Four Killed In Route 80 Crash

Lamar Simmons, 41, a Bulloch County farmer, and his nephew, Gordon Ashton Simmons, Jr., 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ashton Simmons, were fatally injured Christmas day in a head-on collision of two cars on U. S. Highway 80, a mile west of the Statesboro city limits. Mr. Simmons and his nephew had just left Simmons home and were enroute to the business section of Statesboro.

Also killed were Arthur Davis, Negro, and his son, Albert. The three adults were killed instantly. The Simmons boy died about an hour later in the Bulloch County Hospital.

Details of the accident have not been determined. The only witness was a motorist driving some distance behind one of the cars. Both vehicles were completely demolished.

Double funeral services were conducted for Mr. Simmons and his nephew at 3 p. m. last Thursday at the First Baptist Church of Statesboro with Rev. George Lovell and Rev. Dan Williams officiating. Burial was in Eastside cemetery at Statesboro.

Mr. Simmons is survived by his mother, Mrs. Homer Simmons, Sr.; his widow, the former Miss Mildred Thompson; a sister, Miss Evelyn Simmons, and three brothers, Frank, Homer and Gordon Ashton Simmons, all of Statesboro.

Gordon Ashton Simmons, Jr., is survived by his parents and a sister, Eloise. Smith-Tillman Mortuary was in charge of the funeral.

Dr. Williams Contributor To New Book

Dr. Leslie Spencer Williams, former pastor of the First Baptist Church, Statesboro, is one of the contributors to the Encyclopedia of Southern Baptists, soon to be published by Broadman Press, Nashville, Tenn. Dr. Williams contributed two articles on "Shaler G. Hillyer" and "Charles D. Mallory."

The two-volume encyclopedia is a comprehensive guide to Southern Baptist life, work, beliefs, and heritage. More than 900 writers worked for four years to produce the reference work, which was assembled by the Historical Commission of the Southern Baptist Convention. This encyclopedia will guide people of other denominations into a better understanding of Southern Baptists and will enable Baptists themselves to know each other better.

There are 4,348 articles and 92 pages of pictures in the encyclopedia, including articles on every association of churches in the Southern Baptist Convention and 675 biographies of eminent Baptist leaders of the past. The Encyclopedia of Southern Baptists will be published January 20, 1958 at $16.50. The prepublication price is $13.75 and the work may be ordered now through any bookseller at that price.

Dean Murray Honored For Services

Dr. C. C. Murray, dean of the University of Georgia's College of Agriculture, is named "Man of the Year" in service to Georgia by The Progressive Farmer magazine in its January issue.

In his seven years as Dean, the college of agriculture has made rapid progress in all of its functions - extension, research, and teaching. Through his guidance, outstanding progress has been made in professional status of personnel, salaries, and physical improvements.

A native of North Carolina, he has his B. S. A. degree from North Carolina State, his M. S. from the University of Georgia, and his Ph. D. in plant breeding from Cornell University.

He has been a teacher of vocational agriculture, agronomist with the Soil Conservation Service, assistant professor of agronomy at the University of Georgia, professor of agronomy at Louisiana State University, and director of the Georgia Experiment Station at Experiment.

His honors are many. He has served on the National Committee of Nine representing Southern experiment stations and is chairman of the National Cotton and Cotton Seed Research and Marketing Advisory Committee. He has contributed to Southwestern development as president of the Association of Southern Agricultural Workers in 1954, as agricultural member of the Southern Regional Council of Atomic Energy, and on the Agricultural Science commission of the Southern Regional Education board.

CIRCLE TO MEET JAN. 6th
The first meeting of the Mina Franklin Circle will meet Monday, January 6 at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. Jones Lane, with Mrs. Mattie Lou Atwell and Mrs. Wilton Hodges co-hostesses.

Salesmen Rockwell's Key Men

It is the salesman and not the president, controller or chief accountant who sets our budget, says Lloyd A. Dixon, Jr., vice president in charge of Rockwell's Meter and Valve Division.

Speaking at a sales administration course at the University of Pittsburgh, Pittsburgh, Pa., Mr. Dixon explained that accountants and top officers put the figures together and make the final decisions - but the salesmen do all the basic work that results in the final creation.

"Since our plants can afford to make only what our salesman can sell, we start our budgets at the salesman's level," he said. "During October and November of each year, every salesman must contact each of his customers and arrive at some figure representing what each customer should buy from us during the ensuing year. This report is gone over at a district level, then at a regional level and finally at headquarters in Pittsburgh. By these checks, we attempt to wash out any undue optimism or pessimism. This budget is reviewed and extended every six months."

"An indirect benefit of discussing a customer's long-range requirements with him is that we often get orders much sooner than we would with only routine calls thus giving our plants longer lead-times."

Safety Body Urges More Inspections

Two resolutions which would ask the general assembly to provide funds for employing additional gas and nursing home fire safety inspectors will be presented to the Safety Fire Commission Advisory Board and then to the General Assembly in January.

Commissioner Zack D. Cravey, in making this announcement, said that the resolutions had been drafted and approved by a subcommittee of the Advisory Board, headed by Oscar Betts, of Columbus.

Declaring he did not sit in on the drawing of the resolutions, Commissioner Cravey said he had "all the authority we need for inspectors under the Safety Fire Law of 1949 but lack personnel." The resolutions states that the Safety Act requires the State Fire Marshal to make inspections of nursing homes and natural and manufactured gas installations "wherever local inspection is not provided."

Action was prompted by a recent joint meeting of a legislative committee with state health authorities and the fire marshal's office and also by the calamitous explosion due to an unknown natural gas installation factor at Villa Rica. The tragedy claimed 12 lives and injured scores.

Citizens of Bulloch County and G. T. C. students filled the building formerly occupied by Aldred's Grocery with toys and clothing. The program is an annual one for the Statesboro Jaycees, but President Donald McDougald termed this one "The best in club history."

K. Of P. Lodge Elects New Officers

At the annual meeting of the Statesboro Lodge No. 97, Knights of Pythias, held in the Masonic Hall Friday evening, a supper was provided for the many members, candidates and visitors that were present.

Ben G. Way, Past Grand Chancellor, Grand Lodge of Georgia Knights of Pythias called the meeting to order at eight o'clock and conferred the Rank of Knight on a class of Esquire candidates. He was assisted by a degree team from Hinesville Lodge.

Johnnie McCorkle was elected Chancellor Commander and others elected to serve with him were, Jessie N. Akins, Vice-Chancellor; Gerald Sparks, Jr., Prelate; Ivey Wynn, Master of Works; Barney Rushing, Master at Arms; and Horace Bird, Secretary. And those re-elected were, Don Coleman, Financial Secretary; Charles O. Liff, Master of Finance; Hiram Dollar, Jr., Inner Guard; Dalton Kennedy, Outer Guard and Burton Mitchell, District Deputy.

The newly elected officers were installed by Supreme Grand Lodge Representative and Past Grand Chancellor of Georgia Knights of Pythias.

The regular and stated meetings of the Statesboro Lodge are the first and third Friday evenings, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mrs. H. R. Reeves Contest Winner

Christmas came early for Mrs. H. R. Reeves, 4 Vista Cir., Statesboro, as the Hamilton Watch Company played a pre-Yule Santa Claus to winners of its nationwide "$100,000 Style Preference Contest."

The "open-before-Christmas" gift of a $72.50 Hamilton watch was awarded as fifth prize to Mrs. Reeves, who competed against thousands of entrants from every sector of the country. The prize will be awarded in ceremonies later this month at Grimes Jewelry Company, Statesboro, through which she entered the contest, described as the largest event of its type in the history of the jewelry industry.

The national competition judged by the Reuben H. Donnelley Corporation, required entrants to express preferences for features of Hamilton Watches on display at Grimes' as well as to name a specific model they would like to own and the reasons for the selection.

A total of 1,400 prizes were awarded including a first prize of Hamilton's $5,000 Saturnalia - a pendant watch set with 205 diamonds and winner of the jewelry industry's highest honor, Diamonds, U. S. A.

STILSON P-T.A. MET ON FRIDAY, DECEMBER 13th

The Stilson P-T.A. met on Friday night, December 13 in the Log Cabin, which was beautifully decorated with the Christmas theme. The following program was given: Christmas Songs, first, second and third grade; The Christmas Story, fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh grades.

After the program Santa appeared with gifts for all.

On Friday, December 20th each class had their own tree and party in each room. The grade mothers of each class gave all the children a Christmas party. Every child left school with a gift and plenty of fruit and candy.

Business Concerns Increase

The number of business concerns in the Statesboro area increased about 16% last year in comparison with 1955, while Bulloch County, as a whole, also increased 16%, according to Wm. M. Gordon, district manager in Atlanta, who bases this statement on figures in the current Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book.

He said this increase showed up in the requests for financial information going out to approximately 400 business concerns in Bulloch County. In 1955, 342 requests were mailed to firms in this area.

Mr. Gordon said his company is mailing out approximately three million such requests in the nation as a whole, an annual practice which is helpful in keeping its credit reference files up to date.

When the principal of a business or his accountant returns a financial statement, it becomes a part of the credit report on the business. The credit report includes a history of the business, a description of what it does, a financial section and a record of how the company pays its bills.

On the basis of the information in the report, a rating is assigned and the businessman is listed in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book. Gordon said the Reference Book is indispensable in conducting credit inquiry, pointing out that 95% of all commercial transactions in the country are made on credit terms.

Pittman P-T.A. Met December 18

The true meaning of Christmas is God's gift of His Son and through Him "Peace on Earth", to those who partake of God's will, was in essence the thought brought out by the Rev. Miles Wood, minister of the Presbyterian Church, as he brought words of inspiration to the parents and teachers of the Marvin Pittman School Wednesday night, December 18th.

Mrs. Emmitt Scott presided over a short business meeting. Mrs. Marshall reporting for the membership committee said they were getting favorable reports from the near hundred notes which her committee had sent out to prospective members. The attendance award will remain in the 4th grade room. This room having won the attendance award in November also.

Mr. Pafford, principal, gave a report on the visiting committee of Educators who had recently visited the school, and he explained the schools credentials with the Georgia Commission and the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Mrs. Z. L. Strange, Jr., member of the program committee, presented Mrs. Fred Wallace and Miss Constance Cone who were in charge of a Christmas program. A film "The Littlest Angel" was furnished by a trio composed of Cindy Farr, Susan Wallace, and Nancy Hamilton.

Mrs. Marshall Hamilton, in a unique way, used a participating audience singing Christmas carols to get better acquainted with each other. The 6th and 7th grades were hosts to a social hour which followed the program.

VISITING IN STATESBORO

Mr. and Mrs. Durward Kennedy and daughters Carolyn and Joyce, are visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mobley of Route 5, Statesboro.

One Killed, Ten Injured In Crash

In a four-car collision last Friday afternoon about 4 o'clock on U. S. 80 near Bloomingdale, Mrs. Elma DeLoach was fatally injured and her husband and five children critically injured.

The accident occurred when a 1956 Ford driven by Roosevelt Middleton, negro, attempted to pass a car driven by Lonnie Moseley, negro, of Eden. The Ford cut in front of Moseley's car and hit the rear of a Dodge truck driven by Obren C. Creacy of Brooklet.

The impact caused the Ford to skid into the path of the oncoming 1956 Plymouth driven by Mr. DeLoach. The Moseley car was apparently traveling too fast to stop and crashed into DeLoach's car.

Mrs. DeLoach was pronounced dead on arrival at the Warren Candler Hospital in Savannah. Mr. DeLoach suffered a crushed chest, broken right knee, head injuries and broken right arm and is in a critical condition.

The five DeLoach children all suffered serious injuries. Edwin, 15, suffered a broken jaw, cut chin and multiple head injuries. His condition was listed as critical. Jerry, 13, and John, 7, suffered severe injuries, but their condition is reported as fair.

Billy, 10, suffered a broken right shoulder and possible internal injuries and he, too, is reported in fair condition.

Gloria Jean, 2, sustained brain injuries and following the accident her condition was reported as serious.

The three occupants of the Middleton car and Moseley were injured, but none reported serious.

Mr. Creacy, driver of the Dodge truck was apparently uninjured.

The DeLoach family had been visiting Mrs. DeLoach's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hendrix, near Brooklet, for the Christmas holidays and were enroute to their home in Madison, Fla., at the time of the accident. A victim of the crash was a small puppy belonging to the DeLoach children, apparently one of their Christmas presents.

The body of Mrs. DeLoach was taken last Saturday to the home of her parents. Funeral services were held at the graveside last Sunday at 3:30 p. m. at Hendrix cemetery in the Lockhart district of Rocky Ford, conducted by the Rev. W. K. Livingston, pastor of the Statesboro Church of God.

In addition to her husband, her children and parents, Mrs. DeLoach is survived by four brothers, Melvin and Ralph, both of Atlanta; Harvey of Port Wentworth, and Marvin of Savannah; four sisters, Mrs. Evelyn Bunch of Atlanta; Mrs. Ruby Finch of Rocky Ford; Mrs. Louise Bragg of Marietta, and Mrs. Myrtice Ennis of Savannah.

Mrs. Blich Gets State Recognition

Mrs. Iris Faircloth Blich is named Woman of the Year in service to Georgia rural families by The Progressive Farmer magazine in its January issue. This Clinch county woman is the first woman from the state ever elected for a full term in the United States Congress.

MRS. IRIS Blich

Born on a farm in Southeast Georgia, she attended the University of Georgia, South Georgia College, and Massey Business College. She and Brooks Erwin Blich were married in 1929. They have two children.

Before election to the House of Representatives in 1954, Mrs. Blich served in the state legislature. She was elected to serve in the state senate in 1946, in the state house of representatives in 1948, and again in the state senate in 1952.

Every bill introduced by Mrs. Blich while in the state legislature was passed, although one hung fire for seven years before final passage. Among those bills she worked for most vigorously was one giving women the right to serve on a jury.

In the U. S. Congress, she represents the Eighth District, composed of 20 counties. Since first elected to public office, Mrs. Blich has been interested primarily in agriculture, and has worked for passage of farm bills to benefit Georgia and the nation.

ARRIVES AT NEWPORT, R. I.

Herbert L. Smith, gunner's mate second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Smith of Tobacco Trail Court, south of Statesboro, arrived in Newport, R. I., December 23, aboard the radar picket escort vessel USS Mills after conducting operations in the Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, area.

4-H Winners Vow To Ring The Bell For Safety

DETERMINED TO BOOST THE NUMBER of 4-H members actively participating in safety programs to the million mark in 1958 are these eight national winners in the National 4-H Safety Program. Here, they show Ralph W. Moore, Director of Plant City and Field Relations for General Motors, the dramatic rise from 72,000 4-H participants in safety when GM began its sponsorship of the program awards 13 years ago to the current participation of 855,000 members. Leading 4-H toward the "million in safety mark" next year will be these winners, each of whom received $400 college scholarships from GM. In addition, General Motors provides them and the other state winners all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Bottom row, left to right are Sylvia McCarty, 18, Myers, Ky.; Leonard Wertz, 17, McClave, Colo.; Marilyn Blich, 17, El Reno, Okla.; Don Willis, 18, Mendonhall, Miss.; Top row, left to right are Sharon Mitchell, 16, Dixson, Miss.; Carolyn Kay Moore, 16, Fairview, Kans.; Ronald Powell, 16, Clark, Mo.; Christine Pasley, 17, Hillsboro, Ore.

STATE 4-H CORN CHAMPIONS—Winners in the 1957 4-H hybrid corn program sponsored by the Georgia Power Company in cooperation with the Agricultural Extension Service receive congratulations from C. M. Wallace, Jr., vice president in charge of sales, Georgia Power Company. Winners are, left to right, Johnny Roberts, Emanuel County, first place; Bailey Joiner, Emanuel County, second place; and Jack Walton, Wilkes County, third place. The program's objectives are to improve corn production methods, increase corn yields, and to reduce production costs per bushel. Ten years ago, when the program was begun, less than 10 per cent of the corn acreage was devoted to hybrids. Now, hybrids account for more than 80 per cent of the acreage.

Dr. Lieb And Smoking

Dr. Clarence W. Lieb, who served for many years and is a famed adviser to one of America's large tobacco corporations, has written a new book concerning smoking.

Dr. Lieb earned his medical degree at Harvard Medical School in 1941. He has practiced in New York for many years and is famous for many medical achievements.

The message in his latest book is blunt. He admits that, heretofore, he had felt that it was advisable for cigarette smokers to adopt habits of moderation in smoking, as an answer to medical facts recently unveiled. Now he is convinced that this is a futile approach. Smokers may as well face the facts, he says, that abstinence from tobacco is the only sensible

A Booby Prize Vote

A recent article in one of our major newspapers, weekly supplements, by Philip Wylie, gets our vote for the booby prize award of 1967.

We are not being priggish, for every American boy is guilty of having played some pranks on someone. But there is a difference between pranks and

With that part of the article we agree, but we cannot agree with much else contained in it. The article claims adults have teen-agers apart in a separate world, are insulting them and treating them with great injustice.

Those were the lazy days, before the mad rush after the dollar became the important thing in life. True, there were not many dollars to be chased. It was a child there was talk of the baryard animals kneeling in worship to the Baby Jesus, Christmas

Further down in the article the author reports how members capers, which amounted to juvenile delinquency, 1957-1964.

It is true that if parents would take the necessary time and care with their children, in training them, juvenile delinquency might be solved.

Cluttered Highways

One notices, especially in traveling in areas where modern and beautiful highways are enjoyed, that too many of our highways in this country are cluttered and congested with billboard signs, and so on, bugging the roadside and distracting the beauty of nature and constituting an eyesore.

We are in favor of this trend in highway construction. Nature provides many beauties, not the least of which is a panorama of the countryside.

Visitors to the United States have long pointed to this over-commercialization along our highways. Partly as a result of this and partly as a result of efforts begun in the United States, many of our new highways are being beautified by signs, billboards and billboards are not being allowed to ruin the scenery along the roadside.

In addition, access roads are clearly marked by signs, which tell the motorist where he can stop for gas, or lodging or dining.

A passing motorist his flicker is flicking. 2. Eliminating the two no-trump response to a demand bid. 3. Work out a plan so that when the walk arrow is on it really means pedestrians may walk safely without the help of a sneering honk.

Let me walk unswerving, and conquer fear. Fear is an awful thing. Today so many of us are afraid, especially the old. Why are we old? We know that the end is not too far off, but will the memory be so good as when we were young? I do not know. I do not want lengthy days, but I do want healthy ones. Doctors can mend broken bones, but down cast spirits are our responsibility.

To be content with my lot, what ever happens. To laugh more. Talk about toms, a laugh heads them all, and doesn't cost a penny. Isn't your lot all complaining? Not to fear, to be healthy and content, kind and loving, and to laugh.

1. Don't make New Years Resolutions. The reason I don't is simply that I never keep them. Resolutions they may do untold damage to the personality, like setting in motion a complex or something. Figuring it that way, let me let you know in my bad habits with a clear conscience. But I have a long list of things I want somebody else to attend to:

And let's not forget to pray! A smart man, Dr. Channing, wrote a hymn for his life, which he called "My Symphony." "To live content with small means; to seek elegance rather than luxury; and refinement rather than fashion; to be worthy, not respectable; and wealthy, not rich; to study hard, think quietly, talk gently, act frankly; to live with open heart; to bear all cheerfully, do all bravely; to wait patiently, be as courteous to the humble, as the hungry, in a word, to let the spiritual, unbidden and unconscious, grow up through the common. This is my symphony."

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

By Mrs. John Paul Jones and John F. Land

"IF LITTLE LABOR, LITTLE ARE OUR GAINS; MAN'S FORTUNES ARE ACCORDING TO HIS PAINS..."

As Robert Herriek indicated in the above thought, our gains, or rewards, if you prefer, are fairly well geared to the amount of effort we invest. This isn't to say, of course, that by sheer dint of effort alone we can reasonably expect the rewards of accomplishment.

Therefore, it follows, that one's efforts should have the benefits of sensible direction and competent execution, along with the necessary drive to see the job to successful completion.

The important message contained in this thought is, we believe, matter, how mental; his reward is measured by integrity of effort. However, we must bear in mind, too, that reward is not only monetary, but also in the form of personal satisfaction of not only doing a job, but doing it well.
