Modern Dance Club Will Present

"The Last Days of Christ" April 14

The Modern Dance Club will present "The Last Days of Christ" on Thursday, April 14 in McCroan Auditorium on the Georgia Southern College campus at 8:50 p. m.

The presentation will be enacted in four parts: The Last Supper; The Betrayal of Judas; and the The Crucifixion.

The anointing of Christ is danced as a solo. It represents the anointment by Mary and the rebukement of Judas and the disciples for the waste of the precious perfume. Christ, in turn, rebukes them by saying that she has anointed him for his burial.

The second scene is The Last Supper and is presented as a narration by Ric Mandes.

The third scene is another dance solo in which Judas' Betrayal is represented. This scene also includes a narration. The soloist expresses the spoken word through the medium of expression which is his God-given body. All the betrayal horror and guilt that Judas felt is portrayed in this dance.

In the Crucifixion scene, which is the climax of the program, all members of the club will present a movement portrayal of the words taken from the spiritual, "Were You There When They Crucified My Lord?" The Philharmonic Choir Will sing this hymn.

"The Modern Dance members feel very strongly about this presentation and have dedicated the program to the spirit of Easter," stated Miss Pat Shely, who is the choreographer and director.

"Much hard work and effort have gone into the presenting of this program, and everyone is urged to attend and support the club as well as gain a meaningful insight to this part of Christ's life," Miss Shely added.

The will be no charge of admission, and the audience is asked not to applaud since the program is of a religious nature.

Members of the club are Bonnie Bussey, Waycross; Dee Dixon, Savannah; and Mary Jane Barton, Savannah.

Ninety-seven Seniors Now Student Teaching

Ninety-seven Georgia Southern College senior education majors are student teaching in 22 Georgia schools during 1960 spring quarter.

Of the 97 students, 14 are assigned to six different elementary schools and the remaining 83 are in 16 area high schools.

One full quarter of student teaching is a requirement for a B.S. in education degree.

The 16 high schools to which students are assigned include Claxton High School, Glynn Academy (Brunswick), Jenkins County High School (Millen), Bradwell Institute (Hinesville), Montgomery County High School, Screven County High School (Savannah), Glennville High School, Vidalia High School, Washington - Wilkes High School, Southeast Bulloch High School (Brooklet), Statesboro High School, Metter High School, Savannah High School, Coffee County High School (Douglas), Swainsboro High School, and the Marvin Pittman High School on the Georgia Southern College campus.

The six elementary schools include the Claxton Elementary School, Marvin Pittman Elementary School, Sallie Zetter-ower Elementary School (Statesboro), Mattie Lively Elementary School (Statesboro), Juliette Low Elementary School (Savannah), and the White Bluff Elementary School in Savannah.

The student teachers, their names, hometowns, assigned schools, and major subjects are as follows: Claxton High School: Charles E. Harris, Pembroke, mathematics; Martha Mitchell, Social Circle, social studies; and William Crump, Carnesville, physical education.

Glynn Academy: Thelma Malar, Statesboro, music; Mary Ann Harrell, Macon, music; Joe Lindsey, Lenox, mathematics; Hugh Henderson, Blackshear, physical education;

Tommy Mathison, Waycross, physical education; and Raymond Belue, Harlem, social studies.

Jenkins County High School: Roy Head, Monroe, physical education; Marvin Denton, Andersonville, physical education; Jean Garrard, Washington, business education; Betty Baab, Augusta, business education; Richard Berns, Savannah, science; Donna Long, Raneer, mathematics; and Jack Willis, Statesboro, music.

Bradwell Institute: Donald Snell, Wadley, business education; William Kitchens, Barnesville, physical education; Billy Mock, Blakely, physical education; Walter Woodard, Hazlehurst, mathematics; Patricia Groover, Ludowici, social studies; and Melba Thompson, Ailey, English.

Montgomery County High School: Jerry Brown, Manchester, physical education; Ben Benton, Glenwood, physical education; and Snell Buchanan, Snellville, social studies.

Screven County High School: Jo Ann Chappell, Waynesboro, business education; Barbara Ragan, Coleman, English, mathematics; Charles Whaley, Newington, social studies; Shirley Gaddis, Marietta, English; George Allen Corley, Cataula, science; Ann Gowen, Woodbine, physical education; and Frank Hinzman, Sylvania, industrial arts.

Glennville High School: Virginia Kennedy, Quitman, business education; Judith Lindsey, Georgetown, English; Earl Richardson, Jesup, social science; and Eric Heers, St. George, Va., social science.

Vidalia High School: John B. Carroll, Uvalde, English; E. M. McDuffie, McRae, physical education; and Myron Sweat, Soperton, social studies.

Washington - Wilkes High School: Betty Sue Mashburn, Pineville, music.

Juniors Vote To Void Herff-Jones Ring Agreement

The junior class Wednesday voted unanimously recommending the agreement between Georgia Southern College and the Herff-Jones Company to make the official school ring be voided.

After cancelling this agreement, last made in 1958, the class plans to have various ring companies submit bids for a contract.

"I feel that the junior class did the best thing possible by again opening bids. We hope that the school will benefit by obtaining a much better class ring than we have now," stated Dean Akins, president of the class.

Mr. Elliott Battle, representative of Herff-Jones, met with the class at the Wednesday meeting and pointed out the complete services that the Herff-Jones Company could offer in their line of school rings.

He stated, "Our rings are unconditionally guaranteed to last a lifetime. If Georgia Southern wants a larger, heavier ring, Herff-Jones will be happy to design one and bid competitively with the other ring companies."

The last agreement between the Herff-Jones Company and the college was signed in January, 1958 by Mr. Donald McDougald, then comptroller, after competitive bids were let.

Dr. R. David Ward, associate professor of social science, is the faculty sponsor of the junior class.

"Ten Nights In A Barroom" To Be Presented Here

"Ten Nights in a Barroom" will be presented by the Masquers, the drama club on campus, as its spring quarter production on Thursday and Friday evenings, May 19 and 20, in McCroan Auditorium on the Georgia Southern College campus according to Mr. Robert Overstreet, director of the club.

This play is an old-fashioned meller dramer by William W. Pratt. It was written around the turn of the century as a serious temperance drama.

The cast of the play is as follows: Mr. Romaine, Ralph Bowden, Jesus; Simon Slade, Bob Corely, Covington; Willie Hammond, Jack Smoot, Ft. Stewart; Sample Swichel, Bill Kautz, Jacksonville, Florida; Harvey Green, Carlton Hendrix, Claxton; and Frank Slade, Wayne Bland, Reidsville.

Also in the cast are: Joe Morgan, Claude Astin, Palmetto; Mrs. Slade, Rhonda Battle, Cairo; Mrs. Morgan, Jane Dotson, Brunswick; Mary Morgan, Sammie Jones, Washington, Georgia; and Mehtable Cartwright, Carole Jean Collins, Statesboro.

"Last quarter we did one of the best American plays and this quarter we will do one of the worst!" stated Mr. Overstreet.

Applications For Scholarships Are Now Available

Applications for the Pittman scholarship are now available to members of the Junior class, according to Dean Paul F. Carroll. The scholarship provides for room, board and all fees $48.00. It is awarded annually on Honors Day to a member of the present Junior class who will be a first quarter Senior by the beginning of the Fall Quarter.

Applications are available from Dean Carroll and must be submitted to him by April 30. If mailed, the letter must be postmarked by midnight, April 30th.

Applications must be accompanied by: a recent snapshot or other small picture, an autobiographical sketch, which reflects some of the achievements and ambitions of applicant, college transcript, and three letters attesting to character, leadership qualities, achievement, physical health and vigor and promise of future distinction.

The scholarship was established in 1955 by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Statesboro in memory of Dr. Marvin S. Pittman, former president of Georgia Southern College.

Dr. Arthur Gignilliat, administrative assistant to the Chancellor of the University System of Georgia, will be the guest speaker at the Honors Day program this year to be held on May 9 at 10 a. m. in McCroan Auditorium, according to Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of Georgia Southern College.

Abilities Of New Students Shown In Kuder Tests

By BUFORD BRANNEN

Had you rather drive a tractor, plant potatoes, or paint pictures. Which do you like best: browsing in a library, selling insurance or washing dishes. Give your answer considerable thought as it may reveal some startling facts as new Georgia Southern students discovered during orientation, March 21 through March 30.

Orientation was designed to acquaint beginning freshman and transfer students with traffic, campus, and academic regulations. Two sessions of orientation were planned for taking, scoring and interpreting the Kuder Preference Record, a test which helps each student find his fields of greatest interest.

After scoring the test some amusing incidents ensued. One female, seeing that her highest score was in mechanics and that good jobs in that field were watch makers, drill press operators, and automobile repairmen, muttered to herself, "And to think I had planned to major in home economics and be a wife."

Dr. Gignilliat, a native of Savannah, was associated for a number of years with Armstrong Junior College. For a few years he served as the director of the evening school at that college.

Three types of honors will be conferred upon deserving students at the annual assembly in the areas of scholarship, leadership - service and special awards.

Students meriting scholarship honors must have maintained an average quality point ratio of 3.6 for five consecutive quarters at Georgia Southern. These students will be selected from the sophomores, junior, and senior classes on the basis of official records in the office of the registrar.

Seniors Eligible
Senior men and women who have exhibited constructive leadership or rendered selfless service during their college career are eligible for nomination by the faculty and administration for the leadership - service honor.

The Honors Committee defines as seniors those students who have completed requirements for graduation in December, 1959 or March 1960 or who will complete graduation requirements in June or August of 1960.

A third group of special awards will be conferred on those students who have earned medals, cups, and awards for continued excellence.

Six Freshmen Named To New Honor Society

Six freshmen have been named to the Freshman Honorary Fraternity for Men, which had its organizational meeting on Monday, April 4, 1960 on the Georgia Southern College campus.

The new members were also elected to offices in this organization. They are as follows: Wayne Bland, Reidsville, president; Bill Wood, Sycamore, Vice president; Dick Russell, Statesboro, secretary; Bill Griffin, Augusta, treasurer; Bob Cochran, Metter, correspondent; and Jimmy Hodges, Statesboro, historian.

In order to be a member of this fraternity, a freshman must have a B average or better for the first two quarters of school. The purpose of the new fraternity is to promote scholarship among freshmen and it shall do this by participating in orientation week at the beginning of the fall quarter.

The new organization is in the process of developing a constitution and planning an initiation party. They hope to attach a Greek letter name to their fraternity. Their ultimate goal is to be able to establish a national honorary fraternity on campus which will serve the same purpose as this organization.

Dr. Toumey Is Promoted To Rank Of Professor At GSC

Dr. S. Lloyd Toumey, chairman of the division of business education at Georgia Southern College has been promoted to the rank of professor.

Dr. Toumey came to Georgia Southern College in September, 1958. He is married to the former Anne Souths of Tampa, Florida.

Dr. Toumey holds the B.S. in education degree from Ball State (Ind.) Teachers College; and the master of science in education and doctor of education degrees from the University of Georgia.

A lieutenant colonel in the Air Force reserve, he served overseas in the CBI theater during World War II, winning a battle Star, and in Japan, Korea, Okinawa, and Formosa during 1956-1957.

Prior to coming to Georgia Southern, he was extension coordinator for the Georgia Cen-

Action Speaks Louder Than Words

Don't the members of the student body at Georgia Southern College have eyes? Can't each and every one of you see the trash in the Frank I. Williams Center? Yes, trash! Trash that you, through your negligence, have left after you when you leave the building.

A new rule was put into effect immediately after the spring vacation. This being that in order for a student to use one of the conference rooms to study in, he must sign up with the evening receptionist for a room and at this time receive the key to open the locked door.

During fall and winter quarter all the doors in the building were left open so that students could just walk in and use the rooms at any time for study. This evidently did not work too well. The rooms were left, by the students using them, in such disarray that it would be a pity for a guest to walk through the building before the janitors could get in to clean the rooms. This situation has been progressively worse since September.

The furniture was being pushing aside. Drink cups were left lying around and our students found uses for ashtrays other than for ashes. Some ingenious students began to mix very messy concoctions in the ashtrays. Instead of using the trash cans provided in each room, the floor was much more convenient on which to throw wads of paper, gum, and ashes.

There are several reasons why students must sign up to secure a study room: in case any room is left disorderly or any furniture is damaged, the guilty persons will be known. If a person knows that by signing his name in the big black book that he will be held responsible for any damage, then he and his friends will be less likely to leave the room disarranged.

Each party will have only two hours limit at one time in a study room. This is done in an effort to have the rooms serve more members of the student body.

Since this rule has been introduced, the situation has improved greatly on the main floor. We wish we could say the same for the ground floor.

Issue Of "Local Option" Needs Explaining

The phrase "local option" is in the news in Georgia more and more each day as the Sibley commission attempts to determine the feelings of the people in the state with regard to the segregation-integration problem.

What is "local option?" What does it include? What does it not include? An amendment presented and adopted at the recent Georgia Education Association, in the words of its sponsor—Jim Cherry, superintendent of schools for DeKalb County and a 1936 graduate of Georgia Southern—contemplated permissive legislation to allow each school district in Georgia an opportunity to determine the fate of its public school system. To clarify the meaning of the term "local option" the following observations are offered by the DeKalb Education Association:

"1. The word "option" implies choice.

2. "Local" means on the state or national levels.

3. An example of "local option" in Georgia is found in the method of legalizing the sale of intoxicating beverages in each county. Georgia law permits each county to decide this question through a referendum.

4. Another example of "local option" is found in the method of conducting bond elections for school construction or for other county or municipal projects. Georgia law permits the people of a county or city to determine the issuance of bonds for capital improvements by a referendum.

5. The principle of "local option" is well established in Georgia and as applied to the school situation it would permit a school district by referendum to determine the future course of public education for the district. It could be any of the following: (a) Abolish public education by closing all the schools. (b) Establish a system of private schools. (c) Permit parents to exercise a choice through 'parent choice' as to the education of their children. (d) Permit a continuation of public education even if the principle of separate and equal schools is violated by Federal Court action. (e) Authorize additional referendums in the event the citizens in a school district signify a change in attitude.

6. In the event the 'local option' principle is approved and permitted in meeting the present school crisis, in all probability the vast majority of Georgia school districts would not be forced with this decision.

In the final analysis the decision as to the disposition of public education within the school district would be made by the citizens of that district through the exercise of 'local option.'

The above is not offered with any intention of establishing an editorial viewpoint, but rather with the intention of perhaps clarifying one important phrase that is currently in the news.

The Georgia Southern College Racetrack

EDITOR'S NOTE: This editorial first appeared in the May 1, 1959 edition of the George-Anne. We feel that this situation still warrants attention.

Everything, sooner or later, is rendered obsolete by the passing of time itself and must give way to the new or else stand in the way of progress. Our campus streets are an excellent example of the obsolete as they are outdated, too narrow, and above all they create a major hazard to campus racing.

Though not quite elaborate as Daytona or Indianapolis, our campus will compete with the best of tracks in thrills and excitement. Where else can one see so many spectators scurrying about to avoid the speeding cars and where else can one see many races on one program at no cost. Six times daily, when the final bell rings, the drivers make a mad dash for their waiting automobiles and then from a cloud of dust and smoke they begin to enter the track one by one. Into the dangerous east turn and Sanford they go at maximum speed, only the Volkswagen gives the perestrian the slightest chance.

Above the sound of clammering engines one can hear the occasional lament of a pedestrian narrowly missed by some junior Ponty Flock driving his new, straight stick, four baller, super-charged jalopy.

With the introduction of fuel injection the monsters from Detroit are becoming faster each year. Our presently inadequate streets will become an even greater hazard to racing in the future and the quality of campus racing will be seriously affected if something isn't done to improve conditions.

Because things are as they are, it would be wise if we all paid our insurance premiums and bowed our heads chanting in unison, God save the Volkswagen." Who knows who might hear us?

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"FLOSSY CALLED OFF THEIR MARRIAGE AND WRECKED HIS ENTIRE FUTURE—SHE WAS GOING TO GET A JOB AND PAY FOR HIS NEXT 3 YEARS OF COLLEGE!"

American Legion Matches $697 In Student Defense Loan Fund

Commander Thomas W. Preston, American Legion Post 90, Statesboro, Georgia, announces that his Post has contributed $697.00 to Georgia Southern College matching Federal funds for the purpose of aiding students in furthering and continuing their education. This program is known as "The National Defense Student Loan Program" and came into being during the 1959 session of Congress.

This money is allocated to various colleges on the basis of a nine to one ratio. The Federal Government makes available nine parts, with one part being provided through private sources. Schools in Georgia under the State Board of Regents are not allowed to use State funds for this program as none are allocated under present operating costs for this purpose.

Georgia Southern College was in receipt of a check for $6,274.00 from the Federal Government, which, in order to be used for student scholarship loans, must have been matched by $697.00 by a private source; thus making a total of $6,971.00 available. Georgia Southern officials estimate this amount will assist approximately 28 students this school year.

It is the intent of the Congress for this Program to increase the national level of education, and especially in the fields where most needed. Priority in securing a loan under this Program is given to students on a need basis with special consideration given for those majoring in mathematics and science or elementary education teaching.

Repayment of the loans will begin thirteen months after graduation of the student. Interest rate on the loan will be at 3 per cent per annum. To encourage qualified students to enter the elementary teaching profession this loan program provides for the discounting of the total amount borrowed by 50 per cent for those who enter this field; thereby requiring elementary teachers to repay only half the amount of their loan.

This in a continuing program as no time limit has been set on the Program and as the loans are repaid, that part provided from private sources, will again be available to be matched with more Federal funds on the nine and one ratio basis. Loans under the Program are administered and approved entirely by the School with no strings attached, either by the private donor or the Federal Government.

Commander Preston states that the American Legion is vitally interested in, and stands ready at all levels, to assist in the education and training of our children so that they will mature into better leaders and citizens. The Legion has long recognized that the training our youth receive today will determine the type country we will have tomorrow.

Choir Presents Cantata Monday

The Georgia Southern College Philharmonic Choir, under the direction of Dr. Donald J. Neil, chairman of the music division presented "The Seven Last Words of Christ" by Dubois in assembly Monday, April 4, 1960.

"The Seven Last Words of Christ" is a sacred cantata. The "Words" are actually the seven sentences Christ spoke on the cross before he died as found in the Four Gospels.

The soloist for the performance are as follows: Scarlet Smith, soprano; Mary Elizabeth Parrish, soprano; Johnny Hathcock, baritone; Bucky Carlton, baritone; Billy Martin, tenor; Guilford Prickett, tenor; and Tommy Rogers, tenor.

The other members of the Philharmonic Choir are: Willa Alexander, Sandra Bacon, Charlton Bennett, William Bowen, Jayne Bragan, Nancy Ellis, Tommy Fouché, Charlie Griffin, Ronald Harper, Carl Highsmith, Danalyn Lee, Carolyn McKenzie, Bob Murff, and Leon Myers.

Also Linder Nelson, Helen Noweck, Beth Ridgion, Barbara Shaw, Elaine Smith, Sandra Strickland, Patsy Wagner, and Joe Walters.

Accompanist for the performance was Dr. Roger J. Neil.

At The

Editor's Desk

One of the most memorable songs that students carry off with them when they graduate from a school is the Alma Mater.

Except for the annual Rat Day activities when freshmen students must learn and sing the Alma Mater whenever asked to by the Sophomore class, the Honors Day program in May and graduation exercises held in June and August, students at Georgia Southern College have few opportunities in which to sing their school song. The Alma Mater should be a part of the ritual of all weekly assembly programs and other large events where the student body gets together.

Not only should the Alma Mater be more a part of our college life, but the fact that it represents the foundation upon which Georgia Southern College was founded should be kept well in mind. Billy Jackson, a 1958 graduate of GSC, interpreted our Alma Mater in the May 25, 1956 edition of the George-Anne in the following way: "Down among the murmuring pine trees," the almighty and handsome Georgia pine, which had to be moved in order for our forefathers to build this institution and the homes in which they lived.

"Where old nature smiles," the smile of life eternal, the smile that knows no other emotion than that which bountifully furnishes us with the resources that we have and use.

"GSC holds up a standard," the standard set by the sweat off the brows of the founding fathers, the standards that the school has survived upon these countless years.

"Known for miles and miles," known far and wide by young and old. Our students come from the span of America and they are here because they wanted to come here. They have stayed because they found something worth staying for. "From the blue and broad Atlantic, balmy breezes blow, wafting far GSC's spirit. May she ever grow." Here is the hope she holds for us, the hope upon which we will forever live.

If you don't already know the Alma Mater, learn it and when it is sung, sing it proudly, and you will find that in years to come the tune may slip your memory, but the words will never leave you.

Campus News Briefs

Norman Jarrard, a junior from Alma, Georgia, has been nominated for the office of Enlistment Chairman on the state council of the Baptist Student Union. The election will be held Saturday, April 9, at the annual BSU Spring Retreat at Rock Eagle, near Eatonton, Georgia. The retreat is a training meeting for newly elected officers of the Baptist Student Unions on Georgia college and university campuses.

The Spring Retreat begins with the evening meal on Friday, April 8, and continues through lunch on Sunday, April 10. The theme of the retreat is "Faith at Work—James 2:18." There will be outstanding Baptist speakers and special music featuring student groups. Highlights of the meeting will be the official appointment of summer missionaries and the election of state officers.

Gail Vel Dink, a home economics major, from Georgia Southern College, was elected state treasurer of the Georgia Home Economics Association at the forty-first annual convention held at the Dempsey Hotel in Macon, April 1-2.

Eighteen home economics majors, accompanied by Miss Betty Lane and Miss Lucille Golightly, attended this convention.

In recognition of her services as state secretary of this college club group for the past year, Rose Franklin was presented a special award.

During the convention, it was announced that the Annual Fall Workshop for the officers and members of the Georgia Home Economics Association is to be held in October on the campus of Georgia Southern College.

Dr. Jack N. Averitt, professor and chairman of the social science department at Georgia Southern College, spoke at the Eta Rho Epsilon meeting Wednesday night on the topic of Sports in England and later showed slides that he took during his visit to this country.

Dr. Jack N. Averitt, chairman of the social sciences division, was recently elected as one of the Board of Directors of the Statesboro Rotary Club for the forthcoming year to become effective as of July 1. Dr. Averitt is currently serving as chairman of the Program Committee of the Rotary Club here in Statesboro.

Dr. Averitt is an active member of the Music Club of Statesboro. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association in Statesboro.

Dr. Averitt is currently writing a two-volume work of the coastal history of Georgia which will be released at some future date.

Two new microphones have been purchased by the Georgia Southern College for use at assemblies only.

General officers were recently elected by the Young Woman's Auxiliary (Y. W. A.) for the coming year.

The officers are as follows: Betty Lynn Cadle, Warner Robins, president; Peggy Parks, Brunswick, vice-president; and Carolyn Lovins, Swainsboro, secretary.

Plans are being made for the installation and these officers will begin serving this spring quarter. The Y. W. A. is an organization for Baptist girls and meetings are held twice a month. One meeting is a general meeting held in the Williams Center, and the other is a circle meeting held in each of the residence halls.

GSC Eagles To Play Parris Island Tonight

The Georgia Southern College baseball team will take to the road for the first time this weekend with a two-game set Friday evening and Saturday

Intramural Roundup

By VELINDA PURCELL

GIRLS

After two quarters of play the Cardinals are in first place. These are the standings according to total points for Fall and Winter quarters:

TEAM	Ttl. Pts.
Cardinals	1107
Bluebirds	855
Eagles	848
Yellow Jackets	807
Hawks	770
Toppers	758
Rebels	679
Falcons	617

All the new girls who enrolled this quarter have been placed on a team. They are as follows: Rose Adams, Lois Meadows, and Nelle Mims—Eagles; Rebecca C. Chandler, Helen Markey, and Peggy Norman—Toppers; Willa Alexander, Francis McCall, Charlotte Ogden—Hawks; Lynn Davis, Susan Jones, Myra Raulerson—Cardinals.

Mary Dixon, Madolyn Hulsey, Mary Strickland, Nova Tyre—Rebels; Iris Cobb, Helen Lane, Virginia Smith, Elizabeth Walker—Bluebirds; Sara Edgeman, Patsy Harrison, Vera Strickland, Carolyn Thigpen—Yellow Jackets; Gwendolyn Ferguson, Gwendolyn Garwes, Anna Tallent—Falcons.

If there are other girls who are not on a team please notify Mr. White or Miss Shely.

afternoon at the Parris Island Marine Base.

The Eagles haven't been able to practice for a week due to the steady rains pelting South Georgia—and had a two-game series with Florida State University washed out on Saturday.

Pre-season evaluations of the Eagles called for good defense, excellent pitching, and a lack of power. All have proved wrong—with only two wins, four losses, and a tie after seven starts to go on—pitching has been the Eagles' big problem.

Sore arms on the part of all the GSC starters have thrown the pitching staff out of line. Bo Altman, the Waycross sophomore right-hander who led the squad last year with a perfect 4-0 record, has seen only one inning of action. Clyde Miller, another sophomore right-hander received credit for both wins in a double-header sweep over Davidson; and then came down with bursitis. Miller may be ready for the home Kentucky series on April 11-12.

Lefty Ray Mims, the hardest thrower of the lot with 25 strikeouts in 19 innings, has a chronically-sore back muscle, an requires extra long rest between starts. Junior Tracy Rivers of Omega has had control problems due to the lack of work in the pre-season drills—again because of a sore arm.

The fielding has been shoddy, with nearly three errors per game. The hitting, led by right fielder Dan Stipe (.391), first baseman Billy Robinson (.364) and catcher Tom Howland (.316) has been the surprise.

The squad has six homers, two each by Stipe and Howland, and on three less than last season's entire output.

Amherst whipped Georgia Southern 8-3 in both games of a double-header here last week but here's one Lord Jeff who didn't get to the plate. Bill Mallard, Eagle third baseman, is shown as he puts the ball on sliding Bob Weiser after receiving a perfect throw from center fielder J. E. Rowe. Joel Chyds, Amherst center fielder is shown advancing to second, and the umpire is Sam Howard of Augusta.

Intramurals Are Now Underway; All Students Included In Program

By JIM POLLAK

Spring quarter intramurals have already started with softball and co-recreational tennis doubles underway. Other men's events include track and field events, golf, horseshoes, and handball doubles. Women can take part in paddle tennis, golf, or archery in addition to softball and tennis.

The intramural program is the only activity on campus to include all students. Each student enrolled is assigned to a team and by just participating it is possible to earn points for his unit. Last year approximately 60 per cent of the student body participated at one time or another.

Manager Organizes

The intramural program is made up of eight units for men and eight units for women. Each of these units is assigned a manager responsible for organizing their teams for competition and for getting better participation.

Teams of each intramural unit are competing for the all-intramural championship. Men's standings at the end of the winter quarter put the Bears in first place with 1219 points. The remaining seven teams and their total points are as follows: Bobcats, 1105; Wildcats, 1104; Lions, 930; Leopards, 820; Tigers, 798; Panthers, 760; and Cougars, 709.

Cardinals Take Lead

The Cardinals led the women at the end of winter quarter with 1107 points. The Bluebirds were second with 855 followed by the Eagles, 858; Yellow Jackets, 807; Hawks, 770; Toppers, 758; Rebels, 679; and Falcons, 617.

Points are awarded for participation and for the results of the contest. Actually, the scoring system emphasizes participation more than winning.

Mr. Jess R. White, director of intramural sports, and Miss Mary Pat Shely, coordinator of women's intramurals are looking forward to the usual interest displayed in softball. "Softball is probably the best team sport" stated Mr. White. Tennis is also getting a lot of interest and a co-recreational tennis tournament is planned for the end of the quarter because of the interest shown during last year's tournament.

Teams Combined

The women's softball has been combined into four teams to insure that games will be played to avoid forfeits because of not enough members showing up for games.

Anyone who does not know which team he is on, but wants to participate in the intramural activities can check in the Intramural Office, New Students can check the bulletin boards or the office.

Keadle Portrays Dual Student-Teacher Role

By BETTY JEAN BRYANT

Talent Show Will Be Presented By GSC "Vets" Club

The Veterans Club will sponsor an amateur talent show in the McCroan Auditorium April 19 at 8 o'clock.

This contest is open to anyone in the county. Tryouts will be held in the music building April 13 and 14, from eight until ten o'clock to select the contestants to appear on the show.

First prize winner will receive $25, second place $15, and third place $5.

Advance tickets will be sold for 35 and 50 cents. All tickets sold at the door will be 50 cents. The Vets urge all students to buy their tickets early. They may be obtained from any member of the Veterans Club.

"It's far easier to sit in a class as a student than to stand before it as an instructor," states Paul K. Keadle Jr., a senior physical science major from Camilla, Georgia, who is the instructor of a Physical Science 102 class here this quarter.

Keadle lectures to the class under the supervision of Mr. Fred A. Wallace, assistant professor of physics here at Georgia Southern College.

Keadle is taking one course this quarter, thus giving him the distinction of being a student and an instructor at the same time. After graduating in June, he plans to do graduate work at the University of Georgia.

He says that he likes teaching the class very much and that it is a great help to him in reviewing his previous physics courses and will better prepare him for graduate school. As if being both student and instructor are not enough to occupy his time, this ambitious young man works as an electrician for a local contractor in order to support his wife and young son. Keadle feels that each of these positions is a fulltime job; but, according to his professors, students, and employer, he is doing well in all three capacities.

Coffee Maker Is Now Installed In Snack Bar Here

Mrs. Sarah Savage, and her workers behind the snack bar will not burn their hands as often, now that the coffee maker has been placed where the students can wait on themselves.

The real purpose of this shift in location is to save time for the student, and workers, according to Mrs. Savage, snack-bar manager who visited other self service methods being used effectively.

Under the new set up you no longer have to wait in line, while the workers try to wait on this and make other orders. All you have to do is step up to the coffee maker, pay your nickel, put your cup under the spout, and get your coffee, and sugar, don't forget the cream.

The question for the week is: "How do you think the Saturday night dances could be improved?"

Rick Osburn: Have Saturday night dances every other Saturday night and have other activities on the Saturday nights when there's not a dance.

Anonymous: Publicize it a little more.

Sibbie Hogan: If the club that had the dance on Saturday night would be responsible for planning activities for the whole week-end.

Miriam McClain: Get more people to stay on campus and attend dances and maybe improve floor show.

One Girl's Viewpoint: If the boys that go, would ask the girls to dance!

Billy Seearce: Have more than just records. They seem to be exactly the same as the week-day fat dances.

Richard Exley: Have better planned entertainment.

Robert Smith: They ought to have more slow dances because every one can't dance to fast ones.

Janice Wilkerson: More students should stay on campus and participate.

The seventh and eighth grade classes of the Marvin Pittman School leave April 28, for Tattal Methodist Camp Grounds, near Claxton, where they will receive a week of instruction on outdoor life.

Doris Lindsey, seventh grade teacher, will be director this year.
