is dumb; don't do it, and you're sure to stay off this list.

•Don't have marijuana in your possession. There are many people who are constantly being caught with it on them. This too can be prevented, simply by not having it.

Of course there are many other things that are not mentioned here that could land your name and other information in the Police Beat, but these are the main ones that we see.

In a nutshell, use your common sense. Think about things before you do them, and try to think long-term. If you are put in "The Police Beat," it's possible for someone to Google your name and see that you were arrested for being a complete idiot in your wild and crazy college days. This could cause problems down the road.

We don't want to see your name in our paper unless it's for something good, and The Police Beat isn't quite the place for that.

Luke Hearn RAMBLINGS OF A RAGING LIBERAL

Ladies can also don 'shining armor'

Y'all ready for round three of "Dr. Love's Rules of Chivalry?" Good.

I discussed the lack of chivalry on Monday, and in my Wednesday column I offered a few simple rules regarding chivalry. Now it's time to talk about women and their role in the process.

Women can be chivalrous. Indeed, there are actions that women can perform that will make a guy feel just as good as she did when he opened her car door.

I've been asked over the course of the last week what the role of a woman was in chivalry. I've also been asked if feminism has affected the way women view chivalrous behavior from men, and if it is seen as patriarchal.

Professor Anastasia Sims of the department of history, who is also an expert in the history of feminism, said there is a common misconception that the feminism movement made women dislike men who practiced chivalry. Sims said while there was a group in the 60s that thought chivalry put women subordinate to men, that group was a very small minority of the feminists. She said that view has since been stereotyped.

A woman accepting a chivalrous gesture is not succumbing to a male-dominated society. All the same, a man who practices chivalry is not a chauvinistic misogynist.

The best way a woman can be chivalrous — according to Sims and Dr. Love (hey, if Diddy can do it, can't I?) — is for her to reciprocate the chivalry to which she is treated. No, that doesn't mean she needs to pull his chair out or necessarily give up her seat on the bus. But if a guy opens the car door for a girl, she should lean over the console and unlock or open his.

If there is a series of dates, maybe she could offer to pick up the tab one night, or pay for coffee after dinner or the movie tickets.

The one rule that Dr. Love believes all women should follow when having a chivalrous man is to be appreciative, even when she is not accustomed to having her door opened or her chair pulled out in a snazzy eating joint. However, just because she isn't used to the extra effort does not mean she needs to make the guy feel like an idiot.

It's like Christmas, when old aunt Shirley gives you that homemade hot pink sweater. You don't look at the old woman and call her stupid, do you? No! The same goes for a guy who opens your door. It may not be something you're used to, but you realize its significance. Aunt Shirley did it because she wanted to give you a nice gift. Your date did it because he respects you.

What I've been trying to explain in my last few columns comes down to one thing: manners. It's not hard to guess when they need to be used, and I believe that there is a time when more manners are necessary than others. When eating with your roommate watching the Maury Povich Show, it's probably acceptable to have your feet on the table and belch without saying "excuse me." That probably isn't the case when eating Thanksgiving dinner with the family.

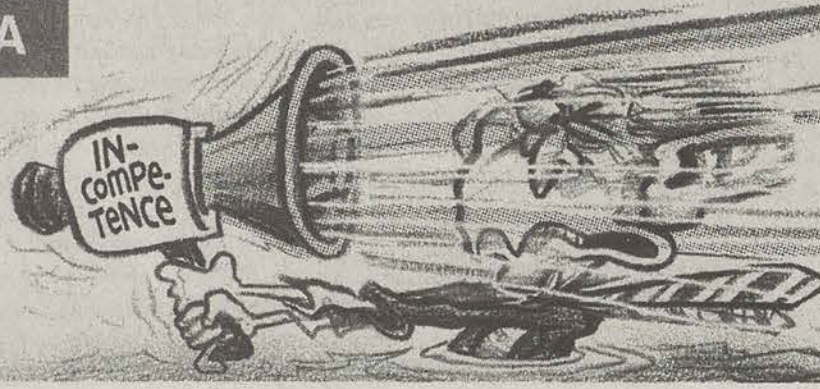

The same goes for chivalry. Eating with a buddy at LongHorn is different than when eating with a lady. He would punch you if you pulled out his chair; she — I hope — would not.

Write Luke at gaeditor@georgiasouthern.edu.

9/11

KATRINA

Peter Krembs: YOUR TURN

We need to look at the intellect of our Senators

The real story in the confirmation proceedings for John Roberts isn't the Justice himself — it's with pandering politicians like Senator Tom Coburn (R-OK). At one point during Coburn's questioning of Roberts, he (Coburn) nearly broke into tears as he lamented the "...divisiveness," "polarization" and "partisanship" that are supposedly destroying American politics.

You know something? When politicians start agreeing with each other, I get nervous.

Consensus in a political context usually means something really stupid is about to happen, whether it be the creation of the Department of Homeland Security, the passage of the Patriot Act or Congressional pay raises. We need more legitimate verbal combat going on (and, as a liberal, I would like to see Team Progressive work on their rushing game).

The back-patting, scape-goating, and, with Senator Coburn's performance — wussiness — in American politics is appalling.

The opposition party and indeed the media should do a little more heavy lifting and call these politicians on their lack of intellectual honesty in debating our nation's future.

Write Peter at p.krembs@gmail.com.

Lauren Stone: YOUR TURN

Recent movie review should have been more informed

Maybe if the appropriate gender had seen the movie, a better review would have been written ("The Transporter 2 drives local audiences away from theaters," Sept. 8, 2005).

So why does that make me an expert? Maybe because I prefer the blood and gore movies of the opposite sex over powder puff films. Perhaps Miss King should have reviewed something a little less masculine, such as "The Brothers Grimm."

My first suggestion to Miss King is to actually watch "The Transporter," because had she done so before viewing the sequel, she would have known that "The Transporter 2" did not "mimic the prequel."

Sure, it "delivers high-octane explosions and tight-laced fighting sequences," but guess what? "The Transporter 2" is an action flick, and those would be qualities of an action film.

On the other hand, I will give Miss King some credit: there were some "eye-rolling" scenes. "Weapons [were] fired without reloading ammo...and cars were never damaged," but seriously — and think hard now — when was the last time you watched an action movie and actually saw someone reload their gun?

Nowadays, it seems that the firearms used in most action films have an invisible sling of infinite ammunition to last an entire hour and a half to two hours of the movie's run time.

Some of the scenes were a bit far-fetched, but having seen the previews of "The Transporter 2," and taking into consideration the audience this film was trying to reach, would you expect anything less?

Write Lauren at Laurenstone14@gmail.com.

This Day in History...

•Today is Monday, Sept. 19, the 262nd day of 2005.
•There are 103 days left in the year.
•Today's Highlight in History:
•On Sept. 19, 1777, during the Revolutionary War, American soldiers won the first Battle of Saratoga.

•Today's Birthdays: Singer-songwriter Paul Williams is 65. Singer Bill Medley is 65. TV personality Joan Lunden is 55. Country singer Trisha Yearwood is 41. Comedian Jimmy Fallon is 31.

Adam Fogle THE NEW VALHALLA

The Sierra Club: round two

Due to the overwhelming response to my Aug. 25 column, "The Sierra Club is not your friend," I felt it only necessary to offer a reply.

The environmentalists came out of the woodwork in full force and unleashed a laundry list of complaints. There were two George-Anne responses, a variety of e-mails and even a few Internet messages.

Most of the replies whined a bit, insulted The George-Anne, failed to provide evidence for claims (notice proof surrogates like "there is strong scientific evidence showing that..." in Jim Reichard's retort) and most significantly missed the point.

Each response portrayed my column as an attempt to undermine environmental action; an analysis that fails to grasp the central theme.

My column was a credo to Republicans, not a condemnation of the environmental community.

I have little problem with true environmentalism. But the focus was on this particular environmental organization and moreover the "Republicans" who think the Sierra Club offers the best way to take up environmental concerns.

Travis Tarver, the founder of the Georgia Southern University Sierra Club, said in an e-mail, "I started the Sierra Club Chapter in an effort to inform normal people about the crimes that are being committed against the world we live in."

That is a highly superficial justification. Declaring that the Sierra Club is a non-partisan organization focused only on environmental action reeks of ignorance.

The Sierra Club uses "environmental concerns" as a smokescreen for their political agenda.

They have a long record of being openly liberal by financially backing extremely liberal candidates. During the 2004 election alone, the Sierra Club contributed $243,548 to John Kerry's campaign while giving $0 to George W. Bush.

They donated another $882,521 during the 2004 cycle to Democratic candidates such as Tom Daschle ($2,500), Denise Majette ($3,500), Barack Obama ($8,030), Nancy Pelosi ($1,500) and countless others.

The notion that someone would claim to be a Republican while supporting and cultivating an organization that pumps more than $1 million per election cycle into the campaign war chests of Democratic candidates is paradoxical.

I understand that some people, including Republicans, have serious concerns for the environment and I encourage each and every one of them to do something about it.

But it is dangerously shallow to blindly join a club that hides a deep political agenda with notions of environmental concern.

Wake up and smell the patchouli.

See how the money is spent. Look at some of the non-environmental issues they support that I cited in the first Sierra Club column; the things that fly in the face of economic conservatism.

And after that, if a Republican can honestly feel comfortable about being a part of the Sierra Club, then I beg them to, at the very least, stop identifying themselves as such.

You can be a Republican and you can be a member of the Sierra Club, but you cannot be both. And that was the point of my column.

Write Adam amfogle@yahoo.com.

Staff Writers

Chad Bishop, Angela Byrd, Britt Davis, Maria Folsom, Cheryl Frost, Robert Greene, Emily Haymans, Alicia Howe, Darren Jones, Heidi King, Kessler Lawrence, Jennifer Maddox, Bryan Metcalf, Jenny Miller, Kristin Miller, Danielle Powell, Mary Kate Roan, Renaldo Stover, Brandee Thomas, Marcy Thornton.

Affiliated Publications

Reflector editor: Katie Glorieux; Miscellany editor: Ashley Stevens

Advertising & Distribution Services (ADS)

Marketing Director: Lindsey Treadwell
Ad Reps: Drew Anthony, Caitlin Carter, Angela Parker

Photography, Art, Graphics, Electronic Systems (PAGES)

Production Manager: Sarah Banks
Photographers: Katie Anderson, Grayson Hoffman, Hillary Jones, Ryan Moore, Brian O'Conner, Sarah Parillo, Terrence Williams

Letters Policy

The George-Anne welcomes letters to the editor, story submissions and guest columns from people both inside and outside the GSU community. All copy submitted should be 250 words or less, typed, and preferably sent via email in Microsoft Word format to gaeditor@georgiasouthern.edu. All submissions must be signed and include a mailing address and phone number for verification. The editors reserve the right to reject any submission.

How to Contact Us:

Letters to the Editor: gaeditor@georgiasouthern.edu
News: ganews@georgiasouthern.edu
Sports: gasports@georgiasouthern.edu
Features: gahiliatus@yahoo.com
Advertising: ads@georgiasouthern.edu
Newsroom: 912-681-5246
Fax: 912-486-7113

TV's favorite stars grabbed Emmys Concert

By Lynn Elber
Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — A trio of past Emmy favorites grabbed trophies at Sunday's ceremony, with Brad Garrett and Doris Roberts of "Everybody Loves Raymond" and William Shatner of "Boston Legal" receiving best supporting actor honors.

Garrett received his third Emmy for the CBS sitcom, which wrapped after nine seasons, and Shatner received his second Emmy for the character of egotistical lawyer Denny Crane.

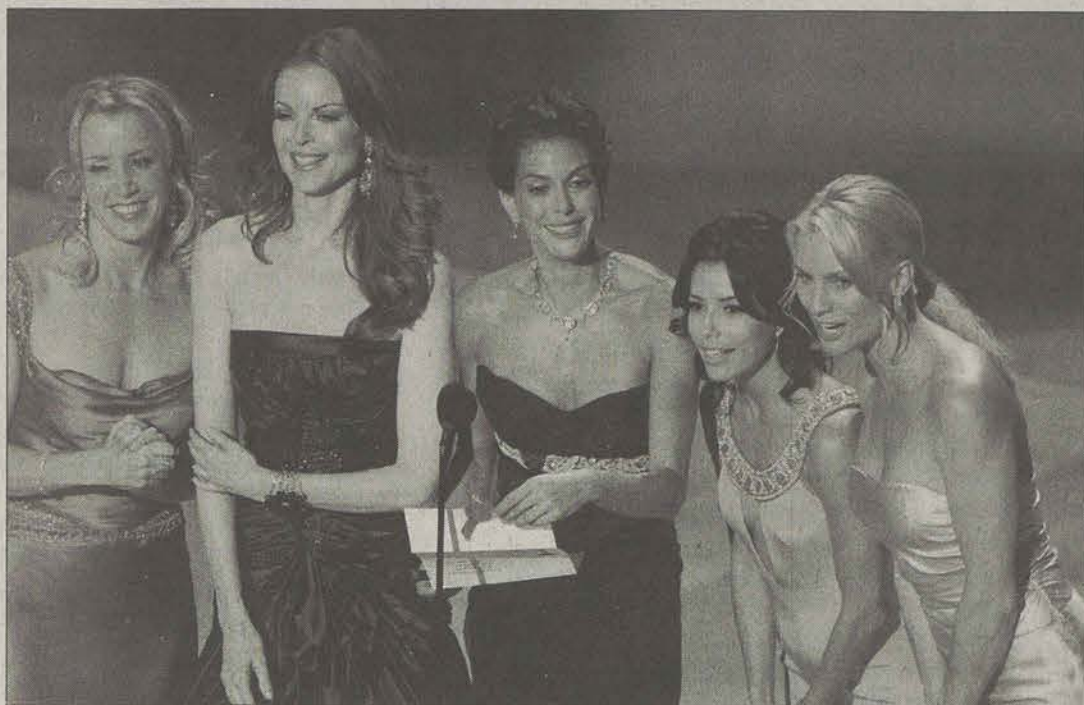

Shatner received his first Emmy for playing Crane in 2004 when he guest starred on "The Practice," the precursor to "Boston Legal."

Blythe Danner was named best supporting actress in a drama for Showtime's "Huff."

The ceremony included a tribute to late-night king Johnny Carson, the "Tonight" show host who died this year, with David Letterman remembering the man who entertained America and was mentor to so many comedians.

For their supporting acting work in a miniseries or a movie, Paul Newman was honored for "Empire Falls" and Jane Alexander for "Warm Springs," both on HBO.

Hugh Jackman was honored as best individual performance in a variety or music program for his work as host of

Mark J. Terrill/Associated Press

Felicity Huffman, Marcia Cross, Teri Hatcher, Eva Longoria, and Nicollette Sheridan, from the television series "Desperate Housewives," introduce the winner of the outstanding supporting actor in a comedy series award at the 57th Annual Primetime Emmy Awards Sunday in Los Angeles.

the 58th annual Tony Awards.

"The Daily Show with Jon Stewart" repeated as best variety, music or comedy series and again won for writing.

"The Amazing Race" was named outstanding reality-competition program for the third time.

"Desperate Housewives" and "Lost" were among the front-runners as the TV industry celebrated a year that brought viewers and buzz back to the broadcast networks.

Awards in 27 categories were being presented.

When nominations were announced in July, HBO led with 93 bids. CBS was second with 59 nominations, followed by NBC with 54, ABC with 51 and Fox with 49.

Acting awards for guest actors on comedy and drama series were given at the Sept. 11 creative arts ceremony.

The winners were Amanda Plummer, "Law & Order: Special Victims Unit"; Ray Liotta, "ER"; Kathryn Joosten, "Desperate Housewives"; and Bobby Cannavale, "Will & Grace."

from page 1

Should Have Cheated," which is listed at number twelve on the Billboard Top R&B/Hip-Hop Albums list.

Three weeks ago, his new album "Late Registration" debuted at number one, selling 860,000 copies.

Although he has two albums in the "Billboard Top 100," West has most recently been known not for the words he sings, but for the politically charged messages he's been spewing.

During an off-script statement at a Sept. 2 Hurricane Katrina telethon, West declared "George Bush doesn't care about black people."

The comments earned the artist heavy media coverage. NBC, which was airing "A Concert for Hurricane Relief" telethon, edited the critique from its west coast airing.

A week after the statement, West told an audience during the taping of MTV2's $2 Bill Concert series, that he didn't regret his criticism of the president.

"I wasn't trying to particularly diss anybody like that," he said. "People are like, 'Yo, aren't you scared that something's going to happen to you?' I was like, 'I can think of a lot worse things that could happen to me, like how about not eating for five days? Or how about not knowing where my f---ing family is?' Everybody's always concerned about the self."

Students said Sunday that they weren't concerned about the controversial messages West might deliver.

"It's going to be a little crazy," said senior Jason Reid. "I'm not exactly sure what to expect."

"I don't think the school will have to worry about what he says reflecting badly on the school as much as it would reflect poorly on him."

If the contract is finalized in the coming weeks, school officials indicated ticket prices and showtimes would be made available at the time of announcement.

Tickets for West's Greenville, SC performance Oct. 15 were selling on Ticketmaster.com for $30-40.

West's Statesboro show is preceded by a Nov. 17 concert in Atlanta at the Gwinnett Center and a show in Greensboro, NC on Nov. 18.

Fantasia

Common

Keyshia Cole

Symphony

from page 1

Maazal, Sir Neville Marriner, Denis Russel-Davies, Eiji Oue, Robert Spano, Zoltan Kocsis, Michael Stern, Peter Eotvos, Tamas Vasary, Rumon Gamba and Steven Isserlis. Kelemen began his violin studies at age six with noted Hungarian pedagogue Valeria Baranyai, and entered Eszter Perenyi's class at the Franz Liszt Music Academy in Budapest, Hungary, at age 11.

Since then, Kelemen has participated in master classes with Isaac

Stern, Ferenc Rados, Gyorgy Kurtag, Igor Ozim, Lorand Fenyves, Denes Zsigmondy, Gyorgy Pauk, Sergiu Luca and Thomas Zehetmair.

In addition to taking top honors at the International Violin Competition of Indianapolis, Kelemen earned first prize at the 1999 Mozart Competition in Austria and was part of the winning group at the International Piano Trio Competition in Finland.

More recently, Kelemen was appointed to serve as professor of violin at the Franz Liszt Music Academy.

Tickets for the Masterworks I Concert are $17.50 per person for adults and $12 per person for those under the age of 18. GSU students will be admitted free with a valid University ID.

To purchase tickets for the concert or to obtain more information on the Statesboro-Georgia Southern Symphony, email edwards@georgiasouthern.edu or call (912) 681-0080.

Want to hear it?

Tickets are free for GSU students, $17.50 for all adults and $12 for children.

To purchase a ticket, call the PAC at 681-0080.

Homecoming packets and King & Queen Applications Available NOW!

Homecoming participation packs can now be downloaded off the Homecoming 2005 site at www.georgiasouthernhomecoming.com

Deadline for entries will be Tuesday, September 27. The Homecoming King and Queen application deadline has been extended until Tuesday, September 20 at 12 p.m.

Eventually you will run out of books to sell back.

Georgia Southern Career Services' Fall Recruitment Calendar

Employers Attending as of 9/15 2005

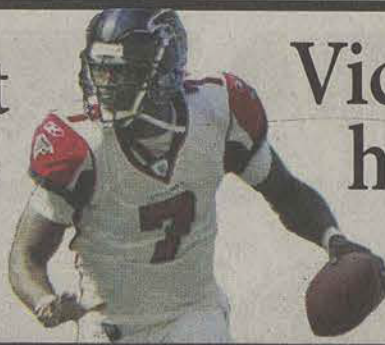

DATE	COMPANY	INTERVIEW TYPE	JOB TITLE	RESUME DEADLINE	LOCATION
9/20/05	GIFFORD, HILLEGASS & INGWERSEN	Preselect	AUDIT INTERN, BUSINESS ADVISORY STAFF, TAX INTERN	9/6/05	COBA
9/20/05	NICHOLS, CAULEY, AND ASSOCIATES, LLC	Preselect	ACCOUNTANT/AUDITOR, ACCOUNTING INTERN	9/12/05	COBA
9/20/05	CLIFTON, LIPFORD, HARDISON, & PARKER	Preselect	STAFF ACCOUNTANT	9/12/05	COBA
9/29/05	HANCOCK, ASKEW, & CO., LLP	Preselect	STAFF ACCOUNTANT, INTERN	9/21/05	COBA
9/30/05	HABIF, AROGETI AND WYNNIE	Preselect	STAFF ACCOUNTANT, INTERN	9/16/05	COBA
10/4/05	GA DEPARTMENT OF AUDITS	Preselect	STAFF AUDITOR, AUDIT INTERN	9/20/05	COBA
10/4/05	MAULDIN & JENKINS, LLC	Preselect	STAFF ACCOUNTANT	9/20/05	COBA
10/5/05	ABF FREIGHT SYSTEM, INC.	Preselect	MANAGEMENT TRAINEE	9/21/05	Williams Center
10/6/05	DRAFFIN & TUCKER, LLP	Preselect	STAFF ACCOUNTANT	9/22/05	COBA
10/6/05	PORTER, KEADLE, MOORE	Preselect	TAX/AUDIT, INTERN	9/22/05	COBA
10/7/05	TIC, THE INDUSTRIAL COMPANY	Open	FIELD ENGINEER INTERN/CO-OP	10/5/05	Williams Center
10/12/05	MOORE COLSON	Preselect	ASSOCIATE - INTERN	9/28/05	COBA
10/14/05	BB&T	Preselect	MANAGEMENT ASSOCIATE	9/30/05	COBA
10/14/05	JONES & KOLB	Preselect	STAFF ACCOUNTANT, INTERN	9/30/05	COBA
10/27/05	PROGRESSIVE INSURANCE	Preselect	CLAIM REP TRAINEE	10/13/05	Union
10/27/05	SHERWIN-WILLIAMS	Open	MANAGEMENT TRAINEE	10/25/05	Williams Center
10/27/05	SWIFT	Preselect	MANAGEMENT TRAINEE	10/13/05	Williams Center
10/27/05	GEKO	Preselect	SALES REP, SERVICE COUNSELOR	10/13/05	Williams Center
10/27/05	Hormel Foods Corporation	Preselect	PRODUCTION SUPERVISOR	10/13/05	Williams Center
11/1/05	ABERCROMBIE & FITCH	Preselect	MANAGER IN TRAINING	10/18/05	Williams Center
11/3/05	TARGET STORES	Preselect	EXECUTIVE TEAM LEADER, INTERN	10/20/05	Williams Center
11/4/05	WHITING-TURNER	Open	FIELD ENGINEER, PROJECT ENGINEER, Inter, Co-op	11/2/05	Camuth
11/9/05	WALGREENS	Open	RETAIL MANAGEMENT TRAINEE/INTERN	11/7/05	Williams Center
11/14/05	CSX CORPORATION	Preselect	OPERATIONSMANAGEMENT TRAINEE	10/31/05	Williams Center

This is just a partial list. For an up-to-date listing of who is interviewing on campus, be sure to check EagleTRAK by visiting this link: <http://students.georgiasouthern.edu/career/eagletrak/> Questions?? Comments?? Feel free to contact Dorsey K. Baldwin or Wallace Brown by phone at 681-5197 or by E-mail at careersv@georgiasouthern.edu

SPORTS

Get your NFL fix tonight as NFL broadcast two Monday night games.

Vick injures hamstring in 21-18 loss Sunday

SOCON ROUND-UP

SAMFORD—23

FURMAN—45

Daric Carter rushed for 132 yards and scored two touchdowns to lead 10th-ranked Furman to a 45-23 win over Samford Saturday evening at Paladin Stadium. The Paladins piled up 392 yards on the ground and finished the contest with 527 total yards. Furman returns to action next Saturday when it entertains Hofstra in a 2:00 p.m. game. Samford plays at Eastern Illinois next Saturday in a 1:30 p.m. contest.

WESTERN CAROLINA—3

CINCINNATI—7

Bradley Glatthaar ran 7 yards for a touchdown late in the first half and Cincinnati's young defense made it hold up for a 7-3 win over Western Carolina on Saturday night. Western Carolina held a 284-273 edge in total yards, but committed three turnovers. Cincinnati, rebounded from a 42-24 loss at Penn State. The Bearcats have one more non-league game before they begin their first Big East schedule. Western Carolina was coming off a 41-21 upset of Furman.

PRESBYTERIAN—19

ELON—34

Reggie Hall rushed for a career-high 136 yards with a career-high three touchdowns as Elon overcame Presbyterian 34-19 to highlight 2005 Phoenix Homecoming festivities Saturday afternoon at Rhodes Stadium. The Phoenix (2-1) won for the second time in as many weeks while the Blue Hose (3-1) fell for the first time this season. In next week's action, North Carolina A&T visits Elon for its Hall of Fame Game at 6 p.m. Saturday at Rhodes Stadium.

CHATTANOOGA—14

MEMPHIS—59

DeAngelo Williams ran for 205 yards and three touchdowns Saturday night to lead Memphis to a 59-14 victory over Chattanooga. The Tigers had 592 yards against the Mocs, and the 59 points marked the most by a Memphis team since a 62-20 victory over Tulane in 1992. Eldra Buckley scored twice for the Mocs on runs of 38 and 2 yards and carried the bulk of the Chattanooga offense, rushing for 143 yards on 20 carries. The Mocs had 332 of total offense.

COASTAL CAROLINA—3

APPALACHIAN ST.—30

No. 17 Coastal Carolina never got on track, as Appalachian State took control of the game early and won their home opener, 30-3. With the win ASU moves to 2-1 on the season, while the Chanticleers fall to 2-1. The Mountaineers dominated on both sides of the ball, outgaining the Chants 582-225. ASU quarterback Richie Williams was 13-of-25 for 185 yards and had nine carries for 85 yards. ASU will be on the road in Charleston to face The Citadel this Saturday.

Eagles fall in SoCon opener at Wofford

Football

from page 1

The Eagles next drive ended in a punt after four consecutive carries by Brandon Andrews and a 4-yard run by Raja Andrews resulted in fourth and two.

Once Wofford was back in possession of the ball, they continued to utilize their ground attack, going 80 yards in 8 plays to take their first lead of the game 21-14.

Jonathan Dudley would provide the Eagles with a field goal after the offense was able to move down to the Wofford 20-yard line midway through the fourth quarter. The drive was highlighted by an impressive 53-yard run by Jayson Foster who finished the day with 126 yards on 15 carries.

The GSU defense then came back onto the field and made three consecutive stops to force Wofford to punt. A personal foul by the defense gave Wofford a first down and additional time to run the clock. The defense regrouped and made key stops to give the offense a chance to score again though.

After an interception by A.J. Bryant, the Eagles took over at their own 11-yard line. It appeared as though the Eagles were on track for a game winning drive until a fumble by Jermaine Austin was recovered by Brian Ford.

The Eagles had one additional chance to win the game but time ran out on the Eagles at midfield leaving fans and players shaking their heads in disbelief.

"We've got to go back and look at the film and just go back to the drawing board," A.J. Bryant said.

The Eagles next match up is Saturday at 7:00 against Chattanooga at Paulson Stadium.

Coach Sewak Says:

"It's frustrating but it doesn't matter, when you have the ball down there you have to score."

Coach Sewak in response to Wofford's ball control style offense which kept GSU offense off field.

Southern Conference Standings

WCU	2-1	1-0
Wofford	2-1	1-0
ASU	2-1	0-0
UTC	2-1	0-0
Elon	2-1	0-0
CIT	1-1	0-0
FUR	2-1	0-1
GSU	1-2	0-1

Bryan Metcalf/STAFF

Jayson Foster breaks a tackle as he runs for a first down in the third quarter of Saturday's game against Wofford. Foster ran for 126 yards and one touchdown on 15 carries in the loss. The Eagles will try to avoid their first three-game losing streak since 1996 when they face Chattanooga on Saturday.

Volleyball completes play in LIU Invitational

G-A News Service

The Georgia Southern volleyball team was defeated three games to one against Long Island in the final match of the Long Island Invitational Saturday in Brooklyn, N.Y.

GSU (7-5) fought back and forth with Long Island (5-8) losing game one 25-30 and winning game two 30-27. The Eagles fell behind early in game 3, and eventually fell short, 23-30. Georgia Southern was unable to capitalize on 14 service errors by Long Island during the match and the Eagles were defeated in game four 27-30.

Senior Iulia Porumbescu led the team in kills, 18, and also in digs, 17, as she recorded her tenth double-double on the season. Senior Natalia Galantini totaled 26 assists and was one dig short of a double-double with nine. For her play during the tournament, Galantini was named to the All-Tournament team.

For the third consecutive match, GSU recorded eight team blocks, led by senior Cristie Mitchell, five blocks, and junior's Jennifer Charles and Jennifer Schenk, who each recorded four.

Saturday morning, GSU lost to Bowling Green in the Eagles second match of the LIU Invitational, three games to none.

In each of the three games, Georgia Southern (7-4) held a lead over Bowling Green (5-5) but could not find a way to capitalize on the advantage. The Eagles were swept in the match, losing game one 25-30, game two 28-30, and finally, game three 26-30.

The Eagles out dug the Falcons 53 to 48 led by senior Natalia Galantini who had 13 and also out blocked Bowling Green eight to three led by Schenk's four. The Falcons, however, managed to out kill GSU 51 to 44. The Eagles finished the match with a .143 hitting percentage.

On Friday, GSU defeated Weber State three games to one in the Eagles first match of the Invitational.

Porumbescu (Bucharest, Romania) led the Eagles with her ninth double-double on the season, recording 30 kills and 13 digs. Porumbescu, who finished the night with a .491 hitting percentage, recorded 30-plus kills for the second time in the 2005 season.

"We started the match ready to play," head coach Kerry Messersmith said, "And we never lost that intensity. We played well both offensively and defensively tonight and defeated a good opponent in Weber State. I was very excited to watch the match tonight and hope to see this play carry throughout the season."

Golf Team Finishes Gopher Invitational

GSU News Service

Wayzata, Minn.--The Georgia Southern golf team shot its lowest round of the Gopher Invitational Sunday, shooting a six-over par 294 to finish the tournament in seventh place.

Minnesota and Washington tied for first place in the invitational, with the Gophers winning the tournament in a playoff.

Minnesota's Niall Turner won the individual title after posting a three day total 215 (-1). Georgia State's Mark Haaststrup, Minnesota's John Persons, and Washington's Alex Prugh finished in a tie for second, shooting an even-par 216.

GSU was led in the tournament by senior Jonathan Shaw (Cartersville, Ga.) who shot a final round, two-under par 70, on his way to a 13th place finish overall (+4).

Senior Jon David Kennedy (Perry, Ga.) also finished in the top 20, shooting a three round total 223 (+7) to end the tournament tied for 20th.

"We came out and played today the way that I wanted us to play all weekend," head coach Larry Mays said.

"We finished with two players in the top 20 and Jordan (Johnstun) is getting a lot of great experience as a freshman. We are proving that we can play good golf, but we are going to work on being more consistent."

GSU returns to action Tuesday, Oct. 3 as it travels to Malibu, Calif. to participate in the Clubglove Intercollegiate hosted by Pepperdine University.

GETTING INVOLVED...

Do you have a sports-related story idea? E-mail our editor at gasperts@georgiasouthern.edu.

Are you interested in writing for any section, call the newsroom at (912) 681-5246.

GEORGIA SOUTHERN

Eagle tennis team ends weekend strong in final match of Miami Invitational

Team takes three of five matches in individual play Sunday afternoon

G-A News Service

The Georgia Southern men's tennis team won three out of five matches in individual play Sunday as they finished out the three day Miami Invitational, in Miami, Fla.

For a second straight day, the seniors provided leadership for the Eagles as they faced Stetson in the individual play.

Vincent Patry defeated Sergei Boulanov 7-5, 6-2 to finish the weekend with a 2-1 record.

Lasha Janashia also ended 2-1, defeating Eddie Majcher 6-3, 6-4. Charles-Henri Trottet defeated Trevor Bach 6-3, 6-1 to end the invitational with a 2-1 record as well.

Freshman Neil Shine was defeated 6-7, 3-6 by Peter Dzuba to finish the invitational with a 0-2 mark.

Jakub Hanusz fell in straight sets 2-6, 2-6 to Birger Soiland to move his record to 1-1.

Janashia and Nathan Tingin won their doubles match 8-5 against Ma-tycher/Bach to end the weekend 1-1 as a pair. Patry and Philip Prins fell to Marcus Echler/Boulanov 8-5, taking their mark also to 1-1.

Stetson's Dzuba/Soiland beat Hanusz/Trottet 8-3 in their first doubles match together.

GSU will next travel to Atlanta, Ga Friday, Oct. 7 to participate in the Georgia Tech Invitational. The competition will once again be individual play only.

Mens soccer wraps up busy weekend

Three Eagles selected to All-Tournament Team

G-A News Service

Lawrence Smith scored two goals en route to a 4-0 Georgia Southern victory over Centenary Sunday afternoon at Eagle Field in the final match of the 2005 Kick-Off Classic.

Smith scored the first goal of the game at the 34:26 mark off the assist from Jeff Cox. Less than ten minutes later, Cox scored his first collegiate goal off a pass from Brad Mitchum, giving the Eagles a 2-0 advantage at the break.

Midway through the second half, a Julian Donaldson corner kick led to Smith's second goal of the afternoon, and his fifth on the year. Tyler Mullen's goal off a Daniel Smith pass at the 80:39 mark gave Georgia Southern it's final goal of the game, as they won 4-0.

GSU goalkeeper Brian Young made three stops in his first appearance minding the net. Centenary's Donnie Henderson stopped 11 shots. The Eagles recorded 20 shots on the day, while the Gents tallied 6.

In the earlier match, Buffalo blanked Western Illinois, 3-0, making the Bulls the champions of the 2005 Kick-Off Classic. UB scored 10 goals in two matches, and did not allow a single goal.

GSU returns to action on Friday, Sept. 23 as they travel to Stetson for a 7:00 p.m. match.

Anna Mitchum/STAFF

The Eagles go on the road Friday for a matchup with Stetson.

Kick-off Classic All Tournament Team

Buffalo-Dan Bell, Lee Catchpole, Mbwana Johnson, Shyle Braithwaite
Georgia Southern- Lawrence Smith, Brad Mitchum, Jeff Cox
Western Illinois- Kosuke Kimura, Luke Greenwall
Centenary-Donnie Henderson, Aron Taylor

The basics
all pirated from
www.talklikeapirate.com

Pirate lingo is rich and complicated, sort of like a good stew.
But if you just want a quick fix, a surface gloss, a "pirate patina," if you will, here are the five basic words that you cannot live without. Master them, and you can face Talk Like a Pirate Day.

Ahoy! - "Hello!"

Avast! - Stop and give attention. It can be used in a sense of surprise, "Whoa! Get a load of that!" which today makes it more of a "Check it out" or "No way!" or "Get off!"

Aye! - "Why yes, I agree most heartily with everything you just said or did."

Aye aye! - "I'll get right on that sir, as soon as my break is over."

Arrr! - This one is often confused with arrgh, which is of course the sound you make when you sit on a belaying pin. "Arrr!" can mean, variously, "yes," "I agree," "I'm happy," "I'm enjoying this beer," "My team is going to win it all," "I saw that television show, it sucked!" and "That was a clever remark you or I just made." And those are just a few of the myriad possibilities of Arrr!

Beauty - The best possible pirate address for a woman. Always preceded by "me," as in, "C'mere, me beauty," or even, "me buxom beauty," to one particularly well-endowed. You'll be surprised how effective this is.

Bilge rat - The bilge is the lowest level of the ship. It's loaded with ballast and slimy, reeking water. A bilge rat, then, is a rat that lives in the worst place on the ship. Since bilge rat is a pretty dirty thing to call someone, by all means use it on your friends.

Bung hole - Victuals on a ship were stored in wooden casks. The stopper in the barrel is called the bung, and the hole is called the bung hole. That's all. It sounds a lot worse, doesn't it? On TLAP Day - When dinner is served you'll make quite an impression when you say, "Well, me hearties, let's see what crawled out of the bung hole." That statement will be instantly followed by the sound of people putting down their utensils and pushing themselves away from the table. Great! More for you!

Play the pirate game

Whoever finds these five pirate-like items will be entered into drawing to win free GNAT-shirts from Student Media and The George-Anne. E-mail your response to gamed@georgiasouthern.edu by Monday at 5 p.m. for the drawing Monday night.

- Gratuitous use of pirate language in a headline
- A randomly placed hook
- The pirate-patched staffer
- A gold coin
- A parrot

TALK LIKE A PIRATE

'Cause it beats the hell out of talking like a redneck...arrr!

Avast! Today is the annual Talk Like a Pirate Day that children, the elderly and even Georgia Southern students sit up for weeks on end waiting for.

Oh, what's that? OK, you're right. I'm getting this highly-anticipated holiday of the swashbucklers mixed up with that other holiday we celebrate in December.

Aye! Well, for all you bilge rats who haven't heard of TLAP Day, let me fill you in.

Two guys, who obviously work in a place that must have cubicles and plenty of spare time, developed the concept of devoting an entire 24 hours to the art of piratical speech.

As far as I can tell through my intensive research - and by that I mean 10 minutes of Yahoo! searching - I can't seem to find much evidence that proves how pirates actually talked.

I did find one interesting article that debunked the notion that pirates walked around with parrots on their shoulders. This guy - the debunker - thought it impractical for someone at sea to carry a pet aboard a ship that might not have much in the way of food. He suggested that the bird would be eaten.

Adam Crisp is the George-Anne's managing editor for news. He is a junior Anyway, back to the point; John Baur and Mark Summers developed the idea of having TLAP Day.

According to the highly credible and respected Miami Herald columnist Dave Barry, Baur and Summers developed TLAP Day after playing racquetball while talking like a pirate. The date - Sept. 19 - falls on Summers' ex-wife's birthday.

As I am sure you're thinking, I can't believe I've never dreamed up this holiday.

Every time I play racquetball. I bust into "aye!," "aye aye!" and "arrr!" at nearly every serve.

In fact, the last time I was at the RAC playing racquetball - just before Luke Hearn and I ran 12 miles, bench pressed 500 pounds and then later died - we had a whole conversation about bung holes, grog and hornpipes.

It seems so practical to have a holiday dedicated to this very unscientific, unofficial and certainly not federal holiday.

Take a few minutes today - or what the hell, any day - to call your teachers a lubber or ask them to "Come on up and see me urchins."

The holiday is all about having fun and not taking oneself too seriously.

We've provided you with plenty of ripped-off information to aid in the process, but if you'd like more, visit www.talklikeapirate.com.

Why aren't they teaching this crap in history classes?

Piracy has probably existed since early man first took to the waters, beginning during the time of Romans, some suspect.

But when Columbus' discovery opened the western hemisphere for exploration, Spain naturally led the way, and Cortez's conquest of the Aztecs in Mexico and Pizarro's conquest of the Incas in Peru began the practice of "treasure fleets" which transported the vast wealth of the new world back to Spain. Control of the sea lanes now became a matter of vital national interests.

At this time England was a relatively poor and weak country. Her kings and queens were involved in a centuries-long struggle with Parliament over control of the country's treasury. Parliament was reluctant to raise taxes for a powerful navy, which would answer to the monarch rather than to Parliament.

But as an island nation, England had an extensive private fleet, and the monarchs found in it a solution to their dilemma. When at war with another country, the king or queen would issue "letters of marque" which commissioned these private vessels to seek out and attack the shipping of the enemy country. These privately commissioned ships became known as "privateers".

Privateers were "licensed" to confiscate the cargo of the enemy vessel and divide the profits among the crew.

Piracy in the Americas flourished in the 17th and 18th centuries. Most American pirates started out as privateers, hired by local merchants and commissioned by one of the colonies to attack the shipping of England's enemies.

Famous pirates

WILLIAM KIDD - was a privateersman hired by Lord Bellomont, Royal Governor of Massachusetts, to seek out and capture Blackbeard. Failing to capture Blackbeard, Kidd became a pirate himself - although he denied being one until his dying day. Returning to Boston in 1699, Kidd was arrested and sentenced to be hanged.

Blackbeard

EDWARD TEACH - BLACKBEARD

- Ocracoke Inlet in North Carolina was his base of. Teach's jet black beard was the talk of two continents. In 1691, he and a sizeable crew landed at Luning Island in the Isles of Shoals off Portsmouth, New Hampshire. There he buried a large treasure of silver bars which has never been discovered.

Source: www.piratemuseum.com

Want to dress the part?

Leg Avenue pirate wench fancy dress costume. Includes of the shoulder halter dress, eyepatch and dagger. Size large. $63 on www.ebay.com.

Deluxe Pirate King. Includes pants, top, robe and bandana. Optional extras include cutlass sword, hook, eyepatch and earring or a deluxe Parrot/earring. $34 on www.ebay.com

GEORGIA SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY

Tradition... Pride... Success

Ring Week

September 19-23, 2005

University Store

This is the ONLY time this semester you will be able to purchase a class ring.

RUSSELL WEEK

Buy ANY Russell Athletic Product and get a FREE TEE! While Supplies Last

Full Back Graphic:
GEORGIA SOUTHERN COLLEGE

RUSSELL ATHLETIC

SEPTEMBER 19-24

THE UNIVERSITY STORE
www.gsustore.com
1-800-861-7059

Mon-Thurs 7:30 a.m. - 9 p.m.
Fri 7:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat 11 a.m. - 5 p.m. & 9 a.m. - 6 p.m. on Home Games

I.T. Store

Mon-Thurs 7:45 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Fri 7:45 a.m. - 2 p.m.