Freshmen Elect Lowe President

Runover Between Jones and Dunn Held at Chapel Today

Billy Lowe, of Thomson, was elected president of the freshman class over two opponents, Barbara Jory and Jack Wynn. Lowe had a total of 58 votes, enough for a majority over a total of 22 for Wynn and 28 for Jory.

The election was held Friday at chapel period.

E. B. Rushing was elected vice-president with 58 votes over Bill Aldred who had 48 votes. Ralph Foster won for secretary with 62 votes over Wallace Winter with 44 votes. Nixon was the only candidate for treasurer and was automatically elected.

A run-over between James Dunn and Marion Jones for Student Council representative was held at chapel period today. In the primary Dunn received 41 votes, Jones 49, and Hamby 14.

RULES OF ELECTION

Rules for the election as composed by the Student Council were as follows:

1. Officers of the freshmen class should consist of a president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer (the last being two separate offices), and a Student Council representative.
2. Election will be by secret ballot.
3. Candidates for election should be doing satisfactory work in all classes.
4. Candidates should turn in names by 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening.

The election was held after Friday's assembly with members of the council present to pass out the ballots and count the votes.

Chapel Periods Are Reduced

Two chapel periods a week is the number decided upon by the Student Council in co-operation with the administration of the college.

The days for chapel will be Monday and Friday and this two-a-week limit will continue for the rest of this quarter as an experiment and tentative plan for continuance of the program for the ensuing two quarters, according to information given by Dean Henderson.

With this setup the regular Wednesday chapel hour will be an off period. It is planned that faculty and students will jointly arrange the chapel programs for both periods each week.

Former Student Receives Wings

As a fitting climax to his seven and one-half months adventure as an aviation cadet in the army air corps, Clyde C. Ozier, of Montezuma, Ga., TC '39, will be presented with the coveted silver wings and gold bars of a lieutenant at his graduation from the Air Corps Advanced Flying School, Brooks Field, Texas, October 31, 1941.

Clyde C. Ozier, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ozier, of Montezuma, Ga., has completed what has been termed a "$25,000 scholarship in the world's finest flying school." The final phase of the air corps training program, accomplished at Brooke Field under the direction of Lt. Col. Stanton T. Smith, gives the flyer a thorough training in the art of formation flying, instrument flying, interception problems, and day and night cross-country, besides an intensive ground school program.

Council Reports On Special Assembly

The investigating committee of the Student Council reports that 64 legislators have voted in favor of a special session of the assembly to rid the University System of politics and keep the system on the accredited list.

Those voting against the session numbered 27, and those on the fence were 18.

"You Can't Take It With You" Is Acclaimed Stage Success

The Masquers scored again!

The Georgia Teachers dramatic club, the Masquers, under the direction of Miss Mamie Jo Jones, turned out a superb, "jam-up" performance on the current popular play from the best seller, "You Can't Take It With You."

The cast, all students, did the job as if they were direct from Broadway, and honors and bouquets go to every participant from curtain puller to the actor taking the leading role.

The cast was well rounded and every one seasoned to his part, which makes it particularly hard to throw roses at any individual, but the scatterbrained wit of Penny, played by Roger McMillan, kept the audience howling with mirth; while the nonchalance of Grandpa, played by Jimmy Gunter, toward the whole situation made him a very lovable character.

The play brought together two very different types of families, outwardly, much to the discomfort of all, especially the lovers of Alice, Mary Thomas Perry, and Tony, Billy DeLoach. Finally, after both families spent a night in jail, Mr. Kirby decides he isn't getting all he wants out of life and becomes a very changed man. The lovers then continue their wedding plans.

In Grandpa's home everyone did exactly what he wanted to do, and one of the most hilarious scenes, showed a mad Russian teaching a meek Essie dancing and lecturing on the Russian policy; Grandpa reading a letter from the government and everyone noisily doing his liking as the Kirbys visit their prospective in-laws.

Full Stocking Be Filled As Drive Starts

Annual Drive Begins To See That Christmas Reaches Everyone

The Full Stocking Fund, sponsored by the students of Teachers College, headed by Miss Eula Beth Jones, is to begin this week and will last until December 16th.

The quota set for the Full Stocking Fund for last year was $50, but has been increased $25, making this year's quota $75. No definite quota has been made for the social clubs or departmental clubs, but contributions are expected which should exceed those of last year. Each dormitory will have a certain quota based on the number of students in the dormitory. The faculty quota has been set at $10, the same as last year's, therefore, they should have no trouble in reaching the quota set for them. A box will be placed in the administration building and also one in the little store for the day students and for extra contributions from anyone else who is willing to contribute to this fund.

Permission has been given by the Student Council for a dance to be held in the gymnasium on Thursday night with the profits being given to the Full Stocking Fund. Only a small admission will be charged so every student is expected to do his part in helping make this dance a success.

Last year was the first time the Full Stocking Fund had been sponsored on the T.C. campus. This fund was used in the training school last year and it has been decided again this year that they will receive it in order that they might form an eye and throat clinic.

A poster with a thermometer on it will be placed in the administration building showing the increase in the Full Stocking Fund. Whole hearted co-operation from every student and faculty member will be necessary in order for Teachers College to reach its quota of $75.

State System Still Upset

As this issue of the George-Anne goes to press there has yet been no definite move that would show any promise of this school staying on the accredited list. The regents have promised something would be done but thus far no action has been taken. Students of the University System are still using every means possible to try and keep their schools on the accredited list.

Students of the various colleges are writing letters to their parents, friends, and representatives pleading with them to do all in their power to get an extra session of the legislature and to rid Georgia forever from the embarrassing and humiliating position that has been placed upon it by some unusually crude and dictatorial methods of the present governor of the state. They want the legislature to free the schools of the state from ever having to go through this chaos again.

The students of the University System are now organized into groups according to counties in which they live. Letters are being written to their representatives asking them if they favor an extra session of the legislature. They are also writing their parents and friends asking them to use their influence upon the representatives. Letters shall also be written to influential people asking them for their support. Letters have already been written to many counties asking for the support of the county papers in the drive to secure an extra session of the legislature.

Hope for the University System seems to lie in the hands of the board of regents or in the calling of a special session of the legislature. To this end the students are working to stay on the accredited list.

Circulation Change Goes Into Effect

Due to the rising costs of printing and distribution which the George-Anne faces this year and because of several new features which the paper has added, it has become necessary to change the circulation policy of this publication.

Beginning with the next issue of the George-Anne all names on the mailing list which are not paid subscribers will be removed.

Faculty members will also be required to pay a fee of one dollar to continue receiving the George-Anne. Since this is the first time faculty members have been asked to pay for the paper the price will be reduced to fifty cents through the next issue.

Subscriptions for the George-Anne will be reduced to fifty cents for all remaining copies through May for the next two weeks. After December 1st the old rate will again take effect.

Georgia Arch Folds Under

Campus Magazine Is Discontinued As First Copy Made Ready For Press

The Georgia Arch, a campus magazine published by the students of the University of Georgia, has discontinued publication for at least the present school year. This was announced by Geary Griffith, editor, in a statement to The Red and Black, the University of Georgia's paper.

The main reason for the suspension of The Arch is the debt due which resulted from the failure to distribute the last three issues of the 1939-40 edition. Also, Griffith cited, that the uncertain conditions of the University, which made it unwise for any appropriation for the magazine to be given, was another reason.

The Georgia Arch was founded in 1936, and since that time has been ranked as one of the best college magazines in the United States. However, the financial side of The Arch has always been below par. Last year University appropriations were the only thing that saved it from folding up. This year when no University appropriations were made the career of The Georgia Arch was forced to come to an end.

INQUIRING REPORTER

By WALLACE WINTER

As an inquiring reporter, I feel there is one subject of universal interest and concern to all of us students here on the campus. Should or should not the Little Store furnish the students hot dogs daily, except Sunday (for five cents, of course)? All of those that fail to make breakfast every morning and who have physical education under Coach Smith during the second period will probably agree wholeheartedly to this suggestion. To gain some first hand information on the reaction to this issue, your reporter has interviewed several students and is presenting their opinions on the situation. They were indiscriminately chosen as follows:

E. T. Youngblood states, "As an inmate of 'The Home of the Brave' (312 Sanford), I can speak for all of us in saying, 'We don't want 'em'. Personally, I don't like them.'"

"Burr-head" Rogers lied, "I don't give a hoot in hades whether they furnish them or not."

O'Neal Cave believes, "Sure, why not?"

Gene Weatherford said, "I want them at least by 10 o'clock every morning, because Mrs. Davis doesn't serve breakfast at that time."

Mary Virginia Groover, quoted, "I like hot dogs and I don't see why we shouldn't be able to buy them at the Little Store?"

BIBLE VERSE

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord all ye lands."—Ps. 100:1.

UN-ACCREDITED

It is not our intention to cause undue alarm, but we feel it necessary to see what the next few months have in store for us. One after the other, persons who have followed the sway of the University System, persons who are the most informed on the subject, have stated that only a formal meeting is required in December to have the word "UN-ACCREDITED" added to our college name. Like Henry's friend in the funny paper we will find an "UN" before the "WELCOME."

It will hurt and hurt hard when this thing happens to us—if it does. We hope that our informants have the wrong idea but we think not. Nothing has been done so far to give us any hope. The accrediting board cannot be blamed. The investigating committee cannot be blamed. We, most of all, cannot be blamed.

Why then, we ask, are we and all the other students of the University System being punished? The truth, unfortunately, is this: A child must suffer for the sins of its parents. Don't worry, however, but that the parents suffer. They will. The parents (and we know well who they are) will suffer much more indirectly than us. But not only the parents will suffer. The entire state of Georgia will bleed before this affair is over.

There is only one way that a justifiable solution could come about in this unfortunate situation. That would be for our governor to openly recant. All people make mistakes and only a few are big enough to correct them. If this isn't done we will all simply have to suffer. Our only hope is that out of it will emerge a bigger and better Georgia.

Character

(Editor's Note—Beginning a new policy the George-Anne, from time to time, will publish interesting editorials appearing in other college newspapers. These editorials are chosen for their sincerity, interest and aptness.)

(From the Erskine Mirror, Nov. 6, 1941)

The genuine test confronting a person exists in what he'll do when he is positive he won't get caught. The proof of strength is evident when we withstand temptations, even if it appears to be a small unimportant one. There are no small evils or temptations to do wrong facing us, and they come inevitably every day of our lives, often proving very trying to those essaying to lead the most successful lives possible. The inevitable outcome of dishonesty is stark failure. Success may seem evident and possible, but it is temporary and fleeting. The people who attain the heights of success are those who remain on the level unflinchingly.

Every person molds his own character and that cannot be done to suit everybody. In the effort to trim our lives to suit those about us the outcome will be suffering and an atrophy of our own characters. It is desirable to respect others, and endeavor to pattern our lives after those we admire, but it doesn't pay to carry the idea too far. The carbon copy does not occupy the first place of consequence—it's the original letter.

It is wrong to judge a person's character by his reputation, however, because there is a marked contrast between the two. This truth still applies—that a person's reputation is what others think about him, and his character is what he really is.

We are all members, one of another, and the highest standard of personal honor should be predominating and emphatically infused in all our activities.

SLIPS AND NIPS

By "CHOLLY"

Hello, folks! Here we are again with dirt to burn your ears. If we have stepped on your toes we are sorry. You see toes are our favorite stepping place—even at dances.

Flash! Paschal-Coble—sounds like a foreign war combination, but it isn't. . . . Mary Frances Brown, with her hazel eyes turns a "certain" junior's heart "topsy turvy" . . . Juanita Griffin has something that the average girl doesn't have, eh George?

Jimmy Jones' heart jumps fifty beats when a certain freshman girl comes around Jesse Hamby seems to find solace in remembering his freshman date with Annie Maud Graham Carter-Jory, sounds musical don't you think? . . . We are forced to ask Dot Remington what became of Wallace Herron after a certain Sunday night? . . . It came to me through underground sources that Annie Lois was very anxious to take that trip home last week end, and maybe next week, too . . . Joyce Smith has now taken Ben Tillman under her protection . . . The favorite spot for congregating is now at the side of the Little Store—I mean front porch, ladies.

And so ends another episode of dirt life on our campus. I'm afraid that unless you can get busy being a little meaner our dirt is going to the dogs. Come on folks, can't you even make dirt? Well, so long, folks.

STAFF NOTICE

This week the George-Anne will move into its new office in the basement of the administration building. The room is large enough to fill all the needs of an efficient college newspaper staff and will be equipped with several tables and chairs for necessary work.

At the next staff meeting members interested will be given a chance at Headline writing and make-up, two of the most interesting fields of newspaper work.

Poetry

Fidelis

By HEROD RATCLIFF

A light shone through the window
Onto the frozen ground;
A carriage came rumbling
Up to the entrance bound.

Out of the carriage stepped a man,
His long black cape flowing in the wind;
From his head he removed his hat;
His figure was gaunt and tall and thin.

Within the house a light was shining,
The light that shown on the falling snow;
It shone through the door as the stranger entered,
Nodding the driver to go.

A man with horn-rimmed glasses
Sat stonily near the fire;
Over his head the light was shining
With greed of a gained desire.

The man spoke but a single word,
All that he needed tell;
The man with the horn-rimmed
glasses
Walked to the fire—and fell.

BOOK REVIEW

Who Walk Alone

(By Perry Burgess)

Reviewed by Miss Eleanor Ray

"Who Walk Alone" is written in the first person and based on facts. The story is of an American ex-soldier who finds nine years after his return from the Philippines that he has leprosy. By a fake suicide he cuts friends and goes to the leper colony in the Philippines. The experiences and struggles of Ned as he remakes his life in the colony provides interesting reading. "Who Walk Alone" is a story of heroic courage under peculiarly tropic conditions. It has real interest to the general reader and will help to dispel some of the mystery and horror associated with leprosy. This book was chosen by the Philippine Association as the "most unusual find" among the books of 1940.

To Sing With The Angels

(By Maurice Hindus)

Reviewed by Miss Eleanor Ray

The scene of "To Sing With The Angels" is the small Czechoslovakian village of Liptorotse. To this happy thriving little community came the invading Nazis and Liptorotse suffers the fate of all Czech towns. The story is of the resulting tragedies in the lives of its inhabitants as the village is slowly "strangled to its kees."

The characters are sharply drawn and the readers seems to breathe the air of the Czech hills with them.

Although Mr. Hindus is primarily a journalist, he has written this novel which is both timely and intensely interesting. Mr. Hindus with all the case of Czech-Slovakia with all the eloquence he can muster and with true knowledge of Czech customs and temperament.

Scriptural Searchlights

By OLIVER THOMAS

"Bless the Lord, oh my soul, and forget not all His benefits."—Ps. 103:2.

Sometime ago I read this statement which has made an indelible impression on me, "I complained about having no shoes until I met a man that had no feet." This is human nature personified. The most of us, instead of being grateful for what we do enjoy, complain because we do not have more.

I think we should put ourselves to test more often, and check up as to whether or not we are growing spiritually. For our own amazement, let us take a sheet of paper and enumerate the good things that have come into our lives. This list will utterly confound most of us. On another sheet, let us list the good things that we have done for God and for others. This will probably surprise us the other way. Make a comparison, and then ask yourself, "Am I really grateful to God for this goodness to me?"

Perhaps I can suggest certain ways of proving one's gratitude to God which may be helpful to you. We may show our gratitude for Jesus Christ, God's greatest gift to man, by surrendering our lives to Him, by making His will ours, and by using His life as our model. We thank Him for our lives by giving them back to Him in unselfish service; for our material gifts by using them for the upbuilding of His kingdom; for our talents by turning them into acts of love and mercy; for our opportunities by using them to promote the welfare of others rather than self.

A selfish life is not a useful life, nor is it a happy one. Gratitude to God reaches its zenith when we utterly forget ourselves in rendering service to others.

Prayer—"Our loving Father, we would express our appreciation to Thee this day, not in word, but in a consecrated life that seeks to make life abundant for all, for Jesus' sake. Amen."

EXCHANGES

UNIMPRESSED

An M.G.C. student was on his first visit to Niagra Falls, and a guide was trying to impress him with their magnitude.

Guide—Grand.
The visitor was silent.
Guide—Millions of gallons in a minute!

J. Doughit—How many in a day?
Guide—Oh, billions and billions.
J. Doughit (looking at the falls carefully, and then in a very calm voice)—Runs all night, too, I suppose?

HOME

"You look sweet enough to eat,"
He whispered soft and low.
"I am," she said quite hungrily,
"Where do you want to go?"

DISGUSTED

"What kind of dog is that, my boy?" asked the elderly gentleman.
"Police dog," answered the boy.
"He doesn't have the appearance of a police dog," protested the gentleman.

"Nope," replied the boy proudly, "he is in the secret service."

HELP! HELP!

Three Italian bombers encountered a British aircraft and were shot down into the sea.

The crew numbering twelve in all, were picked up by a British battleship and put to bed in the spare top bunks.

Next morning when the captain inspected them, he found they were bruised black and blue.

"Hey, what's happened to these prisoners?" he inquired.

"Well, sir," explained a sailor, "one of them kept saying 'Spitfire, Spitfire,' in his sleep. And every time he said 'Spitfire' the other eleven bailed out."

FRESHMAN NIGHTMARE

Now I lay me down to bed,
Algebra problems in my head.
In my sleep I toss and turn;
Science next is my concern;
Latin translations jam my brain,
Oh, I wonder if I'm sane.
The sound of hammers, the buzz of saws,
Get mixed up with my civic laws;
Shakespeare, Chaucer, Byron, Keats,
Lines, pages, sheets and sheets.
Then I ponder ancient lore,
Till history I can hear no more,
Now if I should die before I wage
I'll be relieved of this headache.

"FOOLED AGAIN"

The officer of the day stopped a mess orderly as he was carrying a soup kettle out of the kitchen.
"Here, you," he snapped, "give me a taste of that!"
Obediently he was handed a ladle, and he tasted it.
"Great Scott!" Do you call that stuff soup?" he roared.
"No, sir," responded the orderly meekly. "That's dish water."

Sailors in Uncle Sam's navy have their own language for certain things. Candy bars, popcorn balls, nuts and similar sweets are called "porgy bait." Ice cream, soda water, ginger ale and soda pops are termed, "ged-dunk."

Some people are too stingy to be friends. They won't even give you a little lie about how well you're looking.

.. From the Sidelines ..

By EDWIN GROOVER

As in the columns that I have written for the George-Anne prior to this one, there is always something the matter, and to keep it the same I'll ask—"What is the matter with our football team?" Many opinions have been given; the most logical probably being the fact that T.C. football team plays teams out of their class too often. For better football spirit among the players, students and fans a suggestion is that a schedule will be made in the future with teams that T.C. will have an even chance against.

A few touch football rules secured from the University of Florida, are:

1. There shall be no blocking or tackling—penalty of 15 yards, plus loss of down.
2. Each member of team is eligible to receive passes.
3. Team shall consist of seven players.
4. A legal touch is anywhere above the knees.
5. In case of forward lateral the ball is dead at point of lateral.
6. The game shall consist of two halves of 12 minute each.
7. No spiked or cleated shoes of any kind will be allowed.

Using a few of these rules in our intramural touch football program will eliminate many injuries and will probably make it so that a larger group of boys will participate in the intramural program. In some games this season it has looked more like a game of tackle rather than touch. So to the heads of the intramural program—"Why not revise the rules?"

It looks as if the Delta Sigs will retain their touch football championship for another year after playing undefeated, untied and unscored-on football to date.

Among the outstanding touch footballers that we've seen in action this fall are Zeke Daughtry, Bennie Staley and "Shorty" Brannen, of the Bugger Daggers; Athley Jordan, Fain Martin and "Girly" Layton, of the Pi Nus; Tiny Ramsey, G. C. Coleman, James Parker and Billy Lowe, of the Delta Sigs; Carlton Stevens and Z. L. Strange, of the "Y".

"T" Club Is Formed

O'Neal Cave is President;
Henderson, Vice-President

The lettermen of Georgia Teachers College have recently reorganized the "T" Club, which is composed of boys who have been awarded letters in football, basketball, baseball, boxing and track.

The constitution of the club has not been completed, but it will contain the following provisions: No letter other than the Teacher's "T" will be worn on the campus. Its purpose is to promote more spirit among the faculty and students and to develop an intra-mural program sponsored by the physical education department.

The officers of the club are: O'Neal Cave, president; Tiny Henderson, vice-president; Ramon McKinnon, secretary, and John Dunn, treasurer. Coaches Smith and Wright were elected faculty sponsors.

The charter members of the club are: Anglin, Culbreth, Cave, Dunn, Henderson, Mize, Scarborough, Ramsey, McKinnon, Bandy, Paschal, Herrington and Gatewood.

Teachers and Tigers Battle At Final Home Game Friday

The Blue Tide of Georgia Teachers College will make their final appearance before the local fans on Friday at 3:00 p. m. They will battle the Tigers of South Georgia College of Douglas.

If a post-season game is had with a Cuban team this will be the end of the college football career of John Dunn, Theron Anglin and O'Neal Cave. These boys have been outstanding players for T.C. since they have been here.

This will be second time that the Teachers and Tigers have met this season. Early in the season Douglas defeated T.C. by a score of 7 to 0. The score proves it was a hard fought game. So the Teachers will be out to even the series.

Playing for the South Georgia Tigers will be a former T.C. player. Carey Cox was guard on the Blue Tide team a year ago. Weighing 185 pounds he has developed into an outstanding player.

During the past two weeks the boys are really acting like football players. Since the weather has turned cold the old zips have appeared on the field, making the practice sessions very spirited.

JACK TIMMS

Jack Timms, freshman from Sylva, will prove to be a star at T.C. before his graduation. He has played several positions on the team but not at tackle. His size enables him to tear through and throw the opponents for losses. He is a member of the Delta Sigma.

Practice

Basketball practice began Wednesday with fifteen boys out for the team.

Practice has not begun officially but several boys took it on their own to begin practice under the guidance of "Coach" Tiny Ramsey, stellar T.C. player of last season.

Pre-season games have been arranged with the Savannah Air Base, Parris Island and high schools in the Statesboro vicinity.

Candidates for the team are Tiny Ramsey, Raymond McKinnon, Zeke Daughtry, Jack Wynn, Billy Lowe, Edwin Groover, Bennie Staley, Ed Mixon, Marion Jones, Bill Aldred, Jimmy Dunn, Lindsey Pennington, Cecil Freeman and others.

Several football players will join the squad after the football season is over and the outlook is for another winning team at T.C.

O'NEAL CAVE

O'Neal Cave, senior, from Augusta, Ga., is playing his second year on the varsity. He is a fine runner, deathly tackler, and a fair punter. SPORT LIGHTS

By DOROTHY GARNER

Down on the softball field we are having some good practices. Already there are several girls who are good players and as the tournament goes on they promise to become even better. East Hall still doesn't seem to have spirit enough to get up a team. However, East does have a few good players. Outstanding are "Red" Fulcher and Pruella Cromartie. West Hall has the dominant team on the field, but Lewis, Hall will come out with a team that will be hard to defeat. The town girls should also enter into this intramural program as they did last year. The more teams we have, the more spirit we will have.

There seems to be a great deal of interest in archery these days. If you would like to shoot but don't know how, go down and Miss Guill and Mr. Pigg will be glad to help you.

If you would like to take part in some kind of sport other than the outdoor sports, go down to the gym and play table tennis, shuffleboard, volleyball and badminton.

.. Social News ..

MISS EULA BETH JONES

Society Editor

(Editor's Note — This space has been devoted to news concerning social clubs on the campus. These clubs are: Lambda Theta Chi, Dux Domina, Epicurean, Delta Lambda Delta, Sigma Gamma, Delta Sigma, Iota Pi Nu, Bugger Dagger, Bachelors, X Club. This space will continue to be devoted to news of these clubs if the clubs themselves show enough interest to warrant space in the paper. From now on we will expect more than one or two inches of news from each club, and will expect the news to be in on time. If not, this column will be discontinued.)

X CLUB

The X Club met in the lobby of West Hall on November 3. Ruth Kammerer, the president, presided over the meeting.

The members discussed getting a pin for the club. Pledges were also discussed. Those receiving bids were Frances Edenfield, Mary Ethyl Banks, Marietta Cook, Robbie Malard and Joyce Hendrix.

The club is very fortunate in having Miss Carithers and Mr. Howell as their sponsors.

Plans are being made to have a picnic soon.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Ruth Kammerer, Myra Newton, Jane and June Irwin.

MU SIGMA

Mu Sigma met at the home of Mrs. Barnes November 12. New pledges were welcomed. Plans for formal and informal initiations were discussed. A delightful program was given by Miss Ruth Cone, R. J. Neil and John L. Bollinger. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

DELTA SIGMA

A picnic was planned last Wednesday night at the regular meeting to be held next Saturday at Jones pond.

The scholastic standing of members and pledges according to unsatisfactory reports is exceptionally good. Dr. Weaver, our faculty sponsor, gave a very helpful and encouraging talk on the fraternity average as a whole.

The touch football team has come through with flying colors—undefeated, untied and unscored-on. In the last Pi Nu game all of the D.S. players appeared in their new bright gold jerseys and they made quite a handsome team as they marched to a 6 to 0 victory for their seventh straight win. The Delta lads have turned up a total of 109 points to their opponents' 0 so far. Captain Coleman's prediction for a championship team seems to be definite now.

B.S.U. Has Delegates At Athens Meeting

Five students attended the state B.S.U. convention in Athens, which met October 31 through November 2. These students reported a great deal of valuable information received from the meeting. At the B.S.U. Council Circle, as a result of the convention, the group discussed how to go better work on the campus.

All students, especially Baptists, are urged to become a part of the B.S.U. by attending Y.W.A. or Baptist Sunday school or church. Students, it was stressed at the meeting, need to develop a spiritual life.

The London Daily Mail recently estimated the cost of a single night raid of 300 bombers over the Ruhr as follows: Gasoline and oil, $13,280; losses, allowing three planes shot down, $240,000; bombs, $720,000; maintenance on planes, $210,000. The total, $1,183,280.

SIGMA GAMMA

The Sigma Gamma sorority met in Lewis Hall Wednesday night. Plans for the joint Sigma Gamma-L.T.C. dance were made and committees appointed. Co-hostesses were Daisy Mae Leaphart and Tina Gresham.

The Sigma Gamma rush parties were a tea at Lewis Hall, a treasure hunt and a breakfast at the Rushing Hotel.

IOTA PI NU

The Iota Pi Nus have had two important meetings in the last two weeks. A very swell time was given us by our student sponsor, Mary T. Perry. All the boys went over to her home town, Double Head, Ga., for a bar-b-q—naturally a good time was had by all.

At our last meeting Theron Anglin, of Wadley, Ga., was formally initiated into the fraternity. Plans were presented and discussed for our coming social event.

Feature

Sherwood Forest Dominates T.C.

By Jimmy Jones

The campus is a virtual Sherwood Forest these days, haunted with Robin Hoods, Friar Tucks, William Tells and many of the lesser known archers, all armed with bows and multi-colored sheaths filled with arrows and all having one definite purpose in mind. That purpose could be stalking big game, buffalo, rabbits or playing Indian—but it's not either of these. All the concentration is on one little spot in the center of a rainbow of colors and they're trying (most of 'em failing) to send a shaft whistling and plunging through the "Bull's Eye."

It seems that both sexes have taken a liking for the sport archery, and several extra classes are being offered every week so that everyone interested can get a chance to turn back to the days of Sherwood.

Archery seems to be a sport that can be practiced in the the gym as well as out of doors, so the shaft shooters won't have to stop their sport on account of rain or snow or any other elemental disturbance.

Maybe the archery enthusiasts should stage a "hunt" in some of the surrounding forests and crown their Robin Hood as the one who "brings home the bacon."

We don't think they've gotten to the William Tell stage yet, but we'd bet that some masculine Bill Tell has in mind to try shooting some of the "fruit" off some of these female hats.

Fellowship Meet Is This Wednesday

The Y.M.C.A. Fellowship supper for fall quarter has been scheduled for Wednesday night, November 19, at Lake Wells here on the campus, according to Oliver Thomas, president of the organization.

The fellowship supper has been a regular feature of the Y.M.C.A. and is given during the fall and spring quarters. The theme of the informal supper is "good fellowship and food." All the boys on the campus are expected to be present to enjoy the fellowship of student and faculty.

Tickets are on sale for the nominal sum of twenty cents each and members of the Y.M.C.A. cabinet have charge of the sale of tickets.

Students Display Art Material

National Art Week will be observed from November 17-25. The Statesboro Woman's Club is sponsoring an exhibition at the club home in Statesboro. Art students from Georgia Teachers College under the direction of Leon P. Smith, will exhibit paintings.

This exhibition is to help artists and encourage art. All work accepted is genuine self-expression, no copies. In this way great talent is often discovered and it encourages its development in people who would not ordinarily think of sending their effort where they must pass jury inspection.

The two best paintings chosen by popular vote will be sent to Atlanta in December to be used in the art exhibition there, sponsored by the Atlanta Woman's Club.

Music Recitals Are Scheduled

A series of four musical recitals will be given by the students and faculty of Georgia Teachers College during the months of November and December, according to Ronald J. Neal, head of the music department.

The first, a student recital, will be given Wednesday, November 19th, by the students of piano under the direction of Mrs. E. L. Barnes; voice under the direction of Mr. Neil, and instrumental music under the instruction of John Bollinger.

On Tuesday, November 25th, the faculty will be presented in a recital with Mrs. Barnes, pianist; Mr. Neil, baritone, and Mr. Bollinger, violinist.

The third, a student recital will be on Tuesday, December 2nd, and the fourth of the series is scheduled for Tuesday, December 19th, when the annual Christmas concert will be given by the college chorus.

All the recitals will be held in the college auditorium at 8:15 p. m. on the dates given.

Students Notice!

Tickets for the game between Georgia and Dartmouth in Athens on Saturday, November 22, are now on sale by Robert Donaldson, publicity director, at a reduced price of one dollar for each ticket. The game starts at 3:00 p. m.

Persons wishing to buy tickets must see Mr. Donaldson sometime today (Monday). Regular price for the tickets is $3.00. The special price is being made to T.C. students through the University.

With The Student Council

By BILLY DeLOACH

We wish to take this opportunity to thank every member of the student body who helped make this last home-coming a success. No better co-operation could have been hoped for and our spirit during the entire week end was of the best.

Thanks goes to Marion Carpenter and the Statesboro High School Band who so generously gave their time and musical ability to make the day more enjoyable. We hope it will not be the last time we shall have the pleasure of them as guests.

Freshman class elections were discussed at the last meeting and some provisions made for the occasion. Also the administration and your council also performing an experiment in relation to chapel periods during the week. For the remainder of this quarter there will be no Wednesday chapel. Whether or not the plan will be satisfactory and will become a permanent part of our schedule remains to be seen. The possibility of chapel periods on Tuesday and Thursday is still being considered, however the present system will be used throughout the remainder of this quarter.

The Student Council is still working on the idea of putting up a glass enclosed bulletin at the side of the administration building, but so far the work is at a standstill. A lighted sign is under consideration at present for the front and rear entrances to the college.
