Campus Chooses Leading Orks

Miller Chosen Tops; Lombardo and Monroe Follow Close

Leading bands and singers were chosen last month the country over in colleges and universities. Glenn Miller was rated as the outstanding bandmaster and Helen O'Connell was the leading songstress.

Georgia Teachers College was one of the schools chosen in a nationwide sweep of college campuses to determine the most popular bands on the air today. The poll was conducted by Billboard magazine and included the nation's promising orchestras as well as top-notchers at present.

Hal McIntyre and Claude Thornhill tied for honors as promising bands, and Vaughn and Monroe and Charlie Spivak followed in order.

Where Are Our Reflectors?

It was learned last week from Pilcher Kemp, editor of the Reflector, that the year books are nowhere in sight and won't be seen for a long time, maybe 'til summer, if the proofs are not sent by this week.

Just whose fault is it that they are late? Could it be that the publishing company cannot get materials to make the casts for the pictures and prints. If it is this, we may be exceptionally late getting the Reflector. But it may not be the company's fault. It could be that the trouble is at Teachers College. It could be the editor's and his staff's fault, couldn't it? We're not saying who we think is to blame, but someone is, and we will find out the truth sooner or later.

BUGGER DAGGERS CONTINUE LEAD

Increase Lead By Two Full Games Over YMCA

The Bugger Daggars have increased their lead to two full games when they edged the Faculty out 3 to 2. Zeke Daughtry's home run with one man on base was the winning margin. The D.S. bats came to life for the first time this season when they knocked the Bugger Daggars all over the lot, winning handily 15 to 4. Charlie Johnson got two circuit clouts.

In the first twin bill of the season the Delta Sigmas and YMCA divided the twin bill. In the first game the D. S. made three runs in the first inning off of two hits and four errors to take the lead. They added another run in the second inning and added two more in the sixth inning on a home run by Harold Pearman, his second of the season, to win the game 6 to 0. Charlie Johnson pitched a no-run, no-hit, no-ball game, allowing only two "Y" players to get on. Johnson set the first ten "Y" players down in order. In the nightcap the "Y" came back to win 3 to 1 on a three-hit pitching performance by McKinnon. A single in the third inning by "Cigar" Stephens, with two men on, was the pay off.

The Pi Nus won their second game of the season when in another track meet they defeated the "Y" 10 to 8. The entry of Walton (Dimaggio) Cheshire and Z. L. Strange to the "Y" line-up did not prevent defeat. The two Wireman brothers opposed each other, but Frank had the best backing and the Pi Nus won the game 10 to 8. The "Y" rallied in the sixth inning but it was too late. The "Y" scored six runs in this inning.

In one of the best games of the season the Bugger Daggars defeated the "Y" 4 to 3. All the runs came in the first three innings. It was a Tiny Henderson and Joe Feaster were representatives of the Student Council of this college Saturday at a meeting of the Student Political League in Athens. The meeting was presided over by Roy Sanders, who spoke to T.C. students last Monday enlisting aid in the fight against Eugene Talmadge.

BULLETIN

this purpose the league has been organized. It is not endorsing any definite candidate but will support the man who will take politics out of the schools in Georgia.

This is not an effort to place politics in schools, as some of Talmadge's supporters would have the people in Georgia believe, but it has been organized in an earnest effort to remove politics forever from the schools in this state.

CAPITAL to CAMPUS

ACP's Jay Richter Reports from Washington

By JAY RICHTER, ACP Washington Correspondent

JOBS

Washington (ACP)—The weatherman is likely to be a weatherwoman for the duration. Civil Service is looking for college women to fill vacancies at weather stations west of the Mississippi. If you are interested, go to the weather station where you would like a job and ask for blanks. (Incidentally, some stations are still averse to hiring women—which is something you may want to know in advance.)

At least two years of college work is required, with emphasis on mathematics and physics. The salary is $135 a month—$120 or $105 if you are willing to take less. You'll have to take a written examination.

Reports filtering into the capital from "the field" indicate that farmers generally are reacting favorably to the student farm-work plan of McNutt's Manpower Commission. The newly created commission is going to enlist college and high school students to work on farms in areas where shortage of help threatens.

Of course, the Department of Agriculture here had already advised its field personnel to use students. And many students and farmers have been planning ahead of any Washington agency. For example, in eastern truck gardening areas students and farmers have been working together more than two months.

The manpower commission will obtain students through employment service offices.

The navy needs about 50 girls for technical and scientific aides. They'll take almost anyone who has had one or two years of chemistry or physics. The openings are in arsenals and ordnance plants at Dover, N. J.; Watertown, Mass.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Rock Island, Ill.; Cincinnati, Ohio; St. Louis, Mo., and Birmingham, Ala. The salary is about $1,600.

Those Young Folks Are Going After Talmadge's Scalp

(From Augusta Herald)

Georgia's political dictator from down Sugar Creek way quotes the Bible constantly to back up his various positions on public questions.

But he has evidently failed to read where it says, "A little child shall lead them."

He does not even believe that grown-up boys, much less children, are capable of leading the voters of Georgia down the path of political sanity, come the fall primary.

And so when Do and Dare 'Gene got the word that a band of 16,000 boys and girls from the University System were getting together to dig his political grave he dismissed the idea with one of his usual homespun sallies.

"I like boys," quoth he. "I've got a boy of my own. In fact, there is a lot of boy in me, even yet."

Somehow, though, the words were those of Talmadge, but the voice was as hollow as that of a dictator in a foreign land, who recently told his people that the war would likely drag on through another winter.

We would not like to have 16,000 youngsters on our trail at one time, particularly if we knew in our own heart that we had deeply wronged these boys and girls and that they were out after blood.

Once we had a prize bit of shubbery near the street, which boys in play constantly damaged. A neighbor suggested that we ask the police for protection. But, fortunately, we had sense enough, even then, not to antagonize a lot of boys.

We dare say that these boys will be able to think of a lot of tricks to keep Mr. Talmadge on a hot seat. He stands right well with a lot of older folks, but when the young people of a whole state turn thumbs down on a fellow there is not much chance of his survival!

Of course, our readers know why the governor is on the black list of Georgia youth.

It was he who stacked the Board of Regents so that worthy educators he disliked could be discharged.

And as a result every top-notch educational ground in the United States has turned its back upon graduates of schools in our University System.

The government has built an educational wall around Georgia, so that every boy and girl who gets an education at home will have to stay right there and make the best living he or she can. There is to be no expansion in life for these youngsters if Talmadge continues to have his way.

Words And The War

America's participation in the world struggle has brought out the fact that we do not know the languages of the peoples in the areas in which we are having to fight. To remedy this situation in the shortest possible time a comprehensive program has been worked out by the committee on the National School of Modern Oriental Languages and Civilizations under the sponsorship of the American Council of Learned Societies.

The committee is now engaged in the difficult process of "tooling up" for the production of competent scholars in such languages as Malay, Siamese, Persian, Northwest African Arabic, Hungarian, Russian, Chinese and Japanese. Already work is under way and more will be started at Yale (Malay), Columbia (Persian), University of Pennsylvania (Northwest African Arabic), Michigan (Siamese), Harvard (Hungarian and Russian), and George Washington (Chinese and Japanese) as the tools are produced.

Americans have never been language conscious and because of this we are now faced with the present situation.

There is a special reason for each of the languages mentioned. The number of Americans now speaking Malay is practically zero. The same may be said for Thailand. It may as well be that the entire area of Persia, Afghanistan and northern India will be engulfed in the conflict. Northwest Africa, with its nearness to Europe and its growing strategic importance to both sides of the conflict, provides the motive for the study of the Arabic language of this region. The location of Hungary in the center of embattled Europe gives to the study of Hungarian a unique strategic importance. The reasons for studying Russian, Chinese and Japanese hardly need explanation.

While the British were assiduous language students they never went to the trouble of compiling adequate grammars, dictionaries, etc., and those that were compiled are now completely out of date.

In ordinary times there is little impetus for the production of these materials, but now that there is a concrete need for capable scholars in these languages, they will be produced within a fairly reasonable time.

American linguistic experts have had invaluable experience in the scientific study of the languages of the American Indian, which can be put to work in the present situation. In the analysis and confiscation of such Indian languages as Tonkawa, Quileute, Yuchi, Zuni and Coeur d'Alene these linguists gained experience and perfected a technique and a method unequalled anywhere in the world.

Mortimer Graves of the American council states that in seven or eight months results will begin to be apparent.—Henry H. Douglas, associate fellow for the Pacific area, Library of Congress.

Scriptural Searchlights

By OLIVER THOMAS

Text: "Her children shall arise up and call her blessed."—Prov. 31:28.

Mother's Day causes many people to remember that they have forgotten Mother the other three hundred sixty-four days. When once awakened to this fact, they usually go to see her and take her a gift as a token of love and appreciation. That precious heart that so craves and most worthily merits all our love, so seldom is rewarded. When once rewarded, all past negligence is forgiven. Her love is most like God's than any other.

The best friend one has on earth is his mother. God could not be everywhere at one time, so he gave us mothers. Eternity will call her home some day, and it will be too late then to express her worth to us. Bouquets will look beautiful on her grave; but, she can only appreciate them now. Let us not be so cruel as to allow her to take our love for granted. Give her your bouquets while she is living.

The beauty of life is lost when one loses sight of mother. Though we may never see her again in this life, the memories of her keep her alive in our hearts. As long as one remembers his mother, his life is being influenced.

Have you forgotten that your mother suffered the agonies of death to give you life, a love that knew no cost? Have you forgotten the many sleepless nights she spent in providing for your comforts, and waiting for your safe return home at night? Can you forget the many sacrifices she made to give you the best opportunities in life? Can you forget the tear-stained Bible and her many anxious prayers for you?

You may give her extravagant gifts and do many things; but there is one gift that surpasses all others. Let your life testify that her travail in birth, her sacrifices and teaching, have not been in vain, but have sent a son or daughter out to help build a better world.

Prayer: "Father, we thank thee for our mothers. May we place in her crown the brightest gem, a life that answers and rewards her sacrifices and prayers. Give us more good mothers that we may have a better world. Through Christ we pray. Amen."

Within My Heart

By Herod Ratcliff

I try to hold within my heart
No malice for any man or beast;
I strive to love the humblest creatures,
Thinking no more of greatest than of least;
Within my heart I have a treasure chest
Stored with the riches of a greater life;
I've found room there for everything
Since moving out all hatred's bitter strife.
I share within my heart the joys of youth
Without the jealousies and pain that but destroy,
For I have found at last my greater
life,
And ne'er again will slanderous thoughts my mind employ,
For I have placed within my heart a stronger soul—
A cleaner slate to record things
I do,
So that I'll know all's well within my heart
When all without is marked complete—and through.

Editor Receives Letter From Senior President

Dear Editor:

I always wanted to write a letter to the editor of the George-Anne but never could think of anything that seemed important enough to rate being put in your paper.

There are two things I would like to say. First, I want to say that I think you have done a swell job on the paper this year.

I am certainly glad that I will not be here next year. Now on the face that sounds very peculiar, I know. But if you will only stop and think a minute you will realize that no one who could go elsewhere would want to come back and study for a degree from a school that is not accredited by an association of the outstanding colleges of our great South.

As to when our University System will be put back on the accredited list, I do not know. But, there is one thing I do know. We can as students do something about trying to keep a similar situation from arising in the future. I am thinking about the Student Political League. Every student should want to become a member of this league and everyone should join it.

If we cannot do something about politics in college affairs controlled by state political demagogues how can we hope to have students to graduate without their ideals shattered before they begin to work?

Sincerely,
DAVID BOWMAN.

Dux Domina Spring Formal Honors Lovers

"In the spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," was the theme of the Dux Domina formal May 2nd. Hearts with great lovers of history drawn on them were displayed on the wall. The mantel was covered with ivy and roses. Breaking through a huge heart of steamers surrounded by an arch covered with roses and ivy climaxed the lead out. Pine trees were arranged artistically around the heart.

Punch was served throughout the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Hanner, their sponsors, had intermission for the Dux and their dates on the lawn of their home.

The Dux and dates were Mary T. Perry and Tom Jenkins, Mary F. Groover and E. T. Youngblood, Leila Wyatt and Hue Marsh, Betty Ann Morgan and Ralph Mize, Maxann Foy and Marcus Brunner, Margaret Tillman and Bill Aldred, Katherine Rowse and Dudley Gatewood, Helen Elder and Maron Jones, Helen Rowse and Robert Morris, Rosemary Wynn and Hal King, Clifford Lee and Tiny Ramsey, Catherine Gainey and Tom Vandiver, Virginia Perryman and Hobson Dubose, Eloise Hunt and Edwin Groover.

Invited guests and dates were Nell Brannen and Zeke Olliff, Vivian Parker and Ed Mixon, Pruella Cromartie and Arnold Anderson, Betty McLeMore and Jimmy Gunter.

A recent survey reveals there are thirty-two teachers' fraternities at American institutions of higher learning.

The students in Georgia do not wish to tolerate Fascism "a la Talmadge" any longer, and through this league they hope to destroy it.

Tiny Henderson and John Dunn attended a meeting in Athens, at which representatives from all school met to map out a more definite program, last Friday and Saturday.

The high schools are also going to be included in this Student League because it is also of great importance to them that the colleges in Georgia be accredited. This league is not restricted to the colleges in the University System, but to all colleges in the state.

In a recent issue of one of the leading newspapers of the state Talmadge made a statement ridiculing the Student Political League. He remarked, "I enjoy the enthusiasm and activities of youth." He can laugh now, but he had better remember that he who laughs last laughs longest.

The Iowa State College civilian pilot training program has graduated fifty-four men to the armed service of the nation.

The Greatest Air Army in the World
Needs Flight and Ground Crew Officers

NOW FOR COLLEGE MEN A NEW OFFICERS' TRAINING PLAN

★ New Deferred Service Plan Allows You to Continue Your Education ★

In the skies over America the mightiest air fleet in the history of the world is mobilizing for victory!

So fast is it growing that there is a place here — an urgent need here — for every college man in America who can qualify for Officer's Training.

The U. S. Army Air Forces need Flying Officers and Ground Crew Officers. And many of them must come from the ranks of today's college students — men who make their plans now for the necessary Aviation Cadet training.

Thanks to a newly created Air Force Reserve plan, men of all classes — aged 18 to 26, inclusive — can enlist for immediate service or continue the scholastic work required for graduation before being called to active duty.

You must meet the requirements for physical fitness, of course. In addition, you take a new simplified test to determine your ability to grasp the training. A college man should pass it easily.

$75 A MONTH DURING TRAINING

Those accepted who wish immediate duty will go into training as rapidly as facilities permit. As an Aviation Cadet, you are paid $75 a month, with subsistence, quarters, medical care, uniforms, equipment.

In 8 months you can win an officer's commission as a bombardier, navigator or pilot — and be well started on your way to serve America and advance yourself in aviation.

Three Enlistment Plans for College Men

Juniors—Sophomores—Freshmen May Continue Their Education

1. A new plan allows Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen, aged 18 to 26, inclusive, to enlist in the Air Force Enlisted Reserve and continue their schooling, provided they maintain satisfactory scholastic standings.

All College Men May Enlist for Immediate Service

2. All college students may enlist as privates in the Army Air Forces (unassigned) and serve there until their turns come for Aviation Cadet training.

3. All college students may enlist in the Air Force Enlisted Reserve and wait until ordered to report for Aviation Cadet training.

Upon graduation or withdrawal from college, men will be assigned to active duty at a training center as facilities become available.

If the necessity of war demands, the deferred status in the Army Reserve may be terminated at any time by the Secretary of War.

The new Army Air Force Enlisted Reserve Plan is part of an over-all Army Enlisted Reserve Corps program shortly to be announced. This program will provide opportunities for college men to enlist in other branches of the Army on a deferred basis and to continue their education through graduation if a satisfactory standard of work is maintained. In case of necessity the Secretary of War shall determine when they may be called to active duty.

It is understood that men so enlisted will have the opportunity of competing for vacancies in officer's candidate schools.

This plan has been approved in the belief that continuance of education will develop capacities for leadership. (Reserve enlistment will not alter regulations regarding established R.O.T.C. plans.)

MANY BRANCHES OF SERVICE

There are also commissions awarded in ground crew service. College men particularly will be interested in the requirements for Armaments, Communications, Engineering, Meteorology, Photography. If you have engineering experience your chances of getting a commission are excellent.

As a Second Lieutenant on active duty with the Army Air Forces, your pay ranges from $183 to $245 a month.

ACT AT ONCE

If you want to fight for America, this is where your blows will count.

If you want the best training in the world, and years of solid achievement in aviation — the great career field of the future — this is where you belong. Your place is here — in the Army Air Forces.

If you plan to enlist immediately, start getting your necessary papers ready for the Aviation Cadet Examining Board when it meets in your locality. For complete information, see your Faculty Air Force Advisor. You can take your mental and physical examinations the same day you apply. Get further information now.

NOTE: If you wish to enlist and are under 21, you will need your parents' or guardian's consent. Birth certificates and three letters of recommendation will be required of all applicants. Obtain the forms and send them home today — you can then complete your enlistment before any Aviation Cadet Examining Board.

Lambda Theta Chi Plan Annual Ball Slated May 30th

Members of Lambda Theta Chi sorority are making plans for their annual Green and Gold Ball to be given May 30. Committees are appointed and the work toward a traditional L.T.C. triumph has been started.

At the last meeting on Thursday night discussion about a breakfast for the former members of the sorority predominated. It was decided that the breakfast would be given on the morning of May 31 in order that as many of the old members as possible might be present for both the dance and the breakfast.

Hostesses for the evening were Eula Beth Jones and Betty McLe-more.

English Club Elects Officers

The English Club met Wednesday afternoon, May 6, in the parlor of East Hall.

After the old business was discussed the new officers for next year were elected. They are: President, Myrtice Swinson; vice-president, Julie Odum; secretary, Ruth Hart, and treasurer, Allie Jean Alderman. The new officers will have charge of the next meeting.

Mervin Shivers was in charge of the program. Clare Mincey read a very amusing essay, after which the club was divided into two groups and each group gave a pantomime.

Delicious sandwiches and iced tea were served by Eula Beth Jones, Julia Odum, Eva Hayes and Oliver Thomas.

On Defense . . .

BY RICHARD STARR

"What can I do to help the United States? I'm too young to vote, I'm too young to be in the army or navy, too young to hold a public office. There's nothing I can do."

These words or their equivalent have been said over and over by students all through the country. "There's nothing I can do" is just an easy way of say, "I don't want to do anything else but join the navy or the army, vote, or other such direct measures of helping the United States."

We as students do have a job. Our job is not so much now as is our preparation for our job. One of the major causes of the United States' being where she is now is "rotten" politics. Cleaning up these rotten politics will be our job in the future.

The question "is there a statesman in the House—or Senate" was asked in one of the recent issues of Fortune Magazine. The two following paragraphs are excerpts from the article:

"Is it true that for collective brains, guts, vision, and leadership the Seventy-seventh (Congress) would stand pretty close to the bottom in any ranking of the seventy-seven congresses that have assembled bi-annually since 1789? It is true that it contains no Websters, Clays, or Calhouns, nor even any men of the brilliance of Borah, the stubborn fighting power of a Joe Robinson, or the single-minded perseverance of a Cordell Hull. (Two statesmen from former years, Nebraska's Norris and Virginia's Glass, are now well past their effective prime.) It is also true that, along with a number of able, patriotic, hard-working legislators, this congress contains an overflowing measure of hacks, demagogues, and time-servers.

"But for the presence of the latter, the blame rests squarely upon the American electorate. It belongs to the people who voted for them, to the people who did not vote at all, and perhaps most of all to that great mass of indifferent citizens who, by failing to vote in the primaries, effectively abdicated their franchise to the bosses and came to the general elections with no alternative but to mark the least objectionable names on the ballot. It would be interesting to know how many of the citizens who have recently written angry letters to their congressmen voted in the primaries that nominated the objects of their wrath."

By these two paragraphs is shown the major problem of the voters of tomorrow. Those voters are the students in the colleges today. Now while we have the chance we must prepare for our political future. Three of the most important things we must learn to help us in being good voters are these:

1. We must learn to think for ourselves and not be guided by "party bosses."
2. We must learn that statesmen and not politicians are to hold the public offices.
3. We must learn that voting should not be a hit-and-miss proposition, but a matter of serious thought; on the merits of each candidate.

This Thursday the officers for the new school year '42-'43 will be elected. This election may not be important to the state or to the nation, but it is important to Teachers College. The officers which are elected will have a big responsibility on them. It will be up to them to see that everything which student officers should do, is done. Each class should have as their officers students who are capable of carrying out their duties and who want the job not for the honor of it but because they feel that they can be a success at the job and want to try to build up the organization.

When we go to vote we must remember the three things which were given in a previous paragraph. In short, they are to think for themselves, to place candidates in who are fit for the job and not those who try to ride in on a fraternity or some organization, and to vote by merit and not by friendship or looks.

Delta Sigma Will Install New Officers

At the last meeting Eula Beth Jones, our student sponsor, served us refreshments which were enjoyed by all.

Final plans were made for our quarterly dance May 16th, which will practically close the social events of the fraternity for another year. Everyone is looking forward to the dance very much as it closes the tenth year of the fraternity's existence. The spring dance starts in the afternoon with a card dance from 3:30 until 5:30. At 7:00 o'clock the banquet will be held, at which time will be installed the new officers for the coming year. At 8:30 the last part of the dance will start, it being cabaret style.

Intramural sports were discussed at the meeting. The football and basketball teams were praised highly, having won the championship in both. At the present in the number of games lost we are tied for first place with the Bugger Daggers. Having won the last three games in a row, two over the B. D. and the other over the I. P. N., we feel that we have a very good chance to add another championship to our credit.

Due to the great amount of feature material in this issue of the George-Anne and the large amount of advertising space, some of the social news which usually appears on this page will be found on page 3.

Patronize the advertisers of this issue of the George-Anne and buy United States War Bonds and Stamps. These are two things which will help local and national affairs tremendously.

Bachelors' Minstrel Scheduled May 14

The Bachelors' minstrel of 1942 will be given in the college auditorium Thursday, May 14, at 8:30 p. m. The prices will be twenty-five cents for adults and fifteen cents for children under twelve years of age.

The script is very good, being written by Anglin and Gunter, and censored by Feaster and Culbreth. This, as is every Bachelor minstrel, will be of the highest type and is sure to please everyone attending the entertainment, so let's all come out for a rip-roaring good time.
