Paving Okayed; Lewis Hall Annex Bids To Be Open

Final approval was made by the state highway board Wednesday for the paving of a road and a parking lot on the GSC campus according to President Zach S. Henderson.

The board approved the paving of the road running behind the Frank I. Williams Center and the parking lot between the Williams Center and the Herty Building. President Henderson said that present plans call for work to begin at the start of the Christmas holidays and to be completed by the start of winter quarter.

Henderson also stated that bids will be opened for the construction of a Lewis Hall annex on January 9, 1962. The bid opening will be advertised on the following dates: December 7, December 14, December 21, and January 4.

The annex will house 52 girls and will contain rooms other than bedrooms.

Two new dormitories, one for men and one for women, are also slated for construction early in 1962. They will house a total of 300 students.

The construction of the dormitories will cost approximately a half-million dollars each and is scheduled for completion in 1963, each will consist of 75 rooms, housing two to a room.

Honor Society Officers Installed

Mary Wood and five other girls were installed as officers of the freshman honorary society, Alpha Gamma Omicron, recently.

The officers are: Mary Wood, Macon, president; Mary Kent Gillenwater, Statesboro, vice-president; Anne Cromley, Brooklet, secretary; Barbara Brown, Dublin, treasurer; Sandra Hobbs, Ashburn, historian; and Henrietta Parker, Savannah, publicity chairman.

Alpha Gamma Omicron is an honorary sorority for freshmen women on the Georgia Southern campus.

KDE To Initiate Nine Pledges At Banquet Monday

Nine Georgia Southern coeds were named as pledges to Kappa Delta Epsilon, an honorary educational society, this week.

They are: Patsy Ginn, Edison; Lawana Johnson, Statesboro; Annie Jo Kennedy, Lyons; Faye Parker, Sylvania; and Lynn Sandwich, Augusta.

Also Dreana Sealy, Griffin; Kate Taylor, Arlington; Sharon Thigpen, Savannah; and Mary Wood, Macon.

The pledges will be initiated at a banquet at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen Monday night.

Membership into the society is limited to education majors from either the junior or senior classes. New members are invited during the fall and spring quarters and nominees must meet the following qualifications: maintenance of a "B" average, outstanding achievement in one's major field, and possession of certain qualities of leadership and service.

During the initiation period the pledges are required to wear the purple and white ribbons which are the colors of the organization.

"OPERATION SPIRIT," sponsored by the GSC student council, includes two days chock full of activities such as a bon fire, pep rally, dances and parade to get the student body in the mood for the big season opener Saturday. Chairman Patsy Ginn, second from left, watches as Joe Patti signs the "We're Behind Your Eagles" petition which is being circulated among the students. Patti and Robert Cantor, third from right, are in charge of the circulation of the petition.

Christmas Tree Lighting Service Tentatively Set

The second annual "Lighting of the Tree" service has been tentatively set for December 6, says Dean Carolyn C. Gettys. The definite time and place will be posted in the near future.

Plans for the program are presently underway. Phi Mu Alpha members will lead the students in the singing of Christmas carols. Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of GSC, will make remarks appropriate for the occasion.

Symphony Conductor Speaks At Banquet

By ROLAND PAGE
News Editor

Chauncey Kelly, conductor and founder of the Savannah Symphony, described the changes that have taken place in the music profession over the past thirty years, at a Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia banquet Monday night.

The banquet, which was held in Aldred's Motor Court, was given in honor of Phi Mu Alpha Founder's Day, and in honor of the six girls who took part in the fraternity's recent "Shoe-string Revue."

Kelly, who graduated from the Julliard school of music and played oboe with the NBC Symphony Orchestra before going to Savannah, turned the clock back about thirty years. He said that at that time, the abolishment of theatre orchestras created a vast unemployment of musicians in America.

He said that this brought on the "renaissance" of concert symphony orchestras. The forming of WPA orchestras during the depression furthered this development. Since then, funds for local symphony orchestras have been on the increase, and the number of these musical groups has expanded tremendously.

Predicting further changes, he

Season Opener Spurs Activity; Rally Scheduled

"Operation Spirit," a week-end of activities preliminary to the Georgia Southern-Georgia basketball game, got underway early this week with the circulation of a petition requesting signatures of Eagle supporters.

The GSC student council has mapped out special events for today and tomorrow. The purpose of the council in sponsoring this project is to create school spirit through a campus-wide campaign and to include as many people as possible in well-planned activities.

Before the eighth period class is dismissed, a jam session will begin in the Williams Center. Among those who are to perform are Miller Watkins, Billy Fordham and Wayne Studdard.

Bon Fire Rally

The jam session will serve as a warm-up for the big bon fire and pep rally to begin at 6:30 at the Hamner Building. Leaders at the rally will be the Georgia Southern cheerleaders. The highlight of this event will be the burning of the Georgia Bulldog.

Following the rally, a movie "North by Northwest," featuring Cary Grant, Eva Marie Saint and James Mason, will be shown in McCroan Auditorium beginning at 7:15 p.m.

The Student National Education Association will sponsor a dance in the Old Gymnasium at 8 p.m. At this time a rock and roll band will play for the students.

Big Parade

The first activity scheduled Saturday will be a "Beat Georgia" parade sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega. The council is urging all students to decorate their cars in all ways, shapes and forms and to join the parade line which forms at the rear of the back gate to the college.

The opening basketball game of the season will begin at 8 p.m. Requirements for getting into the game are the same as in past years. All students must

350 Expected To Attend Debate Clinic In McCroan December 9

Clyde J. Faries, assistant professor of speech, Georgia Southern College, announces that the University of South Carolina's affirmative debate will attend the Debate and Drama Clinic to be held in McCroan Auditorium December 9.

South Carolina will oppose the negative team of Georgia Southern on the production "Resolved: That Labor Organizations Should Be Under the Jurisdiction of Anti-Trust Legislation."

Approximately 350 high school students and coaches will witness this debate.

Other activities involved in this clinic will be seen in the areas of dramatics, oral reading, declamation, and debate.

"The clinic proposes to provide help in the preparation and presentation of speech contest activities," says Faries.

It will give the students a chance to see and hear dramatic and debate programs presented, and hear the programs criticized and questions posed to the critic.

In the area of drama, selected scenes from Streetcar Named Desire will be seen. A discussion of the make-up, stage business, costuming, and a cting involved in the scenes will follow.

A panel of educationists will discuss and answer questions on the high school debate question. "Resolved: That the Federal Government should provide Equal Educational Opportunities by Direct Grants to the Public Secondary and Elementary Schools."

All participating schools who wish to bring a play cast or a debate team to present beginning efforts privately for critical comments may do so. Either the entire play or one or two short scenes may be presented. The actors should have the scenes presented committed to memory.

No contest or ratings are involved in this clinic. The participants will appear privately before a critic who will endeavor to make suggestions for improving the particular presentation.

DINING HALL RESERVATIONS

All persons who plan to have weekend guests are requested to make reservations with Mrs. May H. Webb, dietitian in the Dining Hall, at least one day in advance.

This will provide time to make plans for the added patrons.

"Operation Spirit" Underway

Tension and excitement are building as time draws near for the opening basketball game of the 1961-62 Eagle season. Once again this year the student body will be provided constructive means to allow them to vent their otherwise stored-up inhibitions.

The student council has undertaken the project "Operation Spirit". Acting as a coordinating body, the council has exacted the promise of different clubs and organizations on campus to sponsor a number of activities today and tomorrow.

This type of project is decidedly praisable and the activities which were announced in the story on page one sound exciting, enjoyable.

Many, many clubs are represented in sponsoring these different events. But we should remember that when we say clubs, we actually mean people. These people are asking nothing more than for the entire student body to participate. We believe that if they can take the time out to do all the planning and work on these programs, the students can take time out to join in and benefit from them.

Opening the big weekend will be a jam session in the Williams Center beginning at 3:30 p.m. This is everybody's chance to get warmed up for the coming activities.

Then comes the climax to the entire weekend. At 8 p.m. the stands will be filled and excitement will mount as the Georgia Southern Eagles clash with the Georgia Bulldogs. Perhaps the most appropriate thing that could be said is that the George-Anne goes along with the rest of the student body in wishing them the best of luck in this game and all those that follow.

Indifferent Attitude Must Go

Too many students here complain about the condition of things or the lack of respect for student opinion, but have no one to blame but themselves.

Just this year, for example, there have been two fine cases of this lack of organized opinion. Back when there was a question as to the location of the "Starlight Ball" is one, and the other deals with the January 1 registration.

Both of these topics were editorialized in the George-Anne. After each of the editorials appeared buzz sessions or gripe sessions took place here and there throughout the campus. That was all. When students wake up and realize that the "bull sessions" in the dorm are not going to solve campus problems we may get results.

If students would spend about half as much time letting themselves be heard in the right places and through the proper channels as they do griping about campus conditions with friends there would be action.

When everyone thought it would be best to find another location for the "Starlight Ball", preferably the dining hall, nothing was done. Then the same ones who cried the loudest about it wanted to know why nothing was done. It was simply because no one really wanted to "Stand Up And Be Counted". No one was willing to risk being heard.

This attitude of indifference must go. You either like something or you don't. It never hurts to OPENLY express your opinion.

If everyone wants to continue the attitude of indifference then let's all sit back and be dominated. When things go wrong, however, remember that small discussions in the dormitories and in the student center will never help the cause.

Save Money While Buying Books?

At the beginning of each new quarter, dormitory halls look like one giant bee-hive that have just been blasted by a twelve-gauge shotgun, bulletin boards get a new papering with sloppy bits of paper politely referred to as "Books for Sale signs", and slow footed students lose from five to ten dollars that could have easily been saved.

What is the cause of this hectic affair? It's the quarterly scramble by students to find out from whom and where to purchase used textbooks. Some students are lucky and have a friend across the hall who has taken the same courses and can sell or rent the needed textbooks at a great savings. Others aren't so lucky, and must buy new ones.

The average student purchases about three books per quarter. At the average book store price for new books, (about $8.00) this adds up to an investment of $24. Used books are seldom sold for more than $6. A substantial saving? Yes, if they can be found.

The GEORGE-ANNE suggests that some type of organized system of buying and selling used books be established on campus.

Couldn't one of the many clubs at GSC compile a list of all used books for sale and names of the persons selling them? One easy-to-read, type-written list would certainly be more convenient than wading through a jungle of scribbled notes only to find that the book desired has already been sold.

Perhaps an even better arrangement would be for the same club to do the actual selling. It could set up a booth and literally act as "Agent" for those who have books to sell.

If, for some reason, the above suggestions conflict with the policy of the school, why not use the official bookstore in the place of the afore mentioned club? The bookstore could create its own used book section and buy and sell used textbooks at a fixed price.

REGIONAL CAMPUS...

By WINFRED L. GODWIN
Director Southern Regional Education Board

"The South is in the midst of the permanent revolution of industrialization," said Dr. Rupert Vance of the University of North Carolina, "a revolution which begins anew for each generation at a new level of complexity." To the forces of education is given the task of helping each generation cope with its new and more complex problems of industrialization.

No single element will be more important in building the South's future than the higher education which this region provides for its young people. The time has passed when we can think of higher education as just another state program competing for state funds, for we see more clearly that it sustains and enriches all other human activity. We must plan and sacrifice in order to build institutions of excellence, well-supported and well-administered.

Colgate Darden Jr., a former Virginia governor, a former president of the University of Virginia and chairman of the Commission on Goals for Higher Education in the South has said it this way:

Goals Report Released

"Nothing in the world is more costly to a people than inferior education. No economy is dearer than that economy which is achieved by paring the cost or diminishing the opportunities of those generations who will come after us."

The South does not now have the system of education it needs. But it does have the raw material with which to build that system.

To guide the region in that effort seven prominent Southerners are releasing a report to the public on November 30 which should be of great significance to educators, state officials and the public. The report is the summary of many months of investigation and study by the Goals Commission. The Commission's report will make recommendations concerning opportunity for education, quality of education, financing and planning of education.

Education To Be Improved

The report will no doubt give moral support and backing to many new efforts by Southern states to improve the education they offer their young people. Governor Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, for example, has recently announced specific steps whereby his own state can undertake a "fifty to first" campaign to bring South Carolina from the rear to the forefront of the states in providing higher education.

Some of his proposals are the development of regional colleges and junior colleges to place higher education, at least for the first two years, close to centers of population; the maximum use of present educational facilities, perhaps through year-round operation of the colleges; the coordination of all of the state's institutions of higher learning; the careful study of curricula and the modernization of programs offered by the schools to be sure that they are meeting the needs of South Carolina increases in salaries for faculty members and special emphasis on the training of future college teachers.

Must Use Resources

Speaking of his state's efforts to improve education, Governor Hollings said: "Until 10 years ago 'the paving of roads was more important than education. We wanted our people out of the mud - but not out of the dark... In spite of all we have done in 10 years we have all come to realize we didn't go far enough.'"

The South has not been able to go far enough in the past. Today we have the human and material resources to go that far and farther. We must make the effort now or the South will be recorded as a region defeated by its own apathy and its own inadequacies.

Advisory Council Organized Here To Improve Communication Flow

By PHYLLIS ANDERSON

The Student Personnel Advisory Council organized this year on the Georgia Southern campus as a standing consultative committee for the benefit of the student's welfare and is functioning to keep communication open between the student and the administration.

This advisory council made up of faculty members and administrative heads is serving as a means by which the student can be heard.

Those serving on the council are: Dean Ralph K. Tyson, chairman; Dean W. H. Holcomb, vice-chairman; Dean Carolyn C. Gettys, recording secretary; J. I. Clements, Dr. Lawrence Hitchcock; and Dr. Tulley Pennington.

Committees Named

Committees established under this council are the Honors Committee, Religious Activities Committee, and the Scholarship and Loan Committee. The Honors Committee has the responsibility of formulating the policy of selecting those to be honored, planning, and preparing the program for Honors Day.

The Religious Activities Committee, concerned with the religious phase of the campus activities, administers Religious Emphasis Week. The Scholarship and Loan Committee recommends the policy by which scholarships and loans are granted.

Other Policies Named

In addition to the fields of interest shown above, the council also desires to promote new policies influencing the students' social and cultural life. In this phase the council does not set the policy, but serves in an advisory capacity.

This council and the committees under it are appointed by Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of GSC. The plans made and the policies followed by the council must be approved by President Henderson before being carried out.

The Student Personnel Advisory Council meets on the third Tuesday of every month at 3 p.m. in the Student Council Room of the Frank I. Williams Center.

GOES

behind the headlines big and small

SOMETIMES NOT AT ALL...

Editors of college newspapers receive all types of letters, posters, and pamphlets through the mail.

Some of it is worthwhile — some trash. Recently the ultimate in trash was received here at Georgia Southern.

It came in a plain white envelope. The address was simple. It read like this: Editor, George-Anne, South Georgia Teachers College (wrong name), Statesboro, Georgia, U.S.A. The postmark on the envelope was Prague 2, Czechoslovakia.

Two Posters Included

Inside there were two gigantic posters. One bearing a red sickle and a red star called for International Solidarity. This message was also on the poster, "Students of the world, strengthen your solidarity actions with the fighting students and people of Algeria! Full national independence for Algeria! Down with French Colonialism!"

The other heralded the fifteenth anniversary of the International Union of Students. It listed the purposes of this organization. They sound good, but the foolish red propagandists who made up the poster used pictures of our flimsy feathered neighbor down in Cuba with a caption calling for reform and democratization of education, and abolition of illiteracy.

Another picture shows students at an I.U.S. sanatorium in Peking. Still another depicts an angry MOB begging for peace.

Gave Themselves Away

These communist liars were nice enough to give themselves away even more by including the old lines "The I.U.S. stands for disarmament and peaceful co-existence, for an end to colonialism against imperialism and the policies of racial discrimination, and calls on the world student community to join their efforts and fight for these principles."

Same old line from the same old liars. Thanks to freedom of speech and press here in America it is easy to see through these lies. After reading through these it is possible to see what the Communists pack into the heads of unknowing people throughout the world.

Notice how they call for peace and then as usual they contradict themselves urging students to band together and fight for these principles.

Widely Distributed

How many other people received this propaganda? That's hard to say, but if it came to Georgia Southern it probably went to many other schools.

To top it all off they had the audacity to use red, white, and blue on an accompanying pamphlet. They also used a stencil for the address so more of their "junk" will probably arrive in the future.

What can be done about this kind of thing going on? It seems like the post office department could put a damper on the flow of mail such as this. Many people will argue that it is wrong to stop this propaganda flow completely. Their point is that to know communism and its evils we must be able to see these things and identify them for what they are worth.

Will Spread Even More

Remember, however, that sooner or later these materials will start falling into the hands of unknowing people here in this country too. Although that may be a minority, take a look at the influence some minority groups have gained in the past few years.

It's not hard to imagine some American illiterates falling for these fake promises and causing alarming disturbances and threatening our freedom.

So, if this mail must come

A Square Deal

By BILLY DEAL

Every human being has problems.

There's no getting around it. Into each life some rain must fall. So much rain has fallen into some lives that the lives are now water proof. These are the lucky few. They have no more problems; their troubles are over.

Not so with the majority. And, incidentally, the majority is made up of college students. Exactly. Who has more problems than a college student?

The President? The president of the German Club, maybe. Let's face it. The poor, under privileged college student has a rough life. Everything happens to him. Just so everybody can get a poignant look at the daily trials of the collegian, let's take a play from get up time to sack time. I know this has been done before—right here in this column even—but so many new burdens have been added to the student's load that it's time for a new expose.

Here goes... Wynn Blown (our subject) is in peaceful slumber when the alarm clock (by his bed) goes off like the Liberty Bell. Of course the noise startles him and he falls out of his top bunk. Luckily, he lands on a chair or he might have suffered a broken leg instead of a fractured wrist.

He hobbles to the bathroom to brush his teeth, only to find he has covered his brush with athlete's foot cream—not toothpaste. He takes it in stride. He's all set to shave when the hot water disappears and he's left with 23 minutes before class and a beard three inches long. He starts, and quits halfway through after that razor that "shaves so smooth you can't tell there's a blade in it" nicks him three times—once in the eyebrow and twice in the left ear lobe.

But he won't give up. He gets to his first class. This should be his big moment. He was up till 4 a.m. studying for a major test—he knows he can ace it. It's only natural, I guess, that the instructor should be sick this day. So the test is postponed. He makes his way to the student center for his daily snack—a cherry Coke and six doughnuts. Healthy food.

He buys the morsels and is looking for a table when he is bumped from behind and the Coke flies in three directions. He turns around to find his instructor smiling sympathetically. He returns the smile and the instructor leaves. But now the guy who felt the coke spray wants to fight. Our boy squirms out of that—I mean being a 997-pound weakling, what else?

No Coke. He's broke. He gulps down the doughnuts and hides behind a couch in the lobby to sleep until lunch. Then he makes his way to the end of the two-mile line and finally gets his plate. Wonderful day.

On the tray is a synthetic pork chop, slimy spinach, a stale muffin, bitter peas and dandelion salad. He breaks the knife in an effort to cut the meat, the spinach is so slick he can't corral it, the muffin and peas are too terrible to eat. The salad is great, though. Of course there's the same old watery tea and melted ice cream.

At 4 p.m. he heads for the intramural games. Today it's football. On the first play he is hit by two opposing linemen and loses four teeth and his left shoe. He is carried off the field while the cheerleaders come out to lead a special yell.

There's much more. These are just a few of the things that make you want to chuck it all. But if you can last the quarter, it won't be so bad.

Then you get the honor of coming all the way back on New Year's Day just to register. A simpler way? Probably, but we have to play the role, you know. Besides, nobody wants to watch the bowl games.

But I guess we shouldn't complain. After all, this too shall pass—even if we don't.

Inquiring Reporter

By JOHNIE KICKLIGHTER JR.

In the last issue of the GEORGE-ANNE, we had an editorial on "Band and Basketball?" In other words, would they go together; would the students and players like to have a band at the ball game?

This week, in the "INQUIRING REPORTER" column, we decided to ask some of the students and some of the players this question: Do you think that having a band to play at the basketball games would boost the morale of the players and make the evening more enjoyable to the spectators?

Their answers to this question (and why they said "yes or no") are listed below.

Riley Brantley — Wrightsville — "No! There would be too much noise to be confined in a gym. Band music should be out in the open or in large halls and auditoriums for dances and such."

Sharon Robinson—Cedartown — "Yes! But only at half-time, since any unnecessary noise during the game would interfere with the player's concentration."

Linda Mason — Swainsboro — "Yes! In my opinion, music makes any evening more enjoyable."

Connie Lewis — Millen —

"No! We tried it once before, and it didn't work."

Coach J. B. Secaree — Statesboro — "No! It is very hard to get a group as large as a band situated without some sort of confusion."

Tommy Sandefur — Perry — "Yes! It would give the students a chance to hear the band. Besides, most of the bigger colleges have bands at all their athletic events. We need something to boost our morale."

Sally Coleman — Summertown — "Yes! Besides being enjoyable, it would enliven the spirits of all concerned."

Tony Thomson — Owensboro, Ky. — "Yes! I think it would be enjoyable. It puts everybody in a good mood."

Donna Freeman — Warner Robins — "Yes! I think a band would add to the players' morale and it would allow the spectators to listen as well as watch."

Coach R. J. Stebbins—Statesboro — "Yes! A band under proper management can be beneficial to the spectators and to the team."

Sherry Thompson — Lyons —

"Yes! If the band had a certain section to sit in and a certain time to get there so there wouldn't be any organized confusion after the game started."

Tim Cox — Savannah — "No! The loud noise would distract the spectators' attention from the main action of the floor. Music doesn't help to win ball-games, anyway."

Francis Florian — Orient, Ill. — "Yes! Band music would pep things up a little and add to the enjoyment."

Bill Pickens—Rochester, N. Y. — "Yes! It would, more or less, put everybody in a good mood."

Nonie Ringwald — Savannah — "Yes! If properly organized, it would definitely have its advantages."

David Patton — Ashland, Ky. — "Yes! If the band would only play at half-time and if it was well organized so as not to interfere with the game."

Now that you've read what some of your fellow students have to say about having a band at the ball-games, would you like to express your opinion? If so, just write a letter or a postcard to the Editor of the GEORGE-ANNE, Box 2047, Georgia Southern Branch, Statesboro, Georgia, or if you had rather, just drop a note in the box on the door to the GEORGE-ANNE office. Let us know what you want.

Georgia Southern Almost Lost A Queen

By MARIE EUBANKS

Lovely Carrie McCullum, who was Queen of the 1961 Starlight Ball, almost didn't make it to college this fall. She was badly injured in an automobile accident a few days before her high school graduation and spent a month in the hospital. Carrie put her crutches down only two days before she left for GSC.

Carrie is a freshman who came to GSC from Jeffersonville where she lives on a farm with her parents and an eleven year old brother. She also has 2 older sisters.

Carrie who resembles a tiny pixie with her short curly hair and shining eyes has many special interests.

Interests Listed

They include horseback riding, swimming, dancing, and singing.

Carrie was a member of her high school glee club for four years. She was treasurer of this during her freshman and senior year. Carrie also sang soprano in the girls' trio in the Literary Meets.

In her four years at Twiggs County High School, Carrie was active in many organizations. She was cheerleader for four years, and was captain during her senior year. In her freshman year she was a majorette. She was co-editor of her annual when a senior.

She was freshman and sophomore class president and was treasurer of her senior class. She was also a member of the student council when she was a freshman and a sophomore.

Elem. Ed. Major

Carrie is an elementary education major. She plans to teach either the third or the fifth grade. She was president of her

FTA chapter in high school.

She is a member of the Baptist Church, and has served as president of both the Sunday School and the Training Union. She has also taught the primaries and the juniors in these groups.

Winning the Miss Starlight Race contest was not the first beauty contest this versatile girl has won. Last year she was Homecoming Queen at her high school, and she was Miss Senior Class. She was also the eighth grade class sweetheart. And she was first runner-up three times in the Miss Twiggs County High Beauty Contest.

Carrie, who is as nice as she is pretty says she has enjoyed attending GSC and says that she couldn't imagine going anywhere else. It may be said that her many friends here couldn't think of letting her go anywhere else.

Two Students Represent GSC At Internat'l. Foreign Student Retreat

Two students represented GSC at the annual International Foreign Student Retreat during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Wadih Malouf from Lebanon and George Correa from Colombia left here Wednesday preceding the holiday to attend the meeting at the Lake Louise Camp at Toccoa, Ga.

Forty nations were represented by students from Georgia and South Carolina.

The meeting was sponsored by the Baptist Student Unions for the purpose of giving students from other countries an opportunity to get acquainted with one another, and to promote further understanding of customs and traditions in each country.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Dr. Carl T. Bahner, professor of chemistry at Carson-Newman College and consultant to the TVA and the Oakridge Institute of Nuclear Studies. He spoke about the Christian faith as a scientist sees it.

Following the speech, a group discussion on different aspects of religion and science was held.

Each country was represented in a talent show featuring native folk dances and music.

The foreign students also participated in an international sports tournament. South America won the soccer event, and an Asian representative won the volleyball tournament.

Cheerleaders Set To Boost Eagles

By GERALDINE DURRENCE

The Eagles are going to be well supported by the newly elected cheerleaders, who are bubbling over with enthusiasm to support the team. Each of them is anxiously awaiting our first game of the season against Georgia Bulldogs tomorrow night.

Marilyn Denmark, from Statesboro, has been chosen captain. She says that the group is looking forward to a successful year. Marilyn was a cheerleader at GSC last year. She is through why can't the post office department inspect such obvious pieces of mail and label them as "Dangerous Communist Propaganda?" An even better idea is for post office officials to take materials such as this entering the country and throw them in the nearest incinerator.

Play It Their Way

It is hard to imagine something from a free country getting through to young people behind the Iron Curtain. Maybe it is time we began to "fight fire with fire" before we are all wiped out. Through the years this type of propaganda may begin to have some real effect in this country. Why not stamp it out now?

Our biggest problem is "Are we violating and individual's freedom?" or "Are we protecting a freedom?" Stopping the flow of trash such as this will not prohibit us from knowing what is going on in the world or "how the other half lives."

The materials which have been mentioned are on file in the office of the George-Anne. Anyone who wants to see communist propaganda at its worst and is prepared for a shock is invited to stop by and examine these "hot papers."

Addressing the student musicians who were present, Kelly urged them to take two degrees for security, as music is a tough and highly competitive field. He said that those interested in conducting should get all the experience possible, as soon as possible.

In closing, he stated that music is a difficult profession, and that young musicians must "carry the torch of beauty and art, and do your best."

Those present at the banquet included the brothers of Phi Mu Alpha, the girls who were being honored, faculty members of the GSC music division, and novices of the fraternity who were initiated last night.

Filmstrip Series Is Donated To Science Division

A series of approximately fifty filmstrips in the area of biology will be donated to Georgia Southern College through the Statesboro Film Library. The first four were presented by Edward A. Abercrombie, manager of the film library, to Miss Hassie McElveen, librarian, and Dr. John Boole, head of the division of science and mathematics.

These biology filmstrips can be utilized from the high school grades through the first or second year of college.

At the present time, the balance of the filmstrips are in production with release dates extending to fall of 1962. Upon release and when received, the Statesboro Film Library will turn over these filmstrips to Miss McElveen for cataloging and housing.

The value of the complete set of filmstrips will be approximately $300.

Mrs. Iris Young is the cheerleading advisor. Mr. Pat Yeager helps the girls with their tumbling.

This group of girls practices one hour every day. Three extra hours per week are spent practicing tumbling. They plan to include difficult tumbling tricks in their cheers.

The cheerleaders ask for participation from the entire student body.

Scoring WITH Scott

Gill Has Returned

To paraphrase Douglas MacArthur, Carlton Gill might well say this Saturday night, "I have returned." Also, he may say it in a way not appreciated by Coach J. B. Searce, with actions—on the basketball court.

For the benefit of those who don't know, Gill was a star for two years at Georgia Southern, from 1958-60, before transferring to the University of Georgia fall quarter of last year. He made the move to Georgia because of his plans to enter the Forestry School at the University. Forestry is a five year program; therefore, by "red-shirting" Gill last year, the Bulldogs still have him for his two more years of eligibility.

Ties Rebound Record

While a freshman at GSC, Gill tied Ronnie Rush's one game individual rebounding record of 33. Throughout his two years here, he was renowned for his fine rebounding and defensive work. Although he occasionally broke into double figures, he was not an outstanding scorer. However, he was a most valuable asset to the Eagle squad—a good defensive big man.

Gets Even Bigger

Since leaving GSC, Gill has gotten much bigger. He still stands 6-5, but tips the scales at around 210, whereas he only weighed around 190 while an Eagle. This could make quite a difference under the backboards this Saturday night. While he has always been noted for his rugged play under the basket, the added weight should enable him to improve his rebounding against bigger men.

Gill vs. Pickens

A bigger man, by anybody's standards, is Bill Pickens, starting center for GSC. At 6-9, 235 pounds, Pickens will be hard to stop under the basket. The odds are that Gill will draw the assignment of handling "Wild Bill" Saturday night. Although Pickens will have four inches and about twenty pounds advantage over Carlton, defensive ability could even things up somewhat.

At any rate, this Saturday night could provide one of the best individual defensive battles to be seen this year at GSC. It should prove to be very interesting, to say the least.

Ex-footballer Pickens Sticks To Basketball

By MIDGE LASKY

To Bill Pickens, Georgia Southern's "shooting" center, basketball is a love, not just a game.

No one person is responsible for developing his interest in the sport. Just the fact that at 12 years of age he was six feet three inches tall was enough.

His first experience with the game was like that of hundreds of other American boys. In his home town of Rochester, N. Y., he played on a team sponsored by the Police Athletic League called "the Leaguers."

Injured In Football

Upon entering high school he switched to football and when being tackled during a game, broke his back. This stroke of misfortune caused him to be hospitalized for six weeks and bedridden for the next two months at home.

The next year he was back in the game, only this time he was aiming for the basket instead of the goal posts. As a sophomore he was averaging 27 points a game. The third year in high school brought an improvement and in six games he averaged 33 points.

Three years ago he joined the Marine Corps. Once again basketball became a part of his life but with a little spice thrown in. He was a cook between the times he played and practiced ball.

CARLTON GILL, former star at GSC, will be back to play against his former teammates Saturday night when the University of Georgia meets Georgia Southern at 8 p.m. in the Hanner Gymnasium. Gill, shown here as he looked in 1959 as an Eagle standout, holds the GSC one-game individual rebounding record of 33.

Played For Marines

For two years he played with the Parris Island team and one year for Camp Lejeune. It was during his last year in the Marines that he came to GSC to play in a Christmas tournament.

From over a hundred offers from colleges he chose to come to this small school of 1786 students. His reason: he believes that at a small school he can be more of an individual than just a number.

This tall (6 feet, 9½ inches) man has much theory behind his ability. To him, basketball is to play professionally after graduation from college. When playing a game he thinks only about the action and what is good for the team. His philosophy is "to play hard, never quit, and practice makes perfect."

Worries About Game

He commented that he always worries about the game and pre-game jitters are a regular occurrence.

His daily routine even seems to be designed for a basketball player. He stays on a high protein diet, his favorite foods being steak and milk. He doesn't drink nor smoke and gets plenty of sleep.

Pickens has no favorite "shot" and he feels that he must be able to "shoot for the situation." "If a player has to depend on one shot, then he is under a handicap," he said.

Plays Fewer Games

The Eagles have 25 games slated this year and Pickens commented that this will be quite a relief after playing 60 games a year in the Marines.

As a student he is majoring in art and he plans to be a combination commercial artist and coach after he gets too old to play ball. He lives off-campus and his roommates claim he's a pretty good cook. "I enjoy cooking, but I don't like to clean up," Pickens stated.

His mind isn't always on basketball and to lead the reader to this conclusion would be wrong. Just like any other red-blooded American man, who is 20 years of age, 6 feet, 9½ inches tall, and weighs in at 240 lbs., he enjoys dating, meeting with friends and other sports activities such as swimming which he ranks second to basketball in his score chart. He also likes to read books about psychology and human interest novels.

He enjoys getting to know people and considers everyone "real friendly" at Southern. On the other hand, Pickens is well-liked and well-known by the students on campus. This isn't very hard to believe because he is a very amiable fellow.

Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonians Announce Caroling Concert; Initiate Pledges

The Zeta Omicron chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity accepted two new members into the brotherhood last night and also made tentative plans to go Christmas caroling on campus soon, according to Sammy Prince, president.

Mike Henderson, Tifton, and George Baggs, Claxton, were formally initiated into the national professional music fraternity, after fulfilling all the necessary obligations during a pledge period which lasted about four weeks.

Prince said that Phi Mu Alpha also hopes to obtain a truck filled with hay and conduct a sort of "hayride-caroling" project all over the GSC campus and throughout Statesboro.

Final plans have not yet been made and the night of the caroling will be announced at a later date.

Guidance Center Choir... Organized Here

A newly-organized vocational guidance center is now available in the dean of students office for any students seeking advice in finding summer employment or other work, according to Dean Ralh K. Tyson.

Any students who need information and advice as to what jobs are available, and what type of work they are suited for, can see either Dean Tyson or Dean Holcombe.

Tyson went on to say that a student will receive help in three areas: (1) aptitude and interest; (2) occupational information, (qualifications needed); and (3) summer placement service. He added that the center has a list of about 1,000 jobs available to college students.

Intramural Roundup

By ANNE HEDDEN and JOHNNIE KICKLIGHTER JR.

Since there has been a decrease in the participation of co-educational bowling, it will be discontinued after Wednesday of next week.

In the Girl's Speedball intramurals there has been a lack of players for all teams. This is one of the few athletic events for girls that requires eleven players. The American league in speedball is dominated by the Felines. In the National league, the Aces, Bobettes, and the Rebels are in a three-way tie for first place. The scores are as follows:

Bobettes, 85; Felines, 80; Miss Fitts, 70; Aces, 66; Falcons, 40; Rebels, 16; Cardinals, 12; Hornets, 6; Belles, 4; Ramblers, 4.

The reason for the varying number in team scores and still have teams tied, is due to the number of games each has played.

The Men's Volleyball games have ended with the Panthers emerging as the victors of the Championship game. Our congratulations to the Panthers.

The main event for the men has changed from volleyball to touch football. The games played, so far, and their scores are listed below.

Stallions 26, Bears 0; Cougars 20, Lions 12; Wildcats 18, Colts 0; Panthers 33, Leopards 0; Bears 20, Gators 7; Lions 21, Tigers 0; Stallions 16, Colts 10; Panthers 7, Cougars 6; Wildcats 7, Gators 6; Tigers 19, Leopards 0; Lions 19, Bobcats 0; Rams 12, Bears 0.

The touch football teams individual "team points" are listed as follows:

Panthers, 108; Bears, 96; L

Panthers, 108; Bears, 96; Lions, 94; Wildcats, 72; Stallions, 64; Colts, 54; Rams, 48; Cougars, 40; Tigers, 38; Gators, 34; Leopards, 30; Bobcats, 14.

The faculty seems to be getting their exercise on campus, too. The Faculty Golf Tournament has been completed and the head of the Physical Education Department, Mr. J. B. Searce, is the champion. Coach Searce won the title by defeating Mr. Robert Pound in a nineteen hole match. The consolation game will be played this coming Saturday between Dr. Habel, Mr. Walloce, Dr. Hackett, and Mr. Pound. Congratulations to Coach Searce.

There will be a tentative intramural schedule in the next issue of the GEORGE-ANNE.

Athletes of the Week

Carol Mobley, a senior Physical Education major, is our Girl Athlete of the Week. She was selected because of her time and effort contributed to making the GSC's Intramural program a success this quarter. Carol came to us from Augusta Junior College in 1960 and has since taken an active part in many activities on campus. Carol carries that Griffin smile and a warm welcome to those she comes in contact with. She is First Vice-President of the PEM this year and is spending her spare time in gymnastics. Carol is trying to learn as much about gymnastics as possible before graduating, so she can step into the coaching field in the very near future. It takes many hours of long hard work, plus the aches and pains involved before anyone can put on a demonstration on the "balance beam" like Carol executed, Tuesday night, after Paul Anderson exerted his power.

George Hagins, a third quarter junior, because of the time and effort donated plus his leadership ability, was chosen by the Intramural Department as the Man Athlete of the Week. George, a Recreation major, hails from Statesboro. George played football for four lettering years and was a member of the track team for three years. He was awarded All-State honors in both. Starting this December, he will be connected with the Statesboro Recreation Department as supervisor of the Physical Fitness Program. George has very admirable plans for his career. His desire is to provide recreation for those who are shut-ins in hospitals. A career of this nature is not only of great physical value, but is, also, of great mental value. We would like to wish George much success in his very worthwhile career.

Eagles To Launch All-out Attack Against Ga. Bulldogs In Opener Saturday Night

Dazzling Stars, Supporting Cast Make The Show

The focal point of nearly all Academy Award winning productions is the star; however, more times than not the success of the production depends upon a strong supporting cast. This is the case with the GSC basketball team as it prepares to open the 1961-62 season.

Connie Lewis and Bill Pickens stood out as the stars in an out-of-town preview at Augusta against the Signal Training Center. Lewis scored 36 points and Pickens added 28 as the Eagles downed the Signalers 85-75. However, it was the supporting cast of David Patton, Fran Florian, John Burton, and E. G. Meybohm that drew praise for their performance from Coach J. B. Scarce Jr.

This supporting cast of players made shambles of the Signalers offense and unbalanced their defense to make it possible for Lewis and Pickens to come out as the stars of the day.

Patton and Burton teamed up to put the stoppers on Don Bates who had averaged 26.5 points per game earlier in the season. He was limited to only four field goals as he scored 14 points.

In the second half of the game the Eagle defense was superb as it allowed the entire STC team to attempt only 22 field goals.

Florian played a big role both offensively and defensively as he scored 10 points. It was, however, his ball handling and defensive play that drew high praise from Coach Scarce.

As the season begins Saturday night against Georgia at Georgia Southern College, the Eagle team appears to have a bright array of stars supported by one of the strongest supporting casts in small college basketball.

All-Stars Play Brewton-Parker Here On Dec. 7

It was announced this week that the Statesboro All-Stars, who played the Georgia Southern Eagles in a game last week, will play Brewton Parker's Blue Barons on Tuesday, December 7, in a benefit game at the Haner Gymnasium. The proceeds of the game will go to the "S" Club and to the Student Council.

The All-Stars, coached by Clyde Miller and Oliver Russell, will probably have the same starting lineup that they had when they played GSC. The lineup consists of Ronnie Rush at center, Tracy Rivers and Jim Long at forwards, and J. E. Rowe and W. L. (Nig) Hall at the guard positions.

Admission to the game will be .50 for students and $1.00 for adults. Game time will be 8 p.m.

Eagles Are Underdogs In Opener; Gill To Start At Center For Ga.

The Georgia Southern Eagles tip-off their 1961-62 basketball season Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. when Coach "Red" Lawson and his Bulldogs from the University of Georgia invade Statesboro.

After losing to the Bulldogs last year by a 89-64 score, the Eagles are seeking to avenge themselves and move GSC ahead in the series which now stands at three wins for each school. It seems that although the Eagles are playing on their home court, they must take the role of the underdog.

As the new season opens Coach Scarce finds the Southern squad without last year's leading scorers and rebounders, but the 1961-62 team has many boys capable of taking up the slack left by the departure of three of the '60-'61 starters. Much of the hopes for a successful season depends upon two lettermen, several newcomers, and some boys who saw limited action last year.

When the Georgia Bulldogs take the court at the opening of the game they will probably see two seniors and three juniors to handle the chores for them. Allan Johnson, the team captain, and Joey Miller are senior guards. The forwards are Charles Adamek and Harold Morris. Starting the game at center will be Carlton Gill, a former standout at Georgia Southern. Gill now holds the individual single game rebound record with Ronnie Rush. He tied this record as a freshman before he transferred to the University last year.

Coach Scarce will probably give the starting call to three seniors, a sophomore and a freshman. At the present time Bill Pickens is slated to jump for the initial toss-up from the center position. At the forwards will be Connie Lewis and Tony Thomson. Captain David Patton and Fran Florian will be the backcourt men.

Scarce stated that a possible last minute line up change may find Florian moving to forward in Thomson's place, and John Burton moving into the line up at guard.

Forwards, E. G. Maybohm and Ronnie Maravich and Terry Grooms, a 6-2 guard, are also slated to see much action against the 'Dogs. Chuck Bonovitch, a 6-6 former Marine, will relieve Pickens at the post.

CAPTAIN OF THE 1961-62 University of Georgia basketball squad is veteran guard Allen Johnson. The 5-10, 150-pound senior from Atlanta was an outstanding floor man for the Bulldogs last year, and is noted for his shooting ability.

Eagles Top STC In Pre-Season Tilt

Georgia Southern's Eagles warmed up for their season basketball opener against Georgia a week from today by taking an 85-75 decision from the Signal Training Center at Ft. Gordon Friday night.

The Eagles' 6-5 senior forward, Connie Lewis of Millen, hit on 17 of 25 attempts from the field and added two free throws for 36 honors.

Freshman Bill Pickens, a 6-9 center, dumped in 28 points for the Statesboro crew. The former Camp Lejeune cager made 11 of 19 shots from the field and six of 12 attempts from the line.

Early Going

Midway the first half, the contest was knotted at 19-all, but two successive field goals by Lewis put the Eagles in front and they never were headed. Most of the game, GSC held leads of eight-to-10 points. Late in the second half the Signalers came within five of tying the score.

The Eagles held a 43-35 lead at intermission, then came back with an all-court press which stopped the Signalers attack and snapped a five-game winning streak for the Gordon team.

Georgia Southern hit on 35 of 72 from the field while the Signalers made 26 of 68.

Al Smith led the Signalers with 17 points. Don Bates, who had been averaging 26.5 per game in the GSC on squad's first seven games, was held to 14. Joe Sisko netted 16 for the

Dunkel's Picks

Maybe it's all the fault of the mega-ton bomb.

Anyway, the college football season now staggering to a close has been the most confusing and formless on record.

Dunkel Ratings set a conspicuous new low. The higher rating team has won in only 75.6 percent of the 1,740 games, excluding ties, covered here.

Adding to the merriment has been the spectacle of 14 different post-season Bowls haggling over the handful of good prospects. Here are latest completed pairings and the rating par for each:

Aviation Bowl, Dec. 9—New Mexico 10 over Western Michigan.

Tangerine Bowl, Dec. 29 — Lamar Tech 2 over Mid. Tennessee State.

Sun Bowl, Dec. 30 — Villanova 6 over Wichita.

Orange Bowl, Jan. 1 — LSU 23 over Colorado.

Sugar Bowl, Jan. 1—Alabama 10 over Arkansas.

And, lest anyone forget, there's important business still on the regular season's agenda. Here are big games of next Saturday, with pars:

Army 6 over Navy.

Alabama 18 over Auburn.

Ole Miss 19 over Miss. St.

Ga. Tech 13 over Georgia.

Colo. 20 over Air Force.

Miami, Fla. 8 over Florida.

Duke 1 over Notre Dame.

Rice 8 over Baylor.

Louisiana State's 62-0 wallowing of Tulane propelled the Bayou Bengals into first place in the current ratings. Their record is 9-1 and they've set an average scoring superiority of 18.4 over opposition indexed at 98.8 for the nation's top total of 117.2. Ohio State is now second, Alabama third.

Fresno State, whose record is 10-0 after the defeat of Bowling Green, 36-6, in the Merc Bowl, probably has wrapped the small college top ranking.

The Bulldogs have set a margin of 16.7 over 669.9 opposition for the best total of 86.6. Miss. Southern is second, with 81.7, and Louisiana's McNeese State is third, with 75.3.

This season's improvement championship apparently goes to the University of Akron. Through last Saturday's games, the Zippers had set a rating of 69.8 which represented a gain of 31.7 over their 1960 final.

IF THE PERSONS pictured here have familiar faces, it's only because you've been ill, had troubles and needed a kind listener or you've taken your flu shot. Ready and capable to serve in these above named capacities and many more are the three nurses who serve the Georgia Southern students. They are: left to right, Miss Muriel Bryant, Miss Dorothy Wiggins, and Mrs. Eva Bryant.

Five On Health Staff Here; Full Services Given Students

By PAT CROWDER

Built in 1937, the Health cottage is one of many fine facilities offered to the students of Georgia Southern. Established as an inexpensive medical program for the students, it has become a valuable asset to the college.

The present health cottage was built during World War II. Heading a staff of five is Dr.

Byrd Daniels, assisted by Dr. Swint and three nurses, Miss Merle Bryant, Miss Dorothy Wiggins, and Mrs. Eva Bryant. Both Dr. Daniels and Dr. Swint began working with the college health service in September of 1959. Miss Wiggins, of Statesboro, and Miss Bryant, of Garfield, Georgia, joined the staff in January 1960. Mrs. Bryant, the newest addition to the staff, is from Statesboro, and came to GSC in September of this year.

Flu Shots Given

One recent project in the health program was the offering of flu shots to all students. This was set up by the student council, under the supervision of Dr. Daniels. A first this year, flu shots will probably be offered each year in the future.

Regular office hours, with a doctor in attendance, are held for students from 8-9 a.m. Monday thru Friday in the Health Cottage. The nurses urge students to come at this hour if they wish to see the doctor, and to come between the hours of 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. for minor ailments such as the common cold or sore throat. Emergencies, however, will be treated at any time.

$12 A Year

Students pay a health fee of $12 a year to cover all medical attention and drugs needed while attending school. This does not include prolonged illness; however, an insurance policy is offered to cover most medical expenses incurred in case of emergencies such as the necessity of an operation or an automobile accident.

The health cottage staff hopes that in future years all students will take advantage of this inexpensive medical attention and services of the infirmary.

Lindsey said that the purpose of the conference is to discuss teaching techniques, handling of discipline, student-teacher, supervising teacher planning, and other difficulties faced by student teachers.

The major problem of the secondary student teachers will also be discussed, along with suggestions on the improvement of the student-teacher program.
