Dr. Bills Is Guest Speaker From Auburn

IN THE TOP picture Dr. Zach S. Henderson meets with Dr. Robert E. Bills, visiting speaker from Auburn University. Dr. Bills spoke at the Supervising Teacher Conference dinner last Friday and served as consultant and keynote speaker at the Fall District Workshop of the Georgia Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development held at GSC Saturday. In the bottom picture Dr. Bills, second from right, talks with Dean Paul F. Carroll, dean of the college; Miss Rita Lindsey, second grade teacher at Sallie Zetterower Elementary School; and Don Coleman, principal of Sallie Zetterower.

Freshman Class Officers To Be Elected Nov. 2

The nominations for the 1960-61 freshman class were held in McCroan Auditorium on Wednesday, October 26.

The election of these officers will take place in front of the Frank I. Williams building on Wednesday, November 2, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Nominated for president were: Jimmy Brock, Statesboro; and Marcus Thompson, Evans.

Warren Dawson, Milledgeville; and Dent Purcell, Glennville are candidates for the office of vice president.

Running for secretary-treasurer are: Trina Davis, Albany; and Joyce Redding, Griffin.

Nominated for student council are: Sara Adams, Statesboro; Peggy Alexander, Nashville; Larry Phillips, Griffin; and Steve Suhowtshy, Watervliet, New York.

Georgia Southern students, opportunity is knocking at your door. You could be one of the three prize winners in this year's Reflector "snapshot contest." The deadline for entering the contest is January 7, 1961.

A committee, consisting of Dr. R. Ward of the Social Science division, Mr. Edward Abcrombie of the film library, and Midge Lasky representing the George-Anne, will judge the entries.

Rules governing the contest are as follows:

1. All entries become the property of the Reflector and may or may not be used in the 1961 Reflector.

2. Contestants may submit as many entries as they desire.

3. Any sort or size of picture will be accepted provided it is within the bounds of good taste.

4. Entries will be judged on the basis of subject, composition, reproduce ability, quality, originality, and interest.

5. All photographs should be in black and white because it is not possible to reproduce color photos.

6. The decision of the judges is final.

7. The name of the person who is submitting the picture should be placed on the back of the picture.

This year's contest will be divided into three categories: sports, campus life, and humor.

All snapshots should be submitted to the Reflector office, Room 110 of the Frank I. Williams Building.

According to Mr. W. P. Clifton, Reflector photographer, the proofs for the class pictures will be on campus in approximately two weeks.

Nov. 28 Named As Miscellany Copy Deadline

The deadline for submitting manuscripts for the fall quarter edition of Miscellany is November 28, according to Mr. Roy F. Powell, faculty editor.

Ron Nesbitt of Atlanta has been appointed the chairman of the editorial board. The remaining board members will be selected at a later date.

The requirements for submitting manuscripts are as follows:

1. All manuscripts should be typewritten, prose must be double-spaced, and poetry appropriately spaced.

2. All contributions, whether short stories, essays, book reviews, or critical work, will be considered.

The November 28 deadline, which will be the Monday following the Thanksgiving holidays, should insure the literary publication to be ready for sale before the Christmas holidays.

If you have a manuscript that you want to be considered for Miscellany, either give it to Ron Nesbitt or Mr. Powell, or leave it on Mr. Powell's desk.

Student Straw Ballot Votes Swing Towards Kennedy

THIS WAS just the beginning! An avalanche occurred at GSC in the form of votes, 685 votes poured forth into the clutches of the George-Anne reporters conducting a straw presidential election ballot. The results-Kennedy wins hands down. Now the question is: Who will be the next president of the United States?

Reverse Reaction Received From Faculty Members

By JIM POLLAK
News Editor

The George-Anne straw presidential poll taken this week showed strong student support for John F. Kennedy, the democratic nominee and a reverse trend of faculty-staff support for Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate.

In the student poll, 685 or 54.2% of the 1262 undergraduate students enrolled at GSC voted. Of the 685 voters 336 indicated that they were registered. Two hundred and twenty-three were not registered while 126 persons no indication of their registration status.

Johnny F. Kennedy received 472 of the 685 votes to a total of 195 for Richard M. Nixon. Of the 472 votes for Kennedy 231 came from students who indicated that they were registered and 241 from those who were either not registered or did not indicate. Nixon polled 98 votes from registered voters among the GSC students and the remaining 97 for his 195 total came from those who were either not registered or did not indicate.

Eighteen of the students who participated in the straw ballot voted for a write-in candidate, indicated they would vote for neither candidate, were not sure, or checked both candidates, names. The complete breakdown here showed 13 students voting for write-in candidates appeared. Two indicated that they would vote for neither Kennedy or Nixon, two checked both, and one indicated that he was not sure. Seven of these 18 voters circled yes to the

Cast For 'South Pacific' Released

"South Pacific," Rodger's and Hammerstein's fabulous musical, romance-tragedy, will be presented here on the Georgia Southern campus by the music department. Although these dates are not definite, November 30-December 1 have been set as the nights for the performances.

The play "South Pacific" is based on James A. Michener's "Tales of the South Pacific" during the closing weeks of World War II.

It is primarily a romance between Emille de Becque, a wealthy Frenchman, and Nellie Forbusch, an Army Nurse from Little Rock, Arkansas.

Some of the musical highlights are: Twin Soliloquies, sung by Emille de Becque and Nellie Forbusch, Some Enchanted Evening, sung by Emille de Becque, Younger Than Springtime, by Lt. Cable, Happy Talk, by Bloody Mary, and The Finale, sung by the cast and course.

Dr. Dan Hooley is the director and Mr. Fred Grumley is in charge of the sets; Miss Dorothy Thomas is the property manager and Mr. Jack Broucek is the accompanist.

GEORGE-ANNE MEETING

There will be a very important meeting of the entire George-Anne staff on Tuesday, November 1, in Room 108 of the Williams Center at 7:30 p.m. Any persons interested in joining the staff are invited to attend this meeting.

The casting is not complete, but the leads have been assigned as follows: Nellie Forbusch, Peggy Alexander, Nashville; Emille de Becque, Archie McAfee, Dublin; Lt. Cable, John Barger, Millen; Bloody Mary, Hilda Blanton, Lakeland; Liat, Ethylene McMillan, Milan; and Luthe McMillan, Milan; and Johnny Hathcock, Atlanta.

Plans Announced For Starlight Ball

By JOYCE NELMS

Miss Starlight Ball will be chosen for the first time at GSC at the annual Starlight Ball to be held on Saturday, November 19 in the Alumni Gymnasium.

Every club on campus is asked to sponsor a contestant to compete for the title. Voting will be held on Friday, November 18 in the Williams Center. Votes will be one cent each and are to be dropped in the boxes under the photograph of your choice.

The winning contestant will be crowned at the ball on Saturday night. The money received from the votes will be turned into the Student Activity Fund.

This year the theme of the dance is to be Western, according to Lavinia Bryant, president of Alpha Rho Tau, Art Club, which is sponsoring this fall quarter formal dance. The gymnasium will be decorated as a western-type saloon complete with swinging doors and bartenders, and girls dressed as dance hall girls will serve.

Committees Named

The committees for the dance have been named. On the decoration committee are: Jo Carol Gettys, Statesboro; Gabriel McNair, Guyton; Lavinia Bryant, Statesboro; Larry Gordon, Ludovici; Ann Blount, Augusta; Avis Rollins, Augusta; Pat Hall, Metter; Patsy Denton, Andersonville; Mickey Peterman, Savannah; Joe Williams, Valdosta; and Walter Strickland, Savannah.

On the refreshment committee are: Diane Smith, Colorado Springs, Colorado; Libby Estes, Dublin, and Sherian Brown, Statesboro.

Those on the ticket committee are: Dean Akins, Martin; Thad Studstill, Lakeland; Kilbert Milhollin, Douglas; and Becky Chandler, Thomaston.

Program Committee

On the program committee are: Mary Alice Chaney, Statesboro; Tommy Matthews, Decatur; Marilyn Chapman, Thomaston; and Anne Edwards, Hinesville.

Those on the publicity committee are: Barbara Brown, Dublin; Joyce Nelms, College Park; Tessa Jones, Savannah; and Gwen Ferguson, Grovetown.

On the entertainment committee are: Stacy Wells, Hinesville; Joe Brewer, Atlanta; and Hilda Blanton, Lakeland.

Clean-Up Committee

On the clean-up committee is Becky Boulineau.

Those on the table committee are: Larry Gordon, Ludovici; and Gordon Hill, Penfield.

There will be a photographer at the ball who will make white and color photographs. Pictures may be obtained in billfold size, 5x7 enlargements, or standard 8x10 photographs.

Debaters Enter Tourney Today

The newly organized GSC debate squad will enter its first tournament Friday at Mercer University, according to Miss Esther Kling, coach.

Robert Powell, Statesboro; Robert Schofield, Rock Hill, South Carolina; Robert Horel, Garden City; and Albert Burke, Wadley; will make the trip to Macon and debate on the following National Intercollegiate question.

Resolved: That the Federal Government should adapt a program of compulsory health insurance for all citizens.

Be Aware And Be Proud

Awareness — one of the key words which describe most Americans today. As long as we are alert, we will remain Americans. And usually the word synonymous with America is freedom. We Americans are lucky. Lucky in that we have the instruments to remain alert and therefore free. Certainly we have the tools which help us to know what activity is going on all over the world. Our communication and transportation systems here in the United States are better than ever before. Thousands of books are published each year about all kinds of subjects, some good and some bad. But the important thing is that the decision as to what each person reads is left up to the individual.

In almost every home today there is at least one radio. Even though the radio has gained the nickname of the "television without a picture," some very interesting, informative, and entertaining programs come over the radio airways. The aforementioned television has begun to dominate the scene in many of the homes across the nation. The television camera is able to report the news as it happens and show it to the viewers.

Along with the advance in our communication methods, our transportation system hasn't lagged behind. We owe our gratitude to Orville and Wilbur Wright for their invention of the flying machine. It's hard to believe that in the not-too-far future the airplane will become a spaceship traveling from our Earth to other planets. The shops, cars, and trains are all part of the transportation and communication systems here.

So what does all this have to do with us here at Georgia Southern College? It's true, we're only students. But we are the persons who must carry on in the future. In us lies the future. We must do our best and learn all we can, so we can accept and carry out the responsibilities being handed down to us in such a way as to make our forefathers proud of us.

Be proud we're Americans.

No Retort Necessary

It has occurred to us several times during the course of our attending public schools that the need for CAPABLE school teachers is amazingly great. It is useless—utterly useless—for teachers to teach if they are not competent of talking about a subject in a manner which permits that subject to be learned and applied to life!

Many teachers can "get an idea across," but there is a greater responsibility involved than this. A competent teacher will instill in his students the desire to learn and seek knowledge for themselves.

Have any of you ever had a teacher say to you, "Well, I don't care whether you pass or fail. I will present this material in such a clear and simplified manner that you cannot help but learn it. And if your test grades indicate that you have not learned it, I will take great pleasure in awarding you with an 'F' at the end of the quarter."

Apparently this type of teacher does not take great pleasure in his work, rather he takes great pleasure in seeing himself as the "unquestionable master." A teacher who thinks he cannot be wrong about anything, has little of the respects of students—and the acquiring of respect is of extreme importance in the field of teaching.

And what of those teachers who use the classroom as a stage. Certainly they would make better actors and actresses than they would teachers with the many dramatic gestures, darting of the eyes, and grimaces of the face.

At times it is possible that the student is so engrossed in watching the performance he fails to grasp what the actor-teacher is saying. A student can acquire a large amount of knowledge under a teacher who is honest and sincere.

A student who argues with or condemns his teachers gains nothing; however, a student can learn something about teaching by observing and remembering the mistakes his former teachers made.

Shooting Contest

All right, Tex, whip out that Kodak and blaze away! It's open season on any and everything that steps before your shutter.

Whether your name is Tex or Algernon, and whether you pack a Kodak or a Graflex, YOU are eligible to enter the Reflector Annual Snapshot Contest.

Georgia Southern College campus is a veritable shooting preserve and the truly avid "snapshotter" is assured of any number of "big game type species" to be recorded on film. Special events, such as homecoming and basketball games provide many fine subjects, but don't limit yourselves to just the big blasts. The camera guy or gal with the good eye can find endless numbers of daily occurrences and situations to snap that can be quite interesting.

And — here's the bonus. Not only might you have the pleasure of admiring your trophy recorded for posterity amid the glossy pages of the Reflector; if your catch is really big game, you may have the pleasure of running your fingers through a short volume of the filthy green. First prize is $15.00, second prize, $10.00, and third prize is $5.00. So, let's get with it, contest closes January 7, 1960.

A SQUARE DEAL

By BILLY DEAL

Through the magic of an overworked imagination, you will now pretend you are part of an audience viewing a popular television show. The name of the show is "What Is Your Opinion?" and the host is Henry Hunch. As we enter, this week's show is just beginning.

Henry: Good evening, sir, and welcome to the program. What is your name, please?

Contestant: My name is Tom Dooley.

Henry: Well, that's a nice common name. Incidentally, what's that you're smoking?

Tom: That's a cigarette.

H: I mean what kind of cigarette, Tom.

T: Oh, it's a Viceboro.

H: Why do you smoke that particular cigarette?

T: Because it has no taste and no filter.

H: I see. Tell me, Tom, what do you think of striped toothpaste?

T: I think it's a public menace. I'm going nuts trying to figure out how they put the stripes in.

H: Yes, but it leaves no bathtub rings, you know. How do you feel about foreign aid?

T: I'm very much in favor of it. I want to give Brigitte Bardot and Anita Eckberg all the help they need.

H: Yes, I'm in favor of that, too. By the way, Tom, are you married?

T: Yes. It happens to the best of us.

H: Would you tell us how and where you met your wife?

T: Yes. My friend Grayson introduced us. I met her on a mountain.

H: I see. What did you do then?

T: I stabbed her with my knife.

H: I see. Do you think every man should think for himself. And married men should give this some very serious thought.

H: I see. What do you do in your spare time, Tom?

T: I'm a bounty hunter. I also watch television commercials.

H: You watch only commercials?

T: That's correct. They are very educational. Did you know that four out of five doctors have proved that Wyatt Earp can draw faster than Matt Dillon?

H: Did you know that Elliot Ness can smoke nine Chesterfield cigarettes in three minutes? Very educational.

H: Yes, that's very interesting, Tom, but the old clock on the wall says it's time to go. So, until we meet again, don't forget our sponsor... KLOG-O.

question of whether or not they were registered.

Compared to the approximate two and one-half to one ratio given to Kennedy over Nixon by the students, the faculty, and staff members who voted threw their support to Nixon. A total of 55 of the 120 faculty and staff members took part in the poll. Of this number 41 indicated that they were registered voters. Fourteen either were not registered or did not indicate. Of the 55 votes cast by the staff and faculty 30 were for Richard M. Nixon and 23 for John F. Kennedy. This gave Nixon a three to two ratio here.

The results from all those who participated still put John F. Kennedy in the lead at GSC. The total votes cast by students, faculty and staff was 740. Of this complete total Kennedy received 495 votes to 225 for Nixon.

A complete breakdown of the results appears in a box on page 4.

Timely Talk

By RON NESBITT

Apparently the student straw ballot here at Georgia Southern has stirred up additional interest in the coming presidential election. There has been a great deal of anticipation concerning the outcome of the election. I have been somewhat amused while speaking with some of the students; it seems that in spite of the tremendous majority Kennedy enjoys on this campus, those who support him are not particularly certain of his popularity.

Having spoken with several who voted in the poll, I have known only one student who voted for Nixon. He seemed more certain that Nixon would win than those Kennedy voters were certain of their choice.

It would be interesting to find out exactly why a particular student voted for a given candidate. Perhaps the uncertainty with which the supporters of Kennedy view their candidate is some indication of the uncertainty they feel in voting for him.

As election time draws near, we shall have an opportunity to see how well one student poll reflects the opinion of the South and the Nation as a whole.

Home Ec More Than "Stitching And Stewing"

By SANDRA COX

"Home Economics majors learn a great deal more than stitching and stewing," stated Miss Betty Lane, chairman of the division at Georgia Southern College. The four year course in home economics, which leads to the Bachelor of Science degree, provides a broad general education background as well as specialized training which will prepare a young woman for a profession.

Some of the professions to which the specialized curriculum may lead are homemaking, public school teaching, extension service, food demonstration work, and home service representatives with business firms.

Requirements Listed

Graduates in home economics are required to have twenty hours in science, including botany, micro-biology, and two chemistry courses. In addition, to science, many of the home economics courses have art and economics as their foundations.

Artistic taste is necessary in home furnishing, selection of materials, and clothing design and selection. A knowledge of economics is important for the homemaker because she must handle financial matters and be able to determine how much can be spent on family needs and home furnishings.

Unique Feature

Because it is a unique feature of our campus, girls from all over the state are attracted to the Georgia Southern Home Economics division. Only three other Georgia colleges are authorized to issue a professional vocational certificate which enables one to teach in any high school offering vocational home economics.

This quarter marks the beginning of new operations in all areas of home economics here. The division has been moved to the Herty Building and is equipped with the newest in facilities. The rooms in the division are divided and named according to the subject matter of various areas of the field.

With the exception of the dining room, which is used for meal planning and table service, the department has completely new furnishings. The furnishings in the equipment room have been loaned to the department by Statesboro business concerns.

Laboratory Testing

This room is used for the laboratory testing of various household equipment from the size of a small blender to that of a large range. The girls run tests similar to those run by Good Housekeeping and McCalls before giving a seal of approval.

Girls majoring in other areas of education are now invited to elect courses in home economics because the larger space and new facilities have made it possible to accommodate more students.

The home economics courses which require no pre-requisites and are offered to non-majors are: elementary clothing, family clothing, food selection and preparation, nutrition for teachers, child development, home planning and furnishing, family health and home nursing, and personal and family living.

Home economics may be defined as the field of knowledge and service which is primarily concerned with strengthening family life through educating the individual for family living, improving the services and goods used by families, conducting research to discover the changing needs of individuals and families and the means of satisfying these needs, and furthering community, national, and world conditions favorable to family living.

Stopp To Speak At GEA Meeting On November 4

Dr. George Stopp will give a talk on the "Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation" at the first district fall convention of the Georgia Education Association at Savannah High School November 4. The convention members will meet at 9:15 a.m. in departmental groups and then at 11 a.m. in a general meeting. Representing GSC in the general meeting is G. E. Pittman, GSC Retirement System secretary. At 2 p.m. the affiliate meetings will be held.

The Georgia Southern GEA officers for this year are: Dr. Fielding D. Russell, president; Miss Marie Wood, vice president; Miss Frieda Gernant, secretary and treasurer; Dr. Tully Pennington and Miss Doris Lindsey, membership.

Time Out with The Editor

The reason each one of you chose to come to college probably varies greatly but I venture to say that the most common answer to this question if it were asked would be "to receive an education." This answer is academic for there are many kinds of education.

College is supposed to give us education. It cannot give us this gift but it does offer opportunity to attain it. Although education cannot be measured entirely by a classroom, it is still a very excellent indicator. Good grades are important and don't let anyone tell you differently. Test this statement by noticing the difference in your feelings when you receive an "A" or an "F."

But there is an education to be obtained from other sources. During the next four years you will mature in your ways of thinking and living—your actions—another form of education. We all mature intellectually. We are learning to work and play with our fellow man—still education.

There are approximately 45 organizations at Georgia Southern for you to join, and before you know it your name will be on rosters of four or five different clubs. You will work with the other members and work for the organizations; but, in return, you will also reap much profit—more education. You will learn the meaning of spirit, dependability, and tradition—education.

Now most of you are more independent than ever before in your lives. If you can learn to accept this fact maturely, you are on your way to a good, rewarding and successful college life. During your college years you encounter many obstacles and problems that you must conquer on your own.

Here you meet questions that you yourselves have to answer—no longer is there someone such as "mom" or "pop" close at hand to answer them for us. You may need a "helping hand" at times, and this is available here on campus. But even if you receive aid, the answer must still come from within yourselves. Still another form of education.

As we become more educated we learn to no longer accept everything as the truth—but to question. To question statements, answers, and conclusions. To accept them as truth we must "dig beneath the surface" and decide our own conclusions. Still more education.

So we see that there are many forms of education offered to us. All around us we find one. No matter what our background is, no matter what our major is, no matter what our interests are — education is everywhere.

The key to success in any continuous endeavor such as obtaining an education is purpose. As William James once stated — any activity that is worth doing should be started with a tremendous initiative, and a realization of the importance of that activity.

REGIONAL CAMPUS...

By ROBERT C. ANDERSON
Southern Regional Education Board

In 1858—on the same date of the second Kennedy-Nixon debate of 1960—20,000 Americans crowded into a town hall in Galesburg, Illinois, to hear one of the history-making Lincoln-Douglas debates.

Now that small gathering is a part of American history, but to Democrats and Republicans of the day it was major news. It was one road mark on a darkened and obscure path leading to Civil War.

With the Centennial celebration of Civil War drawing close, American history classes in universities and colleges all over the South are re-examining issues and substances of the bloodiest of all American wars. It is a time of reappraisal of values; a time of moral and philosophical soul-searching.

Valuable Aid

To help with re-examination of the issues, The Atlanta Journal-Constitution is turning out an unusual instructional tool which is being used in many history and journalism classes in universities, colleges and secondary schools.

It is a weekly newspaper page within a daily—a weekly dated 1860 and carrying news stories of events as they happened in the fateful months preceding and during Civil War. It was begun in March of this year and is planned to continue every week for five years.

Called "The Atlanta Century," the one-page weekly is a re-creation of the front page of a Civil War-era newspaper as it might have looked had the editor of that day had access to prime news services, sources and communications. There is one major concession to modernity—the front page includes pictures which were usually not used in the papers of 1860.

"Century" Authors

The "Century" is written by Norman Shavin and Mike Edwards of the Journal-Constitution staff. Dr. Martin Abbott of the Oglethorpe University faculty was first historical advisor for the weekly page. Since he left Atlanta in September to study on a Fulbright Fellowship, Dr. Willard Kight of the Georgia Institute of Technology has become advisor.

Author Shavin says of the page, "There never was a newspaper called The Atlanta Century. It exists today as an educational, informative page of living history; it exists as a tribute to the greatest drama ever played on American soil; it goes beyond serving as a commemorative project tied to Civil War Centennial celebrations."

News events in the Century are selected from such papers as those published in New York, Cleveland, San Francisco, Atlanta, Charleston, New Orleans and Richmond. Among historic personalities who have been mentioned on the page are a young actor named John Wilkes Booth, who turned up at the hanging of insurrectionist John Brown; Lt. Col. Robert E. Lee, temporary commander of the Department of Texas; Lt. J. E. B. Stuart, who narrowly missed death by an Indian arrow in 1860; and William Tecumseh Sherman, head of the Louisiana State Seminary in 1860.

Teaching Tool

The Century is being used as a teaching tool in many departments of history and journalism. The authors have received letters of commendation from historians Carl Sandburg, Bruce Catton, columnist Harry Golden and Gen. U. S. Grant III chairman of the Civil War Centennial Commission.

The Century is a good example of what can be accomplished through cooperation between universities and news media of the region. From universities sources can come information about research, cultural progress, and historic legacies. When successfully presented by the region's leading newspapers, the sum total is a better public understanding of the value of institutions of higher learning.

Civil War Centennial

Other universities are cooperating with magazines and newspapers in the specific area of Civil War Centennial.

AS WE SEE IT

By ROBERT SCHOFIELD and ROBBIE POWELL

After interviewing Stan McCallar, last week's phenom of the week, we learned the secret of Stan's success as a phenom player. Stan's great-grandfather led the McCallar clan to several National Scotland Championships, and captured the coveted 'most valuable phenomster of the year' award for three years in a row. This is a Scottish record. Stan says, "I guess I have always be fairly good at the game." We think that is one of the understatements of the year.

The American League announced this week that it will expand to ten teams for the 1961 year. This announcement came only eleven days after the National League released plans to expand in 1962.

While the National League is simply adding two new teams, one in New York and one in Houston, the American League is carrying out a more complex plan. The Washington Senators are moving to Minneapolis, and another club will operate in the Nation's capital. The other new club will take Los Angeles as its home town.

The question that we would like to ask it, "Where is the talent to fill the rosters of the four new major league teams?" The American League has long been dominated by the New York Yankees, and the Dodgers of Brooklyn and Los Angeles, along with the Milwaukee Braves have had a good strong-hold on the senior loop for the past two decades. With the addition of two new teams to each league, we believe this will increase the dominance of the stronger teams.

For the last few years interest in baseball has been declining, and the minor leagues, which are supposed to be the backbone of the majors, have been losing teams regularly. Now the small force of minor league teams are asked to fill four complete teams with major league talent. We do not believe they are able to perform this task.

There has been some talk around the campus about forming a college bowling league. We stopped by the Skate-R-Bowl and talked with Bob Morales on this subject. He said that any interested people should contact Mr. Hugh Darley, the manager of the Skate-R-Bowl. Bob said that all students can now bowl in the afternoons for the reduced rate of three lines for one dollar. He said this rate would probably be in effect should a bowling league be formed for afternoon bowling.

The leagues that are now bowling at the Skate-R-Bowl are one men's league and one women's league from Statesboro and also a men's and women's league from Rockwell. These four leagues now bowl on four nights of the week, and while they are bowling the lanes are closed to the public.

The work is now being done on an addition of four more alleys, and when this work is complete the lanes will be open every night after nine for the public.

Two Gymnastics Teams Formed

Two gymnastics teams, men and women, have been organized at GSC this year.

Sixteen students are on the teams. Robert Smith, a sophomore from Savannah, is captain of the boys' teams, and Sammy Andrews, a senior from Augusta, is captain of the girls' team with Lane Hartley, a senior from Alamo, the alternate captain.

Dorcas Fuchs, a native of Germany now living in Rochester, New York, placed second in all around performance at the 1960 Summer Olympics in Rome, Italy. She was a member of the women's gymnastic team, and is now the team's captain. Miss Fuchs plans to enroll at GSC winter quarter.

WEEKEND EVENTS

The movie on campus to-night in the McCroan Auditorium is "Tea and Sympathy." The showing will start at 7 p.m.

The Masquerade Club is sponsoring a Halloween Masquerade Dance this Saturday, October 29, in the Old Gym. Records will provide the music for dancing. Everyone is invited to attend.

DUNKEL COLLEGE FOOTBALL RATINGS

EXPLANATION—A dunkel is a comparative strength rating based on the season's record to date. It reflects average scoring margin relative to rating of opposition. Example: a 50.0 dunkel means a team's scoring margin is 50 percent of the average scoring margin of all teams in the league. The system's operation has been continuous since its origination in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

Pop Concert To Be Given Here On November 9

The Georgia Southern College Band will present a concert of light and popular music on Wednesday, November 9 at 8 p.m. in McCroan Auditorium, according to Mr. Fred Grumley, band director.

As part of the program the band will play "Ballet Parisien" by Offenbach; "If Thou Be Near" by Bach; and "Rhumba Sencopada" by Ployhar.

Featured on the program will be the Trumpet Trio playing "Bugler's Holiday" by Leroy Anderson. Members of the trio are: Tommy Rogers, first trumpet, Buean Visa; Tommy Fouché, second trumpet, St. Simons; and Billy Martin, third trumpet, Valdosta.

"March of the Stoll Men" by Belsterling, a piece which uses downstage trumpets and trombones, will be played by the Trumpet Trio and Earl Collins, Lyons, on the trumpet, Milton Strickland, Adel; Tommy Blackburn, Sylvania; Sammy Prince, Cairo; and John Barger, Milton, will play the trombone for the selection.

Five entirely new modern pieces for bands will be included on the program. These five plus several others will be taped by the music division in the future.

Phenn Rule Changes Released By White

With the fantastic interest in phenn on the GSC campus, it certainly seems time for all phennsters, both offensive and defensive, to brush-up on the rule changes.

Mr. Jess White, phenn commissioner and an 11-goal player in his days at Occidental College for Orientals, passes on the following rule changes:

The National Phenn Committee made no major changes for the season 1960-61. It did, however, continue its efforts toward refining statements, giving emphasis to certain rules which need stricter enforcement, clarifying some rules with specific interpretation, toward the objective of greater uniformity and consistency in officiating and coaching according to the rules.

The word "duck" is substituted for "crouch" because by definition crouch means "bending low" whereas "duck" means to bob down, as one's head, to avoid a blow. Duck more accurately describes the permissive action.

Under the heading "Interpretation for Contract Situations," "above" is substituted for following and following is inserted before "statements." Under the heading "Guarding the john," the phrase "with his feet on the ground," is deleted and "duck" is substituted for "crouch" to conform to Question (1) following Rule 10, Section 7.

It is hoped that the above interpretations will serve to clear up the rather awkward situations that developed this week in a practice scrimmage between the Biology minors and the Off-Campus Marching and Chowder Society's "B" team.

At the traditional opening scrum, the "Chowderheads" (as the team is known) fell to striking the Biology minors about the face and head instead of attempting to move the phenn block goalward.

Science In The News

By MARIE EUBANKS

Dr. Burton J. Bogitsh, associate professor of biology, received a two year grant, amounting to $5,900, from the National Institute of Health to further his studies of the histology of parasitic cysts in fresh water fishes. Dr. Bogitsh has published a paper in the Scientific Journal on his work done in the past year. The students in the parasitology class do basic research in this area.

This summer Dr. John A. Boole, head of the science department, served on the evaluating committee of the National Science Foundation, in Washington, D. C. He attended a three week summer conference for College Genetics Teachers at the Colorado State University.

During Christmas vacation Dr. Boole will attend a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in New York City.

Dr. Tully S. Pennington, associate professor of biology, and Mr. Fred A. Wallace will attend the American Association for the Advancement of Science in New York City.

Dr. Darrel Lynch will present a paper at a meeting of the Association of the Soils and Plants Studies December fifth in Chicago. Dr. Lynch's paper concerns the acids and amounts of acids in plants and their methods of analysis.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Statesboro October 31 at the Recreation Center.

Senior examinations on the United States and Georgia History and Constitutions will be held on November 8 in McCroan Auditorium. Seniors should check with Miss Perry as to which examinations they are to take. Students may register on an official registration sheet to be attached to the bulletin board in the Administration Building. These examinations will begin

BSU Highlights Activities; Elects New Officers

Members of the Baptist Student Union recently elected new officers.

They are: Marcus Thompson, president; Evans, Lou Fender, vice president; Lakeland, Peggy Alexander, enlistment chairman, Nashville; Sullynn Hatcher, secretary, Albany; Beth Deen, social chairman, Pearson; Betty Johnson, devotional chairman, Ray City; and Donald Westberry, publicity chairman, Odum.

Also Sandra chairman, Bampton; Mary Gillenwater, editor, Brooklet; Ernest Daves, Sunday school representative, Jesup; Albert Calhoun, training union representative, Arlington; and Lamonta Henson, young women's auxiliary, Albany.

This council will work with the present executive council and will receive experience which will enable them to be well trained council members for the future.

On Nov. 12 the B. S. U. will have "Hobo Day." This is a day when B. S. U. members do odd jobs in homes in Statesboro in order to raise money for their summer missions goal.

A large number of B. S. U. members will attend the B. S. U. Convention to be held Oct. 28-30 at the First Baptist Church, Athens.

Some of the program personalities will be Dr. William Hall Preston, southside student department; Dr. Ray O. McClain, pastor of First Baptist, Atlanta; Dr. Howard D. Olive, missionary to the Philippines; Honorable Robert C. Norman, Augusta attorney; and Alec Hopper, a former B. S. U. member and chalk artist of Lake Charles, Louisiana.

Another highlight of the convention is the homecoming football game between Georgia and Tulane that the members will attend.

CONTEST WINNERS

The winner of the football contest for the October 14 issue of the George-Anne is Jerry Gibson, Riverdale. He had a score of 15-2 to win the $5 cash prize.

Last week, the winner was Hilda Henderson, Alpharetta, with a score of 13-4. Try your luck next week.
