Blackout Practices Soon a Reality

BLACKOUTS—Aren't we going to have them on the campus? That has been the question of many students since their return this quarter, and now we may answer that question. YES, we are going to have blackouts.

Mr. W. W. Strickland, of Statesboro, has been designated as county officer of Bulloch County, and he in turn has delegated Miss Queen Collins and Miss Eleanor Ray as the auxiliary police here on the campus.

Their duties are:

1. Enforce blackouts.
2. Enforce traffic regulations during blackouts.
3. Keep people off the streets in time of air raids.
4. Prevent looting.
5. Prevent crimes of all types and kinds.

6. Evacuate sections where unexploded bombs have fallen.

7. Protect lost people.

8. Instruct lost people where they may secure shelter in time of air raids.

9. Keep all traffic off streets in time of air raids except official cars and emergency cars.

10. Train public as to danger of unexploded bombs, also the danger of gas, danger of flying steel and fragments from exploded bombs and anti-aircraft fire.

Delta Lambda Delta Elects Keefe Head

At the opening of the meeting deviled crab plates and hot coffee were served by the co-hostesses, Geraldine Keefe and Pruella Cromatie.

Afterwards the business of the evening was discussed. Officers to fill the vacancies were elected as follows: President, Geraldine Keefe; vice-president, Jeanette Walker; secretary and treasurer, Pruella Cromatie. The sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Neil, were present.

Thursday the pledges who were being initiated went patriotic and donned their sailor togs. Well, we won't say they looked like members of Uncle Sam's fleet, but they were trying hard. Friday you saw them dressed as nursemaids. Saturday they came forth in all their glory attired in the Delta Lambda Delta colors of royal blue and scarlet.

Bugger Daggers Elect Officers

Saturday afternoon, January 17, the Bugger Daggers and their dates enjoyed a picnic at Booth pond. Mr. Moye, our faculty sponsor, was along and helped to make the afternoon more enjoyable.

Not daunted by an incompetent football team last quarter they are working toward a bigger and better basketball team. The material that they have is good and they are out for the prize.

Three boys are not back this quarter. Ben Stalvey and Cecil Freeman are both working; Grady Donaldson left on the 15th to join the army. To help compensate this loss we are glad that Charlie Kneese, who taught at Girard last quarter, is with us again.

The new officers for the Bugger Dagger Club this quarter are as follows: President, John Dunn; vice-president, Willie Hugh Hinely; secretary and treasurer, Zeke Daughtry; sargent-at-arms, Judge Herrington.

Celtics Will Present Thriller Wednesday

This week offers the local fans an opportunity to see two top-ranking teams in action. On Wednesday night the world-famous New York Celtics will play the Teachers. On Saturday night Jake Morris, of Middle Georgia College, will bring his strong quintet here for a game.

For the students who have never seen the Celtics in action they should take advantage of this chance. Appearing with the Celtics will be Davey Banks and Nat Hickey, veterans who have been the favorites of court fans the nation over for nearly twenty years.

The Shamrock line-up also includes Paul Birch, former Duquesne star who is playing his seventh season with the professional wizards, and Ash Resnick, a powerful athlete who starred at New York University. Resnick, in his second season with the Celtics, is regarded as one of the pro game's brightest prospects.

Important change in this year's club revolves around the center position where John Pelkington, for three years star pivotman of the Philadelphia Sphas, American League champion, has replaced big Pat Herlihy, and from all reports is a sensational performer in every respect. Another newcomer is Maurice Dubalier, late of John Marshall College, where this 190-pounder made the collegiate All-American. Dubalier shares game honors with Davey Banks.

Saturday night the fans will have an opportunity to see the race-horse type of basketball. The G.M.C. five depend entirely on the fast break to score points. During the past few years Jake Morris has won several junior college championships. Back from the state champions of last year are McCranie and Burton who gave the Teachers plenty of trouble.

Hasting's Dolls Come Jan. 26

Sue Hastings' Marionettes, the largest and most active organization of its kind in the country, will appear here on Monday, January 26th, matinee and evening. Mrs. Hastings and her company enjoy a reputation second to none in the field. At the New York World's Fair where they presented one of the outstanding shows, it is estimated that approximately 5,000,000 persons saw their performance.

The process of creating a marionette—the Sue Hastings process anyway—is exceptionally complex. A character is conceived and recorded on paper as a drawing. A sculptor studies the idea and models a head in plasticene. Then a cast is made, an actual head struck off and given to an artist to paint and a wig is made especially to suit the character. The construction of the body is a most intricate one and the limbs are carefully planned and then an exceedingly fine seam is sewn by a seamstress. Finally a handful of strings is drawn out, which will thereafter determine all the possible movement of the character.

Many Defense Courses Offered This Quarter

With many of the boys on the campus either being drafted or planning or joining some phase of the army or navy, the faculty has arranged to have seven courses taught this quarter which will enable those boys to get in the division they desire.

The regular physics course of heat and electricity has been changed to electricity and communications. Mr. Pigg states that the first six weeks will be spent in studying the theory of fundamental electricity. The last six weeks the boys will apply these fundamentals directly to communication appliances—stressing the telephone and the radio. Instead of using regular physics lab. equipment the class is bringing in actual radio equipment and working with that.

One of the questions in the questionnaire that the boys have to fill out is: "Do you know the Morse Code?" Therefore a one-half credit course in the International Morse Code is being taught by Mr. Pigg. This course is to be completely drill and practice in receiving and sending messages. No theory is to be taken up. The aim of the course is to enable those who take it to send and receive at least fifteen words a minute, since the requirement of the army is thirteen words a minute. Several girls have asked if they could take the course. If the course is successful it will most possibly be taught again next quarter and girls as well as boys will be allowed to take it.

The industrial arts department is offering two courses, industrial arts 310 and industrial arts 400, which will be of help in training for defense work. Industrial arts 310 is a course in internal combustion engines. In this course the student begins working with the one-cylinder engine, then the tractor and car engines, and toward the end of the course some time will be spent in working with airplane engines. Industrial arts 400 offers three fields

Athletic Committee Votes Intra-Mural

The Georgia Teachers College Athletic Committee has voted to discontinue all inter-collegiate athletics for the duration of the war, after the current basketball season.

W. S. Hanner, chairman of the athletic committee, stated that the move is "strictly a war measure and is for the duration of the war only."

The committee voted unanimously for the following motion which was introduced by one of its members. "Resolved, That Georgia Teachers College discontinue inter-collegiate athletics for the duration of the war."

Two schools, Mercer and Erskine, have already cancelled football games scheduled with the Teachers for next fall. Coach B. L. Smith, of G.T.C., said that he would cancel the remaining games on the schedule by the end of this week.

The athletic committee voted for an intensified program of intra-mural sports to replace the inter-collegiate program.

Freshman-Soph Dance Begins Winter Socials

Saturday night saw the beginning of a series of dances scheduled for the winter quarter by the various clubs on the campus. The dance is an annual affair given by the Freshman and Sophomores and followed the basketball games with Camp Wheeler in the gymnasium.

- January 24—Student Council.
- January 31—Epicurean.
- February 7—Off-week-end.
- February 21—Dux Domina and X Club.
- February 28—L. T. C.
- March 7—Sigma Gamma.
- March 14—D. L. D.

Graff Ballet Coming Friday

Georgia Teachers College will have for a lyceum attraction the Graff Ballet, with Grace and Kurt Graff, on January 23, in the college auditorium.

This is probably America's most outstanding dance attraction. It represents the best of American and European talents in the dance today.

Grace Cornell Graff is a native of Chicago. She studied ballet in Paris, made her debut at the Camp Elysees Theatre in New York, and in Philadelphia with Philharmonic under Stokowski. Kurt Graff is a native of France and studied with the famous von Loban; became his assistant, was chosen premiere danseur of the Berlin Opera and for appearance at the Beyreuth Music Festival under Toscanini.

Grace and Kurt Graff have appeared in all the major cities of the United States and Europe.

Before coming to Georgia Teachers College the Graff Ballet will appear in Savannah. There the prices will range from 75 cents to $2.00.

Students will remember some of the outstanding lyceum attractions of the past years, outstanding of which was "A Mid-Summer Night's Dream."

Our World Today

By Harry Robertson

Because of my secret desire to be a columnist on the New York Times, and the full realization that such is highly improbable, I once again will inflict upon the good readers of the George-Anne a bit of mad jargon.

The name is an old column head that I consider original, even though C.B.S. has a news review that has a most familiar ring.

Last Monday's chapel address by the dean was well worth listening to. I confess, however, that when I didn't see a speaker upon entering the auditorium, I had a sinking feeling.

Japan is cutting off a slice that is too big to eat. Before the conflict is over she will be suffering from a very acute case of indigestion, we believe.

Our governor dropped in the White House in Washington the other day and left word for F.D.R. that anything he wanted the other forty-seven states to do, Georgia would also. It's great to see such a spirit of co-operation.

The latest issue of "The Upper Room" has recently been given me. It is a book which should have a place in every student's room on the campus. Issued by the Methodist church, the last issue totaled 1,180,650 copies. The cover shows an old man and a youthful shadow pausing to pray in the early afternoon. It is an inspiring picture easily duplicated.

BOOK REVIEW

"Out Of The Night"

By JAN VALTIN

Reviewed by M. Brown

In browsing through books of the past year one concedes that espousers of present conditions in Nazi Germany contained in "Out Of The Night" have been most shocking to the minds of the reading world.

Jan Valtin is the pseudonym of Richard Julius Herman Krebs, escapee from the life forced upon his people by the most universally hated ruler in history.

Valtin chose to begin his non-fictional, semi-biographical work at the time when he was a German youth who, influenced by the fanatic enthusiasm of those instigating Communistic and other radical activities, became engrossed in what he blindly believed to be a great cause.

It is in this exposing of the inward corruption, of the flagrant disregard for human life and the tortures sustained by those whose every instinct rebelled against submission to a cause so human as the one on which Nazism is based, that brought the full impact upon the reader of what loss of democracy would actually mean to free people.

For a book that will be an eye-opener to our present situation, we strongly endorse "Out Of The Night."

Scriptural Searchlights

By OLIVER THOMAS

Text: "Forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize."—Phil. 3:13.

The old year has passed with its memories forever sealed in the hearts of humanity, and another year has dawned upon us. A bit of eternity of which we are stewards. How blessed, if it should be used to bring "peace on earth," rather than an all-out production for war.

There are few of us who can look back upon the past without feeling some regret for sin, wrong attitudes, failures, and lost opportunities. It is indeed a tragedy when one's past hinders him in the race of life. It is a blessing when with Paul we can, "forgetting those things which are behind . . . press toward the mark." An unforgotten past means a troubled present and future. When one can face the future with faith, hope, and determination then Christ has become his salvation. When He forgives, He forgets.

It is not easy to forget the past marred by many failures and sorrows.

Since we can't recall nor change the past, let us face the new year with high aspirations, great aims, noble plans, sublime purposes, and mighty faith to make the best of it. Let us press toward the mark—a life like unto the humble Galilean whose purpose was to minister to others, unselfishly, fight for the right courageously, and look to the Father faithfully, and follow His spirit loyally.

Prayer: "Father of us all, we have written another volume in life's history and are beginning another. Enable us to write such a one as Thou wilt be glad to read, and we would be pleased to own. May we all follow Thee more closely, and trust Thee more fully. Thy kingdom come Thy will be done on earth, for our Redeemer's sake.—Amen."

Miss Cecilia Sien-Ling Zung, a Chinese lawyer, lived in Graduate House on the Mills College campus during two months of lecturing in the San Francisco bay area.

Editorial Short Subjects

A beautiful orchid in full bloom is due those responsible for the attractiveness of our campus at present. At this time of the year, especially with everything in its dullest hue, it is a welcome sight to look on a beautified campus such as ours. We're proud of it also because we do our part.

Welcome in shining letters is the word we offer to new students this quarter. We are indeed glad to have you with us. At this time when it is a shaky proposition for any student to continue college we are glad that you have come and hope this quarter and all that follow will prove most worth while. Pitch in and help us to keep Georgia Teachers College a leading institution for the preparation of outstanding citizens and teachers.

A word now concerning co-operation. For the George-Anne to rate as tops in college newspapers its size—for it to be an all-round satisfactory organ for YOU—we must reach and hold an understanding. We want it to carry all the news of reader interest. It can't unless an inkling of what is to happen reaches our ears. Being a student newspaper issued every other Monday we must, of necessity, meet each preceding Wednesday night and prepare all of our copy. This calls for a staff that is willing to do a little work, not much. On the Monday following each issue assignments are handed out and writers are requested to obtain all material for writing copy between Monday and Wednesday. We say all of this simply to inform all parties interested that the paper they read isn't made up by fairies.

SLIPS AND NIPS

By "CHOLLY"

Ah! My jolly students. I'm back again. After such a glorious Christmas vacation. I'm not mad at anybody, but as duty will have it I must put my finger on a few items that might interest you.

Never before has Oliver Thomas appeared in this column, but we've just discovered that in his own subtle way he's a lady killer . . . Out in front in saving tires for national defense is Leon P. Smith. He has a new bicycle . . . David Bowman has swept the cobwebs from his technique is now polishing upon Sara Alice Bradley. Don't give her the Gate(wood), Bowman . . . You've all heard of the height of ambition et cetera; well, we have a new one, the height of oblivion, it's Dan Chambliss and Mary Frances Brown in East Hall lounge . . . Rosemary Wynn seems to be fluctuating between Charles Edge and Hal King . . . Warning to all boys between 20 and 45: Is there a girl carrying a torch for you? Then take care that the draft don't blow it out . . . Louise has ceased to "Glisson" in the eyes of Marcus Bruner; know the reason, Pruella? . . . You wouldn't call Eula Beth Jones Mrs. Wimberly's stooge, would you? Then, what is she? It's time to go. If I haven't got around to you yet don't feel slighted. I'll get you next time. So long, folks!

in which the student may work, the field of metal work, the field of sheet metal or the field of welding.

Dean Henderson stated today that a non-credit in first aid is expected to be started by either the last of this week or the first of next week. A new handbook for a shortened course in Red Cross First Aid just for civilian defense has been published and this is the handbook that will be used. The course required twenty hours to complete. At the present it is not known who will be the instructor.

Blackout Practices

11. Render first aid.
 12. Make reports on any sabotage or espionage.
 13. Endeavor to reduce hysteria and excitement.
 14. Report the presence of any suspicious looking person or any person engaged in suspicious conduct to city or county peace officers at once.
- Knowing T.C. students would be unable to hear the siren which will give the signal for the blackout, the county and city officers have ordered three new sirens. One of these sirens will be put somewhere around the front entrance to the campus.

Letters . . .

Dear Students:

Don't you have a pet gripe that you've developed lately, or aren't you suffering from fallen arches? If so, write me and let's air it. I won't promise to solve love affairs or mystery puzzles but the one who reads this might.

Devotedly,
THE EDITOR.

Dear Editor:

No doubt you have heard of the absent-minded professor. Well, here is a case of the absent-minded professor-ess. A member of our faculty marched into the classroom a few days ago and proceeded with the class. First, she made an announcement. Then she began to call the roll. After she had called several names and no one answered, she looked up—to find that she was in the wrong room and with the wrong class.

Of course all the students were already giggling under their breath. And all in all, it just gave a lighter spirit to the social science class that morning.

If the teachers can't keep their minds on their work, who can blame the students if they don't?

(Signed) I. WONDER.

Me too, my friend. Who was it, huh?

By TINY HENDERSON

In the past few weeks several of the smaller colleges in the South, including Georgia Teachers College, have announced that they were dropping inter-collegiate athletics. Before September more schools will have added their names to the list.

Some school are dropping only football, while others are discontinuing all forms of athletics. This is a wise move on the part of some schools. Their athletic department often end the year in the red. They cannot draw big crowds to their games because of the lack of a winning team.

For transportation between contests the small schools usually have a private bus. With a shortage of tires the rationing boards will not allow tires to be sold to buses used for travel to athletic contests. A good deal of gasoline can be saved by this action for the big motors make only a few miles to each gallon of gasoline.

To take the place of inter-collegiate athletics intra-mural sports could be substituted. Each has its advantages and disadvantages. We are fortunate that the battlefields have been many miles from the United States. Few know of the great sacrifices that have to be made to keep an army in the field. Whatever is saved for defense will enable the United States to remain a free country.

What part has Georgia Teachers College played so far in the Defense Program? Of course we have lost a few boys to the different branches of the armed service; manpower is only one small part of war machinery.

For the past several years a strong intra-mural program has been carried on by the Physical Education Department. This program furnishes an opportunity for a large number of individuals to take part in a sport.

Why shouldn't Georgia Teachers College drop inter-collegiate athletics for the duration of the war? A few people will object to this action but it will meet with the approval of the public.

Former Student Excels As Coach

The boys' basketball team of the Davisboro High School under the direction of Coach M. L. Powell, a graduate of T.C., reached the Christmas holidays with a perfect record. They have won thirteen consecutive games and have averaged more than for every playing minute. They more than doubled their combined opponents in points scored.

Their record is as follows.

Wadley, 19-45; Bartow, 16-18; Stapleton, 14-24; Sandersville, 14-27; Avera, 16-39; Harrison, 20-44; Gibson, 18-30; Vidette, 28-44; Toombsboro, 10-25; Sparta, 9-50; Tennille, 19-25; Warthen, 13-25; Sandersville, 19-35. Totals, 215-431.

Inquiring

I probably wouldn't like any sort of military training, but I know that it would be the best thing for boys going to school now. I think R.O.T.C. training should be adopted here and at every other college. We've got to adapt ourselves to the situation on hand.

John Dunn believes "R.O.T.C. training is a very good thing. However, at a school the size of ours, it probably would not function as well as it should. Especially if the University System goes on the 'six-day-a-week plan.' It works well at the University because of its larger size. Taken as a whole, R.O.T.C. training would not function as well at a teachers college as it would elsewhere."

Edwin Groover says, "I am for having military training here and at all other colleges in the form of the R.O.T.C. training. It would be an asset to the college and to the boys. We would all be better off if we had already had military training and I think that it should be adopted here and at other schools."

Science Seminar Meets Wednesday

Among the many clubs on the campus, there is one that should be of interest to many T. C. students. This club is known as the Science Seminar. The club is composed of those students who are interested in any phase of science. Any student who is majoring in general science or who is taking any science courses should be interested in taking part in the activities of the Science Seminar.

Wednesday night, January 21st, at 8 o'clock, the first winter quarter meeting of the Science Seminar will be held in the science hall.

The officers of the club are: Abbie Mann, president; Stanley Booth, vice-president; (vacated by Joe Farmer), secretary; Worth Greene, treasurer.

The meetings are held on the first and third Wednesdays of every month. The program schedule for the next four meetings are as follows:

January 21—Stanley Booth will have charge.

February 4—Mr. Moye, astronomy; the use of the telescope.

February 18—Mr. Pigg, the application of electricity.

SMILEY LEADS DRIVE "BOOKS FOR BUDDIES"

Mr. Wendel L. Smiley, librarian at T.C., has been chosen as representative for the Georgia Library Association in the State Committee of the campaign "Books for Buddies." Mr. Smiley is also chairman of the Bulloch county committee for the same campaign.

Y.W.C.A Cabinet Needs Knitters

At the meeting of the Y.M.C.A. cabinet on Tuesday morning, various activities of the organization were discussed and new plans were laid for the immediate future.

A joint meeting of the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. was the first on the program and is expected to send bigger and better groups through the quarter with real enthusiasm. The clicking of tongues and knitting needles will prevail at the next meeting, for T.C.'s "YW" plans to do its bit toward helping the Red Cross by picking out its best knitters and putting them to work. Those girls who cannot knit are to be employed as conversationalists. Hints are already leaking out, too, about suggestions for a picnic when warmer weather returns.

Every convenience will be furnished to girls in the organization concerning notices about Y.W.C.A. activities. Announcements about the time and place of meetings are to be made in chapel. Vesper services and vesper speakers will also be announced. Large groups of students are expected to attend vespers, for the names of many prominent speakers grace this quarter's program.

Eppies Enjoy Chicken Fry

The "Eppies" had a chicken fry Saturday afternoon at Deal's log cabin, which is better known to us as our sorority house. Those attending were Billie Turner and Curtis Lane, Sara Alice Bradley and David Bowman, Sue Breen and "Pop" Raulerson, Esther Lee Barnes and Jack Wynn, Dot Remington and Billy DeLoach, Nell Brannen and Frank Olliff, Gladine Culpepper and Harold "Rock" Waters, Doris Woods and Leon Culpepper, "Jenny" Groover and Fain Martin, Joyce Smith and Dudley Gatewood. A good time was had by all.

We have seven members and four pledges this quarter. Edith Murray did not return but would have been initiated with five other girls who made their C average last quarter. The new members are Sue Breen, Esther Lee Barnes, Dot Remington, Nell Brannen and Joyce Smith.

Plans are being made for the quarter social, which is to be January 31, and for the Epicurean house party, a week after spring quarter is out.

New officers were elected at the last meeting. They are as follows: Secretary, Sue Breen; treasurer, Esther Lee Barnes; chaplain, Dot Remington; news reporter, Joyce Smith.

The "Eppies" are going to begin basketball practice at an early date. We are expecting a very successful team because we have some girls who played on the varsity team in high school.

Lambda Theta Chi Meet in East Hall

The Lambda Theta Chi sorority met in East Hall parlor on Thursday night, January 8th. The meeting was called to order by the president. Plans were made for initiation, which was held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The L.T.C.'s are happy to announce the following girls who were initiated: Helen King, Marward Pierce, Martha Coble and Uhla Wynn Zitterower. Hostesses for the meeting were Eula Beth Jones and Bettie McLemore.

A LOVE SCENE IN THE GRAFF BALLET

"X" Club Elects Sponsors

The X Club met Friday night, January 9th, in the lobby of Lewis Hall. The meeting was presided over by Ruth Cone in the absence of the president, Ruth Kammerer.

The club regrets having lost its sponsor, Miss Carithers. New sponsors elected were Miss McElveen and Miss Guill.

Club pins have been ordered. Plans for a dance this quarter were discussed. The date for the dance is February 21st.

Sigma Gammas Initiate Pledges

The Sigma Gammas had their second meeting of the quarter Wednesday night, January 14, in East Hall parlor. Pledges prepared the food although all members in East Hall were hostesses. They are Donna Thigpen, Roger McMillan, Margaret Strickland, Virginia Lovett and Ruth Johnson.

Plans were made for initiation and they were begun on Thursday with Sigma "Glamour" day. Friday the pledges arose to help milk the college cows—at 4 o'clock a. m. This made them feel so happy that they sang the milk maid's tune all day. Saturday pledges dressed in green and white to look natural. The big event of the day was singing "I Love You Truly," to the visiting basketball team.

We are happy to announce that Jackie Smith, Dot Sheffield, and Margaret Strickland have undergone the ordeal of initiation and have come through with flying colors.

Delta Sigma Has New Officers

New officers of the Delta Sigma fraternity elected at the last meeting before the holidays are: President, Frank Olliff; vice-president, James Parker; secretary, Edwin Groover; Harry Robertson re-elected treasurer, and Robert Morris, scribe.

Saturday afternoon, January 10th, the Delta boys had their first picnic of the winter quarter. It was held at Dr. DeLoach's cabin, Beechwood, and hamburgers, hot coffee and potato chips were served. Dr. Weaver, faculty sponsor, and Dr. DeLoach, honorary sponsor, chaperoned.

The Delta Sigma pledges boasted fine averages this past quarter, and as a result nine of the fourteen pledges began their membership initiation last Thursday. The pledges being initiated are E. T. Youngblood, Hal King, Harold Pearman, Charles McAllister, Billy Brown, Frank Morrison, Wallace Winters, Marion Jones and Jack Timms. They will be formally inducted as members Wednesday night.

Plans for the winter dance on Feb. 7th were discussed.

ROBERT MORRIS, Scribe.

Dux Domina Has Initiation

Other Social Clubs Bring
Pledges Into Membership

Everything is getting back into the old swing of things after the Christmas holidays. Initiation started off with a bang for the members with pledges being initiated, Catherine Rowse and Margaret Helen Tillman. Initiation lasted three days. Thursday the pledges greeted everybody before breakfast on the philosophers bench wearing a sunny smile, baby caps, and carrying pacifiers. The next day they were brides and fished from buckets during dinner between the Little Store and the Dining Hall. Saturday Mid-Shipman Tillman and Flying Cadet Rowse proved their loyalty to Uncle Sam by trying to convince all the boys that these two branches of service were definitely the best.

It was all fun and the pledges proved that they were able to "take it."

Maxann Foy and Mary T. Perry served at the Thursday night meeting. The Dux had as their guest Mrs. Cohen Anderson, a charter member of the Dux Domina sorority.
