EAGLES PANTHERS

54  52

Southern downs State in Sun Belt thriller

SEXUAL ASSAULT

Week-long events aimed to raise awareness

Page 5

Page 7

Ink Differently

Local studio redefines tattoo shops

Page 10
Thursday
High: 62°
Low: 39°

Friday
High: 61°
Low: 36°

Saturday
High: 65°
Low: 37°

Sunday
High: 72°
Low: 44°

We made it through the rain, time for the shine! It is looking like no clouds and all sun for the weekend with temperatures peaking at only 72 degrees.

ROTC wins MacArthur Award

Georgia Southern University's Army Reserve Officers' Training Corp (ROTC) has won the MacArthur Award. Georgia Southern University was one of eight ROTC programs awarded the accolade.

According to news.georgiasouthern.edu, The decision was announced last week by the US. Army Cadet Command at Fort Knox, Kentucky. This is Georgia Southern's Eagle Battalion's third time winning the MacArthur Award since 2009.

The award is given to the top ROTC programs from each of the eight brigades. Georgia Southern's Eagle Battalion is in the 6th Brigade. Within the 6th Brigade The Eagle Battalion had to beat out 39 programs from six states and Puerto Rico.

The award is given on the basis of overall performance, national order of Merit List standings, and cadet retention rate. The MacArthur award is given by the cadet command and the General Douglas MacArthur Foundation.

The Georgia Southern Eagle Battalion has also been recognized recently for having the highest GPA for mission set 17, and exceeding the contract goal for STEM cadets.

BESTSELLING AUTHOR AND GSU ALUMNA RETURNS TO SOUTHERN

Cassie Beasley will be returning to campus on Wednesday, March 2nd at 7 p.m. to read from her bestselling novel Circus Mirandus.

According to news.georgiasouthern.edu, Beasley graduated from the Writing and Linguistics department, and soon afterwards published Circus Mirandus in 2015. The book's target audience is middle schoolers but can be enjoyed by all age ranges.

The book stars Micah Tuttle, a fifth grader, who is on a quest to find the mysterious Lightbender who promised his Grandpa Ephraim a miracle. The book follows Micah and Jenny's, his equally brave friend, on their quest to find not only the Lightbender but also the Circus Mirandus.

Beasley will be reading the excerpt at the Information Technology Building in room 1005. The reading will be free and open to the public. If you enjoy the reading of the excerpt, then you will be able to purchase the book at the event.

Weather Bar

This Day in Black History

According to blackfacts.com, Rebecca Lee Crumpler became the first black woman to earn a medical doctorate in 1864. She earned the degree from New England Female Medical College and went on to become a nurse in Massachusetts.

She then moved to Richmond Virginia after the Civil war to help take care of freed slaves. She continued her practice until 1890 and in 1883 she produced a memoir, which was a series of journal entries from her medical practice, according to nlm.nih.gov. This would also be one of the first medical practice books produced by an African American.

Wheelchair Basketball

The Circle took an inside look at wheelchair basketball and spoke with the players about the game.

Watch the rest on thecirclegsu.com

Pre Leasing

FALL 2016!

Caribe Court

912-681-7873 | 210 Caribe Court • Statesboro, GA 30458 | CaribeCourt.com

Studio

2BR

3BR

Free Internet

Free Cable

Pets Welcome

Washer & Dryer

912-764-5489

912-764-2030

Spread and cover designed by Alex Smith
Across
1 Chess ending
5 Plum crazy
9 "Luzak" extra
12 Midcentury hot spot
13 Unappealing food
14 Calif. airport
15 It's word
16 ...-points (ballet position)
17 Ancient Andean
19 Right-leaning?
21 Rotated
23 Lance
24 Checkers color
25 Debate position
27 Middle Eastern domain
29 Coastal raptors
31 Jewish calendar month
33 Clarified butters
34 Old World duck
35 Be sick
36 Our in front
37 Firebugs
40 Get clean
42 "That's !"
43 Condo, e.g.
47 Questionable
48 Cantatrice's offering
49 Kind of lily
50 Tackle
52 Antenna holder
54 Safari sight
55 Mangy mutt
56 Dollar rival
58 12th President of the United States
60 Dubai dignitary

Down
1 Student's worry
2 Daughter of King Minos
3 Old Chinese money
4 Outfit
5 Halucinogens
6 Corrida cries
7 Force
8 Poppies product
9 Baba
10 Hypothetical continent
11 Energized
12 Buenos
13 Ripens
14 Fold
15 Brushes aside
16 Travel options
17 Confund
18 Courtyard open to the sky
19 Orbital period
20 Go bad
21 Dress, maybe
22 Dusk to dawn
23 Hodgepodge
24 Kind of monkey
25 Of an arm bone
26 Not on the level
27 Paperlike cloth
28 "I'm your tricks!"
29 Insurable item
30 Tribes of the Nations
31 Ancient Egyptian
32 Dereliction
33 Search
34 Compare
35 Pelvic parts
36 Corrosive gases
37 Lump
38 Limerick
39 Pelvic parts
40 Pitch or tar, e.g.
41 On a horse
42 Decal
43 Brushes aside
44 Travel options
45 Courtyard open to the sky
46 Confund
47 Orbital period
48 Go bad
49 Dress, maybe
50 Tribes of the Nations
51 Ancient Egyptian
52 Dereliction
53 Paperlike cloth
54 Ancient Egyptian
55 Tribes of the Nations
56 Corrosive gases
57 Lump
58 Limerick
59 Pelvic parts
60 Pitch or tar, e.g.
61 On a horse
62 In perfect condition
63 Nobility
64 Tokyo, once
65 Inurable item
66 Tempo
67 After expenses
68 Kind of alert
69 and sciences
70 Kind of Ily
71 Tackle
72 Antenna holder
73 Safest right
74 Mingy mint
75 Dollar rival
76 Dubai dignitary
77 Old Chinese
78 monastery
79 Old Chinese
80 Dubai dignitary

Across
1 Chess ending
5 Plum crazy
9 "Luzak" extra
12 Midcentury hot spot
13 Unappealing food
14 Calif. airport
15 It's word
16 ...-points (ballet position)
17 Ancient Andean
19 Right-leaning?
21 Rotated
23 Lance
24 Checkers color
25 Debate position
27 Middle Eastern domain
29 Coastal raptors
31 Jewish calendar month
33 Clarified butters
34 Old World duck
35 Be sick
36 Our in front
37 Firebugs
40 Get clean
42 "That's !"
43 Condo, e.g.
47 Questionable
48 Cantatrice's offering
49 Kind of lily
50 Tackle
52 Antenna holder
54 Safari sight
55 Mangy mutt
56 Dollar rival
58 12th President of the United States
60 Dubai dignitary

Down
1 Student's worry
2 Daughter of King Minos
3 Old Chinese money
4 Outfit
5 Halucinogens
6 Corrida cries
7 Force
8 Poppies product
9 Baba
10 Hypothetical continent
11 Energized
12 Buenos
13 Ripens
14 Fold
15 Brushes aside
16 Travel options
17 Confund
18 Courtyard open to the sky
19 Orbital period
20 Go bad
21 Dress, maybe
22 Dusk to dawn
23 Hodgepodge
24 Kind of monkey
25 Of an arm bone
26 Not on the level
27 Paperlike cloth
28 "I'm your tricks!"
29 Insurable item
30 Tribes of the Nations
31 Ancient Egyptian
32 Dereliction
33 Search
34 Compare
35 Pelvic parts
36 Corrosive gases
37 Lump
38 Limerick
39 Pelvic parts
40 Pitch or tar, e.g.
41 On a horse
42 Decal
43 Brushes aside
44 Travel options
45 Courtyard open to the sky
46 Confund
47 Orbital period
48 Go bad
49 Dress, maybe
50 Tribes of the Nations
51 Ancient Egyptian
52 Dereliction
53 Paperlike cloth
54 Ancient Egyptian
55 Tribes of the Nations
56 Corrosive gases
57 Lump
58 Limerick
59 Pelvic parts
60 Pitch or tar, e.g.
Every so often, The George-Anne editorial board will sit down and discuss topics that are affecting the Georgia Southern community. We select these topics based on the potential effect that they have to our campus and students. Recently, the topic of carrying firearms on Georgia campuses has been brought forward by the passing of a new bill in the state capital and make your voice heard.

CONCERNING CAMPUS CARRY

BY THE GEORGE-ANNE EDITORIAL BOARD

Originally published on the Reflector online

Every so often, The George-Anne editorial board will sit down and discuss topics that are affecting the Georgia Southern community. We select these topics based on the potential effect that they have to our campus and students. Recently, the topic of carrying firearms on Georgia campuses has been brought forward by the passing of a new bill in the state capital and make your voice heard.

From the Editorial Board: Concerning campus carry

As the passing of a new bill in the state capital and make your voice heard.

Coexisting changed my life

DEAMBUR J PATTISON

Originally published on the Reflector online

In the beginning, we are unshaped, molded even, into the one being assigned with morals that are usually passed on to us by our guardians.

Coexisting changed my life

The editors reserve the right to reject any copy submitted should be 350 words or less, must be signed and include phone number for correspondence.

STATEMENT OF OPERATIONS

The George-Anne is the official student newspaper of Georgia Southern University, operated by GSE students under faculty provided by the university. The newspaper is the oldest continuously published newspaper in Bulloch County.

The newspaper is published twice weekly, on Tuesdays and Thursdays, during most of the academic year. Any questions regarding content should be directed to the student editor by phone at 912.478.5246 or at gaeditor@georgiasouthern.edu.

ADVERTISING: The newspaper accepts advertising, requires may be made by calling 912.478.5487 or 912.478.5000. For questions, e-mail adsales@georgiasouthern.edu.

The Georgia-Anne receives additional support in part, from the Student Activities Budget Committee. For more information, see sample publications, contact the advertising manager or student media director.

The advertisers are responsible for errors in advertisements and the liability for judicious content. The amount of space the error occupied in the ad, further, the newspaper is not responsible for any damages caused to an advertisement or a particular edition and its responsibility solely is to redeploy the ad in the next regular edition at the regular advertising rates.

STUDENTS BEWARE: The George-Anne reserves all advertising prior to publication. The newspaper reserves the right to accept ads for legitimate products and services only. Students are urged to reject ads from those who are not legitimate or those who are asking for personal information.

From the Editorial Board: Concerning campus carry

The newspaper is printed by The Brumfield News in Brunswick, GA.

NOTICE: Unauthorized removal of multiple copies from distribution sites constitutes theft under Georgia law, a misdemeanor offense punishable by a fine and jail time.

PUBLICATION INFORMATION: The newspaper is printed by The Brumfield News in Brunswick, GA.

The newspaper is printed twice weekly, on Tuesdays and Thursdays, during most of the academic year.

To contact the opinions editor, email letters@georgiasouthern.edu.

Page designed by Margarita Suarez
BY BLAKELEY BARTEE
The George Anne Staff

The Georgia Southern University Sexual Assault Response Team (SART), Sexual Assault Student Educators (SASE) and the Counseling Center will team up to host the annual Sexual Assault Awareness Week starting on Feb. 29 until March 4. Sexual Assault Awareness Week begins with the Clothesline Project, a national movement that honors and supports victims of violence and sexual assault, and concludes with the "Take Back the Night" march and the "End the Violence" rally on Thursday, March 3.

According to Jodi Caldwell, GSU counselor and chair of SART, Sexual Assault Awareness Week will take place alongside University Wellness’s Safe Spring Break Awareness Week.

"One of the highest times of risk for sexual assault for students is during Spring Break, so we made the decision at Georgia Southern to have our awareness campaign before the students went on Spring Break," Caldwell said.

Carmen Gray, senior English major and president of SASE, emphasized the importance of speaking openly about sex and sexual assault.

"Sex is something that we don’t talk about largely as a culture, so when you don’t talk about something that’s so big—a big thing that’s a part of everyone’s lives, things happen that shouldn’t happen. People don’t know what’s the right way to go about things, and people get hurt. Sexual assault happens," Gray said.

Caldwell feels it’s time to talk about sexual assault cases, so that nobody is afraid to step in and prevent it.

"Our goal is to raise awareness to hopefully reduce instances of sexual violence, and also to reduce the stigma attached to those who have experienced sexual violence, and to increase people’s empathy and skills for being good bystanders, for stepping in when they do see dangerous situations," Caldwell said.

According to Suzanne Shurling, a graduate assistant for SART and a certified victim's advocate, the Clothesline Project will be located at the RAC and the Russell Union rotunda.

Victims of sexual violence may share their stories by writing or drawing on T-shirts, which will be hung on a clothesline. The rally to end sexual violence very literally gives them a platform to share their story. And many times, they’re never told anybody. They’ll say that they haven’t told their best friend, they haven’t told their mom and dad, or their clergy member. Those can be very empowering efforts for the victim to feel like they’re starting to regain some sense of control.

Immediately following the "Take Back the Night" march, the final event, the "End the Violence" rally, will take place at 8 p.m. The rally will include candlelight vigil featuring an open mic where victims may share their stories, according to Shurling.

"I’ve been doing [Sexual Assault Awareness Week], on this campus for [sixteen years]," Caldwell said. "Every year, we’ve had at least one victim decide, on their own, to come up and share their story. And many times, they’re never told anybody. They’ll say that they haven’t told their best friend, they haven’t told their mom and dad, or their clergy member. Those can be very empowering efforts for the victim to feel like they’re starting to regain some sense of control."

While later events, such as the Walk a Mile in Her Shoes event on March 31, are meant to educate the public on sexual assault, Sexual Assault Awareness Week also serves to support and empower victims. "All of the initiatives that we engage in are efforts to help empower the victim, to assist their healing process," Caldwell said. "The clothesline project gives them a platform to have a voice where they may not have felt safe having a voice before. The Take Back the Night March is a visible sign of community support for those who have experienced that kind of victimization. The rally to end sexual violence very literally gives victims an opportunity to publicly share their experience."

Love making videos on Snapchat and Instagram?
Submit a video to earn free vacations, cash, and prepaid cards!
Download VUW on the iTunes App Store

Each T-shirt color at the Clothesline Project represents a different type of violence a victim has experienced. Here are their meanings, according to the University Wellness website:

White: victim died due to violence
Blue or Green: survivors of incest and sexual abuse
Purple or Lavender: victims attacked because of sexual orientation
Pink, Orange, and Red: survivors of rape and sexual assault
Black: victims attacked for political reasons

Love making videos on Snapchat and Instagram?
Submit a video to earn free vacations, cash, and prepaid cards!
Download VUW on the iTunes App Store

Love making videos on Snapchat and Instagram?
Submit a video to earn free vacations, cash, and prepaid cards!
Download VUW on the iTunes App Store
Actor Tim Allen lends his voice as narrator of the movie, 'Back to The Moon for Good,' which will be presented at Georgia Southern's planetarium located in the Math and Physics Building on Feb. 26 beginning at 6 p.m. with multiple showings until 9 p.m. Back to the Moon for Good goes into a space exploration race between numerous teams as they try to successfully calculate and a land a robot on the moon, travel 500 feet and send back pictures/data of the moon to Earth for a $30 million prize.

The movie, which was created by Google Lunar Xprize, has teams that have 90 percent of its costs privately funded. All teams have to keep their funds low to provide cheaper space explorations in the future.

"The first half of it will be Back to the Moon for Good, which will be the main planetarium show," Dillon Marcy, planetarium assistant, said. "Then I am going to be doing a short, overall look at the space race itself. How we began back in the early 1900s to where we are right now and the major things in between." One student is excited about the event happening at the planetarium, because she feels it will answer her numerous questions about the moon.

"I like watching movies about space and the moon, but I have heard numerous theories about the moon itself," Elon Ross, junior information technology major, said. "One theory I am curious about is that if the moon were to vanish, [would] life on Earth do the same?"

Claudia Rodriguez, senior geology major, believes that students should take an interest in learning about the moon and should become more informed about what is going on in the world.

"There is a disconnection between people and space," Rodriguez said. "So I think that it is important for people to take the time and learn about what is happening in space. This is also great for those who are interested in developing a career in this type of field. The foundation has been set for space exploration. There just needs to be more people involved."

The planetarium plans on showcasing two more films this semester.

---

GSU's planetarium presents 'Back to the Moon for Good'

"Back to the Moon for Good" has won multiple awards and has a runtime of 24 minutes. The event is free and open to the public.

---

2016 Elections: How to Be an Informed Citizen

MARCH 23 | 7 P.M.
HANNER FIELDHOUSE

Georgiasouthern.edu/ SpeakerSpotlight

YOUR STUDENT ACTIVITY FEES AT WORK

---

Page designed by Margarita Suarez To contact the news editor, email ganewsed@georgiasouthern.edu
 Velvet Rose is located in downtown Statesboro. The tattoo parlor strives to create a comfortable and professional atmosphere.

BY TOM BARSZCZ
The George-Anne contributor

Those of you who have been in tattoo shops before know that they all share a certain, sometimes intimidating image. There’s loud head-banging music playing in the background, the walls are covered with dark designs and the artists may not be giving off the friendliest vibes. Not all tattoo shops choose to perpetuate this off-putting stereotype. Statesboro just became home to such a shop called Velvet Rose.

The humble little shop opened its doors on September 1, 2015 and lies in the Simmons Shopping Center, right off of North Main Street. It is owned by Mark Simmons, a truly unique self-taught artist. He is accompanied by his wife, Jean Simmons, the piercer and secretary of Velvet Rose and Daniel Weinberger, a highly skilled tattoo artist and former Georgia Southern University student.

The inside of Velvet is very subtle. There are no pictures of tattoos on the walls, no poster boards of “flash” tattoo designs and no discouraging decorations you’d typically find at other tattoo shops, which Mark Simmons described as “demonic shit.” Nope. Velvet Rose has a few books of Simmons and Weinberger’s sketches, several portraits of Marilyn Monroe, a few framed publications featuring Simmons and one TV, which is always playing something random.

"IT'S YOUR TATTOO AND IT'S FOR LIFE. SO WE WANT TO MAKE SURE YOU CAN WEAR THAT SH*T WITH PRIDE"
MARK SIMMONS
tattoo artist

FEBRUARY 29 - MARCH 4
sexual assault &
safe spring break week

Monday, February 29 - Thursday, March 3
Clothesline Project
9AM - 5PM, RAC & Russell Union

Tuesday, March 1st
Protect the Skin You're In 4PM, Williams Center Multipurpose Room

DUI Simulator
3 - 5PM, Near Centennial Plaza

Mardi Gras Madness
6 - 9PM, Georgia Avenue (in front of Dining Commons)

Wednesday, March 2nd
Welcome to the Party
7PM, Russell Union Theatre

Thursday, March 3rd
Take Back the Night March
7PM, Bookstore Plaza

End the Violence Rally
8PM, Rotunda

For more detailed information on the week's events, please visit GeorgiaSouthern.edu/wellness

Page designed by Rebecca Davis
To contact the sports editor, email gasports@georgiasouthern.edu
Simmons is a self-taught artist with 23 years of experience. Starting at the age of 16, he became what is known as a "scratcher", which is a non-professional tattoo artist. Simmons tattooed non-professionally until 2005, when he was hired to apprentice in an Augusta shop called Studio 13. After apprenticeship, he eventually bought Studio 13 and began his career as a legitimate artist to be published in two tattoo magazines "Skin Art" and "Prick". After several years, Simmons moved on to a different shop in Savannah called Resurrection Ink and soon found his way to Statesboro to open Velvet Rose.

"We just want Statesboro to have a solid tattoo shop," Simmons said. "I decided to open up in Statesboro because the college is right here with 23,000 students that possibly need a badass tattoo."

To Simmons, owning a tattoo shop and being an artist is a great responsibility that he takes very seriously. "It's a hell of an opportunity and a great pleasure to have someone allow you to tattoo them, to put something on their skin forever... It's your tattoo and it's for life, so we want to make sure you can wear that shit with pride," Simmons said. Intimidating is the last word to describe Velvet Rose, and students don’t have just Mark and Jean to thank for that. There’s also Daniel Weinberger, the third hard-worker behind Velvet Rose. Daniel spent most of his life in Statesboro and even attended GSU in pursuit of a career in the business aspect of the tattoo world, until he realized the artistic direction was most important to him.

"If you think about business too much, it takes away from your artistic nature," Weinberger said. Once Daniel became professional, Mark hired him at Velvet Rose due to his impressive talent and shared professional philosophies.

"The way I look at tattooing is that somebody's giving me a piece of their body for the rest of their life...to say I take tattooing personally is an understatement," Weinberger said. Simmons is currently working on creating a website that tells a little more about their shop and who they are. In the meantime, for more information about Velvet Rose, check out their Facebook or give them a visit in person.
Which Wine?

Whether it's an elegant dinner party or a night alone, know your wine.

BY ARAYA JACKSON
The George-Anne staff

Wine is a delicacy that can be enjoyed on any day ending with -y. It's a perfect pairing for dinners, get-togethers or maybe you just need to take the edge off a long day. People tend to look at wine with utmost respect, not just a way to get drunk. NationalDrinkWineDay.org describes the positive benefits of wine such as new friends, reduced risk of heart disease and the enhancement of food and life. Now, it's usually never the question of whether you drink wine or not, but rather the color you chose - red versus white. Two very distinct types, each perfect for different people and different occasions. This comparison between the two could go on forever, but let's keep it to a simple satirical five, plus take a look at the basic nutritional facts.

One is not defined as better than another, but simply everyone has their own personalities which correlate with their wine preference. In the end, it's still just wine, which many experts say promotes longevity and carries heart healthy benefits. What more could you ask for from an alcoholic beverage? So whether you're a red or white person, get together with some of your closest friends tonight and share a glass, because you wouldn't want to let the wine gods down on this glorious holiday. Please enjoy responsibly!

Please remember to drink responsibly

White

- For the bubbly, one-night-stand sipper
- Much easier to pregame with
- Better for fun conversation
- At the apartment
- Won't stain when your tipsy-self spills on carpet
- Celebrity Drinker: Drake
- One serving (5 OZ) of Barefoot Moscato has 127 calories, 11 grams total carbs and one gram of protein. The alcohol content is nine percent by volume.

Red

- For the more sophisticated, relationship-type sipper
- Much harsher to pregame with
- Better for drowning your sorrows
- Stains when you throw it on someone
- Celebrity Drinker: Leslie Knope
- One serving (5 OZ) of Barefoot Merlot (because college kids stick to the cheap stuff) has only 120 calories, five grams total carbs and one gram of sugar. The alcohol content is 13 percent by volume.

SURVIVOR
SPRING BREAK EDITION

WHEN: March 1st 11am-2pm
WHERE: The Rotunda

Get ready for Spring Break with Student Media! We will have beach games, giveaways and great tips on how to have a safe spring break!

HOUSE FOR RENT

431 South Main Street
6 bedroom / Fully furnished / All appliances included / Immediate Repairs

Call Dr. Hood at 912-682-7468

Page designed by Rebecca Davis
To contact the features editor, email gaartsandenttageorgiasouthern.edu
Georgia Southern redeemed their overtime loss in Atlanta with a 54-52 win over Georgia State on Tuesday night. Mike Hughes led the way with 21 points.

BY MARQUIS WILLIAMS
The George-Anne Staff

The battle for the title "The Real GSU" ended with Georgia Southern defeating Georgia State at home 54-52. Hanner Fieldhouse was electric Tuesday night as the game came down to the wire, something that isn't uncommon when these rivals meet.

The Eagles started off the game with a burst of energy that gave them a 33-27 lead. The first half was capped off with a SportsCenter Top 10 play by Mike Hughes, who hit a 30-foot buzzer beater that perfectly sunk in the basket.

"[Coach Byington] told me to find the ball and find an open spot on the floor. I didn't find the ball, the ball found me so I just tried to make a play and it went in," Hughes said about the shot.

The Panthers had the ball with 1:22 left on the clock, trailing 53-50. Ga State forward T.J. Shipes received a pass in the post and went up for an open dunk. However, Eagle center Coye Simmons emphatically rejected the attempt. The Eagles extended their lead to 54-52 and got a stop on defense to seal the win.

After the game, Byington expressed the importance of the win and how much it meant to his team and fans of Eagles Nation.

"What a great environment," Byington said. "It was a special environment for our guys to play basketball in and to see the students and fans get behind our guys tonight. I don't see us winning without them."

With the win, the Eagles remain in fifth place in the Sun Belt with an overall record of 13-14 and a 9-8 record in the conference. They have three more games left before they start the conference tournament. If they win out they could reach as high as second in the Sun Belt, provided a few teams ahead of them drop a couple of games.

They host Appalachian State tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the final home game of the season.

Looking for a great summer job?
Apply Today: NAUTIXPOOLS.COM
NOW HIRING LIFEGUARDS FOR SUMMER 2016
• Fun Summer Job
• Flexible Schedules
• Full and Part Time
• Competitive Pay
• Bonuses Available
• Employee Events
• Job, Cheraw, & other area locations

To contact the sports editor, email gasports@georgiasouthern.edu
Devince and DeVonte Boykins will play their final home game as teammates tonight against Appalachian State.

“Devince has stepped into a leadership role in his first season with the team, DeVonte has proved himself a reliable option in his sophomore season,” By Robert George

For Georgia Southern’s Devince and DeVonte Boykins, tonight will be one of the last chances they will get to step on the court together as teammates on the collegiate level.

For both brothers, it has been a long road getting to this game. Their playing days started as soon as they were old enough to hold a basketball.

For DeVonte, the younger of the pair, his first memory of basketball was watching his brother take on his dad in the driveway before he was old enough to play.

“Basketball is something that grew on both of us because our whole family played,” DeVonte said.

The Boykins played on the same high school team for one year at East Rutherford in N.C. Their team won the state championship that year, something that Devince and his teammates had been building toward for four years. He was named MVP of the championship game after scoring 16 points and pulling nine rebounds.

Despite being just a freshman, DeVonte was the third-leading scorer on the team and a key piece of the championship run.

Devince had the same memories of his younger brother.

“Devince is an extremely athletic player but a little more quiet,” Byington said.

Prior to the final home game of the season tonight, the Boykins reflected on some of their favorite moments together on the court.

For Devince, he picked a play from this season as his most memorable moment with his brother.

“Mine would be here at Southern,” Devince said. “We got a steal at half-court and I got my brother a pass to get his first dunk in his college career. For me to be able to get the assist on his dunk was great.”

Tonight is Senior Night for the Eagles. Devince is the lone senior on the Eagles this season. He said that it has been a “different” feeling, being the only senior and a first-year player at GSU.

“Mine would be here at Southern,” Devince said. “We got a steal at half-court and I got my brother a pass to get his first dunk in his college career. For me to be able to get the assist on his dunk was great.”

Tonight is Senior Night for the Eagles. Devince is the lone senior on the Eagles this season. He said that it has been a “different” feeling, being the only senior and a first-year player at GSU.

“Devince said.

For Devince, he picked a play from this season as his most memorable moment with his brother.

“Mine would be here at Southern,” Devince said. “We got a steal at half-court and I got my brother a pass to get his first dunk in his college career. For me to be able to get the assist on his dunk was great.”

Tonight is Senior Night for the Eagles. Devince is the lone senior on the Eagles this season. He said that it has been a “different” feeling, being the only senior and a first-year player at GSU.

“Our process was challenging,” Devince said. “I knew that I wanted to play with my brother again, but ultimately it came from Coach B (Mark Byington) with him accepting me to come here. He was excited about me coming and he told him I was on board.”

Coach Byington said he doesn’t treat them as brothers, but as individuals. It helps that they play different positions, have different skills sets and have different personalities.

“Devonte is a little more aggressive, a little more outgoing. Devince is an extremely athletic player but a little more quiet,” Byington said.

Prior to the final home game of the season tonight, the Boykins reflected on some of their favorite moments together on the court.

For Devince, he picked a play from this season as his most memorable moment with his brother.

“Mine would be here at Southern,” Devince said. “We got a steal at half-court and I got my brother a pass to get his first dunk in his college career. For me to be able to get the assist on his dunk was great.”

Tonight is Senior Night for the Eagles. Devince is the lone senior on the Eagles this season. He said that it has been a “different” feeling, being the only senior and a first-year player at GSU.

“Mine would be here at Southern,” Devince said. “We got a steal at half-court and I got my brother a pass to get his first dunk in his college career. For me to be able to get the assist on his dunk was great.”

Tonight is Senior Night for the Eagles. Devince is the lone senior on the Eagles this season. He said that it has been a “different” feeling, being the only senior and a first-year player at GSU.

“Our process was challenging,” Devince said. “I knew that I wanted to play with my brother again, but ultimately it came from Coach B (Mark Byington) with him accepting me to come here. He was excited about me coming and he told him I was on board.”

Coach Byington said he doesn’t treat them as brothers, but as individuals. It helps that they play different positions, have different skills sets and have different personalities.

“Devonte is a little more aggressive, a little more outgoing. Devince is an extremely athletic player but a little more quiet,” Byington said.

Prior to the final home game of the season tonight, the Boykins reflected on some of their favorite moments together on the court.

For Devince, he picked a play from this season as his most memorable moment with his brother.

“Mine would be here at Southern,” Devince said. “We got a steal at half-court and I got my brother a pass to get his first dunk in his college career. For me to be able to get the assist on his dunk was great.”

Tonight is Senior Night for the Eagles. Devince is the lone senior on the Eagles this season. He said that it has been a “different” feeling, being the only senior and a first-year player at GSU.

“Our process was challenging,” Devince said. “I knew that I wanted to play with my brother again, but ultimately it came from Coach B (Mark Byington) with him accepting me to come here. He was excited about me coming and he told him I was on board.”

Coach Byington said he doesn’t treat them as brothers, but as individuals. It helps that they play different positions, have different skills sets and have different personalities.

“Devonte is a little more aggressive, a little more outgoing. Devince is an extremely athletic player but a little more quiet,” Byington said.
Interested in becoming an ORGANIZATION LEADERSHIP
CONSULTANT?

Applications Available
on MyInvolvement through the Office of Student Activities
February 22 - March 7

YOUR STUDENT ACTIVITY FEES AT WORK

SOUTHERN DOWNS
APARTMENTS

- Washer & Dryer Included in Every Home
- Fully Equipped Kitchens
- Central Heating & Air Conditioning
- Walk to GSU Tin Stadium & The Plaza
- Furnished Options Available
- Rent Includes Cable with HBO
- Internet & Electric (to a cap)
- Swimming Pool & Sundek
- Clubhouse with Computer Lounge
- Pets Welcome - Large Breeds, Too!
- FREE Roommate Matching
- Full-Size Basketball Court
- Game Room
- Beach with Hammock Gardens
- Volleyball Court
- 24-Hour Fitness Center
- 24-Hour Emergency Maintenance

Save Up To One Month FREE! 710 Georgia Ave., Statesboro (912) 373-8118

JONES AND KIRKLAND REFLECT ON CAREERS BEFORE FINAL HOME GAME

Tonight is the final home game of the season for the women's basketball team. Briana Jones and Sierra Kirkland are the only seniors on the team and are looking forward to ending their career at Hanner on a high note.

Jones and Kirkland have played in every game this season. They are also both averaging 2.1 points per game.

BY CHRIS SMITH
The George-Anne Staff

Senior night is always a bittersweet moment for student-athletes across the country. College athletes realize that their time of playing the sport that they love so much is ending. For the Georgia Southern women's basketball seniors that moment is here. Senior forwards Briana Jones and Sierra Kirkland are playing in their last game at Hanner Fieldhouse as Georgia Southern Eagles.

Officially, GSU played their senior night game last Saturday against Arkansas at Little Rock. Both Jones and Kirkland, who typically don't start, started the game in celebration of their careers.

"Tonight was a little emotional because it is our senior night and it's starting to hit home that this is it, this is starting to be the end. This game was so intense and everybody played so hard. I am so proud of everybody," Sierra Kirkland said about senior night.

Even though GSU was not able to come away with the win, there were still bright spots for the team. Jones recorded one block and took third place on the all-time list for most shots blocked in GSU women's basketball history.

"I didn't really know that I was that close and that high up in the rankings. I'm not out there trying to swat people's shots, but when they come they come and it is great going down in history at Georgia Southern on my way out," Jones said about her all-time blocks ranking.

GSU played a hard fought game against Little Rock and it showed. They went toe-to-toe with one of the best teams in the Sun Belt conference. Head coach Kip Drown was happy to see toughness from his players and he was proud of the way his seniors played.

"Those have been very special and as a first year coach you really have to get a buy-in from your players. I think that starts with your seniors and then everybody else hopefully falls in line. From the beginning those two have been very supportive and tremendously accepting of their roles," Drown said about his two seniors.

There was also a ceremony held at half-court for Jones and Kirkland. Both were walked out by family members and were recognized for their hard work, both academically and athletically.

"Senior night is always emotional whether you are the senior or not. It is always sad to see people go, or see people leave the program. I tried my best to not get too emotional today and keep my head in the game," Jones said.

GSU will play their final home game of the season tonight at 5 p.m. against Appalachian State. The game will be televised on ESPN 3.