Y.M.C.A. Elects New Officers

Oliver Thomas Is New President; Carlton Stephens Is The Vice-President

The Y.M.C.A. cabinet held its first meeting Tuesday night. The purpose of this meeting was to elect new officers to fill the vacancies of those who for various reasons cannot fill the offices to which they were elected last spring.

Oliver Thomas was elected as president to replace John Dunn, who resigned in order to properly execute his duties as president of the Student Council.

Carlton Stephens was elected as vice-president to replace Jimmy Gunter, who is unable to be with us this quarter.

O'Neal Cave was elected secretary-treasurer to replace Clinton Oliver, who will not be with us this year.

Many members of the cabinet could not be back this year and the new officers were elected to fill those places left vacant. They were as follows: Vespers, chairman, Marcus Bruner; committee, Harry Robertson and Jimmy Varnett; publicity, Jimmy Jones; membership, Harold Waters; evening watch, Palmer Edenfield and Louise Hinley; athletics, Raymond McKennon.

The Y.M.C.A. must also elect a new faculty sponsor and are expecting to do so within the next few days. All new changes in the cabinet go into effect immediately, and the first meeting of the Y.M.C.A. will be held Wednesday evening, October 8, in Sanford lobby with Dean Henderson as the probable speaker. All boys are cordially invited and urged to be present.

The 1941-42 "T" book, issued each year by the Y.M.C.A. and edited by a staff chosen by that organization, has arrived and will be distributed as soon as possible.

This year's "T" book has a silver cover with a blue "T" on it, and is composed of seventy pages of valuable literature for college freshmen and upperclassmen alike. The book contains messages of welcome from the president, dean, former president of the student body, president of the Y.M. and Y.W.C.A., and helpful information to new students away from home for the first time.

Dr. Herbert Weaver was chosen as sponsor of the club. Honorary membership was given to Miss Newton and Mr. Hendricks.

Makes Fortune

Father Receives Praise For Farm Success

The family of Billy Wingate, a student at G.T.C., and Buddy, who was here last year, has been given national prominence in one of the nation's foremost magazines. The October issue of Fortune Magazine carried a six-page feature of the Wingate family and farm program. The Wingate brothers are from Pelham, and have attended school here for several years. Billy is pictured with the family, but it was explained that Buddy was away at the time the pictures were made.

The feature was given the title, "H. L. Wingate, Revolutionary," which conveys some idea of his farm program. (Mr. Wingate, their father, is pictured as one of the first and most successful dirt farmers in Georgia who "Threw a tomato at King Cotton, and tried diversification." He is president of the Georgia Farm Bureau. Their home and pictures of their 600-acre plantation are shown along with the explanation of his modern farm.) Mr. Wingate is the largest tomato grower in the county. He plants forty-five acres and gets an average yield of 250 bushels per acre, which is more than twice the average national yield. His livestock and other crops also yield a nice income yearly. It stated that Wingate, unlike his predecessors, plans to leave the land to posterity in better condition than he found it, and that "Through others like him the South may find its way to agricultural convalescence."

The article stated that Billy is going to study surgery, and that Buddy was interested in law. Buddy has transferred to Mercer this year and is playing with the Mercer Bears' football team.

SMILEY AT CONVENTION

W. W. Smiley, who is vice-president of the Georgia Library Association, will attend the annual meeting of the association in Augusta this week end.

BIBLE VERSE

"Wherefore, seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight and the sin which doth so easily beset us and run with patience the race that is set before us."—Heb. 12:1.

Welcome Freshmen

There is one word that describes the new crew of individuals who have now taken possession of the campus better than any other. That word is not new. It is not different. It has been used for hundreds of years and conveyed its meaning aptly. That word is GREEN.

Now simply because we call a fellow green doesn't mean that he is worthless. On the contrary; lettuce and celery are at their best when green and tender. Grass is prettiest when green. Trees in the spring of the year are at nature's best when putting out tender new shoots.

You, freshmen, are the new shoots on this old tree called Georgia Teachers College. We have some mighty old limbs on this tree and it is you who will make them feel the sensation of new sap coursing and tingling through their every fiber. Other branches, comparatively new, will receive fresh strength through your association.

The campus here at the college is yours (though you may believe it belongs to the upperclassmen). The dormitory is your home; use it as such. The library's front steps lead to an open door of knowledge; use them often and profitably. Make yourself as many friends as possible here and around the campus, among both faculty and students. It is through friendship that real growth and development occurs.

Freshmen, GREEN freshmen, we salute and welcome your coming. Here's hoping that you "stay as GREEN as you are!"

Freshmen Rules

Upperclassmen should be proud of the set of rules that were passed last week and are now in effect. They show a decided step forward from the "barbarism" method of hazing.

Freshmen were born to be initiated. Even in the United States Congress members undergo a special type of initiation. They aren't beaten to within an inch of their lives and their hair isn't cut off (that is in cases where they have hair). They are initiated by not having the special privileges their seniors enjoy. Civic clubs initiate new members by making them do certain ridiculous things. These antics which they are to perform are written down one after the other and penalties are inflicted for disobeying them.

Our Freshmen Rules are not any different from those drawn up by clubs and organizations in substance. They simply state what the "rats" must do and keep objectionable happenings from occurring which upperclassmen, as well as freshmen, regret once they are over.

We still have Rat Court, janitors, messenger boys and cupids. We have the flag-rush, freshmen dates (still going on) and bonfires. We have all that and more important—it's all written down, freshmen!

The complete staff of the George-Anne for 1941-42 is not carried in this issue. Positions on the staff are open to any student from freshman to senior. Contribute to the paper, offer suggestions, get yourself a place on the staff. The complete staff will be made up of those who show the most interest and contribute most to the paper.

The Teachers play their first home football game here October 24th with Erskine. We urge campus leaders to encourage all students to begin to build spirit for that game. Get some good cheer leaders elected and get some pep meetings started.

Read the advertisements in your paper. Were it not for these business houses we could not publish the George-Anne. When you shop in Statesboro, buy from those who advertise in the George-Anne.

SLIPS AND NIPS

By "CHOLLY"

Hello, folks! Another class of freshmen have come; a new year begins, and so another dirt column is born. It thrives upon the mistakes of those who are new at life's game here. Its purpose is not to slander, but to inform and call to your attention those things worth knowing. Remember—be careful—I'm watching you! . . . It's rumored that there's a mad scramble among certain girls to see who sits on the throne left vacant by Marie Pearson . . . Reginald Thompson had a date (the girl asked him)! . . . Cure for rebellion among freshmen girls: Bed slats properly administered . . . Watch Joe Farmer and Marie Cook. (He likes yellow cars)! . . . Hats off to "Daddy" Gates! What lovely children he has! . . . Ever see a turban off a lady's head? Deceiving things, aren't they? . . . Tip to the boys: There's a freshman girl in Lewis who does a lovely hula.

"The sound of a kiss is not as loud as that of a cannon, but its echo lasts a great deal longer." . . . Advice to freshmen girls: "All that glitters is not gold." . . . The McKinnon-Mann duo is of special interest to friends. We can remember when she liked "little breezes." . . . Dating a West Hall girl would have netted Pennington a pot of $150. Opportunity knocks but once—she had a date. . . At last Miss Philpot has scored! Everette must have been an easy target. . . What happened to the Jackie Smith and Paschal episode of former months? . . . Somebody come to Mary Frances Groover's rescue—give her the "Lowe" down on love . . . Chambliss is caught between two fires, Myra and the girl back home (both lovely) . . . Patriotic schools should dispense with Patriotic schools should dispense with Defense" . . . No, the most nervous thing in the world is not a freshman.

And so, with these few notes of interest we must leave you. We urge your co-operation in helping us give you choice dirt aplenty. When you hear a bit of choice dirt just drop a hint around and I'm sure I'll hear it. Be naughty, my fellow students, and until next issue, SO LONG, FOLKS!

BOOK REVIEW

THE HOUSE OF LEE

(By Gertrude Atherton)

Reviewed by Jeanette Walker

"The House of Lee" is the story which has its setting in the city of San Francisco. It tells how a mother, her daughter, and grandmother find themselves forced to readjust their lives in the face of sudden financial loss and social prestige.

The House of Lee, a wealthy and aristocratic California home, when the story opens is inhabited by three women: Mrs. Edington, her daughter, Mrs. Lee, and Mrs. Lee's daughter, Lucy. Mrs. Edington, a woman of sixty, is a fine bridge player which makes her outstanding socially. The granddaughter, Lucy, a Junior Leaguer, hates aristocratic traditions which have been forced upon her and before she marries wishes a career to prove her independence.

The story of how these three generations of gentlewomen find places for themselves without sacrificing their social graces makes Gertrude Atherton's career as a writer remarkable indeed.

Mrs. Atherton was born in San Francisco, the setting of the novel, where she still lives. She has received three decorations from the French government for active war relief achieved from 1916-1918. Among some of her enduring works are, "The Immortal Marriage," "The Conqueror," and her "Autobiography Adventures of a Novelist." Many of her novels present a complete social history of the city of San Francisco and of the Golden West.

To The New Faculty Members:

This paper extends to the faculty members, serving here for the first time, a hearty welcome. We wish for you a pleasant and profitable year.

Scriptural Searchlights

By OLIVER THOMAS

"I press toward the mark."—Phil. 3:14.

The world is full of folks who are drifting aimlessly through life with no goal in view; nothing for which to strive; no purpose in life. They are merely living because they have been put here, and have to do something for a living. Countless thousands are numbered among those whose ship is drifting carelessly, aimlessly down the sea of life with no port in sight, and anchored shall never be. It is a tragic condition for one to have no purpose in life and no goal to work toward, to be blown and tossed by every wind and storm of public opinion, and become the victim of another's cunningness. The goal of some college students will be the most possible pleasure without failing the grade. Others will purpose to be popular at the expense of a lowered moral standard. Are these worthwhile? Do they really satisfy?

If we shall set a goal, let it be something that is worthy of our best endeavor. The most valuable possession in all the world is a Christian character. Everyone respects this. God is pleased; you are happy; and all about you are better through your influence.

Let your purpose this year be the striving for a character like unto Christ that loves and is loved; that trusts and is trusted; that purifies and is pure. May we, each and all, press toward the mark of being strong physically, pure morally, alert intellectually, and Christ-like spiritually.

Prayer: "Whatever would hinder us in giving our best for Thee and humanity, Dear Father, help us to cast it aside. Have Thou Thy way with every heart, till we become like Thee. Amen."

To Our New President:

To President A. M. Gates the George-Anne pledges all-out co-operation. We wish for him a successful, happy administration.

Letters to the Editor

Editor's Note: To continue the democratic publication of this paper and to insure student participation more space than ever is being given to student and reader opinion. Complaints have been plentiful concerning the printing of names at the end of the letter. From now on a new policy will be used. UNLESS PERMISSION IS GRANTED YOUR NAME WILL BE WITHHELD IN ALL ISSUES. Simply sign letter as "Inquisitive," "Worried," etc., and mail them to the editor of the George-Anne. If you wish you may sign your name to the bottom in pencil, which will be erased.

Metter, Georgia,
September 27, 1941.

Editor George-Anne,
Georgia Teachers College,
Collegeboro, Georgia.

Dear Editor:

Last year an attempt was made to publish an alumni paper for the graduates of Georgia Teachers College. One issue of the paper came out last winter. Anxious alumni awaited another, but their wait was in vain. Evidently the project fell through.

Now, I have a suggestion. I must confess that it isn't entirely original with me. In fact Roy Raburn, while assistant bursar at the college last year, was the first one that I have heard mention this plan. It struck me as being just the thing for the alumni, yet being economical. It goes something like this: First, the alumni of T.C. should attempt to make reservations for a page in the George-Anne. This should not be difficult because last year, for example, there were a number of six-page editions of the paper and usually the editor and his staff had considerable trouble in getting up enough copy for that amount of space. Second, there should be a drive among the alumni to build up the circulation of the George-Anne. This might be facilitated by lowering the subscription rate to about fifty cents per year. Third, there should be a representative group of correspondents

—T.C. students who are out in the teaching field all over the state and the adjoining states.

I (as a fresh grad of T.C.) am definitely interested with what is going on at the old alma mater even though I am no longer a campus resident. I am sure that the majority of the rest of the alumni have the same attitude. The above suggestion would not only allow us to keep in contact with what is going on there, but would likewise accomplish the same ends with regard to the alumni paper of last year was trying to achieve. After all, this is but a suggestion, so take it for what you think it is worth.

Yours truly,
ELBERT SANDERS.

The George-Anne is a student publication printed primarily for the interest of students of the campus. If they wish to allow space for such a worthy feature we shall be glad to co-operate, providing interest is sufficient and subscriptions enough to allow it. Let's hear from other alumni.

Dear Editor:

A golden opportunity is found in the Carnegie music set in the Audio-Visual room of the library. This set has a repertoire of 640 records of some of the world's greatest music. Practically every composer of wide repute is represented by one selection. Perhaps the most popular record in the collection last year was George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." The Audio-Visual room is open to the public each afternoon from 4 to 6.

Students are urged to use this collection of records and to attend the concerts and recitals during the year.

Sincerely yours,
MU SIGMA.

We heartily agree. The Audio-Visual room has some of the best records that have been "cut." There are too many old students who have never been inside the room, much less new one.

Our hat's off this fall to a scrappy Georgia Teachers College eleven. With teams like Mercer, Oglethorpe and Erskine left to play, they need the student support. So let's give it to them 100 per cent. Only three games are scheduled to be played here: Erskine, October 24; Oglethorpe, November 7, and South Georgia College, November 20.

The physical ed. department, supervised by Coach "Crook" Smith and Mr. Wright, has an intra-mural program this year that every boy physically able should take some part in. Games will be scheduled this week for touch football with four teams already entered: The Y.M.C.A. (runner-up of last year), the Buggér Daggers, the Delta Sigma fraternity (defending champions), and the Iota Pi Nu fraternity. Pete Parrish and Raymond McKennon will be battling for the "Y", Tiny Henderson will have a strong team in the Buggér Daggers, the Delta Sigs will boost a scrappy team with Tiny Ramsey and G. C. Coleman leading them, the P. Nus will give somebody a fight with "Girly" Layton and Fain Martin as their bulwarks.

With 100 boys on the campus, at least five teams should be organized. Some boy willing to organize a team should see Coach Smith and give him your name.

The football boys think they should have a practice or two under the lights, since most of the games are played at night. Not a bad idea, Coach; you may profit by it.

A baseball team is rumored for T.C. this spring. This department is all for it. . . Why shouldn't the Phy. Ed. Dept. furnish equipment for the tennis class as well as other classes. . . A word to the freshmen: Don't try to escape Rat Court tonight; Sheriff Farmer is a tough man. . . What's the matter with the faculty? They should have a touch-football team. You need the exercise, professors. . . Injuries and hard luck have really blasted the football squad. Braden and Culbert injured and Timms has left school. . . BEAT MERCER!!!

A fighting Teachers' eleven went down in defeat to a hard hitting "Tiger" team by a score of 7-0 on South Georgia's home field Friday night.

The third game of the season found the Blue Tide a more experienced team than it was the first of the year but much lighter, due to the loss of several husky first stringers. "Mike" Herndon's boys seemed to have a strong defensive which showed remarkably well in several of the Teachers' attempts to invade goal territory. Due to the heavy sand of the Douglas stadium both teams seemed slow, despite end runs and passes that netted unquestioned successive first downs for both sides.

The only touchdown of the game (scored by Douglas) was the result of a long pass followed by some razzle-dazzle work. Running offense on the part of the Teachers was greatly improved over other games.

Meets Mercer Bruins

By TINY HENDERSON

Coach B. L. "Crook" Smith and Sidney Wright take Georgia Teachers squad north this year to play the Mercer eleven coached by Bobby Hooks.

The meeting of these two elevens will mean much. For Coach Smith it will be a chance to defeat his Alma Mater, and for Coach Hooks it will be a chance to prove to Mercer fans that they will have a fighting team.

The Teachers' squad this year is composed of mostly young material with only a few of last year's team on hand. Since they lack experience, they will make mistakes, but as the season goes on these will be erased.

The Mercer eleven will go into the game the favorite. In the line and backfield they will outweigh the Blue Tide, but the weight problem might be overcome by the excess speed of men like Cave, Gatewood, Rogers, Pierce, Mobley and others.

This will be Coach Smith's thirteenth year at Teachers College. He was a Four Letter man at Mercer.

Assisting Coach Smith this year is Sidney Wright, who comes to Teachers College from Texas. He played end at East Texas Teachers College. Before coming here he has coached for several years at different high schools in Texas. He made an excellent record while coaching there.

The team is being strapped into the best physical condition by Coach Smith and Wright for the tough schedule that remains.

Teachers Squad Changes Much

Since the first practice was called by Coach Smith on September 1st, the size of the T.C. football squad has changed several times.

At the beginning of the season the prospects were bright, but as the days passed they vanished. First, Henderson, a seasoned tackle, gave up football. Following him O'Quinn, a fine performer in the back field, left the group. Since school started several more have left. They include Jack Timms, varsity end from Sylvania; Ernest Avera, tackle from Wrens, and Leon Williams, from Wrens.

Coach Smith was denied another player this week when the mother of Bill Aldred refused him permission to join the squad.

SPORT LIGHTS

By DOROTHY GARNER

It looks as if the men have waked up to the fact that women are an important part of the sports world, and at last we have been given a column in which we can gain some of that well deserved recognition.

We are going to endeavor to make this a banner year for sports at T.C. The W.A.A. is going to function better than ever before. There are yet a few offices to be filled, but with the new talent in the freshman class these offices will be adequately filled. The intra-mural program will be sponsored again this year by the W.A.A. The trophy was won last year by Lewis Hall and it promises to be a strong contender for the trophy this year, with many of last year's team back. Let's have some real competition this year and everyone should take part.

Here's good news for the girls who were to get T's for their outstanding work in physical education last year: The T's will be presented to you in the near future.

Mr. Coltharp received his A.B. degree from Western Union College, Le Mars, Iowa, and his master's degree from State Teachers College in Pittsburg, Kan. He has had teaching experience in high schools in Kansas and Missouri. For the past few months he has been connected with the Missouri NYA, and previous to that he taught in the high school at Rolla, Mo. Mr. Coltharp is very much interested in industrial arts and sports of all kinds. He is teaching "Beginning Woodwork and General Shop."

Last year the Industrial Arts Club formed a "Flying Squadron" whose purpose it was to do odd jobs around the campus. If the faculty members will place their request in the box of Mr. Livingston, the jobs will be taken care of as soon as possible.

Fashion Firsts

By ROGER McMILLAN

For the last few days clothes have been turned topsy-turvy. Skirts have been worn upside down, dresses have been worn backwards, and young ladies' coiffures have been of various and sundry types. The newest thing in hats is to wear a stocking that completely covers the hair with slits to allow the ears to be shown to best advantage. HELEN KING illustrated this most successfully.

Everything from acorns to macaroni have been seen hanging around feminine necks.

NELLIE BRANNEN chooses a necklace for bracelets.

SARA ALICE BRADLEY wears a cowboy dress with a green wool fringe around the bottom of the skirt.

MISS STANCIL, Mgr.

With The Student Council

By BILLY DeLOACH

The most prominent feature in our work for this year thus far has been the formulation of a procedure for freshman initiation. With the support, advice, and sanction of the student body these rules have been duly incorporated and are printed in this issue of the George-Anne for your information. The co-operation between the students and its representative body on this initial attempt of the year to improve our school is gratifying indeed. We hope that it is only the beginning of a long series of such co-operation for this year and the years to come.

In addition to this initiation procedure work has been done on a series of suggestions concerning our social and academic activities which we hope will help to make these phases of our college life more profitable and enjoyable when they are presented.

Our aims and desire is but to serve you in the betterment of our school and your counsel is not only welcome but is solicited at all times.
