DEAR MR. SANDERS . . .

I guess the usual term for an occasion like this is: "We are certainly honored you have seen fit to include our campus in your busy schedule." Well, whatever that term means, I guess that's the way I feel right now.

I hope you enjoy yourself here and don't find your visit another one of those "political appearances to sweat through."

You don't know me, but every Georgia Southerner can point me out. You see, I've been a student here for 36 years (one of those kind, you know).

And after 36 years, even an undergraduate can learn at least one trick or two. My trick is this: Governor, We've Got A Problem! I know you hear that everywhere you go. You've no doubt already heard about ours from the deans and so forth.

But I'm trying to speak for the students, the people who know what it's like to stand in a lunch line that must be twice as long as Methusala's life. — The people who go to class every day just to say they were there when the building collapsed! The people who are too crowded to breathe, but too proud to leave.

Your occasion for coming here is proof enough that you're working for this school. And with all due respect, sir, WE'RE ——— THANKFUL! But Governor, it seems that the more we build, the more we need. GSC's College officials have been blamed for everything (and in all fairness, I must admit that I've thrown a few accusations myself.) But now that I think of it, what can they do?

I won't go over the things we need desperately and the things we merely need "immediately." I'm sure any administrator here can provide those facts.

I just want you to know that 2,300 GSC students are grateful for the new dormitories, but are also keeping their fingers crossed for MORE facilities.

Your ten-point educational program makes me feel you may be our answer. Can you help us? Will you help us? Thank you for listening.

With All Sincerity,
The GEORGE-ANNE

GEORGIA'S FIRST FAMILY HERE SUNDAY

Governor, Wife Make First Visit

By SUSAN CRANGLE
Staff Writer

Sunday's dedication of Brannen and Hendricks Halls will mark the first official visit of Carl E. Sanders to GSC as Governor of Georgia.

Gov. Sanders, his wife, Betty and his family will arrive here Sunday afternoon and will dedicate Brannen and Hendricks Halls.

The program for the ceremony was drawn up by the Steering Committee, under the chairmanship of Glenn Hennig; and it will begin at Hendricks Hall at 3 p.m.

The Rev. J. Robert Smith, pastor of the Statesboro First Baptist Church, will deliver the invocation. A welcome from the Georgia State Board of Regents will be given by Chairman James A. Dunlap, and the introduction of the members of J. Walter Hendricks's family will follow. Concluding the ceremonies at Hendricks Hall, Gov. Sanders will present the dedicatory address.

Dignitaries and guests for the afternoon will then go to Brannen Hall where Anton F. Solms of Savannah, representative of the First Congressional District, will issue the welcoming address.

Members of the family of Harvey D. Brannen will then be introduced. Concluding the program in Brannen Hall, Mrs. Betty Sanders, former student at Georgia Southern College, will present the dedicatory address.

Dr. Zach Henderson, college president, said, "This will be Governor Sanders first official visit to Georgia Southern College. We feel it is an honor to have the Governor here to dedicate these new buildings." Immediately following the dedication ceremonies in both dormitories, members of the faculty and staff of the college are invited to attend an open house in Brannen Hall.

According to Hennig, refreshments will be served in both of the newly-dedicated residence halls.

The house director of Hendricks Hall, Mrs. Archie Jackson, and members of the house council will serve as hostesses during the open house. Brannen Hall's house director, Mrs. Alethia Bates, and members of that house council will serve as hosts there.

A survey in all of the dormitories on campus is being conducted by the Steering Committee to determine the number of beds needed.

George-Anne Gets 1st Class Rating

The GEORGE-ANNE, was this week awarded the Associated Collegiate Press's second highest Honor Rating among college newspapers across the nation.

The award, which was presented in the form of a certificate, cited the quality of last year's GEORGE-ANNE.

It stated in part: "The GEORGE-ANNE, in recognition of its merit, is awarded FIRST CLASS HONOR RATING in the sixty-ninth national newspaper critical service of the Associated Collegiate Press at the University of Minnesota, School of Journalism."

The award came after the GSC newspaper entered ACP's critical service last year for the first time in GEORGE-ANNE history. Last year's GEORGE-ANNE was edited by Roland Page, who is now serving as managing editor.

Issues of last year's paper were sent to the ACP staff of judges last winter and were rated on all phases of journalistic requirements.

ACP's highest possible rating is termed "All-American." There are a total of five possible ratings with the local newspaper placing in the second slot.

A critique of The GEORGE-ANNE was sent along with the award. In it, ACP Judge R. E. Kobak stated that the paper showed "Some excellent work by a talented, dedicated staff."

Some areas in which the GEORGE-ANNE scored highest included: news sources, balance, treatment of news stories, style, copyreading, editorials, sports coverage, sports writing, front page make-up, nameplate, editorial page makeup, sports display, inside news pages, headlines, headline schedule, typography, printing, and photography.

The GEORGE-ANNE is printed by the BULLOCK HERALD Publishing Company.

PRESIDENT INVITED TO TOUR INDIA FOR EDUCATION STUDY

Dr. Zach S. Henderson, President of GSC, will be the only representative of Georgia, in a group of American college presidents and deans who will visit India during November.

Fifteen of America's top college officials will embark for India on Nov. 2, for a month's tour of the teacher-education colleges in that country.

The tour is being sponsored under the auspices of the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education and of the State Department of the United States, Dr. Henderson disclosed.

Dr. Henderson's invitation to participate in the tour of India was issued in July of this year, and the tour's schedule will extend from Nov. 2 until Dec. 1.

Six of India's colleges which deal in teacher-education will be visited by the 15 Americans. Cities to be visited during the tour are New Delhi, Bombay, and Calcutta. The group of Americans will enter India at New Delhi, the nation's capital.

Dr. Henderson stated that each of the Indian cities to be visited by the group will provide escorts and guides for their specific colleges.

"We hope to gain mutual benefits from this tour of India," Dr. Henderson stated. "We hope to learn of their many methods of teacher-education. Our group will be available for comments and advice on the American methods of teacher-education."

The American Association of Colleges for Teachers' Education has sponsored many of these tours in various countries. The object of these tours is to have American college officials visit each of the countries in the world with teacher-education programs," Dr. Henderson added.

In concluding, Dr. Henderson stated, "I am extremely happy to have this opportunity to see the teacher-education program in another country. I am looking forward to the opportunity this will afford me to see the education program of India and to evaluate our own program, here at Georgia Southern."

Ummmmphh!

It's a tight squeeze, but Jesse West, with a little help from frat brother Tommy Hancock, seems to be able to make it through the new turnstiles in the dining hall. The turnstiles were added to count accurately the number of students served daily, and their advantages include the fact that the meal lines can be more easily divided to speed up serving time.

GSC Hosts Eight Foreign Students

Eight men students, representing Asia, pre-Castro Cuba, Europe, the Near East, and South America, are enrolled at GSC this quarter.

The students are:

Bernardo Dachner is from Costa Rica. Since coming to this country, he has attended the University of Florida and Southern Tech. He first entered GSC last summer when he attended summer school.

Dachner has been in this country since January, 1959, but has made five trips home already. He is majoring in Industrial Technology, attending school by means of his own funds, and planning to return home as soon as he finishes college.

Evangelio Gonzalez is originally from Havana, Cuba, but is currently residing in Douglas, Ga. He completed three years of studies at the University of Havana, taking pre-med courses, but he had to leave Cuba and come to the U.S. in November of 1961.

He attended South Georgia College for two years and entered GSC for the first time this quarter; he is continuing his studies in pre-med.

Vincenzo Ambrogio Lupardi is from Milan, Italy, where he attended Milano Feltviuelli College. He entered GSC this quarter.

Ghalib Issa Ma'ayeh is from Jordan, part of the Biblical countries. Before coming to GSC in the fall of 1962, he attended Brewton Parker.

Just before coming to America, he attended school in Germany for a short while. Ma'ayeh is majoring in Interior Design and is now mostly self-supporting.

Wadih Jamil Malouf is from Khunshard, Lebanon, is majoring in Junior High Education, and is student teaching this quarter. Before coming to GSC as a junior in the fall of 1961, he attended Georgia Southwestern. Malouf plans to return home to teach.

Hakon Qviller is from Halden, Norway, the same hometown as Miss Brita Diskerud, another Rotary scholarship student who attended school here last year. Qviller says he knows her well.

Qviller is a special and Rotary scholarship student who is taking advanced courses in English and French. He attended University of Oslo before coming to GSC.

Samir Mahmoud Tagi is originally from Palestine, but now he makes his home in Heliopolis, Egypt. He attended Reinhardt College in Waleska, before entering GSC this quarter.

Johnson Reviews

Decal Change; Parking Problem

The new change in decals on automobiles operated on the Georgia Southern campus this quarter has stirred up more than a little controversy among students who have not, as of yet, removed the 1962 decal from their windshield.

Charles Johnson, director of Plant operations, said the new color of the decals and the addition of the four letters, which are to be placed above the Eagle insignia, had been administered in order "to make it easier for the security officer to check automobile registration."

Decal with the letter "A" will represent day students, "B" represents resident students, "C" signifies staff autos, and "D" identifies maintenance.

The letter also signifies the proper parking zones for these automobiles; however, Johnson said that restrictions on the parking areas adjacent to the W. S. Hanner Building and the Joseph Carruth Building will be suspended until present paving operations are completed.

"However, we still encourage students to use the area next to the Hanner building," he added.

He also said that an appeal of the violation of regulation No. 2 of the current parking rules will be left to individual's discretion for the present time. This regulation states that only the current decal be displayed on the front right windshield of the automobile.

"If any student feels that he didn't know anything at all about this regulation, and he has received a ticket, he may appeal it and the appeal will be granted," Johnson explained.

He added though that appeals for all other violations will be considered on an individual basis.

He went on to say that appeals will be granted for violation of rule No. 2 on an overall scale until 8 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 16. At that time the regulation will be enforced.

Phi Mu Alpha Pledges Seven

The Zeta Omicron Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity began their fall quarter pledge period Monday by swearing in seven prospective brothers, according to Wendell Lewis, president.

Phi Mu Alpha, a national music fraternity for men, held their bi-annual rush party and decided upon the following pledges: James Griner, Savannah; Jimmy Hood, Brunswick; Jimmy Hilliard, Waycross; Frank Floyd, Jesup; Harold Smith, Barnesville; William Johnson, Savannah; and Robert Poole, Lewisville.

The pledge period will last approximately four weeks in which time the candidates for admission to the fraternity will present a pledge recital and collect material for their annual "De Land O Cotton" minstrel show.

Judiciary Proposal To Get First Vote

The proposed "judiciary" amendment to the Student Congress constitution will be put to campus-wide vote Monday, October 21, according to Don Westberry, Congress President.

All GSC students will be eligible to vote for or against the amendment. Passage of the proposal requires a two-thirds majority vote "providing that 51% of the on-campus students cast ballots."

Westberry said that the Congress will announce more details on the upcoming election next week.

See the proposal itself printed in its entirety on page 5. Also see editorial entitled "Do We Want A Judiciary?" on page 4.

Westberry termed the proposal "About the best you could put before the students."

"I can't see how it wouldn't work," he added.

He described the other members of the Student Congress as "unanimously behind it."

The proposed amendment calls for the establishment of two student judicial councils to hear cases on violations of campus policy, and to recommend appropriate disciplinary action.

THE CHAD MITCHELL TRIO "SHOWS ITS STUFF"
'Fastest Rising Group in U. S.' . . . The Denver Post

Free For Southern Students; Overflow Turnout Expected

By GARY ROBERTS, Staff Writer

Tickets for the Chad Mitchell Trio performance of Oct. 23 are now available at the Office of Student Personnel and are free with the presentation of student activity cards.

"If students knew the problems they'd have to face after marriage, I think they could stand to wait — Unless they're Millionnaires!"

Tickets for the general public will go on sale Oct. 15 at the College Pharmacy in Statesboro. Cost of Tickets will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for children.

The musical presentation will be at 8:15 p.m. in the W. S. Hanner Building, "because of an expected large crowd," according to Dr. Jack Broucek, Chairman of the Campus Life Enrichment Committee.

In addition to using the bleachers on the floor of the gym. Dr. Broucek said that "3,500 tickets are available," and urged students to get their tickets soon.

Dr. Broucek stated that he expected the performance to be "quite informal" and impromptu, depending to large extent upon the audience.

The folksinging group includes two instrumentalists in addition to the Trio itself. The two accompanists play the guitar, banjo, and bass.

The Chad Mitchell Trio's performance will be the first in the Campus Life Enrichment Committee's 1963-64 cultural series.

The group, composed of Chad Mitchell, Mike Kobluk, and Joe Frazier, record for Kapp Records, and their albums include, among others, "The Chad Mitchell Trio at the Bitter End" and "Mighty Day on Campus."

In 1960 the Trio appeared with Harry Belafonte, Odetta, and Miriam Makeba at Carnegie Hall. They have also appeared at Town Hall in New York and Orchestra Hall in Chicago.

They have appeared on a number of television shows including the "Pat Boone Show," the "Bell Telephone Hour," the "Bob Newhart Show," "Hootenanny," and specials by Mel Torme and Peggy Lee.

More recently, the group conducted a fifteen week tour of South America, sponsored by the U. S. State Department, where they "completely conquered," according to the Caracas Journal.

The Chad Mitchell Trio was formed in 1959 while the three singers were students at Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington. A little over a year later they appeared at Carnegie Hall.

At Gonzaga, Chad Mitchell, the organizer of the group, was a pre-medical student. He had previously attended Stanford University on Scholarships, but transferred.

Joe Frazier, before joining the group attended Lebanon Valley College in Pennsylvania, and later the Julius Hartt School of Music in Hartford, Conn.

Before joining the Trio he performed in the After Dinner Opera Company in New York, several off-Broadway shows, and the Broadway musical, "Redhead."

Mike Kobluk, a Canadian, majored, at various times, in such fields as Electrical Engineering, Business, English, Mathematics, though his primary interest is music.

The Denver Post has described the group as "... the fastest rising trio in America."

The Venezuela Daily Journal in an editorial made these comments concerning the group:

"These three boys are congenial, and they talk a language that Venezuelans understand, for music making has universal appeal regardless of the words used . . ."

"Their expert singing captures their audiences; and their friendliness is contagious. They radiate warmth, simplicity and straight from the heart sincerity as performers and as off-stage good-will ambassadors."

Turnout For Flu Shots Is Less Than Expected

By ZEBE CHESTNUTT
Staff Writer

"The co-operation of the students at Georgia Southern is not nearly as good as it was last year, and we are getting rather concerned about it," stated Miss Bryant, Nurse at the campus health cottage.

On Monday of this week only 422 students had received their flu shots, and at this time only a little over one-fifth of the students are protected from the flu which is expected to come with the first cold wave that hits Southern.

The flu serum puts the virus into the body so that the subject builds up a resistance to the disease. The slight feeling of cold that comes after the injection is the bodies reaction to the serum.

If the student has a cold then there is already a germ present, and if the shot was given during this time it would increase the virus and tend to make the cold worse.

"Students will have few ill effects from these shots except maybe to feel as if a cold is coming on. Some students seem to think that there will be sickness after they take these shots but aside from the 'sniffles' they should feel normal. There are about two out of 2,000 that really get sick", Miss Bryant stated.

There were a number of students who could not take the shots due to colds, and a number of students did not report to the cottage on the appointed day. Due to this the nurses will be administering the shots for the next two weeks. The hours will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. except on week-ends.

The Health Cottage has enough serum to accommodate all students that attend GSC. Many students will not be protected if they do not get their shots.

"If more people do not take time for their shots, we could very easily have an epidemic. Students must understand that if there is an epidemic on campus and it gets out of control, the college may have to close for a certain period of time. Then it might be impossible for any student to receive credit for that quarter," stated Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, Dean of Students.

Grant Given For Lecture Series

By PAT McMILLEN
Staff Writer

The Social Science Division has received a grant of approximately $2,000 from the Sears-Roebuck Foundation to be used to sponsor a lecture series in the Social Sciences.

Dr. Jack N. Averitt, Chairman of the Social Science Division, announced Tuesday that the first of an annual program of lectures will be directed toward the fields of political science and history, and eminent speakers in these fields have agreed to participate in this program.

Three visiting scholars will visit GSC during the fall and winter quarters of the 1963-1964 academic year, and will conduct seminars in their respective fields, said Averitt.

These esteemed lecturers include: Dr. Carl B. Swisher, who is a Thomas P. Stran Professor of Political Science at Johns Hopkins University, Professor William Nolland, Chairman of the Department of Sociology at Purdue University, and Dr. Fletcher M. Green, who is a Kenan Professor of History and Chairman of that department at the University of North Carolina.

Dr. Swisher will be guest here for two seminars Oct. 25, and 26. Professor Nolland will visit Dec. 6, and Dr. Green will conduct a seminar Jan. 24, according to Dr. Averitt.

"This lecture series will enable the majors in the Social Science Division to come in contact with the first rate scholars in the various academic disciplines of the social sciences," said Dr. Averitt.

He went on to add, "the challenge that will result from the visit of these guest lecturers will be an integral part in developing the graduate research program in the Social Science Division, and will strengthen the merits of the program of undergraduate study".

WHO'S WHO SELECTIONS BEING MADE

Nominations from the junior and senior classes for Who's Who In American Universities and Colleges were made this week with each member of the faculty and the student body listing those students they would like to have considered for this recognition.

Divisional nominations will be held to select a representative from each academic division. Nominees must receive endorsement of three-fourths of the members of at least one academic division or the administrative division before receiving final consideration by the Honors Committee.

Final selection will be made by the Honors Committee as a result of a thorough study of the cumulative data on all nominees. The Honors Committee consists of Miss Jane Barrow, Chairman; Mr. Thomas Mariani of Physical Education; Miss Hassie McElveen, Librarian; Mr. Hubert Macallister, Social Science; Miss Veril Mitchell, of Home Economics; Mr.

Don Coleman, Assistant Director of Admissions; and Dr. Ralph Tyson, Dean of Students.

Consideration will be given to the nominees' scholarship, leadership, cooperation in educational and extra-curricular activities, general citizenship, and the promise of future usefulness in American society.

Students finally selected for this honor receive a certificate and their names are published in a book of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

The National office gives the quota of students from each college for this recognition. The quota is based on enrollment, so that all schools have equal representation.

Do We Want A Judiciary?

A student judicial system may or may not be the answer to student-administrative problems at Georgia Southern College.

If any such system could be successful, however, we feel that the plan now pending a student body vote is that system.

Honor systems of one variation or another have been tried in many colleges and universities across the country. Some have succeeded; most have flopped. Why did they flop?

Following is a run-down on the most common causes of honor system failures and the safe-guards contained in the GSC proposal which we feel would eliminate said causes.

1. Many honor systems degenerate into "spy systems" in which each student is a possible "subject" and every other student a possible "squealer". A provision in GSC's proposal states that "a formal charge must be received . . . from a school official or faculty member before a hearing can be held. Students cannot bring charges against fellow students.

2. Some honor systems are rejected because students fear endowing other students with too much power over them. While the recommendatory power vested in the present proposal could be quite effective, the power is only "recommendatory". The administration makes final decisions. (Thus the judicial councils would have a big voice in setting disciplinary policy, but would be stopped short of going on a radical spree of "expelling," or an equally radical spree of "forgiving.")

3. Some proposals have met defeat because "council members may be prejudiced in their decisions on friends or enemies." The proposed amendment relies heavily on the discretion of the council members. Therefore qualifications for membership feels he (or she) may be prejudiced in a case, he may ask to be excused from the case with the consent of the other members.

4. Some honor systems have failed because students are not willing for their actions to be exposed to the review of the public. The GSC proposal, however, emphasizes secrecy. Council members are to take an oath to the effect they will never reveal outside of a hearing what they had heard while in session. Violation of that oath would result in expulsion from the council.

A question has arisen to the effect that the hearings should be publicized so that students know what the councils are doing. Student Congress President Donald Westberry plans to ask the Congress this week to consider adding the phrase: "If a defendant requests that his hearing be open to the public, said request should be honored." The outcome of Westberry's proposal will be reported in next week's GEORGE-ANNE.

First-quarter freshmen have been disqualified from membership on the proposed councils for the simple fact that they have not yet met another requirement (the 3.0 academic average.)

The academic standards have been set at 3.0 because if such a system is to succeed, it must be initiated by students who will be able to devote an extremely great amount of time on the councils without suffering scholastically.

The administration has approved the plan and seems to be ready and willing to make it work. If the proposal passes the campus-wide vote and becomes an amendment, it could become the instrument of the greatest voice GSC student have ever had in their affairs.

Such phrases as "I've been wronged," "unequal punishment," and administrative dictatorship," would very likely be reduced in volume. And finally, students would be given an opportunity to prove that they can accept and handle a solemn responsibility.

It's passage, however, calls for a two-thirds affirmative vote on the 'providing that 51% of on-campus students cast ballots. That's a lot of votes. We strongly urge you to make this ancient dream a reality here. Vote for the amendment!

Candidly Speaking

By HOYT CANADY, Editor

A CHANGING TEMPO

"Father Time", that all-important element of nature, often plays the lead role in many a good life. It becomes the basic factor in whether or not things are dragged on and on without any transition; on the other hand, it produces changes on such short notice as to startle the imagination.

Three week-ends prior to the Sunday that saw an influx of some 585 freshmen arrive on the GSC campus, I had to make a brief visit here to straighten out some loose ends concerning The George-Anne, and to get some idea as to how things were going to be during fall quarter at Southern.

The second session of summer school was over, and the only students here were either those who had come to secure living quarters for the fall, or new students who had come to get a good look at the college of which they would soon be a part. The campus was well-groomed in its summertime attire, and it appeared to be awaiting the annual frosh invasion.

The brief visit I had planned almost turned into an all-day affair, but one particular chat I had with an administrative official did prove to be enlightening though I failed to realize it at that time.

"I think you'll see a lot of changes when you come back this fall," I was told.

However, being the pessimist I was, the only change I foresaw at that particular time was the change I was going to make in my own little enterprise. The George-Anne was switching from an eight column format to a tabloid size; that was the change I was looking forward to, and I just didn't visualize any change within the college itself.

I remembered the Student Congress Retreat of last spring where several "crises" had appeared to be solved, for the time being at least. Fall quarter was three months away; how much time would it take for things such as an Honors System, collegiate entertainment, an answer to the parking situation, and several others to become a reality?

I had somehow envisioned "Father Time" as having locked his doors to any rapid progress GSC would make for the next couple of years, and though I believed this year would be an improvement over last, I thought to myself, "We'll just wait and see."

The fact that Georgia Southern was going to have an enrollment of 2,300 represented very little change as far as I was concerned. It has been growing since before the school's name was changed from Georgia Teachers College in 1959, and since I was a freshman in 1961. I didn't picture any drastic change in the academic phase of life here, so about the only field left open to any transition was the social outlook.

And it must have been that outlook the dean was thinking about when he spoke of changes. The Honors System, hoped for all last year and formulated in the three-day retreat, will soon go on the line for student body vote and represents the "greatest single step toward student government here in recent years."

The Chad Mitchell Trio's coming to Southern this quarter marks a gigantic step toward the kind of entertainment students have been yelling for, and plans are already in the making for obtaining a similar group either next quarter or during the spring. The new student handbook, "The Eagle Eye" by name, will contain all the present rules and should be available shortly.

"A state-supported college can do one of two things," the dean went on. "It can either grow or shrink."

Of these two, GSC seems to have taken the former course, with growth not necessarily represented in the physical sense, but in the wake of a better social outlook and a stronger governmental body.

Proposed Judiciary System For GSC

Editors Note: The following proposal for an Honors System at Georgia Southern is printed in its entirety for the benefit of the student body. However, it is suggested that the student read the editorial on page four before reading the proposal in order to gain a clearer insight to the facts and elements with which the following proposed amendment is concerned.

I. If approved and put into effect, the following proposal will necessitate the addition of an entire section to the Student Congress Constitution, providing for a judicial branch of said Congress.

II. If approved and put into effect, the following proposal must gain the sanction of administrative officials.

HONOR SYSTEM FOR GEORGIA SOUTHERN COLLEGE

Proposed: that two student judicial bodies known as the Women's Judicial Council and the Men's Judicial Council be established at Georgia Southern College for the purpose of hearing cases involving major student infraction of campus rules and regulations, investigations of said cases, passing a verdict of guilty or not guilty, and forwarding that verdict plus a recommendation for disciplinary action to the proper school officials who will make final decisions.

I. MEMBERSHIP

A. That the councils consist of one representative for each 200 GSC students. That this representation be apportioned according to dormitory and off-campus classification. (Thus, with 250 students, Sanford Hall would elect one member to the men's council; with 400 students, that dormitory would elect 2 members; with 600 off-campus men, said men would elect 3 members, and so forth.

B. That a chairman of each council be chosen by the council members to preside at hearings.

II. QUALIFICATIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP

A. That a minimum aca-

Members of the Steering Committee for the visit of Governor Sanders include: Glenn Hennig, Chairman; Dean Carolyn Gettys, Dean W. H. Holcomb, Ric Mandes, Dr. Zach Henderson, Kay Preston, Larry Bacon, Marinell Henderson, Russell Gross, Jim Blanchard, Roland Page, Lou Gassett and Jerry Kight.

Members of the Hendricks Hall Dedication Committee are: the Hendricks Hall House Council, Mrs. Jackson, Dean Gettys and Miss Frieda Genant.

Members of the Brannen Hall Dedication Committee are: the Brannen Hall Residence Council, Mrs. Bates, Dean Holcomb and Dr. Betty Lane.

demic average of 3.0 be maintained by any student whose name appears on the ballot for a position on either council.

B. That all candidates for the councils be full-time students at Georgia Southern College.

C. That all candidates for the councils must have had no disciplinary action taken against them for major offenses at the college.

(1) Major offenses may be defined as those that require administrative attention such as drinking, off-campus parties, etc.

D. That no members of the legislative branch of the Student Congress be allowed to serve on this judicial branch.

E. That no freshman, of less than two quarters, be allowed to serve on the judicial councils.

F. That no write-in candidates be recognized for the councils.

III. NOMINATIONS OF COUNCIL MEMBERS

A. That during fall quarter of each year (perhaps the week following House Council elections), a nominating committee consisting of the legislative branch of the Student Congress and the Student Personnel Advisory Council nominate one Judicial Council candidate for each dormitory and for male off-campus students and for female off-campus students.

B. That these nominations be presented to the voters in the respective dormitories and off-campus classifications and that said voters make as many additional nominations as desired.

(1) That House Councils conduct nominations and elections in the dormitories.

(2) That the legislative branch of Student Congress congress nominations and elections for off-campus students.

C. That the legislative branch of Student Congress then check all nominations (nominees) according to the qualifications set forth in article II, striking out those who fail to meet any one of the qualifications.

IV. ELECTION OF COUNCIL MEMBERS

A. That from the qualified nominees, each voter be allowed to vote for the appropriate number of council members according to his or her classification. (Thus, if, Sanford Hall was allotted two members to the Men's Council, each resident could cast a vote for two of the nominees running for Sanford.)

B. That each member be elected by a majority of the votes cast.

Corrections Cited in '63-'64 Bulletin

Two corrections have been cited in the 1963-64 issue of the Georgia Southern College catalog by Paul F. Carroll, Dean of the College. Thanksgiving holidays will begin on Wednesday, Nov. 27, at 3 p.m., and graduation exercises will be held Sunday, June 7, 1964.

(1) That run-offs be held until said majority is gained for all elected members.

C. That elections be held approximately one week after nominations.

D. That House Councils conduct dormitory elections.

E. That the legislative branch of Student Congress conduct off-campus elections.

V. SWEARING IN

A. That approximately one week following elections, a student assembly be held in McCroan Auditorium at which the council members be sworn into office by the President of the College with the following oath:

"I, (Repeat Name), do solemnly swear to fulfill to the best of my abilities the duties set forth for me as a member of the Judicial Council of Georgia Southern College. I further swear that I will never repeat statements made at a student hearing or reveal the nature of a hearing or the identity of a defendant outside of said hearing. May I be disgracefully expelled from this Judicial Council should I fail to keep this, my solemn oath."

VI. DUTIES.

A. That at its first meeting, each Judicial Council elect its own presiding chairman.

B. That each Council meet twice monthly, or at any time deemed necessary by its chairman, to hear any cases brought before it by the administration or faculty members.

C. That administrative heads make charges to the Councils concerning infractions handled by their offices.

D. That faculty members make charges to the council concerning cheating, or undesirable classroom behavior.

E. That students not be allowed to bring charges against fellow students to the Judicial Councils.

VII. ON HOUSE COUNCILS

A. That House Councils handle infractions concerning minor house rules and be given authority to put violators on desk duty or some other means of punitive action.

B. That House Councils refer major infractions concerning major house rules (such as drinking) to the administration, as has been the practice in the past, and that the administration refer these cases to the respective men's or women's judicial council as provided in Article VI, Section C.

VIII. OBJECTIVITY

A. That council members must rule as objectively as possible, forgetting personal prejudices, either hostile or friendly.

(1) That should any case be brought forward in which a council member feels that hostile or friendly prejudice may influence his decision, that member may ask to be dismissed from said case with the approval of the other council members.

B. That council members must not withhold any information at the hearing that would be relevant to the case.

IX. SECRECY.

A. That information presented at hearings must not be repeated outside of said hearings. (As stated in the Oath.)

(1) That infraction of this Article could be grounds for the expulsion of a member from the Councils.

X. HOW A CASE IS TO BE HANDLED.

A. That a formal charge must be received by either council from a school official or faculty member before a hearing can be held.

B. That all information possible concerning the case be gathered from the plaintiff, the defendant, a list of witnesses, an any other sources. Witnesses and the plaintiff will give information under oath.

C. That the Council then hear the plaintiff, defendant, and witnesses separately.

(1) That neither the plaintiff nor defendant be given the names of witnesses until after the hearing.

D. That the Council then meet and discuss the factors of the case. Then vote on a verdict of guilty or not guilty as charged. Then vote on action recommended.

E. That if the votes are unanimous, a recommendation stating the decision be sent to the Dean of Men or the Dean of Women, respectively.

F. That if a dissension in votes exists, the dissenters must state their reason for their positions. That if said dissension continues, the Council's recommendation to the Dean state both opinions and the number of votes cast for each.

G. That the respective Dean be furnished with all information that led to the decision.

H. That the respective Dean make the final decision.

I. That said Dean make known his or her decision to the Council.

J. That the defendant be told whether or not he has been found guilty by the Council.

XI. COUNCIL CHAIRMEN

A. That in addition to presiding at hearings, the chairman of each council act as spokesman and communications coordinator for the Council.

President's Corner

By DONALD WESTBERRY
Student Congress President

Editor's Note: During the course of the year, The George-Anne will ask the presidents of the different organizations on campus to express their views and opinions in a column which will be called The President's Corner. This week's guest columnist is Donald Westberry, President of the GSC Student Congress.

Last spring quarter, you, the student body of Georgia Southern, elected me to serve as your leader for the coming year. I would like to take this opportunity to express my appreciation for your confidence in me and pledge that my activities will be fulfilled to the best of my ability.

The Student Congress serves as the coordinating body of student activities between the student body and the administration of the college. It is our job and desire to see that the student body is fully satisfied with the planned activities that are carried on during the year.

The power of the Student Congress lies in the voice of the student body and can only be as powerful as YOU make it. The Congress welcomes any student who wishes to express his or her ideas and opinions on any issue that the Student Congress tries to deal with. We want to satisfy your wants and needs, and this can only be done by your letting us know exactly what they are. If a problem is brought before us at any time, we will do everything in our power to see that it is dealt with in the proper manner.

The other officers who will be working with me this year are: First Vice President, John Williford; Second Vice President, Betty Yeomans; Secretary, John Rutland; and Treasurer, Lonice Barrett.

I know that they will go along with me in saying, "Let's make this the most wonderful year Georgia Southern has ever had."

With the vast number of students, this can be done only by your help and support. We hope that you will want to help us make your stay at Southern a pleasant and wholesome experience.

A few of the things we will be trying to implement this year are an honor system, a cut system, a day-student association, a student union board, mandatory meetings of the student body, an office for the president of the Congress, a glassed-in bulletin board, and many other things. We urge you to give us full support in helping to accomplish these things.

Again, let me say thanks for the opportunity to serve you this year.

Married Life For Students?

Those Who Know Say 'OK'

BUT: Finances, Time, And Baby Raise Problems For Asbells

By HALLEY FENNELL, Society Editor

Don Asbell, the male half of one of GSC's newest married couples, made this statement while commenting on the ups and downs of married couples still in college.

Since March, Don and his wife, the former Phyllis Purvis, have been through the run of the mill marriage problems of finances, adjusting to each other, and now their newest problem, a "new little Asbell" expected to arrive in February.

Don is a junior majoring in English, and later plans to attend Mercer University Law School. Phyllis ("Phil" as she's called by her friends) attended GSC until this quarter, but had to drop out because of their "newest problem." She was majoring in business education and plans to return spring quarter.

Marriage is quite different from the way they had pictured it. "We didn't know that there were so many adjustments to make," said Phyllis. The biggest was getting used to living with each other, the first four months were the roughest; I thought I would never be able to live with her," said Don.

When Dan Dixon was introduced as Don's former roommate, Don jokingly remarked, "I may swap back."

Both agreed that two definitely cannot live as cheaply as one. Finances are their only real problem. There are so many expenses that aren't realized until after marriage.

"You learn to manage your money, or else starve," said Don.

An average of two hours a day is the extent of Don and Phil's "togetherness." They were married on Saturday, Don returned to work on Sunday and to classes on Monday.

His classes are from 8 a.m. until 12 noon, and then he works at a local motel from 1 p.m. until midnight. When does he find time to study? He does that at the motel. "It's the best job a college student could have," said Don. The rush hours are only from 5 until 8.

Phil sometimes visits Don at the motel. "Don't you trust him?" a customer inquired of Phil.

"Sure I do," said Phil. It's just that this is the only time I get to see him."

For the first four months Don was never able to spend a night at home.

Phyllis's time is occupied with cleaning up their 4 room house trailer in Benson's Trailer Park, washing and ironing, shopping, and cooking three meals a day.

On her cooking talents at the time of marriage, Phyllis said, "We had sandwiches for a long time." Does Don like sandwiches? "I don't say one way or another," said Don, "I have to eat them anyway."

During her spare time Phil reads and visits other young married couples. All the couples who live in the trailer park are college students except two. Three of the girls are not going to school, so they have their own little sewing circle during the day. "Except none of us can sew," said Phil.

The Asbells like living in a trailer. For Phil, there's not as much to keep clean, "The only thing is," she said, "I have

At Work

Don spends 11 hours a day holding down his job at a local motel. He spends the mornings in class and sees Phil about two out of every 24 hours. Marriage has given him "a greater incentive to get somewhere."

to walk up and down instead of in squares like in a house."

Don and Phil first met "on the back row of Dr. Ward's History 103 class." They went steady for a year and a half, and were engaged from December until March.

Don feels that marriage has boosted his incentive to work. He studies harder, because he now has something to work for with Phyllis, himself, and the arrival of "Junior."

And if Phyllis gets her wish there might be two "Juniors." She'd like to have twin boys. Of course, Don wants a boy. "Naturally he will take a girl," Phyllis said.

If they could turn back the calendar to the time of their marriage, both Don and Phyllis agree that they would wait until after Don graduated this spring quarter.

"There's a lot of sacrifices to make, but of course, it's all worth it," Don concluded.

And At Home At Work

It's the typical scene. Phil cooking, Don cramming (facts not food.) Well, the first four months weren't quite that way. "We had sandwiches three meals a day — she couldn't even boil water," the husband groaned. Phil replied that she COULD boil water.

The lines seem to get longer, the people hungrier and the food looks better. What are we talking about? The dining room from 6:45 a.m. until 6:15 p.m. These lines are a source of complaint again this year, and these are a few of the remarks so generously "stated" by some GSC students when asked, "What do you think should or could be done about the long lines into the dining room?"

Luann Hogan, Lincoln: They need to build another dining room.

Bill Bolen, Savannah: Extend the meal periods.

Gay Glaser, Savannah: I wish I did know.

Jayne Lamunda, Hapeville: Do away with some people.

Jim Blanchard, Evans: Make a lot of little lines.

Bobby Cowden, Brunswick: Build a new dining room.

Mickey Williams, Atlanta: Serve longer or have room service.

Patsy Symons, Lakeland, Fla.: Let those who have a first period class eat breakfast first.

Lorraine Bishop, Rincon: I don't know, but something should be done.

Robby McKnight, Milledgeville: Another dining room or longer serving hours.

Brenda Taylor, Sylvania: I think the whole William's Center should be enlarged.

Evelyn Morris, Appling: Another serving line into the dining room.

Terry Pye, Odum: Well, I think the line should be shortened, but I don't know how.

Ginger Donaldson, Twin City: Build another dining room.

Linda Turner, Metter: Expand the dining room.

Faye Brannen, Statesboro: Build a new dining room.

Faye Thompson, Eastman: There should be an addition of dining facilities.

Donnie Maples, Tuscaloosa, Ala.: Nothing.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Five new courses will be added in the industrial arts department this year.

According to Dr. Donald Hackett, chairman of the department, three elective courses in industrial safety and two graduate courses for those working on the Master of Education degree will be offered.

Dr. Hackett added that the department has been working on these courses for several years, and hopes that more students will realize the importance of industrial arts in today's society.

Athlete Feats...

By LONICE BARRETT, Sport Editor

This year marks the end of an era for an individual who has carried himself through 22 years of spotless, clean play on, as well as off, the baseball diamond. In his many years with the St. Louis Cardinals, Stan Musial has proved himself to be one of the genuinely great players of baseball.

With a record such as Musial's no one bothers to argue that point any more. Wherever you choose to look, you can find evidence supporting the belief that "Stan the Man," through the years, has been the greatest star in National League history. Other players use him as their model. Even now, at his "old" 42 years, he's still one of the most feared and respected hitters to ever don the uniform.

Many who know of Musial's baseball history will remember that at one time he was almost given his release. It was in his second year of pro ball while he was playing with the Class D Williamson team near the West Virginia-Kentucky border.

The manager of the team had written the general office inquiring as to the status of young Musial, and sent his recommendation for release, along with the letter. Oddly enough, and probably for the good of future generations of baseball players since then, Musial was not released.

He pitched the following year for Daytona Beach and won 19 games before he hurt his shoulder. This injury halted his pitching career and, as it has turned out, was the turning point in his life. He became an outfielder of the highest calibre.

During his 22-year career with the Cardinals, Musial was National League batting champion seven times, most valuable player three times, and held a lifetime batting average of .333 in addition to holding more than fifty league records. In 1962, Musial broke Ty Cobb's record for most total bases, and just this past season cracked Babe Ruth's record for most extra base hits.

A man of fierce pride, he is also a man of extremely good humor and a disposition that has never allowed him to have so much as a cross word with an umpire. He is not just a baseball player to the millions of fans across the country; he is an idol. He has truly become a legend in his own lifetime.

LOTHRIDGE vs. RAKESTRAW

Georgia Tech and Georgia have what surely must be two of the best field generals in the land. Both possess a keen touch with the pigskin and also have brilliant minds on and off the turf. Which would emerge superior if compared?

Many people feel that Billy Lothridge, with his punting, kicking, passing and all-around leadership, is the better of the two; but at the same time Larry Rakestraw cannot be sold short. Just last week against South Carolina he connected on 13 out of 22 attempts. Then too, Georgia has one of the best field goal kickers in the south in Bill McCullough, so Rakestraw does not get the opportunity to kick the ball as does Lothridge.

"Mr. Cool", as fans of Tech prefer to call Lothridge, is definitely one of the better quarterbacks in the nation, but at the same time let's give credit where credit is due. Quite possibly, if Rakestraw was put on the Tech team he could make Yellow Jacket fans forget Lothridge. Who knows? Tech meets Georgia in Atlanta over the Thanksgiving weekend, and I plan to be there just to see for myself.

Cage Tryouts Set For Monday In Hanner Building

Coach J. B. Searce announced today that basketball practice will officially start Monday at 4 p.m. in the Hanner Gymnasium. Practice sessions will run from Monday to Friday beginning at 4:00 until 6:00 with Saturday morning practices beginning at 10:00.

Searce stated that practice will run for about seven weeks in preparation for Georgia Southern's first game with Wilmington College in Statesboro. The drills will consist of conditioning, review of fundamentals and mainly getting in shape.

When questioned as to the outlook for the GSC team during the year Searce stated, "We have all the makings of an outstanding ball club, but at this point it is hard to say for sure how it will be. I'm definitely looking for an improvement over last year's record."

This year there will be no freshman team as there was last year. In its place will be what is to be known as the junior varsity. This team will enable boys of any classification to play and won't as last year, restrict the team members to the freshman class.

Returning to pace the Eagle's attack will be high-scoring Fran Florian. Backing him will be three tested performers in the persons of John Burton, Don Adler and Mike Rickard. Both Florian and Richard were ineligible last year due to scholastic difficulties, but much is expected from these two this year. Burton is one of the fastest players to play for GSC in recent years and is a dead shot with

High School Letters 'Taboo' On Georgia Southern Campus

No high school letter is permitted to be worn on the Georgia Southern College campus.

This has been a rule for many years, although it has not been strictly enforced for the past several years. This year, says Gymnastics Coach Pat Yeager, "things will be different."

"If a student persists in wearing his high school letter, he will be politely asked not to. If he still will not conform to the rule, his name will be sent to the dean, who will take over from that point," stated Yeager.

Also, it was said that those students who represent Georgia Southern in interscholastic competition, and are good enough to earn a letter in their sport should not have to be confused with a person who earned his letter in high school, which is an entirely different field.

The feeling is that the enforcement of this rule will help establish school spirit.

Yeager added that an informal survey showed this letter-wearing rule is a policy in every major institution.

New Gym Coach Talented In Art

Paints Fighting Eagle On Hanner Gymnasium Floor

By LARRY BRYANT

Two new additions have been made to the Georgia Southern Athletic Department this quarter. One is the "Eagle" painted in the center circle of the basketball court of the W. S. Hanner Building, and the other is the man who painted it—Gordon Eggleston, assistant gymnastics coach.

Coach J. B. Searce had asked Eggleston to paint the eagle. It took about 15 hours to do the job. Eggleston added, "It might cut the moral of the GSC opponents to look down and see their blood dripping from the claws of the GSC eagle."

Eggleston had an art course in high school and worked his way through college by painting. He also illustrates a few children's books.

He acquired his high school education at Milford High School and graduated in 1947. After completing high school, Eggleston attended the New York State University. He received a B.S. in 1951 and he is now working on his Masters.

Eggleston was on the gym team of New York State University for four years. He was also the official clown for those events.

He was the Florida AAU Chairman of Gymnastics, 1961-63. He later became a member of the National AAU Men's Technical Committee.

Only a short time after his membership, he became Chairman of the National AAU Junior Olympic Gymnastics Committee.

Eggleston taught Health and Physical Education for six years at New York State and then moved to Leesburg, Florida, where he taught for three years as Director of Recreation.

While working in Leesburg, Eggleston coached the Leesburg Acro-Bats, who were State Champions in Florida. They also won the USA Invitational Gym Meet in Statesboro.

The Acro-Bats, since 1961, have won 187 medals and 146 ribbons under his leadership.

Eggleston is working on an assistant-ship basis here at the College. He is teaching four classes a day and is also an assistant coach under Yeager for the gymnastics team.

"My biggest satisfaction," said Eggleston, "is being able to teach youngsters to do tricks that I never did." He has been coaching gymnastics for five years.

"Coach Yeager is and has been the top coach of gymnastics in the country. He is also the foremost authority on women's gymnastics. His three books on gymnastics are the best on the market. A number of universities are adopting them for their gym textbooks," Eggleston said.

As for Eggleston's opinion of the gym team, he states, "I think that our team at GSC could possibly become national champions this year. It is unquestionably the gymnastics power in the South today. With its depth, Northern teams will feel the talons of the Eagles." FSU had held the unofficial title of "tops in the South for several years!"

Eggleston is married to a schoolteacher. They have three boys and are expecting a fourth. His oldest son, eight-year-old Rick, has been State Champion in floor exercises in gymnastics for the last two years in his age group. He has also won 11 medals and five ribbons.

'Eggleston's Eagle'

Gordon Eggleston, new assistant gymnastics coach, proved last week that athlete's can be artistic. The center circle of the Hanner Gym's cage court bears testimony to Eggleston's talent. It took him 15 hours to paint the "fightin' Eagle" pictured above.

EXPLANATION — The Dunkel system provides a continuous index to the relative strength of all teams. It reflects average scoring margin relative to index of opposition, and is weighted in favor of recent performance. Example: A 50.0 team has been 10 scoring points stronger, per game, than a 40.0 team against opposition of equal strength. It was originated in 1929 by Dick Dunkel.

BURTON'S

House 88 'Southern' Coeds

By LOUISE COX
Staff Writer

Georgia Southern women students now have access to Wudy and La Vista Halls, two new and modern dormitory facilities located directly across from the main college entrance.

Wudy is a two-story building with provisions for 50 girls. La Vista Hall is a bright turquoise single-story dormitory which houses 38 women residents.

Because the increase of enrollment at GSC leaped ahead that of facilities, these private dormitories were established by two local businessmen.

Both Wudy and La Vista Hall are about three blocks from the center of the campus. Each building is a new construction with spacious rooms, ultra-modern furnishings, large baths, laundry rooms, janitorial services, and a parking lot.

The two halls are rented by the quarter for $105, about $50 more than for the on-campus lodging. For this additional price, the girls receive the most modern of facilities and conveniences.

Each room has twin beds, two desks and chairs, large mirrors, and ample shelf, closet, and storage space.

The two dormitories vary somewhat. Wudy has an intercom system, recreation room, and several single bedrooms. La Vista balances the difference with a kitchen, superb lighting in each bedroom, and plans for landscaping.

Although these are private establishments, the same general on-campus rules apply to the residents of Wudy and La Vista. There are the established "quiet hours," dating limitations, signing out procedure, and other controls for the residents of these halls.

The men's visiting hours in Wudy are from after supper until 10 o'clock every night of the week. The women at La Vista can receive men callers from 7 o'clock until 10 on week days, and all day Saturday and Sunday.

The dormitories are not totally completed. Some furniture, minor household articles, and equipment are in the process of being installed. These cause little inconvenience, though.

The major problem now is the path that the girls must take to get to the campus gate.

Currently, they have to walk through a wooded area and across a plant which lies over a gully. Plans are being made to form a path, and for a bridge to be built over the trench.

On Grid Coach

Editor's Note: The following article was taken from this month's issue of Reader's Digest:

Memo from Benjamin Plotinus, Chairman, English Department, to Coach Musselman:

Remembering our discussions of your football men who are having troubles in English, I have decided to ask you in turn, for help. We feel that Paul Spindles, one of our most promising scholars, has a chance for a Rhodes Scholarship, which would be a great thing for him and for our college. Paul has the academic record for this award but, ideally, should have a good record in athletics, too. Paul is weak. He tries hard, but has trouble with sports.

We propose that you give some special consideration to Paul as a varsity player, putting him, if possible, in the backfield of the football team. In this way, we can show a better college record to the committee deciding on the Rhodes scholarships.

We realize that Paul will be a problem on the field, but, as you have often said, cooperation between our department and yours is highly desirable, and we do expect Paul to try hard. His work in English Club and on the debating team will force him to miss many practices, but we intend to see that he carries an old football around to bounce (or whatever one does with a football) during intervals in his work.

Delta Sigma Pi Newest GSC Fraternity

Delta Sigma Pi has become the latest fraternal organization on the GSC campus, and approximately 30 charter members are now undergoing pledge training.

Delta Sigma Pi is a national collegiate professional fraternity in commerce and business administration. There are 127 nation-wide chapters.

The purposes of the fraternity are to provide fraternal association of commerce students, to promote international exchange of business ideas, to promote fraternal relations with business leaders, and to promote opportunities for research in commerce and actual business experience through practice.

The national officers will come to GSC from Oxford, Ohio, to present the charter and to participate in the initiation of the local members.

The students who are participating in pledge training will be initiated by another chapter in this area later this quarter.

The officers for this new organization are: Jerry Reid, president; Robert Hickox, Sr. vice-president; Herty Nail, vice-president; Bill Bolen, secretary; and John Lawson, treasurer. The faculty advisor is Dr. Paul Wischaemper.

Heart Disease Is Dangerous Killer

By SUSAN CRANGLE, Staff Writer

"Heart disease in the United States is leading other diseases by more than 50% in deaths. Every other person in our country dies of a heart disease or of a blood-vessel disease."

So stated Dr. Curtis G. Hames, physician and heart disease researchist of Claxton, to members of the Georgia Southern Science Club Tuesday evening, Oct. 1.

Dr. Hames received a 5-year grant from the National Heart Association for a conducted study of heart disease in Evans County, Ga.

This grant was recently extended another five years, and Dr. Hames is presently conducting the only study of heart disease in the United States, comparing Negroes and whites.

"Four times as many deaths from heart disease occur in the white male as do in the white female," stated Dr. Hames, "and in the age group of 40-74 among Negroes and whites, three times as many white males die of heart disease than do Negro males."

The survey of Dr. Hames has included the analysis of over 7,000 people in Evans and Bulloch Counties. "We examined approximately 3,000 people in our study of heart diseases and another 1400 school children," Dr. Hames continued.

Showing slides of his study, which will be discussed at the University of North Carolina during this month, Dr. Hames stated that all of the facts gathered during thus far in Evans County are now being studied and tallied at the University of North Carolina by electronic computers.

Sanders Urges Support For Education Proposal

Gov. Carl E. Sanders outlined this week 10 goals for improving education in Georgia and called upon all Georgians to support these objectives.

Georgia's chief executive, who serves as chairman of the Governor's Commission to Improve Education, presented the objectives to the other members of the commission at a conference Monday in the Capitol.

Exerpts from the Governor's speech are as follows:

"Next to the physical processes of birth and growth, there is nothing that approaches the importance of education. A good educational program properly administered and properly provided, is our best guarantee for the future.

"While we in Georgia have made appreciable gains in education during the past few years, we cannot and must not be satisfied until we have in our state an educational program in which each child in each school is offered absolutely equal opportunities for an education.

"We must also have colleges that are sufficiently equipped to turn out the engineers, scientists, and other polished technicians and future executives demanded by the great complex of new industries associated with the space age."

The 10 points outlined in the governor's speech are:

One—to provide improved educational opportunity for all Georgians.

Two—to establish equality of educational opportunity, regardless of where a child may live or its station in life.

Three—to establish and maintain minimum standards for schools as to size and program so that every child can attend an accredited school.

Four—to improve the equality of education through new, strengthened, and balanced programs for academic and occupational preparation.

Five—to develop a program to attract, hold and fully utilize good teachers throughout our public schools and university system in a manner that will upgrade their qualifications, performance, compensation, and morale.

Six—to encourage organization of state and local administration to improve efficiency, eliminate waste, and insure better results from our education dollars.

Seven—to bring educational television within range of all citizens within the state.

Eight—to establish and maintain adequate planning research and experimentation for education at all levels.

Nine—to provide adequate financial support for an improved school system.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The Georgia Southern Amateur Radio Society is having its first meeting Thursday, Oct. 17. The Radio Society is the organization responsible for the Civil Defense of this campus.

All interested people are invited to come to this meeting.

10—to provide sufficient financial support for the University System of Georgia to improve the quality of education and fit it to the needs of modern Georgia in the Space Age and to maintain research facilities for the continued improvement of industry, business, agriculture, and government.

Sanders went on to say that it is the people of Georgia who must determine what is to be done, if anything, for education, in our state.

"I cannot impress upon our citizens too strongly that the choice we make will have a great bearing on our future, the future of our children, and the future of Georgia," Gov. Sanders concluded.
