Student Praises First "Big-Name" Band Appearance

by BILL KAUTZ

The appearance of the Dorsey Orchestra marks another first in the annals of Georgia Southern College. This was the first "big name" band ever to play for the school. The huge turnout for the concert and the fair attendance at the dance will almost insure the return of Dorsey's Orchestra or at least the appearance of another renowned band.

The work of the student council, Alpha Phi Omega and other persons is to be commended. They worked hard in order to give GSC this type of talented entertainment. Everyone who saw the concert or went to the dance should be most appreciative of the fine behind-the-scenes work.

The Dorsey Orchestra had scheduled only two stops at Southern college campuses. The only one, other than GSC, was at Clemson in South Carolina. GSC was indeed very fortunate to be able to obtain them on a tour that was so limited.

At the concert the orchestra played various selections from their many popular albums. Included were the songs "So Rare," "J. D.'s Boogie Woogie" and many others. The abundant applause from the audience was enough to show their pleasure and enjoyment of the concert.

After the concert at the dance, the music that has thrilled countless millions thrilled the 150 couples attending the dance.

Mr. Jerry Kicklighter, a member of the business department, received his B. S. degree from Georgia Southern College.

Dr. Darrel Lynch, a member of the science and math department, received his Ph. D. from the University of Illinois.

Mr. Robert Gary Mitchell, a GSC graduate, received his M. A. degree from Tulane University.

Mrs. Anna Parrish of Statesboro, is serving as the secretary for the education division.

Mr. Tommy Singletary of the division of arts, received his B. S. degree from GSC and his M. A. degree from Stout Institute in Menominee, Wisconsin.

Mr. Pat Yaeger, a member of the division of health, physical education and recreation, received his M. Ed. degree from Springfield College.

Dr. Paul Wischkaemper, who is a new addition in the social science department, received his Ph. D. in economics from the University of North Carolina.

Mr. Joe E. Wilbur is a new addition to the science and math division.

Mrs. Gene Crawford is teaching in the Marvin Pittman School along with Mr. Ray Wilson, a GSC graduate, and Miss Frances Rackley, a fourth grade teacher. Miss Rackley received both her B. S. and masters degree from Georgia Southern College.

Miss Ann Fulmer, an August, 1960, graduate of GSC from Statesboro, is secretary to the public relations director, Joe Axelson.

Mrs. Carolyn Gettys, dean of women, received her A. B. degree from Limestone College in Gaffney, South Carolina and her M. S. W. (masters in social work) from Florida Southern College at Tallahassee.

Dr. William Hitchcock, director of the guidance program, received his B. S. A. degree from the University of Georgia and his Ed. D. degree from Oregon State College.

Mr. Howard Jackson, a member of the business department from Bluefield, Virginia, received both his B. S. and M. S. degrees from the University of Tennessee.

Miss Esther Kling, a member of the division of languages, received her B. S. degree from

Fall Quarter Enrollment Zooms Sky-High; 17.5 Per Cent Gain Over September, 1959

Dr. James D. Park Accepts Post As Olympic College President

Dr. J. D. Park, who has served as chairman of the Division of Education and as Director of Placement Services at Georgia Southern College since 1954, has resigned his position to assume the presidency of Olympic College in Bremerton, Washington.

Before leaving to report for his duties on October 1, he stated that Olympic has an enrollment of 3,200 students, and is located in the north western section of Washington.

Dr. Park holds an A. B. degree from Oklahoma State College, an M. A. from Western State College of Colorado, and an Ed. D. from Colorado State College of Education. He began his career in education in 1933, and has been in the profession for the past twenty-seven years.

He is past chairman of the State Teacher Education and Professional Standards Committee, is currently chairman of the state committee on In-Service Teacher Education, and is a member of the state department of education on the Certification of Teachers.

President Henderson has requested Dean Paul F. Carroll, academic dean of the college, to handle Dr. Park's administrative functions until a new person has been secured. Dr. Shelby Monroe will represent the division on the Curriculum Committee, and Dr. William Hitchcock is to head the Graduate Council.

Progress Abounds On GSC Campus

by ROLAND PAGE

Construction recently completed, now underway, and planned for the future, should enable GSC to accommodate a student body of 1800, according to President Zach S. Henderson. Enrollment is now 1,262.

Dr. Henderson stated that the new girls' dormitory, which is now under construction, will house 160 girls. He said that the $500,000 building is expected to be completed by the 1960-61 winter quarter.

Another half-million dollar project to be completed by the winter quarter is the industrial arts building. The president said that this building will be composed of fully equipped shops offering courses in electronics, woodworking mechanical drawings, sheet metal working and others.

A third building now under construction is the Home Management House located behind the student center. This building will provide girls with practical experience in managing a home. He said that a capacity of eight girls will live in the house for a quarter, doing their own cooking, sewing and washing. He added that this $55,000 building is expected to be in use during the winter quarter.

Dr. Henderson went on to describe other improvements made during the summer which include the addition of a fully equipped language laboratory on the ground floor of the Administration Building and complete remodeling of the second floor.

Dr. Henderson went on to say that Cone and Lewis Hall were repainted during the summer and the West wing of the second floor of Deal dormitory was remodeled.

Commenting on proposed construction and expansion in the future, Dr. Henderson said that proposals have been brought forward to build two more dormitories, one girls' and one boys', plus additions to Lewis Hall, the library and the Hanner Building.

Truly Rats Now

THESE EAGER FRESHMEN just couldn't wait to buy their Rat Caps. Miss Marjorie Jones, bookstore manager, looks on as these new Rats adjust their caps so that the friendly Sophomores would be appeased. More than just a punishment, the Rat Caps are a symbol to other Rats that they are "in the same boat" and a symbol to the upperclassmen that those students wearing the caps may need extra help.

KDE and KPK Members Orient Freshman Class

Freshman orientation classes began Sept. 29 after a three day leadership conference among Kappa Delta Epsilon, Kappa Phi Kappa members, Paul F. Carroll, dean of the college, Ralph K. Tyson, dean of the students and Carolyn C. Gettys, dean of women.

The purpose of the leadership conference was to work out, discuss and plan orientation programs which are now being held.

Kappa Delta Epsilon and Kappa Phi Kappa, National Educational Honorary sorority and fraternity, are conducting the classes which meet Monday through Thursday until October 13.

Subjects Told

Subjects being used in the classes include the following: academic regulations, services of the college, loans and scholarships available, studying and use of time, campus regulations, and improving yourself.

Group Leaders Listed

The leaders of the groups are as follows: Mary Rivenback, Metter; Diane Brannen, Statesboro; Sandra Cox, Lenox; Jerry Bennett, Alpharetta; Stacy Wells, Hinesville; Evelyn Kimbrough, Fairburn; and Pat Vickers, Ambrose.

Also Glenda Rentz, St. Marys; Carol Kinard, Dublin; Olin Presley, Covington; Albert Burke, Wadley; Jim Curry, Kite; Cherry Kea, Swainsboro; Jeanne Walsh, Savannah Beach; Jeanette Hatcher, Arlington; Elizabeth Kent, Savannah, and Mary Nell Dunn, Augusta.

Kappa Delta Epsilon and Kappa Phi Kappa hope to conduct orientation classes for new students and transfers at the beginning of each quarter.

52 Seniors Are Student Teaching

Fifty-two senior education majors from Georgia Southern College are student teaching in 13 South Georgia high schools and four elementary schools during this 1960 fall quarter.

One full quarter of teaching in a classroom situation is a requirement for the Bachelor of Science in Education degree.

Of the 52 students, nine are assigned to the four elementary schools and the remaining 43 are in the 13 area high schools.

Teaching in the Marvin Pittman Anderson, third grade, Sara Anderson, third grade, Conyers; Patricia Ann Chambers, second grade, Macon; Nancy Clower, fifth grade, Patricia McLendon, seventh grade, Donalsonville; and Shearer Shaw, first grade, Pembroke.

Teaching in the Sallie Zetterower Elementary School in Statesboro is Mary Ann Morrison, third grade, Pelham.

Teaching in the Claxton Elementary School is Judy Meeks Davis, first grade, Nicholls.

Sylvania Elementary Those teaching in the Sylvania Elementary School are: Maurice Flanders, fourth grade, Swainsboro; and Mary McGregg, elementary grades, Girard.

Freshmen Class Of 411 Members Is The Largest

The fall quarter undergraduate enrollment at Georgia Southern College rocketed to 1262 students this year, an increase of 17.5 per cent over the previous fall record of 1074 for 1959.

The official enrollment figures, released Wednesday, October 5, are as follows:

U'grad.	men	w'men	tl.
Freshmen	199	212	411
Sophomores	133	137	270
Juniors	167	148	315
Seniors	137	129	266
	636	626	1262

Special Programs:

Grand total 678 725 1403

The undergraduate men outnumber the women 636 to 626, however the complete totals reveal that the women outnumber the men 725 to 678.

The freshman class of 411 is the largest while the seniors total 266, the juniors, 315 and the sophomores, 270.

There are 840 students in the dormitories; 420 in each the men and women's dormitories. Forty-three students are living in off campus housing. Three hundred and seventy-nine students are day students.

Fullbrights Still Available For Foreign Study

Less than one month remains applicants to apply for some 800 Fulbright scholarships for graduate study or research in 30 countries, the Institute of International Education reminded prospective today. Applications are being accepted until November 1.

Inter-American Cultural Convention awards for study in 17 Latin American countries have the same filing deadline.

General eligibility requirements for both categories of awards are: 1) U. S. citizenship at time of application; 2) a bachelor's degree or its equivalent by 1961; 3) knowledge of the language of the host country; and 4) good health. A demonstrated capacity for independent study and a good academic record are also expected. Preference is given to applicants under 35 years of age who have not previously lived or studied abroad.

Enrolled students at a college or university should consult Dr. Jack N. Averitt, the campus Fulbright adviser for information and applications. Others

Competitions for the 1961-62 academic year close November 1, 1960. Requests for application forms must be postmarked before October 15. Completed

Dewberry Hurt In Auto Accident

Mr. W. M. Dewberry, college administrator, was admitted to the Bulloch County Hospital after his car turned over Wednesday night, September 28.

Mr. C. R. Pound, director of the Frank I. Williams Center, said that Mr. Dewberry was travelling on U. S. 80 when he pulled his car off the road avoiding collision with a transfer truck about 25 miles East of Statesboro.

Mr. Pound stated that Mr. Dewberry was taken to the hospital by the deputy sheriff of Bryan county and found to have several fractured ribs.

Construction is now underway on the new Home Management House at Georgia Southern College in Statesboro. Cost of construction will be $44,900, and equipment to be installed in the new structure will extend the total cost to approximately $55,000. It will enable home economics majors to utilize three months of their senior year in group living and applying principles of scientific management to the home. Chairman of the division is Miss Betty Lane. Architect on the 3400 square-foot structure is Edwin C. Eckles and the contractor is Ernest C. Cannon. Both are residents of Statesboro.

APO And GSU Members Should Be Proud

A tremendous expression of thanks is certainly in order for the members of Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma Upsilon fraternities for the terrific job they did orientating new students to the GSC campus during Freshman Week.

The Gamma Sigma Upsilon members started plans rolling during the summer when they wrote to all the freshmen. In the letters they answered many questions concerning how to prepare for the college year.

Once the students began arriving on campus, the two clubs swung into action. An information booth was set up near Anderson Hall by the members of Alpha Omega, which helped the newcomers to find their way around the campus more easily. APO members also directed and routed campus traffic and helped the new occupants of Anderson Hall to carry in their baggage. GSU members also assisted in helping new students to move into their rooms.

Mrs. J. B. Johnson, Anderson Hall house director, stated recently, "I have never had a dormitory registration to run as smoothly as this year's. All of the girls were checked into their rooms by 5 p.m., whereas previously registration had lasted as late as 11 p.m. Mrs. Cleo Franklin, house director for Sanford Hall, felt similarly about the situation when she remarked, "We had a better dormitory registration in Sanford Hall this year than ever before. We expected the large number of students and with the student assistants' help, everything went off like clockwork. The general spirit of the students was good and they were very cooperative."

Our story is still not over because GSU members were on the scene every day during Freshman Week as student advisors to orientation groups.

At all class registrations in the Hanner Building, APO information booths were still in action helping students with registration procedures.

Yes, Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma Upsilon members deserve a big round of applause. They can really sit back and be proud of a job well done. Without their cooperation, Freshman Week which is usually a time of confusion for GSC newcomers, evolved into a well organized and very successful event.

It Shouldn't Be All Or Nothing!

As an organ for student expression, we believe that the complete deletion of the assembly at Georgia Southern was a most unfortunate happening. Any continually expanding school needs more means of communication with the student body. This move was certainly a move backwards instead of forward and progressive. From now on we must remember that GSC is ever-growing and everything concerning the college should be bigger and better.

Because not all the students read the bulletin boards or the George-Anne regularly, or live in a dormitory to attend house meetings, or hear the announcements made in the dining hall, a compulsory assembly seems to be one sure way for important announcements to reach all students.

For many years at GSC the student body convened on Monday mornings at 10 a.m. in McCroan Auditorium for a half-hour assembly program. As of this year this weekly event is no longer a part of a student's agenda at GSC.

At one time in the school's history daily assembly programs were held. After several changes, the weekly programs finally replaced the daily assemblies until this year when it was decided to eliminate this weekly event altogether.

Aside from the more important announcements which were made at the beginning of each assembly, many of the programs presented in the past were of such an informative nature that to not have witnessed them would have been a great loss culturally.

We do not advocate having an assembly each an every week, but a bi-monthly or tri-quarterly schedule of programs would prove advantageous to everyone concerned.

The assembly is too valuable an institution to completely eliminate at this stage in our school's growth.

A Night To Remember

Strictly first class entertainment describes perfectly the performances of the Jimmy Dorsey Orchestra which appeared here recently.

For Georgia Southern a giant step forward was achieved. Through the efforts of many persons it was proven that GSC could have a big name band to play for us, even down here in "little ole" Statesboro.

There are certain people and organizations who deserve thanks for services beyond the call of duty according to Dean Ralph K. Tyson, because they played a great part in the success of the band appearance.

These persons and organizations in no certain order are: Jack Smoot, Jimmy Kenney, Ralph Bowden, Stanley Jones, Guy Weatherly, president of the student council; Diane Brannen, chairman of student council social committee; Ed Abercrombie and Olin Presley of the Film Library for technical assistance; Ben Taylor and Bill Lee and the maintenance crew; Alpha Phi Omega, men's service fraternity; and the residence hall student assistants for the "crash" ticket sales.

The concert was a rip-roaring success. Approximately 835 persons attended and enjoyed every minute of the hour-long music-filled performance.

Joe Axelson, public relations director at GSC, stated: "It was an excellent band, well received. Lee Castle told me after the concert that he had never played before a more appreciative audience."

Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students, stated that it was an "example of what student-faculty-administration cooperation and effort can accomplish. Students are to be congratulated and feel like the next one will be even better."

Attendance at the dance was only fair. This was surprising because it was believed that the students would really "go all out" for the dance.

Perhaps there are reasons for the "fair" attendance. It's true that the dance was held extremely early in the quarter and the new students hadn't had time to meet other students. It's not true that the cost was too high. Two movie dates would cost just as much and a dance with a professional band playing is much more fun than a movie.

Always Around

by JACK SMOOT

As another school year begins we find once more a strange creature running continuously around campus like a mouse lost in a gigantic maze. This creature is known throughout the campus as a new student—a freshman—but until he can prove to the upperclassmen that he is ready to take his place in our campus society—better known as a Rat.

With the donning of the little blue rat hats, the freshman is becoming more noticeable throughout GSC. After the budding of the freshmen comes the sophomore gardener to lead the rats on a merry chase of fun and enjoyment—a part of college life.

One new student put forth this question—How do you know we're freshmen? With wide confused eyes, the freshmen enter into a new world of learning and life. Until the newness wears off and the old grind of school work begins, our new students will be freshmen.

Taking part in the Rat Day activities is part of Georgia Southern Tradition. The fun and initiation of the Rats is the way the sophomores show that they are ready to accept the freshmen as new welcome students at Georgia Southern College.

Four Reasons For Education

EDITOR'S NOTE: This excerpt is taken from "Our Changing World," a radio program featuring Earl Nightingale, which is heard daily on Statesboro radio.

Do you know what the four things are that an education can give you? Well, they're three P's and an F. The four great objects of life and education can be listed as . . . poise . . . power . . . peace . . .

Let me tell you the ten marks of an educated person. You can check 'em off as I run down the list, and see how you qualify:

1. An open mind. This is the ability to toss even your most cherished beliefs into the trash can if you find they are not true.

2. The educated person will listen to all the information someone else can give him on a subject, and then draw his own conclusions.

3. The educated person never laughs at new ideas; he never says that something is impossible, ridiculous, or that it cannot be done.

4. The educated person cross-examines his daydreams. A lot of people have become great by realizing that some daydreams can become practical realities.

5. The educated person discovers his strongest point . . . and then makes the most of it. Nothing succeeds like success, but mainly because a person has found his strong point and has learned how to play it.

6. Learn the value of good habits and how to form them.

7. Know when not to think . . . when to call in the expert to do your thinking for you. Dr. William Mayo once said, "It is not surgery that kills people, it's delayed surgery."

8. You can't sell the educated person magic. It's amazing and pitiable the great number of people who believe in luck, charms, special days, signs, Black Fridays, and other superstitions still around from the Dark Ages. The educated person throws superstition out the window.

9. The educated person lives a forward-looking, outward-looking life. Psychology divides

by RON NESBITT

Democracy is one of the foremost ideals of American life. It is this ideal that has guided our government since the beginning of American independence. The struggle for democratic principles has often been a difficult one, but Americans look back with pride on the heroic men and women who lived and died in order that these principles might be part of our heritage.

Unfortunately the very ideal of democracy has been used to further some very undemocratic schemes. This is largely due to the fact that Americans have become more sentimental than reasonable about democracy. The very minute someone labels an item as democratic, all too many Americans swallow it, "hook, line and sinker," without carefully examining it to see if it is truly democratic.

Take for example the debate over the civil rights plank at the Democratic Convention this summer. Although the southern delegates put their arguments somewhat crudely, they nevertheless had legitimate grievances; but did the advocates of the plank answer these grievances with reasonable arguments? Quite to the contrary, they conspicuously avoided the points at issue and contented themselves with so many tub-thumping, flag-waving, pseudo-patriotic speeches. They presented the plank under the color of its democratic nature, yet not one of them mentioned a single article of the plank. Without so much as a nod of the head in the direction of southern contentions, they received a tremendous ovation, not only from those present, but from many American voters simply by labeling their position as democratic. The true democratic principle of discussion and debate was abandoned one hundred percent.

Those in favor of the plank were either unwilling or unable to prove the democracy in a law which requires a man who has a piece of property for sale to sell it to anyone who cares to buy it, even if in so doing he ruins his business. Wherein lies the democracy of a law that forces an employer to hire whoever applies for a job simply to appease a minority group? Are not the above ideas restrictions on our freedom? With pressing issues such as these at hand, the opponents of the South won their point merely by exalting Thomas Jefferson's merits and discussing a multitude of other irrelevant issues.

Now it may or may not be a worthy purpose to promote brotherly love and human social equality by political methods, but to do so under the pretense of democracy is pure deception. However, we have no one to quarrel with but ourselves on this matter. For years we have accepted those things which are considered democratic as if they were sent from God Himself. This is an absurd attitude even if all our principles were democratic. Merely calling an item democratic does not make it so, and furthermore, it does not necessarily follow that all democratic principles are good.

As election day draws near, we should subject the policies of the candidates to thorough examination in the light of reasons and common sense, lest we be deceived by our own terminology.

THE GEORGE-ANNE STAFF WISHES MR. WILLIAM DEWBERRY, COMPTROLLER, A VERY SPEEDY RECOVERY.

Midge Lasky

Time Out with The Editor

THIS IS YOUR NEWSPAPER

Every newspaper, at one time or another, finds it necessary to state its policies and purposes to its readers. In the case of the George-Anne we're doing it now with the second issue of volume 34.

Our first order of business is to welcome you all back to school and wish you the best of everything in all that you do. Secondly, let's make this the best year Georgia Southern College has ever had!

The George-Anne is published weekly by you, the students at Southern. Each and every member of the staff attends classes here and who knows, maybe you could become one of us. We work very hard each week to get out the George-Anne because we enjoy doing it.

We on the staff hope that you'll look forward to and enjoy this newspaper. We know you'll feel free to criticize and/or compliment the paper. But please, don't keep your feelings to yourself and don't tell just your best friend! Let us on the staff know your opinions by writing them down on paper and sending them to us as "Letter to the Editor." This is the best way we can learn of your views concerning any topic pertaining to the campus or national scenes.

Suggestions Welcomed

We welcome any plausible suggestions you want to offer either in letters or by your telling us face-to-face. The staff meets every Tuesday and Wednesday nights in our office in the Frank I. Williams Center and the door is open to everyone.

News is the heart of our paper just as it is of any newspaper in the world. Our purpose is to inform you of all events that are taking place on this campus. Also this year we are going to cover the national news front by having a news roundup article about each week's events.

We will have a staff of reporters covering or rather uncovering the news on campus each week. I started to say full staff in the previous sentence but we could never really have a "full" staff. All persons are welcome to join the staff at any time. All that you need is a willingness to work.

Enjoyment Available

If a newspaper only printed news it would be quite boring and so, to add life to our campus weekly, we offer features and columns. The features may be about anything and everything and usually are. Some may be of informative value and some may just amuse you. We try to make all them of interest. Also for your enjoyment the George-Anne has its special columns. The names of our columnists will become very familiar to you because you'll see them every week.

In almost every George-Anne at the left side of page two, space will be devoted to our editorials. These will reflect the opinions of our paper concerning topics we feel are vital and warrant discussion by a school newspaper.

It's true that editorials criticize but most people forget that criticism can be either commending or disapproving. We try to bring to light objectionable situations as well as praise-worthy occurrences.

The George-Anne is read by many persons all over the world and their opinions of our school are molded by what they read in the school newspaper. In reference to our policy, the staff will work to the best of its ability to make our weekly a good representative of Georgia Southern College to all those who read it.

by ROBERT C. ANDERSON
Director
Sou. Regional Education Board

Educators take to conferences like kids to a Sunday School picnic. And sometimes those conferences move a whole region to aggressive action.

A noteworthy example of this was the conference held a year ago which brought together Southern physicians, psychiatrists, medical educators and university administrators. They conferred on a subject which has become more vital to them in the intervening 12 months—the training of medical practitioners in psychiatric principles.

The physicians are concerned about such training because they want to better understand all areas of their demanding, modern practice. Psychiatrists are eager to help in this endeavor because of growing demands on psychiatric personnel.

First Line Defense

Today the medical practitioner—especially the counterpart of the family doctor of some 30 years ago—is the nation's first line defense against mental and emotional illness. In this capacity he has become vitally important to a society in which one out of every 10 individuals suffers from emotional or mental illness severe enough to require professional treatment.

Unless the doctor is trained to recognize and care for symptoms of such illness, the situation is one of frustration for physician and patient alike.

At the regional conference on training physicians in psychiatric principles, a number of suggestions were made for ways to increase the practicing doctor's working knowledge of psychiatric symptoms and their early diagnosis.

Suggestions Used

Following the conference, physicians and psychiatrists returned to their home states to expand or put into effect suggestions most likely to be of value in that area.

Now, a year after the conference, a poll of states involved has shown a record of growing activity in this area of post-graduate training throughout the South.

In Louisiana, Dr. Ted Watters pioneered in the field of post-graduate training for medical practitioners when he began meeting with small groups of physicians in home sessions. Maryland has engaged in extensive programs of training in psychiatric principles since 1958.

The University of Maryland hospital was an active force in each of the programs which included "Fundamentals of Psychiatry and Psychosomatic Medicine—Principles of Diagnosis and Treatment," "Psychiatric Contributions to Pediatric Problems," and "Psychiatry for the Internist."

Texas Program

In Texas the Texas Academy of General Practitioners; the Texas District Branch of the American Psychiatric Association, and the Texas Neuropsychiatric Association jointly sponsored a three-part training program during the summer of 1960.

The Post-Graduate Department of the University of Tennessee Medical College has sponsored a continuing program for training of physicians. About 20 physicians are registered this year and 20 more are auditing the course. In 1961 the program will be on diagnosis and treatment of emotional disturbances in children.

Kentucky Programs

Three training programs were begun in Kentucky in 1959, each of a different type with a different purpose.

One program was a five week series meeting in Louisville to which delegates came from all over Kentucky for two and a half hours once a week. Subjects covered included depression, anxiety states, childhood and adolescence and hypnosis.

In Georgia, Emory University started a three month training

Impressive Letter Received About Dangerous Hazing

EDITOR'S NOTE — The George-Anne received a rather startling letter this week. It was not signed because of the controversial nature of the subject. However, the writer suggested we use the facts for an editorial.

We could say it no better than it is already stated in the letter.

To The Editor:

Rat Day it a tradition at Georgia Southern College. In the past few days it has been on trial. It could very easily be on the way out. This day (and the wearing of rat hats) is good clean fun as it is supervised by the administration of the college.

Here is the scoop for those in the dark! It seems that with rat day there has also been some unreasonable and extremely dangerous hazing going on. This year has been no exception. It seems that it is customary to take some Freshmen men to Cypress Lake about seven miles fro mthe school and throw them in and leave them to walk back. One variation is to bring them back within three or four miles before leaving the Freshmen. (This is usually done by "kinder" Sophomores.) When will some person be seriously injured or killed? It seems that any intelligent person can realize the dangers involved in midnight swimming excursions. There are certain evident consequences such as colds, lost sleep, sleeping in classes, lower grades and many others. BUT . . . there are also many dangers involved. The initial danger of course is swimming at night and in waters containing all of the dangers provided by nature as well as those provided by man in the form of tin cans and broken glass. (A cut foot three years ago required fourteen stitches.) The reckless driving done on the trips is a simple and obvious danger. How suspicious is a man clad simply in a pair of undershorts and walking along a lonely country road? Let's face it — suspicious enough to shoot at for certain people. Where are such people? All over the world, where the custom is to dress completely. There are numerous other dangers that can not be realized until one hears of or sees them. Is it going to cost a life for something to be done?

Special Emotion Reaction Test Is Given To Frosh

Approximately 400 freshman and 16 upperclassmen at GSC participated in a special emotional reaction test given by Dr. Jay Chambers, psychologist and director of the Charles L. Mix Memorial Fund Incorporated.

The picture identification test was composed of photographs of unidentified youths, and questions concerning the individual characters of the photos. Results of the tests will aid the college in reaching a clearer understanding of the students problems, and eventually result in higher achievement.

The Mix Institute is a foundation established to do research in mental disorders. Its research to date has been chiefly devoted to the development of a kind of psychological test designed to check an individual's attitudes toward sex, rejection and aggression, thus pinpointing certain ideas of mental and emotional disturbances.

Dr. Chambers states that the Foundation's goal is to correct disturbances before they become serious.

From tests already given the institute can already tell whether a person is an alcoholic even if he doesn't drink. The members of the Institution hope to spot mental troubles early. They aren't a service institution set up to work with patients but are concerned with only basic research.

Information is corrected by IBM machines and statistically tabulated and worked out in the computing centers at Georgia Tech and the University of Kentucky. Dr. Chambers is assisted by Dr. Louis Broussard, a general psychologist.

The Institute is just beginning to publish the first papers based on its research, which to date has been devoted chiefly to developing a new kind of psychological test.

program in June which meets at two-weekly intervals. And at the University of Miami in Coral Gables, Florida, the Department of Psychiatry of the Medical School sponsored a three-day training course attended by 25 practitioners.

These and other similar programs across the South show great progress in this area of mental health. But continued effort on the part of individual states and the region as a whole is necessary to provide adequate care for the mental and emotional ills of the South.

Quarter Notes

by BETH RIGDON and SANDRA BACON

The Music Department got into full swing with a "crovvy" party sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota, Phi Mu Alpha, and the Music Education Club last Thursday night. Entertainment was furnished by the Symphonies, a very popular group of musicians on the Georgia Southern campus. Laughs were furnished by John Barger, who proved to be the most adept at putting on a pair of ladies stockings, with the aid of one blindfold plus a pair of garden gloves. This get-together was a welcome to the new music majors and anyone interested in music.

Phi Mu Alpha will present the Symphonian Concert of the Air every Sunday afternoon from 3 to 4 p.m. This program is centered around serious and semi-serious legitimate music and will have for program directors Johnny Hathcock, Malcolm Gilbert, and Jim Brandon. Be sure to tune in WWNS on your radio from 3 to 4 p.m. every Sunday!

Sigma Alpha Iota meets Monday night, October 10, in the Music Building at 6:30.

The Philharmonic Choir is working on The Messiah. Listen for this group.

Tryouts for South Pacific will be held in McCroan Auditorium next Tuesday night, October 11, at 7 p.m. Anyone wishing to audition or read for a part and not able to make the audition date should contact Dr. Dan Hooley, room 12, Music Building, before that date.

If you play an instrument and attend Georgia Southern, YOU should be in the band.

Rat Squeaks

by MARIE EUBANKS

Hurrah! After two weeks the "Rat" caps have arrived and we are now full fledged freshmen. At last, we have the joy and privilege of wearing these glorious creations so low on our foreheads that they make us strongly resemble the wrong end of a football. These small patches of blue enable us to call ourselves college men and women, to worry to death, and to fall the victims of sophomores.

What do freshmen do now that they have come to college? They gain weight, check the mail twenty times a day, stand at the end of every line, and consider the pros and cons of Rat Day.

What do freshmen worry about? Freshman worry because they haven't received a letter in two days, they are sure that they are doomed to failure, they have to do exercises in physical education, and because GSC allowed the sophomores to enroll.

What do freshmen notice around campus these days? They notice the evil gleam in a sophomore's eye as he says "Little Rat, beware." What do many freshmen say? They say, "What are they going to do to us?" What do sophomores say? Sophomores do not say anything - they laugh.

Fellow Rats, arise! The sophomores may make us wear these silly, little beanies denoting ignorance and humility, but remember: we are a class composed of geniuses, athletes, and charming people. We are of s-u-p-e-r-i-o-r intelligence and strength, ingenuity and endurance. We are the class of '64. This week your Rat Squeaks columnist received a contribution from an upperclassman. Heed the word of the experienced. She calls her bit of advice "Beware."

"That time of year" is rolling around again, Freshmen. Have you noticed it? I'm sure you have. Your once-friendly and lovable guardians from Gamma Sigma Upsilon are already beginning to show their other natures. You are not yet "full-fledged students" so you are "Rats" and as such must wear a "Rat Hat."

Those little blue beanies are the first gusts of wind foretelling the stormy blasts of Rat Day and Rat Court.

Don't let Ratting get you down, though. If you start feeling blue, just think: next year will be here before you know it with a new crop of Rats. Then YOU will be the ones to tell the poor, defenseless Rats to straighten their Rat Hats, et cetera, et cetera, et cetera!

South Pacific To Be Cast

Any interested student from any division of the college may try out for any one of the 20 male and 24 female roles in the musical comedy South Pacific. Performances will be November 30th and December 1st in McCroan Auditorium and rehearsals will get under way next week as soon as the cast is filled.

Tryouts will be held in McCroan next Tuesday night, October 11th, at 7 p.m. Anyone wishing to audition or read for a part and not able to make the audition date should contact Dr. Dan Hooley, room 12, Music Building, before that date.

There are two major singing roles for women and two for men. There are many small speaking parts for men and women. Chorus singing auditions will be held in groups, not solos.

The New 1961 GSC Class Ring

Men's Freshman Society Named Alpha Gamma Pi

During Spring quarter of the 1959-60 school year, six freshman men were named to become members of a newly organized club on Georgia Southern College campus.

This fraternity has as its purpose the promotion of high scholastic standards among freshman men at Georgia Southern College. During the spring quarter the new members of the fraternity will be chosen from this year's two quarters of the year.

The fraternity has quite often been mislabeled Phi Eta Sigma. Phi Eta Sigma is a national fraternity which also promotes scholarship among freshman men at colleges and universities all over the United States. The name of the local fraternity at GSC is Alpha Gamma Pi. It is hoped that someday GSC will be able to establish a chapter of Phi Eta Sigma. At the present it is felt that the small number of students eligible would not justify a chapter here. At the same time, there is an indication of high standards among the GSC faculty.

The members qualifying last year were Wayne Bland of Reidsville, Georgia; Robert Cochran of Metter, Georgia; William Griffin of Augusta, Georgia; James Hodges of Statesboro, Georgia; Richard Russell of Statesboro, Georgia; and William Wood of Sycamore, Georgia. Dr. Lawrence Huff, associate professor of English, is the sponsor of the fraternity.

Students Should Register Autos

All students are required to register their cars with the Traffic Control Committee in the Dean of Students office. Decals for the car will be obtained at this time.

To properly register an automobile, each operator will be required to provide evidence of liability insurance coverage.

An administration official will serve as director of traffic control and two members of the GSC faculty appointed yearly by the President shall constitute the Traffic Control Committee, which shall also serve as a Board of Appeal.

Life In the Dorms

by BILLY DEAL

"Lady in the halls!" "Watch that hot water!" "Turn that record player down, stupid!" These are three of the most common cries that echo through the men's hallowed residence halls of Georgia Southern College.

Life in the dormitories has been compared to life in the barracks, with one slight difference. The growling cranial frontage of the first sergeant has been replaced by the smiling face of the house mother.

For the novice, learning the ropes of dorm life is filled with a myriad of little incidents that won't soon be forgotten.

For instance, the first time you grabbed the hot water tap. How did you feel the blister? Remember the time you thought you could reach the top bunk with a high jump. How many stitches? And the poor depraved freshmen not only have to face the pitfalls of dorm life, but the rigors of rat day as well.

But don't misunderstand. Living in an overcrowded room with two roommates isn't as bad as it sounds. There are many ways that male collegian may occupy his free (?) time.

For instance: The television set in the recreation room is always available—if you don't mind watching The Untouchables through a haze of cigarette smoke and a line of feet propped on chairs.

The constant companionship to your roommates is very comforting. You'll find that they are ever ready to give you a bath, make you clean up your corner of the room, etc. Helpful fellows.

Then there is always the radio or record player to give you a few stolen moments of pleasure. But every precaution should be taken with the volume, or the next door neighbor may offer some new instructions. But dorm life is really quite interesting after a couple of weeks of getting settled.

And when you finally slide beneath the covers of your upper berth, with an earnest prayer that you won't roll out there is always one thing to which you can look forward. Breakfast.

Changes Made In Locations of Division Offices

by BARBARA BROWN

Have you had trouble locating some of the professor's offices and departments?

This is due to a number of changes which have taken place with the opening of the Herty Building, last summer, and the remodeling of the Administration Building.

The offices of the social science division, which were previously scattered through the Administration Building, have all been moved to the west wing of the second floor.

The mathematics and home economics departments have moved there from the Administration Building. The business department, previously housed in the Music Building, is now located in the new building. The old Chemistry and Biology Buildings were razed following the movement of the science department to the Herty Building.

Two GSC Students Attend Summer Classes In Quebec

by JERRY BENNETT and DAVID KING

Summer school at Laval University, Quebec, Canada, is a six weeks pleasure everyone should experience.

Surrounding this century-old center of learning is a wonderful city with a continental personality, alive with tradition and historical charm. Narrow streets, old world architecture, different customs, people and language confronted us the first day of our visit there.

The Quebecois take pride in living in the "Frenchiest" and also one of the oldest cities in North America. Quebec is approximately the size of Columbus, Ga. Its people are friendly and understanding.

After registration at the University each student was given a test to determine his ability in French and what his class placement would be.

All classes were conducted entirely in French. The continental teaching style was used with daily recitations from the students. We took literature, grammar, conversation and phonetics.

The professors were graduates of such schools as l'Université de Paris, Lyons, Strasbourg, and the Sorbonne.

In addition to academic classes, the University also conducted excursions, programs and cocktail parties for the students enjoyment and entertainment.

Those students attending Laval came from many countries although most of them were from the States. Students lived in private homes of French Canadian families.

Georgia Southern College

Dear Students:

Whatever your status as a college student, be it freshman, sophomore, junior, senior, or graduate student, we hope that this year will be one of accomplishment for you. If we can make your year a little more enjoyable we are glad. If we can serve you in any way, please feel free to call on us.

We want to thank you in advance for all the many events you make possible for us and for the county--the news events you are a part of, the basketball and baseball games, the role you play in making the college a bigger part of Statesboro and Bulloch County, and the many fine cultural attractions you always present to the citizens of this area.

We're located at the 1240 spot on your radio dial. We attempt to furnish the best of what most Americans seem to want these days--music, news, sports, and important special events. You're invited to submit requests to our musical programs, many of which are designed especially for you.

Welcome to a good college town, and lots of luck for 1960-61.

Sincerely,

Golf Team Holds Tryouts Oct. 11

All male students interested in trying out for a Georgia Southern College Golf Team are asked to meet at the Hanner Building on Tuesday, October 11, at 7 p.m.

Georgia Southern College sponsored an intercollegiate Golf Team in the 30's, and if interest and abilities are adequate, plans call for a team in the spring using the Forest Heights Country Club as home course.

by BILLY DEAL

The Georgia Southern physical education faculty staff has added a member, and his presence has brought about some interesting developments in that department.

Pat Yeager, an easy-talking South Dakota native, is already preparing his gymnastic squads (men and women) for competition. A member of the Department of Recreation at Naples, Fla., before accepting the GSC position, Yeager said the Eagle gymnastic groups are looking good.

"We have 17 or 18 pretty good boys," he said, "and some appear fairly talented. The boys are already doing movements that don't ordinarily come until the fifth week of practice and this is only our second."

"We are in the process of verifying two dates with the Georgia Tech squad," Yeager continued. "We will also meet The Citadel and maybe the University of Georgia. If the boys come along okay, I want to take them to the Mardi Gras meet in New Orleans. I've had at least one winning team in the Mardi Gras for the last six years."

"The girls will probably participate in AAU and college invitational meets," he added.

Yeager has been chairman of the United States Women's Gymnastic Committee since 1957 and accompanied the U. S. delegates to the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome this year.

When asked about the Americans' performance, Yeager commented, "They were very good. I think the men and women both did very well. The men finished fifth and the women finished 9th in a field of 27 teams. It was a great improvement for the women, considering that they finished last in 1956."

Yeager, who has been an active gymnast, attended Penn State University. David Elkins College, Duquesne University and Springfield University. His title at GSC is assistant professor of physical education, and this is his first teaching attempt on the college level.

Asked his opinion of Georgia Southern College, he replied without hesitation, "It's very nice. It's one of the nicest spots I've ever seen. The interest of the students is outstanding, really unusual. The faculty is very nice and very friendly. That makes it a pleasure to work here."

Yeager, aged 37, is married and has one adopted daughter, who was member of the Olympic gymnastic squad.

Bill Wood and Wayne Bland are the sophomore candidates running for the position of president of the sophomore class. Running for the vice-presidency of the sophomore class are Ray Bowden and Ada Lee Fulford and Nanette Jernigan and Jolane Rawl are candidates running for the office of secretary-treasurer.

Billy Searce has qualified to run as president of the sophomore class, however his name will not appear on the ballot.

The poles will be open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the lobby of the Frank I. Williams Center. Freshman class officers will be nominated in about three weeks.

Guy Weatherly, president of the student council, stated, "We'd like to see all the students come out and vote for the candidate of their choice on Friday, October 14."

White To Head New I. M. Phenn League At GSC

Team entries are invited for the new intramural Phenn league, scheduled to go into operation as soon as the required number of stadia has been built throughout the campus' 17 phenn districts.

The ancient game of phenn, to which Mr. Jess White of the health and physical education faculty holds the Southeastern franchise, derives its name from the word, "phenny."

Rule Change

In its modernized version, the game is no longer played with a shouk, but with a 13-inch phenn block.

Also, its rules have been liberalized in that the old controversial outfield-in-phenn rule has been superseded by the 12-second double-rush period which, however, applies only whenever odd-numbered goals are scored against the home team.

Furthermore, phenn is now played on level turf rather than on the conventional ly-ju-um.

Its Origin

Phenn is believed to have had its origin near the small town of Bahg, in far-away Baluchistan, when two opposing factions of local drjenni once tried to gain possession of a disputed shouk.

The ensuing tussle, according to the story immortalized in Omar Wayout's "Shaker thi Bahg," leads to such a thrilling exhibition of athletic dexterity that, before long, drjenni from the surrounding mayees began playing the game.

The rest, of course, is history.

Intramurals will begin Tuesday, October 11 and starting time is 4:15 p.m. Volleyball will be the number one activity for both boys and girls. All volleyball courts are located behind the W. S. Hanner Building.

Four new teams are being added for both boys and girls, making a total of twelve boys team and twelve girls teams. New plans include dividing the teams into two leagues, each having six teams. At the end of each activity, league winners will play for the championship.

Teams Assigned

All students will be placed on a team and copies of the teams will be placed in the old gym, new gym, student center and in Junior and Senior dormitories; be sure and check to see which team you are on.

Captains and members of your team will be keeping in contact with you but if they should miss you and you want to participate, be sure and get in touch with them.

Activities which will be participated in this quarter include: volleyball, tennis, speedball, field hockey and soccer.

Tennis Registration

If you are interested in tennis singles, the last day for registration will be Friday, October 15, for both boys and girls. If you do not get down to the gym to register, then see your team captain.

Mr. J. R. White is in charge of intramurals and Miss Joy Rahn will be helping with the girls.

Come out and support your intramural team; it's a wonderful opportunity to meet people and make new friends!!!

EXPLANATION — A dunkel is a composite strength rating based on the season's record to date. It reflects average relative to rating of opposition. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of relatively equal rating. The system's operation has been continuous since its origination in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Statesboro, Georgia, Friday, October 7, 1960

Letter to the Editor

Georgia Southern students are the best in the United States, but we are human. We do fall down in our obligations; not because we mean to, but because we don't realize what our obligations are.

In the recent nominations for class officers, the students attendance was extremely disappointing. The turnout for these meetings was disgraceful to both the college and the students. Do you realize that less than one third of the student body decided who would run for offices of the four classes? Each student in this school is needed to fulfill a job. Without the support of every student, any project will fall through. Examples of this may be found in the events of this year. We have already pointed to the election. We may also turn to the Dorsey Band Dance. We barely made expenses on this project, which the student body has long cried for. Only because of the solid support of the Freshmen and Transfers were we able to succeed at all.

When the students work and show interest, this will be the best year we have ever had. Remember that the success of anything depends on the students and that as students we each have an obligation to our fellow students, an obligation to do the best we can with what we have. Let's show some spirit in the coming election. Meet your candidates and work for your choice. And most of all, remember that your vote decides who wins!

STATSBORO JAYCEES SPONSOR BEAUTY CONTEST

The Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce announces today that plans are under way for staging and holding the Miss Statesboro Pageant on October 29, 1960, at the W. S. Hanner Building of Georgia Southern College, which was selected for its advantageous parking, lighting and dressing room facilities. The winner will be declared at such time and then will go to the Miss Georgia Pageant in Columbus next March and compete for the chance to enter the Miss America Pageant of 1961.

GEORGE-ANNE SAYS . . .

Don't Moan Over Recent Arrival of GSC Rat Caps

Don't be sorry that those "Rat" caps have arrived. No matter how bad things seem, just look on the bright side and find something good about their arrival. If you can!

Try this one for size! In case of rain you'll always have your head covered and your hair won't get wet. But do be careful of the color running! Also, the caps prevent the hot sun from beating down on your head and baking your brains.

Don't think of the cost of the cap as money gone to waste. Think of it as money paid out for a valuable memento which, we assure you, will be more and more on your mind.

Try this for a bright side! You don't have to wash or comb your hair for a few weeks. No matter how much you brush and wash your hair, it will still itch, so why bother?

Try this radiant thought, female "Rats" You won't have to worry your hat color matching your clothes and accessories because your clothes and accessories will always have to look good with blue.

Maybe the magical "glad thought" is that it will feel so wonderful to finally take off the the "Rat" caps forever on "Rat Day."

Seriously, the "Rat" caps are an insignia that you are new to Georgia Southern College. It is a sign to the upperclassmen that they should be kind and help you as much as they can.

You'll find that when you are wearing the "Rat" caps in downtown Statesboro, everyone in town will smile at you and say hello. The caps are a sign to your fellow freshmen that you're all in the same boat and must work together to prevent sinking. As the old adage goes, "Misery loves company."

Remember that the "Rat" caps are traditional at Georgia Southern and you're following in the footsteps of the many students who have been "Rats" before you.
