College PBL Chapter Is Rated

The Georgia Southern chapter of Phi Beta Lambda, a national business club, is now the fourth largest in the nation, according to information released by the national office in Washington, D. C.

There are, presently, almost 200 chapters of Phi Beta Lambda in the nation's colleges and universities. There were 121 chapters listed in the 1961-62 directory.

The GSC chapter now has 139 members and is the largest of 11 in the state of Georgia.

Sanction Of Social Fraternities Sought By Club; To Be Discussed At Council Meeting

Directory For Students Now On Sale By PBL

The Georgia Southern College Student Directory, published by Phi Beta Lambda, is now on sale, according to Catherine Dixon, president.

The new student directories contain the names, home addresses, classifications, and home phone numbers of all students and faculty members at GSC.

They are being sold at 50c a copy by members of Phi Beta Lambda in the Frank I. Williams Center.

Miss Dixon said that the club has been working on these booklets since last October. The finished copies arrived from the printer last Friday.

THE PHI BETA LAMBDA Student Directory is here! These students are lining up to purchase the new student directories which contain the names, addresses, phone numbers, and classifications of all GSC students and faculty members.

Sav'h. Symphony To Appear Here; Tickets On Sale

Tickets are now on sale for the Savannah Symphonette concert to be given in McCroan Auditorium Tuesday night, according to Larry Philpott of the symphony.

The concert, which will feature music from the classics to the pops, will begin at 8:15 and will run about two hours.

The Savannah Symphonette is a group of 31 musicians selected from the larger 60 piece Savannah Symphony. It will be directed by Chauncey Kelley, founder and conductor of the Symphonette.

Some of the music that will be played includes: Mozart's "Overture of the Magic Flute," "Trumpeters Lullaby," and music from "My Fair Lady."

Two GSC students are members of the Symphonette. They are Larry Philpott, who plays first French Horn, and Robert Seiferman, who is the principal percussionist.

Six Pledges Are Named To AGO

Six Georgia Southern College freshmen have been recently named as pledges to Alpha Gamma Omicron, an honor society for freshman women.

The newly named pledges include: Virginia Blackmon, Thomson; Agnes Farkas, Statesboro; Frances Landman, Statesboro; Judie Lee, Newington; Elaine Walden, Lumber City; and Betty Yeomans, Swainsboro.

The purpose of this organization is to encourage superior scholarship and to honor those students who have attained this high standard of scholarship. Miss Ella Johnson is the advisor. A "B" average must be attained during the first two quarters for eligibility.

I. A. Majors Requested For The Peace Corps

The GSC industrial arts division has received a letter requesting a list of applicants to serve in the Peace Corps, according to Dr. Donald F. Hackett, head of the Industrial Arts Division.

Hackett said that Jules Pagano, chief of the professional and technical division of the Peace Corps, stated that over a thousand industrial arts and vocational teachers are needed for two-year assignments in Africa, Asia and Latin America.

The letter stated that requests are running nearly as high for all the industrial arts and trade skills. It asked that Hackett and his associates recommend potential Peace Corps volunteers from this college. He offered to send questionnaires and background material on the Peace Corps to be distributed to interested students.

The Peace Corps volunteer earns $75 per month, or $1800 for his two-year period of service. During this period, he receives allowances for adequate and sanitary housing, all his dietary requirements, complete clothing needs, life insurance ($10,000), medical care, travel expenses, recreational needs and four weeks of vacation a year.

Some of the areas requesting technical advisors and the kinds of instruction needed included: Jamaica: instructors in electrical trades, plumbing, carpentry, auto mechanics, shoe-making, tailoring, masonry and concrete work, and eight industrial arts teachers.

Venezuela: male agricultural extension workers, and women with home economics and rural experience. Chile: women with home economics or rural experience, nursery school teachers, home economists, men with staff workshops in carpentry, gardening and shoe repair.

This is just a partial list of the positions available. Those interested may get additional information from Dr. Hackett.

Navy To Invade Campus; To Meet Future Aviators

On February 21-22, the Navy's Aviation Information team will visit Georgia Southern. During their visit they will be glad to explain all phases of the Naval Aviation program to those interested.

Young men between the ages of 18 and 26 are eligible to apply for Naval Aviation programs. Upon graduation from college, successful candidates may select pilot training or one of the non-pilot Aviation Specialist programs.

Those who qualify will be provided transportation to Naval Air Station Atlanta in Marietta, Ga. There they will take all necessary physical and mental examinations.

Cadets receive $16.15 per month while in flight training. After commissioning as an Ensign (or second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps), the monthly wages are $370.18 (single) or $455.68 (married). After completion of 4 years active service it will increase to $533.20 (single) or $627.48 (married).

Second Showing Of 'Male Animal' In Aud. Tonight

The final performance of the "Male Animal" will be presented tonight at 8:15 p.m. in McCroan Auditorium.

Tickets are being sold at $1 for adults and 50c for students. "The Male Animal," a three act comedy by James Thurber and Elliot Nugent is the winter quarter production of The Masquers.

The cast includes Dr. Fielding Russell, guest performer playing the part of Dr. Damon, Frank Chew, Bartow, as Tommy Turner; Angela Whittington, Savannah, as Ellen Turner; Ronald Lasky, Savannah, as Ed Keller.

Tonight is the final performance of The Masquers' winter quarter production. For a Review of the play see how a critic appraises it on page two.

Also: Ethel Kelly, Savannah, as Myrtle Keller; Archie McAfee, Dublin, as Joe Ferguson; Ethelynn McMillan, Millen, as Patricia Stanley; Tom Wilkerson, Augusta, as Mike Barnes; and JoJo Deal, Savannah, as Wally Myers.

Also: Pauline Hagler, Baconton, as Cleota; Marcia McClurd, Brunswick, as Blanche Damon; Bill Gruber, Savannah, as the newspaper reporter; and Milton Haney, Pine Bluff, as Nutsy Miller.

Jo Jo Deal, president of a group of men students going under the name of the Delta Sigma Fraternity, appeared at the last meeting of the student council to present a case for the sanction of social fraternities and sororities at Georgia Southern.

The student council had asked Deal to come before them after a letter had been written to the council requesting that a policy change concerning such organizations be considered.

Members of the council, Deal, Dr. Zach S. Henderson, president of the college, Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students, and W. H. Holcomb, dean of men, were all present at the meeting.

A discussion on the subject took place at the meeting and the matter was tabled until the next meeting of the council which is scheduled for Wednesday, February 14, at 4 p.m.

Asked To Come Back

Because of the deadlock reached at the last meeting, Delta Sigma representatives have been asked by the council to present their purposes and goals at this upcoming meeting.

Deal stated that his purpose in attending the meeting was to seek support from the student council and have them submit a recommendation to the Student Personnel Advisory Council that a policy change be considered. The present policy stated in the college catalog says that "it is felt that the college can best serve its purpose without social fraternities and sororities." Therefore the next step is to go to the Advisory Council according to Diane Brannen, president of the student council.

Miss Brannen further stated that "if we (the council) think that a change in the policy of the school should be considered, all we can do is to recommend such a change to the Student Personnel Advisory Council. That is the extent of our authority because our constitution states that we are to function as a coordinating body between the students and the administration."

For more insight into this controversial subject see the Editorial columns on page two. Also hear what our students have to say through the Inquiring Reporter.

More Info Needed

According to Miss Brannen, the council will need more information before a recommendation is made. "Next week's meeting will be devoted almost entirely to this matter," stated the council president. "The council, as representatives of the student body as a whole, needs to know just how the majority of the students feel. Therefore their attendance at this session will be welcome," she added. When a vote is taken by the council on this matter, it will be by secret ballot, stated Miss Brannen.

Other comments were also made by some of those who attended the meeting. Deal, like the members of the council, is also in favor of an open meeting to give an opportunity for all students to present their views either pro or con. He said that the purposes of the fraternity are to serve the school in three main ways: morally, scholastically, and socially. A C average or better will be required of all members.

Thinks Change Is Possible

Asked if he thought it would be possible to change the policy, Deal stated "I think a change would be possible if fraternities and sororities were given a trial run. They would be put on a sort of probation period."

He also added that he believes the group of which he is president should continue to exist as it now does as long as the members still feel there is a need, regardless of whether or not there is a policy change.

Also commenting on the matter were Dean Tyson and Dr. Henderson. Dean Tyson stated that he "operates within the framework of our policy and the policy is stated in the catalog. If the policy ever changes, naturally I'll change with it."

Problem Area Exists

Dr. Henderson feels that this has created a problem here and that "any time students wish to talk out a problem I think they should talk it out. The discussion should be limited to students and members of the student council." He went on to say that once some decision is made by the students a recommendation should be submitted to the Student Personnel Advisory Council. The president feels, however, that student opinion should not be the only determining factor in changing a policy of the school.

Asked if a policy change were possible or out of the question, Dr. Henderson refused to comment on that question, but did say that the students should discuss this matter and submit a recommendation if they feel like that should be their course of action.

Once a recommendation is made to the SPAC, student groups can meet with them to discuss the matter further, he added.

Decision To Be Explained

Dr. Henderson went on to say that "if the decision is made to continue with the present policy, the club that now exists should be disbanded. When a decision recommendation is submitted, that decision will be handed down as the Student Personnel Advisory Council sees it."

The president then closed by saying that at college day programs throughout the state one of the first questions asked about Georgia Southern concerns fraternities and sororities and when folks are told that such organizations do not exist here "they seem to be glad."

The Student Personnel Advisory Council is composed of: Dean Ralph K. Tyson, chairman; Dean W. H. Holcomb, vice-chairman; Dean Carolyn C. Gettys, recording secretary; J. I. Clements, Dr. Lawrence Hitchcock; and Dr. Tully Pennington.

Social Fraternities And Sororities — Where The Issue Stands Now

The social fraternity and sorority question has broken out into the open here at Georgia Southern. There is a movement by a group of students to seek the sanction of such organization.

The official college policy is stated in the catalog. It reads like this, "There are no social fraternities or sororities at Georgia Southern College. It is felt that the college can best serve its purpose without these organizations. The college does not therefore sanction the establishment or social fraternities, either local or national."

It should be understood by all that as long as this remains the policy of the school, it should be followed. That brings up the question, "Why can't the policy be changed?" Here is where the problem rests now.

First it must be determined exactly who wants the policy to be changed. Secondly, the most important, will a change in policy lead toward the betterment of the school?

As the news story on page one points out, the persons who are members of the "outlawed" fraternity are now trying to have the student council pass a recommendation to be submitted to the Student Personnel Advisory Council asking that a policy change be considered.

The GEORGE-ANNE feels that such a policy change should be studied extensively. Regardless of whether there is or is not a change, the outcome will affect the school.

Before such a change is made, it would be advisable to hear from all sides. The students should be given a chance to express themselves. Likewise, the members of the faculty and administration should be able to present their views to the students at an open meeting.

Next Wednesday's meeting of the student council will be a good opportunity for the views and opinions of EVERYONE to be heard.

What Has Led To This Issue

The movement to establish a fraternity began here during the fall quarter. At that time some of the alumni members of this fraternity, which at one time in the past existed here, held an organizational banquet at the Statesboro Elks Club.

Officers were elected and what is now just a "social club" not affiliated with the college, was established. Since that time they have undertaken activities to introduce others to the group and to build up opinion in the favor of fraternities and sororities.

There have been meetings between representatives of the alumni of this group and the administration going on trying to make headway. So far not too much has been accomplished.

Last week Gordon "Jo Jo" Deal, president of the group went before the student council to try to get their support in making a recommendation that the policy be changed.

Up until this time many false impressions have arisen. Because some individual faculty members expressed their approval a distorted picture of it being official was given.

Many people feel the whole affair has been handled in the wrong way. The "T" Book lists three steps to be followed in establishing a new campus club or organization. None of these steps were followed.

We have tried to present a brief outline of what has happened so far.

As a newspaper which tries to present and cling to the feelings of the majority of the students on campus, the GEORGE-ANNE staff feels that a definite stand cannot be taken on our part until more concrete facts are presented from both sides.

'March On Southern' To Be Underway Soon

The "March on Georgia Southern" will get underway approximately 100 years after another famous "March" was made. The purpose of this march will be not to destroy, but to "clean-up."

Phi Beta Lambda, business fraternity on campus, is planning to sponsor a "Clean-up campaign" here sometimes this quarter.

A unique idea will kick off this project. A parade of students will start at the front gate of the school and move around the campus including in and out of buildings and pick up all litter in their path.

In the near future all clubs on campus will receive letters asking all club officers and members to join in the march. The hopes of Phi Beta Lambda is that all the clubs and organizations on campus will respond to the letters in a grand fashion.

With the approval of this project by the Student Council it would seem to us that all officers of organizations will do their best to see that their group is represented in the parade.

As soon as the date has been set, posters will be made announcing and promoting this year's annual project of Phi Beta Lambda. Sonny Reeves has been announced as chairman of this project and committees are being appointed.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

AS CHAIRMAN OF OUR HIGHER ACADEMIC STANDARDS COMMITTEE, I CONCLUDE THERE IS ONLY ONE WAY WE CAN RAISE THE HOUSE GRADE AVERAGE — CHEAT.

By WINFRED L. GODWIN
Director Southern Regional Education Board.

Television, teaching machines, and other mechanical aids may be commonplace in tomorrow's classroom, but the region's great need will continue to be capable, well-trained teachers to inspire the search for knowledge.

Within the next 10 years, the South will need some 50,000 additional college teachers. At least a third of these should have the Ph.D., judging by present standards. At the present time, annual recruitments to Southern faculties are estimated at about 3,000.

In the South and in the rest of the nation, the proportion of Ph.D.'s in college teaching has fallen during the past decade. Ten years ago about 38 per cent of the new faculty members employed by the nation's colleges were Ph.D.'s. In the South, only 32 per cent of these new college teachers held the doctor's degree. Since then the national average has fallen in all fields and the South still trails the nation by six per cent.

Number Is Small

The National Education Association, in its 1961 biennial report on teacher supply and demand in universities and colleges, said, "Of the new teachers employed in 1960-61, only one-quarter had received their doctorates, one in five had at least one year more than the master's degree, 37 per cent had master's degrees, and the remaining 17 per cent had less than a master's degree."

One sign is more encouraging. During the past four years, the percentage of new teachers with less than the master's degree has decreased.

It seems that the master's degree level will provide many of the South's new teachers. If colleges and universities act now to develop strong, accelerated master's degree programs, they can do much to insure quality teachers for the classes of 1970.

New Program Adopted

The University of North Carolina, Duke University, the University of Florida, Stetson University, the University of Louisville, Rice University, Vanderbilt and Emory have moved in this direction by adopting a three-year master's degree program for students planning to enter college teaching.

Outstanding undergraduates about to enter their junior year are selected for advanced work and given special preparation for college teaching in their last two years of undergraduate work and first year of graduate work. Each of the programs emphasizes independent research and writing and completion of language requirements of the Ph.D.

The Commission on Goals for Higher Education in the South suggested that at least one institution in each Southern state should offer such a degree.

Tulane Has Had A Plan

Tulane University some years ago adopted a plan to identify outstanding undergraduates, help finance their graduate study, and encourage them to enter college teaching.

Careful guidance and counseling selects undergraduates on the basis of early grades, informs them about college teaching opportunities and helps them to find ways of financing their graduate study through national and regional fellow-

behind the headlines big and small

SOMETIMES NOT AT ALL

One event took place over the weekend which is heralded by this columnist, another highly publicized event failed to occur and it does not really make too much difference.

For the first event the headline from Sunday's Savannah Morning News can be quoted. It read like this: "President Orders Ban On Imports From Cuba." This is a move which many Americans have been waiting for during the past several months.

The action will cost Cuba $35 million a year. Administration officials claim that this embargo on trade will hurt Castro and his fellow revolutionaries. That's good. That's what we want to see. Since he (Castro) has been denouncing the United States there is no sense to our country giving him a dime.

Reduced One-Third

According to an Associated Press release, officials of the U. S. said that Castro's dollar income last year was under $100 million. So it will be reduced by one-third this year.

Countries which continue to take aid and money from the United States and at the same time continue to plot against the United States should all get the same axe applied to them. If they plan to take up on the side of the Communists, then it seems logical that the Communists should be their backbone. The Russians and Chinese have enough problems trying to take care of their own people, let alone somebody else.

If Castro is determined to be a Communist "Howdy Dody" (puppet), then it is right that the Communist masters should hold all the strings. Soon the strings will stop functioning and the puppets will begin to strangle. Then our goals will have been accomplished.

Doomsday Passes

Fortunately not too many Americans took the warnings of doom this past weekend too seriously. For here it is Friday already and the world hasn't ended yet.

But over the weekend many superstitious Hindus waited for doomsday. They said that the "mitigating influence in the planet grouping in the heavens" were seen as an omen of evil.

It seems like we've all still got some time left. That may be good for some, bad for others, but the end still does not seem to be in sight.

Keep It Honest

Many cases of stealing and cheating have been reported around the campus lately. It's hard to believe some of the things which have actually happened.

Many books have been disappearing. What is even worse is that tests, teachers manuals and teachers aids have also been taken. What makes some people stoop so low is sometimes hard to figure out.

With a mixture of different types of people, all with varied backgrounds, etc. a little bit of everything can be expected. But why go to so much trouble to pass a course or make a buck. The honest ways are a great deal more rewarding even though they sometimes seem harder.

A Square Deal

By BILLY DEAL

Some philosophical soul once said that he learned more by observing his classmates than he did in his college courses.

I'm not denying that one can benefit from a little observation, but if this character had allotted more time to his classwork and less time to observing he might have had a different statement to make.

But, being mortal, inquisitive beings, we are prone to pry and look into our fellow man's affairs. But this is no vice. It is virtue.

By observing our classmates, we learn many things about ourselves. And for every new person we meet, we have a category for him.

In earlier columns we've discussed some of these categories, but recent study has brought two more to light.

The first, the Insomniac Victim, is rapidly taking over the dormitories. There seems to be something about dormitory life that won't let this specimen go to bed. He wants to say up and soak in the culture that can only be found in the dorm. Always a socialite, he spends the early hours of the night visiting restaurants, playing cards and engaging in intellectual conversation. The hours from 1-4 a.m. he devotes to intellectual conversation, playing cards and visiting restaurants.

If his activities are limited, it doesn't bother him. It doesn't bother him because he is an intellectual. When everybody else is counting Z's, he is sitting in the lobby reading thing like "The Awful Truth Socrates," an expose by Aristotle.

Goes To Breakfast

But, come morning, our little knowledge bug puts away his books and heads for breakfast. He comes back at 8 a.m. and goes to bed. He sleeps until 5 p.m., when he arises to prepare himself for the evening meal and another night of fellowship.

Of course, the daytime sleeping hours interfere with his classes, so he is trying to get all his classes at night for the spring quarter. That way, he can enjoy the fellowship and get 15 hours credit for it.

The other upcoming creature is the cosmopolitan sports car enthusiast. A real young man about town, this one spends his time reading confessions of racing drivers and laying out miniature race tracks.

Is An Intellectual

He, too, is an intellectual, but to him his individuality is his prime possession. He does what he wants, goes where he wishes and lives his life the way he wants to. That, of course, is admirable. His main goal in life is to make a perfect score on the admittance exam for the North American Chapter of International Sports Car Drivers, Mechanics, and Pit Attendants.

He paid $1,000 for a copy of the exam and spends every spare hour studying the questions. Some of the toughest ones are: "A Bird Cage Maserati is (a) an automobile (b) a vegetable salad (c) an Italian boxing champion;" "A Jaguar has (a) four wheels (b) four legs (c) none of these."

Sports Car Fan

A truly devoted sports car fan, he denounces American cars, baseball, basketball, Billy Vaughn's Orchestra, and plaid shirts.

He is never hurting financially, and he makes the scene in his snow white Pizza—that's the latest Italian sports car.

These two characters have their personal characteristics, but they do have one thing in common. Both indulge in Casino, a simple card game which neither has yet learned to master.

Inquiring Reporter

VIRGINIA BLACKMON

In order to provide an outlet for the student body to express its views on the fraternity and sorority issue, the Inquiring Reporter asked the opinions of several students on the following questions: (1) Do you think we should have fraternities and sororities on the GSC campus? (2) Why? Here are the results:

Gail Mobley, Glennville — "Yes. Because it would provide extra activities for the students and more people will stay here on the weekends."

Margaret Phillips, Ludowici — "Yes. It would draw students closer together."

Beth Deen, Pearson — "Yes. As long as ideals and principals are high and the members live up to be purpose, they would raise school spirit and participation in social life on campus."

Pat McCranie, Warner Robins — "No. They bring hard feelings between people who join and those who don't join."

Betty Yeomans, Swainsboro — "No. One reason I came to GSC was because there were no sororities. People tend to let them guide everything they do."

Mary Wood, Macon — "No. It would draw the student body apart and there would be more competition between the organizations instead of more unity among the student body."

Jeanne Brown, Garfield — "I would be in favor of them. It gives students more opportunity to be closer to friends who would be more your type. There would be more campus spirit and more people would want to stay here."

"Red" Robinson, Savannah — "Yes. Social fraternities will be a great improvement for this college. It would help the housing problem. It will help increase school spirit."

Wendell Strickland, Moultrie — "Yes. It would increase school spirit and keep more people on campus on the weekend."

Pat McMillen, Ringgold — "Yes. They would add something that our school lacks. They would increase the growth of the school."

Jerry Reid, Waynesboro, Va. — "Yes. Because any growing college needs a fraternity and sorority organization to keep students here on the weekends and to provide a better social life."

Burl Patterson, LaFayette — "Yes. Since GSC is growing, it will be a great asset."

Billy Felder, Waycross — "Yes. I think it would be a drawing card to the up and coming freshmen."

Rusty Tisdale, Brunswick — "Yes. It goes along with college."

Patricia Rowell, Roberta — "Why, of course. It is the social background for college life."

Bob Suber, Montezuma — "Yes. It would be a big improvement in the school."

Masquers Have Another Success

By CLYDE J. FARIES

The Georgia Southern Masquers added another hit to their developing long string of successful productions with the presentation of James Thurber's The Male Animal last evening in McCran Auditorium. The rather large opening night crowd expressed their approval of the artful production with laughter and applause.

The Male Animal, though comedy, is not Thurberish. Those who admire Thurber for his narrations of the Wonderful O, Walter Mitty, and University Days type will, perhaps, be disappointed to see these qualities somewhat lacking in this play.

It may be refreshing, however, for admirers of Thurber's narrations to see Thurber speak a serious theme powerfully. The climax to this play was so realistically and carefully developed that when Professor Tommy Turner (Frank Chew) spoke the lines "If we surrender to prejudices and ignorance now, we lose our freedom," inspiring absolute silence revealed the empathy of the audience.

Outstanding roles were played by Frank Chew, McAfee, Pauline Hagler, and Dr. Fielding Russell and the supporting work of the whole cast was quite creditable.

Play goers are perhaps happy to see Frank Chew playing the part of a nice fellow for once. He gives his usual masterful performance climaxing it with his powerful interpretation of the Vansetti letter.

Communism And YOU

Prepared by the United States Air Force Chaplain Board at the Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama. All articles have been read and approved by Chaplain, Major General, Terrence P. Finnegan, Chief of Chaplains, USAF.

VI: Marx and "Class Struggles"

Karl Marx, the "father" of Communism, wrote in his book, "The Communist Manifesto," "The history of all human society, that is, all written history, past and present, has been the history of class struggles."

The earliest struggle took place in "Primitive Society" when there was contention over private ownership of rudimentary tools. Primitive society gave way to a "Slave Society" where in the struggle involved slaves vs. masters.

From slave society emerged "Feudal Society" with its conflict involving the serfs vs. the landlords. As the landlords triumphed, "Capitalistic Society" surged forward with the inevitable struggle between the workers and the capitalists.

Marx foresaw a "Socialistic Society" emerging from this conflict, a society based upon his communistic theories concerning the common ownership of goods and of the means of production and of distribution. Under the "Dictatorship of the Proletariat (the Workers)," class struggle would end and peace and prosperity would follow.

The final stage was to be "Communist Society" existing in a period of perfect harmony when even the "state" would wither away since it would no longer be needed. This would be a world-wide society (The Internationale) encompassing all nations and tribes.

Revolution, violence, and bloodshed were looked upon by Marx as inevitable and unavoidable. "Communists everywhere support every revolutionary movement against social conditions," he wrote in his "Manifesto." "Let the ruling classes tremble at Communist revolution. The proletarians have nothing to lose but their chains. Workers of all countries, unite!"

EAGLES' RECORD EVEN

Georgia Southern will start all over this weekend with a clean slate in an effort for a winning season. With only four games to go this year, the Eagles' record stands all even at 11-11. However, those four games loom very large, and the chances for a winning season are not extremely favorable. Two of the games will be at home and two away, so the "home court" advantage is also all even.

PIKEVILLE SATURDAY

This Saturday night, the Bears of Pikeville College invade the Hanner Gymnasium. This will be the first and only meeting of the two teams this season, Pikeville, very strong last year, lost the services of talented Donnis Butcher when he signed a professional contract with the Cincinnati Royals of the National Basketball Association. However, they are reputedly still strong, so the Eagles will have their work cut out for them.

BELMONT ABBEY HERE

The last home game of the season will be on February 17, when Belmont Abbey will make the long trek from North Carolina to Statesboro. In the last meeting of the teams, the Eagles were barely beaten, 64-63.

ON TO MACON

The Eagles will face another group of Bears on February 19, when they travel to Macon for a meeting with Mercer, a team they barely beat on a last-second bucket by Fran Florian earlier this season.

DOLPHINS LAST FOE

February 24, the Eagles will meet Jacksonville University in Jacksonville for the last home game of the regular season. The Dolphins will be out to avenge an earlier season spanking handed them by the Eagles here, 93-80. High-scoring Roger Strickland of the Dolphins should improve on his performance here, when he scored "only" 29 points.

A PREDICTION

For the record, here's a prediction from this corner on the four games: GSC should win three of the four, with the loss coming more than likely at Jacksonville. Although all of the games should be good ones, the Eagles' final season record will be 14-12.

Baseball Squad Has 12 Lettermen Returning; 1962 Prospects Good

"The boys look better both on defense and offense," remarked Coach J. I. Clements Jr. when he returned from practice. With this optimistic note the 1962 season of practice for the Georgia Southern Eagles Baseball Team moved on its way.

This year's team will have 12 lettermen returning to the squad and some promising new blood. Reporting out for practice are letter-winners Ed Brown and Larry Crouch, both sophomore pitchers; Clyde Miller, a senior pitcher; first baseman Charles Tarpley, a sophomore; utility infielder senior, Buzzy McMillan; Bill Griffin, a junior shortstop; catcher, Tommy Howland; junior; and outfielders Mike Keasler and Sandy Wells, both sophomores, along with Miller Finley, a junior.

Mike Keasler led the 1961 Eagles with a .354 batting average. Ed Brown paced the team with a 5-3 (.625) record with a earned-run average of 2.11. Clyde Miller ended the season with a 2-0 record and a 2.76 earned-run average. With a 2-1 record, Larry Crouch had a 2.48 earned-run average on the books. These three pitchers accounted for nine of the 15 Eagle victories. The loss of Tracy Rivers who had a 6-3 season and J. E. Rowe who tied Mike Keasler for the batting lead with a .354 through graduation has left a gap in the Eagle line-up. Coach Clements hopes that Pierce Blanchard (last year's record 0-3) and newcomer Bernie Van Remmen will help strengthen the pitching for GSC. Other good prospects for this year are men like Denny Kline, third base; John Griffin, utility infielder; and Jack Raley, second base.

This year marks the 17th year of baseball at GSC and the total record for the Eagles stands at 240 won and 166 lost. This includes last year's record of 15-11.

Gymnasts Try To Even Score

The Georgia Southern Gymnastics Team will be waiting to even the score with Georgia Tech tonight when the two teams meet in the W. S. Hanner Building.

Last Saturday the Engineers of Georgia Tech gave the Eagles their first loss of the 1961-62 season. The Eagles could only muster two first places, one in tumbling, and swept the first three places in the side horse competition. In free calisthenics, side horse and tumbling the Eagles outscored Tech, but lost points in rope climb, parallel bars, and still rings for a final score of 51½-44½.

Tonight's action should be tight in the rope climb and still rings. In rope climb Tech features unusual strength with 4 of

BILL PICKENS AND OGLETHORPE Morris Mitchell (34) play touch the ball as E. G. Meybohm also tries to get his hands on the elusive sphere. Jamie King (13) and two Oglethorpe players Tommy Norwood (11) and Bobby Sexton (41) watch the action. The Eagles were victorious in this contest by a score of 68-66.

Eagles Hold 11 - 11 Record; Fran Florian Leads Scoring

Going into the final stretch, the Eagles of Georgia Southern College now have a season record of 11-11 with their next game on February 10 in Statesboro with the Bears of Pikeville College, Pikeville, Ky.

After the game with the Bears, the Eagles will have only one more home game. This will be with Belmont Abbey College who beat the Eagles 64-63 in a hard-fought contest last Monday night, February 5 in Gastonia, N. C. This second game is scheduled for February 17.

The Eagles then take to the road for their last two games of the season. On the 19th the Eagles will invade the home court of Mercer University. Mercer will be waiting to even the score for an earlier defeat at the hands of the GSC squad 63-61. The last game of the season will feature the Eagles battling it out with Jacksonville University in Jacksonville, Jacksonville, like Mercer, will be waiting to even the series having lost to the Eagles in their first meet 93-80.

This season has been filled with excitement and real challenge for the GSC ball club. In their first 22 games, five of them were decided by a 2 point spread and three games were only one point apart in the final score. Two of their games went into overtime. In Atlanta the Eagles lost to Oglethorpe University in a double overtime game and on their home court the Eagles beat Newberry College in an overtime game.

In five of their other games the point spread was seven or less. The only two wide open games played this year were against Rollins College of Winter Park, Florida, when the Eagles beat Rollins 86-56 and in their only game to break 100 the GSC club rolled over Rollins 106-63.

For Georgia Southern, Fran Florian, a 6'2" forward from Orient, Illinois, leads the scoring with a 21.5 game average. Following Florian is the Eagles big 6'9" freshman Bill Pickens with 18.7 points a game and a 12.1 rebound average. David Patton the team captain, is averaging 9.8 per game. John Burton, the smallest man—5'11"—on the squad and the fastest, is shooting the ball in at a 6.9 clip. Harry Werner, a 6'5" junior has been averaging 7.0 a game. Sharing the forward spot with Werner is E. G. Meybohm, a 6'3" sophomore with a 3.6 average. Leading the Eagles on the free-throw line is David Patton with a .833 clip.

Georgia Southern as a team has been averaging 74.6 points per game to their opponents 70.1. The Eagles have been shooting their field goals at a .421 rate and their charity tosses at a .660.

This year also saw the Eagles tie a rebounding record for the school when they grabbed 85 off the backboard in the second game with Rollins College. With four games left the Georgia Southern Eagles still plan to end the season in a winning style and are sharpening their shooting eye for their coming games.

Southern To Face Bears Sat. Night

Basketball fans will be treated to a college double-header in Statesboro this coming Saturday, February 10.

The preliminary game will feature a contest between Armstrong Junior College of Savannah and South Georgia College of Douglas. Tip-off time will be 7 p.m.

Eagle fans will have their only chance to take a look at the Bears from Pikeville College, for this year. In the last meeting between the Eagles and the Bears in the 60-61 season the Bears came out on top 88-67 in a game played in Pikeville, Ky. The Bears this year have met such opponents as Cumberland College and Elon College. They split in two matches with Cumberland 72-75 and 79-75 and lost to Elon 70-79. The Eagles have met these same two teams and lost to Elon 57-74 and beat Cumberland 80-59.

Pete Campbell is leading the Bears with a 21.3 point average and leads them in rebounding with a 9.2 take. Expected starting line-up for Pikeville is Campbell (21.3), Hunt (10.4), Moore (13.4), Duncil (7.6), and Elliott (7.6).

In their last game the Eagles lost to Belmont Abbey 64-63 in a game that saw the lead exchange hands 12 times. Fran Florian, Eagle shooting ace, scored 24 points to up his scoring average to 21.5. Bill Pickens hit the net for 14 points and John Burton tallied 12 points.

For the Eagles through 22 games this season Florian leads with a 21.5 and second is Pickens with an 18.7. John Burton has accounted for 6.9 points per game while team captain and playmaker David Patton has posted a 9.8 mark. Harry Werner is on the records with a 7.0 game average.

Bill Pickens is leading the Eagles in rebounding with an 11.7 mark and Florian is second with a 6.0 grab off the boards.

Starting time for the Pikeville-Georgia Southern game is set for 8:45 p.m. Saturday, February 10.

Crusaders Drop GSC In Thriller At Belmont, N. C.

A pair of free throws with just a few seconds remaining in the contest gave Belmont Abbey a 64-63 decision over Georgia Southern College in Belmont, North Carolina Monday night.

The score was just about as close throughout the game as it was at the end. Neither team could build up a lead in the rough and tumble battle marked by occasional flareups.

The score was tied on eight different occasions and the lead swapped from side to side six times.

Georgia Southern, which held a 42-38 halftime lead, lost the game at the foul line. The Eagles outscored Belmont in the field 25 goals to 22, but they had only 13 successful free throws to the home team's 20.

Fran Florian led the Eagles with 24 points. Bill Pickens added 14 and John Burton contributed 12 to the Eagle effort.

Curriculum Meet To Be Held Here

The winter conference for intern curriculum directors will take place on February 14 through the 16, at Georgia Southern College, according to Dean Paul F. Carroll. The conference will begin at noon on Wednesday and adjourn at noon on Friday.

Mrs. Frusanna Snead Booth, director of Curriculum, Morgan County Schools, Madison, Georgia, and a graduate of Georgia Southern, is chairman of the planning committee for the winter conference. Mrs. Virginia Shuman of Tattall County is co-chairman.

During the conference, the group will be visiting schools in the area of Statesboro. Meetings will be held in the Frank I. Williams Student Center during the three-day conferences.

ships, local scholarships and loans.

Women of the South offer one potential source of college teachers not tapped as it should be. Universities and colleges have expressed a willingness to hire more women for their faculties, but the NEA report shows that only about 10 percent of the group earning doctor's degrees were women. More encouragement through scholarships, assistantships and grants in aid should entice women into graduate work and college teaching as a profession.

Our college teacher have a historic responsibility facing them. We can afford to offer them no less than the best possible background for the job we ask of them. But equally important as their preparation is the selection of individuals for teaching whose native ability, dedication to learning and capacity for growth will allow them to profit from their own training and pass it intact to generations which follow them.

Rec. Association For Women May Be Formed Here

The proposed organization of a Women's Recreation Association at GSC was discussed at a meeting in the W. S. Hamner Building Wednesday.

This type of program would be conducted for the benefit of all coeds. at Georgia Southern and not exclusively for physical education and recreation majors.

The association would provide such activities for women as dancing, horseback riding, bridge, swimming, diving, skating, bicycle riding, golf, trampoline, tennis, and any other activities the students may be interested in.

A second meeting will be held Thursday, February 17, at 7 p.m. in the Hamner Building, to discuss further views on the matter. Richard Stebbins instructor of health and physical education will preside. All women interested may attend.

why they have not seen more of Archie McAfee who made a believable blustering, non-academic, cad of an ex-football star. Archie shows a natural stage presence which attracts and holds attention when he is before an audience. He made the part of the loud-mouth storyteller come to life.

A small part, the maid, provided the best comedy. By the pure ingenuity of Miss Hagler Cleota was made to have humor in every step she took.

Dr. Fielding Russell made a believable and loveable English Department Head. His efforts were to balance what's right and what works, or as he put it he wanted some "Academic peace and harmony." Dr. Russell well deserved the spontaneous round of applause he received on his final departing line.

Mr. Robert Overstreet can be proud of his own efforts and the work of the Masquers on The Male Animal for they have done another outstanding job. The play starts rather slow but once the tired theme of "The Male Animal Must Fight" dies and the real theme emerges, the production comes to life as persuasive and powerful entertainment.

percentage of 49.2. The Stormy Petrels were just behind with 26 baskets in 55 attempts. They had an average of 47 percent.

Georgia Southern jumped to a quick lead of 5-1 just after the tip-off, but the Petrels threatened to make the game into a run-away as they spurred to a 17-7 lead at the end of ten minutes of playing time. GSC had to fight back to take command before the half ended by a score of 33-31.

Immediately after the half-time interlude, Southern sprinted to a 54-45 advantage, but a six minute dry spell later in the stanza allowed the Petrels to close the gap. With 1:30 left on the clock Florian hit with a long jumper to put the Eagles in front to stay.

Coach Pinholster of Oglethorpe commented after the game that the press hadn't stopped his "wheel," it had just prevented them from using it. He said that it had worked well when the team was able to set up the plays.

German Club To Sponsor Dance Sat.; End Week

The German Club is sponsoring a dance tomorrow night as the final activity of the current "German Week" program, according to Patty Ray, president.

The dance will be decorated under the theme of "German Guest House" and a floor show will feature Charlotte Ballev and Beverly Webb singing German folk songs.

"German Week" is celebrated annually at Georgia Southern, and is aimed at promoting interest in the German language, country, and people.

Some of the activities that took place during German Week, which began Monday, included displays in the student center and library, and German Club and German Circle meetings.
