SC Reveals Parade Omitted From Homecoming Plans

A parade will not be included in the Homecoming activities for this year. In its place, the student council is urging every club to make an appropriate display on campus.

A television set will be purchased for the student center. A committee has been appointed to work to the details for this project.

Monday, January 9, the student council presented their president, Guy Weatherly, McRae, with the student council pin.

In the future, a committee will be appointed to study campus improvement in all the areas that concern students.

Another committee, headed by Dr. S. Lloyd Toumey, is working on acquiring an iron eagle, Miss Dorothy Thomas of the music department, Miss Roxie Remley of the art department, and the four class presidents are to select the club most outstanding in their service to the campus this year.

A conference room and an advisor on scholarships, loans summer employment, and off-campus employment will be made available to the student body.

The council voted to change the time of their meetings to Monday at 4:30.

Dr. Sax To Give Genetics Talks On Jan. 19-20

Dr. Karl Sax, Visiting Professor of Genetics at North Carolina State College, Raleigh, N. C., will speak at Georgia Southern College in Statesboro, on January 19 and 20, under the auspices of the Visiting Biologists Program of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

Two very different areas of research — the world population problem and the genetics of ornamental trees and shrubs — will be among those discussed by Dr. Sax. His host at Georgia Southern will be Dr. John A. Boole.

Dr. Sax studied at Washington State University and at Harvard (Sc. D. in 1922). He was botany professor at the Arnold Arboretum, and taught cytogenetics at Harvard for more than 20 years.

Some of the scientific organizations Dr. Sax belongs to are the National Academy of Sciences, the Radiation Research Society, the Genetics Society of America (president in 1959), and the Botanical Society of America.

Pin Presented

DR. ZACH S. HENDERSON, president of Georgia Southern College, presents the first GSC student council pin to Guy Weatherly, at left, currently president. Each member of the student council has received a pin similar to Weatherly's.

Schedule of Activities Told for Homecoming

The events to take place on Homecoming Weekend on Jan. 27, 28 and 29 were announced this week by Mr. Pete Hallman, GSC Public Relations Director. The fifteenth annual Beauty Revue, sponsored by Alpha Rho Tau (Art Club), will be held January 27 at 8 p.m. in McCroan Auditorium.

Each organization on campus is asked to sponsor a contestant in the Beauty Revue. From these contestants "Miss GSC" will be chosen. Names of the contestants should be submitted to the Art Club. The tickets for the Beauty Revue will be $1.00 for adults and 50 cents for students and children.

Committees Named
The chairman of the committees have been named: Mary Alice Chaney and Eva Love, tickets; Becky Chandler and Becky Boulineau, decorations; Sherian Brown, programs; Kilbert Milhollin, construction; Martha Morris and Patricia

SABORD WOODS

SANDRA TAYLOR

Two Reach Wilson Fellowship Finals

Two Georgia Southern College students, James Sabord Woods of Route 3, Jesup, and Miss Sandra Taylor of Arlington, have been selected to appear for interviews in Atlanta before the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation.

They are two of 120 students representing 76 colleges in Region VI who were chosen for interviews from 650 nominees.

Offers Grants
The Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship Foundation each year gives grants to worthy students for graduate work in the training of college instructors.

Miss Taylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor, Jr. of Arlington, is a senior biology major. A Dean's List student, Miss Taylor has maintained practically a straight A average, with the exception of one B, during her college career at Georgia Southern.

Woods, a senior English major, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim S. Woods of Route 3, Jesup. Woods has maintained better than a B plus average in all of his studies at Georgia Southern.

The purpose of the fellowship is to provide graduate education for students of outstanding promise who desire to be college teachers.

Requirements Told

To be eligible for nomination, one must be an outstanding college senior or graduate who by the fall of 1961 will have completed less than a year's graduate credit. Applicants must be citizens of the United States or Canada. There is no age limit.

New Arts And Industry Bldg. Will Open Soon

One or two sections of the new Industrial Arts Building will be opened in approximately two weeks. Complete access to the building will come in the spring quarter, according to Dr. Donald F. Hackett, chairman of the division of arts.

Some new equipment is included in the building contract, such as machine tools, classroom, office, and laboratory furniture, but most of the cabinet work will be done by the industrial arts division. The division is also constructing draft tables for around $400 where had they purchased them, they would have cost $3600.

Best Facilities

Dr. Hackett stated, that the new Industrial Arts Building will offer the best facilities in the south.

The two-year technical program of the division is moving ahead with an increase of 600 per cent in enrollment. Particular interest has been shown in the electronics division.

The new Industrial Arts Building is located between the Frank I. Williams Center and the Warehouse, will provide facilities for industrial arts and art education majors.

The new building will consist of a graphic arts lab, a drafting room, a power mechanics lab, a metal lab, a combination electricity and electronics lab, a finishing room, and a room for wood technology. A general shop is being designed as a sample model of a high school shop.

Miscellany Off to Publisher Thurs.

Miscellany, a magazine of student literary contributions, went to the publisher Thursday, January 12, according to Mr. Roy Powell, faculty advisor.

The chairman of the publication board, which serves as an editorial staff, is Ron Nesbitt, Atlanta. This is the first year that the magazine has been sent to a professional publisher.

The magazine will contain five or six short stories, two or three articles, and poetry. Ninety per cent of these contributions were written by GSC students.

The publication will be on sale the weekend of homecoming.

Mr. Powell stated: "Miscellany will be magazine of which our students should be proud. A lot of hard work has gone into it, but it is up to the publisher now. Our work is nearly done."

Watson to Join Social Science Division in '62

Dr. Georgia B. Watson, professor of education at Georgia Southern College has been accepted as a post-doctoral research fellow in psychology at Yale University for the academic year 1961-62.

Dr. Jack N. Averitt, chairman of the division of social science at Georgia Southern has just released the information that upon return from the year of leave Dr. Watson will join the faculty of the social division as professor of psychology. The new position to be filled by Dr. Watson was created with the recent approval of the minor in psychology in the social science offerings.

At the undergraduate level Dr. Watson holds a degree from Georgia Southern College with a major in social science. After receiving the Bachelors degree in 1946 Dr. Watson attended Peabody College where she majored in history for the master of Arts degree and combined history and college personnel work for the Doctor of Philosophy degree.

Upon receiving the Phi. D. in 1949 Dr. Watson returned to Georgia Southern College where she has served as director of guidance and counseling, director of alumni activities and as Professor of Education.

Job Directory Is Now Available To GSC Students

The new enlarged 1961 annual Summer Placement Directory, the largest and most comprehensive listing of actual summer jobs, projects, awards, and fellowships is now available. This is the same Directory used each year by over 1500 college placement offices and copies can be examined at most University Placement or Deans' offices, college and public libraries, and school superintendents' offices.

This unique Directory completely revised and brought up to date each year, is particularly prepared for college students, teachers, professors, and librarians. Jobs for which high school seniors may also apply are clearly indicated.

14,000 Listings

Some of the over 14,000 unusual summer earning opportunities listed throughout the United States and many foreign countries include citizenship projects to study the U. S. government, scholarships for studying archaeology in Greece, baking bread and pastries in

Jr. Women To Fill Remaining Room Vacancies

By JIM POLLAK

Senior women will occupy the new dormitory to be completed by the 1961 fall quarter, Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of GSC, announced to the George-Anne this week.

The dormitory, which will be named early in the spring will house 160 women. Seniors will be the first occupants with juniors filling the remaining rooms if they are available. This new facility will increase women's housing accommodations at GSC to approximately 640.

With the change, sophomore and junior women will be housed in Lewis Hall, some sophomores and freshmen in Deal Hall, and it is hoped that all first quarter freshmen women will be in Anderson.

Three to a room will continue to be the policy in Lewis and Anderson Halls, Deal Hall and the new residence hall will be limited to two in a room.

Each floor of the new dormitory will feature a lounge in addition to the main lobby and a lounge on the first floor. In all the rooms, the furniture will be built in to provide more space.

Another additional feature of GSC's newest housing will be built chutes in for the disposal of trash. The trash will be placed into the chute in the halls and fall to the basement to be burned in an incinerator.

Dr. Henderson added that work on the planning of the two additional residence halls is progressing favorably.

One of these new buildings will be another women's hall, the other will house men students.

Counselor Meet To Be Held Here

Approximately 150 are expected to attend the Counselor Work Conference to be held on the GSC campus January 18-21, according to Dr. Lawrence Hitchcock of the education division.

The conference, sponsored and directed by the State Department of Education, will host Georgia high school counselors from all over the state.

Dr. Hitchcock, director of counselor education at GSC, is serving as campus coordinator of this first state conference.

Mr. Rufus D. Pulliam, state coordinator of the Guidance and Testing Program for the State Department of Education, will serve as the director for this conference.

The main topic to be discussed at this meeting will concern some of the common problems counselors experience in their work.

Campus News Briefs

Dean Paul F. Carroll is the chairman of a symposium dealing with the use of television in higher education. Included in the group are Dr. Bill Weaver, Dr. William McKenney, and Dr. Walter B. Matthews, all of the education department.

Wesley Foundation, Methodist young people's group, will present the Twilight programs for the third week in February. They are also sponsoring Wesley Singers, who meet second and fourth Tuesday at 7:00 p.m. at Mrs. McCormick's house. Anyone wishing to participate in these or other activities may contact Betty Carter in Deal Hall.

A junior class meeting will be held next Tuesday at 4:15 p.m. in McCroan Auditorium.

Managers Plan Tour For GSC Musical Groups

The GSC Combo and the GSC Dance Band elected new managers recently. The Combo elected Jerry Bennett, Alpharetta; and the Dance Band elected Robert Siefferman, Springfield, Illinois.

The GSC Dance Band received new members this quarter. Kay Brantley, Harrison, will be playing tenor saxophone; Bucky Carlton, Moultrie, will play bass; Rod Medders, Brunswick, will play flute; Larry Philpott, Arkansas, will play French Horn; and Ronald Harper, Atlanta, trombone.

Under the new management the band will make a tour February 13 and 14, Millen, Hawkinsville, Macon and Vidalia are on this tour. While on tour a piano solo will be given by Hamp Kicklighter, Hawkinsville, and a French Horn solo by Larry Philpott.

After returning from the tour the band will give a concert the evening of February 21 in McCroan Auditorium.

Cast Is Revealed For 'Royal Gambit'

"Royal Gambit," a new tragic-comedy straight out of New York, will be presented by the Georgia Southern College Masquers on February 16 and 17 in McCroan Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

The play, written by Herman Gressieker and adapted by George White, has a complete cast of seven characters—Henry VIII and his six wives.

In this production, Henry VIII represents one type of modern man and the various aspects of the modern age develop through the erotic and moral tragic-comedy of the king's life.

Cast Listed

Frank Chew, a sophomore from Bartow, will portray the part of Henry VIII in this winter quarter production by the Masquers. His six wives, in the order in which they were married to Henry are as follows:

Katarina of Aragon played by Sara Adams, a freshman from Statesboro; Anne Boleyn, portrayed by Samille Jones, a senior from Washington; Jane Seymour played by Ethelyn McMillan, a junior from Millen; Anna of Cleves played by Brendal Moore, a sophomore from Twin City; Kathryn Parr portrayed by Nonie Ringwald, a junior from Savannah; and Kate Parr, played by Dreana Sealy, a sophomore from Griffin.

Support Play

"I hope that all of the students will come out and support us in this endeavor to bring a new off-Broadway play to the Georgia Southern College stage," Mr. Robert Overstreet, director, stated.

Prices of admission is 50 cents for students and $1.00 for adults.

Litter Distributors — Go Away!

Look around you! It's easy to see that Georgia Southern College has one of the most beautiful campuses of any college anywhere! But what good is that if it isn't kept free of litter.

Litter detracts from beauty and eventually becomes most prominent so that all we or any visitor to our campus can see is disarray.

The college administration does its share. They retain a maintenance crew of approximately 30 persons who have the responsibility of keeping the buildings in a repaired condition and keeping the grounds attractive and clean. They aren't hired to pick up after—adults.

Just how much can the maintenance crew do if they don't have the cooperation of everyone on campus? Who is actually contributing to the distribution of litter—the students, the staff or the faculty—who can tell? Perhaps all are litter guilty.

Think back and count the times you've thrown a paper cup, a cigarette butt, and empty envelope or some paper on the ground.

For the Sake of Your Life — Drive Slowly

The signs were put out in plain sight—announcements were made in the dining hall, the rules were published in the George-Anne and yet people continue to break the laws.

We know the people on this campus can read. We hope they understand what they see before their eyes. Over 150 traffic tickets were awarded last week. If drivers would be more careful they could avoid this.

Cars are not allowed to park except on the driver's right. That is, no car should cross the middle line to park. This is especially true at the parking lot beside the Williams Center. Even though the cars are parked diagonally, the drivers should still be careful to park to their right.

Speed can be a killer, but let's hope not on the GSC campus. The speed limit is 15 mph. Yet—almost every car seems to be going much faster. Even if the TCC (Traffic Control Committee) wanted to give tickets for speeding, they couldn't. The cars would be going too fast.

"Tom . . . Tom . . . it IS soup!"

A SQUARE DEAL

By BILLY DEAL

Since the beginning of time, man has always had something to say. No matter what the situation, he has always come through with a combination of words to express his feelings about the matter. And women come through with some pretty good combinations, too.

These quotes, though not always quotable, have been enshrined in or history books, and every high school kid in the country knows Benjamin Franklin discovered electricity because Mrs. Franklin told him to go fly a kite.

But many of these quotes, buried in the sands of time (how's that for a trite expression, Mr. Powell?), have been overlooked by our industrious history professors. And it is these words, dear hearts, that I want to pass on to you today. In the following lines of newspaper print, you will see some of the sayings that changed the course of history, but they have never before been brought to light. Only through hours of research in the darkest jungles of Africa, the misty tombs and pyramids of Egypt, ancient villages of the old world any my bottom dresser drawer was I able to uncover these words of wisdom.

And here they are . . .
The Pathfinder — "O. K. Where's the wise guy who stole the map?"
The Unknown Soldier — "My

name, Jose Jemanez."

Gen. Robert E. Lee of Jefferson Davis — "Jeez, boss, you can't win 'em all."

Admiral Fargut — "Damn the torpedoes! Let's get the ship outa here!"

Napoleon, answering the question of an energetic newspaper reporter — "Because it itches."

Socrates — "This sure is bitter. I thought I told you two lumps."

An unknown member of the Boston Tea Party — "What do you mean you forgot the sugar?"

Caryl Chessman, when asked how he felt about his conviction when he was first arrested — "I'm not sure. I'd like to have about 12 years to think it over."

Nero, at the burning of Rome — "Uh-one, uh-two, uh-three. Julius Caesar — "Oooh! That smarts!"

Custer's last command to his men — "Ignore them. Maybe they'll go away."

Sitting Bull's command to his Indians — "Ugh! Nour agne ons bernas fraWe wheeeeee!"

General Sherman in a message to the president (This one is especially for all the yankees in our school) — "Abe, baby, hows about letting me go through Alabama instead? I don't think I'm gonna like Georgia."

Summer Courses Are Offered In Foreign Countries To Americans

Four British and two Austrian summer schools are offering special six-week courses to American undergraduate and graduate students in July and August, 1961, it was announced by the Institute of International Education.

Under the British University Summer Schools program students can apply for study at one of four schools, each concentrating on a particular subject and period. At Stratford-upon-Avon the subject will be Elizabethan drama; at the University of London the course will be the study of English literature, art and music of the 17th and 18th centuries, using materials preserved in London's buildings, galleries and records; at Oxford the subject will be English history, literature and the arts from 1870 to the present. The theme of the Edinburgh School will be the political and economic history, philosophy and literature of Britain from 1559 to 1789. Although the courses are designed for graduate students, undergraduates in their last two years at a university will be considered.

Both Austrian summer schools include in their programs the opportunity to attend performances at Salzburg's famed music festival. The Salzburg Summer School stresses the German language and requires that all students enroll in a language course. Other courses — foreign policy, Austrian literature, European music and history of Austrian art — will be taught in English.

The University of Vienna, offering summer courses at its St. Wolfgang Campus near Salzburg, combines study with outdoor life at a mountain lake. Its aim is to enable English-speaking students to become acquainted with Austrian educational and social values. Courses being offered include German language, liberal arts,

New Chem Prof. Likes Pop Tests, Hunting, Fishing

By BOB COCHRAN, JR.

Since the arrival of Mr. Joe Wilber on the GSC faculty last quarter, pop tests and confusing factors have become the chemistry student's dilemma.

Mr. Wilber, ass. science professor was born in Jonesboro, Arkansas. He lived in Jonesboro only a short time however, because he and his family moved to Memphis, Tennessee. Memphis is where Mr. Wilber has lived most of his life.

After attending high school, he first went to the University of Tennessee. He then transferred to Memphis State. Mr. Wilber received his B. A. from Memphis State and a M. S. from Emory University.

Taught Jr. High
While living in Memphis, Wilber taught at a junior high school for four years. When he moved to Atlanta, he taught at Southwest High School for three years. While at Southwest High School, he became the chairman of the science department.

Two years ago Wilber received a National Science Foundation Scholarship. With this scholarship, he went to the University of Georgia where he obtained his Doctor of Education.

Two Hobbies

Wilber has two main hobbies. He likes to go hunting and fishing the year round and dislikes students who don't try or study. In his spare time he does research in chemistry. Now he is doing research on a new development in qualitative analysis. Qualitative analysis is the process of determining the elements or ingredients in any substance or composition.

While determining these substances most scientists use hydrogen sulfide. Wilber has worked out a way of not using hydrogen sulfide. He is going to teach qualitative analysis spring quarter using his new system.

He is now living in a new house back of the college campus with his wife.

law and political science, and physical education.

Applications for both the British and Austrian programs may be obtained from the Information and Counseling Division, Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th St., New York 21, New York, or from one of the Institute's regional offices. British summer school scholarship applications must be received before March 1, 1961, and admission applications before March 31. Scholarship applications for Austrian schools must be returned by March 1, and admission applications by May 1.

An Open Letter To The Junior Class

I'd like to call to the attention of those junior class members who are interested, (and to those who aren't), that the junior class met last Wednesday afternoon.

As a mere 11½ percent were there, and since I sincerely hope that more are interested in their class than that, another meeting is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, at 4:15 p.m. in McCroan Auditorium.

I personally feel that enough has been said about those who "lack school spirit." Maybe that's the very reason why there is none to be found—nobody expects it! But it's a cinch, its hard to hold a class meeting with twenty-eight members of the class present.

The Junior Class sponsors the Old South Ball, May 6, 1961, and if work is started early enough, the outcome will be much more effective.

The officers and those 28 present at the last meeting extend to you — the junior class — an invitation to meet with us Tuesday afternoon at 4:15 in McCroan auditorium to offer your suggestions, in hopes that this centennial year of the Civil War will be the best ever for the Old South Ball!

Embre Bolton

Students who expect to graduate in June or August of this year should make application for diploma and have their record checked by Miss Perry within the next few weeks.

Time Out with The Editor

Are you subject to Triskaidekaphobia? Don't feel alone because there are millions who are suffering from this disease. Some of its symptoms are: carrying lucky coins or trinkets on your body, walking around ladders, and knocking wood to prevent disaster.

By now you realize that my subject relates to today, Friday, the thirteenth. In our scientific world, many believe superstition and its adherents to be slightly idiotic. Though no one admits it, practically everyone has at least one pet superstition.

Just how this belief of Friday the thirteenth being unlucky originated is easy to understand.

Friday Calamities

The Bible is full of Friday calamities—the fall of Adam and Eve, the flood, the confusion of Babel and the death of Christ. To everyone during the Middle Ages, Friday was sometimes called "Hangingman's Day" because for some strange reason, most executions happened on Friday.

The number 13 is considered unlucky because there were 13 at the Last Supper of Jesus. Add the two together and any person who has a superstitious bone in their body reacts. Sir Winston Churchill refuses to travel on Friday the 13th and doesn't leave his home if possible. Few hotels have the No. 13 room or a thirteenth floor. In Paris, house numbers skip No. 13.

Superstition Baloney

You say you aren't superstitious and all that stuff is baloney? Do you cover your mouth when you yawn? This habit began when our forebears would let an evil spirit enter their bodies.

Still others believe that every time you sneeze a spirit leaves your body.

When your hand itches and you scratch it, that means you're going to receive some money. Likewise if the bubbles in a cup of coffee gather in the middle, you'll receive money. If your nose itches, it is believed that you will soon have company. Other beliefs are that bad luck will meet you if a black cat crosses your path or if you walk under a ladder.

Hold Up Feet

Girls, if you are riding in a car and cross over a railroad track, be sure and hold up your feet or you may never get married.

In Massachusetts the cow is believed to forecast the future and if she "moos" after midnight it is a warning that some member of the family will soon die. Another superstition about death is that if you are suddenly surprised by a cold shiver through your body someone is walking over your grave.

Perhaps show people are the most superstitious in the world. Or are their superstitions better called traditions? Nelson Eddy and Pat O'Brien carry four-leafed clovers in their pockets. Eddie Rockover used to carry a dried bat's heart. Will Rogers used to knock wood before he made a stage entrance and the great Al Jolson made it a point never to wear a new suit on opening night. William Shakespeare believed sleeping on a bed once 400 years old was good luck.

Old Mirror Tale

How the seven years penalty for breaking a mirror originated is unknown. But, the Romans thought they reflected images of their souls. To cast a stone in the water or break a mirror disturbed the reflection and disturbed the temporary dwelling place therefore leaving you without a soul.

Superstitions can't be avoided. By the way, triskaidekaphobia is tri-the Greek meaning three; Kai-means and deka is ten and phobia means fear. Think about that for awhile.

REGIONAL

By ROBERT C. ANDERSON
Southern Regional Education Board

John F. Kennedy takes office as President of the United States on January 20, 1961. His predecessor, President Eisenhower, could leave him no more fitting inaugural gift than one of the pictures which hangs on his White House office wall — the likeness of Robert E. Lee.

The President's office pictures came into the news last summer, when he mentioned publicly the fact that his collection included portraits of three great Americans: George Washington, Benjamin Franklin and Robert E. Lee. He was roundly criticized, from some quarters, for the latter choice.

Great American

"He was a great American," the President said, and added that America would do well to raise a new generation of young people with Lee's devotion to principle, his dignity in defeat, and his intelligence as a military leader.

Washington, Franklin and Lee had much in common. They helped to forge the United States of America on the anvil of travail and disaster. Each had a driving concern about the education of Americans — a concern which led them to sacrifice time and money to the service of education.

Robert E. Lee's birthday will be celebrated in America on the day before President-elect Kennedy takes office. He was born January 19, 1807.

Controversial Figure

In 1865 Robert E. Lee was a controversial figure, but he was one of the most sought after men in the nation. He had made a reputation as a leader of men and causes, and many people here and abroad were offering him financial comfort to help them with their causes.

He was offered $50,000 a year to go to New York to head a firm which was to promote trade with the South.

An insurance company offered him $25,000 a year to act as president. Another company offered $10,000 a year just to use his name. But he accepted the offer of Washington College in Lexington, Virginia, of $1,500 a year and a house to become its president.

Lee Inaugurated

On October 2, 1865, General Lee was inaugurated as president of the historic, but inoperative Virginia college, destroyed in the War Between the States and used in part for Northern headquarters. His first class included only 50 students, a number which grew to more than 100 before the end of the first year.

His personal efforts won financial and civic support for Washington and Lee University) and for other schools and colleges in the South. It was Robert E. Lee who convinced the Northern philanthropist George Peabody that he could best serve the South by supporting its education. The result was Peabody's endowment of the teachers' college in Nashville which now bears his name.

Washington College

Washington College was named for George Washington, whose personal efforts had established it as a seminary in Virginia called the Liberty Hall Academy.

For many years Washington had been agitating politically and personally for a national university to be established in the Federal City. His efforts met with failure.

"It has always been a source of serious reflection and sincere regret with me that the youth of the United States should be sent to foreign countries for the purpose of education . . . We ought to deprecate the hazardous attending ardent and susceptible minds from being too strongly and too early prepossessed in favor of other political

By ROBERT SCHOFIELD and ROBBIE POWELL

Where are the girls? How many times have you heard some one come up with this question? I'm sure that you have heard it many, many times; either when someone was joking or maybe when they were serious. Here at Georgia Southern there is one man that is always asking this question. That man is Mr. Jess White, director of the intramural program.

Mr. White stated that since they have added four new teams to the intramural program they have had trouble filling the squads. The reason for the addition of the extra teams is the expansion of GSC.

Everyone that is interested in the intramural competition should contact his team captain. If you are unsure about who your team captain is, you can check the placement lists that have been posted in the gyms. The placement for all new students has been added to the old copy of the team listings. It was pointed out that every one was placed on a team, and that every one was expected to participate when it is possible.

The intramural program lined up for the girls this winter quarter includes basketball, badminton, co-recreational shuffleboard, free throw basketball tournament, paddle tennis, and bowling. Bowling is being offered for the first time this quarter. The activities for the boys is same as the girls except that handball is substituted for paddle tennis.

Although we have only mentioned the girls, we would like to add that the boys should also see their team captains and find out about the schedule that has been arranged for them.

We feel that the fine job that is being done by Mr. White and his staff deserves the support of the entire student body. Let's all go out and support our intramural teams.

The game that will be played here Saturday night has been called by the Atlanta Journal "the game that will decide the small college championship of Georgia." Georgia Southern meets Oglethorpe for this all important game at 8:15 p.m.

Coach Searce returned from Florida a very well pleased man after the Eagles had defeated Tampa and Rollins. Coach Searce stated that he thought the team was at last ready to play basketball. He said that team effort in the games at Florida was a pointer that the rest of the season would be successful. According to the Coach Searce, Connie Lewis, who hit for 29 and 17 points in the games, did some of the best defensive rebounding that Searce has seen. Also singled out for excellent play was 6-8 center Jim Long. "Although he played only about 15 minutes of the Tampa game," says Searce, "he furnished the spark."

We would like to urge every one to come out to this game and to also come to the freshman game that will be played at 6:15 p.m. Saturday night. The freshmen team will face the boys from Southern Tech.

Eagles Seek Win Against Petrels

The Georgia Southern Eagles will meet the phenomenal Petrels of Oglethorpe University in a much anticipated game here Saturday night, January 14, at 8 p.m.

The Eagles, led by leading scorer, J. E. Rowe, a 6-2 senior from Jacksonville, Florida, with a stack-up of 256 total points for the season, will be out to avenge a 60-48 loss handed them by the Petrels on December 5. Following close behind Rowe with a season total of 250 points is Southern's 6-4 Tracy Rivers, a senior forward from Omega, Georgia.

Oglethorpe's Petrels, led by leading scorer, Morris Mitchell, 6-6 sharp-shooting whiz from Atlanta, will be bent on maintaining their fabulous record of 9 wins and no losses for the season.

The game will be a battle between the small colleges in the state with Oglethorpe holding the upper hand on a perfect record thus far.

Oglethorpe holds the coveted title of N.A.I.A. Defensive Leaders for the past two years.

With a last year's record of 21 wins against 5 losses, Oglethorpe has stepped into the nation's basketball spotlight and apparently intends to stay there

Ga. Southern Gymnastics Team Defeated In First Meet By Citadel

The Georgia Southern Gymnastics team suffered defeat in the first competition of its career at the hands of a strong, experienced Citadel team at Charleston, South Carolina Saturday.

The Citadel in its third year of gymnastics scored 59 while Southern, only ten weeks old, scored 36.

Citadel took first place in the following events: rope climb, free exercise, trampoline, still rings and parallel bars. Each first place was worth six points while second rates four points, third place three points; fourth place, two points; fifth place, one point and sixth place is worth no points.

Georgia Southern took only one first place during the entire meet. D. C. Tunison, Adel, placed first in the side horse and second in free exercise.

The captain of the team, Robert Smith, Savannah, was the only other member of the Southern squad to take above a third place win with his second place rating on the parallel bars.

Coach Pat Yeager was well pleased with the performance of the team although it did go down in defeat. After the competition Yeager stated that the team was looking forward to meeting Citadel and the University of Georgia at Athens in February.

See the box below for the scoring at the competition.

if this year's record is any indication. But one favorable factor stands out for the Eagles on this up-coming game Saturday night. Georgia Southern handed Oglethorpe its last defeat by a score of 86-68, giving Georgia Southern third place in the District 25 Tournament last year.

Georgia Southern will go into the game with an even 7 wins and 7 losses. The Eagles have won 4 out of the 5 last games, with three recent victories over Florida teams.

Having just returned from a successful road trip where they stacked up two wins with a score of 91-83 over the University of Tampa and 101-63 against Rollins, the Eagles will be fighting for the third straight victory Saturday night to break that 7-7 record in their favor.

The George-Anne is initiating a new weekly feature beginning with this issue. A weekly club column will be printed regularly using news items from the various clubs on the GSC campus.

News items should be put in the box on the George-Anne office door in the student center. All of these news items should be typewritten and should be of general interest to the whole student body.

Jim Usry, a senior from Gibson, was unanimously elected to fill the office of President of the English Club at the January 5 meeting. The office was previously held by Stacy Wells, who submitted his resignation at this meeting.

Oscar Joiner, area representative of the State Department Education, will direct a district meeting on Tuesday, January 17, for librarians, principals, superintendents, and supervisors. The meeting will be held in the Herty Building.

The region 2A debates will be held on the GSC campus January 13, 16, and 17, under the direction of Dr. Fielding D. Russell.

Student NEA will hold a meeting next Tuesday night at 7:15 p.m. in the Williams Center.

Eagles' Record Increased With Two Wins Added

WINTER PARK, Fla.—Georgia Southern College's Eagles went on a scoring rampage here Tuesday night to wallop Rollins, 101-63 for their third win in a row.

The victory also carried the Eagles' record to 7-7 for the season.

All five of the Southern starters hit in double figures with J. E. Rowe and Tracy Rivers topping the pack with 20 apiece.

Dick Bishop's 19 led Rollins, followed by Bob Griffin with 16 and Claude Crook with 14.

The win was the second in as many days for the Eagles, who Monday night turned on the steam early and then outlasted Tampa, 91-83.

Against Rollins, the Statesboro, Ga., crew had a fantastic shooting streak from the floor, connecting on 63 per cent of the shot for the game. They had ever 70 per cent in the first half.

Off to a slow start, Southern had but a four-point lead with 10 minutes left in the half. Then the Eagles pushed it to nine with one minutes to go. From there, the visitors made three swift baskets, including a 45-footer by Rowe as the gong went off for intermission.

When Connie Lewis hit to start the second half, the Eagles were on their way to building up a lead that at one time was as high as 45 points. Reserves played a lot of the last 10 minutes.

GARFCW Hold Conference Here Today and Tomorrow

Approximately 50 members of the Georgia Athletic and Recreation Federation of College Women are meeting on the Georgia Southern campus for their annual conference today and tomorrow.

Guest speakers for the conference include: Mr. Harry A. Kenning, state service representative of the National Red Cross Water Safety Division, and Mr. Max Lockwood, Statesboro Recreation Director.

The conference registration will be held from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. in the Williams Center on Friday. The opening meeting will be presided over by Lane Hartley, president and a student from GSC at 7 p.m. in the Hanner Building. At this time Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of GSC, Mrs. Carolyn Gettys, dean of women at GSC, and Mrs. Helen Brogdon, faculty advisor, will welcome the group.

CALLING ALL BASEBALL PLAYERS

All Interested Baseball Players Report to the W. S. Hanner Gym at 4:00 P. M., Monday, January 16.

Tumbling Demonstration

A tumbling demonstration by the women from GSCW and a tennis demonstration by the University of Georgia women will be presented Friday at 9 p.m.

Discussion groups will meet Saturday from 10:30 a.m. to 12 noon in the Williams Center to discuss such topics as Women Athletic Association Problems, Playday Calendar Extramural Program for College Women and How to Organize and Direct Volunteer Programs.

The GSC gymnastics team featuring Doris Fuchs 1960 Olympics gymnast will give a demonstration at 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. on Saturday.

Officers Given

Officers of the GARFCW and their colleges are: Lane Hartley, president, GSC; Glenda Eskew, corresponding secretary, GSC; Bambi Robb, recording secretary, Shorter College; Myrtice Carpenter, board member, GSCW; Mary Jo Porch, board member, Wesleyan and Mrs. Helen Brogdon, faculty advisor, GSC.

The GARFCW is made up of all women who are students in Georgia colleges majoring in any field. The purposes of the organization are: to integrate the interests, standards and values in sports and related activities; to be a source of research, service and information; and to create fellowship among the colleges.

Bowling Added To IM Schedule; Positions Open

Intramural bowling will be added to the intramural program here at Georgia Southern according to Mr. Jess White, director of the intramural program.

Arrangements have been made with the local bowling establishment, the Skate-R-Bowl, to have intramural bowling competition there in the afternoons from 4 p.m. until 5:30 p.m.

The teams will need at least four members each time they bowl and there will be one team game per week. Three lines can be bowled in the allotted time, and there will be a charge of $1.00. Bowling shoes will be furnished by the Skate-R-Bowl.

Mr. White pointed out that special care will be taken so that the bowling games will not conflict with the intramural basketball schedule.

The deadline for the bowling teams was Monday, January 9; however, any one that is interested should contact their intramural captain or see Mr. White in the intramural office.

Forty-four business students playing the stock markets last quarter, made imaginary gains of up to $2,682.10 and losses as much as $16,000, according to Dr. S. L. Toumey of the business division.

Dr. Toumey said that the imaginary buying and selling of stocks is a regular part of his course, and familiarizes the student with the fundamentals of the national stock exchange.

Each student was allowed to make investments of up to $20,000. They began buying stocks on Oct. 1, and had to sell out by Nov. 30. Dr. Toumey said that 20 students gained from the venture while 22 suffered losses.

Allen Hagin, who led the class in profits with $2,682.10, made most of his gains through investments in the Kerr-McGee Corporation. Royce Childs had the greatest loss of $16,000, but it was pointed out that his investments were in rights and not stocks.

Of the forty-four class members, two acted as brokers, each gaining a commission on sales. Eleanor Akridge made $12,000 and Chuck Hutchinson made $8,000.

Dr. Toumey said that he plans to continue this method of practical student training.

Alaska, theatrical apprenticeships in summer play houses, conducting tours to Europe, summer newspaper fellowships for journalism teachers, internships in social agencies and hospitals, on-the-spot studies of business firms by college professors, secretarial work at the United Nations, church caravans, trainees on a cruise ship, and a concert tour to Europe for singers with the All-American Chorus.

This year's Directory offers many special student training programs or openings of a permanent nature in hundreds of firms such as Eli-Lilly Co., Vick Chemical Co., Litton Systems, Kroger Co., Addressograph-Multigraph Corp., Ingersollrand, Hughes Aircraft, Cincinnati Gas and Electric Co., Aerojet-General Corp., Singer Sewing Machine Co., etc.

Study projects camp positions, jobs and apprenticeships with summer play houses and music theatres, and work at inns, resorts, restaurants, hotels, motels, lodges, and dude ranches are some of the other varied offers made to students and educators. Many branches of the U. S. Government in Washington and throughout the country have also requested their openings to be included.

Openings Submitted
All openings have been submitted directly to the Institute and include job descriptions, dates of employment, necessary qualifications, number of openings, salaries, and the names and the addresses of the employers. Helpful information is given on how to apply for positions and each Directory contains a sample resume to assist applicants.

The Summer Placement Directory can be obtained for $3.00 directly from The Advancement and Placement Institute, Box 99P, Station G, Brooklyn, 22, N. Y. A new companion booklet called 99 ways for teen-agers to earn money during the summer, is now also available for 50 cents.

WAC Officer

To Visit GSC

On January 18

First Lieutenant Ruth M. Albright, Womens' Army Corps Career Guidance Counselor, will discuss the Career opportunities for College Women in the Army at a meeting of the Physical Education Major's Club, Wednesday evening, January 18, 1961 at 7 p.m. Not only physical education majors but all interested women are invited to attend.

Women between the ages of 20 and 33 who are college graduates may obtain a direct commission as an officer in the Womens' Army Corps (WAC). All applicants must meet high mental, physical, and character qualifications. The application for commission may be submitted before graduation. There are no specific course requirements for the Direct Commission Program.

The Army Medical Specialists offers several programs of a specialized nature. Under one of these programs, qualified women whose college course work includes specific science courses, can sign up for two years including twelve months physical therapy course recognized by the American Medical Association.

Lt. Albright says that many qualified women who would enjoy an executive career in the WAC, fail to consider this career because they are unfamiliar with it and do not realize the opportunity is available. College juniors may "sample" service life BEFORE they apply for a commission by participating in the College Junior Program.

The Women's Army Corps College Junior Program is a four week orientation period for women who will become eligible to apply for a direct commission the following year. It is held at the WAC Center at Fort McClellan, Alabama during August each year. Participants will be enlisted in the WAC Reserve in grade of Corporal and called to active duty for the above mentioned period. If upon graduation, they decide not to apply for a commission, or if their application is not approved, they will be discharged from the Reserve with no further service obligation.

systems before they are capable of appreciating their own."

Officers Endowment
Instead, President Washington offered an endowment of 100 shares of James River Company stock, and 50 shares of Potomac River stock for establishment of a seminary in Virginia. The gift was approved by the Virginia General Assembly and on December 19, 1795, Washington was asked to choose a spot in up-country Virginia for his academy.

Some 50 years earlier, Benjamin Franklin had taken up the fight for American higher education in Pennsylvania.

Writing from Philadelphia shortly after settling there, Franklin said, "Two things I regret and one of these is there being no provision . . . for the complete education of youth . . . I therefore in 1743 drew up a proposal for establishing an academy."

Academy Founded
The Philadelphia Academy was established about 1750, but later dropped founder Franklin in a controversy over practical English education or the classic education of European schools. After the Revolution, Franklin returned to America and was welcomed to the Academy, now the University of Pennsylvania, and was made president of the trustees.

Still another college, Franklin and Marshall College, benefited from Franklin's interest in education. Though aging and ill, Franklin served on the executive council of the school and contributed 200 pounds to the college begun in 1787, twice as much as any other of the original subscribers gave.

Over a period of more than 100 years these three Americans worked to lay the cornerstone of a new democracy . . . an educated public aware and able to govern themselves for the benefit of the majority.

Overseas Teaching Positions Are Available To American Educators

The Advancement and Placement Institute, urges all American educators who are able to do so to take advantage of the many opportunities to teach in foreign lands both for the contributions they can make in interpreting our country abroad and for the enriching experiences in international understanding they can bring to our students in this country upon their return to the schools of the United States.

The Institute, a non-commercial professional information and advisory service for the field of education, has been publicizing foreign education positions in its monthly non-fee placement journal, CRUSADE FOR EDUCATION, since 1952. Last year the Institute assisted administrators in hundreds of overseas schools in more than 65 countries in Europe, the Near and Far East, Africa and South America, to recruit American educators for positions at all levels from kindergarten through university.

Opportunities
While every issue of CRUSADE includes many overseas opportunities, the annual International Issue is especially devoted to foreign positions in order to give educators ample time to complete application procedure for September, 1961 positions. This International Issue includes specific data, including qualifications and salaries, about actual teaching, administrative, librarian, research, and science positions in many schools in many lands. Among those included will be private schools in Australia, Canada, England, Iraq, Peru, Costa Rica and Switzerland; American-type schools in Austria, Brazil, Columbia, Ecuador, Guatemala, Mexico, Puerto Rico, and Venezuela; universities in England, Hong Kong, Greece and Mexico; language schools in Spain and Finland; church-related schools and colleges in Africa, Hong Kong, Jamaica, and Jordan; public schools in Australia, Canada, Turkey and England; high schools in Jamaica; and U. S. Government Overseas Depend-ent Schools, etc.

Expenses Paid
Many of these positions pay travel expenses and, in most cases, the language of instruction is English. This issue features an article on teaching and living in England and an article describing the experiences of a teacher who has lived and taught in the Government Depend-ent Schools in Okinawa, the Philippines, Cuba and the Azores.

The International Issue may be examined at most Deans' Offices, University and Public Libraries, and School Superintendents' Offices or may be ordered from The Advancement and Placement Institute, Box 99-M, Station G, Brooklyn 22, N. Y. for $2.00.

Now is the best time to begin application procedure for foreign education positions. Many educators wait until it is too late to investigate the opportunities available to them overseas. As a result, they often have to wait an entire extra year in order to be accepted for a foreign assignment.

George-Anne Covers World News Front

By HELEN NOWECK

The official 1960 presidential election results have finally come in. Vice President Nixon announced these results at a joint session of House and Senate on January 6.

Nixon said, "This is the first time in 100 years that a candidate for the presidency announced the result of an election in which he was defeated. In our campaigns, no matter how close the election may turn out to be, those who lose accept the verdict, and support those who win." The vice president said further that he extended "best wishes to Mr. Kennedy and to all who work in the cause that is bigger than any man's ambition . . . freedom, justice, and peace for all mankind. In that spirit . . . I now declare that John F. Kennedy has been elected president."

When the United States officially pulled out of Cuba last week, the Central American countries applauded the move, but all eyes are looking apprehensively at the American Naval Base which was left fully manned at the tip of Cuba.

The question is now, will Russia back up Cuba in asking that the base also be removed, and thus almost insure the outbreak of a Third World War; or will the Soviet Union disregard this "action" on our part? Only time will tell.

A former high official of the Castro regime, Dr. Justo Carrillo Hernandez, said in an interview in Miami recently, " . . . to me, this revolution (against Castro) is the most important revolution of them all. That is because, by overthrowing Fidel Castro, Cuba and the Cuban people will have the honor of being the first in the world to destroy a Communist regime since the Soviets consolidated their power inside Russia."
