GSC's LARGEST CHRISTMAS TREE, decorated with approximately 1000 colored bulbs, was officially lighted December 6. The tree, standing before the Frank I. Williams Center, serves as a beautiful reminder of the present holiday season.

416 High School Seniors Pick GSC As 'First Choice' College To Attend

SHOWN ABOVE is a portion of the Philharmonic Choir as they participated in the lighting of the Christmas tree. Several campus groups participated in this annual event. Approximately 800 students were present for the ceremony. After an address by President Henderson the switch was thrown to light the largest tree ever at Georgia Southern.

Giant Christmas Tree Is Lighted; Choir Performs

The second annual Christmas tree lighting ceremony was held on the front steps of the Frank I. Williams Center Wednesday night.

Several hundred students and faculty members attended.

The program began at 6:30 with the Philharmonic Choir leading the students in a series of familiar Christmas carols. A brass ensemble provided an instrument background.

Next on the program was a duet, "Greensleeves," sung by Charlotte Ballew and Beverly Webb. Dreena Sealey, representing the Masquers, read the Christmas story from the Bible. Harry Reese then sang a solo, "Jesus Bambino."

President Zach S. Henderson gave a Christmas message which was followed by the lighting of the tree. The tree is the largest ever to be decorated on the GSC campus.

The Philharmonic Choir, assisted by the brass quartet sang two verses of "Joy to the World," and concluded the program by asking the students to join with them in singing the first verse of the same carol again.

Four hundred and sixteen high school seniors chose Georgia Southern College as the college they would most like to attend at recent "College Day" programs in Georgia high schools.

This increase in the number of students choosing GSC has also been seen in the increased number of application blanks for admittance submitted to the office of the dean of students.

Seven representatives from GSC visited some 54 schools from October 2 through November 21. Georgia Southern's representatives were: Dr. Zach Henderson, president; Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students; Dr. Starr Miller, division head of the department of education; Lloyd Joyner, registrar; Mrs. Carolyn C. Gettys, dean of women; Ric Mandes, public relations director; and Miss Kirbylene Stephens, secretary to the president.

College Days Held

The "College Day" program is planned by the principal of the school to be visited with assistance from the school counselor. Each school is notified of the day when the college representative will be there and who the representative will be. As many schools as possible are visited in the allotted time with a maximum of three schools visited at one time.

All colleges and universities under the university system of Georgia are represented with many other schools also present.

The state was well covered by Georgia Southern representatives with a result of some 931 high school seniors interviewed. Of the number interviewed 662 choose GSC as either their first or second choice.

Students Interested

Miss Stephens evaluated the "College Day" program in the following manner. "If the meetings are at night when students come back to the school voluntarily with their parents, they are more interested and ask better questions than do students who go only when classes are dismissed for the day."

The effectiveness of the "College Day" program is determined by the advanced preparation that has gone into the program. Some students are very well versed in the kind of questions to ask while others are completely unaware of what to ask and what they are really doing there.

Agenda of Senior Class Activities Is Distributed

A class agenda of activities planned for this year is being distributed to members of the senior class this week.

Some of the proposed items on the list of activities are: Lantern Walk, senior banquet, informal party or picnic, presentation of some item given by the class to the college, a drive to get all seniors to join the Alumni Association, and invitations and name cards for the seniors.

Alpha Rho Tau, sponsors of the "Starlight Ball" presented the proceeds from the "Miss Starlight Contest" to the senior class. The proceeds amounted to $79.

The money is to be used by the senior class to purchase lanterns for the Lantern Walk. Recommendations and suggestions concerning the proposed agenda should be given to the class officers before the meeting in January. The object of the meeting will be to vote on the agenda.

WINTER QUARTER MOVIE SCHEDULE

The movie schedule for the winter quarter, released by Student Council president Diane Brannen, is as follows: January 5 — "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," January 12 — "Hell and High Water," January 19 — "The Time Machine," February 2 — "Mary of Scotland," February 9 — "Revolt of Mamie Stover," February 16 — "Somebody Up There Likes Me," February 23 — "Warlock," March 2 — "The Desert Fox," March 9 — "The Kid in Left Field."

Ham Radio Club Gives Call Letters

The amateur radio club of Georgia Southern College has just received its government license from the Federal Communications Commission in Washington, say Tom Fouché, president.

The college short-wave station has been assigned under the call letters WA4DTF.

This call will be a permanent fixture to the college extracurricular organization program.

John Lindsey has been named trustee of the radio station by the Federal Communications Commission office in Washington, and he will serve along with Fred Wallace as faculty advisors to the club.

The first station to be contacted under the new call was KSVOP, a "ham" in Livonia, Michigan.

Masquers' Next Play Announced

"The Male Animal" by James Thurber and Elliott Nugent will be the winter quarter production of the Masquers, according to Robert Overstreet, director. The play will be presented on February 8 and 9. Try-outs will be held on January 2 and 3 in McCroan Auditorium. There are five female and eight male parts in the play.

Any student interested may try-out for a part.

This will be the second Masquers production of the year. The fall quarter production, presented a few weeks ago, was "A Streetcar Named Desire."

EXAM SCHEDULE

The fall quarter examination schedule has been announced by Dean Paul F. Carroll for Georgia Southern College students. It is as follows: Monday, December 11, 2:30 p.m. - all eighth period classes; Tuesday, December 12, 8 a.m. - all first period classes; 1 p.m. - all fifth period classes; Wednesday, December 13, 8 a.m. - all second period classes; 1 p.m. - all sixth period classes; Thursday, December 14, 8 a.m. - all third period classes; 1 p.m. - all seventh period classes; Friday, December 15 - all fourth period classes.

On Monday, December 11, all classes will meet until 2 p.m. The two o'clock classes (seventh period) will not meet.

NEW TESTAMENT SURVEY COURSE TO BE OFFERED DURING WINTER QUARTER

An introductory or survey course in New Testament will be offered during the winter quarter, according to Rev. W. T. Browne, director of the Wesley Foundation.

This class will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 p.m. in Room 3 of the Administration Building. No academic credit is given.

This course is sponsored by the Wesley Foundation and open to all students. Rev. Browne will teach this course.

High School Debate Clinic To Be Held Here On Sat.

High school students from various schools in the surrounding area will send representatives to the debate clinic to be held here on the GSC campus tomorrow.

The purpose of the clinic is to offer help, advice, and encouragement to those students interested in dramatics and debating. According to Mr. Clyde Faries, sponsor of the debate team, the program will be held from 9 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

The program will be as follows:

9 a.m. - Registration.
9:30 a.m. - Masquers will present scenes from "A Streetcar Named Desire." Then Overstreet will give a critique in which he will point out what went into make-up, set, stage movement, acting, and directing of these scenes. He will also answer questions which the students may have.

10:30 a.m. - South Carolina's Charles DeLoach and Robert Poropst will debate the affirmative with GSC's Jim Wiggins and Henry Bell on "The Resolve That Labor Organizations Should Be Under the Jurisdiction of the Anti-trust Legislation."

12:30 - Lunch. A speaker will talk to the coaches while Wayne Ellis will provide student entertainment.

1:30 - A panel discussion will be presented on Federal Aid to Education on the high school level. Members of the panel are: Dr. Miller, head of Education Division; Dr. Haskell, head of Arts Division; Dr. Weaver, Professor of Education; and Dr. Tyson, Dean of Students.

After the discussion, the different schools will present their plays, debates, or proclamations. There will be a board of critics made up of students and faculty members who will give private instructions to the participants. Between 150 and 200 students are anticipated to be present for the clinic.

Carroll Names Course Changes For Next Quarter

Dean Paul F. Carroll recently announced the course changes for the winter quarter.

The following courses have been cancelled: Business 131, Typewriting, 4th period; Business 318, Business Correspondence, 8th period; and Business 360B, Business Statistics, 7th period.

Courses added to the Business Division's schedule are as follows: Business 132, Typewriting, Herty 106, instructor, Mr. Jerry Kicklighter, 4th period.

Business 201C, Accounting, instructor, Mr. Jerry Kicklighter, 3rd and 4th periods.
Business 360B, Business Statistics, instructor, Miss Holmes, 7th period.
English 103H, English Composition, will be in room 211 of the Administration Building 7th period. Instructor is Dr. Fielding D. Russell.

ART Elects New Officers; Gives Thanks For Aid

Mary Alice Cheney, Statesboro, was recently elected president of Alpha Rho Tau for the coming winter and spring quarters. She will fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Walter Strickland, Savannah, fall quarter president. Pat Hall, Metter, was elected secretary. She will fill the vacancy left by Miss Cheney.

Miss Cheney issued this statement. "On behalf of Alpha Rho Tau, I would like to thank all those who helped to make the 'Starlight Ball' the success that it was. My special thanks to all the clubs that sponsored a contestant. All the clubs were well represented. The money from the voting will be used to buy lanterns for the senior lantern walk.

10:30 a.m. - South Carolina's Charles DeLoach and Robert Poropst will debate the affirmative with GSC's Jim Wiggins and Henry Bell on "The Resolve That Labor Organizations Should Be Under the Jurisdiction of the Anti-trust Legislation."

12:30 - Lunch. A speaker will talk to the coaches while Wayne Ellis will provide student entertainment.

1:30 - A panel discussion will be presented on Federal Aid to Education on the high school level. Members of the panel are: Dr. Miller, head of Education Division; Dr. Haskell, head of Arts Division; Dr. Weaver, Professor of Education; and Dr. Tyson, Dean of Students.

After the discussion, the different schools will present their plays, debates, or proclamations. There will be a board of critics made up of students and faculty members who will give private instructions to the participants. Between 150 and 200 students are anticipated to be present for the clinic.

Statesboro Rotarians Honor GSC Students

Outstanding students of Georgia Southern College and Statesboro High School are being honored by the Statesboro Rotary Club as guests at the luncheon meetings of the club on alternating Mondays.

This program was initiated on Monday, November 6, and will continue through May 28.

On November 13, Diane Brannen was the college honoree. Midge Lasky was the club's guest on November 27. High school students academically or otherwise distinguished were honored at the meetings on November 6 and 20.

Students of GSC who were recently elected to "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" are the college honorees. They are: Diane Brannen, Statesboro; Midge Lasky, Savannah; Jerry Bennett, Alpharetta; Milton Callaway, Sylvester; Sandra Cox, Lenox, Sue Ellis, Statesboro; Jeanette Hatcher, Arlington; Juanda Newbern, Brunswick; Jim Pollak, Statesboro; Rick Osburn, Atlanta; Olin Presley, Covington; and Gayle Veldink, Gainesville.

The future dates on which GSC students will be recognized are: December 11, January 8 and 22, February 5 and 19, March 5 and 19, April 2, 16, and 30, and May 14 and 28.

College students will be escorted to the Rotary Club luncheons by Deans Ralph K. Tyson and Paul Carroll, members of the "Student Projects" Committee of the Rotary Club.

The purposes for the project are: to bring into contact with the Rotary, to recognize outstanding students of the local high school and college, and to create an awareness on the part of the Statesboro Rotarians of the local youths' leadership potential.

BOOKS DUE

Library books must be returned by December 12, and the library will be open during the Christmas holidays, according to Hassie McElveen, librarian.

The library will remain open at regular times until 1 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 15. However, it will close one hour early Monday night for a staff Christmas party.

Many unbound periodicals will go to the bindery on Dec. 8 and will not be returned until January.

ON TUESDAY NIGHT, December 5, the Ralph Marterie Orchestra appeared on McCroan Auditorium. Among the many hits played by the orchestra at the concert and the dance were "Trumpeter's Lullaby," "Cleopatra's Dream," and "Marterie's Mood."

New Kind Of 'Spirit' Engulfs Campus

For the past week or so, the word "spirit" seems to have been haunting this campus. Last week, students were aroused to the challenge of "Beat Georgia." Now, a different kind of spirit is filling the air.

It's a unique kind of spirit. One that is new, and yet, old, exciting, yet peaceful, and merry, yet sober. At Georgia Southern, this spirit flows forth in music and laughter, tree lightings and Christmas concerts, caroling and parties, gifts and cards, and Holly and Mistletoe.

But while we are enjoying these gay festivities, let's not forget that deep within, where this feeling was born, and where it will live forever, is found the spirit of love and beauty, forgiveness and salvation, three wise men and many shepherds, a star and a stable, a mother and a manger, a child and a saviour.

For at least one brief moment, perhaps each student will forget his books, gaze at the tinselled tree in the dormitory lobby, and remember the greatest birthday ever celebrated by man. No, he won't be on campus when that great day arrives; but the feeling is here now and "Merry Christmas" is already beginning to replace "good morning."

The lighting of the Christmas tree Wednesday night added greatly to the Christmas spirit now being enjoyed here. The Philharmonic Choir, the student council, Phi Mu Alpha, a brass ensemble, and others took part in that ceremony.

Since then, there have been Caroling-hayrides, dormitory parties, club parties, and many other yuletide activities. Dormitory decorations are now on display all over the campus.

Merry Christmas!

Lock Things Up If You Want Them

Reports have been drifting into the GEORGE-ANNE office concerning thievery and vandalism here on the campus.

It seems as though these two things have been on the increase recently. One specific example is that of a car radio being stolen. The car was parked on the campus when this happened. In another instance, one car owner found that someone had cut all the wires in the cars' electrical system.

As of now it is not known who is responsible. Sooner or later, however, these vandals and thieves will be caught. It is possible that those responsible are not students here. On the other hand though it is just as possible that these people are GSC students.

If that is the case, they shouldn't be and probably won't be for very long. It is assumed that those who are interested enough to enter college are mature and responsible enough not to be involved in escapades of this type. There are, unfortunately, always a few in every crowd who must act like children.

Possibly one of the best ways to punish these people when they are caught would be to destroy or take away some of their personal possessions. A dose of their own medicine may cure them.

Whatever the reason behind actions such as this and whoever the responsible people are, it is a sure thing that they are not needed around here.

This has not just started to happen. Different little incidents have been creeping up all during the quarter. One student had a coat taken but luckily it was later returned. This case could have been an accident but all indications were that it wasn't. Other students have had books and personal belongings disappear from the shelves in the student center.

Right now all that can be done is to hope that those who are guilty will be caught. They won't continue to get away with it. Once the present parties are unmasked we must try to prevent others from following suit.

In the meantime, it might be wise to lock up everything valuable. It is a shame that measures of this sort are necessary, but until people grow up and assume the role they should be playing it looks like one of the few means of protection.

An Example Of What Can Be Done

"Everything Worked Out Fine." That is one way to describe last weekend on the Georgia Southern campus.

Congratulations are in order for the basketball team who opened the season with a bang and really did "Dump The Dogs." Along with congratulations we again want to wish the basketball squad the best of luck for continued success.

The basketball team was not the only group to make last weekend one of the highlights of this quarter. Thanks to so many individuals and clubs there was much to do and always a good crowd there to do it.

Folks who were here know what a good time there was so there is really no need to elaborate. Those who missed out may decide to stay the next time to find out just how great this campus CAN be on a weekend.

After seeing the results of last weekend, one thing does stand out. The majority of the GSC students certainly proved that there can be a lot to do here on weekends with just a little planning and some all-out effort. But perhaps most important it was also proved that those few stubborn individuals who insist on running home to who knows what on the weekends aren't really needed after all.

So the next time the majority of the students can wish these home-bound folks "Good-bye" and then stay on to have a good "college time."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I'LL SURE BE GLAD WHEN NEXT TERM STARTS - SEEMS SO DEAD AROUND HERE NOW DURING FINAL WEEK."

By WINFRED L. GODWIN
Director Southern Regional Education Board

Many column inches of type have told the stories of Speaker Sam Rayburn in the days since his death. One of the most poignant is of a young boy standing on a train platform waiting for the train that would take him to Mayo Normal School and the first step in a life spent in public service.

He had managed to scrimp together $5 from his own earnings to take on the journey. And as he stood saying goodbye to his father, the older Rayburn pressed on him $25 more — a sum Sam Rayburn spoke of in the last days of his life.

"God knows how he saved it," the Speaker is quoted as saying. And in those days it was something to wonder about. The older man's gesture said in its own way that education for his children was important to him.

Lived To See Changes
Sixty years later higher education has become increasingly important for vast numbers of young people. Technological changes, social and economic growth, and urbanization have made more and different education imperative for young people of the South. During his years in the Speaker's chair, Mr. Sam saw ever larger number of parents and young people seeking opportunities for college education.

In 1900 when the young Texas farm boy started out for Mayo Normal School, which later became East Texas State College in Commerce, Texas, only about four per cent of the college age population of the United States was going to college, and a large number of those were from wealthy families.

In 1900 student fees, just tuition and matriculation, amounted to something like $35 a year, compared with a per capita annual income which averaged $200.

Percentage Increases
By 1960, 40 per cent of the college population of the United States was going to college. Basic fees, tuition and matriculation amounted to about $225 compared with an average per capita income of $2,200 — but still higher education means a sacrifice for many Southern families sending children to public colleges.

A student helped himself through college in different ways, then, too. Sam Rayburn worked his way by sweeping floors and milking cows and ringing school bells. For his chores he received some $8 a month. Today a student working part time averages $360 a year, and in many instances in the urban South he holds a full-time job and goes to school in spare hours of the day or night. Many parents now take on extra jobs to meet the costs of their children's education.

Young Sam Rayburn had decided in his early teens that he was going to be Speaker of the House of Representatives. He couldn't stop after Normal School and make that goal, he felt, so he planned for further education. But first he went home to teach school for two years. Then he ran for the state legislature and made $5 a day as a representative of the people. With money he saved from this salary he went on to study law at the University of Texas law school.

Further Study A Help

He lived to see a time when graduate education and professional education are one of the big concerns of the South—when scientists, teachers and businessmen were finding the masters and even the doctors degree necessary for jobs that were going places.

The frontier which produced Sam Rayburn has disappeared into American history. The education which gave him a foundation for his life has changed to a startling degree in the last 60 years. But the need for men like him has grown more intense and the need for a system of education which can produce more such leaders for the South is imperative. To this task education can devote itself in memory of a man who sprang from the South to serve a nation and the South to serve a nation and the free world.

SOMETIMES NOT AT ALL

Christmas is approaching again and each year it seems to roll around a bit sooner. But the number of days always remains the same, they just seem to disappear faster.

Millions of people around the globe are busy making preparations. Here at Southern only final exams remain before the quarter ends and our holiday season begins. In homes the decorations are going up and store fronts in towns and cities of all sizes are listening. Lights and bright colored packages are becoming commonplace.

All this and more in preparation for another Christmas. This, by the calendar, is the 1,961st Christmas to be celebrated by Christian people everywhere.

Looses Meaning

Often things become too routine and lose their meaning if they have been around for a long time. That is why as this 1,961st Christmas approaches we need to look back at the first Christmas.

It has become customary to extend proper greetings at this time of the year, but perhaps too many people forget to put meaning into those greetings

This year as we celebrate the birth of our Redeemer, let's use that first Christmas message. Remember how it goes, "Peace On Earth, Goodwill to Men."

Reverse Could Be True

Surely no one will argue that we are living in a time when it would be more appropriate than ever. Without the results of that first message there may be "Hatred Among Men, Destruction On Earth."

Because this is the last issue of THE GEORGE-ANNE before the holidays may I take this opportunity to wish all of our readers and friends "A Merry Christmas and A Happy New Year" and also to ask that there be "Peace On Earth, Goodwill To Men."

For a look into what is coming in THE GEORGE-ANNE after the new year dawns read on. We hope to take on a new look sometime during the next quarter.

Additional sections and departments are also in the planning stages. With the recent expansion to six pages we can now expand present services and hope to add more. Keep your eyes on THE GEORGE-ANNE in 1962.

After the column appeared in this spot last week condemning the distribution of Communist propaganda a series of articles on Communism was brought to our attention. This series, written by the United States Air Force Chaplain Board at the Air University, Maxwell AFB, Alabama, presents a true picture of the threat of Communism. It is divided into thirteen parts. Each article has been read and approved by Chaplain, Mayor General, Terrence P. Finnegan, Chief of Chaplains, United States Air Force.

The series is called "Communism and You" Topics which will be covered are: "The Battle For Men's Minds," "What Is Communism?" "The Progress of Communism," "High Lights of Russian History," "Karl Marx," "Marx and Class Struggles," "Nikolai Lenin: Revolutionist"

Also, "Joseph Stalin: Dictator," "Communism Under Khrushchev," "Communism in China," "Communist Party, USA," "Targets of the Communist Party, USA," and "What You Can Do About Communism."

Each one of us should know the truth about Communism. It is hoped that this series of articles will be informative and will succeed in presenting the real dangers of this system. Originally written for use in newspapers at Air Force bases this series will begin in the January 5 issue of THE GEORGE-ANNE and will continue weekly until its completion.

A Square Deal

By BILLY DEAL

For those who don't know, Rook is the favorite card game in this column.

Rook is a specialized entertainment, and it requires a great deal of concentration to play. Of course, judging from the way some of the second floor residents of Cone Hall play, you'd never know it.

But rumors have reached my ears that that old standby, Bridge is gaining in popularity. Three of my first four years in college were spent with one goal in mind — learning how to play Bridge. I was tutored by some of the best card sharks since Bart Maverick, but the void remained — I just couldn't catch on.

It's really an easy game, everybody kept telling me, it's odd how a college student can't comprehend something as simple as Bridge. Well, I took the insults as long as I could, then I decided to do something about it. I happened to wander down to the lobby of Cone Hall about 3 o'clock in the morning, and there, in a dimly lit corner, were four fellow students engaged in a game of Bridge.

The Big Opportunity

This is my chance, I thought. So, I went over and three hours later I had learned the fundamentals of the game that made Charles Goren rich. This is how it goes . . .

The game is usually played with four participants — two sets of partners — except in the months that are spelled with an R. Then you must play with red cards and not before 7 p.m.

All the cards are dealt and each player should have 13. If you don't have 13, that means somebody has your share and you can get them by bopping the guy on the nose or asking for a new deal. If you ask for a new deal, you forfeit 1,500 points and your subscription to THE Progressive Farmer.

The dealer starts the bidding. You can't bid unless you have three jacks, and if you have three four's or four three's you automatically win 8,000 points. If you pass, you can't speak for 23 minutes, unless your partner says the secret word which allows you political immunity.

Bidding Continues

So, the bidding progresses. You bid in suits, and you bid as many tricks as you think you can take above six. Is that clear? Anyway, if you have a strong suit — say, ace, nine, six and three of clubs — you might bid "six clubs." Then, you would have to make 12 tricks, unless you're vulnerable and don't like chocolate ice cream or if you have less than 15 points and can't go home for Christmas. If you're vulnerable, that means you need a game to keep from going set or you will have to get 13 spades on the next hand. Suppose your partner gets the bid for five clubs and the guy on his left doubles. That means you must take two tricks or the guy who doubled will get to pick two of your cards on the next hand.

In clubs, you have the six and eight; your partner has the ten, nine, seven and four. Even I know that's not a strong hand, but this merely means that your partner tried to hit you. Obviously, he didn't, and this means that somebody is loaded up with the willies in clubs. (That's a colloquial expression I picked up).

Time To Exit

Well, your partner bid five — which means he must make 11 tricks — and he takes only two. Oh, yes. One more thing. If your partner gets the bid, then you get to lay down your hand and go take a shower.

If everybody is gone when you come back, you interpret this as a hint that they were sleepy or that they're searching for a new partner. Either way, you should be happy for getting rid of a dumb partner, who will bid five clubs when he didn't even have three jacks.

There's nothing to it. It really is a simple game.

Incidentally, if you don't see a column in this spot next week, it could be because the paper doesn't come out. But that won't be it. You won't see it because I won't be here — I've accepted a bid to play in the Bridge Bowl in Walhalla, S. C.

By the way, I need a partner. Any volunteers?

GRADING A PAPER Dr. Samuel T. Habel's way no longer takes hours and hours. Three students line up to wait for their grades after taking a psychology test. But they don't have to wait too long and a magical trick isn't the reason. Dr. Habel uses his "Punch-A-Hole" type tests and takes his "Grade-O-Matic" to class with him.

GSC Sociology-Psychology Students Experience 'Punch-A-Hole' Tests

Students taking courses under Dr. Samuel T. Habel Jr., associate professor of social psychology, no longer have to wait weeks and weeks for their tests to be graded.

Approximately five seconds after they hand their "cards" in, the students know the results of their hours of study. This "quickie" method of grading is due to a homemade automatic grading machine which Dr. Habel uses.

Instead of using paper and pens on tests, the psychology and sociology students are supplied with I.B.M. cards, stylus pens, and question sheets. The students then answers the questions by punching out the correct answer on the card with the stylus.

"These 'punch a hole' type tests, as they are called, are a wonderful thing for grading," he says. The idea is copied after an electrical machine called a Grade-O-Matic which sells for approximately $560. The GSC version of this tester, which costs less than a dollar, consists of a cigar box, a piece of glass and a light bulb.

The answer cards are regular I.B.M. cards and allow 90 questions on the test with five choices per answer. According to the students they are allowed two changes an answer and then they have to buy a new card.

When ready to correct tests, Dr. Habel places an answer card made out by him beneath the glass and over the light. Then when the students' cards are placed over the answer cards, Dr. Habel counts the number of hole that the light shines through and multiplies the total by the number of points each question counts.

About 79 papers can be corrected in 15 minutes, Dr. Habel said. He added that all the cards are double checked.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Tuesday night, December 5, of 1961 will probably be remembered for a long time at GSC as "the night the student body flunked out!" This is somewhat difficult to believe because that was the night that so many students were "busy studying for tests, writing term papers and attending to various other important tasks".

But, I am not referring to academic failure or scholastic shortcomings! I am instead concerned with a subject far more vital to a student's success in later life than with book learning evaluation. Of course, we all should strive for perfection in our college aims; we all should maintain the highest possible grade average according to our ability... but, we need to emphasize the importance of being a well-rounded individual — an individual that will take advantage of the rare opportunities that pass before him! Now what better opportunity could an individual ever hope to have than having the chance to see a world famous outstanding musical group like RALPH MALTERI!

No, — in the records of the administration the students of GSC may still be on the roll, but in the minds of all those loyal promoters of school spirit, culture and the worthwhile things in life the student body rates one big F!

To all those fortunate few who took advantage of this great opportunity to enjoy a tremendous group like "RALPH MALTERI", I say thank you for your support... For this seems to be a dying limb and a rare element in the structure of the student body.

Signed: Tommy Fouché.

Foreign Students Describe Their Holiday Celebrations

By MARIE EUBANKS

Next Friday most of us will be on our way home, ready to celebrate the end of finals and the Christmas season. Three members of the GSC student body, however, will be spending this Christmas far from home.

Jorge Correa, Colombia, South America, will be spending his holidays at the home of Mr. Hue Thomas Jr., chairman of the Rotary Club of Savannah. Jorge says that Savannah reminds him of his own home of Medellin, the second largest city in Colombia. The main avenue in Medellin is lined by oaks hung with Spanish moss. At Christmas time they are decorated with lights, and all the people go to see them.

Churches Are Full
Colombia is a very religious country, and during Christmas the churches are always full. At the center of town in a park near the cathedral is a life-size presepe or manger scene. Every day from December 16 to the 24th well-known musicians play and choirs sing in the park. All the people in the city may come. A priest comes and leads the prayers of a novena. A novena is nine days of prayer in praise of the Christ Child. At Christmas the novena is sung to a traditional tune, but new words are written each year by Colombian poets.

About the December 10 the families go up into the mountains to bring orchids and moss to decorate a presepe in the home. From the 16th to the 24th neighbors meet in each others homes to see the presepe and to pray a novena. Then they sing carols, and dance.

Parties Held
There is always a neighborhood party at the home where the prettiest presepe is. During this time friends exchange gifts and typical food is served. This includes natilla, a kind of pudding, bunuelos, which is bread, and dulce de papaja, fruit. Everyone helps to prepare the food in the kitchen of the host's home.

Christmas eve is the greatest day of the holiday. Everyone attends Midnight Mass and then comes home to a big dinner. The children are put to bed. In the morning they find their presents beneath their pillows.

Time For Rest
While the children are sleeping the adults have a party that lasts the night. Then from Christmas to New Years they rest and visit old friends. New Years is, of course, another fiesta.

This Christmas Peder Lunde, Oslo, Norway, will work in an inn in Montsnow, Vermont as a ski instructor. He has worked as an instructor in Norway. Driving to Vermont with him will be Raymond Majors, Claxton, and D. C. Tuneson, Adel. They will be waiting at the same inn where Peder will be working.

Peder says that Christmas doesn't seem like Christmas without snow. In Norway the children begin early to make small baskets from colored paper. These they fill with candy and hang on the tree.

Christmas Scene
Each family makes a special Christmas scene on a table. Cotton is used as snow. There are miniature houses and churches, and little figures skate and ski.

On Christmas eve the people go to services. After church they have a dinner and gather around the tree to sing carols. Then Julenissen, the Norwegian Santa Claus, comes and gives the presents. Christmas day is spent visiting friends.

Wadih Maloof, Balbek, Lebanon, is going to Birmingham, where he will attend a Lebanese wedding on Christmas eve. There will be Lebanese food and folk dancing. Then Wadih will go to New Orleans. He says,

I have heard that New Orleans is the 'Paris of the South' and I am going to find out."

Money Given To Poor
In Lebanon, as in Colombia, there is in each house a manger scene. Also there is always a cedar Christmas tree that is very simply decorated. When neighbors come to visit they leave some money near the tree. It is given to the poor.

On Christmas eve everyone goes to Mass, and afterwards they gather together to exchange gifts. On Christmas night the young people present a Christmas play. After the play is a gala celebration where is dancing and singing. The singers divide into groups. Each group has a special singer who will compete with the best singers from the other groups. The object is to see who can make up the best songs as they go along.

If you think you're seeing more Marlboro men lately, you're right. More than 25,000 smokers all over the country are switching to Marlboro every month!

You'll know why when you try them.

Marlboro is the filter cigarette with the unfiltered taste. The secret of the flavor is the famous Marlboro recipe from Richmond, Virginia... and the pure white Selectrate filter that goes with it.

Try Marlboro and judge for yourself. On or off campus, you get a lot to like.

Phi Beta Lambda Sets Date For Annual Meeting

Jim Pollak, State President of Phi Beta Lambda chapter of the Future Business Leaders of America, announces that the 1961-62 State Convention of Future Business Leaders will be held in Atlanta on April 13 and 14, according to the State Department of Education.

This will be a joint convention of the Future Business Leaders organization and the Phi Beta Lambda chapters.

At this annual meeting 85 Georgia high schools and eleven college chapters will be represented. Approximately 400 members are expected to attend.

Competition will be seen as the various chapters vie for the titles of Miss and Mr. Future Business Executives and Miss and Mr. Future Business Leaders. Honors will be awarded those chapters having the largest membership and the most active membership.

Special recognition will be given the chapter presenting the most original project.

At the 1960 Rock Eagle state convention, the Georgia Southern chapter received honors for having the Largest Chapter Membership, for Best Chapter Exhibit, Annual Chapter Activities Report, Most Original Project, and a Certificate of Proficiency.

This 1961-62 convention will begin Friday, April 13, at the Dinkler-Plaza Hotel.

GSC Best In Basketball

The basketball season has begun, and Georgia Southern College can now come to life!

Although GSC does not have a football team, and does not remain in the public eye throughout the year because of its size, it does have it moments of glory. Basketball provides this moment for GSC.

Respected By All

Whenever basketball is discussed in Georgia, you can be sure that before the conversation is over, GSC will be mentioned. Known for its reputation and not for its size, Georgia Southern is respected by much larger schools for its adaptness on the hardwood. Over the years, the Eagles and the Professors, under the expert tutelage of Coach Scarce and his predecessors, have built a reputation of almost legendary proportions.

The Bigger They Come...

Against schools with enrollments four or five times its size, GSC has performed well. The Eagles gave an example of this last Saturday night, defeating the Bulldogs from the University of Georgia, 74-64. The University has an enrollment of approximately 7,800 students, quite a contrast to GSC's meager 1,700.

Continue Tradition?

At the present time, there is no reason to think that the 1961-62 Eagles will not continue the winning tradition of past GSC teams. Rather, it would be much easier to think the opposite—that this year's Eagles could be the best and most successful in the illustrious basketball history of the college.

Hats Off To Yeager

Georgia Southern is very fortunate to have among its faculty such a man as Patrick Yeager, gymnastics coach of the Eagles. Well known and liked by everyone who knows him, he brought a touch of class to the school when he came. Last Tuesday, he brought national recognition to the school, by virtue of being named as chairman of the Women's Gymnastics Committee for the 1964 Olympic Games. So, hats off to a fine coach who is a credit to our school.

also appointed to divide the responsibilities.

Sanford Hall appears from the outside to be a big Christmas package. The front door is covered with a large cedar wreath which is sprayed with glitter.

From the top of door to the bottom and sides is a wide red ribbon which comes to the center to meet the wreath and gives the appearance of a large bow. Large candles are placed under each door. The entire door is covered in aluminum foil. Workers on the door decorating committee were Billy Felder, Larry Cook and Harry Beck.

The interior decorations feature an aluminum Christmas tree trimmed with red lights and ornaments. Mantle decorations include a manger scene, angels and stars on the mirror and candles at each side.

The residence hall party will be held at 10 p.m. Sunday night and each of the 252 men will receive a small Christmas package of food. The House Council is in charge of the refreshments and they were also responsible for the lounge decorations.

GSC Gymnasts

Compete In Fla. Meet Tomorrow

The Georgia Southern College gymnastics teams will compete in the Central Florida Invitational Championships this weekend in Leesburg, Florida. In a recent interview, Coach Patrick Yeager said that both the men's and women's teams will participate in the meet, along with a select group of approximately 11 youngsters who have been training at GSC this year.

The youngsters, who will compete against representatives of their own age group from several surrounding states, will be in competition on Saturday morning and early Saturday afternoon, while both the men and women in the senior divisions will be competing mostly on Saturday night, with some events taking place in the afternoon.

Coach Yeager stated that GSC was entered in practically all events and divisions of the meet, and is expected to have a good chance to capture meet honors. He said that Florida State would probably give the Eagles their strongest competition, but also pointed out that anything could happen, and other teams could prove to be surprisingly strong.

There will be approximately 15 or 16 teams competing in the meet, with over 200 gymnasts participating.

Eagles Defeat Ga. Bulldogs In Season Opener, 74-64; Florian Leads Teammates In Scoring

The Georgia Southern Eagles rolled past the Bulldogs from the University of Georgia in a tightly-contested season opener here Saturday night by a score of 74-64.

The Eagle team took the opening trip and passed into their starting center Bill Pickens, who promptly scored to give the GSC team a lead which they lost for only a few seconds in the last half. For the most part of the first half, the Eagles held a slight edge of two or three points and when the buzzer sounded to end the half, they had a lead of 37-34.

As the second half began, the Bulldogs pulled into the lead, 41-40, but the Eagles quickly rallied to take the lead for good. The second half Eagle effort was led by Francis Florian, the game's leading scorer with 26 points. In the second half he had eight of 14 field goal attempts. John Burton, a reserve, who saw action throughout the last half, spurred the Eagles with his fine defensive play.

Point leaders for the Eagles were Pickens with 12 points and Connie Lewis and Burton with 11 each. Substitute center Chuck Bonavitch had nine points.

Carlton Gill, a former member of the GSC team, gave the Statesboro fans 'due cause to mourn his departure as he led the "Dogs" in points with 23 and led both teams in rebounds with 16. Gill was a member of the Eagle team during his Freshman and Sophomore years (1955-57) and while at Southern made a name for himself as a defensive player.

6th Annual High School Tournament

December 27-28-29

Georgia's No. 1 invitational high school basketball tournament, the Georgia Southern College-Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce tournament is scheduled at the W. S. Hanner Building on December 27-27-29.

The tournament has a very well-balanced field this year, and promises to follow the fine example set by the tournaments of the past five years. Schools of all classes participate annually, and have proved before that the class of the school does not necessarily denote the teams ability to play winning basketball.

Past winners of the tournament include: 1956, Southeast Bulloch; 1957, Richmond Academy; 1958 and 1959, Southeast Bulloch; and 1960, Appling County.

The teams participating in the tournament and their respective coaches are: Statesboro High School, Ray Williams; Southeast Bulloch, George Roebuck; Portal, Bill Brown; Marvin Pittman, Roger Parsons; Appling Co. High School, Chester Webb; Ware County High School, Herbert Reeves; Glennville High School, Wallace Childs; and Richmond Academy, Norman Griffin.

GSC In Xmas Tourney

Georgia Southern College will participate in the Camp Lejeune Collegiate Basketball Tournament at Camp Lejeune Marine Base, North Carolina on December 27-29. The Eagles will play three games.

Dunkel's Picks

Although college basketball's Cincinnati-Ohio State dynasty certainly isn't crumbling, it seems to be getting more competition this year, according to the Dunkel Ratings.

Winners of 1-2 ranking last year by a wide margin, the Bearcats and Buckeyes found their ratings slipping slightly in opening games.

Closing the gap are such powerful new editions as those of Kansas State, St. Louis, Drake, Wichita, and Wake Forest.

Wittenberg, last year's NCAA small college champion, and Grambling, NAIA titlist, held on to their top spots through opening engagements.

National Champion Cincinnati (83.5) tackles Wisconsin (65.5) tomorrow night. Second place Ohio State has it rougher. Tonight the Bucks (62.7) play Wichita (75.1) at home, and on the next night they'll be at Wake Forest (74.9).

Ratings, set by the teams themselves through progressive indexing of difference by score, gave the following major and small college rankings through December 4:

Majors: Cincinnati, 83.5; Ohio State, 82.7; Kansas State, 81.2; St. Bonaventure, 76.4; St. Louis, 75.8; Drake, 75.5; Wichita, 75.1; Wake Forest, 74.9; St. Joseph, Pa., 73.9; Dayton, 73.9; N. Carolina, 73.7; Louisville, 73.2; Providence, 73.1; Houston, 72.5; Indiana, 71.7; Niagara, 71.7; Kansas, 71.2; DePaul, 70.0; Kentucky, 70.0; Morehead St., 69.8; Bowling Green, 69.5; Arizona State, 69.0; Washington, 68.5; and Duquesne, 68.3.

Also: Xavier, 68.3; California, 68.1; Duke, 68.1; Detroit, 68.0; Toledo, 68.0; Utah, 68.0; Memphis State, 67.9; Michigan State, 67.9; Bradley, 67.3; Brigham Young, 67.3; Loyola, Ill., 67.3; Texas Tech, 67.2; Purdue, 67.1; Missouri, 67.0; Oklahoma State, 66.7; Oregon, 66.7; Minnesota, 66.5; Arkansas, 66.4; and Vanderbilt, 66.4.

Also: Texas A & M, 66.3; Colorado State, 66.1; Idaho, 66.1; N. C. State, 66.1; Canisius, 65.9; U.C.L.A., 65.9; W. Va., 65.7; Wisconsin, 65.5; Marquette, 65.4; Northwestern, 64.8; Temple, 64.7; and Southern California, 64.6.

Small Colleges: Wittenberg, 65.3; Grambling, 65.1; Akron, 62.8; Mansfield State, 62.3; Kentucky Wesleyan, 61.9; S.E. Missouri, 61.2; Georgetown, Ky., 59.4; Tenn. A & I, 59.6; Albright, 58.9; Evansville, 58.7; Mt. St. Mary's, 58.5; and W. Illinois, 57.7.

Also: S. Illinois, 57.5; Westminster, Pa., 57.4; S. W. Missouri, 56.3; Oglethorpe, 56.1; La. State, 55.0; and S. W. La., 54.6.

OUTSTANDING IN GSC's Saturday night win over the University of Georgia were two flashy guards from Orient, Illinois, shown above. Francis Florian (left) led both teams in scoring with 26 points. John Burton (right) did not start the game, but gave an outstanding performance in a reserve role, and may have earned a starting berth.

Women Gymnasts Led By Yeager In '64 Olympics

Patrick Yeager, gymnastics coach at Georgia Southern for the past two years, was named chairman of the Women's Gymnastics Committee for the 1964 Olympic Games in a meeting held in Washington, D. C. last Tuesday.

Yeager's selection was announced by the U. S. Olympic Committee. He was one of 35 games committee chairmen chosen at the meeting.

The committees are charged with selecting teams for the 1964 Olympics and Pan-American Games.

Yeager is certainly no stranger on the Olympic scene. He was active as a coach in the 1960 games held in Rome, Italy, and is very well known in gymnastics circles.

All-American Webb Returns Sat.; All-Stars Face Marines

Statesboro area basketball fans have a real treat in store for them at Georgia Southern College on the night of December 9th, when they will again have the opportunity to see All-American Chester Webb in action with the Statesboro All-Stars as they battle the Parris Island Marines.

Webb will team up with other former Georgia Southern basketball greats as they work to stop the invasion by the Marines. Jim Long, Tracy Rivers, Go Go Rowe, Ronnie Rush, John Donald Akins and Clyde Miller will be among the group teaming up with All-American Chester Webb to help in combat against the Marines. The game will be a benefit affair with the proceeds going to Statesboro Recreation Department for use in the Fall and Winter program. The Statesboro High School Blue Devils will play host to Bradwell Institute in a preliminary which starts with the girls game at 5:45 p.m. The boys will play at seven.

A special presentation will be made at half-time when Bulloch County sports fans will honor one of their most outstanding members, Mr. S. A. Driggers, of Stilson, Georgia, one of the most successful basketball coaches the State of Georgia has ever produced, and the first coach to capture both the state boys and girls championships in the same year, will be honored at the half of the All Star-Parris Island Game.

Admission is 50c for students and $1.00 for adults.

'Pep Pills' Blamed For Mounting Toll Of Highway Accidents, Crime

Bootleg operation "more dangerous than the narcotics traffic" are taking place every day with amphetamine sulfate — commonly known as "pep pills," reports the October Reader's Digest, in an article condensed from Today's Health, published by the American Medical Association.

Author Lin Root says that the growing use of the pep pills can be blamed for a mounting rise in juvenile crime and highway accidents.

Like other useful drugs, amphetamine has a "Jekyll-and-Hyde" character; benign when used under physician's care, the drug is a menace when taken irresponsibly.

Irresponsible use has been on the increase since 1949, when original patents on amphetamine expired. More than 150 companies are grinding out the pills at a rate of 75,000 pounds — enough for seven million five-milligram pills — a year. More than two-thirds of these pills are sold illegally, at truck stops, service stations, roadside diners.

More frightening, the illegal traffic is branching out to schools, where thrill-seeking teenagers are gulping the pills, then going out to commit crimes. Says one youngster: "Thrill pills are worse than marijuana because after you take them you feel you can pull off any kind of job."

Most noteworthy of the recent pep pill tragedies was the death in Rome last year of an Olympic bicycle racer after a dose of the stimulant.

Mrs. Root suggests various ways of controlling the pep pill traffic in her article. But until these suggestions are adopted, she says, "the only hope lies in wider understanding of the truth about amphetamine sulfate". Her article is titled: "Wake Up And Die: The Pep Pill Menace".

MUSIC STUDENTS PRESENT PROGRAM TO VIDALIA DART

Workshop For Teachers To Be Held In Summer

The Division of Education of Georgia Southern College announces plans for a summer program in Early Elementary Education beginning the summer of 1962. A six weeks workshop, as part of the first summer session, is to be selected.

The program is designed for the in-service teachers who are interested in professional study of the curricula of nursery school, kindergarten, and primary grades.

The college credit earned (10 quarter hours) may be used as a part of a planned undergraduate program in elementary education leading to a professional T-4 certificate in Elementary Education with an endorsement in Early Elementary Education. It may also serve as work toward the addition of the endorsement to the T-4 certificate in Elementary Education.

Anyone interested in participating in this 1962 summer program may contact Dr. Walter B. Mathews, Education Division, Georgia Southern College.

WESLEY FOUNDATION PLANS WATCHNIGHT SERVICE

At 9 p.m. on New Year's eve, the Wesley Foundation will hold a Watchnight service in the fellowship parlor of the Pittman Park Methodist Church, according to Rev. William T. Browne, director of the Wesley Foundation. There will be refreshments and entertainment. All students interested may attend.

Intramural Roundup

Wednesday of last week, the Colts defeated the Gators 14-0 and the Tigers forfeited to the Panthers. In Thursday's game, the Leopards forfeited to the Bobcats, while the Rams beat the Wildcats 12 to 6.

Monday of this week, the Panthers defeated the Lions 18 to 13. The Colts lost to Bears 7 to 13.

The teams' individual points are listed as follows: Panthers, 204; Bears, 144; Lions, 108; Colts, 106; Wildcats, 92; Rams, 88; Stallions, 64; Gators, 48; Tigers, 46; Bobcats, 42; Cougars, 40; Leopards, 34.

Eagles Down Rollins, Lose To Stetson; Face Tampa Sat.

The Georgia Southern Eagles split their first two games of the first road trip of the season Wednesday and Thursday nights, winning easily over Rollins Wednesday night, 86-56, and losing Thursday to Stetson, 73-62. The loss to Stetson was the first of the year for the Eagles and brought their record to 2-1.

In the Rollins game, GSC had little trouble in rolling over the opposition, with guard Francis Florian and center Bill Pickens leading the way with 18 points each. The rest of the scoring was evenly distributed among the other starters, with team captain David Patton sinking 14 and John Burton and Connie Lewis scoring 11 and 10, respectively. Pickens led the two teams in rebounding with 18. Last night the Stetson Hatters led most of the way and handed the Georgia Southern Eagles their first setback in three games, 73-62, here Thursday night.

Dalton Epting and Joel Hancock paced the Floridians to the win by accounting for 49 of their team's points. Epting got 27 markers and Hancock 22 while Bill Hester chipped in with 16 more.

The Eagles' 6-9 pivotman Bill Pickens kept Coach J. B. Seacore's crew in it with a 23-point outburst and by grabbing 19 rebounds.

Stetson held a 33-30 halftime lead and maintained control most of the second half, although one brief Eagle rally tied the game before the Hatters moved away again. The final 11-point margin was the biggest of the contest.

Saturday night, the Eagles face the tall and hard-to-beat

Tampa club, for the last game of the current road trip. Over the holidays, they will compete in a Christmas Tourney held at Camp Lejeune, where they will play three games. The next official game for the Eagles will be against Oglethorpe in Atlanta on January 3. The first home game after the holidays will be against the Stetson Hatters on January 6.

IT'S JUST LIKE BEING in Elementary School Again! Part of becoming an elementary grades teacher is learning to play the games the children will enjoy. No doubt from the expressions on the faces in this picture our GSC college students are also having a wonderful time playing the games too. In the course Health and Physical Education for Elementary Teachers, taught by J. I. Clements, the girls outnumber the boys, but they seem to be having a good time anyway.

Student Teacher Applications For '62-63 Available

Georgia Southern College students who are planning to do their practice teaching during the fall, winter, or spring quarter of 1962-63 should file for student teaching application by January 31, 1962, according to Dr. Starr Miller.

A meeting of all students interested in applying for student teaching during 1962-63 will be called during the middle of January to pass out applications and answer questions concerning the program.

Application forms and information concerning the program may be obtained by contacting Harold Johnson, director of student teaching development.

"Advanced planning is a key factor in the improvement of the student teaching program," says Miller. "Therefore certain time elements are to be placed on students planning to do practice teaching."

Applications for student teaching for the spring quarter are being received and the deadline of December 11, 1961, has been set for accepting applications for spring quarter student teaching.

drawn by Sterling Jones, includes red foil covering the hexagon-shaped windows and doors. Written on each window in gold foil lettering is "Silent Night, Holy Night." Attention is focused on the front door featuring shepherd's and stars in gold foil with Cone Hall's wishes for a "Merry Christmas."

Bobby Jones was chairman of the entire committee and others who worked on the decorations are Larry Gordon, John Griffin and Harley Davidson.

Santa At Lewis

A big, jolly Santa Claus with his bag of toys and twinkling eyes smile at you from the door of Lewis Hall. The outside rim of the door is decorated with greenery. Chairman of the decorations was Judy Jones and Maxine Payne drew the Santa Claus. Madge Surlis and Ann Gibbs are in charge of refreshments to be served Sunday night at the Christmas party. Barbara Brown is social chairman of the dormitory and acted as overall chairman for the holiday events.

Deal Hall women used the traditional season colors in their dorm decorations this year. The tinkling of bells welcomes all visitors to the dorm. A wreath of greenery is placed on each door with bows and streamers hanging from each wreath. Hanging from each streamer is a bell which rings as the door moves. Emblems of Christmas are scattered on the glass louvers. Each object is spattered with glitter. Bells also hang from each light in the lobby.

The residence hall party is scheduled for Sunday night. Those persons who acted as chairmen of committees are: Delle Boykin, tree; Jo Carol Gettys, front door; Amelia Robertson, party program; and Sandra Robertson, refreshment chairman.

Tradition Followed

A pair of gold and white wreaths decorate the door of Anderson Hall and a large Christmas tree can be seen through the jalousies in the entrance hall.

A special program is planned for the women at 10 p.m. Sunday night. Kay Preston, dormitory social chairman, was in charge of the holiday activities. Other committee chairmen were

National Teacher Exams Will Be Given On Feb. 10

Prospective teachers in this area will have an opportunity to take the National Teacher Examinations at Georgia Southern College on February 10, 1962, according to Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, director of testing, who will supervise the administration of the tests.

Application blanks and Bulletins of Information describing registration procedures and containing representative test questions may be obtained from Dr. Tyson or directly from the National Teacher Examinations, Educational Testing Service, Princeton, New Jersey. Applications must be mailed so as to be received at the Princeton Office not later than January 12, 1962, Dr. Tyson advised.

Scores on the National Teacher Examinations are used by a large number of school systems and teacher education institutions throughout the country as an aid in evaluating such of the qualifications of prospective teachers as are measured by the tests, Dr. Tyson said. The scores may also be useful to examinees who are interested in discovering their own strengths and weaknesses with respect to such teacher qualifications as are measured by the tests, he added.

At the one-day testing session a candidate may take the Common Examinations which include tests in Professional In-

Dorms Decorated; Parties Are Planned

By MIDGE LASKY
Managing Editor

Even though finals are on the way, so is Santa Claus and the latter dominates, at least until next week, on the Georgia Southern campus. The dormitories have been decorated and the interior and exterior of all the residence halls have taken on a new look. Sunday night seems to be the night chosen for Christmas parties in the dormitories.

The newest residence hall on the campus, the Mamie Veazey Hall, finds itself with more to be decorated than the other dorms because of the location of the building.

The front porch railing is gaily lighted with Christmas tree bulbs and the front door is outlined in greenery. Amidst this greenery ribbons and bells are placed. Decorating the door are the traditional season bells. Facing the front campus is the side door which is also outlined in greenery and angels welcome the girls into the dormitory.

Committee Named
The first residence hall to display their decorations this year was Cone Hall. The design, formation, General Culture, English Expression, and Nonverbal Reasoning. In addition, each candidate may take one or two Optional Examinations which are designed to demonstrate mastery of subject matter in the fields in which the candidate is prepared.
