Noted Artist To Present Concert Here Mon. Night

On Monday, February 5, at 8:15 p. m., the Organ Guild will present Richard Ellsasser in a program of organ music. This will be the second performance that Ellsasser has made on the T. C. campus. The music lovers of the college and Statesboro will remember the very inspiring visit that he made here last year.

AAUW To Sponsor Bridge Party For Basketball Court

The Statesboro Branch of the American Association of University Women is sponsoring a benefit bridge party Thursday, February 8 in the lounge of Sanford Hall. The afternoon session will begin at 3:30; the evening session at 8: Students may make reservations with Dr. Georgia Watson or Miss Hassie McElveen. Admission is fifty cents per person (two dollars per table). The proceeds are to be given to the Statesboro Recreation Center to begin a fund for lighting the outdoor basketball court.

New Officers Elected to Wesley Foundation

The Wesley Foundation is rapidly growing higher and higher. Gene Henderson was elected president to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of J. D. Corbitt. The Council has been replaced with new members to carry on for those transferring to other schools.

Genie Owen has been elected to represent G. T. C. Wesley Foundation in the Christian Citizenship Seminar in Washington D. C. and the United Nations Seminar in New York February 25 through March 1.

Mrs. Kingery was hostess at her lovely home to the Council members Tuesday night. A good time was reported by everyone.

A hint to the old members—Several treats are in store for the near future—Attend all Wesley Foundation meetings.

Campus Hi-Lights By GENIE OWEN

W. S. B. has been saluting Georgia Teachers College on its "Platter Party" each night this week from 12:05 until 12:30. Monday night Spencer Overstreet talked to the M. C., Bob Watson, and told him interesting points about T. C. Each night thereafter Bob Watson played the student's requests and told more interesting facts about T. C., as fields in which you can get majors and minors, the number of students and various clubs and activities on the campus.

The "Professors" played a fine game Tuesday night and won 78-67 over the Paris Island Marines. Good playing team!

Monday night many people thought that the Russians had landed when the Don Cossack chorus walked out on the stage of the auditorium. The men were dressed in unique Russian clothes, and they sang beautifully in their own native tongue. The two dancers caused quite a sensation when they ran on the stage during a song and began a Russian dance.

Richard Ellsasser, the famous organist, will present his concert Monday night in the auditorium at 8:15. He is an accomplished organist and his concert should be something you'd never forget.

It seems to me that every student on the campus is going to Ellsasser is indeed one of the greatest organists in America. Recognition of the genius of organist Richard Ellsasser, impressive to the degree of hushed respect until released in the thunderous applause by his audiences, does not invade his personality. He is friendly, sympathetic and sincere in all his interests and activities.

Being only 23 years old Ellsasser has already received his honorary degree of Doctor of Humanities. He is the youngest musician in history to have performed the entire 219 organ works by Bach from memory. As amazing as his feat is it is but an item in the acclaim he has earned from professional circles by which he has been especially praised for his own creative art in improvisation and composition.

The tickets for this concert are on sale at Henry's in Statesboro. They will also be sold at the door on the night of the performance.

Technicolor Film To Be Shown

In this time of strife, many citizens of the United States have recognized the need for looking again into this land and renewing their faith in it. Going along with this movement the library is presenting the movie, "America, The Beautiful," next Tuesday night at 7:30 in the Audio-Visual room. The film is in technicolor and carries one on a journey to many of the beautiful scenic places of America. It carries the message of pride in our heritage and of our responsibilities to keep America strong and beautiful. It is a beautiful film produced for you and all of our nation's citizens. Be sure not to miss it.

Sanford Sidelines

By Robert Hurst

While roaming about the campus the other day, thinking about the birds and bees and what-have-you, I overheard two young things of the fairer sex talking. One has asked the other a question about why her boy friend, Ethelbert had carried up some magazines to Sanford. The other was attempting an answer, "Well, its this way, ya' know how we swoon over Peter Lawford and Gregory Peck, well, its the same with them only its over the opposite sex." The light was beginning to come through to Mildred Innocence, "Oh, you mean like we pin pictures of Gregory and Peter they pin pictures of Ava and Elizabeth." This was, to me, a very educational and interesting conversation. This same conversation also gave me an idea on an article for Sanford Sidelines. If a magazine poll was taken in Sanford Hall I am sure that the winner would be Esquire and the close second would be "Look." After this category of magazines had been filled the second would consist of the sporting magazines such as "Sport" and "Sport Life."

But, I ask you, how can Joe DiMaggio compare with Ava Gardner?

"ALL ABOUT EVE"

"All About Eve" combines the talents of eight Academy Award winners to produce one of the Top Ten movies of 1950—a sharp witty satire of the Broadway stage. Bette Davis is an aging, temperamental actress; Anne Baxter is the little schemer who plots to take her place as Broadway's biggest star; and George Sanders, Celeste Holm and Gary Merrill are in the cast. Bette Davis has been nominated for another Academy Award for her shocking performance in this. "All About Eve" has been nominated for the best picture of 1950. It's drama, it's comedy, it's satire, it's entertainment.

"GUILTY OF TREASON"

The shocking behind the scenes story of the trial of Hungarian Cardinal Mindszenty by the Communists. This picture comes right out of recent headlines. Charles Bickford gives a fine portrayal of the brave Cardinal and Bonita Granville and Paul Kelly Co-star.

(Drive-In)

"THE FLAME AND THE ARROW"

This has played at the Georgia, but it was enjoyable, exciting, and colorful enough that you wouldn't get tired of it again. Burt Lancaster, displaying acrobatics not seen on the screen since Fairbanks silent pictures, is Darlo, the Mountain Robin Hood of medieval Italy. Virginia Mayo is her beautiful self as Darlo's noble lady and Nick Cravat, who was once Lancaster's partner in the circus, steals the show as Darlo's deaf-and-dumb henchman. Of course its in technicolor.

They are as follows: Jo Starr escorted by Johnny Patterson representing Mu Sigma; Yvonne Jones escorted by Watson Weathers representing the Student Council; Liz Hartley escorted by Lemuel Watkins representing the Industrial Arts Club; Beth Poppell escorted by Spencer Overstreet representing the Reflector; Fleur Powell escorted by Ted Williams representing East Hall; Sara Betty Jones escorted by Al Moreland representing the Science Club; Betty Ann Sherman escorted by Billy Moore representing the Organ Guild; Rita Johnson escorted by Jimmy Oliver representing Sanford Hall; Bettye Hendrix escorted by Sonny Clements representing the English Club; Bobbie Vaughan escorted by Sanford Brown representing the B. S. U.; Margaret Price escorted by Oldin Lewis representing the I. R. C.; Doris Townsend escorted by Waldo Bowen representing the Business Club; Rosalyn Brantley escorted by Hollis Ray Powell representing the P. B. Y. F.; Joyce Vaughan escorted by Tommy Lanier representing the Home Economics Club; Betty Hart escorted by Bill Pharis representing the Philharmonic Choir; Ann Nevil escorted by Fred Pierce representing the P. E. M. M. Club; Betty Anne Bedingfield escorted by William Page representing the Pep Club; Mynette May escorted by Scotty Perkins representing the T. Club; Anita Daniels escorted by Ashley Madray representing the S. C. A.; Loretta Green escorted by Danny Biggers representing the Masquers; Sara Ann Denham escorted by Harry Strickland representing West Hall; Martha Wood escorted by Harold DeLoach representing Wesley Foundation; Joan Harper escorted by Tip Gamble representing Lewis Hall; Sue Simmons escorted by Earl Swicord representing Anderson Hall; Joan Pittman escorted by Billy Cross representing the George-Anne; Martha Driskell escorted by Bobby Humphrey representing the T. C. Concert Band.

The 1951 Production Staff has been completed. Co-chairmen are Miss Frieda Gernant and Helen Popell. Directors are Miss Dorothy Stewart, acting; Mr. Jack Broucek, music; Miss Roxie Remley, Mr. Donald Hackett, sets; and Miss Dorothy Hilliard, dancing.

The ticket committee is headed by Beth Wimberly with Boots Beasley, Rosalyn Brantley, Anne Daniel, Sara Ann Denham, and Bobbie Jones as co-workers.

In charge of sets is Peggy Dobbs to be assisted by Peggy Jo Burke, June Cantrell, Lonnie Ladson, Robert Sanders, Sidney Strickland, and Louis Winter.

Cherry White is chairman of the advertising committee with Rosalyn Brantley, Eugene Harper, Ann Hill, Thomas Humphrey, Polly Jones, Carleen Mixon, George Roebuck, Claire Thomas, Norma Touchton, and Clara Youngblood.

Miss Stewart's stage craft class, Edith Carpenter, B. A. Withrow, Grover Bell, Pat Carroway, and Dan Biggers will assist in the setting up of the stage. The two Educational Art classes are assisting in stage design and decoration.

Anne Hill is in charge of programs. Martha Wood will write the script. Mr. Charles Kopp and Kathryn Floyd are to be in charge of publicity.

Supt. Robert F. Whitaker

Emory University To Celebrate 114th Birthday Feb. 8

Robert F. Whitaker, superintendent of Emory University Hospital, Atlanta, and a 1927 graduate of the Emory Law School, will address alumni and friends of Emory at a celebration in honor of the university's 114th birthday Thursday, February 8, at the Forest Heights Country Club in Statesboro. Dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Parents of 13 students now enrolled at the university and 66 alumni members of the Statesboro district club have been invited to take part in the festivities, according to Dr. John Mooney Jr., president of the club here. Reservations may be made with Mr. Donald O. McDougald, club secretary-treasurer, at 207 Donaldson street, Statesboro, Dr. Mooney said.

Mr. Whitaker has held the position of Emory Hospital superintendent since 1944, and has been a member of the Emory administrative staff since 1931. He is chairman of the Atlanta Hospital Superintendents' Council; secretary of the United Hospitals Service Association and 1949-50 president of the Georgia Hospital Association. He is a member of the council on government relations of the American Hospital Association and former secretary-treasurer of the Southeastern Hospital Conference. Mr. Whitaker will give a brief report on the state of the university.

The Statesboro district of Emory alumni is made up of fourteen surrounding communities in Bulloch, Evans, Jenkins, and Screven counties.

Sweethearts To Be Feted At Banquet

The B. S. U. is planning a Sweetheart Banquet for Friday, February 16. Each member will take his sweetheart or someone whom he thinks a great deal of. Plans are not yet complete, but watch for further information concerning the banquet.

A Preview o the Beauty Revue...

Well, the fifth running of the young fillies of T. C. will soon be on. We are glad to see so much interest being stirred up by the drawing of the posts. Never in the history of the Beauty Revue has there been so many winners going to the post at one time. It is our impression that this will be a non-handicap race.

The Bookies are not taking any bets on the final outcome of the race but we hear that no one runner is considered the favorite.

That is the type of story that we the members of the press have wanted to run on the Beauty Revue for a number of years but were always a little afraid until this year. This year the program will be entirely for the students, so we know that you will be more at ease just as we are.

Your writer has slipped by the watchful eyes of Miss Helen Poppell and found out a little more about the Revue than he should have. The program this year will go along with the theme of Valentine Day. This, in my opinion is a step in the direction that the student body has wanted.

The Art Club is working many hours on the Revue this year and is working for the perfection that the students deserve. They are not in any way working for personal gain or glory. For this reason alone the program this year will be the best that T. C. has ever had.

If you have any plans for the night of February 14 take our advice and cancel them for the field at fifth running of the Beauty Revue will be the best that you will ever see.

Bohunk's Life At T.C.

AT 8 O'CLOCK on Wednesday morning Miss Dorothy Stewart's speech walked into their classroom with only their usual amount of forboding. They clumped wearily into their desks, fell into them, and began desperately pouring over notes, casting furtive glances at the door in anticipation of the time when the elfin figure of their instructor would appear.

They were prepared, to varying degrees, to recite the masterpieces which they had labored over far, far into the precious night. Not especially noticing the mischeivous gleam in their professor's eyes, they wearily considered the prospect of another series of (?) speeches with the usual array of criticism sheets, topped by the ominous looking white one with the mark in the corner, which had been made by Miss Stewart.

The speeches proceeded for several minutes, without mishap. Suddenly in the midst of Mr. Connor's speech, the door was noisily opened. An attractive, though slightly overdressed young lady (?) came tapping in, making the most of her high heels. She wore a charming green dress which was tied with many colored scarves and caught up at the front with a cluster of flowers a monstrosity of a brown velvet hat adorned with a pink rose, and shocking pink gloves.

As the students bravely ventured forward, one by one, they were carefully scrutinized by that young lady, Miss Norman, who strolled all over the room and around the speakers, looking them up and down. Mr. Robert Morris, who stood before the class and spoke about the Golden Isles of Georgia, received favorable attention from the young lady, who, after looking him over, wrote on the board, "Ain't he cute?"

However, when she sat down in front of him, Mr. Morris retaliated succeeding in tying one of her scarves to the desk. Attempting to get up in order to help reduce the present speaker, Mr. Peterman, to a nervous wreck, she found that she would have to take the desk with her.

Miss Ewing was expounding the ideal of Socrates when Mr. Taylor and an assistant came clomping in and industriously began to measure the dimensions of the classroom with an unbelievably long tape measure. "I don't think my ability as a speaker can be measured with that," she protested.

As the eager speech students continued their talks, a child's plaintive wail came from the back of the room, crying, "Mama, Mama." Upon investigation the students discovered that this was only another of the abilities of Miss Stewart.

When Mr. Jimmy Oliver stood before the class, the lights were turned out and the fan was turned on. Coming to the rescue of his fellow student, Mr. Cannon, sympathetically lit his cigarette lighter, walked up to the speaker's stand and held it up, enabling Mr. Oliver to read his notes.

Sitting down by Mr. Morris again, Miss Norman decided that she simply must fix her garters, disclosing another scarf (an orange one) tied gaily to the garter.

Finally the last student had struggled through the ordeal and the class had been reduced to a mad group of almost hysterical human beings. The bell rang and the survivors staggered out, congratulating themselves and mumbling under their breaths, "Only thirty-five more days."

Engagement Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Harris of Ranger, Georgia, announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Jean, to Rev. Archie C. Haygood, Jr. The wedding will be solemnized at the Statesboro Methodist Church on Friday, February 9 at two o'clock. Both of the young people are attending Georgia Teachers College.

The affair is to be semi-formal, with the bride dressed in white satin and chantilly lace. The maid-of-honor, Miss Claire Thomas, will wear a dress of ice-blue.

The groom has chosen for his best man, Mr. Jerome Lee, also of Collegeboro. The officiating minister will be Rev. John Lough.

After the wedding, the young couple plan to finish the winter quarter at Georgia Teachers College, in Anderson Hall. They will spend their week ends at Girard, Georgia, where Mr. Haygood is pastor of the church there.

Glen Thomas, Ed Mitchell, Johnny Mallard, and Hugh Wells are to be the ushers for the ceremony.

Spring Is Early On Campus For Many

"June is busting out all over—" From the ringing of wedding bells over the campus, one would really think it is June. Plans have been underway for some time for the coming marriage of Mr. Archie Haygood and Miss Betty Jean Harris. Rumors are flying, also, of that very thing concerning a certain Professor Hugh Caldwell and Miss Marjorie Keaton. Things are still in an unsettled state, however.

Other signs of June could be that "Blue Moon" hanging over the "Blue Tide". One loss on Saturday and a near loss on Tuesday have sobered up the boys in blue. They are leaving the impression about the campus that belt tightening and sleeve-rolling-up is in progress.

Even the bushes in front of Lewis Hall are threatening to burst into bloom. I saw a robin the other day and one little blade of grass. If June starts coming in January, what's going to happen to all these "spring chickens" around here?

"WHERE THE CROWDS GO"

What The Augusta Chronicle Thinks Of The Ga. Teachers College Quintet

Following are excerpts from "All in the Game," column of Randy Russell, sports editor, The Augusta Chronicle, Thursday, January 25:

"Another outfit that snorts more defiance than most is the Georgia Teachers College basketball team, which, anyway you look at it, is one of the best small college quintets in the country.

"The Professors work hard to build up their reputation and are gradually achieving considerable recognition, though there always seems to be a banana peel lurking around somewhere to throw them down just when they are going best.

"Last year, the banana peel was the University of Tampa team. The Professors wound up their regular season ranked higher by the figure Filberts than any other team in the state, the boys over at Athens included.

"But, just when things were rolling in for the Profs, Tampa upset them in the NAIB tournament and the final ratings listed the Bulldogs as the state's No. 1 team.

"The Teachers still haven't got any games with the Bulldogs (University of Georgia) scheduled, but this week they were crowing loudly again. They beat Pelzer Mills at Williamston Monday night. You don't know what a trick that is to turn unless you know a little about textile basketball in the Carolinas. Led by Earl Wooten, the erstwhile American league and Southern association baseball, the Pelzer team doesn't have to be embarrassed even when playing the best of college competition."

Roving Reporter Quizes Students On Glassman Story

When I heard everyone feuding and fussing when the Macon Telegraph came out, I wondered what had caused all the trouble. Someone finally calmed down enough to tell me that they were mad about the story that Sam Glassman had written about the Mercer-T. C. basketball game on January 20. They said that many of his remarks were uncalled for.

Below are a few of the comments made about the story:

Gloria Anderson thinks that Sam should have been sure of his information before he wrote his information before he wrote the story.

Stacy Sheley said it wasn't Glassman's first time to do such a thing. Sam believes that no team in Macon, whether it is a high school, the Sally League baseball, or Mercer, is ever wrong.

Harry Strickland didn't like the story a bit. He thinks that Sam showed very poor penmanship in writing for a newspaper. Harry believes Sam should have had a more reliable source for his information.

Paul Womack said he didn't like the story and didn't think that anyone else like it either.

Martha Wood believes that Sam showed poor sportsmanship about the whole thing.

Jessie Durrence believes that the whole thing smells.

Mr. Bremseth believes that it wasn't Sam's fault at all. He said Sam got his information from a story in the Savannah Morning News which had been sent in by a person from T. C. Mr. Bremseth said that Sam merely quoted what was said in the Savannah Morning News. The story that was sent from T.C. should have been clear enough so no one would have misquoted any part of the article.—The Roving Reporter.

Bennet's Blabs

By JOAN BENNETT

Well, gals, basketball gets started next week. I think we've all been looking forward to it. There's nothing like a good basketball game to keep the competition keen.

Practice is in full swing now and from the bruises, sore muscles, and groans coming from the various dormitories, it seems as if the girls are going all out for it.

The tournament will begin Monday night, February 5. A schedule will be posted on the bulletin board in the gym so all you managers can check it.

There will be two games each night for the girls and two for the boys. The schedule will probably be a girl's game, a boy's game. Most likely, the girls and boys of the same color team will play the same night. Don't forget that all points will be added together for the final score.

Everybody come down and support your color team and help to make this an exciting tournament.

In case you don't know how the volleyball tournament came out, the Reds were victorious, with the Blues coming out second.

The greatly delayed tennis tournament will be played off soon. The playoffs will begin again next Quantico Marines Snap Profs' Home Winning Streak With 70-64 Win Last Sat.

The Quantico Marines got back in the win column last Saturday night by giving the Georgia Teachers College Professors a 70-64 defeat. It snapped a 30 game winning streak on the locals home court.

The Marines rallied to win their 21st game in 25 outings. They overcame a 42-31 halftime deficit. Six-foot, seven-one-inch center Jack Nichols with 37 points was the individual star for the evening. Nichols was a former collegiate star for the Universities of Southern California and Washington, and also a star performer for the professional Washington Capitals for two years.

The Marines never led in the first half, and trailed by 11 points at intermission. But with Nichols hitting on his left hand hook shots the Leathernecks came back to win.

Scotty Perkins started the night's scoring with a tip-in after 30 seconds. Skinner then hit from the corner to tie the game at 2-2. Perkins got another tip-in and free throw and the Teachers took a 5-2 lead. The professors biggest lead of the night was 39-24 after 16 minutes of playing time had elapsed.

Then with four minutes still remaining in the half, Jack Nichols hit three straight lefthanded hook shots to make the half-time score read: Teachers 42, Quantico 31.

During the first half when the Professors played an excellent brand of ball, Sonny Clements was getting the majority of the rebounds. Perkins, Duncan and Renfro were the main stars in keeping the Teachers up front in the first 20 minutes.

Then came the fatal half. With Nichols going wild with his hook shots and occasionally going out behind the free throw line to make shots good, the Quantico Marines came back with a blast of fury to hand the Georgia Teachers College its second defeat in 17 games.

Sonny Clements, Jim Duncan, and Scotty Perkins fouled out during the last half and the Teachers had to finish the game with three freshmen. It must be pointed out that the freshmen played a strong game and actually gained on the experienced team from Virginia.

Professors to Face Pelzer Tonight

With one of the best games in the making, the Professors meet a mighty good team in the Pelzer Bears tonight. With Wooten and Becker being two of the better players that this reporter has seen this season, it promises to be a close contest.

The Teachers defeated the Bears on their home court several weeks ago by a score of 92-81. Lets all go out and give the Big Blue our best support. We will need it to do the job that we have in front of us.

Boy Scouts Mark 41st Anniversary

Official poster marking the 41st birthday.

President Truman will greet 12 outstanding Boy Scouts in the White House on Feb. 6 opening the 41st anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America. Boy Scout Week will be observed Feb. 6 to 12 in every part of the nation by more than 2,750,000 boys and adult leaders. "Strengthen Liberty" is the birthday theme.

At "birthday parties" during Boy Scout Week throughout the nation each member will repledge himself to the Scout Oath or Promise. In each community representatives of the churches, schools, government and business will observe the anniversary with their Scouts. At Unit "open house" parties, parents, relatives and members of the chartering institutions will hear a review of the year's program features, service projects and membership gains.

During Boy Scout Week members of the organization will develop window displays and demonstrations on civil defense and conservation. Each member will inspect his home to make certain no hazards exist. Surprise mobilizations will test Scout efficiency should emergencies arise.

Since 1910 more than 17,500,000 boys and men have been identified with the Boy Scouts of America.

week. Rounds one and two must be completed by February 17 and round three by February 24. The games may be played at any time within these limits and should be posted immediately following the game. The tournament schedule is posted now.

Managers, be sure and check players in case they have forgotten. The game is forfeited to the opponent if a girl doesn't play off her games.

Table tennis, which was to be an individual sport for this quarter, has been postponed until next quarter.

Eight Men Enlist In Armed Forces

Sergeant Jack Wilson of the local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Station, announces this week the following enlistments:

Archie Nesmith Jr., R.F.D. 2, Oliver; Harry Fulmer, R.F.D. 2, Statesboro; Bobby Gene Smith, R.F.D. 2, Statesboro; Albert Ward, Brooklet; Joseph E. Smith, Claxton; and James E. Bryant, Sylva. All these chose an assignment with the Air Force.

Rufus Collins, R.F.D. 2, Statesboro, chose an assignment with the Army.

Excellent Performance Given by Chorus, Dancers

Dynamite does come in small packages as far as Georgia Teachers College is concerned! The mite of a man, Don Cossack, proved it at the magnificent performance in which he, his chorus, and dancers presented last Monday night.

The fact that so many wonderful voices were grouped together at one time and with such perfect harmony was amazing. No other man but Don Cossack could strut around the chorus in his black suit and high leather boots with such elegance and dignity just to give them their pitch from an old fashioned tuning-fork.

The colorfully dressed dancers showed more bounce than is potentially evident of a rubber ball. When questioned about the strenuous dance, one dancer replied with a rich Russian accent, "Oh it is to us like the American jitterbug is to you!"

Although the chorus sang in Russian, the expressions on their beaming faces made interpretation easy in some of the folk songs.

Whether the words were understood or not, the melodious tones were as enjoyable as listening to organ music, thus making the concert one that will not be soon forgotten.

Important!

Monday night, February the fifth, at 6:30, there will be a very important meeting of the Alpha Rho Tau in the Art Studio to complete and retouch plans for the Beauty Revue. It is urgent that each member be present. It will be over in ample time to allow for preparation for the concert.

Ellsasser Returns For 'Command Performance'

By Bunny Brown

On Monday night, February 5th Richard Ellsasser, Organ Virtuoso, will return to the college auditorium in what might well be called a command performance. Those who heard his concert last year will no doubt remember it as a truly unforgettable musical experience. Mr. Ellsasser has received wide acclaim throughout the United States as a musical genius having been given the title of "The Paganini of the Organ." The program Monday night will consist of a group of hymns chosen by the people of Statesboro and an improvisation of a submitted theme presented to him during the concert. The concert is being sponsored by the Organ Guild here on the campus and tickets may be purchased from the members of this organization.

Dormitory News

By B. A. Withrow

We Easterners and Westerners make up the bulk of the T. C. female population, so it is our fate as members of the unfortunate sex to be ruled by the so-called stronger sex (males). But for once we had a chance to dominate—no it wasn't our sweethearts we dominated nor was it our husbands (?), our brothers, our fathers, or our professors. Whom then—you ask. Why Bob Watson of course. Didn't we tell him what records to play; didn't we tell him who to play them for? Oh, we're a mighty lot of female women we are! Of course we realize that others, foreigners known as Lewisites and Sanforites, had a small part to play, but then we realize that this is a democracy in which we can't possibly rule forever.

Have you ever seen such a busy place as the places in which we live? People always rushing to some meeting or other, some class, or some other place that they get out of the dormitory. It's almost like a madhouse, but we like it. Wouldn't it be a dull life if we all stayed calm, cool, and collected all the time—can you feature such a thing?

Hey, you girls that live in East and West—how about doing something just a little out of the ordinary. When you do—how about not keeping it a secret? Huh?

BETTY ANNE BEDINGFIELD

She didn't make a fuss,
But made us first discuss
Just what we meant,
Then gave her consent
To win first place for us.
"Why, yes, she's quite a sport,"
We heard one girl retort,
"To do this thing
And first place bring
From the judge's sweet report."
Now our dear dean was gay,
When the prize she took away.
She laughed and beamed,
And we never dreamed
To see her quite this way!
