Our World Today

By Harry Robertson

Building morale is something that we can forget for the present on our campus. We already have it pretty well built. Look at the way the students took the accrediting dismissal... Look how Sanford Hall boys have taken cold showers and shaves (once in a while, anyway)... And look how Spring Holiday's departure was swallowed with never a sour or outward sign of regret... Yes, we have one of the major problems of national emergency solved.

A great deal of unnecessary noise has disappeared on the radio lately. No request tunes can be played... no weather reports can be broadcast... the newscaster sits with his fingers crossed as he gives the latest reports—and it's all a part of wartime censorship which we are grateful for despite our curiosity. Now if there was only something in serials that would ban them we would be sitting pretty.

Record week. For the No. 1 tune in this section at present we would name "Blue Is The Night," closely following we find No. 2, "I Don't Want To Walk Without You," and No. 3, "The Bells of San Raquel." Strange that no army tunes prove as popular as "Elmer's Tune" and "Chattanooga Choo-Choo" at present.

Thanks to all of those who have been kind enough to give both good and bad criticism to this paper. It is like any other job, gets very discouraging at times but I'm not ready to swap with anyone.

A Little Thing

There is no need of it. It was entirely unnecessary. Yet, it happened Friday night at a dance where everyone's thoughts should have been turned towards helping others instead of thinking of themselves.

The election of a queen for the dance with proceeds to go to fight polio was not a very bad idea. For each class to sponsor a queen was not a bad idea. But when it became an affair which left classes out it ceased to be any good at all.

It would have been a good thing if the fraternities and sororities each sponsored a queen to see how much could have been obtained to fight infantile paralysis up to the closing minutes. None should be accepted under any circumstances, however, after the ballot boxes had been opened.

For money to have been accepted Friday night after votes had been cast was a definite mistake. For the election to have been drawn from a class contest to a competition between rival organizations was equally distasteful. The faculty members in charge, we believe, was in the wrong.

An election for May Queen is coming up and other elections. Let's not let this happen again.

BOOK REVIEW

Madame Curie

By Eve Curie

Reviewed by M. Brown

This biography of Madame Curie, Polish discoverer of radium, twice winner of the Nobel prize (the only woman to ever win that coveted award) and the greatest of all women scientists, was written by her daughter from memories of her famous mother's life and from research among published and unpublished records.

The story of the little Polish girl whose work was to revolutionize the scientific world is a most fascinating one from her early struggles to the time when fame ultimately was accorded her. Her first years were long, hard ones spent devotedly endeavoring to finance an education.

Manya Slodovska was born in 1867 in a small village on the outskirts of Warsaw when Poland was still under the domination of the Czar of Russia. Part I of the book deals with her girlhood, the death of her mother and her work as governess which enable her to fulfill her ambition of studying in Paris.

Finances finally permitted her to spend her early twenties in a cold, dark attic room on a Paris side street studying and exhibiting rather forceful qualities which characterized her throughout life—beauty, persistence. See CURIE, page 3

Student Government-- Do We Have It?

A question that arises periodically, has its little while in the limelight and then slips quietly into oblivion, has once more made its bid for public discussion. It is the question of Student Council. What is it doing? What has it done? Why not bury it before the stench is unbearable?

To begin with we'd like to ask a few questions. How many of you are sincerely interested in the work of the Student Council? In voting for members did you consider ability to comprehend student problems, and to make wise decisions? Did you consider how conscientiously the individual would react to this new responsibility, or did you say "He's a friend of mine," or "We're in the same social club?" If you're in the latter group quit kicking. You've nothing to kick about.

If you're in the first group you probably already know this. The Student Council has no power other than the rather questionable power to recommend. We personally think this is power sufficiently at present.

The Student Council might be divided into three general types. The first division is comprised, generally speaking, of about one-third membership—this division does most of the thinking—makes the plans and carries them out. It is logical that in all of these things the Student Council falls short, for that small number cannot do the work of sixteen. The other two-thirds membership may be divided into two general classes. The first: Those who twiddle their thumbs and do nothing. The second: Those whose misdirected ability enables them to provoke and prolong discussions through the medium of inane argument and chatter.

Such is the Student Council. It is limited in its power. A large part of it is static when present and it is not unusual for certain members to indulge in the luxury of absence. It is our belief therefore that the Student Council has more authority in the power of recommendation than it can use considering the lack of interest and co-operation on the part of certain members, and that the Administration would be foolish to give this body more power until it makes full constructive use of its present power.

The rest, dear students, is up to you. If you don't like the Student Council's actions (or lack of actions), investigate and criticize, but do so intelligently. Elect officers on a basis of their ability and willingness to serve, not because of personal or social reasons. We frankly don't believe you will, but just the same the Student Council is yours and if you want it to function, think before you vote.

Scriptural Searchlights

By OLIVER THOMAS

"Jesus said . . . I am the way . . . follow me."—John 14:16; Matt. 4:19.

The lack of unity in any social enterprise will inevitably result in disappointment or defeat. Recent major battles have been lost by powerful armies which lacked unity. College campuses lose their spirit many times because of too many isolated groups.

A world little concerned about God and religion is more perplexed and puzzled because of the great number of faiths and creeds, each different from the other. Great religious endeavors have been thwarted because of the narrow, prejudiced, and intolerant attitude of some who thought their way of doing things was the only way. The followers of Christ need to hear again, "I am the way . . . follow ME."

Men must be tolerant toward those who differ with them. Tolerance does not call for a surrender of one's convictions, nor for an endorsement of questionable beliefs and practices. It simply realizes that every man has a mind of his own to choose his own way.

Example is the strongest argument for anything. Christ is the living example for His disciples. His standard has never changed. It is now, as always, high, hard, holy, and happy. Each individual must work out his own religion, and not accept a hand-me-down.

After having studied closely the life of Abraham Lincoln, and attempting to meet life's situations after his example, a young college student asked a minister if this could not be applied to religion. True enough, as we study closely the Life of Jesus, looking at life as He did, meeting the circumstances of life, and regarding humanity as He did, then we soon discover the religion (LIFE) for which our hearts hunger. We have only to follow Jesus, our only example, our only hope. Let us be united in FAITH, HOPE and SERVICE.

Prayer:

Join hands, then, brothers of the faith,
Whatever your race may be;
Who serves my father as a son,
Is surely kin to me.

The Secret

"I met God in the morning,
When my day was at its best,
And His presence came like sunrise—
Like a glory in my breast.

"All day long The Presence lingered,
All day long he stayed with me,
And we sailed in perfect calmness
O'er a very troubled sea.

"Other ships were blown and battered,
Other ships were sore distressed,
But the winds that seemed to drive them
Brought to us a peace and rest.

"Then I thought of other mornings,
With a keen remorse of mind,
When I, too, had loosed the moorings,
With The Presence left behind.

"So I think I know the secret,
Learned from many a troubled way—
You must seek Him in the morning
If you want Him through the day.

At the last basketball games only a few students have been there. A large crowd of students lend a great deal of help to a basketball team. In the future let's everyone turn out for the games. They are well worth our time.

The Teachers missed their chance for a close game with Middle Georgia College by missing a large number of foul shots. Failure to ring the long shots also cut down on the score.

A few people still insist on throwing peanut hulls, paper, and other things on the basketball court. If a player should slip on these things, it might result in some serious injury to the player. In behalf of Charlie Kneee, who has charge of the gymnasium, let's keep the floors free of obstacles.

There is still the tendency to boo the referee when he makes a decision against the home team. The referee does not claim to be right in every case, but he tries to call them as he sees them. Basketball is a fast game today, and it is hard for one man to call a game. Why not ask for two officials?

Why don't the athletic committee discontinue the basketball program at once instead of waiting until the present season is over? This would have started the intra-mural program off with a good start instead of waiting until next year.

Congratulations to the "T" Club for the interest they have shown in the intra-mural program. Each member will serve as scorer, timer, or referee at the games.

T Club Presents Letters; 19 Men Awarded "T's"

The "T" Club of Georgia Teachers College presented letters to the members of the football team at a meeting held on January 19. Those presented letters were John Dunn, Ralph Mize, Theron Anglin, O'Neal Cave, Harold Herrington, Dudley Gatewood, Jimmy Scarboro, Wayne Culbreath, Jack Timms, Jack Pierce, Jack Mobley, Red Prosser, Charles Johnson, Joe Feaster, Hill Paschal, E. T. Youngblood, Pete Parrish, Frank Wireman and Billy Rogers.

The club will sponsor the intra-mural programs of the college and the continuance of inter-collegiate athletics. Members will offer their services as officials during the games.

Frances Turner Will Lead Study Course

The Y.W.A. of Georgia Teachers College will have a visitor, Miss Frances King Turner, February 11th through the 13th. Miss Turner is the State Young People's secretary. While here, Miss Turner will teach a mission study course. The course will be taught in three lessons—one each day. The hour, which will be arranged so that a majority of the students can attend these lessons, will be announced late.

The W.M.U. will entertain the Y.W.A. with a tea while Miss Turner is visiting the college. The W.M.U. also invited the Y.W.A. to send council members to the W.M.U. district meet last Thursday, January 29th. The Y.W.A. members who attended this district meet at Corinth church were Annette Alford, Evelyn Childs, Margaret Thomas and Mary Grace Lake.

The Y.W.A. entertainment committee plans to have a Valentine party while Miss Turner is here, also.

severance and an unappeasable ambition.

Her fourth year in Paris brought love to her in the person of a young physicist named Pierre Curie. The two, after years of courtship, were married and, their interests being mutual, spent long hours together in their poorly equipped laboratory. Their reward for four years tedious research was the discovery of certain elements in a metal which led to their discovery of radium.

When their elder daughter was only ten, Pierre Curie was killed in a street accident, leaving Marie with no visible means of support and two young daughters to rear. Those close to her seriously feared for her sanity at the death of her husband, but her strength of mind then and in other crises forced her to continue the life that proved so serviceable to humanity.

Intra-Mural Sports Begin; Basketball Schedule Released

The intra-mural basketball started Wednesday with five teams composing the league. The teams entered are the "Y," Delta Sigma, Pi Nu, Bugger Daggers and Cardinals. Despite the few number of teams entered there should be plenty of fast competition. Some of the outstanding players of the different teams are Groover and Lowe, of the D. S.; Martin and Culbreth, of the Pi Nu; Kneee and Hurst, of the Bugger Daggers; McCloud, of the Cardinals; Strange, of the "Y". There are only a few of the outstanding players who will take part in the intra-mural program.

The program will be conducted as follows:

Wednesday, Jan. 28—Cards. vs. D. S.; Bugger Daggers vs. Pi Nu.

Monday, Feb. 2—D. S. vs. Pi Nu; Cards. vs. "Y".

Wednesday, Feb. 4—Pi Nu vs. "Y"; D. S. vs. B. D.

Monday, Feb. 9—"Y" vs. B. D.; Pi Nu vs. Cards.

Wednesday, Feb. 11—B. D. vs. Cards; "Y" vs. D. S.

At the end of the round robin schedule, which is March 2nd, the four teams having the highest percentage of wins will enter an elimination tournament. The winner of this tournament and the winner of the round robin will play for the championship, unless the same team wins both the tournament and the round robin, in this case they would automatically be the champions.

There will be picked an all-intra-mural team. This team will be picked by the five team managers and Coaches Wright and Smith.

The games of the round robin will start promptly at 7:15 and 8:15 p. m., unless the team managers are notified by Coach Wright.

There is also a possibility of playing part of the games in the afternoon so as to accommodate more students.

The players will be required to wear jerseys. Each team should select their colors and have their jerseys accordingly.

If for administrative reasons a date must be changed, due notice will be given the team managers and they are responsible to the players.

Teachers Shortage

erage 8 per cent drop in enrollment at university schools of education is also reported.

In the nation as a whole, an acute shortage of teachers in rural village and elementary schools exists. The shortage is particularly acute in certain subject areas such as science, industrial arts and business education.

As a partial solution to this problem, the commission recommends that salaries of teachers be increased to meet the rising cost of living. It proposes that communities raise teaching salaries from 10 to 25 per cent, depending upon the particular district, with an average nation-wide increase of 15 per cent. Such a move would hold many qualified teachers within the educational field and would induce students to consider teaching as a career. Unless such an increase is made, Dr. Myers warned, the existing shortage in teaching personnel is certain to become worse.

The commission points out that some boards of education are already meeting the situation by salary adjustment. In some cities a ten per cent "cost of living bonus" has been added to existing salaries. This action, according to the commission, can be taken in many other communities, since "the times permit a more generous financial support of the schools."

Cold Wave Hits Sanford Hall

By Wallace Winter

Yes, it can be truthfully said that a cold wave has hit Sanford Hall. One cold morning a few days ago the residents of this dormitory woke up and found that the hot water pipes, instead of sending out their customary stream of steaming H-2-O, only coughed a few times and died a natural death.

Of course this wasn't the case of all the residents. No doubt some of them hardly knew about it for quite a while. Probably they discovered it only then in an effort to get a drink, and while doing so unconsciously mouth to the wrong faucet. Afterwards noticing the "H" on top. As far as baths are concerned, many didn't mind the shortage at all. Some had nerve enough to plunge themselves into a freezing shower. No doubt to some it was a great temptation to use the cleansing facilities of East, West and Lewis Halls. To many of a bit shy nature it seemed a wise idea to make their home in Anderson Hall and enjoy the excellent facilities there. Still others are to be seen making towards the gym every day armed with towels and soap.

It all came about on account of a nasty old boiler that had to go on the blink. Another was ordered and perhaps even right now the hot water pipes are able to offer their usual fountain of warmth. I wouldn't know, as I haven't touched them in a couple of days.

Beggar: "Have you got a nickel for a cup of coffee?"

Student: "Oh, I'll manage somehow, thank you."

Teachers To Play Away From Home

This week find the Teachers playing all their games on foreign courts. Wednesday night the Teachers will take on the Camp Wheeler team at Camp Wheeler. This will be a return game, for the army visited our court about two weeks ago.

Saturday night our boys will invade Cochran to rough it with the Middle Georgia team. In the first meeting of these two teams the Teachers came out on the small end of a 54 to 39 score. Middle Georgia will be hard to beat on their home court, so it will take some super playing on the part of the Teachers to bring home a victory.

Since the last issue of the George-Anne two players have rejoined the squad. They are McKinnon and Daugherty. Both are experienced men.

The roster of the Teachers squad is as follows: Tiny Ramsey, O'Neal Cave, Fred Pennington, Red Prosser, Lee Williams, Lindsay Pennington, Ramon McKinnon, Zeke Daugherty, Pate Warren, Durward Brannen and Jimmy Scarboro.

Third American Showing Of Children's Work

The Georgia Teachers College art department is showing a group of British paintings in the reserve room of the library, according to an announcement made by Leon P. Smith, head of the department.

This exhibition represents the third showing of the British art in America, and is the work of school children between the ages of 7 and 16. Previous to the showing here the paintings were shown in Savannah and Columbus.

Subjects chosen by the children are home life, still life and war. Many war scenes are depicted by the children as they actually saw them.

The paintings will remain on exhibition here through February 16. Mr. Smith arranged for the show with the British consul in Jacksonville.

D.L.D. Plans Red Cross Project

On Tuesday night the members of the Delta Lambda Delta sorority were the guests of their sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Neil, at the Georgia Theatre. After the movie the sorority went to the Neil's home for their regular weekly meeting. Plans were discussed for a picnic to be given this quarter. It was unanimously voted that the sorority would begin a project for the Red Cross. After the business meeting Judy Odum read a selection from "The Congo," by Vachel Lindsay. At the conclusion of the meeting a delicious fried and Telfair director, stated that chicken course was served by the hostess.

Thursday night Pruella Cromartie and Jeanette Walker received their certificates of membership when they were formally initiated into the sorority at an impressive candlelight ceremony.

Lambda Theta Chi Elect Officers

Lambda Theta Chi sorority held their formal initiation for Martha Coble, Helen King, Marward Pierce and Uhlma Wynn Zittrouer on January 20th. The traditionally lively candlelight ceremony was very impressive. Eula Beth Jones, president, presided. Delicious refreshments were served.

At the regular meeting on Thursday night, officers were elected to fill the existing vacancies. They were Marward Pierce, treasurer; Martha Coble, chaplain; Uhlma Wynn Zittrouer, scribe.

Plans are being made to do sewing for the Red Cross.

Delta Sigmas Plan Picnic and Dance

Plans for a picnic and a dance on February 7th were discussed and committees were appointed at the January 21st meeting of the Delta Sigma frat.

Formal initiation was held for the new members of the frat. Hot coffee and doughnuts were served by Eula Beth Jones, student sponsor of the frat.

Dux Domina

The Dux initiated Katherine Rowse and Margaret Helen Tillman formally into the sorority Thursday night. All the girls wore white evening dresses which added to the impressiveness of the ceremony.

While socializing plans were made to make layette for the Red Cross. Sunshine Friends were suggested and names were drawn. These friends are supposed to be especially nice and give small gifts to the person whose name they drew.

The two pledges, Clifford and Rosemary, served coca-colas, sandwiches and cookies to the members.

Eppies Have "Air Raid Dance"

"Patriotism" Was Theme

One of the most unusual features of the social calendar during the winter quarter was the "air raid dance" given by the Epicurean sorority Saturday night.

The theme of the dance was an air raid. Patriotic slogans were all over the walls, and two blackouts were observed during the night. The air raid shelter was at the Woman's Club room. Sand bags were banked around the door.

Billie Tuner, president of the Epicureans, and her date, Curtis Lane, led the "lead out." The couples burst through a big "V".

The intermission party was at the home of Mary Virginia Groover on Savannah avenue. Patriotic ice cream and cakes were served.

Couples finding protection in the air raid shelter were: Billie Turner and Curtis Lane, Sara Alice Bradley and David Bowman, Sue Breen and E. T. Youngblood, Esther Lee Barnes and Jack Wynn, Dot Remington and Robert Morris, Joyce Smith and Edwin Groover, Nell Brannen and Frank Olliff, Mary Virginia Groover and Fain Martin, Doris Woods and Leon Culpepper, Gladine Culpepper and Harold Waters. Visitors for each sorority and their dates were: L.T.C., Ella Sue Traynham; Dux, Betty Ann Morgan; D.L.D., Julia Odum and James Parker; Sigma Gamma, Roger McMillan.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Joyner were chaperones. Some mothers of the members attended the shelter.

Billie Turner entertained the sorority with a feast after the dance.

One of our sponsors, Mrs. Joe Joyner, will be host at the meeting on Tuesday night.

Crackle Under Windows
Of "Jailed" Maids

Glennville, W. Va.—(ACP)—State Teachers College males, especially those from Louise Bennett hall, dormitory for men, are chanting a lot of once-familiar hit tunes these days and in addition a new number titled "Kanawaha Hall Girls, Aren't You Coming Out Tonight?"

On more than one occasion, just after the shades of evening dropped over the green campus, the male chorus, neither hand-picked nor formally trained, went like Romeos to the lawn in front of Kanawaha hall, dormitory for women, and there offered the new vocal number, plus such old favorites as "Especially For You," and "Playmates, Come Out and Play With Me."

Not to be outdone, girls responded with a new version that sounded like "I'm Sorry, Playmates, I Cannot Play With You; I'm Campused, BOO! HOO! HOO!"

To which the boys replied with Barbara Field's arrangement of "Good Night, Ladies, We're Going to Leave You Now."

And what's behind all this singing? All but three girls in the hall recently violated bed-time rules and were "sentenced" to demerits, which forbid their leaving the hall after 8 p. m.

Every man who does the very best he can is a true hero.

Buying what you don't need is an easy road to needing what you cannot buy.

Industrial Artists Sell T.C. Novelties

The Industrial Arts Club is placing on sale in the Blue Tide today three different articles made for T. C. students. Two of these articles bear the college seal and should be of interest to all students.

Wall plaques, paper weights and copper name plates for dormitory rooms are the articles which have been made to decorate the rooms of the students. The sale of these novelties will go towards starting a fund to be named the "Industrial Arts

Henderson Addresses School Supervisors

Dean Zach S. Henderson addressed the second annual conference of school supervisors and directors of instructors on Friday evening. The meeting was held at the Georgia State College for Women and lasted two days, January 30-31.

Presiding over the conference was President Jane Franseth, who also heads the alumni association of this school.

"How To Study the Growth of the Individual Child," was the subject of Dean Henderson's address which was given at 8:00 p. m. Friday.

The theme of the gathering was "Practice in the Study of the Individual Child." Talks were given by many outstanding leaders in education who attended the Milledgeville meeting. The conference was concluded after a luncheon which all attended on Saturday.

Sigma Gamma

The Sigma Gamma sorority met last Wednesday night in the parlor of Lewis Hall. Formal initiation for Margaret Strickland and Dot Sheffield was very impressive.

The members in Lewis Hall were hostesses: Jackie Smith, Dot Sheffield, Lillian Warner, Daisy Mae Leaphart, Tina Gresham and Beth Smith.

Student Loan Fund. The fund would prove a future source for assisting majors in industrial arts who lack money to obtain their degree.

It is the purpose of the Industrial Arts Club to add to the selection in the future if interest is sufficient to make the enterprise justifiable.
