For greater service

It was hoped to begin and we have been determined to build up.

In the present state of economy, the Georgia Highway Commission has been charged with the responsibility of providing a much-needed highway system. This system is essential for the economic development and growth of the state. The Highway Commission has been working diligently to ensure that the highway system is adequately maintained and improved.

Congratulations to all

The Highway Commission has been making significant progress in the past year. They have been working hard to improve the existing highways and construct new ones. This has been a challenging task, but the commission has been successful in their efforts.

Driving to wider fields

The commission has been focusing on providing a safe and efficient transportation system for the people of Georgia. They have been working to improve road conditions and reduce the number of accidents. This is a major accomplishment that will benefit the state for years to come.
