Coite Somers Co. Likely to Get Bid Men's Dormitory

Coite Somers Company of Vidalia probably will receive the contract for construction of a men's dormitory at Georgia Teachers College, officials of the college announced today.

The company entered a low bid of $314,600 in quotations that ran as high as $368,000. Work may begin in June. The college has one other men's dormitory.

The same contractors are now erecting a $294,000 annex to the college laboratory high school building.

Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of the college, also disclosed the launching of architectural plans for a $325,000 armory and gymnasium. With this project the cost of current construction allotted here by the University System will amount to a million dollars.

B. E. Thrasher Jr., chairman of the University System Building Authority, said bids for several projects, including the dormitory, were higher than expected. Letting of contracts, he said, will be postponed until May 28 while the authority studies and compares figures.

Prof. Caldwell to Speak to Science Club On May 9

The next meeting of the Science Club will be held on Wednesday, May 9, at 7:30 p. m., in the audio-visual room of the library. This meeting will be open to everyone.

Prof. Hugh Caldwell of the Exact Science Department will be the speaker. He has chosen for his topic "The Forgotten Meaning of Evolution." Some of the questions for discussion will be:

1. How much do modern theories of evolution really explain about nature?
2. Is anything permanent in this world of change?
3. Can natural selection account for the existence of values?
4. Does nature act without purpose?
5. What is the proper relation of science to philosophy and theology?

This is the last in a series of lectures on evolution, and the entire student body and faculty are invited to attend.

Plenty Laughs Promised In 'Street Scene' May 17

Students will get a thrill on the night of May 17 when Mrs. J. B. Johnson, as Mrs. Jones, leads an ill-conditioned dog out on a leash, or Mr. Tully Pennington, as Olsen, leans back politely to allow his wife, Miss Frieda Gernant, to struggle past with an enormous pail of water.

Teachers and townspeople competing with Georgia Teachers College students for top billing in a Masquers-produced play is something new, but that is exactly what is happening in "Street Scene," a three-act play being directed by Miss Dorothy Stewart.

The little lady playing the lead is June Carr, a freshman at the Statesboro High School, and her leading man is Dan Biggers, an actor who is already well established on the campus.

Other delightful characterizations by our distinguished faculty are: Mr. Kaplan, a Jew, portrayed by Mr. W. B. Moye; and Dr. Wilson, in real life Dr. Fielding Russell, an over-tired practitioner who

Dean Drewry Will Speak Here May 14 Journalism Clinic

Monday, May 14, will be "Journalism Day" at Teachers College. Dean John E. Drewry of the Henry Grady School of Journalism, University of Georgia, will speak at a chapel assembly at 10 a. m., and afterwards, with his Grady School assistants, will conduct a clinic for the college and laboratory high school newspaper and yearbook staffs. Worth McDougald of Statesboro, an assistant professor in the journalism school, is expected to be a member of the clinic staff.

Statesboro will figure in afternoon activities, with Dean Drewry addressing the Rotary Club at its noon luncheon.

Dean Drewry is nationally known as a teacher, administrator, author and editor. Educated at his own University and at Columbia, he has been teaching journalism at the University since 1922. Each year he directs four outstanding press and radio institutes, which reach practitioners of all levels. He is the organizer of the Georgia Scholastic Press Association and the Georgia Collegiate Press Association.

In New York City last week Dean Drewry introduced winners of the George Peabody Awards, the "oscar" of radio and television administered by the Georgia journalism school. He has been president of the American Teachers of Journalism, a local Rotary Club president, president of the University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, a newspaper reporter and news editor, and a Baptist Sunday School teacher.

His syndicated weekly column, "New Books News," appears in the Atlanta Constitution and other newspapers. Some of his better known books are "Some Magazines and Magazine Makers," "Concerning the Fourth Estate," "Contemporary American Magazines," "Post Biographies of Famous Journalists," "Book Reviewing," "More Post Biographies," and "Journalism at the Mid-Century."

is unmoved by the agonies of the overwhelmed young husband, Don McDougald, whose wife is expecting a baby. Mr. Strange as a letter carrier may not be such an oddity, but Miss Ela Johnson, as Miss Simpson, the lady from the charities, is a delightful contrast.

Other students in important roles are Gay Kimbrough, Annie Ruth Moody, Bobby Humphrey, George Parrish, Bobby Richardson, Pauline Vickers, Arthur Justice, Loretta Green, and Jack Wade.

There are other townspeople in the class. These include Henry J. McCormick, director of the Bulloch County Hospital; Mrs. Margaret Hamilton, who has appeared in several of the Children's Theatre plays, and her two children; William and Dick Russell.

The setting, a New York tenement house, is being built by the Industrial Arts department and promises to be one of the most extensive ever planned for the college auditorium stage.

Profs End Season With Leathernecks

Teachers College will close its baseball season next Wednesday and Thursday afternoons as hosts to the Quantico Marines of Virginia, 1950, national service champions. Although weakened by early loss of seven players because of injuries and study duties, the Professors, nevertheless have won nine games while losing 11. They recently split a two-game series here with the vaunted Parris Island Marines.

Dr. Judson C. Ward Jr., dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Emory University, and Dr. Howard P. Giddens, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Athens, will be the June commencement speakers at Teachers College.

Dr. Ward, once a teacher at the college and later its president, will give the address in closing exercises at 10:30 a. m., Monday, June 4. Dr. Giddens will deliver the commencement sermon at 11:30 a. m., Sunday, June 3.

Both programs will be in the college auditorium. President Henderson states that the graduating class will number 100.

By EDITH CARPENTER

"For I'm to be queen o' the May, Mother. I'm to be queen o' the May." That was what pretty Miss Betty Reagan was singing this morning as she brushed her hair and took a last look at the dress she is to wear when being crowned May Queen of 1951.

The maid of honor, Miss Blair Wells, was as excited and happy over the affair as her royal neighbor. She and the other ladies of the Queen's court, Misses Nell Bowen, Jackie Knight, Betty Lovett, and Patsy Madray, have been making excited plans for the grand coronation, as well as for the May Day Ball tomorrow night.

The other beauties of the court representing the other classes are working just as hard to make this May Day pageant a thing of beauty and a joy forever. These, of course, are: from the junior class, Misses Edith Chalker, and Jessie Legette; from the sophomore class, Misses Martha Driskell and Patsy Odum; and from the freshman class, Misses Rita Johnson and Sarah Ann Denham.

The program for the day will be built around the history of dances. These are all couple dances. The dances being presented are square dances, round dances, folk dances, the Big Apple, Hokey Pokey, the Charleston, jitterbug, Hesitation Waltz, the shag, and ballet.

The coronation services are under the direction of Miss Margaret Strahlman and the May Day program is being directed by Miss Dorothy Hilliard and Coach J. B. Searce.

The program will be held at the amphitheater at 5 o'clock on Friday afternoon.

The annual May Day dance will be held Saturday night at 8:30 in the college gym.

2-Year Course For Ind. Technicians Slated For TC

Industrial education at Georgia Teachers College will be expanded in September to include a two-year course for industrial technicians.

It will prepare students to enter industry as skilled workers, foremen, or inspectors, or to become factory or business owners, merchandise salesmen, or workers in a variety of trades and occupations.

The college, which provided the first industrial higher education in Georgia, also offers degree programs with a choice of major, enlarged major, or minor in industrial education.

There Is a Dire Need...

ALTHOUGH The George-Anne has tried to secure information on the action taken to abolish Saturday classes, no such information is available to the student body.

But, regardless of whether Saturday classes continue or not, the editors wish to state that they are definitely against the lack of entertainment over the week ends.

May we suggest the following courses of action:

1. The dances be held bi-weekly, with movies or other form of entertainment offered every other week.
2. The library be kept open Sunday afternoon.
3. The swimming pool be kept open Sunday afternoon.

We sincerely hope that some steps will be taken in the near future. If something is not done, then condemnation of the class-cutting of students, and the general rule-breaking will not be warranted. Any mature person should realize that young people will seek entertainment of any variety when no amusement is afforded them. Therefore, the blame for any waywardness should not be laid at the students' feet.

Welcome Back!

AN OCCASIONAL bout with the flu bug is all in a day's work to Miss Dorothy Stewart, who has just defeated that horrible little monster for the second time since the spring quarter began.

Members of her speech classes, as well as members of the casts of "Street Scene" and "East Lynne," were most happy to welcome back to the campus this energetic little teacher, before whom even strong men tremble. They find it hard to believe that as tiny a thing as an influenza germ could down, even for a short time, the little lady who sometimes rearranges schedules and curriculums so completely and violently as to almost create an explosion.

We hope that this second experience with a serious illness has taught Miss Stewart the lesson she, herself, has tried to teach: namely, that no one is indispensable. We welcome her back with wishes for continued good health.

Red Cross Offers Graduates Jobs

The American Red Cross has good job openings in welfare and recreation work, in this country and overseas, for college graduates.

A representative of the Red Cross organization, Mrs. Frances Koeth, conferred with department heads here in search of both men and women graduates, or graduating seniors who can meet the qualifications required for jobs supporting the armed forces and the nation's defense preparation.

For men graduates there are openings as assistant field directors at Red Cross offices on military installations in the U. S. and European and Far Eastern military commands of the U. S. armed forces.

To qualify they must have ability to counsel, and be within the ages of 27-45. Veterans will be given preference. Men in this job act as liaison with hometown Red Cross chapters in handling emergency and routine requests of a personal or family welfare nature involving servicemen and their dependents back home.

Two types of employment are open to women graduates.

Recreation workers are needed for employment in military hospitals. They must be between the ages of 22-25, with majors in recreation group work, physical education, music, arts, or other related fields.

Women also are needed to fill jobs as staff aides in military hospitals to assist in social work and in recreation activities. The qualifying ages are 22-45. Required majors in sociology or psychology will be waived for applicants with majors in other fields who have had casework experience.

For detailed information concerning qualifications, salaries and procedure for information, inquire at Collegeboro.

The Red Cross also has openings in the fields of community organization, nursing and social work.

All applications for job openings should be addressed to: Director, Personnel Service, Southeastern Area, American National Red Cross, 230 Spring Street, N. W., Atlanta, Ga.

COLLEGE IS FENCING MAIN ENTRANCE TO CAMPUS

Georgia Teachers College is spending nearly $5,000 in flanking the main campus entrance with scenic chain-link fencing. The installation, which extends 2,600 feet, will be fronted by a reflector highway sign in the college colors, a gift of the Industrial Arts Club. The surrounding roadside will be further beautified.

Professors Are Hot As The Weather; Take 2 Games From Jax. Navy Fliers

Seems like the weather had no bearing on the two games played here last Monday afternoon. It was about 92 degrees in the shade and 101 degrees on the field. That didn't hinder the Tide from taking a doubleheader from the Jax Navy Fliers.

Jim Duncan lined out one into center that got past the man on that watch for a four-bagger. This broke the tie and put us out in front 8 to 7. Jim also led the Teachers' hitting with a cool 3 for four. He had an awful lot of hustle behind the plate, too. Seems that the team plays better ball with Jim behind the mask. Tough luck, Navy.

Score by innings:

Jax	0	0	0	0	3	4	0	x
T. C.	0	0	0	6	1	0	1	x

Becker and Raustyn, Green, Clements and Duncan.

Second Game—

T. C.	0	1	0	2	1	1	1	1	1

Duvall and Faustyn; Peacock, Anderson and Duncan.

PROFS EDGE PI MARINES IN THRILLING CONTEST

It seems that the Tide's baseball team is finally coming of age. It sure looked that way the other day when they took the Marines on for the first of a two-game series.

Joe Ed Green pitched four of the prettiest innings of baseball that have been seen on this campus in the past few years. We could very easily see why he was relieved in the fifth. Anybody who chunked and fought as hard as he did deserved the rest that he got.

Gene Anderson, Fred Weitman, and "Joe Page" Clements put the game on ice to the tune of 11 to 8. It was by far the best ball game that the fans have witnessed this season.

Wilbur Peacock had his day the next time. But it seemed that the Tide couldn't keep up with the Marines in runs. It was a very good game, but that old thing about clutch hitting came into effect. The Teachers just couldn't get base knocks when they were needed.

Charley Sims led the Tide's hitting with two safeties in three trips to the plate. Hal Griner and Ed Smith also collected two each.

Home Ec Elects 1951-52 Officers

Home Ec. officers for the 1951-52 school year were elected at the regular business meeting Monday night. They are as follows:

Joanne Groover, president; Anne Broome, vice president; Eleese Williams, secretary; Norma Jean Kelly, treasurer; Carolyn Moye, parliamentarian; Dorothy Brown, reporter; and Jean Warnock, historian.

These officers will be installed at the next meeting. Records for Miss Home Economics were handed in, after which the meeting adjourned.

Two Bulloch Girls In TC's May Court

Three Bulloch County students have been named to the queen's court in the annual May Day Festival on Friday, May 4, here at Georgia Teachers College.

They are: Misses Betty Lovette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lovette of 207 South Main Street, Statesboro; Patsy Odom, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Odom of 417 Fair Road, Statesboro; and Jackie Knight, daughter of Mrs. A. J. Knight of Stilson.

Eastern Chatter

By BETTY B. BRANNEN

East Hall was really taken over last Friday and Saturday by the F. T. A. After noticing the various girls who came on this trip, the teaching field has a bright-looking future.

We only hope that they had a fine time visiting in our college "home."

Never let it be said that Betty Sherman isn't a practical joker. Just ask Beth Wimberly about the time Betty put a real live frog in her bed. When Beth crawled in after a hard day's work, she wasn't too impressed with her new bed-fellow.

The other morning about 7:30, a great noise arose from my next door neighbor's room. It was only the Ford twins arguing over what outfit to wear for the day.

Betty Parrish and Libba Yarbrough were quite the celebrities last week end. They attended Little Commencement dances at the University.

It surely seems good to see Mary Wilkins at breakfast these fine mornings. If you don't know why, just ask Maxine O'Quinn and Joanne Surrency how quiet things had to be while Mary slept late last quarter.

Patsy Odum was hostess last week end as she invited Betty Mart Mynette May, Sue Simmons, and Betty Ann Sherman to visit her. Patsy, how could you stand all four of those "nuts" all at one time?

Mrs. Johnson went to Young Harris last Friday with Ann Trice and Bill Fox. You know that Ann and Bill presented their recital there.

The girls in East Hall would like to thank Miss Ela Johnson for staying with us while our house mother was away. Mrs. Johnson returned on Monday, just bubbling over with stories about her trip. We only hope she missed us as much as we missed her.

All that Mary Flanders needs now is a police badge. She is really a most efficient house council member. More power to you, Mary—if you can keep these noisy Easterners quiet you deserve a medal!

For now, our chat must end. There's no more news, no more gossip—so help us create some, will you?

Spring Has Sprung On the TC Campus

Since hot weather has invaded the T. C. campus, many of the faculty members have responded gaily. Dr. Tom (Alexander, that is) came strolling into class showing off a tie that caused every male in the class to turn green with envy. It featured palm trees, one fushia and one baby blue, against a white background.

Miss Gernant, after some coaxing from her 1 o'clock art class, modeled her original hat which she had made herself. It was composed of a bread basket, tiny plaid coconuts, and (you guessed it) a blue and aqua palm tree which protruded straight up from the top of her head.

Dr. Russell wears a smile that is by accurate and expert measurements exactly one-eighth of an inch wider. Umph! Ah! One-eighth of an inch wider.

Miss Stanion breezes out in a new short haircut. Mrs. J. B. Johnson is very busy these days dashing back and forth for play practice.

Mr. Pennington and Mr. Scott have called out in on impromptu shoe contest. Mr. Pennington wears immaculate white ones, while Mr. Scott strides along in brown and white saddle oxfords.

Over at the library, Mr. Maddox also has an even wider smile, and Mr. Caldwell in a burst of enthusiasm recently lugged a box of rocks to class. Since all the faculty members display such cheerful countenances, all students are advised that it would be entirely safe to suggest in any class that the class meeting be adjourned to the swimming pool.

TC Cost Up To $497 Per Student

Georgia school teachers are going to have to pay more to prepare themselves for better-paying jobs.

The annual student cost at Georgia Teachers College will be raised $20 and set at $497 in September, college officials said today. Board will be up $10 a year, and room rent $9. The matriculation fee will remain $135 annually.

The rise will be partly offset by the elimination of 12 course fees running as high as $5 each for a quarter. Other special fees will be raised slightly.

Students are being asked to bear only a small percentage of greatly enlarged operating expenses, President Zach S. Henderson said.

"THREE GUYS NAMED MIKE" — "Three Guys Named Mike." — M-G-M brings to the screen the loves of an airline stewardess in a gay romantic comedy. You'll have a lot of fun finding out!

"Queen For a Day"—Tuesday and Wednesday.—This is really a three-in-one show — three great short stories by three famous American authors—Faith Baldwin, Dorothy Parker, and John Ashworth—all tied together by the great radio-TV program, "Queen for a Day," which makes this a fine human-interest picture. Jack Bailey, the emcee, stars.

"American Guerilla in the Philippines."—A diary of love under fire comes to the screen in blazing Technicolor. Tyrone Power is Ensign Chuck Palmer, U. S. N., who, having lost his torpedo boat, and being marooned in the Jap-held Philippines, becomes a guerilla and helps organize the Philippines for the return of MacArthur. This story is not based on any one man's experience, but it could well have been. Few war movies are made in Technicolor.

Lewis Laughs

By

BETTY ANNE BEDINGFIELD

Coney Island has never had the crowd that Lewis has every day in her own backyard. Even the birds are amazed and can't imagine for their twittering sounds like whistles.

Who said people were going to keep their delicate skin white this year? From the looks of some girls (those who can hardly be distinguished from the dishwashers in the dining hall) the author of that statement was jesting, of course! Some girls would be satisfied not to suffer for hours in the basking sun, but who wants to go around looking sick among their friends who have nice golden tans?

By the way, first place winner this week for having the best golden fried gams is Sue Simmons from East.

After weeks of painting, the halls of Lewis are now wearing that restful shade of green. The painter is outside painting the front windows now, and we're glad because we think he needs fresh air. His face used to stay red all the time while he was working on the inside. According to the calculations of some authorities, it will take longer to paint the back windows than it will to paint the front ones. If you don't believe it we've got the figures to prove it!

Yellow-Whites Softball Champs TC Grad Elected

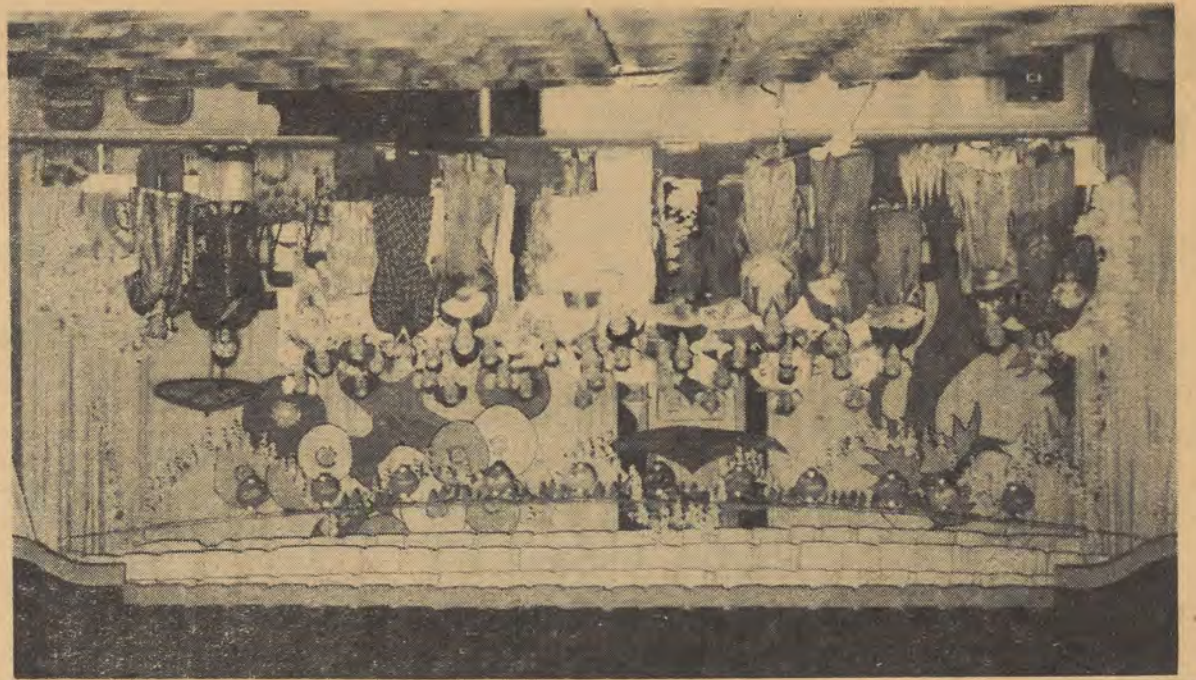

The softball tournament came to an exciting end this afternoon with the Yellow-White team coming out on top. The last game was between the Yellow-Whites and the Reds, Reds winning 14-5. The Yellow-whites have won three and lost one. The Reds have won two and lost none. The Oranges have won two and lost two. The Blacks have lost three.

The tennis tournament will begin Wednesday. The following girls have signed up for the singles tournament: Loretta Green, Ann Higginbotham, Carolyn Williams, "Corny" Byington, Jeanette Braddy, Mary Wilkins, and Betty Parrish.

Beginning next week, free-for-all softball games will begin. Any girl may play. No practice is required, so get up a team and come on out. It will be playing softball just for the fun of it. No points will be given to color teams. It should be lots of fun, so everybody come on out.

HERMAN HUFF NAMED PRESIDENT IRC CLUB

The International Relations Club held its regular meeting Monday night. Officers for the coming year were elected. The new slate of officers are: Herman Huff, president; Charles Stewart, vice president; Tom Stewart, secretary; and Dorothy Crawford, treasurer.

The above photo shows the stage setting and characters portrayed in "The Mikado," Gilbert and Sullivan opera, which was presented at Georgia Teachers College April 20.

Have You Pledged A Pint Of Blood? If Not, Do It Now—The Easy Way!

This is "Blood Pledge Week" as proclaimed by Mayor Gilbert Cone and County Commissioner's Chairman Fred W. Hodges.

Citizens of Statesboro and Bulloch County are being asked to pledge to give a pint of their blood at one of the next six visits of the Bloodmobile.

If a member of the Blood Bank Committee has not contacted you and if you have not yet signed a pledge card, do it the easy way. Just clip the facsimile printed below and mail it to Mr. Ike Minkovitz, chairman, or to Mrs. J. D. Fletcher, executive secretary, Red Cross, Statesboro.
