Profs Meet Tough Mercer Bears Tonight

After many years of not playing each other, Mercer University and Georgia Teachers College will play each other tonight at 8:30. The game is a natural rivalry and will bring together the top small quintets of the state.

Mercer has a team that has improved with each day of the season and are now capable of holding their own in any league.

Coach J. B. Searce closed the doors to outsiders this week in an effort to cook up a surprise for the Bears.

Reports from Macon state that the Mercer team has been pointing to this game and is ready to go all-out in an effort to beat the Professors.

The Professors are also pointing to the game and are in good shape. Perkins, Clements, Parsons, Renfro, Duncan, and Cartee have stated they are feeling fine and are looking forward to a good time.

Coach Searce has received word from many of the old grads and a good number will be on the campus for the game. The doors will be opened early, but an overflow crowd is expected.

The game will be broadcast over W. W. N. S., Statesboro.

Panel Discussion On Family Life Be Held by Home Ec.

A panel discussion concerning the problems of home and family life will be the feature of the Home Economics Club meeting on Monday, January 22. Participating in this discussion will be several prominent people in different phases of this field: Dr. Fielding Russell, Rev. T. L. Harnsberger, Mrs. Billy Simmons, Dr. Helen Deal, and Mr. Yewell Thompson.

It is felt that this discussion will be of interest to all future teachers and parents, so this meeting will be open to all students and any persons desiring to attend. The program will be held in the college auditorium at 7 p. m. Those attending are invited to participate in the discussion period following the panel.

"LOUISA"—Georgia Theatre, on Wed., Thurs., Fri. — Between Grandma's charms and Daughter's curves, the boyfriend problem was driving the whole family "nuts." This picture is the story of the funniest thing that could happen to a family, too. Spring Byington is the Grandmother, "Louisa," who is the center of a romantic triangle involving Charles Coburn and Edmund Gwenn—all three of them over 60! Ronald Reagan and Ruth Hussey are the flustered heads of the family, and there's also a teen-age affair between their daughter, newcomer Piper Laurie, and Scotty Beckett.

"DESTINATION-MOON"—State Theatre, Mon., Tues.—This is the picture you've waited to see—the first rocket flight to the moon—in Technicolor. If you remember, not long ago, a movie came out called "Rocketship X-M," which started out for the moon, overshot it and wound up on the planet Mars. But this one actually lands on the moon. "Destination-Moon" is scientifically sounder, a better and more believable production than "Rocketship X-M," and more enjoyable. This picture has been years in the making, so it is pretty realistic. And it's one not to be missed.

"SO PROUDLY WE HAIL"—Drive-In, Wed., Thurs.—This is the story of Navy nurses in the Philippines during World War II, and when it first came out in 1943, it was widely acclaimed—and good pictures are forever new. Claudette Colbert, Paulette Goddard and Veronica Lake are the nurses, and Sonny Tufts made his screen debut in this. With a cast like that, it's got to be good.

Pep Rally Planned

The big basketball game with Mercer is scheduled for Saturday night. With it comes the first pep rally of the year. Here are the plans:

Cheerleaders will meet the Student Council in front of Sanford at 6:45 sharp, where they will yell and draw the boys out. Then, proceeding around the circle, they will be joined by the East Hallians. The next stop is West, where they will get 'em out. On to Lewis and the "same ole thing." And now to the open area where there will be music, yells, and fireworks. For the grand climax the sophomores will be responsible for a bonfire on which an effigy, furnished by the freshmen, will be burned. The gang will then rush madly for the gym in order to secure their seats in preparation to make the gym rock and reel with shrieks, screams, and screeches.

NOTICE

Free Want Ads will be given students requesting them. Drop requests in slot on door of Mr. Kopp's office.

I. R. C. To Present Annual Talent Show

By FAYE WATERS

On January 24, at 8:00, the International Relations Club will present a talent show. Entries are open for any club on the campus. Any club wishing to participate will contact Donald McClellan or L. B. Betzen.

Each participating club will have from five to ten minutes for presenting its talent. The I. R. C. will award cash prizes for the first three winners. These prizes will total $30. Judges will be business people from town.

Tickets can be purchased from any member of I. R. C. for 25 cents. They can also be purchased at the door on the night of the talent show.

The I. R. C. meets on second and fourth Monday nights. Walter Durden is club president. Any new members are welcome.

Introducing Korea

By J. QUARLES

January 26 is a very important day to me, and to you too; for, on that day we shall know more intimately the country which has aroused so much attention as of late.

Mrs. Induch Pakh will be speaking to us on "Korea Today," "My Country and My People," and "Korean Women." Mrs. Pakh has brought Korea to life for countless American audiences through her dynamic presentations, her radiant personality, and her vigorous manner.

To understand the world, we must know something about it, and that is what we are trying to advocate. It is an honor to have Mrs. Pakh as our guest speaker.

Draft Delay Is Possible For Brains

(Taken from University Signal)

An added incentive for above-average scholastic achievement aside from the usual benefits derived therefrom was pointed out for students' attention today by J. C. Camp, dean of students.

Up until now, deferments have been granted by draft boards for students to finish their school year

Kappa Delta Pi Fraternity To Be Organized Here

Georgia Teachers College has been notified by the National President of Kappa Delta Pi that its petition for a local chapter has been approved. Dr. Katherine Vickery, National Vice President, is to install the local chapter during the afternoon of January 27, 1951. The installation will be held that night.

Kappa Delta Pi is the highest co-educational honorary fraternity for persons who are entering the field of education. It was established in 1911, and now has 153 institutional chapters throughout the United States. The purpose of the fraternity is to encourage high professional, intellectual, and to education. To become a member, a student must exhibit commendable personal qualities, worthy educational ideals, and be in the upper fourth of the college in scholarship. The violet and green ribbons worn by pledges, and the honor caps worn by members, will become a familiar sight on the campus.

The following students and faculty filed the original petition, and will become the charter members on the campus:

Marilyn Barwick, Margaret Harrison, Grance Ann Hill, Louis D. Hodges, Fred M. Kennedy, Alvin Moreland, A. J. Morris, Idus A. Newby Jr., William (Bill) Pharris, Earl M. Reynolds, Alan W. Rodgers, Murray A. Rogers, and Dr. Fielding Russell.

only. But, it appears now that students who are acknowledged by their school to be in the upper half of their class will be eligible in the future for deferment to finish work on their entire degree.

This group will be given a new temporary classification by their draft boards after receiving permission to finish their college course. Upon graduation or in event of falling into the lower portion of the class, the person resumes his original draft status.

This deferment is open only to

Richard Ellsasser, Noted Organist, To Be Here For Concert February 5

By EDITH CARPENTER

Richard Ellsasser, 24-year-old organist, who was presented in the Teachers College auditorium for the artist series last year, is returning again this year on February 5.

Mr. Ellsasser will be remembered by most of the students as a likeable young man with unruly brown hair and sparkling brown eyes who fitted right into the school as if he belonged here and instantly made himself beloved by most of the students. The fact that he stayed over an extra day, giving the students a chance to get acquainted with him, helped make him one of the best-liked artists presented last year.

Ellsasser as a person is fairly normal in his likes and tastes, although above average in class rank and his amazing memory. He is also a composer and is at present attending the School of Religion at the University of Southern California.

Ellsasser has a flair for bright colors, is fond of animals, and makes a collection of phonograph records. He is also addicted to speed, never driving an automobile at less than top speed and shunning trains for airplanes. He is a member of United Air Lines' 100,000 Mile Club.

To make him more human, Mr. Ellsasser is trying to go on a diet to redistribute his 170 pounds, and has only one bad habit: coming home late to dinner.

Miss Inez Brown Is Campus Visitor

Miss Inez Brown, speech teacher from Middle Georgia College, Cochran, Ga., was on the campus Wednesday and Thursday. Miss Brown came to attend "Don't Go Away Mad" and stayed over Thursday to visit and confer with faculty members and students.

Miss Brown taught at Georgia Teachers College during the summer of 1950.

'Don't Go Away Mad' Enjoyed

By BUNNY BROWN

The Masquers' winter production, "Don't Go Away Mad," presented Tuesday night, has brought forth many varied comments around the campus.

Everyone seems to agree that the acting far surpassed anything we've seen so far at T. C., and was enjoyed by all—even down to the last "I don't know" that was uttered meekly by Posyeo. Greedy Reed, portrayed so well by Dan Dan Biggers, furnished food for thought concerning the present-day problem of racial discrimination and the reasons behind it. Andy Boy exhibited the fear of life and yet even greater fear of losing it that many of us feel in the world today. However, everyone wants to try to forget the fears and uncertainty and enjoy what remains. Such a play as "Don't Go Away Mad" doesn't help the situation. Most folks go to see a play because they are seeking entertainment rather than an evening spent struggling to figure out a psychological drama. The general public, like Saroyan, has a certain amount of sympathy for the rejected and despised, but they also have problems of their own from which they wish to escape. The fall production, "East Lynn," which was met with wide acclaim from everyone, offered laughter plus a human interest story which appealed to the audience and left them feeling better after the final curtain than they did before they came. We don't mean to be unappreciative of the unusual acting ability that was exhibited by the entire cast on Tuesday night, or the excellent job done by the stage managers. However, now that you have shown us what you can do, Masquers, how about giving us some honest-to-goodness entertainment—maybe a few laughs. We need it!

SHOWN HERE is part of the Original Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers to appear at Georgia Teachers College auditorium Monday, January 29, at 8:15 p. m. The Don Cossack Chorus and Dancers is the second presentation of the Statesboro Concert Association during the 1950-51 season. It is brought here in cooperation with the college. Roger Holland is president of the Concert Association.

The Sporting Proposition

THE DICTIONARY describes "sport" as a diversion and "sporting" as the way a person engages in the sport. Have you ever wondered what a person may think of you as a sport, whether you are considered a good or a bad sport? It would be a great asset for you to find out.

The top scorer on the basketball team can be the best in his field, but if he doesn't play fair he is not considered very important. Cheating does not stop by hurting him; it can be traced to affecting his family, school, and friends. No one is proud to say his best friend is a cheater, a thief of sports.

If you think you can cheat just one time, thing again! You may fool the judges, the other players, and the audience, but you over-ride your conscience. Your conscience is that consequential device in you that tells you right from wrong. Just follow that implement and you will always come out in the right.

Getting back to the old and ever-apparent subject, cheating, it comes natural to one who has done it often; just like the drunkard, it's not too long before you can't play a game without cheating. Such an ailment comes easy, but it is hard to cure. The best remedy for this sickness is a thing called "never-to-begin-with."—Robert Hurst.

Comments On Income Tax...

Gee, what sighs and moans and groans you hear when someone mentions income tax. Some think we should have higher taxes and some believe we should have much lower taxes. Well, I suppose everyone has a right to his own opinion.

I made a survey of the faculty members and here are a few of their comments:

Mrs. Guardia said that she knew we were all sorry about income taxes. She said that she would much rather pay the tax than make out the returns because they were so long and detailed.

Dr. Rogers favors income taxes because he says they are the only fair way to get taxes from everyone.

Miss Newton believes the taxes will have to be higher to meet the enormous cost of war. She doesn't mind paying higher taxes if they will help our boys fighting overseas, but she would hate for all the taxes to go to Washington and stop there to pay high salaries of government officials.

Mr. Scott is definitely in favor of income taxes, but he is putting off the day when he must make his returns.

Mr. Pennington said he didn't like income taxes because, after his annual increase, he is now drawing less than he did last year.

Dr. Poole says he will pay his income tax and say nothing.

Mr. Moye says he knows his taxes have got to be paid.

Miss Johnson's only comment was, "Oh, dear, oh, dear!"

Dr. Houck plans to take a nice long trip to California when, and if, he gets his income tax back.

Dr. Russell said that he would be very happy if the government would let him retain his taxes and give the government his income.

Don McDougald closed one of his letters to the faculty members with the following: "With best wishes for a big refund."

Dear Krabtree:

Dear Krabtree,

We read your column every week, but do wish that you would have more jokes. We see no reason that would keep you from making your column longer. Don't you think it would be better to have at least one good column rather than two or three uninteresting stories? We hope that you will take this up with the editor and try to get more space each week.

Sincerely,
THE GAY GIRLS.

I agree with you, and will try to get Uncle Krabtree to comply with your request.—Ed.

This Guy Is Weird...

Dear Ma and Pa,

Please excuse the delay in writing, but I've been awfully busy with rushing. I know you will be happy to hear that I am now a full pledged freshman of Upsilon Sigma Alpha, the largest fraternity in the country. I enjoy all the rights and privileges of the order. Let me tell you all about it.

When I arrived at the university two months ago I was met at the entrance by two khaki clad students, obviously upperclassmen. One of them wore a white armband with the words "Recruiting Service" on it. When I inquired about it he said it identified him as a rush captain. That seemed logical since he had two bars on his shoulders. Both of these men were very nice to me. And did they work as a team! While the rush captain was explaining to me what an honor it was to be a member of the greatest fraternity in the world (his, of course), his brother was giving me shots in one arm and extracting blood from the other. They said it was to prevent gone-to-korea at the university. I was proud of myself for having picked such a fine school. After much consideration, I realized that Upsilon Sigma Alpha was the fraternity for me. It is plenty good here, but they tell me that our chapter at some school up north called West Point is really tops.

After I had been given my pledge pin (two crossed rifles), I began my pledge period. For six weeks I crawled under barbed wire fences, waded streams, and took forced marches as a part of a "freshman orientation program," designed to prepare me for the rigors of college life. And, so as not to get our new collegiate clothes dirty, we've been issued lovely fatigue uniforms. Isn't that wonderful?

As soon as this pledge training is over I'm planning to leave for an international convention at our Sigma Kappa Chapter at the University of Taegu. I don't know where that is, exactly, except that it is somewhere near the 38th parallel. Does that mean anything?

Love,
JUNIOR.

P.S. Do you think I can get a deferment from the draft? I sure would hate to leave this great college life.

Krabtree's Klippings of Kampus Korn

In mules we find two legs behind
Two we find before.
We stand behind, before we find
What the two behind are for.

I used to love my garden
But now my love is dead,
For I found a bachelor button
In my brown-eyed Susan bed.

Spending the night in an Am-nillo hotel, a woman tourist engaged the desk clerk in conversation.

"What do you have that is of unusual interest in your city?"
"Well, we have the only helium plant in the world, for one thing."
"Really? Is it in bloom now?"

I wish I had enough money to buy an elephant."
"What on earth do you need an elephant for?"
"I don't. I just need the money."

OLD-MAID ANGEL
Lord, make her an attractive angel!
She was a homely girl:
Freckles on her snub nose,
Hair that would not curl;
Eyes behind thick glasses—
But glasses could not hide
The look of dreams that never flowered
And never quite died.

Across the miles of sagebrush,
In shining boots and spur,
Sun-browned knights came riding,
But not to her.
Only the hard-knuckled years
Took her by the hand
And made of her a school ma'am
In a lonesome land.

Lord give her wings of loveliness,
(Her clothes were always plain),
Let her dance in silver shoes
With the rain.
Clock her in stardust

She has never known,
And let her walk the evening—
Not alone!
How sweet is love
But, oh, how bitter,
To love a girl
And then not git'er.

Dear God

"Almighty King of Heaven!"

The thundrous phrases roll

Like tidal waves of glory

O'er our poor sinful souls.

Our "Gracious Heavenly Father—"

The preacher will begin;

"Kind, loving, gracious Master,

Forgiver of our sins."

"Almighty God of Glory,"

Within the church resounds,

"Oh, Prince of Peace, we pray

Thee

To send Thy fire down!"

The syllables roll like thunder

To fill the calm with dread

Until I find I'm peeping

With reverently bowed head,

To see if in the pulpit

God's throne does really stand,

With He, Himself upon it

With justice in his hand.

But in my room at night when

Beside my bed I pray,

"Please watch and guide and keep me,

Dear God," is all I pray.

Freshmen Upset Jax. Junior College 74-65

The Freshmen played the best ball game of the season in downing the Jacksonville Junior College quintet to the tune of 74 to 65. This gave them a two to three record in the won and lost column. Jacksonville Junior College defeated South Georgia, so the win was sweet revenge for the Freshmen.

Billy Oswald led the freshmen with 22 points. Oswald turned in his finest performance for Teachers College. He enlisted in the Air Force immediately after the game.

The outstanding defensive game was turned in by Bob Belton, who has dropped out of Teachers College to join the Navy. Coach J. I. Clements was unusually proud of his team after they had turned in such an impressive victory.

The frosh jumped to a 2 point lead in the first minute of play when Oswald hit from close under the basket.

The score was tied five times in the first half and led by the score of 38-36 after the first 20 minutes.

The Tide jumped to a 6 point lead in the first two minutes of the second half and were pulling away at the gun for the end of the game.

Sanford Sidelines

By ROBERT HURST

LAST WEEK Sanford Hall welcomed a host of new boys to the "Clan of Sanford". This week we bid "adieu" to some new (as well as old) students, who claim that Uncle Sam needs them more than we do. Bob Belton and Billy Oswald, two freshmen basketball players, left to go to the Navy. Others to leave Sanford were David Grant and Ted Hammock.

Perhaps in the field of professions there is none greater than that of a minister. Well, last week one of the star personalities of Sanford devoted himself to full time christian service. This great task was done by Mayo Hartley. All of Sanford wishes him the best in the field which he has chosen.

All else is quiet on the Sanford front, with the exception of Alyosia Q. Cat. He is getting restless now that there is no Roy Rodent to pester. We'll probably hear more from this villainous feline.

Lewis Laughs

BETTY ANNE BEDINGFIELD

PRESBYTERIAN students had never seen such loyalty shown to a team as 17 T. C. girls showed to their team Saturday night in Clinton, S. C. It was a long trip, and we were already a little tired when we got there, but the exciting game made it worth the trip.

Since Presbyterian is an all-male school, we girls got plenty of attention when we stopped to eat at a grill not far from the college. Even "Yours Truly" managed to carry on a sensible conversation with some boy (not handsome, but ...), in spite of her stuttering and stammering!

With the Talent Show not far off and the Beauty Revue coming up, things are beginning to boom. "Why don't we do a takeoff on Bob Poole's favorite drama 'John and Marsha'?" "Who do you think will be 'Miss T. C.'?" "Will someone please pluck my eyebrows?" and "Do you think my hair needs trimming again?" is the way the conversation runs. Women are such scheming creatures; but, after all, if they weren't some men would never get married!

Professors to Face Pelzer and Erskine Monday, Tuesday

The professors will hit the road Monday to take on the strong Pelzer Mill team of Anderson, S. C. The Pelzer team is one of the best teams the Professors will encounter this year. They have beaten such teams as Erskine, University of Georgia, Clemson College, and Parris Island. The Pelzer team is made up of former college stars and has a reputation of scoring an unusually large number of points in every game.

On Tuesday night, January 23, the Professors will meet Erskine College at Due West, S. C. The Erskine-Teachers College games have always been close and this year probably won't be an exception.

The score of last year's game with Erskine was 39-36 in favor of Teachers College. The game this year will probably be another of those thrillers.

Plans are being made to broadcast the Erskine game over Station W. W. N. S. by some of the Teachers College Boosters from Statesboro.

Bennet's Blabs

By JOAN BENNETT

WITH THE I. R. C. Talent Show coming up and the Beauty Revue, the W. A. A. and P. E. M. clubs are on their toes getting participants, skits, and what-have-you.

A class, non-credit, has been started in basketball officiating for girls interested in officiating in the basketball games to begin soon. This promises to be very interesting and I'm sure it would help every girl understand and enjoy the basketball game more, as well as make her eligible to officiate. Miss Stanion and Miss Hilliard are giving the lectures and there will be practical experience to boot.

The P. E. M. Club is planning to sponsor an exhibition in tumbling and folk dancing sometime near the end of the quarter. The physical education classes will probably put on the exhibition.

It seems that before long, the only kind of intramural program will be the women's since it looks like all the men will be getting their exercise digging foxholes and peeling potatoes. Well, it's a good program, so why worry about such a small matter as men? Any comment?

Music Hath Its Charms

By ANN HIGGINBOTHAM

There are many types of music which give different effects. Sacred music is sung and played in the church to glorify God, while marches are presented for people to march by, and "boogie" is played for jitterbugs, or for those people who like to move their hips, the conga music is beat out to the South American rhythm.

I feel that sacred music has more of a meaning to me than any of the musics, although I do not like all kinds. A person can go into a church with many worries, but as he sits still and listens to the organ, a state of serenity comes over him and soon his troubles are forgotten.

Many people feel that sacred music is only for the sad saks. This is not true! If slow music is what they dislike, there is not a thing to worry about because some sacred music is peppy and can be sung with very much spirit.

Every Sunday, a definition for the organ prelude is written in our church bulletin. "The organ prelude is a veil dropped between daily life and the worship hour. Let us sit in silent meditation and reverence, permitting the music to attune our souls to the highest we know."

During the quietness of meditation, sacred music has a rhythm which satisfies the human soul and gives one the feeling of lasting peace.

"Don't Go Away Mad" was a huge success. Good work, cast and Miss Stewart!

We are glad to see the intramural basketball teams getting started for the winter.

Aviation Cadet Selection Team On Campus Soon

Juniors and seniors interested in officer opportunities in the U. S. Air Force will have a chance to find out all the answers next week right here on the campus. A United States Air Force Aviation Cadet Selection Team will be here from January 22 through January 23, at Mr. Kopp's office in the administration building.

According to Major W. H. Bozeman, who is making arrangements for the team, this visit is one of many being made to accredited college campuses this year by U.S. Air Force officers to provide college graduates with information on Air Force officer trainees. The Selection Team will be ready not only to answer all questions but also is equipped to process any G. T. C. men who qualify.

Major Bozeman stated that there are two courses of training being offered to qualified men.

1. Aviation Cadet Pilot Training consisting of one year of intensive schooling in all phases of aviation. Cadets receive $105 per month during training and upon graduation are awarded commissions as second lieutenants. Ordered to active duty as flying officers, these men earn pay and allowances amount to almost $5000 per year.

2. Aviation Cadet Navigator Training consists of a year's schooling in the latest techniques of radar navigation. Cadets receive $105 per month during training and upon graduation are awarded commissions as second lieutenants. Ordered to active duty as flying officers, these men earn pay and allowances amount to almost $5000 per year also.

Accepted applicants who are found qualified will be given four months deferment from the draft.

Cadets and students who do not complete either of the two courses are returned to civilian life.

people in the sophomore, junior and senior classes. However, freshmen are frozen, Dean Camp said.

The schools classification of the individual will be checked by the draft board through a series of examinations with a definite minimum required on the Army General Classification Test.

AVIATION CADETS

Get On Top Stay On Top!

WITH A YEAR OF THE WORLD'S FINEST AVIATION TRAINING IN THE U. S. AIR FORCE

Yes, sir—it takes a full year's training as an Aviation Cadet to earn your commission as an officer and pilot in the U. S. Air Force. But that commission is worth its weight in gold.

And when you strut those wings and bars for the first time you can be sure that you've had the finest instructors and training equipment that any flying man ever had... that you are ready and able to carry out any mission assigned.

For the Air Force believes being a good pilot is just one of the qualities necessary... you must make a good officer as well... capable of commanding the respect of superiors and subordinates alike... capable of assuming and discharging the responsibilities of your office... capable of being an officer of the U. S. Air Force.

So...

FIREWALL IT!

NEEDLE IT!

CROWD THE MACH!

"...a full year's training"

"...earn your wings"

"...get going fast"

In jet-pilot language that means... GET GOING AND GET GOING FAST! Your take-off point is the Aviation Cadet Selection Team which will soon visit your own college campus. See if you can qualify. If you can... you're on the way up to the top. First stop... aviation cadet training school. First pay... $105 a month for one year with all clothing, food, medical and dental care provided free. First commission... 2nd Lt. in the U. S. Air Force Reserve. Beginning salary close to $5,000 a year. You've got a top job and with your training and experience you'll stay on top.
