DEAN GILKEY SCHEDULED TO SPEAK HERE IN EARLY MARCH

OVER 500 PASTORS EXPECTED HERE

Twenty-Five Junior and Senior Class Boys To Act As Hosts For The Occasion.

Invitations have been extended to five hundred preachers of various denominations, representing forty counties in eastern and central Georgia, to attend the climax day exercises of "Religious Emphasis Week" here on March 4th. Charles W. Gilkey, dean of the Chapel of the University of Chicago, will deliver two addresses to the visiting pastors that day.

This convention, the first of its kind to be held at this school, is an educational meet which will climax the "Religious Emphasis Week" that will be observed during the first week of March at this school. Religious problems of both rural and urban nature will be discussed.

This program will last throughout the entire day, March 4th. The morning will be given to the guest speaker, Dean Gilkey. The afternoon will be spent in various group meetings where the practical problems and experience of these Georgia pastors will be discussed.

To play the part of active hosts for the day Dr. Pittman has selected twenty-five boys from the junior and senior classes to present a program of informative material to the visit-

"The Taming of the Shrew" which was presented in the college auditorium Friday night by the Vidalia High School Dramatic Club proved highly successful.

The Vidalia group was brought to Statesboro through the efforts of the senior class of the Teachers College Laboratory School. The percentage of the gate receipts which the Laboratory School received are to be used in helping finance the seniors trip to Washington at the close of school in June.

The play was rendered in an efficient manner by the Vidalia cast and received much acclaim from the large audience that attended it.

LITTLE SYMPHONY IS WELL RECEIVED

Playing to a large group of students, faculty members and visitors last Wednesday night in the College auditorium, the Little Symphony Orchestra of the University of Michigan School of Music delighted everyone present with its superb renditions.

The sixteen-piece orchestra was founded in 1934, and since that time has delighted audiences over the entire United States with its playing. The ability of such a small organization to perform in such noble fashion is appealing to all listeners who have any appreciation for symphonic music.

The Little Orchestra was directed by Thor Johnson.

Basketball Clinic Conducted Here

A basketball clinic was conducted here Friday and Saturday of last week by Miss Betty Scott and Miss Betty Clague, members of the University of Georgia faculty as well as national basketball officials.

The meeting got under way at 7 o'clock Friday evening in the college gymnasium with a discussion of 1940 girls' rules and demonstrations by the students. Saturday morning at 9:15 o'clock there was a written test on basketball rules, followed by the practical test in officiating at 10:15.

Basketball officials, high school coaches, and college students were present in large numbers to benefit from this clinic conducted by the two famous officials.

Miss Sue Hammack and Mrs. Huncutt Bowen, of the T. C. physical education department, were in charge of arrangements for the occasion.

A CAPELLA CHOIR TO SING HERE

The famous A Capella Choir, composed of girls and boys enrolled in Georgia State College for Women and Georgia Military College (for boys), of Milledgeville, will sing here in the college auditorium next Monday, February 19. This choir is to sing during the regular chapel period at 10:15 a. m.

The students of this college are looking forward to this program scheduled for next Monday.

C. A. A. PROGRAM WELL UNDER WAY

T.C. "Flying Boys" are at last flying. What seemed to be a dream (and hope) for some time to those who passed the examination, turned real last week when the C. A. A. lent the "go ahead" word and actual flight training began.

The program is one sponsored by the government, whose purpose it is to train 80,000 pilots during the next four years, the method being to select college students, boys or girls, who meet certain requirements, and pay for their training. T. C.'s quota in the program is ten pilots per year.

Besides the practical part of piloting the plane, the students are being taught much related material includ-

A son, Howell Joyner, was born January 26 to Mr. and Mrs. Howell Martin at a local hospital.

Martin is manager of the College Store.

"Drink no wine nor strong drinks, thou, nor thy sons with thee."—Lev. 10:9.

OUR SIDE

The George-Anne does not wish to get into a controversy with any weekly newspaper in Georgia and especially our good friends at the Bulloch Herald, but we feel that the college paper must answer the paragraph carried by the Herald last week in which the college and the administration was criticized.

The Herald in an editorial took the college to task for not allowing the students to join the Statesboro community in celebration of the President's Birthday party last week.

We would like to ask the Herald three questions: First, "What is the purpose of the President's Birthday parties?" Second, "How could the college get over 300 young ladies in evening clothes carried properly to town for such an occasion?" Third, "What would be the advantage of such an arrangement?"

The College raised $75.00 for the Birthday celebration which we are sure is more than most communities in Georgia will raise. The purpose of the President's Ball, according to our information, is to honor the President and raise money for the infantile paralysis fund, and not to satisfy the social desires of a few young people. The college certainly could not select a few of the more charming young ladies and allow that few to go to the ball in Statesboro. The entire student body would be invited to participate and of course this would be impossible. We are sure the college boys and girls know all the Statesboro boys and girls, and certainly a dance would not help our students get acquainted in Statesboro.

In the administration of a college it is necessary to consider the consequences of any act, and while the President's Birthday Ball is important and raising funds to fight infantile paralysis is worthy, there are many other causes that are worthy also. Then there would be just as good argument for varying the rules of the college for other occasions. It is for those reasons that the college has adopted its own program of social activities for the entire student body.

We have had very little practical journalistic experience but according to our text book it is best that the editor of a paper (be it daily or weekly) acquaint himself with the facts before attempting an editorial on any subject.

Notice!!! Girls don't you know it's leap year? Why don't you get to work so the editor of the dirt column can find some dirt?

Flash!! Latest news!! Eula Beth Jones wearing a diamond on her left hand, formerly which was worn on right hand. Who is he, Eula Beth? Don't be bashful.

Last quarter we saw Ross and Lorene quite often, but this quarter we don't see much of them. What is the trouble, Ross?

Good going Smiley—seems that you were the best man in the triangle case, or has Ruth made up her mind?

Geraldine, you are most too forgetful. Better tie a string around your finger next time. Ray might not like leaving so early.

'Tis true of this being leap year, but you better watch out, girls; John Ben don't seem to know it. Careful, John Ben, it's leap year.

We're beginning to believe that Helen Connor is in the race for a man. Who? Well, any man would do—

Mystery of the week: Will Booker be able to fill all of Jaybird's shoes?

What was Tiny Ramsey doing hanging around West Hall last Sunday night—was the bus late, Tiny?

We wonder why Helen Hardwick was so anxious to leave T. C. this past week end. Where was Jimmie?

Flash!! Western Farmer exchanges Jaybird for Canary.

Why does Marjorie covet accounting brothers? Could she be CARTing things around?

Spare the Roger and spoil the Dean. It's an old rule, Beulah.

Well! Well!! Were you finally Doug out of the Pittfall, Virginia?

Congratulations of the week go to Dr. DeLoach: Geography students say he is a popper.

As everyone knows mid-terms have just been completed, so I think this would be a very appropriate time to present the quarter grades in Bushology: Homer and Olive, A; James and Miriam, A-; Smiley and Ruth, C; Ross and Lorene, B; Little Breezy and Horne, Bx; Annell Hendricks and Hendricks Club, Cx; Elmer and Edna, A; J. A. and Wylene, F; Bragg and Brown, B-; Jody and Rachel, Dx; Rabun and Godbee, Bx; Joe and Frances, Bx; Olmstead and Hughes, C; Ingram and Wyatt, B. The remaining students will be graded on Bushology next issue if you desire it. I would advise all those students that made C or below in Bushology to see the professor of Bushology immediately to make preparations to take course over. Better luck next time.

Flash!! President's Ball resultant of many bad colds. Should be more careful about covering those shoulders up girls. Boys, get wise and make them wear their clothes.

The dirt editor signing off with the hope of finding more dirt next issue. Depending on you, girls. Leap year, you know.

BUZZY BAG BITES By BAGLEY

The intra-mural basketball games are being enjoyed by the boys. It is very bad that the girls aren't allowed to go to these games—authoritative hot swingers are swinging again but they haven't scored a home run yet.

Coach Smith is having trouble selecting a manager for his basketball team. This is a very important position and causes him much worry. When Jim DeLoach was demoted to a player's position, Sully Davis signed for the job. Davis must have lacked coordination because now he has backed down in favor of new material. "Bugger Lou" seemed to fit the need of the team in Charleston but Blanks shot when called on. It is rumored that "Bugger Lou" may shoot a Blank.

The Teachers haven't lost a basketball game away from home this season. It is sure that they don't get as good support away from home. Although T. C. should have taken Erskine, both teams were pretty evenly matched. It is believed that Erskine had the best college ball team we have met this season. When Peck Hamil left this game with four fouls, it was a tough break because he is the key to the Teachers defense.

The game over in Charleston saw the Teachers use very few long shots. The passing under the basket was by far the best of the season. Although Pafford didn't shoot many balls through the mesh, he shot a majority of the passes that went for scores. Most of T. C. close range shots are made after this man makes them possible.

It should be remembered that "Bugger Lou" failed to function over in Charleston when guarding, and caused the T. C. squad to suffer with insufficient sleep.

The Enlowe brothers are real good sports. I believe they prefer to be substituted for one another. It keeps that forward position in the family.

Flash! Charleston girls think Jimmy DeLoach too cute to play ball with those big, bad boys. "Ox" Smith wanted to know if his right hand feels cheated after sinking a left hand shot.

By next season, I am afraid Paschal and Williams will be claiming kin. Maybe Paschal needs some t-t-t-tea, eh Williams. Ye Editor has no comment.

Beat Armstrong and the Jews!

FRESHMEN TEAM.

The freshmen basketball team has been winning consistently this season. Its latest triumph was a 31-6 victory over Pembroke last Thursday night. Leland Moore, Jerald Dekle, "Flash" McKee, Charles Elliott, Archie Lee Thomas, James Wingate, Carlton Ahl, and Maurice Boatright compose the team.

N.G.C. TOPPLED BY PROFESSORS

Teachers Have To Scrap Hard
To Defeat North Georgia College.

A fast and hard fighting basketball team from North Georgia College, of Dahlonega, extended the Teachers here in a hard, close game last Thursday night, but again the Profs emerged victorious, this time by a 35-32 score.

The N.G.C. team scrapped and fought the entire forty minutes and at several stages in the game seemed to have a good chance of defeating the "boys of the Blue and White". But the sharp-shooting Professors, paced by Hendry Bagley and Hill Paschal, were not to be denied a victory, so they began to ring goals at strategic moments and be out in front at the closing whistle.

"Ox" Smith showed up well during his stay in the ball game. He scored three valuable points and showed one North Georgia Cadet that the "boys from Chula" aren't to be treated roughly.

George Pafford, T.C. center, played a good game against his former alma mater.

COUNTY TOURNAMENT

The boys' basketball team of the Laboratory School, under the tutelage of Coach Harris Harvill, is going to enter the county tournament which is to be held in Brooklet Feb. 15, 16 and 17.

VISITING TEAMS OUT FOR REVENGE

Armstrong and J. E. A. To Furnish Opposition for Profs
Here This Week.

Two strong basketball teams from Savannah will journey to Statesboro this week to meet the Georgia Teachers aggregation on the local court. Armstrong College and the Jewish Alliance are the teams in question.

The Alliance team will be here Wednesday night, February 14, for a game with the Profs. The Teachers hold an early season victory over the Jews and they will no doubt be seeking sweet revenge.

On Friday night, Feb. 16, the team from Armstrong College will be the foes of the Professors. T.C. also holds an early season win over Armstrong, so the element of revenge will again enter in. There will be good preliminaries arranged for each game. Capacity crowds are expected to see these tilts.

Coach Smith is attempting to schedule three "away-from-home" games for the week of February 19. Erskine, Newberry and Presbyterian College are the teams that Smith is attempting to arrange games with.

TEACHERS DEFEAT CHARLESTON TEAM

Bagley Leads Teachers' Scoring
With 17 Points to His Credit.

The Teachers after getting off to a slow start, began to click and turned back the College of Charleston in that city by a score of 49-30 score. The game was marked by the ability of the Profs to get "close-in" shots.

The opening period saw Charleston take a 4-0 lead, but soon afterwards T.C. began to hit the basket and at the half the Profs were in the lead 21-15.

The second half started off fast, with the Teachers scoring one-half minute after play began. Charleston came back fighting and it was not until the middle of the last half that the game was "in the bag" for the Profs. Coach Smith substituted frequently in the last of the game and every member of the traveling squad saw action.

Bagley led the Teachers in scoring with 17 points, while Pafford and Hamil led the passing attack. Enlowe collected a total of 15 points, closely followed by Hamil with 10.

The surprise of the game came when Smith "dropped in" a beautiful left-hand shot from the corner of the court. The final whistle found DeLoach, Reeves, Williams, Smith, and Blanks holding their own.

Student and Faculty Members See "Gone With The Wind"

Many Teachers College students and faculty members have been journeying to Savannah quite often during the past two weeks. Yes, they have been "Going With the Wind" or at least they went to see "Gone With The Wind," which is "holding forth" in Savannah at present.

Reports from those who have seen the picture are quite favorable. "Aunt" Sophie said she was so highly entertained that the four hours which it takes to see the show seemed about like four minutes. (I wish some college classes I know of were that enjoyable.)

W. A. A. NEWS

Individual sports night for the girls is held in the gym every Monday night from 7 until 8 o'clock. The following sports are offered: Badminton, shuffle board, horse shoes, and table tennis. Any girl who attends a majority of these practices and participates in the tournament will be awarded a W.A.A. sports season.

A large number of girls have been attending these practices, and all others are urged to attend.

ing preachers. This group has been ardently at work for the past two weeks endeavoring to get together some material for that purpose.

The project which the committee has selected is one which deals with a comparative study of one hundred rural and one hundred urban families. The under-churched persons will be especially emphasized. The committee is to present the project so that it will give as representative picture of the religious problems in this state as possible.

Open House To Be Sponsored By The T.C. Chemistry Class

An event that is being looked forward to with great interest is the Open House to be held during the middle of March. Much work is being done on this project by both Mr. Hanner and the chemistry classes, who are sponsoring the occasion.

Many different phases of the work of the chemical engineers will be brought out. Among the exhibits to be shown are synthetic plastics, machines and the newer synthetic textiles. Articles in the different stages of manufacture will be shown. Among these will be optical glass in its various stages. Another exhibit will show how chemistry is involved in the preparation of fruit for shipment.

DRAMATIC CLUB SELECT ITS FULL LIST CHAIRMEN

Committee chairmen were chosen for "Death Takes a Holiday", the Winter quarter production of the Dramatic Club, at the regular meeting Monday night, February 5.

Those selected were: Costumes, Emelyn Rainey; flowers, Sybil Strickland; lights, Nicholas Dunbar; properties, Maxann Foy; publicity, Essie Langford; stage, Elmer Groover; tickets, Rose Lockhart.

T.C. Basketball Team Upset By Erskine

The Erskine College basketball team scored an upset victory over the Teachers last week. Erskine won the encounter by a margin of three points, 28-25.

The T. C. Profs apparently had an "off-night" and Erskine capitalized on this fact. The Profs were ahead at the half but failed to hold this lead.

A return game is hoped to be arranged between these two teams.

WILLIAMS SPEAKS AT JOINT MEET

"The Value of Prayer," Discussed by Rev. Williams at Joint Y.M. and Y.W.C.A. Meet.

Rev. N. H. Williams, pastor of the Methodist church of Statesboro, gave an inspiring talk on "The Value of Prayer," at the joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. held in the college auditorium last Wednesday evening.

The meeting was opened by the congregation singing, "Lead On, O King Eternal," led by Frances Hughes. D. R. Barber led in responsive reading from the Scriptures, followed by the Lord's prayer.

This was the first joint meeting of the year for these two religious organizations. About three hundred students were present for the program.

Science Students Visit Savannah Industrial Plants

Fifty students of the Georgia Teachers College made a tour of the industrial plants of Savannah on Friday, February 9, for the purpose of seeing the different chemical processes in action. This tour is an annual event for the chemistry classes and is under the direction of Mr. W. S. Hanner.

Among those places visited were The Southern Cotton Oil Company, the Herty Paper and Pulp Laboratories, the Union Paper and Bag Company, and the Dixie Crystal Sugar Refinery.

Young People's Library Exhibits

During the past week a transportation exhibit was displayed in the Young People's Library Department. This display was arranged by the students of the fifth and sixth grades of the elementary laboratory school and the fifth grade at Ogeechee.

Miss McElveen, librarian, states that a series of displays are being planned. Georgia authors, Uncle Remus puppets, and products of Georgia are being used in an attractive arrangement.

Other exhibits will be based on Valentine, Lincoln, and Washington themes.

This division of the library, also has a splendid collection of 500 mounted pictures which will serve to meet various needs. All college students are invited to visit this department of the library.

Glee Club To Give Winter Concert

The Georgia Teachers Glee Club, directed by Mr. Ronald J. Neil, gave a splendid performance at Lyons Sunday, February 11.

The schedule of the Glee Club includes appearances at Soperton Sunday, Feb. 18, and at Reidsville February 25. The final winter concert of the club will be presented in the college auditorium March 10.

EPICUREAN

The annual winter formal of the Epicurean Sorority was given Saturday, February 10th, at the Statesboro Woman's Club. The festivities began at three-thirty in the afternoon with a tea dance for the members and their dates. The formal was at eight-thirty.

Over the door of the Woman's Club was a large star, signifying the Eppie theme song "Stardust". The decorations on the inside carried out a Valentine motif, and over the fireplace was the Epicurean shield. In front of the fireplace was a large red and white valentine. On the left, there was an enormous red heart. Through this heart marched the Epicureans and their dates in a lead out, led by the club sponsor, Miss Sue Hammack. At the opposite end fifteen hearts were arranged in the shape of a large heart. The heart had been pierced by a large arrow and in the center were two tiny cupids. Millions of hearts were scattered about the room, hanging from the ceiling, on the walls and on the orchestra stands.

Members and their dates were: Ann Breen, B. H. Ramsey; Betty Smith, Albert Braswell; "Meg" Gunter, Cope Ozier; "Froggie" Breen, Abie Green; Margaret Ann Johnston, J. ODE TO A PIPE

By FRANCIS GROOVER and
ED ALLEN

Sing of many things, oh Muse,
Of kings and cabbages and shoes.
But sing in main a bit of tripe
About that instrument, the pipe.
Exalted joy to men you bring,
You wonderful, peaceful, and fragrant thing,
Men breathe and love your sweet aroma.
(Muse, you failed. That's a misnomer.)

When men come home from work and strife,
Are they thinking of the wife?
No! They think of a pipe and a chair and a book
And give no thought to the little cook.
But enough of all these praises,
Let us see some bitter phases,
Of the pipe.

When that aroma we inhale
Our mind is clouded by a veil,
Our steps refuse to go where we
Would rather that our steps would be.
And our stomach's of this kind,
It's independent of our mind.
We can't control the things we do
Until our stomach says it's through
With our physical being in this state,
Our mind is poisoned with a burning hate.
We cast our pipe in a wayside ditch.
Go to Hades, you son of a gun.

He had stolen a hurried kiss.
"Don't you know any better than that," she demanded indignantly.
"Sure," he replied, "but they take more time."

TWO BUILDINGS ON CAMPUS ARE MOVED

Two buildings on the T.C. campus have changed their location in the past several weeks.

Dean Z. S. Henderson's home has been moved from its former location, by the Blue Tide store, to the opposite side of the highway. The home now faces the main college campus, and is situated close by the Pecan Cottage.

A new dining hall is to be built soon on the site where Dean Henderson's house was formerly located.

The other building which has been moved is the Brown Cottage. This cottage, in its new environment, is located between the Pecan Cottage and Mr. Pulliam's dwelling and faces the west.
