GEORGE-ANNE

South Georgia Teachers' College Collegeboro, Georgia
Vol. IV. No. 1. Published by Students of Freshman Class, Oct. 28, 1929.

Message from the President

I have missed something from the college that we had last year. I am sure the students have also missed a friend. We are glad to see our old companion, the George-Ann, once more show its face.

College spirit is the soul of any institution. Nothing will stimulate these characteristics more than a weekly paper. It gives us the common news and announces to us the worthwhile activities of the college.

I hope that from now on we will not miss a single issue. The students, I am sure, appreciate its worth; the faculty wishes to help in its work, and all working together will make the weekly paper better and finer than any year before.

Mr. McCroon Speaks in Chapel

On Wednesday morning, during the chapel period, the students of the Teachers' College were favored with a talk by Mr. J. E. McCroon, Chairman of the Board of Trustees.

For his subject, he chose "Wisdom" taking the following verse as his text: "Wisdom is the principle thing; get wisdom, But with all thy getting, get understanding".

In the course of his talk he made very plain to the students that wisdom is the basis for training, culture, and knowledge, and that we should study the Bible in order to find out what real wisdom is. We should at all times put the Bible first as it is the foundation of the only real substantial success. You may be materially successful, and not know the Book, and you will be a miserable failure. He said that in after life we might say that our stay here at T. C. had proved a blessing to ourselves, to our family, and to T. C., but the principle thing is to get wisdom. Until we get a higher understanding of what wisdom is, we've missed the mark.

The talk was very interesting and will prove very beneficial to both students and faculty.

Welcome to the Students

I am glad to see the old students back on the campus. I believe you are glad to be here. I hope you have purposed to make this your best year in college. To do that you will have to work more than you did last year. You may not put as much time to your classes, but on the whole you will have to work more with outside activities. You, being an old student, are responsible for more of the finer things of the College. You are to be the leaders. Are you ready for this new work that falls to you?

The college is happy to have the new students here. You bring us new ideas. I hope you will find the College a place where you may grow and develop. The College spirit of freedom and solving your own problems should make you a stronger person. I am glad you are here. We want to help you

Dean Henderson.

Are looking forward with great anticipation to the next visit Mr. McCroon will pay our College.

Miss Cooper heard over Radio, Friday, Oct. 11th, from WMAZ, Broadcasting station at Macon, Ga.

Miss Marion Cooper, of the faculty of South Georgia Teachers' College, rendered the following program:
Piano selections:

Rachmaninoff - Prelude in C# Minor.

Rubenstein - Kammerlied-Ostrow.
Beethoven - Moonlight Sonata.

Vocal selections:

Who Knows - Caro Roma.

Mighty Lak a Rose - E. Nevin.

I Love You Truly - C. W. Cadman.
At Dawning - Chas. W. Cadman.

Evelyn: Jane, I've just seen your best friend, Mildred.

Jane: Why, she is not my best friend. She's the stingiest girl in school.

Evelyn: How do you get that?

Jane: Well! She talks thru her nose to save her false teeth.

Thanks to Mr. Wells and others that assisted in changing the name of our school to the South Georgia Teachers' College! We should realize at once, for several reasons, this great advantage that has been ours. There are several Normal schools in the state, one of which is in Americus, a school for negroes. For this reason alone the school will be benefitted in the change of the name.

The change has already given us more inspiration and dignity than Normal could ever expect to. A Normal school gives the idea of high school work rather than college. A school that offers four years of college work, as this does, should be called a college instead of a Normal school.

There is a State Teachers' College in Athens in North Georgia so why not have one in South Georgia that is as good or better?

This change in name should influence more boys to come to this school for, as we all know, they would rather go to a college than a Normal school.

This great change in naming our school a college should inspire everyone to make it a larger and better institution of learning--may we in the near future see our school ranking with the best in the land.

BLUE TIDE WALKS OVER B.P.I. 62 - 0

With the aid of practically every man on the squad, in the opening game of the season, Coach Crook Smith's Blue Tide ran recklessly over Browton Parker Institute here Friday afternoon, piling up a score of 62 points while Sid Johnson's men were held scoreless.

The first half indicated a real game of football, but the kick off in the third period marked a turning point in the game, the Tide making march after march down the field scoring touchdowns almost at random. The line stood like a wall while the backfield passed and made end runs in eloquent style. The boys have made a great start. Just keep the good work going!

Manners and Conduct

Girls, the word lady should suggest ideally, a girl (or a woman) who keeps herself physically fit, her thinking on a high plane, and her manners gentle and winsome.

Boys, the word gentleman means, ideally, a fine, athletic, manly fellow who is an all round good sport in the best sense, and who has manners that do not prevent other people from seeing how fine he is.

Classroom

(1) When you enter your classroom, as well as when you leave it, glance towards your teacher and, if she is looking, bow pleasantly.

(2) Say, "Yes, Miss Brown"; not merely "Yes", if you know the name of the one addressed. If you do not know her name, let your tone and manner indicate so fully your feeling of respect that the omission of the name will not be noted. Say "Yes, Sir," to men. And remember,--

Hearts, like doors, will open with ease

To very, very little keys;

And don't forget that two of these

Are: "Thank you, sir," and "If you please."

(3) When sitting, push back as far as you can in the chair and lean forward from your hips, keeping your spine straight, not curved. The way you sit or walk or stand shows culture or lack of it.

(4) When reciting, stand erect with your hands at your sides. Your attitude will invite favorable attention if you stand with one foot slightly in advance of the other, and the weight of the body on the forward foot.

(5) Speak so distinctly that everyone in the room must hear you; otherwise, not everyone will get your thought.

(6) Avoid raising your hand when you wish to ask or to answer a question. Instead, rise quietly face your teacher, and wait for her to recognize you as though you were at a club meeting.

(7) Never "tell" when another is trying to recite. Such "telling" destroys the other person's chance to think, and helps to make a sneak of you.

Carl: (Hopefully) I've never seen such dreamy eyes.

Margaret: (Fed up) That's because I've never stayed so late before.

Stephens Society Meeting

The meeting of the Stephens Literary Society on Oct. 10 was opened with the reading of the 100th Psalm by Ralph Henderson, Chaplain, who then led us in prayer.

During the business session copies of programs for the term were handed out. An invitation was also extended to the Oglethorpe Society to be our guest at our next social. After the business, a very effective and enjoyable program was presented.

History of Folk Song, including Stephens Collins Foster's life, was given by Frances Coleman.

Folk Song - "The Last Rose of Summer",
--Lucile Futrelle.

Folk Lore - "The Tar Baby"
--Lucile Rountree.

Folk Dance - Peggy Gibson, Pauline Burke, Marie Stanley, Blanche Fields, Vanira Bradham, Emma Bleant, Tyra Saturday and Mary Swain.

The Meeting closed with the singing of several Folk Songs.

Sophomore Class Meeting

Saturday, Oct. 19, at the regular chapel period, the Sophomore Class held a meeting. After the plans for the Halloween Party were discussed, several committees gave their reports. The class chose as their flower the pink rose bud; as their colors, pink and green; and as their motto, "Energy Wins the Way". The four main aims of the year are: (1) Put over the annual, big; (2) Leave something to the school; (3) Put on the best chapel programs; (4) Have a Sophomore Banquet.

~~XXXXXXXXXXXX~~ To the Girls

Girls, lets continue to move forward. In recent years we have begun to see the woman ascend from her household duties, which was practically all she was looked upon as capable of doing. She first began to get a good foothold when the Nineteenth Amendment was passed and placed in our Constitution in 1919 which allowed her the same privilege at the poll as the man. Since that time women have demanded more and more freedom and are playing important parts in worldly as well as Religious affairs. They have steadily gained over the men in several lines--Political as well as others. By keeping up with current events we see that women have held and are still holding places in Congress, our own state furnishing the first Senator. Then, too, the women are taking their places in the professional world, we have many capable Lawyers and Doctors that are women. Not only these, but look at the women that are college professors. It looks now as though the opposite sex will have to do some desperate scheming and thinking on they will be looking after the household duties while the fair sex are guiding and controlling this great Government of ours.

Jokes

Miss Newton: (Discussing current history) Someone describe Lind-Bergh's feat.
Lyman W. (Quickly) Never saw them but I can describe Charlie Chapline

Mr. Henderson says it's always best to think twice before you marry, because there isn't any time to do much thinking afterwards.

Miss Trussell: Frank, can you tell me how matches are made?

Frank: No ma'am, but I can't blame you for wanting to know.

Miss Trussell: Why, what do you mean?

Frank: Mother says you've been trying to make one for ten years.
