ROSE LOCKHART IS SELECTED MAY QUEEN BY STUDENTS

MEG GUNTER IS MAID OF HONOR

Classes Also Select Attendants
To Take Part in May Day Activities

Rose Lockhart, senior from Miami, was elected May Queen by a vote of the students in chapel last week.

Miss Lockhart, who was overwhelmingly selected to preside as Queen of the May Day festivities, is one of the most popular students on the campus. She is a member of the Dux Domina Sorority, Society Editor of the George-Anne, as well as a member of many other organizations on the campus. Miss Lockhart was also elected the most beautiful girl on the campus at an election held several weeks ago.

Mary Edna (Meg) Gunter, senior from Louisville, received the second highest number of votes and was thereby automatically selected as Maid of Honor.

MUSIC FESTIVAL IS SCHEDULED

Mu Sigma Music Fraternity
Broadcasts Over Radio Station WTOC in Savannah

A Music Festival will be held at Georgia Teachers College March 25. Miss Catherine Kennedy, chairman of the Georgia Federation of Music Clubs, is sponsoring this event.

Mu Sigma Music Fraternity is to be host to eleven other music clubs of Georgia colleges. An interesting program is being planned for both the morning and afternoon sessions.

Wednesday, March 6, members of the Mu Sigma Music Fraternity were presented in a half hour broadcast over WTOC.

The broadcast, planned by Mr. Ernest Harris, portrayed the love-life of the talented musician and famous composer, Robert Schumann. Members featured on the program were: Elliott Boswell, portraying Robert Schumann; Ouida Wyatt, Clara, Robert's wife; Ted Booker, Professor Wieck, Robert's teacher; Mary Fries, the maid. Instrumental music was provided by Billie Turner, violinist, who played Schumann's "Traumeri," Betty Smith, pianist, played "Sonata" See FESTIVAL, page 3

Y.W.C.A. SPONSORS "RELIGIOUS WEEK"

Preceding the ministerial conference held Monday, March 4, the Y.W.C.A. sponsored a religious emphasis week. Beginning Wednesday night, February 28, each dormitory held worship services; Thursday night services were conducted in each wing of all the dormitories. A combined vesper service was held Friday night on the steps of East Hall, while Saturday was devoted to individual worship. On Sunday all the girls were asked to attend Sunday school, church, and vespers. The joint morning-watch service Monday morning culminated the program of religious emphasis.

Wednesday night, February 28, the Y.W.C.A. met in Lewis Hall. Jewel Vandiver spoke on "What Religion Really Is."

At the meeting Wednesday night, March 6, in the college auditorium, each Y.W.C.A. member had the opportunity to participate in the worship service.

Hugh Hodgson Is To Appear Here

Hugh Hodgson, concert pianist from the University of Georgia, will be presented here March 27, as the next lyceum attraction for the year.

Hodgson is head of the music department at the University of Georgia as well as director of the Georgia Glee Club.

As a concert pianist, Hodgson has a most enviable record. His renown and fame is known throughout the United States because of his expert ability which he displays.

A capacity crowd is expected to hear this famous pianist when he plays here on the twenty-seventh.

"Here's where I cut a good figure," said the college girl as she sat on a broken bottle.—Caveman.

"Big boy, you remind me of a fast clock."

"Explain that, my proud beauty."

"Well, your hands go around my waist so quickly they alarm me."

CHARLES STANFIELD ELECTED PRESIDENT OF Y. M. C. A.

T. C. BAND PLAYS AT MILLEN HIGH

Tuesday night, March 5, the Georgia Teachers College Band presented a concert at Millen High School. This is the second concert the band has given since its recent tour.

Additional numbers to the regular concert program were several songs by the college quartet. The quartet is composed of Edward Carruth, bass; Carlton Carruth, baritone; John Roberts, second tenor, and Frances Trapnell, first tenor. Selections rendered were "Miss Winslow's Soothing Syrup," "Sophomore Philosophy," "Little David," a spiritual, and "I'll Take You Home Again, Kathleen."

The entire program was enthusiastically received by the large audience.

After the concert, the members of the band were entertained with a reception and dance at the Millen community house.

Eight Solo In Aviation Course

By GESMON NEVILLE
"—nor rain, nor hail, nor sleet, nor snow—" nor classes, nor chapel programs, nor women, nor instructors have kept eight of T. C.'s ten aviation students from making their solo flights during the past week.

In spite of being handicapped by weather of all kinds and by a late start the ten boys have squeezed in time on the catch-as-catch-can plan under the instruction of pilot Larry E. Dobbs with whom the boys have been jointly cussing, discussing and talking about the weather and other problems of practical flying.

Merrill Nelson started this epidemic of soloing just a little over a week ago when he amassed the staggering total of eight hours in the air and Mr. Dobbs gave him the O. K. He was closely followed by Kranson Holloway and John King.

After a couple of very doubtful landings Pilot Dobbs gave your cor-

JOHN B. AYERS IS VICE-PRESIDENT

Other Officers are Elected to Serve During the Next Three Quarters

At the general election of the Young Men's Christian Association held in Sanford Hall Wednesday night Charles Stanfield, of Glennville, was elected to head the organization for the coming Spring Quarter and the first two quarters of next year. Stanfield is a popular student on the campus, and is a member of the Junior Class. He is a member of the Bachelor's Club and the Bugger Dagger Club.

John Ben Ayers of Canon was elected to fill the post of vice-president. He is active in student affairs and is at present business manager of the George-Anne. The position of vice-president has special significance in that the vice-president is also in charge of all programs.

Charles Alford, of Fort Valley, was elected secretary and Bob Bidgood, of Dublin, was elected treasurer. Both men are well prepared See YWCA, page 3

ART TEACHERS IN NEW ORLEANS

Industrial Arts Division of This College to be Honored at
G. E. A. Meeting

E. G. Livingston, head of the Industrial Arts department, Miss Lillian Hogarth, art instructor, and Knapp Boddiford, Industrial Arts instructor in the Laboratory school, attended the Southeastern Arts Convention in New Orleans last week.

The Southeastern Arts Convention held March 7, 8, and 9 in New Orleans, was attended by three members of the college faculty, each of whom had a part on the three-day program.

Mr. Livingston presided at the Industrial Arts section meeting on Thursday afternoon. Miss Hogarth and Mr. Boddiford were members of a very important panel.

The Industrial Arts division is to be honored at the Georgia Education Association to be held in Macon next Friday and Saturday. Harold Sack, president of the G. E. A., wrote Mr. Hostetler, Industrial Arts instructor here, that the department was to be honored for the leadership and pioneering work it is doing in the Industrial Arts work in Georgia.

BIBLE VERSE.

And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up.—John, 3:14.

Well, boys and girls, the time has come to take another vacation. Whether you return to the old home town for the holidays, whether you go on one of those famous house parties, or whether you stay here, here's wishing you a pleasant sojourn, and we'll be looking for you back March 21.

OPPORTUNITY FOR YOUTH

One of the biggest problems facing American Youth today is choosing a vocation. It is a problem much more difficult to solve than any in mathematics or physics, because unlike them there are no set formulas by which to work to get the answer. Also there are too many extrinsic and intrinsic forces which enter into it to affect the answer. The success likewise is not determined only in cold figures, such as dollars and cents, but also by such abstract terms as ambition, initiative, perseverance, and last, but not least, opportunity. Under such conditions who is to discover a solution?

This same inability to determine just what to do and to adjust themselves in society has been the motivating force behind attempts of the Youth to organize—and rightfully they should. Such a result is the American Youth Congress. But such developments seem to point to a weakness in American society, even though the organization is a good one. Why? Simply because such a group, organized to help our youth, shows that there is considerable unadjustment. Other such organizations in other countries of the world point to the fact that the problem is a universal one.

Whose responsibility is it to attempt a solution to the problem? It is no one person or agency's job. It takes the co-operation of all. But the main agency, the one closest to the problem, is the school. Each year hundreds of thousands of American Youth are thrust out of our colleges and high schools to seek jobs and make adjustments in our society. The school in the past has been too much an institution with its sole object to do the thrusting. A wonderful opportunity awaits it when it start attempting to adjust the Youth and clear up this major problem of today.

Diggings

This school is in the cleanest condition in its history. No dirt anywhere. Either the dry cleaners are extending their activities, or people are getting down to work and study in earnest.

We knew Cooper took the utmost care of his health, but we never thought he'd go to the length of carrying a nurse with him as far as Myrtle Beach.

Those in the rear of the dining hall get to observe a most entertaining little scene each day. We refer to Hugh and Marie's daily te'e de-tete. Such devotion is touching. Roll those bangs up higher, Marie.

Speaking of the dining hall reminds us that Virginia and B. L. are also rushing mealtime, exchanging visits to each other at the batting of an eyelash.

No use trying, boys; you can't Horne in on Herman.

It's about those shoes again. In spite of the assurance we had from Booker T. that he could fill Jaybird's shoes, we must conclude otherwise. It wasn't that Farmer couldn't go on the house party with him; it was just that she wouldn't.

Triang'e: Pate Warren, Wallace, and the object of their affections.

Maxwell's still singing "Peg o' My Heart," but we detect an occasional flat note.

Layton and Joe finally settled who'd take Ouida Wyatt to the house party. Joe won. Did the coin have two heads, Joe?

After being restricted for three weeks, Willy Waters' true love was reinstated, and all was apparently on the mend. Then, before you could say "Miss Veazy," she's in the restriction dog house again.

They tell us that when Doris Toney went to Millen with the band, she played a strange new instrument called the Stanford.

Jean Peagler has a peculiar influence on boys. At least two joined the navy and went to sea after being around her. Can it be that seeing her turns men's thoughts to sea?

They also tell us that John Olmstead and Chestley Whitley vie with each other to see who'll get to take Mug to the store, play the jook organ, and watch her jump.

The other night Miss Veazey certainly let them know she was on the war path. In the war of wires she always comes out victorious. When a certain boy in Sanford told a girl in West that Miss Veazey was on the war path, Miss Veazey (who was also on the line) let out a whoop. Quote: "I certainly am on the war path, and I intend to stay on it."

Froggy isn't satisfied with the college boys. She gets herself a boy and a V-8 from town. If persistence gets the girl, Froggy's a gone goslin'.

This dirt column emphatically wishes to state that all rumors concerning a romance between Charlie Blanks and Mildred Pittman are absolutely false. We are glad to do our part in stopping this atrocious rumor.

Pat Pagett goes in the little store with Hartley, talks with Nick Dunbar while in there, and comes out with Wells. Isn't that a form of bigamy, boys?

What is that big eddy encircling Annie B? Is it just a big wind that blew out of Cedar-town?

No more dirty work 'til after the spring holidays have sprung. Tha's all.

Bobbles--By Babby

Seems to me that the sporting element of the campus gets on just fine without my telling about it and it so happens I still am in no position to tell annything at all about it, so I won't.

Spring is practically here and of course with Spring there is always April and with April there is the old saying that most wars are declared in April, which add quite an element of expectancy to an already hysterical feeling in the air that usually accompanies Spring. Seems rather surprising that the older people can not take out their lust for living in the Spring in the way that the younger kids have found. Such ways as playing marbles and tops and skating and flying kites. More problems could be solved while watching a kite from some wide field where the grass was deep and green than by supplying arms and armour to some bewildered nation who really are not the heroes that we make of them. At least the kite would not drop any bombs. Neither would we be fooled into going into action to help our neighbor in distress and sending goods and money to a warring nation while we forget that the goods that we send leaves money free to buy ammunition that does just as much damage to a Russian as it would to anyone else.

It seems that principles of a country belong to that country and if the Russians want to die for their principles let them die, but don't help them to die; and if the Finns choose to fight for their principles rather than to submit, then let them, but don't encourage them.

Wars and the warriors are soon forgot. Rupert Brooke, who flung himself upon a windy hill and left a bit of England forever upon a lonely island, is not remembered for his valor but for his knack of putting one word after another in such a way that it expressed the thought of a great many people. His epitaph probably does not even mention a rifle. And so it is that it is the epitaph that lives after the general and the croix de guerre have long ago faded from the mind of the people and have become a legend and a symbol of a mistake made by this capitalistic system for which our forefathers fought and handed down to us.

In talking with some of our former soldiers who call themselves the American Legion they tell me, blithly, that they have served their time and that now it is time for the young boys to go and do their fighting. And so we educate our youngsters and what a slam at the intelligence of the American people. I can see no consistency between our illiteracy rate and the poor equipment of our schools and the making of thousands of eight thousand dollar torpedoes which are supposed to give some sort of protection to our country. I evidently fail to see the real significance of the word "protection."

I don't know why the subject of war came up, but by all means keep it within the bounds of discussion and dieretion.

BUZZY BAG BITES

By BAGLEY

For some reason initiative is lacking for boys to participate in various varsity sports. With all the arguments against the giving of petty rewards for service in varsity sports the fact remains that cutting off these rewards destroys the interest of participants. The best T. C. football team in five years has only marks of bruises to show for three months of labor. Just who will have to take the lead in showing the proper appreciation to the boys in the future is not yet known. Letters have never become fiefs to those receiving them and they are the best advertisement possible for Teachers' colleges.

Here we are at the end of another ball season. Paschal cannot find out what tune was played for the three seniors who sang their swan song against the Mexican Y. M. C. A.

The varsity schedule was completed with the game with Mexico City Y. M. C. A. and this was the seventh straight win for the Teachers. Some of the players deserve mention. Hamil is recognized as the best T. C. guard—Pafford was probably the most valuable team man as all plays centered around him—Ye Editor was high scorer for the season—Paschal showed more development than any other man on the starting lineup—Lawrence Enlowe came through with points and passes when the going was tough—DeLoach, Horne, Smith and Williams were dependable substitutes and only more experience by the starting lineup kept them from being one of these men—Bion Enlowe was the only Freshman to play varsity ball—Reeves and Blanks had the best spirit possible.

We wonder why some of the boys playing intramural ball did not come out for the varsity team. Those Sophs and Juniors could do great things with a basketball their senior year.

Too bad about Wrinkle—this column wishes him a speedy recovery—The sandpaper job on the benches in the gym has been completed. The coaches of intramural teams led by Feaster of the Y. M. C. A. used the sliding auto machine and all surfaces should be smooth. The wrecking crew were tough, eh Ramsey? By the way, Ramsey is deeply indebted to Vandiver who supported his playing with D. S. in the tournament.

We know that softball season is almost here because it is hot enough to do without a few window panes—if broken.

THREE PROFS SING SWAN SONG

Hamil, Bagley, and DeLoach
Wind Up Illustrious Careers

Hershel Hamil, Hendry Bagley, and Jimmy DeLoach ended their college basketball careers with the successful defeat of the Mexico Y.M.C.A. These three boys have seen four years of basketball, and Hamil and Bagley have played four years in varsity games.

Hamil was handicapped his first year with bad eyes, but his second year found him in the starting lineup. This season he developed into one of the best defensive men that Coach Smith has ever had.

Bagley was used as a substitute for his first two years and was placed on the starting lineup his junior year, but was switched to a guard position with Hamil this winter. He developed into one of the team's most dependable point getters.

DeLoach, although very small, has displayed some real basketball skill. He played freshmen ball his first year and since then has been on the varsity. This year he was Coach Smith's first substitute.

Sports Nights Are Declared A Success

Tonight will be the last Individual Sports night for the girls. Lila Nesmith, W.A.A. councillor in charge of the individual sports, reports that the program has been quite successful. The following girls won a sports season in individual sports: Bessie Groover, Winifred Harrel, Mary Lake, Elizabeth McNally, Elizabeth Cato, Grace McElveen, Annette Strickland, Lottie Miller, Janetta Caldwell, Ruthie Lee Groover, Joyce Lichenstein, Mildred Gillespie, Roger McMillan, Annie Tom Sowell, and Kitty Gardner. The badminton champions are Janetta Caldwell and Kitty Gardner.

The girls' novice basketball tournament has ended. It was filled with spills, upsets, and good spirit. The winning team was the 9:15 section. Martha Ware, captain of the team, was high point "man." The players on the team were: Martha Harrison, Myrtice Brannen, Haris Gunby, Myrtle Rawlins, Joyce Lichenstein, Martha Simmons, and Billie Turner.

respondent the go sign with a remark something like this, "Well, I don't seem to be able to do any more with you. See what you can do for yourself." So said correspondent took off, flew around, and returned to bounce to a graceful eighteen point landing.

The others who have soloed named in order are Haygood "Casanova" Morrison, "Spud" Sperry, Asa Barnard, and Wesley Sherman. Clay Waller and "Major" are all set to solo any day now if the weather is right.

TEACHERS DEFEAT MEXICAN Y.M.C.A.

T. C. closed the 1940 basketball schedule by defeating the Mexico Y.M.C.A. from Mexico City 34-23.

The first few minutes of play saw the Mexicans sink two pretty shots to take an early four point lead. At this stage of the game the Teacher team looked as though they were in for a defeat. Coming back strong after this the Teachers held a four point lead at the half.

Hamil played an outstanding game at guard while Bagley and Paschal contributed eighteen of the Profs' points. Smith and Pafford contributed their part to the victory by taking rebounds from the backboard.

The Mexicans were a fast, accurate passing team and never gave up. They were handicapped in the last period by the loss of two of their players who went out of the game with four fouls.

Williams, Lawrence Enlowe, Bion Enlowe, DeLoach, and Blanks substitute men for the Teachers, contributed their part to the victory.

This game marked the end of the season and it ended in a climax for the Profs—winning the last seven games they played.

for these positions and are expected to do good work.

The system by which officers of the Y.M.C.A. are elected is unique in campus affairs. The present cabinet select two slates of officers and these are presented to the general body for election. Nominations from the floor are also accepted. When the new officers are elected they work with the old cabinet in selecting a new cabinet. Officers are elected to take office in the Spring Quarter so that they will be well acquainted with the problems of their offices before the beginning of school in the Fall.

N. Y. A. WINS TOURNAMENT

Iota Pi Nus Are Runners Up In Intramural Tourney.

The strong N. Y. A. team won the intramural basketball championship by defeating the Iota Pi Nus 24-21, in the final game of the tournament.

The N. Y. A. team who won the T. C. intramural championship advanced to the finals of the tournament without losing a single game. Their opponents in the finals, the Pi Nus, were automatically placed in second place as a result of the defeat.

The strong Bugger Dagger team was defeated 18-17 by the Pi Nus in the semi-finals and thereby wound up in third place.

Other teams entered in the tournament were: Y. M. C. A., Delta Sigma, Wrecking Crew, Eatin' Warriors, and Bear Cats.

DELTA LAMBDA DELTA

The Delta Lambda Deltas plan to "go native" again, only this time it's on Roger Holland's farm. The lucky thirteen and their playmates, with a few grown-ups to supervise play, will wind up the winter quarter the way it began—with a supper-picnic on March 9th.

FACULTY DOINGS

PITTMAN SPEAKS

Dr. Marvin S. Pittman was kept busy last week keeping speaking engagements throughout this section of Georgia. His schedule for the week was: Thursday, Homerville; Friday, Midway School in Evans county, and Saturday in Dublin.

Dr. Pittman is to speak Thursday, March 14, in Glenwood and Ailey.

MISS WEAVER

Miss Cleora Weaver, commerce teacher in the Teachers College Laboratory School, is to preside at the commercial section of the Tennessee Education Association to be held in Nashville, March 22.

G. E. A. MEETING

Several of the T. C. faculty members are to attend the Georgia Education Association in Macon next Friday and Saturday. Dr. Pittman and Miss Franseth are to be on the program.

Religious Conference
Is Great Success

The Religious Conference held here last Monday was a great success, with around 200 preachers attending.

Dean C. W. Gilkey's two addresses on the "Spiritual Blackouts" and "Bridges to a New World," were excellent and well received by an audience of college students and faculty members.

The boys from the junior and senior classes who made reports on the survey they made, were highly complimented on their work. These boys were selected because of their exceptionally high scholastic average. They were: Elbert Sanders, Nicholas Dunbar, Homer Blitch, John Ben Ayers, Colbert Purvis, Thomas Cox, Adolph Drury, A. H. Rocker, Charles Stanfield, and D. R. Barber.

Aunt: "The American girl has the most beautiful figure in the world."

Uncle: "Statistics don't show it"

Aunt: "No, but she does."

SIGMA GAMMA

The Sigma Gamma Sorority entertained Saturday night, March 2nd, with a "Gone With The Wind" dance, which was held in the college gym. Moss was used in providing a ceiling and colored lights were placed at intervals to throw a soft glow over the dance floor. The orchestra played from a columned porch, carried out the "Tara" style, and their costumes conveyed the impression of Southern atmosphere. A spring house and a wishing well added a picturesque scene to the garden. Leonard, one of the dining hall cooks, announced the guests as they arrived. Melrose, East Hall maid, served the "mint julip" refreshments.

Intermission was held in West Hall, and walking canes for the men, and small umbrellas for the girls, were given as favors. Sponsors present were Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, Miss Parnell and Mr. Turner. Members and their dates: Mary Katherine Thomas, Jimmy Conoly; Sara Howell, James Jones; Pat Pagett, Herman Hartley; Ann Collins, Earl Byrd; Jackie Cowan, Wayne Culbreth; Roger McMillan, George Pafford; Alice Jo Lane, Joe Lever; Dot Berry, Charles Smith; Dot Fisher, John King; Rachael Crouch, Jody Robertson; Linnie Paul Claxton, Hershell Hamil; Jean Peagler, Robert Moye; Kathleen Groover, Theron Anglin; Joy Bowden, Billy Cox; Alice Harris, Elliott Boswell; Mary Isabelle Farmer, Ted Booker; Azile Hartley, Robert Chisholm; Olive Reppard, Homer Blitch; Lorene Heidt, Ross Rountree; Ruth Kammerer, Joe Stanford; Ruth Murphy, Wilma Wallace; Doris Toney, David Bowman; Cleonelle Powell, Bill Chambliss; Emmie Freeman. Invited guests were: Margie Cobb, Lorraine Brockett, Meg Gunter, Margie Forehand. Chaperons were Dr. and Mrs. Pittman, Miss Edenfield, Miss Veazy, Aunt Sophie, Miss Trussell, Miss Hogarth and Mr. Ward.
