FRESHMEN

It's good to be a Freshman,
Though the things you do are wrong.
It's good to be a Freshman,
With no customs of the throng;
Putting chains upon your actions,
and a pattern on your mind
Always tinging with its color
Everything you seek to find.

It's good to have the freedom
To make mistakes and such,
Though you know you'll have a critic
For everything you touch.
But why should Freshmen worry
Though each be classed a dunce
For every upper classman
Was but a Freshman once.

Friends

To own a friend is more than to own a castle on a great landed estate. And I believe there is a fine sense of ownership in friendships--ownership without any specific demands or restrictions.

After six weeks of college life every one must have made quite a few friends; and some will be lasting friends--the kind of rare friendship that has reaching fingers, doesn't demand, but keeps going.

The friendship of one man towards another is especially fine and inspiring. It is something quite beyond description.

Every one should, and must have friends, but no one should be too quick to form lasting opinions of others without really knowing them. Ever after six weeks, an opinion may be changes and new associates and friends made.

Edgar A. Guest has said: "You cannot be a friend and say, I've nothing I will give away".

"You cannot be a friend and take cold thought for every gift you make".

You may be shrewd; you may be strong; but what is life without a friend? After all storms and trials are past, friendship is all that man can keep.

"Friendships cost nothing,
I hear some folks say,
Though I do not agree.
They cost lots.
But are worth more.
They are life--life--to me".

---Myrtle Waters.

Hubby: Did you notice, my dear,
that a loud talker is generally
an ignorant person?
Wife: Well, you needn't shout so;
I'm not deaf.

Blue Tide Suffers Two Defeats

After losing two games and assisting in a scoreless tie, a fighting "Blue Tide" team intends to come out of its dormant stage this Friday when they meet Piedmont at Statesboro.

The first game was played at Douglas. Two consecutive passes by Douglas in the last five minutes of play enabled them to score and win 6-0. Our boys fought hard and really deserved to win. In-furies to shafe, Thrift, and Boswell early in the game assounted materially in our defeat.

Blue Tide 0 Newberry 0

A determined "Blue Tide" team traveled to Savannah Oct. 3 and was hold scoreless by a heavy Newberry squad. Many loyal rooters traveled to Savannah to see the game. Jones starred for the Teachers and repeatedly carried the ball for long gains. In the last quarter Blue Tide had the ball on Newberry's three yard line. A fumble gave the ball to Newberry and the game ended. The tragic incident in this game was John Ellis Rountree's injury in the second quarter.

Cochran 14 Blue Tide 0

The Middle Georgia College of Cochran defeated "Blue Tide" Friday Oct. 17 at Statesboro.

The Teachers' line was ragged in the early part of the game and Cochran scored twice. After the half the Teachers out-played Cochran, but were unable to score. Jones, Fields, and Kettles starred for "Blue Tide", Holt and McKinnon doing the best work for Cochran.

After drilling his charges all week, for the coming game with Piedmont, Coach Smith is confident of victory.

Miss Michael: Who was that who laughed aloud?

Fred M.: I did, Ma'am, but I didn't mean to do it...

Miss Michael: You didn't mean to do it?

Fred: No, Ma'am, I laughed in my sleeve and I didn't know there was a hole in my elbow.

Helen Taylor: Can you dance on one foot?

W. S. Meadows: Of course.

Helen: Then keep off my other

English As She Is Spoke

Dr. and Mrs. Singleton were visitors to the College Wednesday. The faculty and student body were favored by a talk from Dr. Singleton at the Chapel period.

Miss Armino Limerick of Hiltonia, Georgia, was a visitor on the campus Monday.

We regret to lose some of our students. Among them are Louise Harmon and Lamar Limerick.

Miss Clay: Parse the word "kiss".
 Ruth Peebles: This word is a noun, usually used as a conjunction. It is never declined, and more common than proper. It is not very singular, in that it is used in the plural. It agrees with me.

Miss Brannen: Birds of a feather do what, Charlie?
 Charlie Buie: Lay eggs.

Judge: (After charging jury) Is there any question anyone would like to ask before considering the evidence?
 Juror: A couple of us would like to know if the defendant boiled the malt one or two hours, and how does he keep the yeast out?

"There are loyal hearts, there are spirits brave,
 There are souls that are pure and true;
 Then give to the world the best you have
 And the best will come back to you."

We'll begin with a box, and the plural is boxes;
 But the plural of ox should be oxen not boxes.
 Then one fowl is a goose, but two are called geese;
 Yet the plural of mouse should never be moose.
 You may find a lone mouse, or a whole nest of mice;
 But the plural of house is houses, not huse.
 If the plural of man is always called men;
 Why shouldn't the plural of pan be pen?
 The cow in the plural may be cows or kin;
 But a vowel if repeated is never called vine;
 And if I speak of a foot and you show me your feet,
 And I give you a boot, would a pair be called beet?
 If the singular's this and the plural is these,
 Should the plural of kiss be nicknamed keese?
 Then one may be that, and three would be those,
 Yet hat in the plural would never be hose.
 And the plural of cat is cats, not cose.
 We speak of brother, and also of brothron;
 But though we say mother, we never say methron.
 Then masculine pronouns are he, his, him,
 But imagine the feminine she, shis, and shim!
 So the English, I think you will all agree,
 Is the most wonderful language you ever did see.

---Edna Trapp

If she can't talk, you call her taciturn.
 If she's a gossip, you call her a brilliant conversationalist.
 If she's skinny, you call her fashionably slender.
 If she's fat, you call her pleasingly plump.
 If she's tall and sooty, you call her stately and graceful.
