Taylor Selected By Nat'l Board As Recipient Of Grad. Fellowship

Sandra Taylor, a last quarter senior from Arlington, Georgia, was recently selected to receive the National Science Foundation Graduate Fellowship.

The National Science Foundation awards scholarships and graduate fellowships in the mathematical, physical, medical, biological, engineering, and other sciences to especially able individuals for the improvement of their personal competence in these areas. The students who are chosen to receive these fellowships are selected by the 24-member National Science Board in Washington, D. C., who review the many application forms of each of the students and select those most worthy.

Only three students from Georgia schools were selected to receive this fellowship. Nine Georgians attending out-of-state schools were also selected.

Sandra, who plans to do her graduate work at the University of North Carolina, is undecided as to whether she will accept the National Science Fellowship or a Graduate Assistantship at the University of North Carolina which she has also been offered. She will have until April 15 to make her decision.

After being selected to receive the graduate fellowship, Sandra received a telegram of congratulations from Herman Talmadge.

"Operation Tilt"

THE TIME consumed in filling and emptying the pool in recent years has been extensive. Plans were recently released concerning the new method by which the filling time of the pool will be cut down from hours to approximately three minutes. The George-Anne is privileged to release the picture of this new operation taken when it was tried during Spring holidays. Two very respected gentlemen in the industries of water and power, W. E. Fillet and Retired Admiral C. Level, are in charge of this innovation.

Total Of 1289 Enrolled For Spring Quarter

Spring quarter registration figures at Georgia Southern College show a total of 1193 undergraduates enrolled and 96 in the graduate school for a total of 1289. The last day for registration is Tuesday, March 28.

Broken down by classes the enrollment figures show a total of 320 freshmen with 148 men and 172 women. The sophomore class has 226 registered with 116 men and 110.

The junior class is the largest with 326 - 160 men and 166 women. There are 321 in the senior class with 170 men and 151 women.

The 96 members of the graduate school has 27 men and 69 women.

Georgia Southern will hold claim to another first this spring when a new improved method of filling the swimming pool will be used. The huge water tank which stands beside the pool will be tilted to simply dump water into the pool.

Formerly, the water had to be pumped into the pool through the water pumping system. All water used on the campus is furnished in this way. The new method for the filling of the pool will alleviate the over burden on the pumping facilities due to the many new buildings now on campus.

W. E. Fillet, chief engineer of the Southeast Waterworks Commission of Georgia, who is also consultant for this job, recommended this plan after a careful study of the campus water supply and the total gallon output per day which is increasing because of additional buildings.

Fillet reported to the George-Anne this week that the feasibility of this plan will be watched by experts throughout the country. It has been previously tested but never used.

If the system is successful here, it will be featured in "American Waterworker," a national trade magazine for the water and power industry.

Rear Admiral C. Level, retired, former director of the U. S. Naval Corps of Engineers, will assist Fillet in tilting the tank. Machinery and underground power lines have already been installed for the operation. It will require 80 horsepower to raise the 200 foot monster off the ground to a 30 degree angle. Level and Fillet added that at this angle enough water can be dumped in less than three minutes to completely fill the pool.

"Operation Tilt" as the project will be called, first will be tried sometime around the 15th of April. After that and throughout the period in which the pool will be in use the huge tank will be tilted every Monday, Wednesday, and Saturday at 3:15 a.m.

Invitations have been extended to Governor Ernest Vandiver, Senator Richard B. Russell, Mayor W. A. Bowen of Statesboro and several other area dignitaries for the initial tilt.

Not only will the filling operation be expedited by the innovation but in addition drain pipes have been installed to decrease the time required to required to release water from the pool.

Mr. Fillet and Admiral Level will be on campus tomorrow, April 1, for further study and consultation.

$33,000 Total Received Here For Scholarships

A requisition for $10,300.63 has been recently completed by the director of the Georgia State Teachers Scholarship Program for students at Georgia Southern College during the spring quarter.

When these funds are received it will bring the total to more than $33,000 received from this fund in scholarships for GSC students during the 1960-61 school year.

The money represents teacher scholarship funds for 43 Georgia Southern students participating in the plan during the winter quarter.

The Teacher Scholarship Plan, administered at Georgia Southern College by Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students, was initiated by the State Department of Education to encourage worthy and needy students to enter the teaching profession.

To be eligible for the scholarship, high school seniors must be citizens of Georgia and be within the upper 20 per cent of their class. Students already in college and interested in teaching must have an overall "B" average. The "B" average must be maintained by all students receiving the scholarship.

$9,173.04 Spent In February On Unnoticed Items

By ANGELA BULAT

You spent $9173.04 last month on just two items. Would you want to dispute this claim or can you agree? What is it all about?

No, you didn't spend that much on parties, dates, or dances. In fact it took 800 of us to do it. Are you still wondering what you used these hundreds of dollars for? It was for two which you probably never thought about or realized. These two items are so much a part of your daily living that they are often taken for granted and therefore misused.

One of these items was a gas bill for $6,806.76. Gas bills vary according to weather, seasons and vacations. During warm seasons and when the dormitories are closed, the amount of the bill will drop.

There is one bill that varies slightly throughout the year. What bill is that? You guessed it - the electric light bill. Lights are being burned during day and night. No matter what season of the year is upon us or how many people are present at Georgia Southern College, lights are continually burning. This amounts to $2,366.28 per month.

Now you know how you spent that $10,000.

Religious Emphasis Week To Get Underway Monday

Three special speakers are to be featured during Religious Emphasis Week to be held on the campus April 3, 4, and 5. The theme being "Religion in Everyday Living," the speakers will focus their speech topics in three different areas: religion in vocation, home, and recreation.

Each speaker will give his speech during the Twilight Service at 6:11 p.m. in the auditorium.

Beginning Monday April 3, Rev. John Livingston, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Statesboro, will speak on religion in vocation. A member of Westminster Fellowship will introduce him. On Tuesday, Rev. Gene Carrier, pastor of the First Methodist Church, will speaking on religion in the home. He will be introduced by Betty Carter, president of Wesley Foundation. Bishop Albert Stewart of Savannah, will give the final talk on Wednesday on religion in recreation. The Bishop will be introduced by Claude Astin, president of the Canterbury Club.

The members of the faculty committee who are responsible for planning Religious Emphasis Week are Dr. Samuel T. Habel, Mrs. Marjorie Guardia, and Dr. George E. Stopp.

Brief vesper services will be held in the dormitories during Religious Emphasis Week at 10 p.m. each evening. These services are to be conducted by students. Those in charge of the dormitory services are: June Brantley, Anderson Hall; Marcus Thompson, Sanford Hall; and Alpha Phi Omega, Cone Hall.

Local Rotarians Elect Dr. Averitt President For '61

The club is 24 years old. Organized and sponsored by the Savannah Rotary in 1937, it presently has 93 members.

Averitt graduated from Statesboro High School, received his bachelor of science degree from Georgia Southern College, master of arts degree from the University of Georgia.

Three Southern Coeds Injured In 4-car Wreck

Three Georgia Southern coeds were hospitalized Saturday following a four-car collision on U. S. 80 about five miles east of Statesboro. Two Brooklet Negroes were also admitted to the hospital following the accident.

The coeds, Miss Janet Lodesky, 1114 Oakland Drive, S. W. Atlanta, Juanda Newbern, 3312 Reynolds Street, Brunswick; and Carolyn Mobley, Route 1, Whigham, were all injured seriously.

Miss Lodesky has been transferred from Bulloch County Hospital to the Georgia Baptist Hospital in Atlanta and Miss Newbern is now in City Hospital in Brunswick. Miss Mobley is still confined to the Bulloch County Hospital.

The Brooklet Negroes are Mandell Rockwell Rogers, driver of one of the cars involved, and a passenger in the car, Eugene Rawls. They were admitted to the hospital with less serious injuries.

Bulloch County Policemen Durwood Kennedy and Richard Tucker, who investigated the 8:45 a.m. wreck, said the multiple collision resulted when Rogers, in a 1954 Pontiac, had passed a car and was trying to pass a truck. His car, going west, struck the car driven by Miss Lodesky headon.

That collision caused the car he had just passed to strike Roger's car. The third car, involved was driven by Roosevelt Johnson, Negro, of Brooklet. Johnson was not injured.

Then Johnson's car spun into a truck driven by Rodney Harville of Statesboro. Harville was not injured.

Sister Who Teaches Is Taught At GSC

By MARIE EUBANKS

"Everyone is so kind and helpful." With eyes shining, Sister Mary Jane enthusiastically endorsed the faculty and students of GSC. Sister Mary Jane is a new student to the campus this quarter and she appreciates older students revealing to her such mysteries as the whereabouts of the Book Store. She feels that we have a beautiful campus, especially the new Caruth Building where the art classes are now located.

Sister Mary Jane, a member of the Glenmary Order of Missionary Sisters, is enrolled this quarter in Miss Gernant's Textile Design class. How she came to be there is an interesting story.

Sister Mary Jane grew up in Marshfield, Wisconsin, a town about the size of Statesboro, as the youngest of ten brothers and sisters. She entered the religious life at seventeen. It was while she was at the Glenmary Mother House in Cincinnati, Ohio, that she first discovered her aptitude for art.

Learns Of Grits, Greens
Then Sister Mary Jane left Cincinnati for a convent in the mountains of North Carolina. There she was initiated into realms of grits, greens, and cornbread - typical Southern fare. It was also in the mountains that Sister Mary Jane learned to drive. She now does a great deal of driving in her work, including driving to and from school.

She came to Statesboro recently with Sister Magadalen, who is in charge of the mission work, to establish a convent. The Glenmary Sisters do social work, home nursing, and religious teaching. The teaching of religion is Sister Mary Jane's greatest work for she feels it is the greatest message to be shared.

This summer Saint Matthews Church is planning to sponsor a Vacation Bible Study Camp. The camp will have five divisions, including one in art. In her Textile Design class Sister Mary Jane is learning to make wall hanging, table mats, and other decorations. Later she will adapt these to a religious theme for her summer classes. The purpose of the art is to deepen the religious message learned in the lessons.

Enjoys Art Courses
The Glenmary Sisters, primarily a missionary order, and relatively new do not yet maintain their own schools and colleges, therefore it is not unusual for a Sister to attend a secular academy. Also they like to make use of the benefits found in a locality.

Sister Mary Jane says that she would enjoy talking more art courses at GSC but she does not know if this will be possible. She feels certain, however, that other Sisters may attend the college in the future. She will always remember the kindness that has been shown her here and adds that if anyone is curious about her or her work she will be happy to talk to them.

Three Are Injured

THREE GEORGIA SOUTHERN women were injured last Saturday when their car (pictured above) was struck headon in an accident involving three automobiles and a truck. Janet Lodesky, Atlanta; Juanda Newbern, Brunswick; and Carolyn Mobley, Whigham; were hospitalized as results of this collision.

Sister Endorses GSC

SISTER MARY JANE, newly enrolled student here, is taking directions from Miss Frieda Gernant in the Textile Design class. Sister Mary Jane came to Statesboro recently with Sister Magadalen to establish a convent. Sister Mary Jane teaches religion at Saint Matthews Church and plans to use her art when teaching at a Vacation Bible Study camp.

Survey Reveals How Southern Families Finance College Years

Higher education has become a cost item of great importance to the Southern family planning to send a son or daughter to college.

The average annual bill for an unmarried college student in the United States today is $1,550, the Southern Regional Education Board has reported in its publication, "Financing Higher Education." That figure, taken from a nationwide survey completed by the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan, is a conservative figure which does not include such items as clothing and radios or other extras. The publication is eighth in a series concerned with the financing of universities and colleges in the South.

Costs Told
To pay this bill, the Southern family must spend 16 cents out of every dollar of family income at a public college. If the student attends a private institution, it will take 24 cents of every dollar of family income—and this figure is for basic expenses for tuition, room and board alone, the SREB reports.

For several years the U. S. Office of Education has surveyed the country to determine trends in "hard core costs"—tuition, room and board. They found that while Southern costs are below the national average, so is income, and the gap between average income in the South and in the nation is even greater. As a result, higher education means a greater sacrifice to the average Southern family than to the average family in the nation, the Board said.

This is illustrated by a comparison of costs at a public institution in the Southeast and in the United States. Average tuition at a public institution in the South is $179, while it is $168 in the rest of the United States. Cost of board in a Southern school is $320, and in other parts of the nation it is $374. Room expenses average $130 in the South and $168 in the nation.

These figures amount to a total cost of $710 in schools outside of the South and $629 in schools of the South.

Incomes Revealed
The average family income for the U. S. is $5,417 and in the South it is $3,911. Hence college costs represent 13.1 per cent of the family income in the United States and 16.1 per cent in the Southern states, the publication said.

Though the Southern family pays more of its budget for a child's education, a look at the state budgets of the South shows that the Southern state spends less of its budget for higher education than the average, SREB stated. Moreover, since 1940 higher education as a per cent of state budgets has dropped in the South while it increased in the nation.

There are four major sources of funds with which a student pays for his college education, the SREB reported. The largest contribution is usually that of the students' parents. Students contributed part from their own earnings in part-time work. Scholarship aid contributes some and other general sources contribute a small part.

Income Level Vital
Family income level is a vital determinant of who goes to college. Thirty-nine per cent of parents earning less than $3,000 expect their children to go to college, while 95 per cent of parents earning $10 thousand and over expect to see their offspring in college, the SREB reported.

In both cases, fewer children go than are expected to—only

A SQUARE DEAL

By BILLY DEAL

They said it couldn't be done. They even said it twice, but they inevitably finally came. They said nothing could ever replace paper-ball as the nation's No. 1 sport. They said nothing would ever gain as much publicity as the weekly GSC mat dances or History 305.

The War Between the States was the top historical event on record, but college students for years to come will be learning about a far more popular event.

And the campus of Georgia Southern College has been chosen as the site of this occurrence that will take its position as the most important happening of the last 15 centuries.

And now, dear hearts, it is my privilege to announce this affair of utmost interest and importance, believed to be the first of its kind in the world—The First Annual Georgia Southern College Cone Hall Top Side Rook Tournament.

That's it, friends. The competition has already started, and we won't be able to announce the winners until next week. Weekly newspaper, you know.

But in the opinion of eight people on the second floor of Cone Hall, this tournament will see card-playing skill to be envied by the Maverick Brothers. Eight teams (two players each) are entered in the tourney, and each team boasts some of the top Rook players on campus. As a matter of fact, one team has the BEST two players in the NAIA, but modestly prevents me from disclosing their identities.

Several of the sixteen players are suffering from a common disease called the D. A., but with a little practice and lots of sleep and green vegetables, they may be ready for action on time. Two who fit in this category are Emily and her bunkie. The others are pretty nice guys—with a few glaring exceptions. One never wears ties, hates sports-writers and has a bad habit of spitting when he shouldn't. Another has a bad habit of bidding 165 before he looks at his cards.

Another can't distinguish between spades and clubs. Another has to be in bed at 7:30 p.m. Another has a habit of saying things twice. Seven participants don't know how to play the game yet, but that's no problem. All seven have purchased a copy of Marvin Moseley's best-seller, "How To Play Rook With Your Eyes Closed."

All in all, the tourney is shaping up as one of the closest-matched meets held since the game began.

A few novices at the game—such as Ray Carpenter, Clyde Miller, Jimmy McCane, Tony Branch, Mr. Wizard, Charlie Walker, Stanley Ertzberger and Clay Coleman—may cause a little trouble for the better players, but nothing serious should come of it.

Anyway, by this time next week, the school will know who the Rook champions of 1961 are. A tip for the players—there is a rumor that Charles Rookey, a scout for the Hiawasee Hi-Bidders will be looking over the talent.

Hang loose, fellows.

Time Out with The Editor

New fads hit the college campuses daily. Exciting events occur and newspapers and magazines cover the stir with words and pictures. Thousands of pamphlets are printed each day about all kinds of topics. And PEOPLE TALK!

Yet, almost nothing has caused as much discussion as the Peace Corps idea of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy.

"Ask not what your country can do for you—ask what you can do for your country" Kennedy suggested that young Americans be selected to go to newly developed areas of the world and work; work, teach, build, and live in these different communities.

Sargent Shriver, brother-in-law to the President, was appointed as the director of the Peace Corps planning. Though this idea was only released to the American public recently, much study was carried on to decide if there was a need for this type of organization.

Research was conducted by persons from the University of Michigan, M. I. T., the Institute of International Education, the National Student Association, Colorado State University and the International Cooperation administration and the White House. All of these reported favorable conditions exist for the formation of the Peace Corps.

Idea Not New

This is not exactly a completely new idea. Many young Americans under private sponsorship, are already doing the work that the Peace Corpsmen will perform.

The need of newly developed nations for skilled manpower in many critical positions is manifest. The people of these newly developing areas cannot possibly fill the openings for workers and if these positions are not filled, then the programs of development will cease.

Our Peace Corpsmen will be to provide skilled manpower to fight malaria and work in other health projects, to work in agricultural projects and rural development programs, to work on large scale construction and industrial projects and to work in government administration.

The Peace Corps program will at first be an experiment and different methods of operation will be tried. Its purpose will be to reinforce existing private and public programs of assistance and development as well as initiate new programs.

Present plans call for it to provide skilled manpower to developing nations through the following five channels: through grants to Peace Corps-type programs carried out by private agencies; through arrangements with colleges, universities, or other educational institutions; through programs of other U. S. Government agencies; through programs of the UN and other international agencies; and through directly administered Peace Corps programs with host countries.

Who will be the Peace Corps members? Most of the volunteers will probably be young college graduates, but there should be no rigid age limit. Young or older workers with skills needed abroad but without college degrees will carry out some important projects.

General Process

The Peace Corps staff will set up and maintain a general recruitment and selection process, which can build up a pool of applicants and serve as a central placement center for volunteers for world development.

Widespread competition for Peace Corps positions with very careful screening will be essential if people with the best chance of success are sent abroad.

The usual length of service should probably be two years, with perhaps three year terms in some cases. Much discussion or perhaps a disadvantage brought out about this factor is that being a member of the Peace Corps does not excuse a man from the draft. However, service in the Corps will prob-

Laos

The Soviet press has remained discreetly silent about events in Laos. There has been no public effort of any kind to present a "crisis" atmosphere, as far as the Soviet people are concerned. This quiet handling leaves the Russian government free to move in any direction it chooses, without giving its citizens an impression it has changed its previous position.

There was no mention anywhere in the press or radio in Moscow about Kennedy's talks with British Prime Minister MacMillan in Florida last Sunday. Nor has the essence of Kennedy's news conference statement outlining the seriousness with which the President views the situation in Laos been published in Russia.

Cuba: Last Chance for Freedom?

In Miami and other bases outside Cuba, preparations are now in the final stages for a war to overthrow Fidel Castro. An anti-Castro force of refugees, in training since last April, is ready to go at this time.

There are no indications that D Day has yet been set. A decision on the date for the launching of the counterrevolution hangs now on a number of political as well as military factors.

Signs are that, to be successful, it must be soon. The anti-Castro soldiers number in the hundreds while Castro has an army of thousands. But Castro's army is made up of troops which are poorly trained at the present, and the counterrevolutionaries are, for the most part, well-trained guerrillas.

If the anti-Castro forces do not attack soon, the optimistic hope expressed earlier in the year in this column that Castro would soon be overthrown, may never become a reality. In that case, the safety of America from Communism would become even more perilous than it is now.

Whenever the Democratic Revolutionary Front decides to attack Cuba, the best wishes and aid of the free world will go fighting to free their homeland with the men who will be from a dictator and from Communism.

AS WE SEE IT

By ROBBIE POWELL and ROBERT SCHOFIELD

Every since this column was first printed in the George-Anne, we have heard many, many people ask why doesn't Georgia Southern have a track team. Now that the track season is with us we have heard even more cries for a track team.

Several months ago we asked Coach J. B. Seacore why there was no track team here and he replied that the main reason was that there was no track. He also said that he hoped that a team could be worked into the athletic program here.

During the last week there have been some reports, all of which were unconfirmed, that a track team is on slate for this quarter. Several persons have mentioned that a team will be formed even if no inter-college competition can be arranged. Coach Yeager's name has been linked with this project although he has made no comment.

Another unconfirmed report says that a track layout is being planned and will be available for the use by the proposed track team. If our reports are correct there will be some tennis courts constructed along with the track.

Although the attendance for the Florida State University Gymkana was very poor, the show that was given for the audience was nothing less than great. Bill Beavers, the star of the FSU gym team along with the many other great gymnasts put on a show of serious gym work mixed with slap-stick comedy.

The Eagle baseball team got off to a great start last week with double wins over the Vanderbilt Commodores, but were cooled off a little when they visited the University of South Carolina where they dropped two games. Their record as of Wednesday was four wins against three losses.

Ed Brown has been leading the pitching staff and now has two wins, one of them being a one hitter against Vanderbilt. He has also collected 22 strike outs compared to only 6 walks. His one-hitter was a seven inning effort in the second game of a double header. In the first game Larry Crouch was selected player of the day for a one hit effort in relief of Pierce Blanchard.

In the hitting department, J. E. Rowe put on a show against the Deacons from Wake Forest. Although the Eagles went down in defeat 8-6, Rowe blasted four straight hits off the winner Bob Miller. Two of the hits were for extra bases, one a double and one a triple. Rowe is leading the Eagles with a .459 batting average.

ably be considered a temporary deferment in most cases.

How soon will this Corps plan go into operation? College newspaper editors all over the country are being flooded with information and application sheets have been mailed. The Peace Corps will probably start sending its first few hundred volunteers overseas this fall. In 1961 it may grow to a membership of 1,000 to 2,000. How the members will be received by these foreign countries is yet to be determined.

AN EAGLE RUNNER hits the dirt at second base in Monday's game with William Jewel College. The runner, Danny Reese, goes into second base under the throw and is safe. The Eagles went on to win the game by a 3-2 score behind the pitching of Ed Brown. Reese led the Eagles in hitting with two hits in four official attempts.

Ed 'Doc' Brown Plans Made Here For USA Invitational Meet

With the count two balls and two strikes on Billy Hitt, a tall Vanderbilt substitute, no one was upset when the next pitch sailed a little off the beam for the third ball, but when the next pitch was rifled into right for a clean single the distress could be seen on the faces of the entire crowd. In one fleet second the pitcher, little Ed Brown, seemed to saddened and in the same moment he seemed to have just been relieved of a traffic burden. The hit was the first one he had given. He went on to complete the game without allowing another hit, and in process he whiffed ten Vandy batters.

In the second game of the year for Ed, who is probably better known as "Doc," he pitched very well in a three to two victory over William Jewel. In this game the most familiar sound was S-T-R-I-K-E. T-H-R-E-E. Doc fanned twelve Cardinal batters to run his total for the year to 22 in 16 innings. He walked only three batters in each of his games.

Before coming to Georgia Southern, Doc pitched for Richmond Academy. Billy Griffin, Tommy Howland, Charles Tarpley, Vern Hern, Buzzy McMillan, and Doc were teammates on the team there at Richmond Academy, and now they are playing together for GSC.

Tommy Howland was Doc's catcher while they were playing in Richmond Academy, and Doc is very glad to have Tommy behind the plate now. Doc said that Tommy calls most of the pitches, but once in awhile Doc 'shakes him off.'

Pet peeves listed by Doc are about the same as any pitcher would give. They are, short batters, left handed batters, and pitching with men on base. Doc differs from most pitchers in that he likes to bat. His favorite major league team is the New York Yankees, and he keeps a keen eye on Roger Maris, the Yank's right fielder and leading hitter.

When Doc was asked about this year's Eagle team, he replied, "Last year was supposed to be Southern's best team in history, and we have a better team this year."

GSC Gymnasts Lose To FSU

By BOB COCHRAN

The GSC Gymnastics team went down in defeat March 25 to Florida State University, 71 to 40. In this last dual meet of the season Sammy Andrews, Decatur, placed first on the still rings. Andrews first place was our only first place.

"Our strong events were the same events FSU were strong in," stated Pat Yeager, gymnastic's coach. "The FSU team was the strongest team we were against this season and their experience was too much for us."

On the FSU team, entering the parallel bars and the side horse events, was Billy Stone. Stone was coached by Pat Yeager, our own gymnastics coach.

Tar Heels Defeat Eagles Thursday

North Carolina took advantage of Georgia Southern fielding lapses Thursday and beat the home club 8-7 in a non-conference college baseball contest.

Southern committed 6 errors and Southern pitchers gave up 11 hits while North Carolina was charged with only 1 mis-cue and the visiting mound staff yielded only 5 hits.

Two of Southern's hits were home runs by catcher Tommy Howland. He smashed the ball over the centerfield fence 380 feet from home plate in the first inning with two men on. In the third Howland rapped an inside the park home run with one man on.

Centerfielder Jim Mooring and leftfielder Tommy Camp each rapped three hits in four times at bat for the Tar Heels.

Larry Jenkins was credited with the victory and Larry Crouch absorbed the loss.

Miller Is Eagle Captain For 1961

Georgia Southern's 1961 baseball captain, right-handed relief Clyde Miller, is described by Eagle Coach J. I. Clements as "One of the best relief pitchers in college baseball."

Miller, 6-foot junior from Stilson, has stacked up an enviable record in three years of baseball play at Georgia Southern. For the past two years he has been voted by his team as the "Most Valuable Player" at GSC. On last year's N.A.I.A. World Championship runner-up team, Miller pitched 9 wins and 1 loss for the season.

He pitched 77 innings, giving up 70 hits for only 16 earned runs. He walked 15 players and struck out 29.

During the current season, Miller has pitched 2 2/3 innings, relieving Tracy Rivers against the University of South Carolina. In that performance, he gave up two hits, no runs, walked one, and struck out one.

GSC Baseballers Win Two Games From William Jewel

The Georgia Southern baseball team won two games from William Jewel College of Liberty, Mo. this week after losing two games to the Gamecock of South Carolina University last weekend. After taking the two games from William Jewel, the Eagle then dropped a single game to the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest.

Lose To S. C.
Last Friday the University of South Carolina jumped on Tracy Rivers for four runs in the second inning and went on to record a 6-3 win over the Eagles.

The loss snapped a two game winning streak for the Eagles who defeated Vanderbilt in a two game series.

The bright spot of this game for the Eagles was a 380-foot home run blasted by Sandy Wells with two men on the bases. This cut the Gamecock's lead to 4-3, but the Eagles could not come back.

In the second and last game of the series at USC the Eagles were defeated by a 9-8 score.

Ken Williams started for the Eagles and was tagged with the loss in his first appearance of the season. He was relieved by Larry Crouch, who continued his fine showing, and pitched four innings of hitless ball.

South Carolina's George Epps, defending Atlantic Coast Conference batting champion (359), drew five walks and scored two runs for the Gamecocks.

Beat William Jewel
Ed Brown picked up his second victory of the season, while piling up twelve strike-outs as the Eagles downed William Jewel 3-2. These strike-outs gave Brown a total of twenty-two in sixteen innings.

Danny Reese paced the GSC team at the bat with two hits in four official times at bat. Tarpley, Wells, and Rowe also had hits for the day.

Right-hander Tracy Rivers pitched the Eagles to their fourth victory Tuesday while limiting the Cards of William Jewel to only three hits in an easy triumph 12-1. Rivers struck out eight men and only allowed one walk in gaining his first win of the season.

J. E. Rowe led the Eagles 12 hit assault on two Cardinal pitchers. Rowe had a double and two singles, Sandy Wells and Danny Reese had a triple and a single each and Buzzy McMullan had two singles.

Pet White was the only William Jewel hitter to give Rivers any trouble. White collected a triple and a single. His three-bagger followed by Robert Compton's single gave the Cards their only run and spoiled a shutout for Rivers.

Lose To Deacons
Wake Forest handed GSC their third loss in seven games with a 15 hit attack.

Pierce Blanchard was driven from the mound with a five hit assault in the first inning, and Clyde Miller was then jumped for 10 hits and 7 runs.

J. E. Rowe once again led the Eagles at the plate. He blasted the Wake Forest winning pitcher for four hits, two singles and a double and triple. He collected three ribis and scored one run.

Last week an editorial appeared in the George-Anne entitled "College Students — Ignorant?" This editorial was based on a column that appeared in the Savannah Evening Press and was written by Inez Robb. Since the column attacks college students rather harshly, the George-Anne decided to ask for some opinions from the college students themselves. Here are some of the replies that were received.

When Stanley Jones, a junior English major from Gray, was asked this question he replied, "I disagree with Miss Robb, but I do think the newspaper should be read more often to find out what is going on around us. I wonder if Miss Robb is as well versed on this subject as she implies."

Carol Cowen answered the question with this comment, "I think the majority of college students are not well informed, but I do not think that it can be limited to college students. There are many who do not go to college that are even less informed." Miss Cowen is a freshman elementary major from Metter.

William Royster, a junior business major from Nahutta said, "I think she has the wrong idea of a college student. She (Miss Robb) seems to infer that a college student is supposed to know everything. We come to college to prepare ourselves to learn by experience. Our larger part of our education comes after graduation."

Larry Hunt, who hails from Tifton and is a junior social science major, stated, "I don't think that the current events are a particular concern of college students any more than for anyone else. I feel that this 'ignorance' would hold true for people not in college."

Jessie Strickland, also a junior social science major, replied, "The reason we study history and the social sciences is so that we can interpret the current events. I think that students do not keep informed are wasting both time and money. If the statistics are correct, and they are not verified, we (college students as a whole) are missing the point of going to college."

Audio Visual Library Plays Vital Role On GSC Campus

By DELLE BOYKIN

Did you know the films you watch in class are but a few of the 8400 in circulation from the Audio Visual Service of the state of Georgia located here on the Georgia Southern campus. Some 3600 films are mailed out during a nine month period in addition to some 3500 used by the college.

The film library here at GSC is one of four regional libraries located in the state and the only film library connected with a teacher's college.

New Films Added

Each year some 200 to 350 new films are added at a cost of $45,000 to the state of Georgia for each of the four film libraries. In addition to some 4400 different titles cataloged, Georgia alone has the largest Audio Visual Service of non-sponsored films in the United States.

The film library services some 272 schools during the year. Approximately 1100 to 1300 films are sent out to these schools each week with postage paid both ways by the state. Something like $5000 is spent on postage alone for a nine month period.

The state of Georgia has invested something like $650,000 in 8400 films here at Georgia Southern with each costing approximately $75 a piece.

Abercrombie Heads

The head of the Audio Visual Service on campus is Mr. Ed Abercrombie, who is a graduate of Gordon Military College and our own Alma Mater. He is presently working on his master's degree. Mr. Abercrombie's job consists of training new employees, purchasing new equipment and film, and seeing that damaged film is repaired or replaced. He also handles both correspondence to schools and paper work of new employees. But first of all he must know the job of every person employed in the film library.

The small schools pay a $10 insurance fee while the larger ones pay a $20 fee. This entitles the small schools to six times per week and the larger schools 12 films per week.

Amusing Incident

One amusing incident related to the author of this story by Mr. Abercrombie told of a school that failed to return a film until notified by the film library here at GSC. Finally the film was returned with a letter explaining the delay. It seems that the film was temporarily misplaced on the roof of the school until found by repairmen.

What kind of future does the film library have? Presently all the film libraries in the state are doing all they possibly can handle. With additional help they may be able to do more. Also with federal aid being offered to the schools many are setting up their own film libraries, which will greatly relieve the load carried by the film libraries.
