'51 Summer Biggest Yet

With incentives of the Minimum Foundation Program for Education offsetting both war-time demands on manpower and a scarcity of high school graduates, Teachers College is expecting a record registration for the summer quarter.

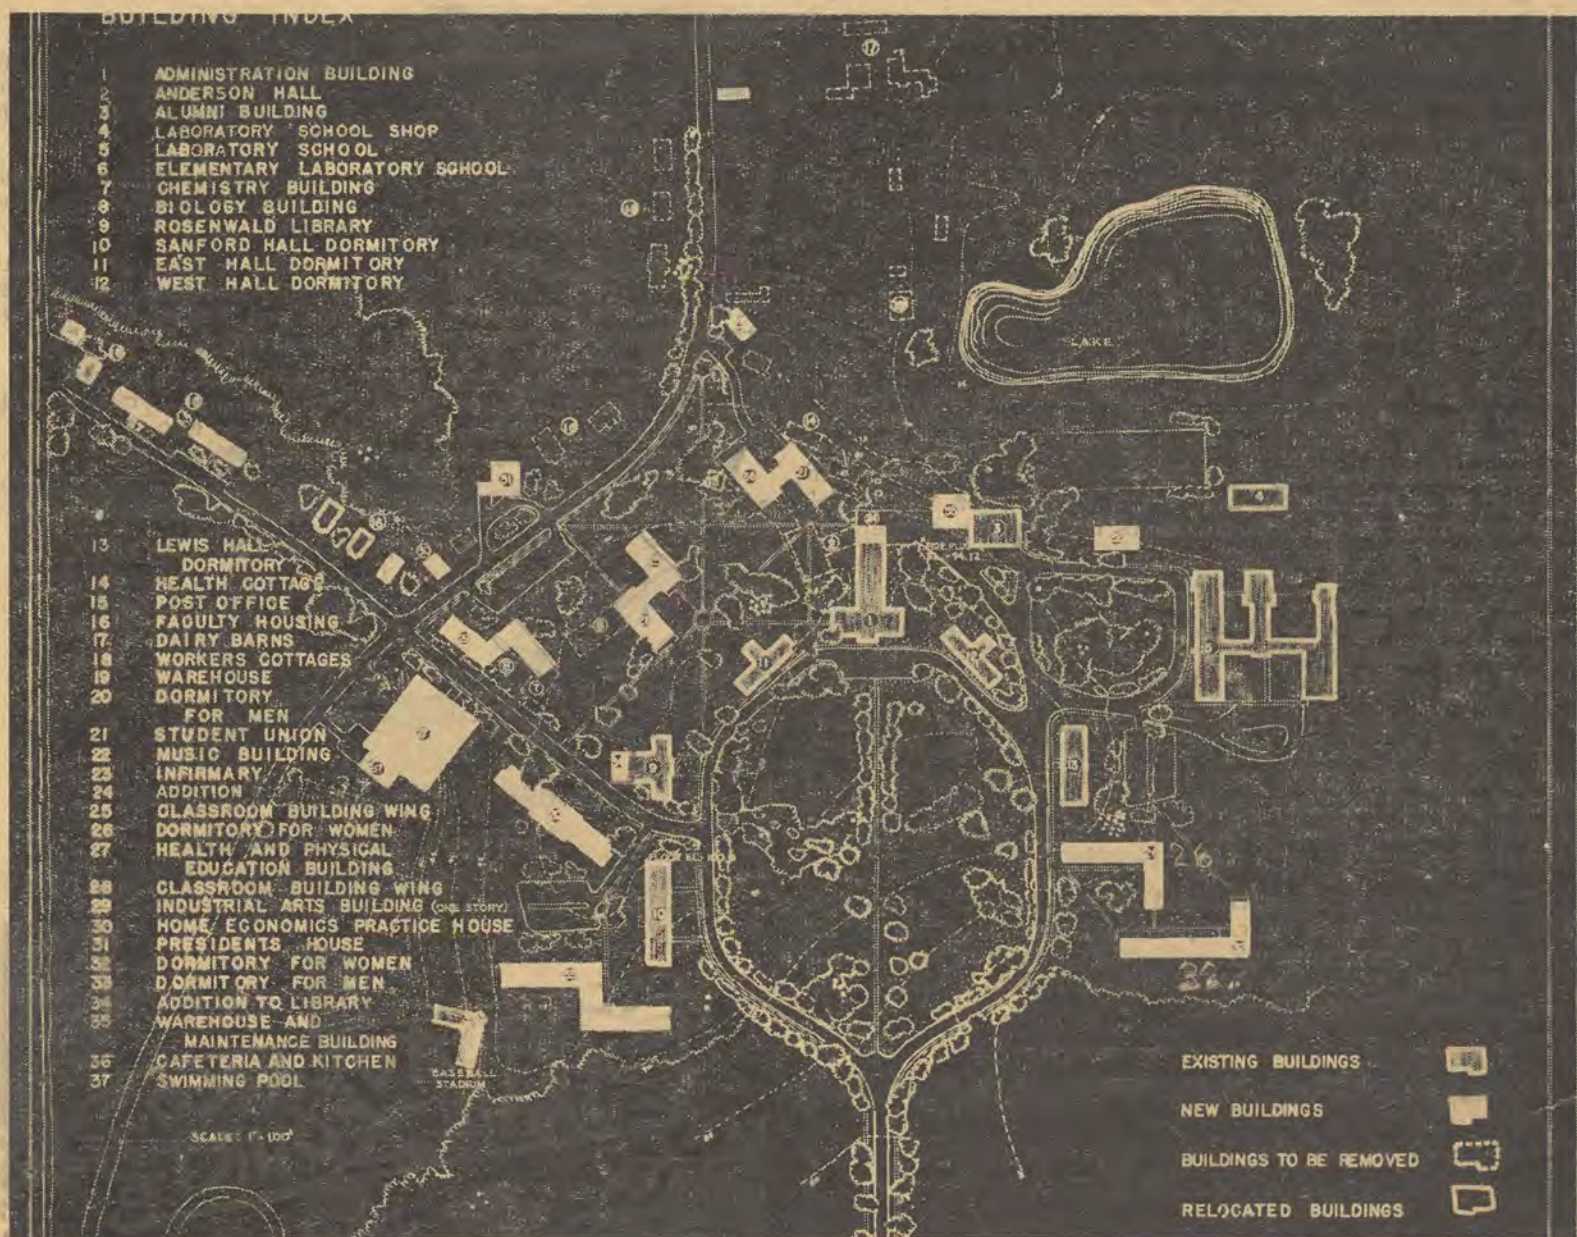

Eighteen visiting professors will join the regular staff in serving an influx of elementary and high school teachers seeking better certificates under a new state pay scale. The present student-body high mark is 1,344, set last summer.

Course offerings will emphasize general workshops for teachers in both terms of the quarter and a seminar in "Current Educational Problems" in the first term, ending July 17. Dr. Thomas C. Little, chairman of the Division of Education, will direct the workshops, and Dr. Marvin S. Pittman, president emeritus, the seminar.

The college will also conduct a first-term workshop, June 11-July 17, at Armstrong College, Savannah, for the Chatham County School System. Dr. Henry L. Ashmore, director, will be assisted by Mrs. Mary Dan Coleman of the State Department of Education, Miss Helen Doster, Instructional Supervisor in Grady county, and a resource staff.

The visiting faculty on the campus will include Mrs. Reba Barnes, Statesboro, art; Dr. Donald Cox, University of Florida, education; Dr. Edward Dawson, Georgia State College for Women, English; Beth King Duncan, Georgia Southwestern College, education; James H. Evans, Statesboro, and University of Florida, speech; Horace Flanders, assistant principal of Savannah High School, education; Richard Gunter, Jordan High School of Columbus, industrial education; John W. Morgan, Georgia State College for Women, social science;

T. C. LOOKS INTO FUTURE—This sketch outlines the Teachers College campus as it should be equipped after the college attains an enrollment goal of 1,500. The plan was drawn by architects employed by the University System of Georgia to study potentialities for physical development in line with anticipated growth of the college. The drawing centers on the circular driveway leading into the campus from Highways 25 and 301. Existing buildings are platted in perpendicular lines with white border, needed buildings in solid white, buildings to be removed in dotted lines, and buildings to be relocated in white lines. At the left is an index keying the numbers assigned to the building with the names of the buildings. (Campus Development Plan by Aeck Associates, Architects, Atlanta).

Mori Higa Says 'Thank You' in Letter to College

Masanori Higa, Okinawan student at Teachers College this year, has addressed the following open letter to the faculty and students: Dear Faculty and Students:

We have only a few more days left this quarter. After it is over, some of us will graduate and some of us are not coming to summer school. I, myself, am not sure whether I shall come back to this good old T. C. next year, so I thought this might be the last chance to say a few words of thanks to you.

When I first came here last year, I was occupied with a lonely feeling of being a foreigner. Things, customs, and the language were quite different from what I had been used to. But you have welcomed me, this stranger, with warm hearts and have shown me good friendship. You have helped me in many ways to adjust myself to the new environment. I have learned numerous things since I came to T. C. I even learned how to shoot "bull." After almost a year's stay, I do not feel like being a foreigner and stranger any more, but I feel quite at home. Had there not been your warm friendship, I would have felt very miserable for myself. This is not all. I almost wept when I heard that you had been raising funds to get me an artificial arm which I am expecting to have within two or three weeks. Until recently, I did not know as to where the fund was coming from. To me nothing can be more beautiful than your friendship. The arm may make me happy, but your friendship makes me much, much happier. My mother wrote me that she cried as she heard about this through my letter.

I wish I could thank each one of you directly. Through these few lines, I hope you could understand how grateful I was, am, and shall be to you who have made my life in America happier. I thank you very, very much for your beautiful friendship you have shown to me. My parents on Okinawa also asked me to say for them to you, "Thank you."

My very best wishes to you.
Sincerely yours,
MASANORI (Mori) HIGA.

Artificial Arm Coming for Higa

Thomasville Rotarians have joined with Teachers college students and faculty members to buy an artificial arm costing $350 for Masanori Higa, 21-year-old Okinawan attending the college. Higa, then a schoolboy, lost his left arm in a shell blast preceding the Allied invasion of Okinawa in World War II. Two youths standing beside him on the school grounds were killed. He came here last September under sponsorship of the Institute of International Education and has been permitted to remain a second year because of excellent scholarship.

Mr. and Mrs. Parker Poe of Pebble Hill Plantation, Thomasville, initiated the gift with a donation of $150 after they heard of Higa through William A. Watt of Thomasville, state chairman of the Rotary Student Fund. Mr. Poe is a veteran of the Okinawan campaign.

Welcome Alumni...

ANOTHER school year is drawing to an end and it makes us stop and think for a minute. How far have we progressed since last year? The sophomores of last year are looking forward to September to begin their senior year. The juniors of last year are now preparing to parade down the aisle in those wonderful caps and gowns to receive that wonderful degree. But what about the seniors of last year? Where are they now and what are they doing? Some of them are many miles away teaching our younger generation and some are in the armed services fighting for world peace. We hope that all the Alumni who were able to come are here on the campus with us for the Alumni activities. We extend to all of you who could come a very hearty welcome.

Our faculty members and the students have done a lot of planning for Alumni Day and we all wish a very pleasant stay on the campus. You many not feel as though you are members of our large family, but you are. In fact, you are serving as a shining example for the students now in school. You have completed your college work and are now out in the world on your own. You don't have your faithful teachers or house mothers to fall back on. We, the students on the T. C. campus, look up to you and praise you for the grand work you have done since you left dear old T. C.

The End Of The Road

WE ARE fast approaching the end of another school year, and it's good to look back over the experiences we've had. Though we are told that the classroom experience is very, very important, the living together, learning to get along with one another on the campus and in the dormitories, will be far more important to us than the facts that we will remember in a hazy way in a few years.

The atmosphere of T. C. is such that a new student feels at home almost as soon as he hits the campus. We have the name of the "friendly college," and from my experiences here the last two years I can say that the name is well earned.

There are many things about this year that we will never forget: those wonderful ball games, the night the freshmen made a big splash in the pool, the beauty revue, the I. R. C. talent show, and the many, many little experiences that have brought us closer together and which make us look forward to the time of parting with mixed emotions.

T. C. has meant something different to each of us, but as we prepare to leave we carry many memories with us. As alumni we will remember all we have gained here and do our utmost to hold fast to the ethics and traditions we have seen in action here.—Earle Reynolds.

The only 1951 graduate of Georgia Teachers College Laboratory High School was to receive his diploma in informal chapel exercises Wednesday. He is Leslie Lee Nesmith of Route 4, Statesboro.

The school has no regular graduating class because of transition this year from 11 grades to a 12-grade program. Here Principal Yewell R. Thompson presents the diploma.

Charles Stewart Elected Editor of George-Anne

Charles A. Stewart, Savannah junior, business manager this year of The George-Anne, will be editor of the paper next year.

In the student election Thursday he defeated Miss Edith Carpenter of Tifton and William C. Wyatt Jr. of Fort Valley, both juniors. John W. Stone of Wrens is the retiring editor.

Herman B. Huff of Jacksonville Beach, Fla., a freshman, became business manager without opposition.

Student Government Council members named simultaneously are Misses Martha Driskell and Yvonne Jones, Waycross; Ann Nevil, Register; Carolyn Porter, Hinesville; and Joyce Vaughn, Atlanta; Dan U. Biggers, Toccoa; John Mallard, Sardis; Jimmie H.

RETIRING — Robert L. Winburn will retire July 1 as college comptroller, it was learned today. "Mr. Bob," bookkeeper or comptroller here since 1931, may continue to work in the Business Office, but his present status will be taken over by Donald O. McDougald, Statesboro graduate of Emory University, who has served as assistant comptroller since January, 1950.

Oliver; and Hollis Ray Powell, Wrightsville.

Losing candidates in the Student Council election were Misses Frankie Quick, Midville, and Ann Trice, Greenville, Ala.; Gilbert C. Hughes, III, Homerville; John Renfro, Williamsburg, Ky.; and Conrad Story, Ashburn.

Faculty to Get Salary Increase

Despite prospects for a substantial decrease in enrollment in September, Teachers College will maintain its present full faculty and is providing salary increases averaging 10 per cent.

President Z. S. Henderson said extension services will be expanded to occupy teachers whose regular duties will be lessened by declining enrollment. Shrinking student bodies, he declared, will be general among colleges and may be attributed to the national emergency and the small graduating classes in Georgia high schools this year.

The salary adjustments are included in an expanded budget of approximately $800,000.

THREE PROFS PROMOTED

The college today announced promotions for three faculty members. They are: Dr. Dr. Henry L. Ashmore, from Associate Professor to Professor of Education; W. S. Haner Sr., from Associate Professor to Professor of Chemistry; and Miss Marie Wood, from Assistant Professor to Professor of Education.

Three faculty members will be away next year on graduate fellowships. They are Shelby H. Monroe, in education at the University of Florida; Thomas J. Hill, education at Johns Hopkins University; and Hugh H. Caldwell, sciences at the University of Virginia.

Others given leaves of absence for doctoral study are Cameron Bremseth, in business education at Columbia University; Donald F. Hackett, arts at the University of Missouri; Leila Stevens, education at the University of Wisconsin; and Yewell R. Thompson, education at the University of Florida. They will have assistantships or instructorships.

Resigning are Miss Louise Bennett, who will accept a position nearer her home at Waycross; Buford Dye, business teacher, leaving the profession; Dr. Warren Jacob Houck, for graduate study in biology at Stanford University; Dr. Bernard L. Poole, taking a history assignment at College of Charleston; Sam R. Peden returning to graduate study in physical education at Western Kentucky State College; and Vera Richardson Wynn of the Lab school, retiring from teaching.

TOM HILL TO WORK ON DOCTORATE

Tom Hill, who teaches in the college Laboratory School, has been granted a leave of absence to go to Johns Hopkins University on a George Peabody scholarship to work on his doctorate's degree in education.

Jeanette Wilder Is 'Miss Home Ec'

Miss Jeanette Wilder of Vidalia won the trophy award and title "Miss Home Economics" for outstanding service to the Home Economics Club, home economics department, and the college in general during the year 1950-51. The honor was conferred upon her at the last club meeting of the year.

She plans to graduate at the close of the fall quarter, 1951.

Last year, Thelma Winters of Pooler won the trophy. It was the first year the honor had been conferred by the club. All students in the Home Economics Club are eligible to try for this honor each year. The winner, however, is not eligible the following year.
