NUMBER 7

Piano Concert To Be Given Nov. 18

The seventh annual Jack Broucek - Dan Hooley duo-piano concert is slated at Georgia Teachers College's McCroan Auditorium Wednesday evening, November 18, beginning at 8 p.m.

This is the seventh time in eight years that the popular GTC music faculty members have combined their talents for an evening's entertainment. Two years ago Mr. Broucek was at Florida State University doing advanced graduate study.

This program is offered free of charge to the student body and is open to the general public. In the past years music lovers from all over South Georgia have attended in large numbers.

There will be five groups of selections presented by Dr. Hooley and Mr. Broucek. These are: Group I, "Rachmaninoff Suite #2"; Group II, "Melody" from Orpheus by Gluck, "Sonata in D" by Mozart, and "Sicilienne" by Bach; Group III, "Coke Walk" by Tansman, "Caribbean Dance" by Benjamin, "El Vito" by Infanta; Group IV, Three Rachmaninoff Songs;

"Beauty Dwells Here," "Vocalis" and "Floods of Spring," also five Polovetsian Dances by Borodin; and Group V, "Scaramouche Suite" by Milhaud. Past programs have varied between popular and the better known classical numbers.

Mr. Broucek, a native of Ohio, received his bachelor's degree in music at Baldwin-Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, and his master's at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Hooley, a native of Renova, Pennsylvania, took his bachelor's degree at Penn State, his master's degree at Columbia, and his doctor's degree at Columbia.

Mr. Broucek is now working toward his doctor's degree in music. Two years ago he took a sabbatical leave to study at Florida State University in Tallahassee.

Other concerts will be given in Washington, Georgia on Thursday, November 19, for the Washington Concert Association and in the Savannah High School Auditorium. Their appearance in Savannah will be a benefit concert for the Savannah Piano Teachers Club.

Ten GTC Seniors Have Been Named To The 1959-1960 Edition of Who's Who

Ten Georgia Teachers College seniors have been named to the 1959-1960 edition of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." They are: Richard Baker, a social science major from Cordele, is currently president of the GTC Student Council, the highest elected honor at the college. He is also a member of Phi Mu Alpha, a music fraternity for men on campus, and the college dance band.

Student Council Makes Requests

The GTC Student Council at their November 2 meeting discussed the idea of having the movie shown twice a week, Thursday and Friday nights, so that those students who plan to go home for the weekend may have the opportunity to see the show. The Thursday night showings will begin at about 6:30 and end about 8:30. The Friday night shows begin at 7 p.m.

Also the Student Council will ask the faculty members for suggestions of some interesting educational shorts that could be shown in addition to the main feature.

A committee will be appointed to select a faculty member of the month beginning December 1.

The college, through a recommendation of the Student Council, has ordered new Georgia and American flags.

The Student Council has requested that the student body of GTC back the Concert Series Artists, who will appear in McCroan Auditorium, by attending the events.

KDE Regional Meeting Held

Miss Betty Biggers of Keyville and Miss Janice Lindsey of Fort Gaines, represented Georgia Teachers College at the Southeast Regional Meeting of Kappa Delta Epsilon held in Columbia, South Carolina, on October 30 and 31.

The majority of the meetings at the two day convention were held on the University of South Carolina campus. On Friday, the delegates attended registration and a reception and on Saturday the program included a general meeting, separate delegate sessions and a luncheon in the afternoon at Columbia College.

Miss Barbara McAllister, a representative of the Kappa Chapter at Mercer University, presided at the general meeting. She was the recipient of a national scholarship awarded by the Kappa Delta Epsilon organization. Miss Dorothy Orr from Emory University, one of the founders of Kappa Delta Epsilon, spoke at the general session.

Miss Miriam McClain of Pelham is president of the GTC chapter of Kappa Delta Epsilon and Miss Helen Taylor is faculty advisor of the organization.

Vivian Blizzard, a social science major from Tennille, is secretary of the Student Council this year. Miss Blizzard is the past president of West Hall, now called Deal Hall. Last year she was a member of the cheerleader squad and a member of the Social Committee.

Jerry Brown, a health and physical education major from Manchester, was vice-president of the Student Council last year. This friendly senior is a member of Phi Beta Lambda. Brown was a member of the Cone Hall House Council and Eta Rho Epsilon last year.

Glenda Durrence, a business education major from Claxton, is treasurer of Pi Omega Pi, secretary of the Future Business Leaders of America and a member of Pi Beta Lambda. This active senior is a member of the Primitive Baptist Youth Fellowship and was recognized for scholarship at the Honor's Day program last year.

Emory Giles, an English major from Sandersville, is past president of Masquers, the campus dramatic organization and a member of the Radio Club. Giles is a member of Kappa Phi Kappa and Alpha Psi Omega and had been a member of the French Club for three years.

Betty Sue Mashburn, a member of the Music Education Club, the Philharmonic Choir, and Sigma Alpha Iota. This active senior is also a member of Kappa Delta Epsilon and the Baptist Student Union.

Miriam McClain, a business education major from Pelham, is a member of the Student Council, president of Kappa Delta Epsilon and secretary of Gamma Sigma Upsilon. Miss McClain is a member of the Future Business Leaders of America and was recognized for scholarship at the Honor's Day program last year. She was recently elected president of Lewis Hall.

Ed McLesky, an industrial arts major from Atlanta, was a class representative to the Student Council last year. A member of the Inter-Dormitory Council, he was also a member of the Cone Hall House Council.

Helen Tanner, a general science major from Twin City, is secretary of the Science Club and of the Inter-Dormitory Council. This active senior is a member of Kappa Delta Epsilon and past vice-president of Lewis Hall. Miss Tanner was recognized for scholarship at the Honor's Day program last year. She is presently student teaching in Twin City.

Don (Whitey) Verstraete, a business education major from Moline, Illinois, was a third team NAIA All-America selection last year and is a co-captain of the basketball team. He is the first varsity athlete to be named to "Who's Who" listing in eight years. Verstraete has led all

Campus News Briefs

According to Dr. J. D. Park, chairman of the education division at GTC, the ACE club and the student GEA organization on campus will jointly sponsor lecture series on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings at 7 p.m. next week in observance of National Education Week, November 9-13.

Four faculty members have been invited to speak at those lectures and the topics of their speeches will develop the theme of National Education Week. Praise and Reappraise American Education. The four speakers will include: Dr. Samuel T. Habel, Dr. Donald Hackett, Dr. Burton J. Bogitsh, and Coach J. B. Searce. These lectures will be held in the Frank I. Williams Center.

Dr. Jack N. Averitt, chairman of the division of social science, will speak at the assembly program in McCroan Auditorium on Monday, November 9. The subject of Dr. Averitt's talk will be, "Contemporary England as Viewed Through A Traditional London Fog."

Dr. Zolton J. Farkas, professor of modern languages, will attend a meeting of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association in Atlanta on November 6, 7, 8. Dr. Farkas will present a paper entitled "Salzburgers—Great Americans." Other participants from GTC will include Dr. Fielding D. Russell, Dr. Lawrence Huff, Roy F. Powell and Mrs. Marjorie Guardia, all of the English department.

Miss Marie O'Neal and Miss Constance Cone, members of the Marvin Pittman faculty, will visit Louisville, Ga. on November 9 to assist in the Jefferson County Interservice program. They will serve as consultants in the field of reading.

Dr. Ronald J. Neil, professor and chairman of the division of music, was guest speaker at the Millen Woman's Club on October 20. Dr. Neil presented to the group a survey of music history.

Dr. Georgia B. Watson, professor of education, attended a committee meeting at the University of Georgia last week. The committee adopted recommendations for Developing Criteria for Counselor Education programs in Georgia.

Dr. Zolton J. Farkas, professor of foreign languages, will be guest speaker of a group of teachers of experimental foreign language classes in Savannah on November 4. The title of his speech will be "Foreign Languages in the Elementary School and Junior High School."

Dr. Jack N. Averitt, Hubert McAllister, Dr. George Rogers and Dr. David Ward, of the division of social sciences, will attend the second annual meeting of the Southern Historical Association in Atlanta on November 12.

The Archaeology Society will hold its first meeting of the quarter on Wednesday, November 11, in room 30 of the Administration Building. A movie will be shown on the early American Indians; so anyone interested in this kind of work is invited to attend this meeting.

Dr. J. D. Park, Dean Paul F. Carroll, Dr. Fielding D. Russell, Dr. Georgia Watson, Dr. Walter B. Matthews, and John Lindsey will attend a meeting of the Teacher Education Council at the Center of Continuing Education in Athens. The meeting will be held on November 9 and 10. The purpose of the meeting is to study ways to improve teacher education in Georgia.

The (Jack) Broucek - (Dan) Hooley duo-piano concert will be held in McCroan Auditorium Wednesday, November 18 at 8:15 p.m. There will be no charge and the public is invited.

Mrs. Marjorie Guardia, associate professor of English, addressed the first meeting of Delta Kappa Gamma on October 28. Delta Kappa Gamma is an honor society for teachers.

Dr. Walter B. Matthews, professor of education, recently served as demonstration coordinator in Alma, Ga. for the Area Workshop (GEA Districts I and VIII) of the "Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development." Dr. Shelby Monroe of GTC presided, and others on the program included Miss Constance Cone and J. A. Pafford.

Hackett Chosen Representative To The AIAA

Dr. Donald Hackett, professor and chairman of the industrial arts division at GTC, recently received an appointment as state representative to the American Industrial Arts Association.

He obtained the two year appointment through a letter from the executive secretary of the organization. His principal duty as representative will be that of gaining membership for the AIAA. He must also represent the philosophy of the National Association in Georgia.

The AIAA, an affiliate of the National Education Association, is the only international professional organization concerned primarily with the promotion and improvement of industrial arts as general education.

Membership is composed of more than 6000 teachers, supervisors, and administrators from the United States, Canada, and other parts of the world. The Association program and policies are determined by the total membership through mail ballots.

Its objectives include giving industrial arts a voice and a participating role in education on a national and an international level, providing the opportunity for high school and college teachers to work together on common problems affecting industrial arts, and making industrial arts more fully available to the boys and girls in our schools.

Newly Organized Alpha Phi Omega Elects Officers

Alpha Phi Omega, a new chapter of the national service fraternity, was organized at GTC last week. Alpha Phi Omega is sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America and is set up to help the community, the college, and the students.

Election of officers took place at the first meeting. Officers are as follows: Jim Conway, president; Marlow; Jim Harrell, vice president; Warner Robins; Ed McLesky, secretary, Atlanta; Jack Smoot, treasurer, Fort Stewart; Bob Wilson, historian, Richmond Hill. The newly elected officers will hold these offices until next spring.

Until the chapter is completely organized, weekly meetings will be held Wednesday evenings at 6:30 in room 114 of the Frank I. Williams Student Center. Alpha Phi Omega wishes to extend an open invitation to anyone who has ever been connected in anyway with scouting. Anyone interested should contact one of the officers.

"The Rack" with Paul Newman, Wendell Corey, and Walter Pidgeon will be the movie presented Friday evening at 7:00 p.m. in McCroan Auditorium. "The Rack" is a story of collaboration with the enemy in Korea.

Ugliest Man On Campus To Be Crowned At "Ugly Man Ball" Dec. 5

Crakes Speaks At Assembly

Mr. Charles R. Crakes of the Educational Service Department of the DeVry Technical Institute in Chicago, was the guest speaker in assembly Monday, November 2. Mr. Crakes spoke about the changing nature of our world today.

In his speech Mr. Crakes discussed the opportunities which are being offered to the young people of today and in the future. He stated that the education available in our schools today will not prepare the students to survive in the later Twentieth Century society.

He outlined what industry is doing today and the completely new types of jobs which are opening its doors to men and women. He stated that we, as future teachers, should be aware of this progress because the students we teach will have to perform these jobs and we will have to live with these new industrial advances.

Mr. Crakes has served as a classroom teacher, principal of a city school system. These years of experience in education have provided him with a thorough and extensive background of knowledge on current educational problems.

As a summer school instructor at Northwestern University, he is familiar with the field of teacher training. His experience as a platform speaker for over 1,300 conferences and conventions has brought him into direct contact with many types of educational groups and their problems.

He is the author of a series of "School Service" bulletins and a frequent contributor to educational periodicals.

Anderson Hall Holds A Party

Anderson Hall became, for one hour Thursday, the meeting place for ghosts, witches and goblins.

Heretofore unknown performers of Anderson Hall provided entertainment in a television skit, "The Unknown." The ghostly honor guests were the newly elected officers of the dorm.

Entertainers were Linder Nelson, Carolyn McKenzie, Hilda Blanton, Florrie Daniels, Dreena Sealy, Polly Robinson, Betty Scurgis, Nellie Pate, Janice Pearce, Mary Sue Page, and Dale Summerlin.

Mrs. J. B. Johnson, house mother, served refreshments after the program.

The night for honoring some lucky male from Georgia Teachers College will be Saturday, December, in the old gym when the ugliest man on campus is crowned at the annual "Ugly Man Ball," which will again be under the sponsoring of the Veterans Club. At the dance the "Ugly Man" will be crowned by last year's winner, Dan Stipe.

Voting takes place on the preceding days of the dance by all students of GTC. Penny-a-vote is the method used to select the eventual "Ugly Man." Voting will be continued until the night of the dance so that all students will have the opportunity to support their favorite "Ugly Man" to the very end.

Every club on campus is allowed to sponsor a candidate to participate in the "Ugly Man Contest" and these names should be turned in as soon as possible to either, Garland Hicks, president of the "V" Club, Mike Sweat, Leonard Jordan, or any member of the Veteran Club.

Dan Stipe, a physical education major from Baxley, was last year's winner.

NOTICE

Beginning Sunday, November 8, 1959, the dining hall will be open for lunch at 12:30 p.m. and will close at 1 p.m. This change in the schedule is an attempt to adjust to a change in church service hours.

Dr. Tyson Appointed To Committee To Revise Ga. College Standards

According to Mr. Clude Purcell, state superintendent of schools, Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students at Georgia Teachers College, has been appointed to a committee by the State Department of Education to revise standards for junior and senior colleges in Georgia. "Dr. Tyson, in his position as Dean of Students at GTC, represents an area of college life that should be included in the standards. I am sure that he will make a fine contribution to the committee," stated Mr. Purcell.

Standards for Georgia colleges were developed by the State Board of Education in 1931. The 1937 Acts of the General Assembly (pp. 864,868) provide that; "The State Board of Education shall prescribe, by regulation standard requirements for universities, colleges, normal or professional schools, conferring degrees or issuing diplomas in this State, and no charter granting the right to confer such degrees or diplomas shall be granted or issued until the applicants therefor have obtained from the State Board of Education a certificate showing that such requirements of the Board have been met."

Slight modification of these standards was made in 1949. In view of the progress that has been made in public schools and in the colleges of Georgia, it seems necessary that the standards for the colleges be restudied and revised.

Dr. Tyson is an officer of the Department of Higher Education of the GEA. Included on the committee to revise standards are all of the officers of the Department of Higher Education, as well as other college representatives, representatives from the public school systems, and the State Department of Education.

Congratulations To The Who's Who Seniors

Congratulations to the ten seniors who were chosen as members of 1959-60 "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Recognition by Who's Who means that a student has been officially recommended from the college he attends for outstanding effort and achievement. This is not a popularity contest and utmost consideration is exercised in selection of this exceptional group of students.

A student's scholarship, leadership, cooperation in educational and extracurricular activities, general citizenship, and his promise of future usefulness are considered.

The group recognized is large

Let's Hear Those Shutters Snap!

Everyone can't be a member of the staff of the Reflector, our GTC yearbook. But everyone does have a chance to get their favorite snapshot, which depicts student life and activities, into the annual.

Besides the pleasure of seeing your snapshot in the annual, there will be $5.00 prize for the three best pictures turned in. There's not a person among you who couldn't use an extra few dollars or so! Isn't this true???

The more snapshots turned in, the more the judging committee will have to choose from, the better the snapshots will be in the Reflector. Make sure you will enjoy the snapshot section in the annual and participate in this snapshot contest.

Letters To The Editor Invited

Are you satisfied with campus rules and regulations at Georgia Teachers College? Do you have any complaint or suggestions for the average GTC student? Does the school's policy and administration meet your expectations? Do you have a friend who has accomplished an outstanding feat and received no acclaim? Do you like the editorial ideas published in the George - Anne? What is your opinion of current issues?

The George-Anne and the student body would like to know what you think of the current issues, problems, and activities at GTC. We want to know your opinions, suggestions, comments, criticisms, and ideas concerning the editorials

An Appeal To Educational Honesty

Living in a world of mistrust and maladjustment we sometimes wonder how we are surviving. The vicious circle of grabbing and the outdoing of the Joneses is leaving our existence in a deplorable state of affairs.

We turn to the heavens for help, and come away saying, "the only salvation for humanity is faith and better education." These thoughts should be implanted in the minds of those who are seeking new knowledge—those of us today, are enrolled here at Georgia Teachers College.

When The Damage Is Done It's Too Late

The Student Council Social Committee is in charge of the Saturday night dances. Campus organizations sponsoring this weekly event usually form the following committees in order to have a more successful dance: a program committee, a refreshment committee, a cleanup committee, and a decorations committee.

Any club who fails to successfully carry out the responsibilities connected with sponsoring the dance puts their organization and the Student Council in a delicate situation. Recently a club shirked their responsibility and left equipment, lights and decorations out and did not put them away as they should have been. Neglecting to return equipment to its proper storing place after the dance is a very costly oversight. Most of the equipment is very expensive enough to give a well-rounded representation of the GTC student body and will receive national recognition.

Throughout the four years of college this honor has been your goal and now, for the ten of you, this hope and dream has become a realization.

The high standards you have set up for yourself and lived up to have brought you this honor, for which your fellow students praise and are proud of you.

You were chosen by both the student body at GTC and the faculty members because you fulfilled the high qualifications necessary to receive this honor. You are truly fine representatives of Georgia Teachers College.

If you feel the snapshots in previous years were not up-to-par, then do your part to make them the best ever in the 1959-60 Reflector. Everyone has some picture that they've snapped in the dorms, out on the campus, or even in down town Statesboro. Maybe it's a picture of the Rat Day Parade, of Homecoming events, or one of the other activities which takes place here on the "Friendly Campus." Submit it to be judged. After all, you've got nothing to lose and everything to gain. A picture reproduced in the annual will live on for many years to come.

Get in the swing of things and let's make this the greatest Snapshot Contest in the history of the Reflector.

and articles printed in the George-Anne.

We encourage you to submit letters to the editor. The only way the George-Anne can find out how the students feel about present issues is through individual letters. At this time we have received only a few. The only requirement governing these letters is that they be of a reasonable length and they must be signed by the writer.

All letters of a sane and reasonable nature will be published. The George-Anne will only print those letters which have the writer's signature.

Express your thoughts to the student body through letters to the editor.

Of the students here at the college, the majority have dedicated their lives to the teaching profession. Our purpose and place in life is one of tremendous and unending responsibility and influence. The life we live is watched by the young and growing. Their feet are fashioned to follow—may we choose the right path.

It might be wise to give thought to these words, as we enter the classroom as students.

Be fair, be truthful and honest, be of good character to those about you.

—Contributed.

and equally as expensive to repair. When the clubs are allowed to use this equipment as a loan from the Student Council, the college is the one which has to pay the repair costs. Even if you don't take care of your personal equipment, then at least be responsible enough to protect borrowed equipment from damage.

In the future we hope that clubs will be more considerate. The members of a club and especially its officers should realize that when they depart from an acceptable code of behavior, they aren't the only ones to suffer by receiving criticism. Your Student Council has to share in the blame; they are the middlemen between you and the administration. To leave things just a little nicer than you found them is a lesson that many could learn.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"NAW, THAT ISN'T HIS LETTER SWEATER — THAT'S HIS GRADE AVERAGE."

-- Moore Or Less --

By WILLIS MOORE

All opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily necessary.

Many students are getting married lately. Maybe you would like some advice to remember after you are married. "The trouble with married couples is that they get along like husband and wife." "One way that a wife can keep her husband from laughing at her new hat is to show him the bill first."

Mr. Khrushchev feels that he has profited by his visit to the U. S. He returned to Russia and has big plans to put many of our practices into operation. However, he has run into some few complications. For example, he has to smoke two cigarettes in order that he can think for himself, and at the same time smoke a man's cigarette. He is considering a change—he prefers to walk a mile for his smokes; also this will help to remove the evidences of middle age spread.

There has been a trend in the Soviet Union to clean up the government. Mr. Khrushchev found a detergent that fills all your cleaning needs—also it's so easy when you use this brand.

We don't know how this went over in Russia, but one peasant did get a bottle of something and it turned out to be an all purpose cleanser—now he has the cleanest uclers within the iron curtain.

On the international front, diplomatic relations have become a major issue. When revolutions occur within the satellite countries, Mr. Khrushchev again turns to his U. S. visit for the answer. When a revolution arises, he simply sends the only man in Russia who had a loose bicycle seat when he was a kid. (You can tell by the way he moves when he sings). At any rate, this young man, Dack Clerk, rushes to the scene of the revolution with many cases of Shorenut chewing gum and the latest hits on the Kremlin Record label. The revolutionists' cheer Dack Clerk, chew Shorenut chewing gum and sway to the music (only that on the Kremlin record label). This gives the revolutionists something to do, and at the same time satisfies their revolutionary desires.

The Russian equivalents to foremen have a new motto at the salt mines. This motto was mimeographed and sent out to each official . . . (there was a limited supply, but they could still get two dozen each if they rushed $3.98 before midnight December 31, 1959). This motto was—"Take your pick and leave the driving to us." The peasants want a shipment of pills with instant flaking action to put on the salt rock. This would ease the hard work in the salt mines, and four out of five doctors recommend them. There is an understanding barrier that has not been conquered yet. One peasant bought (with his whole weeks salary) a box of cereal that talks and stayed up all night trying to learn English. The major misunderstanding was about the sensational offers presented on the back of the package. The package said, "send no money, just two box tops for a . . ." The peasant tried to get the wrong kind of box top and was shot—succeeded in getting one boxcar top but when he started on the second—that's when he got it. Now he's one of those that can't brush after every meal.

Mr. Khrushchev has found, in Russia, something that did not need to be imported. In fact he had wondered for a long time what he could do with all those gopher holes in the back lawn of the Kremlin. After his U. S. visit he found a use for them. One objection (by the gophers) the golfballs disturb them. There is a need for caddies, since there are no unicorn carrying caddies in Moscow.

No more will Nikita be bothered with the dangers of this life: that invisible shield that protects so many glistening little bicuspid in America has been installed in the Kremlin. However, two workmen were killed; While installing the invisible shield, it fell on them.

International exchange of sides can be profitable—at times; it can, at times, be impractical. COMIC DICTIONARY: ASSEMBLY: The only place the college students ever study.

GTC Graduate

Is An Active

MPS Teacher

By ANN MANRY

Although Richard Mandes was born in Pennsylvania he claims Brunswick, Georgia as his home. He still seems like "Ric" to us because he just graduated from Georgia Teachers this past June. At present he is teaching high school English at Marvin Pittman. This popular young teacher vows and declares that his biggest headache is trying to put out the Little George-Anne.

Ric attended GTC all four years. He was an active member of Masquers, Vets Club, Radio Club, Student Council, and other campus activities. He proved to be the able president of the sophomore class. Being elected to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and being on Honors Day top his achievements.

He is married to the former Carolyn Pierce of Eastman, who was also an active student on campus here. They are the proud parents of a two and a half year old son, Richard, Jr.

When asked about his hobbies Ric said that tennis was near the top of his list. If teachers got to leave school at 3:15 when students did, there might be enough time to indulge in his favorite sport. Reading, and all kinds is another form of relaxation that he enjoys.

After seeing him in so many plays on campus, I think that some of his most enjoyable days were spent on the stage in McCroan Auditorium. He had the lead in "McBeth," portrayed Fisby in "Teahouse of the August Moon," and had a supporting role in "Summer and Smoke," a three-act play by Tennessee Williams. In the one-act plays "The Boon" and "The Long Good-bye" Ric also had leads.

Next year Ric is planning to go to Northwestern Graduate School of Speech. Everyone is sure that as capable person as Ric is will succeed. I know they'll hate to lose him though.

The Best Things

In Life You'll

By MARIE THOMAS

Music is a term which is known and used throughout the world. There are many interpretations of the word music.

Some people think that there is one and only one type of music, this being fast, jitterbugish, real cool type. This, however, is very untrue. How many average people would be able today to recall the words of the tune of any of the so-called "hits," such as "Good Lovin'," "Blue Suede Shoes," "Seventeen," and "Daddy-O"?

There are many classical, semi-classical, and popular melodies of the past which are truly beautiful and which are appreciated by almost everyone. For instance, one who hears Chopin's "Polonaise in A-Flat Major" never completely forgets it and is usually able to recognize this composition from then on. Anyone who has ever gone to a wedding and has heard the "Bridal Chorus" has actually listened to a portion of Wagner's opera entitled "Midsummer Night's Dream."

Listening to such semi-classical selections as "Rhapsody in Blue," "Deep Purple," "Stardust," and "Autumn Leaves" is often found to be more enjoyable by the listener than listening to strict classical numbers.

Operettas also afford much listening pleasure. Can one ever forget the majestic tenor quality of the voice of the late Mario Lanza singing selections from the "Student Prince"? Each time one attends a fair, hears the cry of the barker, and sees the happy crowd, he remembers the gay music and action of "Carousel."

As one looks back to the popular tunes of yesterday, he remembers the romantic "Moonlight Bay" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart"; the "rah-dee-doo-dah" of "In the Evening by the Moonlight" also stirs his memory.

Every era has its own style of music. Today's generation should be broad-minded enough to appreciate the styles of yesterday as well as those of today. Good music will live forever in the hearts and minds of music lovers everywhere.

The ability of man to think and communicate his ideas both verbally and in writing separates him from the lower forms of animals.

Today man's ingenuity has led him to invent and teach electronic computing machines to read, write and calculate simultaneously at the speed of light.

Man, however, is the master mind over his new remarkable invention. His skill created it and his problems and formulas are fed into it and in return the computer yields answers that before had required several million individual calculations.

These new electronic computers cost between $500,000 and $4,000,000. These mechanical wizards, growing out of the early tabulating, calculating, and teletype machines, can solve that can be expressed in writing. When a foolproof method for solving a particular problem had been successfully established, it becomes a part of a library of machine methods, available to users everywhere.

A trailblazer in computer development, the late John von Neuman expressed a decade ago, "Computers must be able to modify their behavior on the basis of their experience."

A scientist, Dr. A. L. Samuel, has taught a computer to play the game of checkers. The checker playing computer keeps every move of each game in its "memory" and can estimate the amount of moves it will need to win the game.

In the March, 1959, issue of Fortune, G. A. W. Boehm states that computers that parallel those in the higher price range will eventually translate languages, notable technical Russian, faster and cheaper than a human can. "For nuclear physicists, the machine will determine with precision the behavior of particles; it will help military and businessmen reach more logical decisions," Boehm stated.

Robert Pell, writing in the New York Times Magazine in March of 1959, states that ordinary English is too unruly to feed these electronic brains.

Simon M. Newman, an engineer and lawyer at the U. S. Patent Office, has devised a new vocabulary for the computers. Following are four examples from this special word list:

Aforlap (from before and overlap) - Denotes a period of time which begins before an action continues. Thus, a walk which begins in sunshine and ends in rain is aforlap in relation to the rain.

Resilrig (from resilient and rigid) - Used with the modifiers sli, mat, and sub, it indicates relative degrees of resiliency and rigidity. Thus, a sli resilrig object is slightly resilient or fairly rigid. Lapafit (from after and overlap) - Denotes a period of time which begins during an action and ends after that action.

Timafor (from time and before) - Denotes a period of time during which an action ends completely before being followed by a second action.

"Computers open up scientific possibilities that were unthinkable before," states Ralph J. Cordiner, chairman of the board of the General Electric Company. These technologies will be a major source of employment in the coming decades," he added.

How To 'Flunk Out' Using Extra Effort

(Reprinted from the Clemson Tiger)

Frequently a student enters college with every intention of leaving as soon as he can get his grade point ratio to a sufficiently depressed level. The suggestions offered below are only a few of the many methods that have been developed over the years by diligent and persistent student research.

Grateful acknowledgment is made to these unnamed research workers and to their sponsors, the parents who have provided the funds and the automobiles which are so vital to the success of this program.

No claim is made that this list is all inclusive, nor is it necessary to apply all of them for complete success. New methods are continually being developed in colleges throughout the country, attesting to the remarkable inventiveness of these college-age workers in this field.

1. Cut class whenever possible. It is not considered legitimate to cut so often that one is dropped from class, since anyone can do that, and no finesse is required in such an approach.

The real objects of this whole program is to be eased out of college gracefully, leaving with all concerned the impression that a brave effort was made to stay in school and that the blame for failure to do so somehow lies with the college. Successful promotion of this idea will allow continued use of the automobile, and will assure that the allowance is not cut off.

Avoid Sly Profits
2. Avoid conferences with your professors. They are sly individuals, and have been known to answer questions, clear up difficult points, and even inculcate an interest to learn. Many tragic cases can be cited in which students who were failing successfully were, against their will, devalued as a result of conferences developed into high-ranking student with their professors.

It is much easier to remain in a pleasant state of confusion about a subject, and to retain unfounded but traditional ideas about what a stinker old professor Glotz is if you simply avoid all personal conferences with him.

3. Economize in textbook expenses. This provides additional funds for those expenditures so important to the development of a well rounded college drop out, as well as helping assure an early departure from the campus.

Several subheading under this subject are:
a. Buy only a portion of the required books. This permits several to share one book, and thus allows more than one to reduce his GPR.

b. Open the books seldom, if ever. Books that are kept in good condition bring a much higher resale value.

c. Sell each book as soon as possible after the conclusion of each course. This assures receipt of the largest amount of money, prevents use of the book as a reference for later courses, and guards against being stuck with a book that has been superseded.

4. When studying (and a certain pretense of study is necessary for political reasons—see item 1) be sure to get together with a group of congenial colleagues. This leads to good, hearty conversation on such topics as sports, sex, and whatever one can think of, if there is anything else important.

Group study also assures that no one person will have to strain his mind, and that no one will have worked out by himself the details of the lesson involved.

5. Avoid concerts, lectures, plays, and other cultural activities. This is a very subtle point, but one that must not be overlooked. It provides more time for good, hearty conversation (see item 4) and attendance at uplifting movies such as "The Sex Kitten from Outer Space," "Carnage on the Campus," etc.

Furthermore, it permits one to report to parents that, "I'm just too busy to go to these concerts, lectures . . . etc." This creates a sympathetic atmosphere at home, and helps explain those bloodshot eyes, shaky hands, etc.

6. Be sure to have all the electronic gadgets permitted in your room. Television can always be viewed at the home of a local friend (see item 7) or at a local recreation center (see item 8).

Hi-fi, stereophonic sound, entertainment, assist other neighboring students to achieve the same goals of low GPR, and impress parents with the scientific interest of the student.

7. Try to locate, within a radius of 30 miles, a girl friend who is sympathetic to your goals. She can help a great deal, and may indeed join you in the same endeavor if she is in college.

Seek Off-Campus Fun

8. If possible, locate several off-campus recreation centers where legal (and possibly illegal) beverages are served. Here you are sure to find congenial companions, the type of conversation you enjoy, and complete freedom from any academic influence.

9. Be selective in your reading. Of course certain reading, such as classics, cultural magazines, news magazines, and thought-provoking articles of any type should be avoided at

Miller's Highlights

By CLYDE MILLER

On Monday, Intramural touch football began, and with it, a new idea arose. The managers of the intramural teams will vote to decide a "back of the week," and a "lineman of the week." The respective choices will be announced in the next issue of the George-Anne. The games are played each evening on the football field behind the new gym. We urge you to support your intramural team. If you do not know to which intramural team you have been assigned, go to the new gym and look on the bulletin board.

Coach Roger Parson's "B" team has looked impressive in early scrimmages. The "B" team practices each afternoon in the old gym. The members of the "B" team are: Jimmy Hendrix, Ray Hassett, Paul Ross, James Cook, Carlton Walton, Ronnie Patton, Curt Chambers, "Boots" Brannen, Ralph Bowden, and Barney Johnson.

If last Saturday's varsity scrimmage was an indication of things to come, opposing teams had better beware. Particularly our two state rivals, the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech.

A fitting tribute to two of the most famous names in Georgia sports occurred two weeks ago. Bobby Dodd, head football coach at Georgia Tech and formerly a back with the University of Tennessee, was elected into the Football Hall of Fame. Charlie Trippi, one of the greatest backs the Southeastern Conference has ever seen, and a two-time All-America selection at Georgia, joined Coach Dodd and eight others in the Hall of Fame.

Don't forget, for good, clean fun and friendly competition, please support your intramural teams.

PLAYNIGHT EXPLAINED

"Playnight" is for everyone on campus. The gym is open on Wednesday and equipment is available for badminton, volleyball, ping pong, shuffleboard, and other games.

The trampoline is very popular among non-physical education majors. Physical education majors, some people feel, have superior skills in sports and they hesitate to play against them. They do not, however, dominate or monopolize the games or equipment. Most really want to help everyone become better skilful in sports as that is their endeavor in later life.

Everyone has an equal chance to play and have fun being with his friends.

Come to the gym every Wednesday night at 6:30 p.m. and get that much-needed exercise. The new recreation leader and teacher, Dr. George H. Stopp, is supervisor of the program.

Dunkel: Tech By 4; Ga. Over Fla. By 7

Louisiana State was back on top of the Dunkel Ratings after beating Mississippi, 7-3, Saturday night.

LSU (7-0) now has played opposition indexed at 97.5 and has outscored it by 14.4 points per game for a total rating of 111.9, the nation's best.

But Syracuse (6-0) is a close second. After beating Pitt, 35-0, the Orange rating is 111.5.

Mississippi (6-1), leader for the last two weeks, dropped to third.

The Syracuse-Penn State battle of the unbeaten will claim most national attention this week, along with No. 1 Louisiana State's tussle with Tennessee.

But next Saturday's closest game involving top teams should be that Northwestern-Wisconsin argument at Evanston. The easiest job falls to Mississippi, against Chattanooga.

Here are the Dunkel Rating differences, or pars, which those in the Top 14 have established over this week's opponents. This is a past performance ratio—not a prediction. If they improve upon these margins their ratings will rise, or vice versa.

LSU 16 over Tennessee. Syracuse 10 over Penn St. Ole Miss 48 over Nooga. Texas 17 over Baylor. Northwestern 4 over Wis. Auburn 18 over Miss St. Clemson 10 over Duke. Ohio St. 7 over Indiana. Iowa 9 over Minnesota. Georgia 7 over Florida. So. Calif. 19 over W. Va. Each team sets its own index on the basis of average scoring margin relative to rating of opposition. The higher the rating, the more per cent of the 1,376 games, not counting ties, covered here to date.

Pars in other big games: Friday, Miami, Fla. even with North Carolina.

Saturday, EAST—Army 33 over Villanova, Boston College even with Pitt. Delaware 54 over Temple, Penn even with Yale.

MIDWEST—Purdue even with Mich. State, Ga. Tech 4 over Notre Dame, Illinois 6 over Michigan, Nebraska 1 over Iowa State.

SOUTH—Kentucky 12 over Vanderbilt, Alabama 5 over Tulane, So. Carolina 39 over Virginia.

SOUTHWEST—Arkansas 6 over Rice, SMU 9 over Texas A&M. FAR WEST—Oregon 11 over California, Washington 11 over Oregon State.

The Dunkel system, a progressive index of difference by score, shows the following rankings by official major and small college classifications:

COLLEGE FOOTBALL dunkels
EXPLANATION: A dunkel is a comparative strength rating reflecting the season's record to date. It shows average scoring difference relative to rating of opponent. Example: a 200 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team, against opposition of equal rating. The system has been used since its inception in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

GTC Professors Have Just Three Weeks To Prepare Cage Lessons

Coach J. B. Searce and his 13th edition of the Georgia Teachers College Professors have just 19 "working days" before they square-off with the University of Georgia Bulldogs here on Wednesday, December 2.

The locals began workouts on Monday, October 18. Practice scrimmages this week began to show the effects of the drills, and the outlook for the season begins to be downright bright and sunny.

Virtually the same team that reached the N. A. I. A.'s final round of eight at Kansas City last March returns. Add to this 6-8 junior center Jim Long, junior college transfer Tracy Rivers and J. E. Rowe from Brewton-Parker, the added year's experience to the seven letter winners, and basketball buffs cannot fail to await this season with relish.

Coach Searce says "Our long suits this year are depth and overall squad height. Unfortunately for us, however, every team on our schedule seems to be improved over last year. All-in-all, though, I think we can have a successful season, barring injuries to key players."

The official 1959-1960 schedule:

Dec. 2 U. of Georgia	H
Dec. 5 Presbyterian	H
Dec. 7 Erskine	H
Dec. 12 Pembroke State	H
Jan. 7 U. of Georgia	A
Jan. 9 Stetson	H

The GTC Band will participate in the Veterans' Armistice Day Parade in Statesboro on November 11, 1959, beginning at 7 p.m. The parade will form on U. S. Highway 80 west of the intersection with U. S. Highway 301, near Franklin's Restaurant, and proceed approximately one-half mile south down North Main Street, and end at the new Piggy-Wiggly Supermarket parking lot.

A special showing of the Baltimore Colts' "1958 Highlights" film will be held in the Audiovisual room of the Rosendal Library on Monday, November 9 at 2:30 p.m.

The sound film runs approximately 35 minutes, and shows Champion Baltimore Colts' 1958 season. There will be no charge for this showing, and everyone is invited.

Intramural Roundup

By JOYCE RAHN

I read an article the other day which stated, "Most people die at 30 and are buried at 60." One reason for this is that most folks don't get enough physical exercise. So why don't you come out and participate in an intramural game one afternoon and not be one of those who dies at 30?

BOY'S INTRAMURALS
Well, the Bears have done it again! They captured the title of "champions" in boy's volleyball by winning all five games that they played. The team was under the capable and experienced management of Charles Ragsdale and Maurice Herndon. Members of the victorious Bears are: Hershell Carswell, Royce Conner, Carlton Gill, Vernon Hearn, Pete Henderson, Maurice Herndon, Melvin Hestor, William Langston, Danny McLaughlin, Phillip McLeary, Connie

Lewis, Jim Long, Charles Ragsdale, Joel Shirley, Charles Smith, Larry Thomas and Larry Thomson.

Touch football began Monday and the brand of play is very good. In the first games on Monday the Bears beat the Wildcats, 18-0, and the Bobcats edged the Tigers, 7-6.

On Tuesday the Panthers won over the Cougars, 18-0, and the Leopards beat the Lions, 20-0.

GIRL'S INTRAMURALS
The girls began this week playing off their rain-out games. Tuesday afternoon the Eagles beat the Falcons 34-14. The Cardinals beat the Hawks by the close score of 28-25.

It is interesting to note that the Cardinals are leading the girl's volleyball league. Come on girls, are we going to let them win????

POP CORN POP

What Makes Pop Corn Pop?

Popping corn contains water. When the water gets hot enough, the kernel explodes. Result: popcorn.

We're passing this information along as a public service. Actually we're up to the same old game.

You see, popcorn makes most people thirsty. Fortunately, when most people get thirsty they hanker for the good taste of Coca-Cola.

Wouldn't you like some popcorn right now? C'mon now, wouldn't you?

Girls' Phys. Ed. State Conference Slated For GTC

In the spring of 1960, the physical education and recreation majors will host the Georgia Athletic Recreation Federation of College Women's Conference here at Georgia Teachers College, A president and a recording secretary - treasurer will be elected from our club to serve the GARFC for one year. Plans are being made to do everything possible to have the biggest and best yet.

Twelve physical education and recreation majors traveled to Wesleyan College in Macon last Friday to participate in planning the yearly program of the Georgia Athletic Recreation Federation of College Women. Those who attended were: Eloise Minton, Kite; Faye Hodges, Montrose; Pat Hart, Uvalde; Helen Crump, Blackshear; Lane Hartley, Alamo; Linda Purcell, Carnesville; Joy Rahn, Springfield; Glenda Eskew, Augusta; Gail Bennett, Augusta; Pennie David, Waycross; Marilyn Denmark, Statesboro; and Marinel Henderson, Louisville. Two advisors, Miss Pat Shely and Miss Jane Bell, accompanied the group to the conference.

Exhibitions were held on Friday night at which Lane Hartley and Faye Hodges gave an excellent demonstration on the trampoline. On Saturday, GTC representatives attended meetings, discussion groups, and participated in recreational activities. Saturday night at the business meeting, Miss Shely was elected to be the GARFC advisor for the following year. The majors feel that they profited greatly by the weekend at Wesleyan.

Popular Statesmen Wish To Come Back

By CLAUDETTE AKINS

Hovie Lister's Statesmen Quartet whose members include Jake Hess, and Doy Ott, Big Chief Jim Weatherington were received in a very warm and sincere manner at their Gospel program on Tuesday, November 3, in McCroan Auditorium.

The Harmonettes, a girls' singing group from Statesboro, opened the program and were welcomed very cordially by the audience.

The Statesmen came on stage next and the rafters rang with applause. Even the children seemed to come alive with attention as they sang the favorite songs for all ages.

Hovie became interested in Gospel music early in life. The members of his family were all in the Gospel music field. He has studied the piano from the time he was six years old. After being a member of several singing groups, Hovie decided to organize a group of his own. Thus, in October, 1948, the Statesmen Quartet was formed.

Since that time the Statesmen have risen to fame all over the world. They have been winners on the Arthur Godfrey Show, and have sung in New York at two world movie premiers.

Hovie requires his boys to have voices of high quality, a reputable character, and to present a nice appearance. They do not necessarily have to be able to read music. Hovie says, "As long as they have a good ear for music, then it is just fine."

Statements by individual members of the quartet were made to the press. Rosie Rozell said, "This crowd tonight was really wonderful." Jake Hess commented, "I was influenced to go into the field of Gospel music by the John Daniel Quartet." Doy Ott tells everyone "no matter what field you are going into you need to go to college. I went for seven years, and loved every minute of it. If a person wanted to go in the field of Gospel music, perhaps he could form a group while he is in college and sing locally." He also stated, "Music is a wonderful field of which to be a part." Big Chief stated, "Gospel music is spiritually good for people. It is the kind of entertainment where you can have fun and at the same time receive a spiritual blessing. I love the work and the people with whom I come in contact. We meet people from all walks of life."

Hovie stated that he thought the audience was most appreciative, and the college students, who made up the majority of the audience, were very responsive. He stated, "We appreciate the courtesies given us by the student body and we look forward to coming back again."

The Gospel Rhythm Quartet, four young men from Glennville, rounded out the program for the evening. Everyone really enjoyed Terry DeLoach, manager, and his group as they sang.

Do You Think for Yourself?

(BLAST OFF ON THESE QUESTIONS AND SEE IF YOU GO INTO ORBIT*)

Do you believe that when a man insists on doing what he can do best, regardless of where he finds himself, he's (A) a valuable member of the community? (B) an independent spirit? (C) apt to be pretty silly?

"MURRY" HENDRICKS

It seems that every Friday afternoon there is a mass exodus out the front gate. A large percentage of our student body goes home every week-end. For various reasons they are not content to stay here and participate in the week-end activities, so this week I have asked the question "How do you think week-end activities could be improved so that more people would be inclined to stay on campus?" I think I got some pretty gassy answers.

Willis Moore—Find out what they go home for and import it to the campus.

Jerry Brown — More people should stay on campus to justify having more activities.

Claire Still—Put in football!

John Owens—Have them build a couple of new movies in Statesboro.

Virginia Kennedy—Do I have to answer that?

Norman Jarrard—Have something else besides dances.

CONTEST WINNER

Norman Broadwell, a senior social science major from Roswell was the lucky GTC Football Contest winner for the week of October 23. By naming eighteen teams correctly, he became the fifth five dollar recipient.

If you saw a fully clothed man about to jump into a river, would you (A) assume the fellow was acting and look for a movie camera? (B) dismiss the whole thing as a piece of personal exhibitionism? (C) rush to stop him?

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐

Do you believe that "a stitch in time saves nine" is (A) an argument for daylight saving? (B) a timely blow against planned obsolescence? (C) a way of saying that when you use foresight you get along better?

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐

In choosing a filter cigarette, would you pick one that (A) says it has a new filter? (B) merely says it tastes good? (C) does the best filtering job for the finest taste?

A ☐ B ☐ C ☐

When you think for yourself . . . you depend on judgment, not chance, in your choice of cigarettes. That is why men and women who think for themselves usually smoke Viceroy. They know only Viceroy has a thinking man's filter—the most advanced filter design of them all. And only Viceroy has a smoking man's taste.

*If you have checked (C) in three out of four questions . . . you think for yourself!

The Man Who Thinks for Himself Knows —
ONLY VICEROY HAS A THINKING MAN'S FILTER . . . A SMOKING MAN'S TASTE!
