SEVERAL TIMES during the day the Rats were called together for another assembly. "All right, Rats," shouted the Sophomores. "Straighten those lines. Don't you Rats know what a straight line is?" At the 5 a.m. assembly the roll was called and each Rat was assigned to groups which had such names as "Vultures" and "Demons."

THE BEST PLACE for resting was on the ground, as the "lowly" Rats discovered very quickly. After being awakened at 4 a.m. with the melodious sounds of clanging of pots, noisemakers, etc., the Rats found any support to rest their weary bones a delightful place to be. Thanks to the detailed planning of the Rat Association and Sophomores, the Rats did not find too much time to rest during Rat Day.

LOOKING TIRED and disheartened, the Rats stood around and waited for their fellow Freshmen to join the group so they could be lined up once again and ordered to do something else. This day has been waited on for a long time by most of the Rats and the highlight of the day was at the end of Rat Court when the old, blue cap was thrown off their heads and the lowly Rats officially became Freshmen at Georgia Southern.

ALL RATS got to know very well exactly what a Square Meal was. Eating a square meal is bad enough, but when the Rats had to eat standing up, the situation was worse. A square meal, for the information of those who don't know, is a meal eaten in the following procedure: place food on fork, raise fork straight upward over plate until it is opposite from the mouth, and place food in mouth. To return the fork to plate, the motion is exactly backward.

HERE the Rats are acting as a cheering section for the Sophomore class at the sports activities planned for Rat Day morning. The Sophomores claimed that this year's Rats were able to scream louder than any other Rat group at Georgia Southern College. "Go, Sophomores, Go" was heard in raised voices about the gym, but "I hope we win" was probably what the Rats were thinking.

PLANNING the Rat Parade is one of the most important parts of the day. This year's theme, "Look Through a Horror-Scope" provided the Rats with numerous ideas around which to build their floats. Here, the Rats are meeting before the big parade to begin their floats. It appears as though the Sophomore leaders are having a little bit more trouble than the Rats.

AT LEAST TO SOME RATS the Rat Day activities weren't that bad! This year all assemblies of Rats and roll calls were held in front of the freshman women's dormitory, Anderson Hall. Rat Day activities were coordinated by the Rat Day Association committee and the Sophomore class. Burlap material was the style of the day and some Rats, especially the female group, had really gone all out and designed special outfits for the day.

George-Anne Holds Straw Election Ballot

The George-Anne will conduct a straw presidential election poll on Tuesday to determine who the students, administration, faculty, and staff at GSC will support in the November 8 presidential election. Ballots will be passed out at the lunch line in the Williams Center on Tuesday. The ballot will ask students to circle yes or no as to whether or not they are registered voters and to select the presidential and vice-presidential candidates of their choice. Day students can vote in the Administration Building at a table in front of the McCroan Auditorium. Ballot boxes will be provided at both locations. Recently, the student newspaper at the University of Georgia conducted a straw ballot. The consensus of opinion showed the students felt Vice President Richard Nixon would be elected, but 50 per cent voted for Kennedy as the best qualified. Another source has that, at Emory University, out of 200 students polled, 99 voted for Kennedy, 99 for Nixon and two were undecided.

Conference Held For Supervising Teachers Today

Supervising teachers participating in the Georgia Southern College Student Teacher Program are attending the Supervising Teacher Conference on campus today.

The conference, which is being held in the Frank I. Williams Center, has as its theme, "Establishing Effective Working Relationships."

The Supervising Teacher Conference opens with registration at the Williams Center today at 3:30 p.m. and the general session begins at 4 p.m. Dr. Walter B. Mathews, a member of the GSC education division, was the chairman of the planning committee for this conference. Miss Bertha Freeman, Mr. John Lindsey, Dr. William A. McKenney, and Dr. Shelby Monroe also aided in making plans for today's meeting.

Dr. Robert E. Bills, head of psychology at Auburn University, Auburn, Alabama, is the guest speaker for the occasion. He will speak at the conference dinner tonight on, "The Role of the Supervising Teacher As Seen Through the Eyes of the Student Teacher."

Dr. Bills is a licensed clinical psychologist in the state of Kentucky. He has had teaching and administrative experience in public schools and universities in Kentucky, New York, Florida, Michigan, and Alabama.

The goal of the conference is to develop a greater spirit of unity in the corps of supervising teachers.

Tomorrow Dr. Bills will speak at the First District Fall Workshop of the Georgia Association for Supervision and Curriculum being held at the Marvin Pittman School on campus.

GSC Graduate Students Receive Assistantships

Three graduate students have been awarded student assistantship positions in the health and physical education department at Georgia Southern College in a newly organized program designed to give graduate students an opportunity for paid, on the job training.

392 Vote Friday; Run-off Held For Soph Presidency

Senior, junior, and sophomore class officers were elected Friday, October 14, after a week of campaigning by the candidates, according to Guy Weatherly, student council president.

Following is a run down of the election results:

In the senior balloting Ralph Bolton, Jesup, became the 1960-61 class president by defeating Jerry Collins, Griffin, by three votes, 58-55. Newly elected senior class vice-president James Chivers, Atlanta, received 64 votes to Henri Etta Walea, Ty Ty, with 49 votes and Gerry Bailey, Milan, defeated Beverly Joiner, Statesboro, 56-42 to become secretary-treasurer of the class.

The juniors elected Embree Bolton, Albany, president over Carol Kinard, Dublin, 71-55. Mike Poole, Warner Robins, moved in to the junior vice-presidency with 66 votes to 63 for Janet Lodesky, Atlanta. Jo Dasher, Glennville, topped Ernestine Parker, Ludowici, 70-55 for the office of secretary-treasurer.

For sophomore class president Wayne Bland, Reidsville, received 58 votes, Bill Wood, Sylamore, 54, and Billy Searce, Statesboro, an official write-in candidate, collected 39 votes. Because there was not a simple majority, a run-off involving the two candidates with the most number of votes, was held Tuesday with Wayne Bland defeating Bill Wood, 58-54. Ray Bowden, Jesup, became vice-president with 98 votes over Ada Lee Fulford, Swainsboro, with 52. Nanette Jernigan, Claxton, defeated Jolane Rawl, Kingsland, 90-60 in the race for secretary-treasurer.

Total votes cast from the senior, junior, and sophomore classes respectively were 113, 129, and 150 for a total of 392 voters going to the polls. Last year approximately 502 of the 770 upperclassmen turned out to vote.

Twelve GSC Students To Compete For Miss Statesboro Title, Oct. 29

Fifteen contestants participating in the "Miss Statesboro Pageant" will vie for the title of Miss Statesboro on Saturday night, October 29 in the W. S. Hanner Building at GSC.

The pageant, which is being sponsored by the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce, will begin at 8 p.m.

Twelve of the 15 contestants are Georgia Southern College students. They are: Sara Adams, Statesboro; Jayne Bragan, Brooklet; Mary Alice Chaney, Statesboro; Jacquelyn Comer, Cordele; Trina Davis, Albany; Patricia Graham, Millen; Marylyn Hickox, Brunswick; Kay Luncford, Statesboro; Ethelynn McMillan, Milan; Edwina Paul, Statesboro; Nonie Ringwald, Savannah; and Jeannie Webb, Statesboro.

Also participating in the contest will be Mary Alice Belcher of Southeast Bulloch High School; Amelia Robertson, Statesboro High School; and Anne Fulmer, secretary to the director of public relations at Georgia Southern.

Each contestant will be sponsored by a major business enterprise of Statesboro.

The rules of the pageant will conform with those of the Miss America and Miss Georgia contests.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners of the following competitions: Miss Bathing Suit, Miss Talent, Miss Evening Gown, Miss Congeniality, and Miss Statesboro. Miss Congeniality will be selected exclusively by the contestants.

A parade of the contestants through Statesboro will be held on Friday afternoon, October 28, and on Saturday a luncheon will be held at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen where the contestants will have an opportunity to meet the judges.

The admission for anyone over 12 years of age is $1.00 and for children under 12, the price of admission is 50 cents. Seats will not be reserved.

Don McDougald, president of WWNS in Statesboro, is the chairman of the pageant. His brother, Mike McDougald of Columbus, Georgia, formerly of Statesboro, will serve as Master of Ceremonies for the occasion. Dr. Burton J. Bogitsch, a member of the science and math division at GSC, served as chairman of the entrance committee for the pageant.

Film Describes College Students As Prime Targets Of Communists

By JIM POLLAK

"Operation Abolition," a film showing Communist promoted anti-American riots among college students in the United States, was shown in the audiovisual room of the Williams Center Wednesday by the GSC Newman Club.

Father Giles Webster, O.F.M., Newman Club Chaplain at Georgia Tech, Georgia State College, and Oglethorpe University, introduced the film at the 6:30 and 8 p.m. showings. Father Webster explained that the reaction to the film has been amazing. He has shown it in Boston, Detroit, Charleston, S. C., five times at the National Newman Convention in Cleveland, twice to the FBI in Cleveland, and many times in and around Atlanta.

Indifference Shown

Father Webster stated that "in 1947 Americans still looked at Communism with indifference and now they often get too excited about it." He talked to the students in California who attended the same colleges as those participating in the riots. Students told him that "those who participated were not Communists" and he explained that this was true but that they were being used by the Communists without realizing it.

"Students are one of the prime targets of Communists throughout the world," stated Father Webster.

Film Described

The film went on to show the Communist inspired riots which occurred in May at the Un-American Activities hearings in San Francisco. Communist leaders were shown agitating the crowds inside and outside the courtroom. Students were shown as they picketed, sang, yelled, clapped, and even fought police officers who tried to break up the riots with fire hoses.

Students had to be dragged, pulled, and pushed down marble stairs leading from the city hall in San Francisco. Only after being separated from the "mob" did they begin to realize what they had done for the Communist cause. Then and only then did they seem to be ashamed.

Some typical comments from students at GSC who saw the film were something like this:

Robert Van Nort: "It makes you wonder if our government isn't too liberal in this country."

Mary Rivenbark: "It shows that the youth of today are certainly unsuspecting that they are target 'X' for Communist infiltration."

John Hammond: "It points out the danger of such a thing being allowed to take place and makes us aware that it could happen to us."

Diane Brannen: "I never realized that the youth of this nation were being used by the Communists, like that."

W. L. Coleman: "The best way we could spend 45 minutes of our time is to see this film. He then advised all of the APO members to try and see it in their meeting held after the first showing of the film."

Billy Deal: "I think it should be shown in all schools. People may not have gotten the meaning of it though, parts of it were kind of funny. It really gives us something to think about."

Robert Snipes: "It was good. It definitely gives us something to think about and to be on the lookout for things closer to home."

Beth Mock: "I enjoyed it even though it was shocking."

Albert Burke: "I wish it were possible to convey to all students the scenes shown in the film. It's hard to believe that kind of thing exists here, but we have seen it."

FREE MOVIE

"A Man Called Peter," this week's free movie, will be shown tonight in McCroan Auditorium.

A SQUARE DEAL

By BILLY DEAL

Dave Gardner, Shelly Berman, Mort Sahl, Lenny Bruce. These four performers are rapidly making names for themselves in the latest phase of stage comedy, the much criticized, much lauded "sick humor" field.

The comedy style usually referred to as sick is the type employed mostly by Berman, Sahl and Bruce. There are other aspiring comedians who try to imitate the acts of these men but according to popularity in night clubs, television and recordings, these three top the list.

Sahl, Bruce and Berman have one fact in common which Gardner does not share. The former have acts aimed especially at the sick humor audience, but Gardner's first record album, Rejoice, Dear Hearts, reached the top in sales and threw him into the spotlight. The very talented Brother Dave went right to work and recorded another album, Kick Thy Own Self, and it is gaining popularity as fast as the first one.

Expert in Double Talk

Gardner's main attraction seems to be his versatility with speech imitations. The Tennessee native can talk for 15 minutes and keep his audience in the dark as to what subject he is speaking on. He can also be so expressive, that many of his "thrown-in" statements do not need an explanation.

On the other hand, Berman and Co. depend upon the satire in their acts to draw the laughs. The satire used by these comics has often been carried to the extreme, and this is one part of the sick humorist's act that often draws criticism. The words "sac-religious" and "sac-ism" are common terms used in discussing this controversial topic.

Satire Is Gimmick

Despite the constant disapproval of sick humor—or perhaps with the aid of it—More and more comedians are sprinkling their acts with this kind of material. Modern day comedy no longer encourages the types of act used by Red Skelton, Milton Berle and Jackie Gleason. Like the television private detectives, the popular comics of today all have a gimmick. The most common gimmick in the humor field is satire.

Perhaps in several years, another version will replace the sick phase. They said the same thing about rock and roll music, however, but Elvis is still rocking and Fabian is still rolling.

In conclusion, let us make this statement: Whatever the outcome two years from now, performers like Gardner and Berman are getting the raves today. And Gardner is probably the best comic to hit the stage in 30 years.

Where Were The Voters?

The turnout of students to vote for class officers last week was most disappointing. Whose fault was it? Does all the fault lie on the shoulders of the students? We think not!

Of course, everyone knew that an election was being held. Only if a student were asleep, could he not have seen the numerous signs and posters which certainly pointed out the fact that some kind of election was being held on campus.

A most important fact was ignored by almost all of the candidates as well as the student council. The date and time when the election was to be held were definitely not well publicized.

Friday is not the best day to hold an election on the Georgia Southern campus. Unfortunately, but true, Friday is the day when students are packing their suitcases and searching high and low for a ride home. They are concerned with what time their ride leaves and how fast they can get through their classes.

After all, with all this on our students' minds, how can they possibly think about taking time to vote in a silly class officers election.

Since very few students showed little if any interest in attending the class meetings to nominate the candidates, why should they care about who wins the elections?

And so, an election was held. The deciding factor in this election was not who the best person is for office, but whoever could make the cleverest poster would be the most able person.

There was no attempt made by any one to enlighten the entire student body as to what policies the candidates would try to carry out if he or she were elected.

VOTE!

Loan Program Applications Are Available Here

Georgia Southern College is one of many institutions of higher learning participating in the National Defense Student Loan Program.

The program is one of the provisions of the National Defense Education Act enacted in 1953 to enable scholastically able students in need of financial aid to go to college.

Requirements Listed

The eligibility requirements and provisions of the program are as follows:

1. Student loans available under provisions of this act are for persons regularly enrolled or admitted as full-time students. Beginning freshmen or transfer student will receive consideration when they have been properly admitted by the Registrar for full-time study.

2. The deadline for an application for any given quarter is thirty (30) days prior to the date of registration for that quarter. Applications may be filed on a yearly basis. Summer school is considered separate from the regular academic year.

3. Preference is given to students who are planning to teach in the elementary or secondary public schools or who will study in the fields of science, mathematics, foreign languages, or engineering. However, consideration is given to all other categories of able, needy students.

Loans Intended

4. Loans are intended for students evidencing scholastic aptitude who cannot come to college without financial aid or who cannot stay enrolled in college without some financial assistance.

5. The college, acting through a President's Committee, must analyze carefully the financial need of the applicant and grant no more in loans than is actually needed. Thus a valid statement of the financial resources of the student and parent or guardian is required.

6. Proper endorsements are required under Georgia law for applicants under 21 years of age.

7. Interest on the loan is 3% beginning one year after the student graduates or leaves school.

Repayment of Loans

8. Repayment of the loan begins one year following termination of fulltime study.

9. For students who enter public elementary or secondary school teaching, half of all they have borrowed is forgiven or, to put it another way is converted retroactively into a scholarship. This conversion takes place at the rate of 10% of the total loan and interest per year of teaching, for a maximum period of five years.

10. Application forms may be secured from the Dean of Students Office.

Phi Beta Lambda New FBLA Name

The Future Business Leaders of America Organization has recently changed its name to Phi Beta Lambda so that there would be a distinction between the college and high school business organizations.

The officers for this quarter are president, Jeanette Hatcher; 1st vice president, Norman Jarard; second vice president, Barbara Fletcher; secretary, Joyce Power; treasurer, Pat Morris; publicity chairman, Dee Dixon and reporter, Diane Brannen.

All business majors and minors are invited to join Phi Beta Lambda. The meetings are scheduled for every second and fourth Wednesday of each month.

Time Out with The Editor

The George-Anne will sponsor a straw presidential election ballot here on the GSC campus next Tuesday to gain some idea of how our students and faculty will vote in the coming presidential election.

I feel that we young people of Georgia have a great faith to live up to. What faith is this? The faith shown in us by our state government in allowing us to vote at 18 years of age.

In many other states the young people of our age are clamoring for the right to vote using the worn-out argument that if young men at 18 are able to fight for their country, then they should have the right to vote for the President of the United States.

Here in Georgia we have the right and many of us don't use it. I realize that many of us are away from home where we are registered voters, but it is possible to obtain absentee ballots. Think about the candidates, their backgrounds and more important, the policies and platforms to which they adhere.

Georgia Southern College was named recently as one of the three Georgia colleges which has good graduate programs in the east side of the state by Dr. Claude Purcell, state superintendent of schools.

Graduate Study

A joint meeting of the State Board of Regents and Board of Education, Dr. Purcell urged that the state focus attention on graduate study for teachers. This would enable Georgia to raise its educational standards and better educated teachers can demand higher salaries.

A delightful comparison made by Purcell was that other countries give their high pay to people who develop minds while, in America, top money goes to crooners and film stars. I can just envision Elvis Presley grinding his way through a psychology class.

A surprising fact reported by Purcell was that of the 33,000 teachers in our state schools, more than 86 per cent already have their four-year degrees. In most of our schools in the larger cities one of the first qualifications is that a teacher have had at least four years of college. Whether it's a fact or not, I've heard that Georgia Southern graduates have little trouble finding jobs anywhere in the United States.

With the help of Mrs. Anna Parrish in the GSC placement office, I discovered that the demand certainly is greater than the supply for positions in state as well as out-of-state. In the file of in-state requests there are 205 openings for both elementary and high school teachers and administrators.

255 Requests

GSC has in the out-of-state file 255 requests including some from Mexico, Puerto Rico, as far west as California, as far north as Michigan, Delaware and Illinois.

Two hundred and eighty-two students who have graduated from GSC, have obtained positions recently according to records in the placement office. Eighty-nine graduates, 82 women and seven men, have filled openings in the elementary schools and 192 graduates, 73 women and 120 men, are working in high schools.

Its interesting to note how many students were hired from the different major fields. The number of students and the major fields are as follows: 52 physical education; 30, business; 26, English and social studies; 18, mathematics; 14, home economics; nine, industrial arts; eight, music, general science; and two, art.

Educational T. V.

Other recommendations of Purcell were graduate fellowships for promising teachers and administrators and also enlargement of television teaching facilities.

He stated there are five master teachers on the state's present T. V. program and 50,000 persons are reached in the 90 mile radius of the Athens' station. By enlarging the teaching on television and using specially trained teachers to prepare materials which the classroom teacher does not have access to nor does not have time to prepare, the state could strengthen the Georgia learning program and give depth and dimension to school courses.

Rat Squeaks

by MARIE EUBANKS

Rat Day was said to come early this year, and it did. At 4 a.m. Monday, was heard, "Rise and shine, you Rats; the day has dawned." To the restful tune of a trumpet, Halloween noise makers, and shouting sophomores, freshmen were jerked from an uneasy sleep to put mineral oil, starch, and cornmeal in their hair.

They stumbled out into a black night to the grouped as such things as vultures, grave robbers, and ghosts. They were commanded to recite a poem

Poetry Contest Is Open To Students

Students at Georgia Southern College are now eligible to submit entries to the College Students' Poetry Anthology, sponsored by the National Poetry Association, according to Dennis Hartman, secretary.

The closing date for submitting manuscripts by college students is November 5. There is no limitation to form or theme. Each poem must be typed or printed on a separate sheet, and must bear the name and home address of the student, as well as the college attended.

All entries should be sent to the National Poetry Association, 3210 Selby Avenue, Los Angeles 32, California.

Teachers and librarians are invited to submit poetry manuscripts for consideration for possible inclusion in the Annual National Teachers Anthology. The closing date for college teachers' and librarians submission is January 1.

There are no fees or charges for acceptance or submission of verse.

that was impossible to remember and yell, "We love the sophomores." When an unwary freshman was foolish enough to ask, "When is breakfast?" A sophomore was sure to say "Hungry, Rat? Eat your onion." Rats learned the joys of breakfasting on onions.

Rats Work

As the sun began to rise, Rats did the sophomore's Monday cleaning, washing, bed-making, etc. Finally the freshmen were led (backward, of course,) to breakfast to eat a square meal while standing up. Then came the games which were greatly enjoyed by the sophomores because they won most of them. However, the freshmen boys won the basketball game, which was the most important event.

In the afternoon was a parade composed of a catsup covered corpse, witches on broomsticks (stolen from the dormitories), mummies in crepe paper, and plain old Rats. Finally the exhausted Rats were allowed to rest until Rat Court. They rested by washing their hair five times, scraping knees bare of lip stick, and composing epitaphs for sophomore grave stones.

Rat Court

At 7 p.m. the Rats dragged themselves to Rat Court. In the darkened gym they watched apprehensively black clothed sophomores and trembled, wondering what would come next. What came next was soon discovered, and a merry time was had by the sophomores at the expense of the Rats.

Rat Day, that glorious tradition at GSC ended in a dance attended by all. Every new full-fledged freshman announced that he had experienced a day he would never forget. Everywhere was heard the sentiment — "Wait 'til next year!"

Language Lab Described In Words And Pictures

By ROLAND PAGE

The new language laboratory, located on the ground floor of the Administration Building, has so far been a great asset to the teaching of foreign languages, according to Dr. Zoltan Farkas, professor of modern languages.

The $2,000 laboratory, designed by Dr. Farkas, and built last summer, will accommodate 40 students at onetime, and 400 students during a carefully planned day.

Dr. Farkas stated that the original laboratory used last year consisted only of a cabinet with two built-in tape recorders. The new one is equipped with five tape recorders, several earphones and desk units, a phonograph and several records by French and German speech artists.

Language Booths

He went on to say that a variation of this laboratory from the standard type is the absence of individual sound-proof booths. This makes the room an interchangeable classroom and laboratory. The earphones muffle any disturbing noises.

There are two booths at the

ABOVE is the large-capacity language laboratory which will seat 40 students at one time. The earphones, plugged into the outlets seen on the sides of the desks, give the students a chance to listen to the tape recorder in class. The earphones also make it possible to hear the recorder when disturbing noises are present by muffling the outside noises.

MALCOLM GILBERT, student assistant to Dr. Zoltan Farkas, Miss Jane Barrow, French instructor, and Dr. Farkas, professor of modern languages, are shown here in Dr. Farkas' office across from the foreign language library. They often meet here to discuss plans for the foreign language club meetings and the progress of attendance at the language laboratory.

PICTURED ABOVE Helen Noweck, Jesup, and Bob Cochran, Metter, are using the German laboratory tape recorder and earphones. This room has a limited capacity of five or six students and is used when small numbers of students wish to use the German language laboratory. Across from the German laboratory is a French lab similarly equipped.

THE STUDENT PICTURED ABOVE, Carlton Bennett, Jesup, Marvin Mosely, Warner Robins, Malcolm Gilbert, Tifton, and Martha Law, Albany, are four of many students who enjoy using the well-equipped foreign language library for information and enjoyment. The library includes many magazines and pamphlets written in these two languages as well as numerous books.

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL RATINGS

EXPLANATION — A Dunkel is a comparative strength rating based on the season's record to date. It reflects average scoring margin relative to rating of opposition. Example: a 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of relatively equal rating. The system's operation has been continuous since its origination in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

As I take my pen in hand, I take my bottle of Coke in the other hand! Yes, dear diary, where would I be without Coca-Cola? Just a social outcast. Why, everybody drinks Coke! John and Bill and Barry and Charley. Horace too. Confidentially, I think I'll have another bottle of Coke.

AS WE SEE IT

By ROBERT SCHOFIELD and ROBBIE POWELL

The New York Yankees announced the dismissal of Casey Stengel, and in doing so, stunned the entire sports world. Casey, often called the greatest manager in baseball, guided the Yanks to ten American League flags and seven world championships in his twelve-year stay in New York. His worst year was in 1959, when the Yanks finished third. They finished second in 1954.

The reason for Stengel's dismissal was that the owners wanted to place younger men in the key positions of the organization. Stengel is 70 years old. Ralph Houk, 41, is the number one choice to replace Casey.

Casey Stengel, wealthy from his ventures in banking and the oil business, was quoted as saying, "... don't worry about Mr. Stengel. He can take care of himself."

Vice president Thomas P. Johnson of the Pittsburgh Pirates made a very unexpected statement at a meeting of businessmen in Pittsburgh. He indicated there was a possibility the Pirates might leave Pittsburgh if the planning of the new stadium was not speeded up. Johnson said that both the N.F.L. Steelers and the Pirates have had offers to move. His statement on moving was, "We don't intend to. But unless Pittsburgh wakes up to the fact that we must have major league facilities, I can't promise that the opinion won't change."

Forbes Field, the present Pittsburgh park, has only a 35,000 seating capacity. The proposed new stadium will seat over 50,000.

In this column last week there was a statement that the Yankees were after their tenth championship under Stengel, but we were in error. The Yankees have won seven world titles since Casey took the helm in 1948.

rear of the classroom where the tape recorders are located, one is used for French, the other for German. However, both can easily be channeled to other languages, Dr. Farkas added. He said that two amplifiers make it possible to broadcast from one tape recorder to all 40 outlets but that eight different channels can also be operated at one time.

The laboratory was built with the aid and cooperation of President Zach S. Henderson, Dean Paul F. Carroll, Dr. Fielding D. Russell, chairman of the division of languages; Mr. William H. Dewberry, comptroller and Dr. Farkas.

Actual construction was done by Bill Lee and the maintenance department on campus.

Two Intramural Men's Leagues Formed At GSC

Two new intramural men's leagues have been formed at GSC this year, according to J. I. White, chairman of the intramural program.

The teams, managers and assistant managers are listed as follows: Continental League - Bears-Charles Ragsdale, Hamilton, and Lou Shipes, Lakeland; Colts-Joe Williams, Canton; Gators-Charles Benson, Buena Vista, and Max Collins, Dexter; Lions-Charles Matthews, Alapaha; Panthers-Weyman Vickers, and Alfred Reaves, Cochran; and the Tigers-Sidney Brown, Atlanta, and Clyde Miller, Stillson.

In the Ivy League are: Bobcats-John D. Aikens, Statesboro, and Eugene Nelms, College Park; Leopards-Kilbert Milhol-

Danforth Foundation Fellowships Offered To Senior Men, Graduates

The Danforth Foundation, an educational foundation located in St. Louis, Missouri, invites applications for the tenth class (1961) of Danforth Graduate Fellows from college senior men and recent graduates who are preparing themselves for a career of college teaching, and are planning to enter graduate school in September, 1961, for their first year of graduate study.

The Foundation welcomes applicants from the areas of Natural and Biological Sciences, Social Sciences, Humanities and all fields of specialization to be found in the undergraduate college.

President Zach S. Henderson has named Dr. Jack N. Averitt as the liaison officer to nominate to the Danforth Foundation two or not to exceed three candidates for these 1961 fellowships. These appointments are fundamentally "a relationship of encouragement" throughout the years of graduate study, carrying a promise of financial aid within prescribed conditions as there may be need.

A Danforth Fellow is allowed to carry other scholarship appointments, such as Rhodes, Fulbright, Woodrow Wilson, Marshall, etc., concurrently with his Danforth Fellowship, and applicants for these appointments are cordially invited to apply at the same time for a Danforth Fellowship. If a man received the Danforth Appointment, together with a Rhodes Scholarship, Fulbright Scholarship, or Woodrow Wilson Fellowship, he becomes a Danforth Fellow without stipend, until these and other relationships are completed.

All applicants, including the recommendations, must be completed by January 15, 1961. Any student wishing further information should get in touch with our Liaison Officer.

The maximum annual grant for single Fellows is $1500 plus tuition and fees charged to all graduate students; for married Fellows, $2000 plus tuition and fees charged to all graduate students with an additional stipend of $500 for each child. Students with or without financial need are invited to

George-Anne Covers World News Front

By HELEN NOWECK

Castro—It doesn't look like Castro is going to last much longer. Most of his once-ardent followers now come to rallies only under orders. Rioting is increasing and an ever-growing number of Cubans are heading for the hills to fight Castro's government.

Cuba's supplies of imports are almost gone and his total cash reserve is now less than bills owed to the United States and Venezuela. The only thing that might help Castro now is steadily increased aid from and trade with Russia. Khrushchev says that Castro is claiming more support from the USSR than has been promised; and Soviet businessmen won't trade for credit.

Castro defends the firing-squad execution of the three Americans by saying he must protect Cuba from Imperialism (meaning the United States) invasion at all costs.

Kennedy—Senator John Kennedy arrived in New York City Wednesday and was welcomed by a large ticker-tape parade. The demonstration rubbed the Republicans the wrong way because the New York City officials refused to give GOP President a similar parade when he arrived in New York to address the UN during Khrushchev's recent visit.

Princess Margaret—More speculation has arisen about Princess Margaret's condition is she or isn't she London's heir-brained press decided yes on the basis of the loose garments she has been wearing lately. Buckingham Palace sources said no. Princess Margaret? She attended the theatre in a chic silk dress with a very pinched waistline. Looks like the rumor isn't true — yet!

Plastic Corneas—The wonders of science never cease. Cornea transplants were developed a few years ago to give sight to the blind whose optic nerves were good. Then science developed plastic contact lenses which were better than the older glass ones. Now experimenters have come up with a combination of the two. Tiny plastic corneas stitched into the eyes of laboratory monkeys have proved so successful that Boston eye specialists predict the use of similar plastic devices in the eyes of nearly blind human patients sometime this winter.

GETS LEADS IN SOUTH PACIFIC

Peggy Alexander, freshman elementary major from Nashville, Georgia, has been chosen to play the part of Nellie Forbush in Rogers' and Hammerstein's South Pacific. Emile de Becque will be played by Archie McAfee, a junior music major from Dublin.

Another freshmen, John Barger, physics major from Millen, has been selected to play Lt.

Cable. Hilda Blanton, sophomore, will play the part of Bloody Mary, and Ethylene McMillan will be Bloody Mary's daughter, Liat. Luther Billis will be played by Johnny Hathcock. SOUTH PACIFIC will be presented on November 30-December 1, in McCroan Auditorium.

The Philharmonic Choir has elected officers for the year 1960-61. They are: Archie McAfee, president; Bucky Carlton, Johnny Hathcock, Hamp Kicklighter, Beth Rigdon, and Sandra Strickland, planning board.

The Music Educators Club met Wednesday evening, October 12. Mr. Jack Broucek was the guest speaker. At the meeting, plans for attending the December Reading Clinic at the University of Georgia, were discussed.

Officers for the Georgia Southern Concert Band have been elected. They are: Bob Murff, president; Bob Fullerton, vice-president; John Barger, secretary - treasurer; Lisa Thombs, freshman representative; Floyd Williams, sophomore representative; Sammy Prince, junior representative; and Johnny Hathcock, senior representative.

Phi Mu Alpha invited all prospective pledges to an informal "get together." Things look excellent for this year. Officers are Joe Walters, president; Bucky Carlton, vice-president; Tommy Bowen, secretary; Malcomb Gilbert, treasurer; and Floyd Williams, warden. Dr. Dan Hooley is the sponsor. This year Phi Mu Alpha will sponsor a radio show which can be heard at 3 p.m. every Sunday.

Furman Cliett of Fort Valley and Marjorie McDonald of Americus will be working on the business staff with Jerry Aldridge.

Positions are still open on all sections. Students wishing to join the Reflector staff are invited to come to room 110 of the Williams Center on either Tuesday or Wednesday nights between the hours of 7 p.m. and 11 p.m.

Broucek Serves

As Piano Soloist

Mr. Jack Broucek of the Georgia Southern College music division faculty will serve as piano soloist with the Savannah String Ensemble on Sunday, October 23.

Concert time is 8:30 p.m. at the Jewish Educational Alliance auditorium on Abercorn Street. Conductor Theodore Henkle will appear as violin soloist with Mr. Broucek in the Brandenburg Concerto No. 5 by J. S. Bach.

The orchestra for this occasion will be under the direction of the eminent Misha Plastro, conductor of the famed Longine Symphonette which appeared in Statesboro a short time ago on the Community Concert Series.

—Assistantships

are Mrs. Iris Young, Miss Joyce Rahn, and Jimmy Oates.

Mrs. Young teaches three activity courses and three health courses. A GSC graduate of 1957, she comes from Jacksonville, Florida. Mrs. Young is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hurst of Sardis. Her husband, also a graduate of GSC, is curriculum advisor in the Tattnall County schools.

Miss Joyce Rahn is teaching physical education activity classes while studying for her master's degree in education. Miss Rahn is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Berry Rahn of Springfield. She received her B.S. in education with a major in health and physical education.

Jimmy Oates, also a recipient of an assistantship, is from Cairo. Oates is teaching physical education activity classes in addition to attending Tuesday night and Saturday graduate classes. He graduated from GSC in 1960 and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Oates.
