State Supervisor Martin's Visit to Georgia Normal.

Prof. Joe Martin, State Supervisor of Schools paid the Georgia Normal a pleasant visit last Friday. The students and faculty always enjoy his visits. Mr. Martin is jolly, witty and wise.

He spoke at chapel, and again at the evening meal. He prophesied, along with others, that in a few years the people of the State would look to and talk of President Guy H. Wells and the Georgia Normal just as it has been looking to and talking of President Parks and G. S. C. W. for the past ten years. "You are fortunate" said he, "in your location. You are more fortunate in having a young well trained enthusiastic president who knows education, and most fortunate in having a new and growing faculty. I prophesy a great future for your school."

The Board of Trustees have agreed to ask the Legislature for only what is absolutely essential. A new dormitory is really needed but President Wells and Senator Cone and Representatives Brannen and Brunson will ask the 1927 Legislature only for the following:

School Spirit

Rah, Rah, Rah! Rah, Rah, Rah!
Normal! Normal!

What is school spirit? School spirit is that initiative which the students show in their work and which vibrates from one to another. School spirit is that fire which burns within us and causes us to cheer on to victory our athletes who otherwise would not do their very best unless urged on by the whole school.

Good school spirit is shown in various ways on the campus. There is the highest degree of school spirit exerted on the athletic field. The students play not for their personal gain, but because they love their school.

This same spirit applies to literary contests, debates, societies, clubs, classroom work, and all other situations that demand good loyalty, cooperation, and fine ideal. The real student will never make a remark that could injure the school in any way, but will boost, at every available opportunity, the school of which he is a part.

The school is what each pupil and faculty member makes it; therefore, the responsibility of making the school a success lies with the individual, and he must play his part fairly or the school will be a failure.

Carolyn Lee.

Georgia Normal School.

I don't believe that there could be
A better place on earth for me
Than this dear Georgia Normal School
Where we have every proper tool
To build great men of smaller toys.

I don't believe that you could find
Anywhere in the land of pine
A finer group of girls and boys;
I'll sing its praise, for this I know
Georgia Normal has begin to grow.

FIELD DAY

We are all working for Field Day which is to be one of the big athletic events of the season. It is to be in the form of a Spring Festival and Athletic Meet. The idea is a contest between King Winter and Queen Summer. King Winter with icicles and snowdrops is driven from the field by the Queen's attendants; flowers, buds, and trees. These then crown her Queen of May. Two of the Spring attendants are Hope and Love. After King Winter has been driven out a number of dances and ~~revels~~ are presented to the Queen in her honor. The idea is to represent a conflict between Good and Evil.

All students will participate in the athletic events. The main feature, being an indoor baseball game by the girls and a volley ball game by the boys. The boys will take part in all track events; the girls will take part in relays and stunts.

A good spirit of rivalry is being shown between the Hornets and Hustlers.

Work on Campus

The Georgia Normal campus is a place of beauty and everyone is proud of the efforts that have been made to keep the school close in touch with nature's wonders. A number of improvement's have been added which greatly enhance the beauty. The lawn has been mowed. Between the campus and the highway on each side of the driveway there are "The Pines" which remind me of radios catching messages and thoughts from loved ones at home, and which whisper, with words of encouragement, "Press On" to those who pass up the hill to higher heights. These woods have been cleaned of underbrush by the state convicts under supervision of Dr. Kennedy.

New swings and several new lawn seats have been placed here and there on the campus. The roads have been greatly improved by scraping which helps to make a more delightful ride for the many visitors who drive through the grounds.

THE RIVER

A person who has lived in the city all his life knows not the beauty of the most beautiful things that nature has to offer. Sitting on the side of the river, one sees real life—the river moving slowly and calmly on, firmly and never ceasing, for everything moves with its current. The sun light sparkling on the water makes its majestic looks and feelings more impressive. Now and then you can see a fish come up to the top for air, then go back to its companions. All life seems peaceful. The picture of the river is made more complete by the occasional appearance of a bird flying into the forest beyond. The line between the river and forest is broken by the beautiful color of the wild flowers on the bank. The low bough bending over and reflected in the water gives a picture a beautiful background, for the trees blend in with the colorful sky. The splashing of the water and the movement of the current assures us that it is a real picture. -- Helen Cone

A WEAVER OF DREAMS

Only a weaver of some dreams,
Spinning with infinite care;
Only a maker of some themes,
Dissolving into the air;
Only a dealer in some phrases,
Filled with pain and regret;
Tired of the world and its praises,
Seeking a place to forget.

AN ISLAND

Looming in the distance we saw the blue green outline of an island. As we neared the shore, we could see all signs of summer. The trees were green, and the earth was covered with a velvety green carpet of grass. As we stepped ashore, where the silvery blue waters ran to meet the lime-white sand, we could see shells. Not far in the distance were standing cedar trees that seemed to be slightly bowing their branches as if to welcome us. There were shade and solitude yet it did not seem silent, because every thing was alive and growing. The ground was spotted with small pink flowers and large white ones. Farther from us these flowers looked as though a pink and white carpet covered the ground. The cool arm breeze from the ocean played with the sailing clouds while the sun's gold sword was gleaming on all living things.

CAMPUS NOTES

A track meet was held Saturday afternoon at the fair grounds with A. R. C. Normal won having 56 points to A.R.C. 21.

Wednesday evening Mrs. Carithers, Miss Trussel, and Mrs. Singley entertained the Oglethorpe Society and new students with a delightful party in the gymnasium.

Sixty new students have been enrolled for the short term.

Miss Tubb, was hostess to a delightful party given in the Home Economic dining room Friday evening in honor of the graduating class of which she is sponsor.

The new students for the spring term were entertained on the campus. All students were divided into four teams, each to compete in the stunts, games, and contests, points being scored for the winners. A box of candy was awarded to Group 2 for the most number of points. Punch and wafers were served.

In chapel Tuesday morning a preliminary debate was held. The subject was, Should Georgia Issue Bonds For Highway And Educational Purposes? The negative speakers will go to Tifton Friday to debate the Tifton Team, and the negative speakers at Tifton will come here to debate.
