SOUTH GEORGIA TEACHERS COLLEGE, COLLEGEBORO, GA.

JULY 4, 1930

1930 Summer Session Greatest in History

As the fourth week of the six weeks summer session rounds out the faculty, students and patrons and friends of the college feel that the 1929 session is the largest and most successful summer school in the history of the college.

The number of students may lack some few of being as many as the college had enrolled in 1928, but the faculty is larger, the number of courses are larger, the activities are better, many improvements have been made and the spirit is unusually good.

There are 589 students registered for the first six weeks session, with additional students to take work during the last six weeks session. There are 523 taking high school and college work and 61 in the training school. The faculty this summer number forty-five, by far the largest the college has ever had. There are over one hundred college courses offered, besides the work in the training school and high school work offered.

The summer school in 1925 registered 287 folks, in 1926 there were 244, in 1927 the number jumped to 429, and in 1928 the total enrollment reached 629, in 1929 there were 600 and about the same number this summer. The spectacular growth of the summer session is an evidence that Southeast Georgia is strongly supporting her only college. The growth of the regular winter and fall sessions has been steady, from 129 students in 1925-26 to 229 in 1926-27, then to 306 in 1927-28 and 354 in 1928-29, and finally this year the total regular enrollment went approximately to the four hundred mark. In the four years of steady growth the South Georgia Teachers College has more than doubled. From a total enrollment in 1925-26 of 426 to over one thousand students in 1929-30.

Prospects for the fall term are very bright, and the college expects to make 1930-31 a banner year. To tell of all the improvements since 1925 would require a separate edition of this paper.

MANY PROMINENT GEORGIANS GUESTS OF COLLEGE TODAY

JOHN E. WHITE HERE FOR FOUR LECTURES

Dr. John E. White, pastor of the First Baptist church, Savannah, spent Monday and Tuesday on the campus. While here Dr. White delivered four lectures using as his subject "Four Symbolic Southerners".

On Monday morning at the regular chapel exercises Dr. White talked on George Washington, who he placed as the first and greatest southerner. On Monday evening he lectured on Woodrow Wilson, who was the last and most tragic southerner. Tuesday morning his subject was Jefferson Davis, who he stated was the symbol of southern sorrow. His last address on Tuesday evening was upon the life of Robert E. Lee, whom he called the symbol of southern greatness.

Dr. White is a special visitor to the college twice each year, coming as a special summer school speaker and again during the regular session for a series of lectures. He is at home on this campus and has a host of friends among the faculty and student body.

STATESBORO
THE PEOPLE OF BULLOCH
COUNTY

Extend to the educators and legislators of this section a heartly greeting and wish for you a happy occasion on this the Fourth of July, 1930.

The college is host today to hundreds of Southeast Georgians and others from over the state. Celebrating the Fourth of July in a fit manner, the program for today will include all kinds of entertainment and a barbecue dinner at noon.

The guests invited to today's festivities include many prominent Georgians, legislators, educators, business men, farmers and representatives from every walk of life.

The program begins at 11 o'clock in the auditorium, with the entire student body and faculty present. At one o'clock the barbecue will be served on the campus. Following the dinner a program will be held on the campus. Speakers at this time will be President Wells, D. B. Turner, editor of the Bulloch Times; a representative from each of the college groups, there will be several selections by the quartet, a comedy skit by Pete Donaldson and Walter McDougald and two talks by students: One, "Why I Came to the South Georgia Teachers College," and another, "Why I Like S. G. T. C."

The guests will be introduced at the lunch hour and some of them will be called upon for short talks. Mrs. R. H. Hankinson, president of the Georgia Parent-Teachers' Association, will be a special guest of the college and will deliver an address during the day.

Those invited to attend among the educators and legislators are: Chancellor Charles M. Snelling, of the University of Georgia; R. H. Powell, president of G. S. W. C., Valdosta; E. G. Branch, Georgia State College for Men, Tifton; Leo H. Browning, president Middle Georgia A. & M. College, Cochran; J. M. Thrash, president South Georgia Junior College, Douglas; the following county school superintendents with their counties, H. J. Parker, Appling; Miss Ethel Turner, Atkinson; J. T. This issue of the George-Anne is published by the students in the summer school journalism class. There are sixteen members and each had some part in the editing, making-up and gathering of material for this edition. The George-Anne is a weekly publication of the college during the regular session and is published by the freshman class under the supervision of the English department.

The students in the summer journalism class are particularly interested in journalism. Journalism has certain professional aspects which make it attractive to the young college student. For the trained person with an active mind there are excellent opportunities with newspapers and magazines. The financial rewards of journalism compare favorably with those in other fields. The aim of the college here in offering a course in journalism, which has been given for two summers and during the last two regular sessions, is to provide the student with training in the technique of newspaper work, and even though they may never follow journalism as a profession the six weeks course will find some place in their school work. Hardly a week passes in the schools throughout the state that some instructor needs to have some training in journalism. There is a need for journalism among lawyers, bankers, merchants, and in fact every occupation in life. The students this summer hope to gain information which will enable them to keep in touch with

Athletic and Music Depts. Closely United

A new apartment will be used by Coach B. L. Smith at the college next fall upon his return from Michigan.

Coming as a surprise to members of the student body and faculty, the Athletic Department and the Music Department joined hands in matrimony on Wednesday evening, June 26th, in Macon.

Coach Smith, who in the past few months has missed several faculty meetings, all of those held in the evenings, and who has acted a bit queer, always taking every opportunity to slip another dime away for a rainy day, made his most important touchdown and the best catch in his life when he took the other faculty members off guard and by surprise on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Wells, who was going in the direction of Michigan on Wednesday also, asked the coach if he might ride with him through Kentucky and Virginia. The coach, better known as Crook, gave a very quick reply to President Wells that he must stop over in Tennessee to see his brother. Mr. Wells made the trip on the train and Smith did not get any further than Macon on Wednesday.

President Wells and his cohorts take all the credit for bringing these two departments together. Faculty meetings, receptions, banquets, trips, etc., which enable the teachers to become better acquainted proved to be medium for these two young folk.

On Wednesday evening at eight o'clock in Macon, Miss Marion Cooper became Mrs. B. L. Smith. Both Mr. Smith and Miss Cooper will attend the University of Michigan summer school and will be at the college here next fall.

COLLEGE BRINGS GOOD SUMMER SPEAKERS

The college feels very fortunate indeed to have listed for the summer such a fine group of special speakers. Already Dr. L. R. Christie, of Atlanta; Dr. M. L. Duggan, state school superintendent; W. L. Downs, of the state department; J. S. Smith, of the state department; Dr. John E. White, of Savannah, and others have visited the college. The following special speakers will come during the last three weeks: Kyle T. Alfried, Harry Clark, of Furman University; S. V. Sanford, W. G. Sutlive, D. G. Bickers, E. H. Scott, of Milledgeville; W. A. Sutton, of Atlanta; Prof. J. O. Martin, Gordon Singleton and Paul Ellerson.

JUNE ACTIVITIES

Alfred Dorman's guests on his tenth anniversary were the guests of the college at five o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, June 25th. Two hundred and fifty watermelons were served to the hundreds that came by the college in the afternoon.

One of the most interesting programs ever given in our auditorium was given on Thursday evening, June 26th, by Noah Beilharz. Mr. Beilharz presented "The Hoosier Schoolmaster." The program lasted for one hour and fifteen minutes and was enjoyed by the entire student body, who attended the number as guests of the college. Mr. Beilharz is a nationally known impersonator and make-up artist. His character sketches are unusually good. On Thursday morning Mr. Beilharz gave a twenty-minute program in chapel.

President Wells returned last night from Columbus, Ohio, where he attended the annual convention of the National Education Association. Mr. Wells left here on last Wednesday evening and joined a party made up of Georgians who had a special train to Columbus.

On Tuesday afternoon, June 23rd, at two o'clock, President Wells and the Teachers College quartette gave a thirty-minute program over radio station WTOG, in Savannah. After two numbers by the quartet, President Wells gave a short talk on Bulloch county, Statesboro and the college. Two more numbers were given by the quartette, which is composed of Harry Davis, Hubert Dewberry, Joe Pritchard and Roscoe Coleman.

On Monday, June 24, the First District Press Association held their quarterly meeting at the college. The editors used the auditorium in the morning and were present at chapel. The Statesboro Chamber of Commerce was host to the newspaper men at the Hotel for lunch.

48 Counties Represented

Six states and forty-eight counties in Georgia are represented at the present summer session. This is three more counties than we had last summer. The territory covered this summer is much larger than last year. The states represented are: Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

Bulloch county lead with 153, Emanuel was second last year and ran second again with 53. Tattnall was third with 37, having 37 last year and being in third place for that year also. Last year Emanuel had 44. Bulloch county in 1929 had 144 and this summer shows 153, making a gain of nine. Practically every county in Southeast Georgia is represented and a large number from other sections of the state.

The list of other counties is as follows:

County—	1930	1929
Candler	36	22
Screven	27	25
Evans	19	16
Toombs	19	21
Johnson	15	16

GROUP ACTIVITIES

During the summer much interest centers in the activities enjoyed by the various groups each evening following the supper hour, and with such fine groups as we have this summer a great deal of spirit is exhibited every evening.

On the first meeting the groups were organized and the Eagles were given points for the best name; the eagle being the symbol of the college. The Busy Bees were given points for the best, with a yell signifying their name. The other two groups are the Bear Cats and the Live Wires. In the first competitive game, which was basketball, the Busy Bees won first place and the Bear Cats second in the boys' division. In the girls' division, the Bear Cats won first place and the Eagles second. Other competitive games will be held this week and each of the remaining two weeks.

Last Friday morning the Eagles entertained in chapel with a vaudeville show. On Friday evening the Busy Bees entertained with a "Kid Party". The second of the chapel programs was given Friday by the Busy Bees. The program consisted of two pantomimes. Friday afternoon the Bear Cats entertained the other groups with a treasure hunt.

The groups are eagerly looking forward to the other chapel programs and parties as well as the other ac-

What Teachers Say About Summer Session

Dean Z. S. Henderson says that this session has the highest type of students ever gathered on this campus. He gave three reasons to prove his statement, "More serious attention is being put into classroom work. The ease in which the registration was carried out shows them more determined. Too, the chapel programs are of a higher class, there is more enthusiasm and the exercises are better attended."

J. E. Carruth, director of the training school, in part, says, "This session excels any in the history of the school as far as student activity is concerned. For co-operation and intensive effort we are in class A."

Miss Ordway, a newcomer, says: "The school spirit is excellent. A most responsive, friendly student body. A faculty professionally minded but socially agreeable. It is interesting because it is growing; it caters to a pers-of the summer school.

THE DAY WE CELEBRATE

It is indeed fortunate that each of us have the good fortune of being a participant in today's festivities, but not to the extent that we will sacrifice or in any way forget to appreciate the efforts made by those who secured our freedom. This should be uppermost in our minds though we may each go about celebrating in our individual manner. After this celebration and rally may we with a broader and more patriotic conception strive more than ever, to continue to uphold these high ideals of freedom which have been handed down to us since that memorial 4th of July, 1776. possibly publish a paper of their own and surely have charge of a school page in a local paper in their community.

"I didn't mind the licking," sobbed the little chap over at the Training School, "but I thought it cowardly to do it behind my back."

Manhood, not scholarship, is the first aim of education.

and professional ambition. The summer school affords me a most delightful opportunity for pleasant and helpful association with my fellow teachers, and with those who are prospective teachers. I am highly gratified with the fine and large service that this college is rendering to the schools of southeast Georgia."
