Never live the oven floor or cover the shelves of an oven with aluminum foil, advises Miss Doris Ogleby, housing and equipment specialist, Agricultural Extension Service. It will interfere with the heat pattern and heat circulation and baking results may not be as satisfactory as they should be.

refrigerator as quickly as possible. You may leave the hucks on and wrap corn in a damp cloth until time to cook. If you husk corn, then it should be wrapped in moisture proof paper to keep the kernels from drying out before use.

TRANSPLANTING
T. G. Williams, landscape specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service, says it is best to choose small plants for transplanting. They are much easier to handle and a better root system can be obtained. When a large tree or shrub is moved the feeder roots are greatly reduced, no matter how much care is taken. That means that a great number of these large plants will die from lack of an adequate feeder root system.

Charles D. Williams is commended by USAF
Williams earned an explosion on 12 bottle oxygen car which knocked an airman standing beside it several feet away and burned him severely. Airman Williams immediately rushed to the scene and, without protective clothing or extinguishing agents, entered the smoke and flashing sparks caused by the ruptured and wildly flapping metal re- forced high pressure line. With- out regard for his own personal safety, Airman Williams closed the oxygen valve on the cart, causing the flames to sub- side. The thoughtful and spontaneous actions of Airman Williams prevented the possible loss of lives and thousands of dollars worth of valuable equipment. Airman Williams has reflected great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.

Blue Devils open season here Friday night with Douglas

The Statesboro High School Blue Devils will open their 1957 season tomorrow night when they play the Douglas High School team here in Memorial Stadium. Game time is 8:15.

In a pre-game statement Coach Ernest Teel and Assistant Coach Ray Williams agreed that this year's edition of the Blue Devils cannot be expected to equal the fine record of last year when they went through the entire season undefeated.

"It's hard to beat a eleven win and one record," Coach Teel said. Last year the Blue Devils won ten regular games, one section game with Ellijah and tied Carrollton 6-6 for the Class A championship which they share with Carrollton.

Coach Teel has only seven lettermen on the 1957 squad, three being transfers. Returning centers are Pete Roberts, Sam Purvis and Art Jansen. The other returning lettermen are John Wheelchel, tackle; Sammy Parrish, guard; Lehman Franklin and Alexander Brown, both halfbacks.

The Blue Devils' coaches say they will change systems this season going back to the split "T."

"We ran from the single wing last season to get the most out of Coley Cassidy," he said.

Funeral rites were held recently for Mrs. James R. Nunneley of Lexington, Ky., who died on August 30 at her home in Lexington. She was the mother of Mrs. Marshall Hamilton of Statesboro, whose husband teaches education at Georgia Teachers College.

Charles D. Williams is commended by USAF
Williams earned an explosion on 12 bottle oxygen car which knocked an airman standing beside it several feet away and burned him severely. Airman Williams immediately rushed to the scene and, without protective clothing or extinguishing agents, entered the smoke and flashing sparks caused by the ruptured and wildly flapping metal re- forced high pressure line. With- out regard for his own personal safety, Airman Williams closed the oxygen valve on the cart, causing the flames to sub- side. The thoughtful and spontaneous actions of Airman Williams prevented the possible loss of lives and thousands of dollars worth of valuable equipment. Airman Williams has reflected great credit upon himself and the United States Air Force.

Mayor and Council fight gas rate increases

There may be some in Statesboro who do not agree with all the things our Mayor and City Council do under the label of "in the interest of the community..."

But every citizen in the city can sincerely take his or her hat in hand and throw it as high as they can over the Mayor and Council's determination to join forces with other communities like ours to fight the new schedule of higher rates which the Southern Natural Gas Company proposes to put into effect Saturday of this week.

Mayor Bowen and City Engineer Bland were in Atlanta Tuesday of this week to confer with representatives of the Natural Gas Section of the Georgia Municipal Association and the Georgia Public Service Commission and draw up "battle plans" to fight the rate increase.

Mayor Bowen is a director of the Georgia Municipal Association and acting through that organization our city fathers, together with the other thirteen cities in Georgia now being served by Southern Natural Gas Company, a protest and intention of intervention has been filed with the Federal Power Commission in Washington, D. C.

As this is being written before the conference in Atlanta is to be held we do not know what plans Mr. Bowen and Mr. Bland and representatives of the other communities worked out, but knowing Mr. Bowen we'll wager he went to bat for our interest. And if their efforts should fail to prevent the proposed gas rate increase, we applaud him for his effort, knowing that it was "in the interest of the community."

And if their plans prove effective and they succeed in staving off the increase, every homemaker and every breadwinner in every one of the communities served by the gas company should shout "hurrah and well done!"

Your Chamber of Commerce pays dividends

September 17 the Statesboro and Bulloch County Chamber of Commerce will begin a drive to renew its annual membership and seek new members.

Our Chamber of Commerce is a strictly local effort. With only an executive secretary to keep office and answer inquiries, it has managed to do a great job. Extensive effort has been made to determine if we needed a full-time secretary-manager. But because the officials and members have done such an excellent job by sincere devotion to the work at a sacrifice to their personal time and business, it is conceded that "right now" we can forego the services of a full-time manager.

The manner in which the Industrial Development Committee handled the recent events surrounding the inquiry of a large industry about our community points up the fine work the Chamber of Commerce is doing. There should be no question in the mind of a business man or professional man if he should, or if he should not join and support our Chamber of Commerce.

To not support it completely and with devotion is to suggest that we are not interested in our city and county and their continued progress. At present the Chamber is working on a new labor survey and the results of it will be ready soon. A new industrial brochure is being prepared and will be distributed when complete.

If you are a member—renew your membership for 1958 when a member of the organization calls on you for your dues.

If you are not a member call at the office of the Chamber of Commerce on North Main Street and enroll your business. It'll pay dividends.

They grew in stature. Those Georgians who would condemn Senator Dick Russell and Senator Herman Talmadge for not using the filibuster in the last days of this session of Congress to try to defeat the famed Civil Rights Bill, are simply displaying a childish trick to garner attention.

Those familiar with the history of the bill from the day it reached the Senate until its final passage know that to have tried to defeat it by a filibuster would have been to heap tragedy on our South in years to come. To have conducted an all out filibuster against the bill as it was amended by the House would have invited ultimate disaster in the form of amendments reopening the dreaded Part III which was successfully killed under the skilled leadership of Senator Russell.

Mr. Russell and Mr. Talmadge would have been guilty of treason to Georgia and the South to have undertaken a filibuster for personal political purposes. It is to their credit that they did not.

It is admitted that the bill as passed is bad. But consider with Senator Russell and Senator Talmadge how much worse it would have been if they had not been able to strike part III from the bill which would have wrought havoc in our South.

We commend our senators upon the mastery manner in which they conducted the fight against the Civil Rights Bill. It is to our credit that we have sent two men of such stature to Washington from the great state of Georgia.

Now a postmaster. Announcement that Reppard DeLoach has been named postmaster of the Statesboro post office was greeted with approval last week when the appointment was made.

Mr. DeLoach has been acting postmaster since the retirement of Arthur C. Turner in November of last year.

Before that time he served the post office here as a substitute carrier, as a regular clerk and then in 1949 he was named assistant postmaster, serving in that capacity until he was named acting postmaster last year.

We commend Mr. DeLoach upon his new appointment.

The Door is Still Hooked...

This Week's Meditation

By The Rev. L. E. Houston Jr.

Public Apathy Versus Public Concern

Webster defines apathy as "want of feeling; indifference to what ordinarily stirs the feelings or activities."

This condition of apathy on the part of the general public today is an appalling problem. From newspaper to pulpit; from radio to television; every mode of communication in our American life concerns itself with this indifference to things that matter.

TAKE, FOR INSTANCE, the struggle of the Civil Defense program. Most of us would quickly agree that this effort should receive our first attention and our best efforts. But what happens? With lack of feeling, indifference born in us by the belief that "it can't happen in America," we agree that it is a worthy program, but think that someone else ought to do it.

Or, consider the constant effort on the part of the National Safety Council to correct the mounting toll of lives lost in traffic accidents. It seems the more the problem is posed, the more the problem becomes.

ONLY LAST WEEK I viewed one of the popular quiz panels shown on television and discovered that they were contributing their entire time before the TV camera to this alarming situation in our land. The advertisement given on that one program alone has cut the death toll in half for this past Labor Day weekend. But it didn't do it. Traffic deaths exceeded the predictions of the Council.

OF COURSE, we are aware of the problem! But, too many of us simply shrug our shoulders and say, "It can't happen to me."

AND THE NATIONAL Safety Council will begin to see fruits of our labor when we, the general public, decide to obey traffic regulations ourselves, and quit placing all the blame on drunken drivers and irresponsible "hot-rodders."

Finally, the moral tone of our day will improve and the problem of gambling and drinking will diminish when we decide to quit playing the lottery and face these moral issues with a Christian concern.

For, as public apathy begins with the individual, so does public concern.

Tales Out of School

By BERNICE McCULLER

NO MORE PART-TIME. No more part-time superintendents! Once upon a time, my children, your grandpa had a bank or a lumber business or a doctor's office or a filling station) and on the side, he was a county school superintendent.

That's fast becoming a tale for history books, because the part-time superintendent is on his way out. This job often involves the county's biggest payroll. The superintendent employs more people than any other business in the county. It is "on the side" job. The superintendents themselves moved recently to require a superintendent to have a four-year degree, among other things. The G.E.A. committee on this problem went one step further recently. They want him to have a FIVE-year degree!

This does not affect present superintendents UNLESS they get defeated, and then run again for the next time. What is more, there is a move toward having the boards elected and then letting the boards appoint some professional man—who does not have to be a politician — as superintendent. This is professional office," they say. "Think of having to ELECT your doctor!" (What's YOUR idea on the subject?)

It figures...You'll be hearing this figure: 3600. Over and over you will hear it in the next two or three years. So I'll tell you what it is: the aimed-at starting salary for teachers in Georgia. They want to get it up to $3800 as fast as they can. Teachers have had a $500 raise during the Griffin administration. Beginning salary, however, is still only $2900 for a four-year college degree. And $3800 is as high as the hypocrite teacher can go.

SANDBOX SET. Comments from sandbox set: A five-year-old, "There goes another tooth. I'll soon be running on the rims"... a first grader—"Gingerale makes excitments on my tongue."

Same yesterday, today, and forever. Something old Pythagoras said to his students 2500 years ago has a shining sound as new as if your child's teacher had said it this morning: "Seek, therefore, to know of what and how and why the earth is made, so that you may create for yourselves a better way of life here in the world."

"But grandpa knows young boys sometimes are noisy and get into mischief—and that's the way it should be. One paragraph of the contract says: "I don't want you spending all parents to work together to improve the child's behavior. When the student is 'graded' in citizenship he is usually doing his best work in the subjects, too. His work may not be 'A+' but on a comparative basis, he may not be able to do 'A' work ever."

WHEREAS, the party of the second part emphatically desires that the party of the first part does not become a 'sissy,' 'goody-goody,' 'teacher's pet' or 'greasy grind' it is hereby agreed that deport is not to be considered a subject under and grandpas. When I read this article, I could not help remembering the talk my children's grandpa had with me when I was leaving for college. (Of course, he was just my "Pa" although he was GRANDDaddy. Daddy gave me a nice lecture which ran something like this, your time with your nose in a book. I want you to get a real education. Most of your life will be spent living with people. That's what I want you to excel in—learning to live with people." I'll afraid my father set some attitudes in me, too. Today people seem far more important than A's.

MAYBE this grandpa will get what he wants, an "A" student and a normal boy. But some people might feel old grandpa ought to go back to school and learn the new methods before he enters in an outdated contract.

There are GRANDPAS and grandpas. When I read this

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

Expressions of approval of our "Story of Bulloch County" continues to come in and it makes us feel good.

We are still seeking information on the old REBEL ROAD known to Georgia historians as "the lost road." We are to see Claude McKinnon tonight (Friday, Sept. 6). She called to say that she has a plot which shows a section of the road.

WE HAVE FOUND twenty references to the Rebel Road in the minutes of the Inferior Court during the early 1800's. Here are some of the places located on the road: "From Bevil's Creek to William Goodman's."

"From Burkhalter Ferry to Frederick K. Miller's."

"From Young's Ferry to Jesse Thomas."

"From William Woodcock's to Bryan County Line."

MISS VIRGINIA COBB, recently returned home from her foreign mission assignment in Lebanon, drew a fine crowd to hear her talk about her work in that Middle East section of the Old World. She illustrates her talk by beautiful colored slides, from photographs she made herself.

LAST WEEK we began using the column "Tales out of School" with by Bernice McCuller, who is one of the most delightful persons we know. She knows the school youngun up and down, the teacher all 'round and the school problem all through. We are delighted to use her material and we hope you find it interesting.

MRS. ANDREW L. BRANNEN out on Route 4 was in Savannah and a clerk in a store nacked her if she was from Bulloch County. When she said yes, the clerk asked "why do you all raise up there?" She answered, "Cotton, corn, tobacco and Brannens."

What this country needs is a low-priced power mower that can be operated from an air-conditioned room.

This year more district operators began a grass base crop rotation and results were very gratifying. Ordinarily we would expect dry years to show up best for this type farming and if they do it will be outstanding. It looks now like either coastal bermuda or bahia grass can be effectively used as a base for crop rotation. Bahia grass seems to give more organic matter and yields than coastal bermuda, but the bermuda comes back much better. Heavy fertilization in the Westside community has a fair stand of coastal bermuda coming back in his thick stand of corn, but where he turned bahia grass very little has come back. "Red" Brown, whose farm is located near Clifton, made excellent corn, too, but the bahia is not coming back to a stand.

Turning bahia grass will apparently kill most of the old sod, while coastal bermuda will come back from the roots and stems left in the ground. Making a decision as to which to use as a base for crop rotation will depend on individual farmer and his wishes. The man who would like to grow a good crop of cotton, or tobacco on his grass, should have the grass for grazing the next year, would prefer coastal bermuda. On the other hand if the farmer wanted to be able to completely kill the grass and go back to crops for three or four years, then bahia would be better.

The trend in recent years has been toward the use of permanent type plant bed sites. With the advent of new chemicals and disease control chemicals, this type bed is proving satisfactory.

Yes, of course, we are a progressive community. Still we must realize there is much which still needs to be done. With the help of every property owner, with the support of every taxpayer, with the concern of every citizen, Statesboro and Bulloch County can continue to move forward. Progress which is properly planned and supported will be the benefit of all. There will be no one who will suffer at the hands of progress.

On the other hand, not to grow finally leads to recession and we all know that recession leads to poverty and despair; not for the few but rather for the all of us.

Farm Bureau

Farm Bureau meetings held at Denmark, Brooklet, Middleground

Farm Bureau meetings during the past week were held at Denmark, Tuesday night, September 3, Brooklet, Wednesday night, September 4, and Middleground Thursday night, September 5, with plans for the talent and queen contests and the membership drive being discussed. The talent and queen contests have been scheduled for Monday night, September 23, at the Marvin Pittman High School. The membership drive for Farm Bureau members will be conducted on September 24.

The importance of small grain production in our Bulloch County livestock program was discussed at these Farm Bureau meetings and recommendations given by the county agent on varieties of rye and oats best suitable to our area. Information from our experiment stations shows that Gator rye and Sure-grain oats are more resistant to rust and mildew than other varieties and led in production tests, but supplies of these new varieties are very limited and will not be available generally until this year.

The Bulloch County Farm Bureau membership committee met Monday afternoon to discuss plans for the county-wide membership drive on September 24. The community Farm Bureau chapters are selecting committees to conduct membership drives in each community on that date.

TOBACCO CROP. The most profitable tobacco crops are those transplanted on time with healthy plants of proper size. It has been estimated that 20 per cent of the tobacco growers in Georgia who sow beds fail to produce enough plants to meet their requirements. While blue mold is usually taken to meet their needs, it does not cause all plant bed failures. Many are due to poor bed location, lack of moisture, especially when drainage and poor management are giving more attention to these details. All Georgia tobacco growers can produce good plants if the proper procedure is followed.

The trend in recent years has been toward the use of permanent type plant bed sites. With the advent of new chemicals and disease control chemicals, this type bed is proving satisfactory.

SUNLIGHT NEEDED. Full sunlight is necessary for the rapid growth of tobacco plants, therefore, the bed site, if possible, so that direct rays from the sun reach the bed as nearly all day as possible. A moderate southern slope produces more early plants. Northern slopes should be avoided. All trees casting a shadow across the bed should be removed, since shading increases damage from blue mold and causes tender weak plants that live poorly when transplanted. The cold winds that sometimes cause damage to young plants usually are from the northwest, therefore, thickly wooded areas on the west and northwest sides of the plant bed are desirable. These areas on the western side should not be close enough or high enough to shade the bed.

More than 110 fishing boats operate out of Darien during the season catching 2,000,000 pounds of shrimp that bring the fishermen a $1,000,000 cash income annually and make Darien the shrimp capital of Georgia. Shad, oysters and blue crabs are also caught. Plus a new land crop of pulpwood that adds $500,000 annually and many extra jobs.
 Settled in 1736 by Scottish Highlanders, McIntosh County is rich in history and the blueberry blazes one was a formidable fort that protected other Georgia settlers from the Indians and the Spanish.
 In historic McIntosh County and throughout Georgia, the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly con-

 The Statesboro Recreation Center will open the fall program with a tennis tournament which will run the entire month of September. The tennis tournament will be the "ladder" type of tournament. As many people as desire may enter the tournament and will be placed on the "ladder" according to ability.
 This type tournament is a lot of fun for all because a player can lose all his games and can still stay on the ladder.
 The idea is for the players to work themselves to the top of the ladder and stay there until the tournament is completed. There will be two tournaments, one for men over fifteen years and one for boys under fifteen years. When the tournament is completed, a trophy will be awarded to the champion in each division. All men and boys who are interested in playing in the tournament are asked to contact the sports supervisor at the recreation department before noon Saturday, September 14.

 Heavy rains slow down peanut digging in Stilson community

By MRS. W. H. MORRIS
 Forgive me, folks, for not getting the Stilson news for the Bulloch Herald for the past two weeks.
 You see, peanut digging started at our house week before last and even though I don't do anything in the peanut digging there are many other things to take up the time and so I just didn't get to write.
 Last Monday being Labor Day there was no rural mail delivery and I goofed again so I will try to write something for this week.
 The rain has slowed up the peanut digging here. I have heard at least one good report on peanut yield.
 Mr. R. J. Proctor, one of our neighbors, stated his peanuts made a ton to the acre. Others will not do near that good. Mr. Proctor dug his peanuts the new way. Others were not so fortunate. They had their peanuts plowed up and left on top of the ground and if the weather continues had they stand a chance of losing most of their crops. There will be some damage from the weather, anyway. Let's hope the damage won't be so bad.

FACTS ABOUT FERTILIZING
 Agronomist P. J. Bergeaux, Agricultural Extension Service, reports that, currently, only 4.5 per cent of the total cropland and improved pasture acreage in Georgia is being limed. Soil test information indicates that over 50 per cent of Georgia soils are strongly acid and need lime. Georgia farmers are using only about one-half the recommended rates of mixed fertilizer and about one-third the recommended rates of nitrogen.

USING NATIVE PLANTS
 There are many native plants in Georgia suitable for use in home landscaping, points out specialist, Agricultural Extension Service, University of Georgia College of Agriculture. They should be transplanted in fall and winter months while the plants are dormant. Be sure there is plenty of moisture in the ground when they are transplanted, Williams advises.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first installment of Chapter II of "The Story of Bulloch County" and is the third in the series which began on August 29. In the two installments of Chapter II we laid the foundation of the history of Bulloch County. This week we introduce some of the early settlers who moved into the county and describe the formation of the county by an act of the Georgia Legislature.

The war was over. Georgia had a vast area of land and wanted good people to come into the state to settle.

Under the land law of 1777, called the "Head-right Plan," the head of a family could have up to 200 acres of land for himself and fifty acres for each one of his family, counting his slaves, but no family could have more than one thousand acres.

During the war Georgia had promised lands to all Revolutionary soldiers who could produce certificates signed by their commanders attesting to their service. This promise became law by an act of the Legislature in 1783.

One of the most important groups of settlers to come into Georgia was a group including people of Scotch, Irish and Welsh extraction. These were people of strong character. Some of them had previously migrated from Pennsylvania and Virginia to North Carolina and South Carolina. Soon after the Revolution they came in large numbers into the section of Georgia that became Bulloch County. Indicative of this type of settler is James Stacy's description of Francis Kennedy. He wrote:

"Francis Kennedy, whose ancestors came from near Belfast, Ireland, was a genuine patriot and knew how to estimate civil liberty and to resist foreign oppression. He claimed Virginia as his native place but through the guidance of Dwyne Providence he united in marriage with Sarah Megge of Marlborough District, South Carolina, a most excellent lady. The happy couple were destined to pass through a severe ordeal. When in 1776 the War of the Revolution was waged, Francis Kennedy, as a brave man, roused with indignation at the aggressive movements of the English Government resolved to unite with the American Army in resisting the haughty and insolent foe.

"In this conflict, through the perfidy of the Tories and the rapacity of the English Army the ample estate of the family was greatly reduced. Still Mr. Kennedy never received reimbursement or pension from the United States Government. The close of the Revolution found him unsettled in life with a crippled fortune.

William McElveen moved his family from North Carolina to Bulloch County in 1815. He loaded his belongings in water-tight hogheads and came overland with his brothers. They sent their wives by sailboat to Savannah.

Some of those who came to Bulloch County later were the Alderman's who came in 1816 and the Rigdons who came in 1820. It was this same year that Purnell Franklin moved to the county.

The population of this section increased rapidly with settlers who came in bringing evidence entitling them to grants of land in Georgia.

Representative of evidence of this sort is a record dated April 13, 1803, in the Bulloch County Clerk's office which reads:

"Personally appeared before me Joshua Hodges who being duly sworn maketh oath and saith that some time in the year 1785 as near as he can recollect he obtained from the land office of the state of North Carolina as brother and heir of Hardy Hodges, a warrant for 1,000 acres of land No. 15 which this deponent afterward transferred to his son Joseph Hodges. This deponent further saith that he obtained the said warrant from the State of North Carolina in right of his brother, Hardy Hodges, for military service of said Hardy Hodges during the Revolutionary War, and this deponent is the elder and only surviving brother of said Hardy Hodges."

By 1793 the growth in population justified the creation of a new county in the area. In this year the County of Screven was formed out of Burke and Effingham Counties. Roughly this included the land from the mouth of Rooty Branch on the Savannah River to the mouth of the Little Ogeechee where it runs into the Big Ogeechee and from the Big Ogeechee to the Canoochee River. Included in this new county were the sites of what later became the towns of Statesboro, Metter and Twin City.

It was also in 1793 that the County of Bryan was formed. For a short period the area of what was to become Bulloch County was included in Screven and Bryan Counties. The next year, 1794, Effingham County assumed the boundaries which have existed since.

The Act to create Bulloch is signed

It must have been difficult for the settlers on the south side of the Ogeechee River to cross the river to get to court sessions held in Screven County. It is believed that out of this difficulty grew the agitation for a new county which resulted in the act of the Legislature in February, 1796, as follows:

"From the southwestern section of North Carolina, which in 1790 was ceded to Tennessee, the family returned to Marlborough District, South Carolina, and after a few years settled in Bulloch County, Georgia."

Others who were in this group of early settlers in Bulloch County were John Neville, John Everett, William Brannen, Robert Donaldson, John Fletcher, William McElveen, Henry Parrish, Bridger Jones, William Bland and others.

John Neville served in the Second South Carolina Regiment in the Revolution and came to Bulloch County shortly thereafter. Neville's Creek was named for him and since Neville's Creek Church was founded in 1790 it can be assumed that he lived in the county before that date.

John Everett, born in Terrell County, North Carolina, March 16, 1754, was a delegate to the Provincial Congress at Hillsborough in 1775 and received a grant of land in Effingham, later Bulloch County, in 1787.

William Brannen served as lieutenant in the First North Carolina Regiment during the American Revolution and moved to a plantation in Bulloch County near Blitch in the 1780's.

Robert Donaldson was living in Bulloch County in the 1790's and served for many years as a Primitive Baptist preacher.

John Fletcher was born in South Carolina in 1785 and served in the Revolution under Francis Marion until 1782. He married Susannah Mizel, daughter of William Mizel, who moved his family to Bulloch County in the 1770's. John Fletcher moved with his parents to Effingham County in 1784 on grants of land there.

William McElveen was the first of this clan to settle in Bulloch County. He came from the Scotch settlement of Waxhaw Creek, North Carolina, and settled on Black Creek, Bulloch County, Georgia, in 1787.

Henry Parrish (1740-1800) did Revolutionary War service in North Carolina. He moved from North Carolina to Wilkes County, Georgia, and from there he moved into Bulloch County. His will is recorded in Bulloch County and is dated in 1800. Two of his sons, Ansel and Absalom, lived their lives in Bulloch County.

Bridger Jones served as a Revolutionary soldier in North Carolina. In 1804 he sold his North Carolina property and brought his family and eight slaves to Bulloch County.

William Bland moved his family from North Carolina to Bulloch County in 1815. He loaded his belongings in water-tight hogheads and came overland with his brothers. They sent their wives by sailboat to Savannah.

Some of those who came to Bulloch County later were the Alderman's who came in 1816 and the Rigdons who came in 1820. It was this same year that Purnell Franklin moved to the county.

The population of this section increased rapidly with settlers who came in bringing evidence entitling them to grants of land in Georgia.

Representative of evidence of this sort is a record dated April 13, 1803, in the Bulloch County Clerk's office which reads:

"Personally appeared before me Joshua Hodges who being duly sworn maketh oath and saith that some time in the year 1785 as near as he can recollect he obtained from the land office of the state of North Carolina as brother and heir of Hardy Hodges, a warrant for 1,000 acres of land No. 15 which this deponent afterward transferred to his son Joseph Hodges. This deponent further saith that he obtained the said warrant from the State of North Carolina in right of his brother, Hardy Hodges, for military service of said Hardy Hodges during the Revolutionary War, and this deponent is the elder and only surviving brother of said Hardy Hodges."

By 1793 the growth in population justified the creation of a new county in the area. In this year the County of Screven was formed out of Burke and Effingham Counties. Roughly this included the land from the mouth of Rooty Branch on the Savannah River to the mouth of the Little Ogeechee where it runs into the Big Ogeechee and from the Big Ogeechee to the Canoochee River. Included in this new county were the sites of what later became the towns of Statesboro, Metter and Twin City.

It was also in 1793 that the County of Bryan was formed. For a short period the area of what was to become Bulloch County was included in Screven and Bryan Counties. The next year, 1794, Effingham County assumed the boundaries which have existed since.

The Act to create Bulloch is signed

It must have been difficult for the settlers on the south side of the Ogeechee River to cross the river to get to court sessions held in Screven County. It is believed that out of this difficulty grew the agitation for a new county which resulted in the act of the Legislature in February, 1796, as follows:

Wells, register of probate; James Bird, surveyor; and Garrott Williams, coroner.

In the Act of the Assembly creating the county the name was spelled "Bullock." Properly this should be "Bulloch" since the county was named for Archibald Bulloch, a native of South Carolina who came to Georgia in the late 1780's and purchased a plantation on Savannah River. He became one among the most active of the illustrious band of patriots who opposed the arbitrary measures of the British Parliament. His name is signed to a call made in the Georgia Gazette on July 14, 1774, to the inhabitants of Savannah to take into consideration the propriety of resisting the oppressors of Great Britain. This required a great deal more courage than most people possess since the outcome of this move was very precarious. He was made president of the Provincial Congress of Georgia. When a copy of the Declaration was received in Georgia in Savannah on August 10, 1776, Archibald Bulloch read the copy to the council and then went to the public square where the document was read to a gaping multitude. He then carried it to the Liberty Pole where it was read again and the importance of the document emphasized by thirteen booming rounds from a cannon.

Bulloch died in the early part of 1777 while holding the title of first governor of Georgia.

Dr. J. E. McCroan, son of the late J. E. McCroan who for many years was Ordinary of Bulloch County, has suggested that on every August 10, during the annual tobacco market season, that the citizens of Bulloch County celebrate "Archibald Bulloch Day" and read from the balcony of the courthouses, the Declaration of Independence to remind the people of the county of the greatness of the man from whom the county is named.

The first Superior Court held in 1799

The first Superior Court held in Bulloch County convened at the house of Stephen Mills on May 16, 1799, with Judge Stevens presiding. The attorneys present were: D. B. Mitchell, Solicitor General, and Jeremiah Cuyler and William E. Bulloch, lawyers. The grand jury was composed of John M. Burkhalter, James Jackson, John Fletcher, Samuel Peacock, James Webb, Jacob Huffman, George McCall, A. Hagan, Isaac Carter, John Rawls, M. Pridgen, M. Carter, James Bird, M. Driggers, Francis Webb, R. Albright, Joshua Everett, N. Stewart and William Cone, foreman.

In the beginning Bulloch County was forty miles in length and thirty miles in width with a total area of 1,200 square miles.

In 1812 a part of Bulloch County went into the new county of Emanuel. Then in 1905 another part of Bulloch went into the formation of the new county of Jenkins. In 1914 Candler and Evans Counties were created and a part of Bulloch County went into each of these two new counties. Since that year Bulloch County has maintained its present area of 684 square miles.

The first Justices of the Peace named by the Legislative Assembly were John Douglas, John Everett, Robert Scott, William McCall and Mark Pridgen.

The first county officials were: Charles McCall, sheriff; Andrew E. Wells, clerk of the Superior Court; George Elliott, clerk of the Inferior Court; Francis

Blue Devils lose first game 7 to 6
 The Coffee County Comets handed Statesboro their first loss in fourteen games here last Friday night, winning 7-6 before an overflow crowd estimated at 2,500. Statesboro last lost to Jesup, 4-1-0, on November 4, 1955.
 The winning margin came on Rex Tanner's successful extra point placement following Dickey Bittaker's 59-yard scoring run with just three minutes remaining in the first half. Statesboro matched the Comets' touchdown when quarterback Ben Hagan's two-yard pass to Jimmy Hodges, a third quarter drive, but a bad snap from center caused Blue Devil center Art Janson to hurry his placement attempt and that was the difference.
 Coach Ernest Teel's squad will journey to Eastman Friday night and will attempt to restore their winning ways. Statesboro, fielding only seven letters and looking good in losing and scoring, has been outplayed in every statistical department.

 Douglas never threatened except for the long run by Bittaker. Coach Bill Meeks' team threw only one forward pass and that one was intercepted by Ben Hagan. The outplayed Statesboro territory only three times other than on the touchdown run and never any closer than the 27 yard line. But when the opportunity presented itself, the 160-pound Bittaker took advantage of it, and the Comets had reworked a 1956 loss.
 Statesboro missed an excellent chance to win the game in the fourth quarter when they receded off a drive to the visitor's 26-yard line with four minutes remaining in the game. A wild pitchout play to the left resulted in a costly fumble, recovered by Coffee County's Wendell Patton. The new recruit ran out the remaining time on the ground.
 Little Lehman Franklin carried seven times for 87 yards to lead Statesboro's backs, and Bittaker gained 76 yards in six tries to pace Coffee County.

 Bandmaster Don Caughran of the Statesboro High School says he is seeking sixty new recruits for the six new high school bands.
 "That is our objective in a campaign which will begin soon in the schools of Statesboro," said Mr. Caughran.
 He stated that all parents desire their children to play some instruments and that the schools offer the best opportunity for them to learn. "Unfortunately every child is not naturally adapted to playing a musical instrument," he said. "However, in order to determine the best student to participate in band activities, scientific tests will be given to discover inherent musical ability in these children."
 Arrangements can be made in which instruments may be rented for three months in order to make sure children will succeed before further investment is made. After the tests, parents, whose children successfully pass the test, will be notified.

Dedicated To The Progress Of Statesboro And Bulloch County

VOLUME XVII—ESTABLISHED MARCH 26, 1937 STATESBORO, GEORGIA, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1957 NUMBER 44

Blue Devils lose first game 7 to 6
 The Coffee County Comets handed Statesboro their first loss in fourteen games here last Friday night, winning 7-6 before an overflow crowd estimated at 2,500. Statesboro last lost to Jesup, 4-1-0, on November 4, 1955.
 The winning margin came on Rex Tanner's successful extra point placement following Dickey Bittaker's 59-yard scoring run with just three minutes remaining in the first half. Statesboro matched the Comets' touchdown when quarterback Ben Hagan's two-yard pass to Jimmy Hodges, a third quarter drive, but a bad snap from center caused Blue Devil center Art Janson to hurry his placement attempt and that was the difference.
 Coach Ernest Teel's squad will journey to Eastman Friday night and will attempt to restore their winning ways. Statesboro, fielding only seven letters and looking good in losing and scoring, has been outplayed in every statistical department.

 Douglas never threatened except for the long run by Bittaker. Coach Bill Meeks' team threw only one forward pass and that one was intercepted by Ben Hagan. The outplayed Statesboro territory only three times other than on the touchdown run and never any closer than the 27 yard line. But when the opportunity presented itself, the 160-pound Bittaker took advantage of it, and the Comets had reworked a 1956 loss.
 Statesboro missed an excellent chance to win the game in the fourth quarter when they receded off a drive to the visitor's 26-yard line with four minutes remaining in the game. A wild pitchout play to the left resulted in a costly fumble, recovered by Coffee County's Wendell Patton. The new recruit ran out the remaining time on the ground.
 Little Lehman Franklin carried seven times for 87 yards to lead Statesboro's backs, and Bittaker gained 76 yards in six tries to pace Coffee County.
